

Louisville's Top Travel Tips

Welcome to Louisville! See for yourself why the New York Times recently named Louisville one of the “52 Places for Travelers to Visit in 2023.” Here are some tips and recommendations to help you get the most out of your visit to Bourbon City.

Dining

Louisville restaurants are excited for you to experience the award-winning culinary scene.

Before you dine, here are a few things to consider:

- Where to dine? Search for dining options near both of Louisville's convention centers, the Kentucky Exposition Center (KEC), Kentucky International Convention Center (KICC) and by E.P. Tom Sawyer Park in the city's East End: <https://www.gotolouisville.com/dine-around-town>
- Call ahead to confirm operating days and hours and make reservations when available, especially for larger groups.
- Utilize your favorite online platforms such as Yelp, Google, OpenTable and Resy but be aware that some restaurant information may have recently changed. We always recommend locating your favorite spot and then calling ahead to confirm operating hours.
- Just like a good Bourbon takes time before it can be fully enjoyed, make sure you allow extra time for dining experiences as some establishments may still be operating with limited staff.
- Food Truck Wednesdays – Every Wednesday April 26 – October 25, 2023. Located on South 4th Street, between Jefferson St and Market St (outside KICC main entrance).

Attraction and Bourbon experiences

- Advanced reservations at area attractions (specifically bourbon distilleries) are strongly encouraged.
- Visit this website for the latest operating days and hours <https://www.gotolouisville.com/things-to-do/>
- If you're interested in experiencing Bourbon City and having trouble getting in to one of the local distilleries, consider checking out some of the non-distillery bourbon experiences: Buzz-worthy Bourbon bars | Reserve your spirited adventure in Bourbon City

Calendar of Events

We know your priority is the convention, meeting or tradeshow happening in Louisville, but if you plan to arrive early or stay late here are some ways you can check out what's happening in Louisville.

- For an online calendar of events check out <https://www.gotolouisville.com/events-calendar/>.
Pro Tip: Use the “near me” function to locate all current events happening near your current location in the city.

Louisville Savings Passport: Inside Track Pass

Transportation

Louisville is within a day’s drive of over half the U.S. population. All major airlines provide service at Louisville Muhammad Ali International Airport (SDF) with nearly 40 direct destinations. Check out the airlines and direct destinations at www.flylouisville.com. The airport is located just 7 miles from downtown Louisville and the Kentucky International Convention Center (KICC). It sits less than one mile from the Kentucky Exposition Center (KEC). While you’re here check out some of these ways to get around town:

- Plan ahead and book your taxi through zTrip using the zTrip app, www.ztrip.com/louisville or by calling (502) 777-7777.
- Rideshare opportunities are also available through Uber and Lyft. Please note that drivers are in high demand, so plan for possible wait times or schedule your ride in advance.
- If you’re going short distances downtown, consider hopping on a scooter, Bird or Lime-S scooters can be found throughout downtown, NuLu and surrounding neighborhoods.
- Louisville also offers urban bicycles for rent through Louvelo, which has 27 stations across the city.
