Dear Ranking Members Wyden and Murray and Senator Baldwin:

Last August you sent a letter to then-NAIC President Julie Mix McPeak seeking data on short-term, limited duration plans sold under the new regulations effective October 2018. As we responded in September 2018, we agree that regulators and policymakers at both the federal and state level need more information on the plans being offered and sold in our states and, to that end, the NAIC is in the process of developing a data call to collect data on all short-term, limited duration plans in our markets.

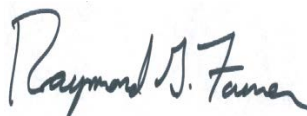

The NAIC's Market Analysis Procedures (D) Working Group has generated the attached draft data call to collect the information regulators are looking for on these plans. We anticipate that the data call will be sent to carriers as early as this August, either by individual states or collectively through the NAIC. Once the data is collected, we hope to be able to provide aggregate information to federal officials.

Again, we appreciate your attention to the effects of federal policies on state insurance markets and the consumers who depend on them. NAIC staff will continue to be in touch with your offices to give updates on our progress on this important project.

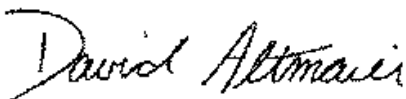

Sincerely,

Eric A. Cioppa
