Dear Representative Perlmutter and Senator Merkley:

On behalf of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC)¹, we write to express our support for the Secure and Fair Enforcement (SAFE) Banking Act of 2021 (H.R. 1996/S. 910), which would provide a safe harbor from violations of federal law for those engaged in the business of insurance participating in cannabis industry activity that is permissible under state law.

As you are aware, the NAIC membership is composed of the chief insurance regulators of all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the five U.S. Territories. Our members have a variety of views on the broader issue of cannabis legalization and the NAIC defers to each state to decide what is appropriate for them. However, we recognize state legalized cannabis businesses require access to insurance to mitigate risks they face, and that the lack of insurance for the industry adds layers of unnecessary exposure for all market participants.

Through the NAIC, state insurance regulators formed a Cannabis Insurance Working Group, that has been studying insurance issues facing the cannabis industry and developed a white paper in 2019 exploring the types of insurance needed by the cannabis industry, the availability of cannabis business insurance in state insurance markets and the extent of any insurance gaps, among other issues.² In those states where certain cannabis businesses are permissible under state law, we understand that one of the challenges facing the industry is the different treatment of cannabis under federal and state law and the potential legal risks for those that provide financial services to these businesses. The SAFE Banking Act would help remove federal barriers for insurers to conduct business with any state legalized cannabis-related businesses, thereby helping to provide

¹ As part of our state-based system of insurance regulation in the United States, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) provides expertise, data, and analysis for insurance commissioners to effectively regulate the industry and protect consumers. The U.S. standard-setting organization is governed by the chief insurance regulators from the 50 states, the District of Columbia and five U.S. territories. Through the NAIC, state insurance regulators establish standards and best practices, conduct peer reviews, and coordinate regulatory oversight. NAIC staff supports these efforts and represents the collective views of state regulators domestically and internationally. For more information, visit www.naic.org.
