A. Purpose and Scope

The purpose of this regulation is to implement [cite section of law which sets forth the NAIC Standard Valuation Law].

These standards apply to all individual and group health [accident and sickness] insurance coverages including single premium credit disability insurance. All other credit insurance is not subject to this regulation.

When an insurer determines that adequacy of its health insurance reserves requires reserves in excess of the minimum standards specified herein, such increased reserves shall be held and shall be considered the minimum reserves for that insurer.

With respect to any block of contracts, or with respect to an insurer's health business as a whole, a prospective gross premium valuation is the ultimate test of reserve adequacy as of a given valuation date. Such a gross premium valuation will take into account, for contracts in force, in a claims status, or in a continuation of benefits status on the valuation date, the present value as of the valuation date of: all expected benefits unpaid, all expected expenses unpaid, and all unearned or expected premiums, adjusted for future premium increases reasonably expected to be put into effect.

Such a gross premium valuation is to be performed whenever a significant doubt exists as to reserve adequacy with respect to any major block of contracts, or with respect to the insurer's health business as a whole. In the event inadequacy is found to exist, immediate loss recognition shall be made and the reserves restored to adequacy. Adequate reserves (inclusive of claim, premium and contract reserves, if any) shall be held with respect to all contracts, regardless of whether contract reserves are required for such contracts under these standards.

Whenever minimum reserves, as defined in these standards, exceed reserve requirements as determined by a prospective gross premium valuation, such minimum reserves remain the minimum requirement under these standards.

B. Categories of Reserves

The following sections set forth minimum standards for three categories of health insurance reserves:

Section 2. Claim Reserves
Section 3. Premium Reserves
Section 4. Contract Reserves

Adequacy of an insurer's health insurance reserves is to be determined on the basis of all three categories combined. However, these standards emphasize the importance of determining appropriate reserves for each of the three categories separately.

C. Appendices

These standards contain two appendices which are an integral part of the standards, and one additional "supplementary" appendix which is not part of the standards as such, but is included for explanatory and illustrative purposes only.

Appendix A. Specific minimum standards with respect to morbidity, mortality and interest, which apply to claim reserves according to year of incurral and to contract reserves according to year of issue.

Appendix B. Glossary of Technical Terms Used.

Appendix C. (Supplementary) Reserves for Waiver of Premium.

Section 2. Claim Reserves

A. General

(1) Claim reserves are required for all incurred but unpaid claims on all health insurance policies. For contracts with an elimination period, the duration of disablement shall be measured as dating from the time that benefits would have begun to accrue had there been no elimination period.

(2) Appropriate claim expense reserves are required with respect to the estimated expense of settlement of all incurred but unpaid claims.

(3) All such reserves for prior valuation years are to be tested for adequacy and reasonableness along the lines of claim runoff schedules in accordance with the statutory financial statement including consideration of any residual unpaid liability.

(4) For claim reserves on policies that require contract reserves, the claim incurral date is to be considered the "issue date" for determining the table and interest rate to be used for claim reserves.

(5) The maximum interest rate for claim reserves is specified in Appendix A.

(6) With respect to claim reserves for policies issued before the operative date of the Valuation Manual, the requirements for claim reserves on claims incurred after that date shall be as described in the Valuation Manual based on the incurred date of the claim.

Drafting Note: The historical application of new requirements for claim reserves has been the incurred date of the claim. The 2009 changes to the Standard Valuation Law apply new requirements provided through the Valuation Manual only to policies issued after the effective date of the changes and the Valuation Manual. This addition makes new requirements for claim reserves applicable based on the incurred date irrespective of the policy issue date – i.e. consistent with historical practice.

B. Minimum Morbidity Standards for Individual Disability Income Claim Reserves

(1) For claims incurred prior to [January 1, 2005], each insurer may elect which of the following to use as the minimum morbidity standard for claim reserves:

(a) The minimum morbidity standard in effect for claim reserves as of the date the claim was incurred, or

(b) The standards as defined in Section 2B(2) or (3) applied to all open claims. Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all open claims on the standard defined in either Section 2B(2) or (3), all future valuations must be on that basis.

(2) For claims incurred on or after [January 1, 2005] and prior to the effective date for the company as determined in Section 2B(5), the minimum standards with respect to morbidity are those specified in Appendix A, except that, at the option of the insurer, assumptions regarding claim termination rates for the period less than two (2) years from the date of disablement may be based on the insurer's experience, if such experience is considered credible, or upon other assumptions designed to place a sound value on the liabilities.

(3) For claims incurred on or after January 1, 2020, the minimum standards are those specified in Appendix A, including (as derived in accordance with Actuarial Guideline L):

(a) The use of the insurer's own experience;

(b) An adjustment to include an own experience measurement margin; and

(c) The application of a credibility factor.

(4) In determining the minimum reserves in accordance with Section 2B(3), the provisions in Section 2B(3)(a), (b) and (c) are not required if:

(a) The insurer meets the Own Experience Measurement Exemption provided in Actuarial Guideline L; or

(b) For worksite disability policies with benefit periods of up to two years, at the option of the insurer, disabled life reserves may be based on the insurer's experience, if such experience is considered credible, or upon other assumptions and methods designed to place a sound value on the liabilities.

(5) An insurer may begin to use the minimum reserve standards in Section 2B(3) above at a date earlier than January 1, 2020, but not prior to January 1, 2017.

(6) An insurer may, within three years of January 1, 2020, (or such earlier date it elects under Section 2B(5)) to apply the new standards in Section 2B(3) to all open claims incurred prior to the effective date for Section 2B(3) for the insurer. Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all open claims based on Section 2B(3), all future valuations must be on that basis.

Drafting Note: The 2013 Table requires additional information that was not required to determine claim reserves under prior tables. The three-year period is a period after the date a company starts using the 2013 Table for new claims to allow the company to update its claims data to use the 2013 Table for claims incurred prior to that date. For example, if a company begins to use the 2013 Table on January 1, 2020, for claims incurred after that date, it does not need to immediately convert all existing claims. This provision allows for the run-off of existing claims until December 31, 2022. As of that date (or an earlier date), the company must either continue use of the existing tables applicable to these claims or may convert all still open claims to the 2013 Table (adding the necessary data only for the remaining open claims).

C. Minimum Morbidity Standards for Group Disability Income Claim Reserves

(1) For claims incurred prior to [January 1, 2005], each insurer may elect which of the following to use as the minimum morbidity standard for claim reserves:

(a) The minimum morbidity standard in effect for claim reserves as of the date the claim was incurred, or

(b) After the effective date selected by the company in Section 2C(2), the standards as defined in Section 2C(2), applied to all open group long term disability income claims, or

(c) The standards as defined in Section 2C, (3), applied to all open group disability income claims.

Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all open claims on a more recent standard, then all future valuations must be on that basis.

(2) For group long-term disability income claims incurred on or after [January 1, 2005], but before the effective date selected by the company in Section 2C(3), and group disability income claims incurred on or after [January 1, 2005], that are not group long-term disability income, the minimum standards with respect to morbidity are those specified in Appendix A except that, at the option of the insurer:

(b) Assumptions regarding claim termination rates for the period less than two (2) years from the date of disablement may be based on the insurer's experience, if the experience is considered credible, or upon other assumptions designed to place a sound value on the liabilities.

(c) Assumptions regarding claim termination rates for the period two (2) or more years but less than five (5) years from the date of disablement may, with the approval of the commissioner, be based on the insurer's experience for which the insurer maintains underwriting and claim administration control. The request for such approval of a plan of modification to the reserve basis must include:

(i) An analysis of the credibility of the experience;

(ii) A description of how all of the insurer's experience is proposed to be used in setting reserves;

(iii) A description and quantification of the margins to be included;

(iv) A summary of the financial impact that the proposed plan of modification would have had on the insurer's last filed annual statement;

(v) A copy of the approval of the proposed plan of modification by the commissioner of the state of domicile; and

(vi) Any other information deemed necessary by the commissioner.

(d) Each insurer may elect which of the following to use as the minimum morbidity standard for group long-term disability income claim reserves:

(i) The minimum morbidity standard in effect for claim reserves as of the date the claim was incurred, or

(ii) The standards as defined in Section 2C(3), applied to all open claims.

Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all open claims on a more recent standard, then all future valuations must be on that basis.

(3) For group long-term disability income claims incurred on or after January 1, 2017, the minimum standards with respect to morbidity shall be based on the 2012 GLTD termination table or subsequent table with considerations of:

(a) The insurer's own experience computed in accordance with Actuarial Guideline XLVII, as included in the most current version of the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual, and

(b) An adjustment to include an own experience measurement margin derived in accordance with Actuarial Guideline XLVII, as included in the most current version of the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual, and

(c) A credibility factor derived in accordance with Actuarial Guideline XLVII, as included in the most current version of the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual.

(4) An insurer may begin to use the minimum reserve standards in Section 2C(3) above at a date earlier than January 1, 2017, but not prior to October 1, 2014. An insurer may apply the standards in Section 2C (3) to all open claims incurred prior to the effective date for Section 2C(3) for the insurer. Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all open claims based on Section 2C(3), all future valuations must be on that basis.

Drafting Note: For experience to be considered credible for purposes of Paragraph (2), the company should be able to provide claim termination patterns over no more than six (6) years reflecting at least 5,000 claims terminations during the third through fifth claims durations on reasonably similar applicable policy forms.

For claim reserves to reflect "sound values" and reasonable margins, reserve tables based on credible experience should be adjusted regularly to maintain reasonable margins. Demonstrations may be required by the commissioner of the state of domicile based on published literature (e.g., Goldman, TSA XLII).

Drafting Note: The 2012 GLTD Valuation Table is based on experience for claims with maximum benefit periods in excess of two years. The 2012 Table (or any single morbidity table) may not be appropriate for claims with maximum benefit periods less than or equal to two years (i.e., STD or GSTD) for the following reasons: 1) benefit designs, definitions of disability and markets vary much more widely between companies for GSTD than for GLTD; 2) as a result, termination experience varies significantly and a single morbidity standard would not be achievable; 3) most companies' book of GSTD business would be fully credible; 4) calculating tabular claim reserves for GSTD claims would not result in an appreciably more adequate claim reserving method (e.g., claim triangles) with margins; 5) it has been common industry practice to use aggregate methods as the basis for GSTD claim reserves.

D. Minimum Morbidity Standard for Other Health Insurance Claim Reserves

The reserve should be based on the insurer's experience, if the experience is considered credible, or upon other assumptions designed to place a sound value on the liabilities.

E. Claim Reserve Methods Generally

A generally accepted actuarial reserving method or other reasonable method, if, after a public hearing, the method is approved by the commissioner prior to the statement date, or a combination of methods may be used to estimate all claim liabilities. The methods used for estimating liabilities generally may be aggregate methods, or various reserve items may be separately valued. Approximations based on groupings and averages may also be employed. Adequacy of the claim reserves, however, shall be determined in the aggregate.

Section 3. Premium Reserves

A. General

(1) Except as noted in Paragraph (2), unearned premium reserves are required for all contracts with respect to the period of coverage for which premiums, other than premiums paid in advance, have been paid beyond the date of valuation.

(2) Single premium credit disability insurance, both individual and group, is excluded from unearned premium reserve requirements of this Section 3.

(3) If premiums due and unpaid are carried as an asset, the premiums must be treated as premiums in force, subject to unearned premium reserve determination. The value of unpaid commissions, premium taxes and the cost of collection associated with due and unpaid premiums shall be carried as an offsetting liability.

(4) The gross premiums paid in advance for a period of coverage commencing after the next premium due date which follows the date of valuation may be appropriately discounted to the valuation date and shall be held either as a separate liability or as an addition to the unearned premium reserve which would otherwise be required as a minimum.

B. Minimum Standards for Unearned Premium Reserves

(1) The minimum unearned premium reserve with respect to a contract is the pro rata unearned modal premium that applies to the premium period beyond the valuation date, with the premium determined on the basis of:

(a) The valuation net modal premium on the contract reserve basis applying to the contract; or

(b) The gross modal premium for the contract if no contract reserve applies.

(2) However, in no event may the sum of the unearned premium and contract reserves for all contracts of the insurer subject to contract reserve requirements be less than the gross modal unearned premium reserve on all such contracts, as of the date of valuation. The reserve shall never be less than the expected claims for the period beyond the valuation date represented by the unearned premium reserve, to the extent not provided for elsewhere.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that while single premium credit disability insurance is excluded from unearned premium reserve requirements, there may be requirements elsewhere in statutory accounting to test reserves against the premium refund net liability.

C. Premium Reserve Methods Generally

The insurer may employ suitable approximations and estimates; including, but not limited to groupings, averages and aggregate estimation; in computing premium reserves. Approximations or estimates should be tested periodically to determine their continuing adequacy and reliability.

Section 4. Contract Reserves

A. General

(1) Contract reserves are required, unless otherwise specified in Section 4A(2) for:

(a) All individual and group contracts with which level premiums are used; or

(b) All individual and group contracts with respect to which, due to the gross premium pricing structure at issue, the value of the future benefits at any time exceeds the value of any appropriate future valuation net premiums at that time. This evaluation may be applied on a rating block basis if the total premiums for the block were developed to support the total risk assumed and expected expenses for the block each year, and a qualified actuary certifies the premium development. The actuary should state in the certification that premiums for the rating block were developed such that each year's premium was intended to cover that year's costs without any prefunding. If the premium is also intended to recover costs for any prior years, the actuary should also disclose the reasons for and magnitude of such recovery. The values specified in this subparagraph shall be determined on the basis specified in Subsection B of this section.

Drafting Note: Language permitting a rating block test was added because a concern arose that the existing minimum reserve standards could be interpreted as requiring contract reserves on a per contract basis for products that are community rated or that use other rating methodology based on cross-subsidies among contracts within the block. If rates are determined such that each year's premium is intended to cover that year's cost, the rating block approach results in no contract reserves unless required by Subsection D. If rates are designed to prefund future years' costs, contract reserves will be required.

(2) Contracts not requiring a contract reserve are:

(a) Contracts that cannot be continued after one year from issue; or

(b) Contracts already in force on the effective date of these standards for which no contract reserve was required under the immediately preceding standards.

(3) The contract reserve is in addition to claim reserves and premium reserves.

(4) The methods and procedures for contract reserves shall be consistent with those for claim reserves for a contract, or else appropriate adjustment shall be made when necessary to assure provision for the aggregate liability. The definition of the date of incurral shall be the same in both determinations.

(5) The total contract reserve established shall incorporate provisions for moderately adverse deviations.

B. Minimum Standards for Contract Reserves

(1) Basis

(a) Morbidity or Other Contingency. Minimum standards with respect to morbidity are those set forth in Appendix A. Valuation net premiums used under each contract shall have a structure consistent with the gross premium structure at issue of the contract as this relates to the advancing age of insured, contract duration and period for which gross premiums have been calculated. Contracts for which tabular morbidity standards are not specified in Appendix A shall be valued using tables established for reserve purposes by a qualified actuary and acceptable to the commissioner. The morbidity tables shall contain a pattern of incurred claims cost that reflects the underlying morbidity and shall not be constructed for the primary purpose of minimizing reserves.

Drafting Note: Section 4B(1)(a) only applies to the premium structure applicable to each contract. The relationship among gross premiums for different contracts (e.g., variations by age) has no bearing on the net premium structure. If for a policy form there is no gross premium variation by age, the valuation net premiums will nonetheless vary based on age at issue for each contract since at issue the present value of valuation net premiums for a contract must equal the present value of tabular claim costs.

(i) In determining the morbidity assumptions, the actuary shall use assumptions that represent the best estimate of anticipated future experience, but shall not incorporate any expectation of future morbidity improvement. Morbidity improvement is a change, in the combined effect of claim frequency and the present value of future expected claim payments given that a claim has occurred, from the current morbidity tables or experience that will result in a reduction to reserves. It is not the intent of this provision to restrict the ability of the actuary to reflect the morbidity impact for a specific known event that has occurred and that is able to be evaluated and quantified.

Drafting Note: The last sentence is intended to provide allowances for a known event, such as a new drug release, but at the time of this writing, there are no specific examples that could be pointed to in the recent past that would have met this standard. This is intended to be an extremely rare event.

(ii) Business in force as of the effective date of Section 4B(1)(c)(iii) may be permitted to retain the original reserve basis which may not meet the provisions of Item (i) above, subject to the acceptability to the commissioner.

Drafting Note: The consistency between the gross premium structure and the valuation net premium is required only at issue, because the impact on such consistency after issue of regulatory restrictions on premium rate increases is still under study.

(b) Interest. The maximum interest rate is specified in Appendix A.

(c) Termination Rates. Termination rates used in the computation of reserves shall be on the basis of a mortality table as specified in Appendix A except as noted in the following items:

(i) Under contracts for which premium rates are not guaranteed, and where the effects of insurer underwriting are specifically used by policy duration in the valuation morbidity standard or for return of premium or other deferred cash benefits, total termination rates may be used at ages and durations where these exceed specified mortality table rates, but not in excess of the lesser of:

(I) Eighty percent of the total termination rate used in the calculation of the gross premiums, or

(II) Eight percent;

(ii) For long-term care individual policies or group certificates issued after January 1, [1997], the contract reserve may be established on a basis of separate:

(I) Mortality (as specified in Appendix A); and

(II) Terminations other than mortality, where the terminations are not to exceed:

- For policy years one (1) through four (4), the lesser of eighty percent (80%) of the voluntary lapse rate used in the calculation of gross premiums and eight percent (8%);
- For policy years five (5) and later, the lesser of one hundred percent (100%) of the voluntary lapse rate used in the calculation of gross premiums and four percent (4%).

(iii) For long-term care individual policies or group certificates issued on or after January 1, [2005], the contract reserve shall be established on the basis of:

(I) Mortality (as specified in Appendix A); and

(II) Terminations other than mortality, where the terminations are not to exceed:

- For policy year one, the lesser of eighty percent (80%) of the voluntary lapse rate used in the calculation of gross premiums and six percent (6%);
- For policy years two (2) through four (4), the lesser of eighty percent (80%) of the voluntary lapse rate used in the calculation of gross premiums and four percent (4%); and
- For policy years five (5) and later, the lesser of one hundred percent (100%) of the voluntary lapse rate used in the calculation of gross premiums and two percent (2%), except for group insurance as defined in [insert reference to Section 4E(1) of the NAIC Long-Term Care Insurance Model Act, i.e., employer groups] where the 2% shall be three percent (3%).

(iv) Where a morbidity standard specified in Appendix A is on an aggregate basis, the morbidity standard may be adjusted to reflect the effect of insurer underwriting by policy duration. The adjustments must be appropriate to the underwriting and be acceptable to the commissioner.

(2) Reserve Method.

(a) For insurance except long-term care and return of premium or other deferred cash benefits, the minimum reserve is the reserve calculated on the two-year full preliminary term method; that is, under which the terminal reserve is zero at the first and also the second contract anniversary.

(b) For long-term care insurance, the minimum reserve is the reserve calculated as follows:

(i) For individual policies and group certificates issued on or before December 31, [1991], reserves calculated on the two-year full preliminary term method;

(ii) For individual policies and group certificates issued on or after January 1, [1992], reserves calculated on the one-year full preliminary term method.

(c) (i) For return of premium or other deferred cash benefits, the minimum reserve is the reserve calculated as follows:

(I) On the one year preliminary term method if the benefits are provided at any time before the twentieth anniversary;

(II) On the two year preliminary term method if the benefits are only provided on or after the twentieth anniversary.

(ii) The preliminary term method may be applied only in relation to the date of issue of a contract. Reserve adjustments introduced later, as a result of rate increases, revisions in assumptions (e.g., projected inflation rates) or for other reasons, are to be applied immediately as of the effective date of adoption of the adjusted basis.

(3) Negative Reserves. Negative reserves on any benefit may be offset against positive reserves for other benefits in the same contract, but the total contract reserve with respect to all benefits combined may not be less than zero.

(4) Nonforfeiture Benefits for Long-Term Care Insurance. The contract reserve on a policy basis shall not be less than the net single premium for the nonforfeiture benefits at the appropriate policy duration, where the net single premium is computed according to the above specifications.

Drafting Note: While the above consideration for nonforfeiture benefits is specific to long-term care insurance, it should not be interpreted to mean that similar consideration may not be applicable for other lines of business.

C. Alternative Valuation Methods and Assumptions Generally

Provided the contract reserve on all contracts to which an alternative method or basis is applied is not less in the aggregate than the amount determined according to the applicable standards specified above; an insurer may use any reasonable assumptions as to interest rates, termination and mortality rates, and rates of morbidity or other contingency. Also, subject to the preceding condition, the insurer may employ methods other than the methods stated above in determining a sound value of its liabilities under such contracts, including, but not limited to the following: the net level premium method; the one-year full preliminary term method; prospective valuation on the basis of actual gross premiums with reasonable allowance for future expenses; the use of approximations such as those involving age groupings, groupings of several years of issue, average amounts of indemnity, grouping of similar contract forms; the computation of the reserve for one contract benefit as a percentage of, or by other relation to, the aggregate contract reserves exclusive of the benefit or benefits so valued; and the use of a composite annual claim cost for all or any combination of the benefits included in the contracts valued.

D. Tests for Adequacy and Reasonableness of Contract Reserves

Annually, an appropriate review shall be made of the insurer's prospective contract liabilities on contracts valued by tabular reserves to determine the continuing adequacy and reasonableness of the tabular reserves giving consideration to future gross premiums. The insurer shall make appropriate increments to such tabular reserves if such tests indicate that the basis of such reserves is no longer adequate; subject, however, to the minimum standards of Section 4B.

In the event a company has a contract or a group of related similar contracts, for which future gross premiums will be restricted by contract, insurance department regulations, or for other reasons, such that the future gross premiums reduced by expenses for administration, commissions, and taxes will be insufficient to cover future claims, the company shall establish contract reserves for such shortfall in the aggregate.

Section 5. Reinsurance

Increases to, or credits against reserves carried, arising because of reinsurance assumed or reinsurance ceded, must be determined in a manner consistent with these minimum reserve standards and with all applicable provisions of the reinsurance contracts which affect the insurer's liabilities.

Section 6. Effective Date

The regulation shall be effective on [insert date].

APPENDIX A. SPECIFIC STANDARDS FOR MORBIDITY, INTEREST AND MORTALITY

I. MORBIDITY

A. Minimum morbidity standards for valuation of specified individual contract health insurance benefits are as follows:

(1) Disability Income Benefits Due to Accident or Sickness.

(a) Contract Reserves:

Contracts issued on or after January 1, 1965, and prior to January 1, [YEAR 1]:

The 1964 Commissioners Disability Table (64 CDT).

Contracts issued on or after January 1, [YEAR 1] and before January 1, 2020:

The 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Tables A (85CIDA); or

The 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Tables B (85CIDB).

Contracts issued during [YEAR 1 or YEARS]:

Optional use of either the 1964 Table or the 1985 Tables.

Each insurer shall elect, with respect to all individual contracts issued in any one statement year, whether it will use Tables A or Tables B as the minimum standard. The insurer may, however, elect to use the other tables with respect to any subsequent statement year.

Contracts issued on or after January 1, 2020:

An insurer may begin to use the 2013 IDI Valuation Table with modifiers at a date earlier than January 1, 2020, but not prior to January 1, 2017.

Within three years of 2020, or the earlier date an insurer begins to use the 2013 IDI Valuation Table, the insurer may elect to apply that morbidity standard for all policies issued subject to other valuation tables. This may be done if the following conditions are met:

(i) The insurer must apply the morbidity standard to all inforce policies and incurred claims;

(ii) The insurer elects or has elected to apply the 2013 IDI Valuation Table to all claims incurred regardless of incurred date;

(iii) The insurer maintains adequate policy records on policies issued prior to 2020, that allow the insurer to apply the 2013 IDI Valuation Table appropriately;

(iv) Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all inforce policies based on the current morbidity standard, all future valuations must be on that basis.

Drafting Note: As an example of the [YEAR] values to be used by a state, the following would be the actual "year" values if a state were to have adopted these changes effective January 1, 2010 (with optional early use from January 1, 2007 through December 31, 2009):

Contract Reserves –

- Contracts issued on or after January 1, 1965 and prior to January 1, 2007: The 1964 Commissioners Disability Table (64 CDT).
- Contracts issued during 2007, 2008 or 2009: Optional use of either the 1964 Table or the 1985 Tables.
- Contracts issued on or after January 1, 2010 and before January 1, 2017:
    - The 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Tables A (85CIDA); or
    - The 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Tables B (85CIDB).
- Contracts issued during 2017, 2018 or 2019: Optional use of either the 1985 Tables (as previously used) or the 2013 IDI Table.
- Contracts issued on or after January 1, 2020: The 2013 IDI Table.

(b) Claim Reserves:

(i) For claims incurred on or after [effective date of this amendment] and prior to 2020:

The 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Table A (85CIDA) with claim termination rates multiplied by the following adjustment factors:

The adjustment factors for age, elimination period, class, sex, and cause displayed in exhibits 3a, 3b, 3c, and 4 should be applied to the adjusted termination rates shown in this table.

 Applicable DTS Valuation Table duration rate from exhibits 3c and 4 (TSA XXXVII, pp. 462-463).

The 85CIDA table so adjusted for the computation of claim reserves shall be known as 85CIDC (The 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Table C).

For claims incurred on or after 2020, the 2013 IDI Valuation Table with modifiers and adjustments for company experience as prescribed in the Actuarial Guideline L, except for worksite disability policies with benefit periods of 24 months or less.

(ii) For worksite disability policies, claim reserves may be calculated using claim run-out analysis or claim triangles, or other methods that place a sound value on the reserves that are appropriate for the business and risks involved.

(iii) For claims incurred prior to [effective date of this amendment]:

Each insurer may elect which of the following to use as the minimum standard for claims incurred prior to [effective date of this amendment]:

(I) The minimum morbidity standard in effect for contract reserves on currently issued contracts, as of the date the claim is incurred, or

(II) The standard as defined in Appendix A, Section I.A(1)(b)(i) or (ii), applied to all open non-worksite claims, provided the insurer maintains adequate claim records to allow the insurer to apply the standard defined in Appendix A, Section I.A(1)(b)(i) or (ii) appropriately. Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all open claims on the standard defined in Appendix A, Section I.A.(1)(b)(i) or (ii), all future valuations must be on that basis. This option, with respect to Appendix A, Section I.A.(1)(b)(ii), may be selected only if the insurer maintains adequate claim records for all claims incurred to use the 2013 IDI Valuation Table appropriately.

(2) Hospital Benefits, Surgical Benefits and Maternity Benefits (Scheduled benefits or fixed time period benefits only).

(a) Contract Reserves:

Contracts issued on or after January 1, 1955, and before January 1, 1982:

The 1956 Intercompany Hospital-Surgical Tables.

Contracts issued on or after January 1, 1982:

The 1974 Medical Expense Tables, Table A, Transactions of the Society of Actuaries, Volume XXX, pg. 63. Refer to the paper (in the same volume, pg. 9) to which this table is appended, including its discussions, for methods of adjustment for benefits not directly valued in Table A: "Development of the 1974 Medical Expense Benefits," Houghton and Wolf.

(b) Claim Reserves:

No specific standard. See (6).

(3) Cancer Expense Benefits.

(a) Contract Reserves:

(i) Contracts issued on or after January 1, 1986 and before January 1, 2019:

The 1985 NAIC Cancer Claim Cost Tables (1985 CCCT).

(ii) Contracts issued on or after January 1, 2019:

(I) For first occurrence and hospitalization benefits:

The 2016 Cancer Claim Cost Valuation Tables (2016 CCCVT); https://content.naic.org/sites/default/files/actuary-01-naic-2017-cancer-claim-cost-valuation-table.xlsx

(II) For all other benefits:

Assumptions based on company experience, relevant industry experience, and actuarial judgement. Such assumptions should be appropriate for valuation which considers margin for adverse experience.

(iii) For contracts issued on or after January 1, 2018, and before January 1, 2019, a company may elect to use morbidity basis described in Item (ii) above. Once a company begins use of the 2016 CCCVT for new issues, it may not revert to the 1985 CCCT.

(b) Claim Reserves:

No specific standard. See (6).

(4) Accidental Death Benefits.

(a) Contract Reserves:

Contracts issued on or after January 1, 1965:

The 1959 Accidental Death Benefits Table.

(b) Claim Reserves:

Actual amount incurred.

(5) Single Premium Credit Disability.

(a) Contract Reserves:

(i) For contracts issued on or after [effective date of this amendment]:

(I) For plans having less than a thirty-day elimination period, the 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Table A (85CIDA) with claim incidence rates increased by twelve percent (12%).

(II) For plans having a thirty-day and greater elimination period, the 85CIDA for a fourteen-day elimination period with the adjustment in Subitem (I).

(ii) For contracts issued prior to [effective date of this amendment], each insurer may elect either Subitem (I) or (II) to use as the minimum standard. Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all contracts on the standard defined in Item (i), all future valuations must be on that basis.

(I) The minimum morbidity standard in effect for contract reserves on currently issued contracts, as of the date the contract was issued, or

Drafting Note: If the state does not have a minimum morbidity standard in effect for contract reserves on currently issued contracts, the state shall accept the methodology approved by the commissioner in the state of domicile.

(II) The standard as defined in Item (i), applied to all contracts.

(b) Claim Reserves:

Claim reserves are to be determined as provided in Section 2E.

(6) Other Individual Contract Benefits.

(a) Contract Reserves:

For all other individual contract benefits, morbidity assumptions are to be determined as provided in the reserve standards.

(b) Claim Reserves:

For all benefits other than disability, claim reserves are to be determined as provided in the standards.

B. Minimum morbidity standards for valuation of specified group contract health insurance benefits are as follows:

(1) Disability Income Benefits Due to Accident or Sickness, where the Model references this Appendix; otherwise Actuarial Guideline XLVII, as included in the most current version of the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual.

(a) Contract Reserves:

Contracts issued prior to January 1, [YEAR]:

The same basis, if any, as that employed by the insurer as of January 1, [SAME YEAR];

Contracts issued on or after January 1, [YEAR]:

The 1987 Commissioners Group Disability Income Table (87CGDT).

(b) Claim Reserves:

For claims incurred on or after January 1, [YEAR]:

The 1987 Commissioners Group Disability Income Table (87CGDT);

For claims incurred prior to January 1, [YEAR]:

Use of the 87CGDT is optional.

(2) Single Premium Credit Disability

(a) Contract Reserves:

(i) For contracts issued on or after [effective date of this amendment]:

(I) For plans having less than a thirty-day elimination period, the 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability Table A (85CIDA) with claim incidence rates increased by twelve percent (12%).

(II) For plans having a thirty-day and greater elimination period, the 85CIDA for a fourteen-day elimination period with the adjustment in item (I).

(ii) For contracts issued prior to [effective date of this amendment], each insurer may elect either Item (I) or (II) to use as the minimum standard. Once an insurer elects to calculate reserves for all contracts on the standard defined in Item (i), all future valuations must be on that basis.

(I) The minimum morbidity standard in effect for contract reserves on currently issued contracts, as of the date the contract was issued, or

(II) The standard as defined in Item (i), applied to all contracts.

(b) Claim Reserves:
Claim reserves are to be determined as provided in Section 2C.

(3) Other Group Contract Benefits.

(a) Contract Reserves:
For all other group contract benefits, morbidity assumptions are to be determined as provided in the reserve standards.

(b) Claim Reserves:
For all benefits other than disability, claim reserves are to be determined as provided in the standards.

II. INTEREST

A. For contract reserves the maximum interest rate is the maximum rate permitted by law in the valuation of whole life insurance issued on the same date as the health insurance contract.

B. For claim reserves on policies that require contract reserves, the maximum interest rate is the maximum rate permitted by law in the valuation of whole life insurance issued on the same date as the claim incurral date.

C. For claim reserves on policies not requiring contract reserves, the maximum interest rate is the maximum rate permitted by law in the valuation of single premium immediate annuities issued on the same date as the claim incurral date, reduced by one hundred basis points.

III. MORTALITY

A. Unless Subsection B or C applies, the mortality basis used for all policies except long-term care individual policies and group certificates and for long-term care individual policies or group certificates issued before [January 1, 1997, or the effective date set in state regulations, whichever is later] shall be according to a table (but without use of selection factors) permitted by law for the valuation of whole life insurance issued on the same date as the health insurance contract. For long-term care insurance individual policies or group certificates issued on or after [January 1, 1997, or the effective date set in state regulations, whichever is later], the mortality basis used shall be the 1983 Group Annuity Mortality Table without projection. For long-term care insurance individual policies or group certificates issued on or after the effective date of Section 4B(1)(c)(iii), the mortality basis used shall be the 1994 Group Annuity Mortality Static Table.

B. Other mortality tables adopted by the NAIC and promulgated by the commissioner may be used in the calculation of the minimum reserves if appropriate for the type of benefits and if approved by the commissioner. The request for approval shall include the proposed mortality table and the reason that the standard specified in Subsection A is inappropriate.

C. For single premium credit insurance using the 85CIDA table, no separate mortality shall be assumed.

APPENDIX B. GLOSSARY OF TECHNICAL TERMS USED

As used in this valuation standard, the following terms have the following meaning:

ANNUAL-CLAIM COST. The net annual cost per unit of benefit before the addition of expenses, including claim settlement expenses, and a margin for profit or contingencies. For example, the annual claim cost for a $100 monthly disability benefit, for a maximum disability benefit period of one year, with an elimination period of one week, with respect to a male at age 35, in a certain occupation might be $12, while the gross premium for this benefit might be $18. The additional $6 would cover expenses and profit or contingencies.

CLAIMS ACCRUED. That portion of claims incurred on or prior to the valuation date which result in liability of the insurer for the payment of benefits for medical services which have been rendered on or prior to the valuation date, and for the payment of benefits for days of hospitalization and days of disability which have occurred on or prior to the valuation date, which the insurer has not paid as of the valuation date, but for which it is liable, and will have to pay after the valuation date. This liability is sometimes referred to as a liability for "accrued" benefits. A claim reserve, which represents an estimate of this accrued claim liability, must be established.

CLAIMS REPORTED. When an insurer has been informed that a claim has been incurred, if the date reported is on or prior to the valuation date, the claim is considered as a reported claim for annual statement purposes.

CLAIMS UNACCRUED. That portion of claims incurred on or prior to the valuation date which result in liability of the insurer for the payment of benefits for medical services expected to be rendered after the valuation date, and for benefits expected to be payable for days of hospitalization and days of disability occurring after the valuation date. This liability is sometimes referred to as a liability for unaccrued benefits. A claim reserve, which represents an estimate of the unaccrued claim payments expected to be made (which may or may not be discounted with interest), must be established.

CLAIMS UNREPORTED. When an insurer has not been informed, on or before the valuation date, concerning a claim that has been incurred on or prior to the valuation date, the claim is considered as an unreported claim for annual statement purposes.

DATE OF DISABLEMENT. The earliest date the insured is considered as being disabled under the definition of disability in the contract, based on a doctor's evaluation or other evidence. Normally this date will coincide with the start of any elimination period.

ELIMINATION PERIOD. A specified number of days, weeks, or months starting at the beginning of each period of loss, during which no benefits are payable.

GROSS PREMIUM. The amount of premium charged by the insurer. It includes the net premium (based on claim-cost) for the risk, together with any loading for expenses, profit or contingencies.

GROUP INSURANCE. The term group insurance includes blanket insurance and franchise insurance and any other forms of group insurance.

GROUP LONG-TERM DISABILITY INCOME. The term "group long-term disability income" includes group contracts providing group disability income coverage with a maximum benefit duration longer than two years. Group long-term disability income contracts are based on a group pricing structure. The term "group long-term disability" does not include group short-term disability (coverage with benefit periods of two years or less in maximum duration). It also does not include voluntary group disability income coverage that is priced on an individual risk structure and generally sold in the workplace.

LEVEL PREMIUM. A premium calculated to remain unchanged throughout either the lifetime of the policy, or for some shorter projected period of years. The premium need not be guaranteed; in which case, although it is calculated to remain level, it may be changed if any of the assumptions on which it was based are revised at a later time.

Generally, the annual claim costs are expected to increase each year and the insurer, instead of charging premiums that correspondingly increase each year, charges a premium calculated to remain level for a period of years or for the lifetime of the contract. In this case the benefit portion of the premium is more than needed to provide for the cost of benefits during the earlier years of the policy and less than the actual cost in the later years. The building of a prospective contract reserve is a natural result of level premiums.

LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE. Any insurance policy or rider advertised, marketed, offered or designed to provide coverage for not less than twelve (12) consecutive months for each covered person on an expense incurred, indemnity, prepaid or other basis; for one or more necessary or medically necessary diagnostic, preventive, therapeutic, rehabilitative, maintenance or personal care services, provided in a setting other than an acute care unit of a hospital. Such term also includes a policy or rider which provides for payment of benefits based upon cognitive impairment or the loss of functional capacity. Long-term care insurance may be issued by insurers; fraternal benefit societies; nonprofit health, hospital, and medical service corporations; prepaid health plans; health maintenance organizations or any similar organization to the extent they are otherwise authorized to issue life or health insurance. Long-term care insurance shall not include any insurance policy which is offered primarily to provide basic Medicare supplement coverage, basic hospital expense coverage, basic medical-surgical expense coverage, hospital confinement indemnity coverage, major medical expense coverage, disability income or related asset-protection coverage, accident only coverage, specified disease or specified accident coverage, or limited benefit health coverage.

MODAL PREMIUM. This refers to the premium paid on a contract based on a premium term which could be annual, semi-annual, quarterly, monthly, or weekly. Thus if the annual premium is $100 and if, instead, monthly premiums of $9 are paid then the modal premium is $9.

NEGATIVE RESERVE. Normally the terminal reserve is a positive value. However, if the values of the benefits are decreasing with advancing age or duration it could be a negative value, called a negative reserve.

PRELIMINARY TERM RESERVE METHOD. Under this method of valuation the valuation net premium for each year falling within the preliminary term period is exactly sufficient to cover the expected incurred claims of that year, so that the terminal reserves will be zero at the end of the year. As of the end of the preliminary term period, a new constant valuation net premium (or stream of changing valuation premiums) becomes applicable such that the present value of all such premiums is equal to the present value of all claims expected to be incurred following the end of the preliminary term period.

PRESENT VALUE OF AMOUNTS NOT YET DUE ON CLAIMS. The reserve for "claims unaccrued" (see definition), which may be discounted at interest.

RATING BLOCK. "Rating block" means a grouping of contracts determined by the valuation actuary based on common characteristics filed with the commissioner, such as a policy form or forms having similar benefit designs.

RESERVE. The term "reserve" is used to include all items of benefit liability, whether in the nature of incurred claim liability or in the nature of contract liability relating to future periods of coverage, and whether the liability is accrued or unaccrued.

An insurer under its contracts promises benefits which result in:

(a) Claims which have been incurred, that is, for which the insurer has become obligated to make payment, on or prior to the valuation date. On these claims, payments expected to be made after the valuation date for accrued and unaccrued benefits are liabilities of the insurer which should be provided for by establishing claim reserves; or

(b) Claims which are expected to be incurred after the valuation date. Any present liability of the insurer for these future claims should be provided for by the establishment of contract reserves and unearned premium reserves.

TERMINAL RESERVE. This is the reserve at the end of a contract year, and is defined as the present value of benefits expected to be incurred after that contract year minus the present value of future valuation net premiums.

UNEARNED PREMIUM RESERVE. This reserve values that portion of the premium paid or due to the insurer which is applicable to the period of coverage extending beyond the valuation date. Thus if an annual premium of $120 was paid on November 1, $20 would be earned as of December 31 and the remaining $100 would be unearned. The unearned premium reserve could be on a gross basis as in this example, or on a valuation net premium basis.

VALUATION NET MODAL PREMIUM. This is the modal fraction of the valuation net annual premium that corresponds to the gross modal premium in effect on any contract to which contract reserves apply. Thus if the mode of payment in effect is quarterly, the valuation net modal premium is the quarterly equivalent of the valuation net annual premium.

WORKSITE DISABILITY POLICIES. The term worksite disability policy refers to individual short-term disability policies that are sold at the worksite through employer-sponsored enrollment, cover normal pregnancy, and that have benefit periods up to 24 months. Worksite disability policies do not include personal disability policies sold to an individual and not associated with employer-sponsored enrollment. They also do not include business overhead expense, disability buyout, or key person policies, in whatever manner those policies are sold.

APPENDIX C. RESERVES FOR WAIVER OF PREMIUM
(Supplementary explanatory material)

Waiver of premium reserves involve several special considerations. First, the disability valuation tables promulgated by the NAIC are based on exposures that include contracts on premium waiver as in-force contracts. Hence, contract reserves based on these tables are NOT reserves on "active lives" but rather reserves on contracts "in force." This is true for the 1964 CDT and for both the 1985 CIDA and CIDB tables.

Accordingly, tabular reserves using any of these tables should value reserves on the following basis:

Claim reserves should include reserves for premiums expected to be waived, valuing as a minimum the valuation net premium being waived.

Premium reserves should include contracts on premium waiver as in-force contracts, valuing as a minimum the unearned modal valuation net premium being waived.

Contract reserves should include recognition of the waiver of premium benefit in addition to other contract benefits provided for, valuing as a minimum the valuation net premium to be waived.

If an insurer is, instead, valuing reserves on what is truly an active life table, or if a specific valuation table is not being used but the insurer's gross premiums are calculated on a basis that includes in the projected exposure only those contracts for which premiums are being paid, then it may not be necessary to provide specifically for waiver of premium reserves. Any insurer using such a true "active life" basis should carefully consider, however, whether or not additional liability should be recognized on account of premiums waived during periods of disability or during claim continuation.

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2016

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION (#10)
(Referencing 2016 Cancer Claim Cost Valuation Tables)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The 2016 Cancer Claim Cost Valuation Tables (2016 CCCVT) were proposed by the American Academy of Actuaries (Academy)/Society of Actuaries (SOA) Cancer Claim Cost Tables Work Group as the basis for a new minimum valuation standard for cancer insurance contracts issued on or after Jan. 1, 2019, to replace the current 1985 NAIC Cancer Claim Cost Tables. To do so, Model #10 had to be amended to make reference to the new tables.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Cancer Claims Cost Table (B) Subgroup—comprising regulator representatives from California, Georgia, Nebraska, New York and Utah—oversaw the drafting of the proposed amendments to Model #10.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

In May 2004, the Accident and Health Working Group of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force (predecessor of the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force and the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force) charged the Academy and the SOA with developing tables to replace the 1985 NAIC Cancer Claim Cost Tables for active life reserves associated with contracts issued past a date to be specified later. As the Academy neared completion of its charge to develop the tables, the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force appointed the Cancer Claims Cost Table (B) Subgroup. The Subgroup was charged with overseeing the addition of references to the table to Model #10, and collaborating with the Statutory Accounting Principles (E) Working Group to add references to the table in the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The initial draft of the amendments to Model #10 was provided to the Cancer Claims Cost Table (B) Subgroup by America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP). The draft was discussed and modified, with input from interested regulators and the industry, on an open conference call of the Subgroup held Dec. 22, 2016. The final version of the proposed amendments to Model #10 was adopted by the Subgroup on a conference call held Feb. 8, 2017. The Health Actuarial (B) Task Force adopted the proposed amendments to Model #10 on a conference call held Feb. 24, 2017. The Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopted the proposed amendments to Model #10 on a conference call held March 16, 2017.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The Task Force voted at the 2016 Summer National Meeting to expose the 2016 CCCVT for a public comment period ending Oct. 6, 2016. Several comments from regulators and the industry were received concerning how to compute reserves for benefits other than those addressed by the two CCCVT tables, first occurrence and hospitalization. Regulators, the industry and the Academy participated in drafting amendments to Model #10 to incorporate the 2016 CCCVT, and to address the valuation of benefits not covered by the two tables. The final version of the proposed amendments to Model #10 was adopted by the Cancer Claims Cost Table (B) Subgroup, the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force and the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee (please see item #4 for the dates of adoption by each group).

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Please see item #5.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

None.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2016

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION (#10)
(Referencing 2013 IDI Valuation Table)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The 2013 Individual Disability Income (IDI) Valuation Table was proposed by the American Academy of Actuaries (Academy)/Society of Actuaries (SOA) Individual Disability Tables Work Group as the basis for a new minimum reserve valuation standard for IDI claims incurred and contracts issued on or after Jan. 1, 2020, to replace the current standard and its 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability A (CIDA) and 1985 Commissioners Individual Disability C (CIDC) Tables. Model #10 needs to be amended to make reference to the new table and the actuarial guideline that gives detailed instructions for its application.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Individual Disability Valuation Table Implementation (B) Subgroup, comprising regulator representatives from Alabama, California, Florida, Kansas, Nebraska, New York and Texas oversaw the drafting of the proposed amendments to the model and the associated actuarial guideline. The Subgroup was directed by the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force to coordinate and oversee the drafting of both of these.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Health Actuarial (B) Task Force charged the Academy at the 2012 Fall National Meeting with developing a table to replace the 1985 CIDA and CIDC for claims incurred and contracts issued past a date to be specified later. As the Academy neared completion of its charge to develop the table, the Task Force formed the Individual Disability Income Valuation Table Implementation (B) Subgroup during its Aug., 1, 2014, conference call. The Subgroup was charged with overseeing addition of references to the table to Model #10, developing an actuarial guideline to implement use of the table and methodologies for its use, and collaborating with the Statutory Accounting Principles (E) Working Group to add references to the table in the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual (AP&P Manual).

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The initial draft of the amendments to the model and the actuarial guideline were provided to the Subgroup by America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP) and the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI). The draft was discussed and modified with input from interested regulators, industry and Academy participants on open conference calls of the Subgroup on April 1, 2015, Sept. 24, 2015, and Feb. 12, 2016. The final version of the proposed amendments to the model and the actuarial guideline were adopted by the Subgroup during its April. 14, 2016, conference call. The Health Actuarial (B) Task Force adopted the proposed amendments and the actuarial guideline during its April 14, 2016, conference call, as did the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee on its May 16 conference call.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The Task Force voted at the 2013 Fall National Meeting to expose the 2013 IDI Valuation Table, proposed amendments to the model and the actuarial guideline to implement the table for a public comment period ending June 30, 2014. Several comments from regulators and industry concerning the complexity of the table relative to the 1985 CIDA and CIDC tables, the need for sub-tables for more than one medical occupation class, and the need for separate claim incidence modifiers for each of voluntary and mandatory employer-sponsored policies were received. Regulators, industry and the Academy participated in revising the table implementation methodology, and the final version of the proposed amendments to the model and the guideline were adopted by the Subgroup, the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force, and the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee. (Please see 4. for dates of adoption by each group.)

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Please see 5.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

None.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2012

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION (#10)
(Referencing 2012 GLTD Valuation Table and Associated Actuarial Guideline)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The 2012 Group-Long Term Disability (GLTD) Valuation Table was proposed by the American Academy of Actuaries (AAA)/Society of Actuaries (SOA) Group Long-Term Disability Work Group as the basis for a new minimum reserve valuation standard for GLTD claims incurred on or after Oct. 1, 2016, to replace the current standard and its 1987 Commissioners Group Disability Table (CGDT). The Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation (#10) needs to be amended to make reference to the new table and the actuarial guideline that gives detailed instructions for its application.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Group Long-Term Disability Valuation Table Implementation (B) Subgroup—composed of regulator representatives from Kansas, Nebraska, New Jersey and New York—oversaw the drafting of the proposed amendments to the model and the drafting of the associated actuarial guideline. The Subgroup was directed by the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force to coordinate and oversee the drafting of both of these.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Health Actuarial (B) Task Force charged the AAA with developing a table to replace the 1987 CGDT for claims incurred past a date to be specified later at the NAIC Spring National Meeting on March 25, 2011. As the AAA neared completion of its charge to develop the table, the Task Force charged the Group Long-Term Disability Valuation Table Implementation (B) Subgroup with the following at the NAIC Summer National Meeting on Aug, 10, 2012:

> The Subgroup, upon NAIC Executive (EX) Committee favorable consideration of the model regulation request, shall develop revisions to the Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation (#10) to implement changes to:
>
> 1. Add reference to the 2012 GLTD Valuation Table for GLTD reserves.
> 2. Clarify distinction between group LTD and other group disability products.
> 3. Replace use of own experience with a credibility blending approach.
>
> Further, the Subgroup shall develop an Actuarial Guideline to implement these changes to the model regulation, taking into consideration elements discussed in the American Academy of Actuaries' Aug. 10, 2012, letter to the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force. The Subgroup will also draft appropriate changes to Statement of Statutory Accounting Practices (SSAP) No. 54—Individual and Group Accident and Health Contracts and Appendix A-010 of the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual.
>
> The Subgroup will attempt to provide the above documents to the Task Force by Oct. 1, 2012, for its consideration and subsequent exposure.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The initial draft of the amendments to the model and the draft actuarial guideline were provided to the Subgroup by America's Health Insurance Plans and the American Council of Life Insurers. The draft was discussed and modified with input from interested regulators, industry and AAA participants on open conference calls of the Subgroup held June 5, July 10, Nov. 15 and Dec. 4, 2013. The final version of the proposed amendments to the model and the final actuarial guideline were adopted by the Subgroup during its Dec. 4 call. The Health Actuarial (B) Task Force and the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee both adopted the proposed amendments and the actuarial guideline during the 2013 NAIC Fall National Meeting.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The 2012 GLTD Valuation Table, proposed amendments to the model, and the actuarial guideline to implement the table were exposed Sept. 12, 2012, for a 30-day public comment period. Many industry commenters felt that 30 days was not enough time to evaluate the tables and how they would be implemented through instructions in the actuarial guideline, and the exposure period was extended to May 31, 2013. Several comments from regulators and industry concerning the methodology for applying credibility to company experience used in modifying the tables and the effective date for use of the new table were received. Regulators, industry, and the AAA participated in revising the implementation methodology in the actuarial guideline, and the final versions of the proposed amendments to the model and the guideline were adopted by the Subgroup, the Health Actuarial (B) Task Force and the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee. Please see item #4 above for dates of adoption by each group.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Please see the response to item #5 above.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

PROJECT HISTORY - 2003

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION (#10)
(Long-Term Care Insurance Contract Reserve Requirements)

Description of Project and Issues Intended to be Addressed

Regulators have expressed concern that current minimum contract reserve standards for long-term care insurance may be inadequate given the recent incidence of rate increases and the new rate stability standards of the NAIC Long-Term Care Insurance Model Regulation requiring provision for moderately adverse deviation. Conversely, industry has expressed concern that contract reserve requirements for long-term care insurance generate excessive reserves and thus adversely affect insurance carrier returns, premium rates charged to consumers and future product availability. In response, the Accident and Health Working Group of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force formed a subgroup in June 2002 to study the issue of minimum standards for long-term care insurance contract reserves. Long-term and short-term issues were identified. Noting a desire to quickly act on those issues that are immediately identifiable, a decision was made to address contract reserve valuation assumptions contained in the model regulation, while deferring overall contract reserve methodology review to a later date. The subgroup quickly narrowed the focus of the valuation assumption review to three major issues:

1. Prohibiting the use of assumed improvement in valuation morbidity tables beyond the valuation date for contracts for which tabular morbidity tables are not specified in the model regulation.
2. The need to add explicit levels of conservatism in morbidity assumptions.
3. Possible reduction in maximum allowable mortality and voluntary termination rates to reflect developing experience.

States That Participated in Drafting the Amendment to the Model

Member states of the Accident and Health Working Group of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are New Mexico (Chair), Alaska, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Oklahoma, Texas, and Vermont.

Charge Authorizing Project

One of the 2003 charges of the task force is, "Study the methodology currently applicable to statutory reserves for long-term care insurance. Make recommendations for appropriate changes no later than the Winter National Meeting."

Procedure Followed in Drafting the Amendment to the Model Including Efforts Made to Assure All Interested Parties Were Provided An Opportunity to Comment During the Drafting Process

A subgroup of the Accident and Health Working Group of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force was formed in June 2002 to study the issue of minimum valuation standards for long-term care insurance contract reserves. This matter was included as a specific agenda item at each quarterly meeting of the working group from June 2002 through December 2003, and correspondence was included in numerous mailings of the Life and Health Actuarial Subscription over that time period. In addition, five interim conference calls were conducted by the subgroup or the working group to discuss this topic. Industry representatives were invited to participate in the conference calls, and a number of verbal and written comments were received, including ones from the American Council of Life Insurers and the Health Insurance Association of America.

During the course of the drafting process, three separate drafts of proposed changes to the Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation were prepared by the subgroup and released by the Accident and Health Working Group for comment, the latest following the October 23, 2003 interim conference call. These drafts were posted on the NAIC website and included in mailings of the Life and Health Actuarial Subscription. At the 2003 Winter National Meeting the working group recommended the proposed language be forwarded to the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force. At this same meeting the task force voted to recommend that the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopt the amendments, which it did.

Significant Issues Raised During the Due Process and Group's Response

An issue of concern to some regulators was the uncertainty of the financial impact of the proposed changes on carriers. In response to this concern the support of the American Academy of Actuaries Long-Term Care Reserving Work Group was enlisted to prepare for regulators an impact study on contract reserves of various changes being considered.

Regulators and interested parties also expressed other concerns, and the American Academy of Actuaries work group provided input to help regulators make informed decisions on many of these as well. One concern was the limited amount of actual lapse and mortality experience available for use in accurately revising the maximum allowable termination assumptions in the minimum contract reserves standards. Acknowledging the limited nature of available experience, regulators compromised by agreeing on amendments containing greater maximum allowable mortality and voluntary lapse rate standards than proposed in the initial drafts.

Regulators also considered requiring an explicit load for conservatism in the morbidity table used for calculating contract reserves. Regulators agreed to remove this provision based on arguments from interested parties that it may be overly conservative. However, a general provision was added to the contract reserve section requiring the total contract reserve established for all health insurance products incorporate provisions for moderately adverse deviation.

Industry groups were supportive of the restriction on use of future morbidity improvement after compromise language was developed preventing unintended consequences identified by them, and so long as it was not retroactive. The proposed changes allow in force business as of the effective date of the amendment to retain the original reserve morbidity basis, which may have included future improvement in morbidity, so long as it is acceptable to the commissioner.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2003

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION (#10)
(Single Premium Credit Disability Minimum Reserve Requirements)

Description of Project and Issues Intended to be Addressed

The Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation was amended in June 2001 implementing inclusion of single premium credit disability insurance. Specific valuation morbidity tables were added as minimum standards for determining contract reserves for individual and group single premium credit disability insurance.

Most states currently require entities to hold the gross unearned premium reserve as the minimum contract reserve. The intent of the June 2001 amendment was to establish, following the effective date of the amendment, the minimum standard for contract reserves using a defined morbidity table, and to replace the gross unearned premium as the minimum reserve standard. However, the amendment did not clearly exclude single premium credit disability insurance from unearned premium reserve requirements included in the HIRMR. Therefore, some readers might interpret the existing language to require an insurer to hold both unearned premium and morbidity-based contract reserves. In addition, a reserve test requiring the sum of unearned premium reserves and contract reserves be no less than the gross modal unearned premium reserve could also increase the reserve held for single premium credit disability above the morbidity-based contract reserve.

Since the intent of the June 2001 amendment was that an unearned premium reserve not be required for single premium credit disability insurance after implementation of the valuation morbidity tables, an amendment to exclude single premium credit disability from all unearned premium reserve requirements has been proposed to clarify the intent of the 2001 amendment.

States That Participated in Drafting the Amendment to the Model

Member states of the Accident and Health Working Group of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are New Mexico (Chair), Alaska, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Oklahoma, Texas and Vermont.

Procedure Followed in Drafting the Amendment to the Model Including Efforts Made to Assure All Interested parties Were Provided An Opportunity to comment During the Drafting Process

Interested parties, Chris Hause (Hause Actuarial), Bob Butler (Assurant Group) and Steve Ostlund (Protective Life Corp.) brought this issue to the attention of the working group in March 2003. They noted that the legislature of the state of Ohio was considering a revision to the June 2001 amendments to the model, similar to the one proposed here, prior to adopting it.

At the 2003 Summer National Meeting, the working group reviewed language proposed by Mr. Hause to amend the model. Following discussion, the working group agreed immediate action was desirable and recommended the proposed language be released for comment. The June 2003 draft was posted on the NAIC website and was included in the June mailing of the Life and Health Actuarial Subscription. This matter was included as a specific agenda item at the June 2003 and September 2003 quarterly meetings of the working group.

No comments were received on the proposed language during the three-month comment period. At the 2003 Fall National Meeting the working group recommended adoption of the draft language released for exposure, but with a slight change in wording and the addition of a drafting note to further clarify the intent. The Life and Health Actuarial Task Force agreed with the working group recommendation to adopt the amendment.

Implications of this Project for Accreditation and Codification

This change has no impact on accreditation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2003

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION (#10)
(Disability Income Insurance Claim Reserve Requirements)

Description of Project and Issues Intended to be Addressed

The issue concerns interpretation of the proper length of the period for use of a company's own claim experience in determining morbidity assumptions used in setting disability income insurance claim reserves.

The Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation provides, "For claims with a duration from date of disablement of less than two years, reserves may be based on the insurer's experience, if such experience is considered credible, or upon other assumptions designed to place a sound value on the liabilities." Furthermore, "For group disability income claims with a duration from date of disablement of more than two (2) years but less than five (5) years, reserves may, with the approval of the commissioner, be based on the insurer's experience for which the insurer maintains underwriting and claim administration control."

There are two competing interpretations of this language. Some argue that for claims with duration less than two or five years for individual and group policies respectively that the model allows the claim reserve to be based entirely on the company's morbidity experience. Others maintain that company morbidity experience may only be used in setting that portion of claim reserve for benefits payable in the first two or five durations from date of disablement with tabular morbidity rates as specified in the model to be used to set the portion of claim reserve for benefits payable beyond duration two or five from date of disablement.

The first interpretation can produce a substantial increase in the claim reserve following duration two or five if the insurer's own morbidity assumption was used to set the entire reserve and that assumption varies to a great extent from the tabular morbidity assumption required to be used to set the reserve once the duration from date of disablement is beyond durations two or five. In an effort to promote consistency of interpretation and to eliminate substantial reserve increases, an amendment to the model language reflecting the second interpretation has been proposed.

States That Participated in Drafting the Amendment to the Model

Member states of the Accident and Health Working Group of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are New Mexico (Chair), Alaska, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Oklahoma, Texas and Vermont.

Procedure Followed in Drafting the Amendment to the Model Including Efforts Made to Assure All Interested Parties Were Provided An Opportunity to Comment During the Drafting Process

A subgroup of the working group was formed in March 2002 to gather and review additional information on this issue. In addition to conducting a survey of the reserving methods used by major disability income carriers and a survey of state regulators as to how the model is interpreted in their state, several conference calls were also conducted by the subgroup. Industry representatives were invited to participate in the conference calls and the subgroup received a number of verbal and written comments. This matter was included as a specific agenda item at each quarterly meeting of the working group from March 2002 through September 2003, and correspondence was included in numerous mailings of the Life and Health Actuarial Subscription over that time period.

At the 2003 Summer National Meeting, the working group reviewed language to amend the model. Following discussion, the working group recommended the proposed language be released for comment. The June 2003 draft was posted on the NAIC website and was included in the June mailing of the Life and Health Actuarial Subscription. A conference call of the working group was held in August 2003 to discuss comments received on the draft.

Initial comments from the industry noted a concern with clarity and potential for continued varying interpretations of the language originally considered as the proposed revision to the model. Industry also suggested a survey be taken of the methods being used to develop disability claim reserves during the initial two- or five-year period. In response the subgroup surveyed, with industry input on survey development, major disability income insurance writers on methods used to calculate claim reserves. A survey was also made of state regulators on their interpretation of current model language. During its review, the subgroup considered alternative solutions for addressing the issue including taking no action to amend the model and revising the Health Reserve Guidance Manual to indicate the need for asset adequacy analysis to consider this issue. The working group agreed amending the model to be the best course of action.

Another issue was the effective date of the amendment and whether it was to be prospective only. The subgroup proposed a January 1, 2005, effective date that allows reasonable time for states to enact the amendment. In addition, the date will be bracketed so states can choose an alternative date to accommodate timing issues. They also agreed the revisions shall apply only to claims incurred on or after the effective date in recognition of the fact the change could have significant impact on carriers that used a varying interpretation of the current model language. However, the language allows carriers to select the amended method for all prior claims if they so desire.

Some comments received during the comment period pertained to portions of Section 2 – Claim Reserves other than those to which amendments are being proposed. The working group noted that these comments deserve consideration and discussion, however, since they broaden the scope of this particular issue, a decision was made to defer such consideration to such time a more thorough review of the model is undertaken.

Over the course of due process, the draft language was revised on multiple occasions in an effort to better reflect the intent of the proposed amendment and remove potential ambiguity. Ultimately, industry representatives offered their support to the final draft language.

At the 2003 Fall National Meeting the working group recommended adoption, without change, of the draft language released for exposure, and the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force also recommended adoption of the amendment to the model.

Implications of this Project for Accreditation and Codification

This change has no impact on accreditation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2001

HEALTH INSURANCE RESERVES MODEL REGULATION (#10)

Project Description: Review recommendations from the Society of Actuaries (SOA) relative to revisions concerning current minimum morbidity valuation standards for single premium credit disability insurance, and if appropriate, propose revisions.

Drafting group: Accident and Health Working Group (A&HWG) of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force member states are: Minnesota, Chair, Alaska, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, New Hampshire, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas.

Charge authorizing project: 2000 Charge for the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force: Continue discussions on the recommendations from the Society of Actuaries regarding revisions to the Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation concerning single premium credit disability income valuation tables. Report recommendations as to whether changes to the model regulation should be made no later than the Winter National Meeting Drafting process: Proposed revisions to the model were drafted by the A&HWG and revised based on comments from working group members and interested parties.

Due process:

National Meeting Date	Description of Activity
May, 2000	As agreed upon at the 2000 Spring National Meeting, the working group sent a letter to the Society of Actuaries (SOA) requesting that they review current minimum morbidity valuation standards for single premium credit disability insurance, and to recommend, as appropriate, valuation morbidity tables. The Society of Actuaries (SOA) established the Task Force to Recommend Morbidity Standards for Valuation of Credit Disability Benefits.
Nov., 2000	The A&HWG received the final report of the SOA's Task Force at the 2000 Winter National Meeting.
March, 2001	At the 2001 Spring National Meeting, the working group discussed a draft of the Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation that incorporated the SOA recommendations. Immediately following the national meeting, a March 28, 2000 draft was exposed that incorporated revisions based upon all of the comments from regulators and interested parties that had been received to-date.
June, 2001	At the Summer National Meeting, the A&HWG, the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force, and the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopted the March 28, 2000 draft of the model with two revisions for clarification, and forward it to the Executive (EX) Committee with a recommendation for adoption.

Significant issues:
States have historically required unearned premium reserves as the standard method for determining policy reserves. The adoption of this model could cause an estimated overall reduction in policy reserves for single premium credit disability insurance of 25% to 30%.

HEALTH CARRIER PRESCRIPTION DRUG BENEFIT MANAGEMENT MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Health Carrier Prescription Drug Benefit Management Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act in a regulation format. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as a regulation.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this Act is to provide standards for the establishment, maintenance and management of prescription drug formularies and other pharmaceutical benefit management procedures used by health carriers that provide prescription drug benefits.

Drafting Note: This Act is not intended to address the off-label use of prescription drugs. The "off-label use" of a prescription drug occurs when a prescription drug that has been approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for one or more indications, but the prescription drug is used for indications or in doses other than those stated in the labeling approved by the FDA. Many states have enacted "off-label use" laws or regulations to address this situation. States that have enacted "off-label use" laws or regulations should review the provisions of this Act to determine whether any provisions of this Act should be modified or clarified in light of those laws or regulations.

Drafting Note: This Act also is not intended to address prescription drug formularies and other pharmaceutical benefit management procedures health carriers or their designees may use for purposes of workers' compensation. States typically regulate workers' compensation under an independent, standalone law, which will include provisions, if the state has determined they are appropriate, concerning prescription drug formulary criteria and other related requirements specifically related to workers' compensation.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Authorized representative" means:

(1) A person to whom a covered person has given express written consent to represent the covered person for the purpose of filing a medical exceptions request under Section 7 of this Act;

(2) A person authorized by law to provide substituted consent for a covered person;

(3) The covered person's treating health care professional only when the covered person is unable to provide consent or a family member of the covered person; or

(4) For the purpose of filing a medical exceptions request under Section 7 of this Act on behalf of a covered person, the covered person's prescribing, treating or dispensing provider.

B. "Clinical review criteria" means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocol and practice guidelines used by the health carrier to determine the medical necessity and appropriateness of health care services.

C. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

D. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of the health benefit plan.

E. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

F. (1) "Dose restriction" means imposing a restriction on the number of doses of a prescription drug that will be covered during a specific time period.

(2) "Dose restriction" does not include:

(a) A restriction set forth in the terms of coverage under a health carrier's health benefit plan for prescription drug benefits that limits the number of doses of a prescription drug that will be covered during a specific time period; or

(b) A restriction on the number of doses when the prescription drug that is subject to the restriction cannot be supplied by or has been withdrawn from the market by the drug's manufacturer.

G. "Drug substitution" means:

(1) For generics, the substitution of a generic version of a brand name drug that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in its publication Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations, also known as the FDA Orange Book, has determined to be a therapeutic equivalent; or

(2) For biologics, the substitution of an interchangeable biosimilar product, which is a biosimilar product, as that term is defined in 42 USC §262(i), the FDA has determined to be interchangeable in accordance with the standards set forth in 42 USC §262(k)(4) and listed as such in the latest edition of or supplement to the FDA Lists of Licensed Biological Products with Reference to Product Exclusivity and Biosimilarity or Interchangeability Evaluations, also known as the Purple Book.

Drafting Note: Subsection G defines the term "drug substitution" for use in Section 6C of this Act. States should review the language of this definition and the use of this defined term in Section 6C of this Act to determine whether the language of this definition needs to be modified or clarified in light of any other existing state law regulating drug substitution. In addition, states should review whether the definition of "drug" in relevant state law includes biologics.

H. "Facility" means an institution providing [physical, mental or behavioral] health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, urgent care centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

I. "FDA" means the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

J. "Formulary" means a list of prescription drugs that has been developed by a health carrier or its designee, which the health carrier or its designee references in determining applicable coverage and benefit levels.

K. "Grievance" means a complaint submitted by or on behalf of a covered person regarding:

(1) The availability, delivery or quality of health care services, including a complaint regarding an adverse determination made pursuant to utilization review;

(2) Claims payment, handling or reimbursement for health care services; or

(3) Matters pertaining to the contractual relationship between a covered person and a health carrier.

L. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement entered into, offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of [physical, mental or behavioral] health care services.

M. "Health care professional" means a physician, pharmacist or other health care practitioner who is licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified [physical, mental or behavioral] health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the health care professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g. physicians, pharmacists, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health care professionals, not corporate "persons."

N. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

O. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a physical, mental or behavioral health condition, illness, injury or disease, including mental health and substance abuse disorders.

P. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

Drafting Note: Section 2791(b)(2) of the PHSA defines the term "health insurance issuer" instead of "health carrier." The definition of "health carrier" above is consistent with the definition of "health insurance issuer" in Section 2791(b)(2) of the PHSA.

Q. "Medical and scientific evidence" means evidence found in the following sources:

(1) Peer-reviewed scientific studies published in or accepted for publication by medical journals that meet nationally recognized requirements for scientific manuscripts and that submit most of their published articles for review by experts who are not part of the editorial staff;

(2) Peer-reviewed medical literature, including literature relating to therapies reviewed and approved by a qualified institutional review board, biomedical compendia and other medical literature that meet the criteria of the National Institutes of Health's Library of Medicine for indexing in Index Medicus (Medline), and Elsevier Science Ltd. for indexing in Excerpta Medicus (EMBASE);

(3) Medical journals recognized by the Secretary of Health and Human Services under Section 1861(t)(2) of the federal Social Security Act;

(4) The following standard reference compendia:

(a) The American Hospital Formulary Service–Drug Information;

(b) Drug Facts and Comparisons;

(c) The American Dental Association Accepted Dental Therapeutics; and

(d) The United States Pharmacopoeia–National Formulary;

(5) Peer-reviewed or expert consensus findings, including the studies or research used to reach the findings, developed by or under the auspices of federal government agencies and nationally recognized federal research institutes, including:

(a) The federal Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality;

(b) The National Institutes of Health;

(c) The National Cancer Institute;

(d) The National Academy of Sciences;

(e) The federal Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services;

(f) The FDA;

(g) The federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention;

(h) The U.S. Preventive Services Task Force;

(i) The U.S. Health Resources & Services Administration; and

(j) Any national board recognized by the National Institutes of Health for the purpose of evaluating the medical value of health care services; or

(6) Any other relevant data that is comparable to the sources listed in Paragraphs (1) through (5).

Drafting Note: States should note that in some limited instances, guidelines developed by the federal government or national specialty medical organizations that are nationally recognized as setting the standard of care for a condition (e.g. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) antiretroviral treatment guidelines and the hepatitis C recommendations developed by the American Association of the Study of Liver Diseases and the Infectious Diseases Society of America) may initially lack broad expert consensus or peer-review because of an urgent need to make drugs that improve or maintain critical life functions available as they are approved and/or treatment data is released. Such information can be helpful to the P&T committee as it determines coverage updates and/or changes.

R. "Participating provider" means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier.

S. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, and any entity or any combination of the foregoing.

T. "Pharmaceutical benefit management procedure" or "PBMP" includes any of the following that is used to manage prescription drug benefits:

(1) A formulary;

(2) The grouping of drugs into different categories;

(3) Dose restrictions;

(4) Prior authorization requirements; or

(5) Step therapy requirements.

Drafting Note: The definition of "pharmaceutical benefit management procedure" refers to commonly used utilization management criteria. It is possible that a health benefit plan may utilize new or different utilization management criteria. States should consider whether additional utilization management criteria should be included in the definition of "pharmaceutical benefit management procedure."

U. "Pharmacy and Therapeutics committee" or "P&T committee" means an advisory committee or committees or equivalent body or bodies that have current knowledge and expertise in:

(1) Clinically appropriate prescribing, dispensing and monitoring of outpatient prescription drugs; and

(2) Drug use review, evaluation and intervention.

Drafting Note: Although this definition is broad, states should take note of the federal rules implementing the federal Affordable Care Act (ACA) effective January 1, 2017, which will require health carriers providing essential health benefits in the individual and small group markets to meet a range of requirements related to the use of a P&T committee (see Title 45 CFR – Subpart B – Essential Health Benefits, Section 156.122(a)(3).

V. "Prescriber" means any licensed, certified or otherwise legally authorized health care professional authorized by law to prescribe a prescription drug.

W. "Prescription drug" means a drug that has been approved or is regulated and for which marketing is permitted by the federal Food and Drug Administration and that can, under federal and state law, be dispensed only pursuant to a prescription drug order from a licensed, certified or otherwise legally authorized prescriber.

Drafting Note: States with laws that mandate coverage for patient costs associated with clinical trials and laws that mandate coverage for the off-label use of prescription drugs should review those laws to determine what impact, if any, this definition of "prescription drug" has on those laws. This reference was included in order to exclude coverage under this Act for treatment investigational new drugs (INDs). States should note that under Section 2709 of the Public Health Service Act, as added by the ACA, a health carrier, (1) is prohibited from denying a qualified individual from participation in an approved clinical trial with respect to the treatment of cancer or another life-threatening disease or condition; (2) may not deny (or limit or impose additional conditions on) the coverage of routine patient costs for items and services furnished in connection with participation in the trial; and (3) may not discriminate against the individual on the basis of the individual's participation in the trial.

X. "Prescription drug order" means an order from a prescriber or the prescriber's designated agent to a pharmacist for a prescription drug to be dispensed.

Y. "Prior authorization" means the process of obtaining prior approval for coverage of a prescription drug.

Z. "Step therapy" means a type of protocol or program the health carrier utilizes that establishes a sequence of covered prescription drugs for a given medical condition.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

This Act shall apply to health carriers that provide benefits for outpatient prescription drugs under a health benefit plan issued by the health carrier where the health carrier or its designee administers coverage for this benefit through the use of a formulary or through the application of any other pharmaceutical benefit management procedure.

Drafting Note: The provisions of Section 4 above should not be construed to have this Act: 1) apply to a health benefit plan that does not cover outpatient prescription drugs; 2) require coverage of a prescription drug for a medical condition that is not covered under the health benefit plan; or 3) require coverage of a prescription drug categorically excluded from coverage under a health benefit plan unless an express exception is made pursuant to Section 7 of this Act.

Drafting Note: The reference to "designee" in Section 4 is intended to be construed broadly to apply to any person or entity the health carrier contracts with to perform, or carry out on its behalf, specified activities required under this Act or applicable regulations, such as pharmacy benefit manager (PBM). Section 10 of this Act provides that the health carrier is responsible for monitoring all of activities carried out by, or on behalf, of the health carrier by a designee that the health carrier has contracted with to perform that activity and ensuring that the designee is complying with the requirements of this Act and any applicable regulations related to that activity. If a state has enacted or intends to enact a specific law or regulation directly regulating certain persons or entities that may be designees under this Act, such as PBMs, those states should review the provisions of this Act, such as Section 10 of this Act, to determine whether any provisions of this Act should be modified or clarified to encompass such persons or entities in light of that law or regulation.

Section 5. Requirements for the Development and Maintenance of Prescription Drug Formularies and Other Pharmaceutical Benefit Management Procedures

A. Each health carrier that provides coverage for prescription drugs and manages this benefit through the use of a formulary or other PBMP shall establish, or have established, one or more P&T committees meeting the requirements of this section.

B. (1) Any P&T committee established under Subsection A shall include members the health carrier considers appropriate who represent a sufficient number of clinical specialties to adequately meet the needs of covered persons, the majority of which are practicing physicians, practicing pharmacists and other practicing health care professionals licensed to prescribe prescription drugs, to develop and maintain formularies or any other PBMP in accordance with the requirements of this section.

(2) A P&T committee established under Subsection A shall seek outside expert advice, as appropriate, to develop and maintain formularies or any other PBMP in accordance with the requirements of this section.

(3) The health carrier shall ensure that any P&T committee established under Subsection A has the following policies and disclosure requirements in place that address potential conflicts of interest that members of a P&T committee may have with the carrier and any pharmaceutical developer or manufacturer:

(a) At least 20% of the P&T committee membership has no conflict of interest with respect to the health carrier and any pharmaceutical developer or manufacturer;

(b) Prohibits any P&T committee member with a conflict of interest with respect to the health carrier or a pharmaceutical developer or manufacturer from voting on decisions with regard to a particular prescription drug or class of prescription drugs for which the conflict exists; and

(c) Each P&T committee member, and any individual who advises the P&T committee, signs a conflict of interest statement, which reveals any economic or other relationships the P&T committee member, or other individual advising the P&T committee, has with any person affected by drug coverage decisions that could influence P&T committee decisions.

(4) (a) Each P&T committee shall establish procedures outlining its conflict of interest standards for its members and any individuals providing expert advice to the P&T committee, which, at a minimum, are consistent with Paragraph (3).

(b) The procedures shall require the P&T committee to have a system in place to maintain the signed conflict of interest statements described in Paragraph (3)(c) and to document any P&T committee member recusals from voting.

(c) The procedures and information under Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph shall be available for regulatory review and provided to the commissioner upon request.

Drafting Note: State regulators should be aware that any conflict of interest standards a P&T committee establishes might need to permit the P&T committee to receive information from a non-voting individual who may have significant conflicts of interest with the health carrier or a pharmaceutical developer or manufacturer because the individual has special information, knowledge, or expertise related to the particular prescription drug or class of prescription drugs under consideration.

(5) The P&T committee shall meet at least quarterly and shall maintain documentation of its rationale for all decisions regarding formulary drug list development or revision.

C. Each health carrier that offers coverage for prescription drugs shall ensure that it offers a formulary based on the recommendations of the carrier's P&T committee and covers at least the greater of:

(1) One drug in every United States Pharmacopeia (USP) category and class; or

(2) The same number of prescription drugs in each category and class as the essential health benefits (EHB)-benchmark plan.

Drafting Note: States should be aware the provisions of Subsection C above are a requirement under federal regulations implementing the ACA for plans providing essential health benefits (EHBs) in the individual and small group markets (Title 45 CFR – Subpart B – Essential Health Benefits Package Section 156.122(a) (Prescription Drug Benefits)).

D. (1) The health carrier shall ensure that any P&T committee established in accordance with Subsection A has and uses a process and documents and procedures to base clinical decisions on the strength of:

(a) Medical and scientific evidence concerning the safety and effectiveness of prescription drugs, including the FDA label indications of the prescription drug and available comparative information on clinically similar prescription drugs, when deciding what prescription drugs to review and include on a formulary; and Drafting Note: Any P&T committee shall base formulary decisions, in part, on whether prescription drugs included for a therapeutic category or class are effective for all populations, including racial and ethnic minorities, and shall consider whether the formulary includes prescription drugs that have proven efficacy in all patient subgroups, including racial and ethnic minority populations. In making these considerations, the P&T committee shall consider medical and scientific evidence, as well as medical treatment guidelines developed or endorsed by specialty organizations.

(b) Applicable medical and scientific evidence concerning the safety and effectiveness of prescription drugs and the therapeutic advantages of prescription drugs when developing any PBMP.

(2) In the case of rare or ultra-rare diseases, the P&T committee process under Paragraph (1) shall include the review, as the P&T committee considers appropriate and necessary, of clinically appropriate and relevant information when there is no or limited medical and scientific evidence concerning the safety and effectiveness of prescription drugs or drug classes used to treat rare and ultra-rare diseases.

Drafting Note: Paragraph (2) above is meant to require the P&T committee, when deciding what prescription drugs to review and include on a formulary or when developing any PBMP, to have as part of this review process procedures in place to review the best available and appropriate information at the time concerning a prescription drug or drugs to include on a formulary that may be used to treat rare or ultra-rare diseases. Such diseases have been described as from a population of one million people, 650 have a rare disease and fewer than 20 have an ultra-rare disease.

(3) The health carrier shall ensure that any P&T committee maintains documentation of the process required under Paragraph (1) to ensure appropriate prescription drug review and inclusion and makes any records and documents relating to the process available, upon request, to the health carrier for record keeping purposes under Section 9 of this Act.

E. (1) The health carrier shall ensure that any P&T committee established in accordance with Subsection A has and uses a process to enable it, in a timely manner, but at least annually, to consider the need for and implement appropriate updates and changes to the formulary or other PBMPs based on:

(a) Newly available scientific and medical evidence or other information concerning prescription drugs currently listed on the formulary or subject to any other PBMP and scientific and medical evidence or other information on new FDA-approved prescription drugs and other prescription drugs not currently listed on the formulary or subject to any other PBMP to determine whether a change to the formulary or PBMP should be made;

(b) The strength of medical and scientific evidence and standards of practice, including assessing peer-reviewed medical literature, pharmacoeconomic studies, outcomes research data and other such information the P&T committee considers appropriate;

(c) Information received from the health carrier with respect to medical exception requests made under Section 7 of this Act to enable the P&T committee to evaluate whether the prescription drugs currently listed on the formulary or subject to any other PBMP are meeting the health care service needs of covered persons; and

(d) Information relating to the safety and effectiveness of a prescription drug currently listed on the formulary or subject to any other PBMP or relating to clinically similar prescription drugs not currently listed on the formulary or subject to any other PBMP from the health carrier's quality assurance activities or claims data that was received since the date of the P&T committee's most recent review of that prescription drug.

(2) The P&T committee also shall:

(a) Review and approve appropriate updates and guidance related to the medical exceptions process under Section 7 of this Act and other utilization management processes, including any PBMP requirements such as drug utilization review, quantity limits and therapeutic interchange;

(b) Review and approve appropriate updates and changes to all clinical prior authorization criteria, step therapy protocols and quantity limit restrictions applied to each covered prescription drug; and

(c) Review new FDA-approved prescription drugs and new uses for existing prescription drugs.

Drafting Note: A health carrier's P&T committee also should ensure the health carrier's formulary drug list covers a range of prescription drugs across a broad distribution of therapeutic categories and classes and recommend prescription drug treatment regimens that treat all disease states, and does not discourage enrollment by any group of covered persons, and provides appropriate access to prescription drugs that are included in broadly accepted treatment guidelines and that are indicative of general best practices at the time.

F. (1) A health carrier shall allow covered persons to access outpatient prescription drug benefits at in-network retail or mail order pharmacies, unless:

(a) The drug is subject to restricted distribution by the FDA; or

(b) The drug requires special handling, provider coordination or patient education that a retail pharmacy cannot provide.

(2) The health carrier may charge covered persons different cost-sharing amounts based on the distribution method used to obtain the covered prescription drug. All in-network cost-sharing amounts paid shall count towards the health benefit plan's annual limit on cost-sharing paid by the covered person and shall be included in the actuarial value calculated for that plan.

G. Subject to Section 10 of this Act, a health carrier may contract with another person to perform the functions of a P&T committee as described in this section.

Section 6. Information to Prescribers, Pharmacies, Covered Persons and Prospective Covered Persons

A. (1) (a) Except as provided in Paragraph (6), a health carrier shall display on its website in plain language the prescription drug benefit information required in this subsection.

(b) For a health benefit plan providing group market health insurance coverage, a health carrier may require:

(i) A covered person to create or access an account or enter a plan or contract number to access the plan's formulary list and other prescription drug benefit information; and

(ii) A prospective covered person to access a plan's formulary list and other prescription drug benefit information by searching by plan name or contract number.

(c) For a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage, a health carrier may not require a covered person or prospective covered person to create or access an account or enter a plan or policy number to access a plan's formulary list or other prescription drug benefit information, but may require a covered person or prospective covered person to access a plan's formulary list and other prescription drug benefit information by searching, as appropriate, by plan name.

(2) (a) (i) The health carrier's formulary list(s) shall include each prescription drug covered under the carrier's plan(s) prescription drug benefit and outpatient medical benefit, which are prescription drugs administered by a health care professional or under the professional's direct supervision in an outpatient setting.

(ii) The health carrier may provide the information pertaining to prescription drugs covered under a plan's outpatient medical benefit as an addendum or link to the formulary, if applicable, provided the information is prominently displayed.

(b) The formulary shall be electronically searchable by drug name and any other means required by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that organizing formularies also by major therapeutic class can be helpful to consumers when determining whether the formulary offered under the health benefit plan is robust with respect to a specific disease or medical condition.

(c) The prescription drug benefit information shall include a notice for any individual reviewing the information that the inclusion of a prescription drug on a health benefit plan's formulary does not mean that a prescriber will prescribe that drug for the individual's specific medical condition.

(d) Except for a health carrier that satisfies the requirements of Section 7G or H of this Act, a health carrier shall include in the prescription drug benefit information how and what written documentation is required to be submitted in order for a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative to file a request under the health carrier's medical exceptions process established pursuant to Section 7 of this Act.

(3) The health carrier shall include in the prescription drug benefit information a description in plain language of how an individual can access the following benefit information:

(a) An indication of whether the drug is preferred, if applicable, under the plan;

(b) A disclosure of any prior authorization, step therapy, quantity limits, pharmacy restrictions or other PBMP requirement; and

(c) The specific tier the drug falls under, if the plan uses a tiered formulary.

(4) (a) The health carrier shall include in the prescription drug benefit information a description in plain language of how an individual may find the benefit cost-sharing information for the prescription drugs on a formulary list that includes:

(i) Whether the prescription drug is subject to a deductible, and if so, the amount of the deductible;

(ii) The amount of the prescription drug copayment;

(iii) The amount of the prescription drug coinsurance; and

(iv) The amount of any cost-sharing difference between the days' supply of the prescription drug.

(b) For a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage, a health carrier may meet the requirements set forth in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph by referring the individual to a summary of the plan's benefits and coverage displayed or linked to a place elsewhere on the carrier's website, provided that a covered person or prospective covered person is not required to create or access an account or enter a policy or plan number to access this information.

Drafting Note: States may want to look at the prescription drug benefit information that is to be provided to consumers in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph to see if that information can be easily found and is clear and understandable.

(5) A health carrier shall provide, upon request, a print copy of specifically requested prescription drug benefit information of a carrier's current, accurate and complete formulary.

(6) A health carrier may make available the prescription drug benefit information required in this subsection using electronic links associated with the specific health benefit plan for which the information applies.

(7) A health carrier shall ensure a formulary list(s), whether in electronic or print format, shall accommodate individuals with disabilities, and include a link to or information regarding available assistance for persons with limited English proficiency.

(8) A health carrier shall ensure the formulary list itself:

(a) Is accurate;

(b) Updated, as needed, to reflect changes in a health benefit plan's covered prescription drugs; and

(c) Includes the date it was last updated.

Drafting Note: Health carriers are required to maintain accurate formulary lists for their health benefit plans. State insurance regulators may want to closely monitor consumer complaints received to determine if there is a problem or pattern of complaints that might indicate a problem with the formulary list.

B. Whenever the health carrier makes or approves a change in a formulary that causes a particular prescription drug not to be covered, applies a new or revised dose restriction that causes a prescription for a particular prescription drug not to be covered for the number of doses prescribed, or applies a new or revised step therapy or prior authorization requirement that causes a particular prescription drug not to be covered until the requirements of that PBMP have been met, unless the change is being made for safety reasons or because the prescription drug cannot be supplied by or has been withdrawn from the market by the drug's manufacturer, the health carrier or its designee shall provide notice of that change to:

(1) Prescribers at least sixty (60) days prior to the effective date of the change; and

(2) Pharmacies participating in the health carrier's network prior to the effective date of the change.

C. (1) Whenever a health carrier makes or approves a change in a formulary impacting prescription drug benefit coverage or PBMP administration, including, but not limited to, co-payment amounts, co-insurance percentage level, step therapy, drug substitution and mandatory generics, the health carrier or its designee shall do one of the following:

(a) At least sixty (60) days prior to its effective date, the health carrier or its designee shall notify covered persons impacted by the change currently receiving benefits for the drug of the change; or

(b) The health carrier or its designee shall cover a refill of a drug impacted by the change for any covered person currently receiving benefits for the drug on the same terms as covered previously so long as the drug continues to be prescribed for the covered person and notify the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative at the time of the refill of the change.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should keep in mind that under certain circumstances notices to covered persons under this paragraph may not be needed if the health carrier decides to continue coverage of the prescription drug on the same terms and conditions as covered previously for covered persons currently receiving coverage for that drug as long as the drug continues to be prescribed for the covered person and the covered person is covered under the health benefit plan.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should be aware Paragraph (1) above does not obviate the requirement that the carrier or its designee provide a minimum 60-day advance notice before the effective date of a formulary change to consumers in order to provide sufficient time for consumers to discuss alternatives to the prescription drug impacted by the change with their physician or prescriber or file a request for approval of an exception under the health carrier's medical exceptions process.

(2) (a) As part of the information to be provided in a notice pursuant to Paragraph (1)(a) or Paragraph (1)(b), the health carrier or its designee shall include information on any available alternatives to the prescription drug impacted by the formulary change and direct the covered person to speak with the prescriber.

(b) Except for a health carrier that satisfies the requirements of Section 7G or H of this Act, the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1)(a) or Paragraph (1)(b) shall include information on how and what written documentation is required to be submitted for the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative to file a medical exceptions request in accordance with the health carrier's medical exceptions process set forth in Section 7 of this Act.

(3) A health carrier or its designee shall not be required to cover a refill of a prescription drug pursuant to Paragraph (1)(b) whenever:

(a) The prescription drug is being discontinued from coverage on the formulary for safety reasons;

(b) The prescription drug is not available because the drug's manufacturer no longer supplies the drug or has withdrawn the drug from the market; or

(c) The change in or a new PBMP for the prescription drug is for safety reasons.

D. In addition to the information to be provided under Subsection A, a health carrier or its designee electronically or in writing, upon request, shall include in any notice provided under Subsection C information explaining in plain language that:

(1) Any formulary change impacting prescription drug benefit coverage or PBMP administration could impact the covered person's out-of-pocket costs and the covered person may want to consider contacting his or her prescribing provider to determine whether continuation of that particular prescription drug impacted by the change is appropriate or whether there is an acceptable alternative prescription drug that can be used to treat the covered person's disease or medical condition;

(2) The covered person may want to review the health benefit plan's formulary from time-to-time or contact the health carrier or its designee to obtain any updated formulary information prior to obtaining a refill for a particular prescription drug the covered person is currently using to find out if there has been any change in the requirements for obtaining coverage for the drug or if there has been a change in the covered person's out-of-pocket costs for the drug and include the telephone number or electronic link that covered persons can use to contact the health carrier or its designee to obtain this information; and

(3) The amount the covered person may be required to pay out-of-pocket for a particular prescription drug may change from time-to-time.

Section 7. Medical Exceptions Approval Process Requirements and Procedures

A. Each health carrier that provides prescription drug benefits and manages this benefit through the use of a formulary or through the application of a dose restriction that causes a prescription for a particular drug not to be covered for the number of doses prescribed or step therapy requirement that causes a particular drug not be covered until the requirements of that PBMP have been met shall establish and maintain a medical exceptions process that allows covered persons or covered persons' authorized representatives to request approval for:

(1) Coverage of a prescription drug that is not covered based on the health carrier's formulary;

(2) Continued coverage of a particular prescription drug that the health carrier is discontinuing coverage on the formulary except when coverage for the drug is being discontinued for safety reasons or because the drug's manufacturer is no longer supplying the prescription drug or the drug's manufacturer has withdrawn the prescription drug from the market; or

(3) An exception to a PBMP that causes a prescription drug to not be covered until the step therapy requirement is satisfied or not be covered at the prescribed number of doses.

Drafting Note: States should ensure that health benefit plans have a process in place to address issues that may not fall under this section as a formulary exception, but would be considered a benefit exception.

Drafting Note: This section is not intended to apply to requests for an exception to a pharmaceutical benefit management procedure (PBMP) involving a prior authorization requirement. Those types of requests for benefits for which a health carrier requires prior authorization are to be resolved under a health carrier's utilization review process.

Drafting Note: This section also is not intended to apply to situations where the consumer may have issues with pharmacy access, such as an in-network pharmacy being too far from a covered person's home address or when a prescription drug a covered person is currently using changes from being available through a range of pharmacy options to mail order pharmacy only. In these situations, states should review the network access requirements in state law or regulation similar to the requirements in the Health Benefit Plan Network Access and Adequacy Model Act (#74).

B. (1) A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file, and the health carrier shall review, a request under Subsection A only if the covered person's prescribing provider has determined that the requested prescription drug is medically necessary to treat the covered person's disease or medical condition because:

(a) There is not a prescription drug listed on the formulary to treat the covered person's disease or medical condition that is an acceptable clinical alternative;

(b) The prescription drug alternative listed on the formulary or required to be used in accordance with step therapy requirements:

(i) Has been ineffective in the treatment of the covered person's disease or medical condition or, based on both sound clinical evidence and medical and scientific evidence and the known relevant physical or mental characteristics of the covered person and known characteristics of the drug regimen, is likely to be ineffective or adversely affect the drug's effectiveness or patient compliance;

(ii) Is contraindicated; or

Drafting Note: States should be aware that this Act does not contemplate covered persons using the medical exceptions process established under this section to request a change in benefits, which, in some cases, could impact potential medical exception requests involving step therapy requirements. This Act contemplates benefit exception requests would be handled under a different state law or regulations related to utilization review or grievance processes. Given this, states should review their existing state laws for consistency when considering adoption of this section.

(c) The number of doses that is available under a dose restriction for the prescription drug has been ineffective in the treatment of the covered person's disease or medical condition or, based on both sound clinical evidence and medical and scientific evidence and the known relevant physical or mental characteristics of the covered person and known characteristics of the drug regimen, is likely to be ineffective or adversely affect the drug's effectiveness or patient compliance; or

(d) The covered person's condition and function are stable and based on the covered person's medical history a change in prescription drug would have the potential for adverse consequences or other risks.

(2) (a) A health carrier may require the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative upon request to provide a written certification from the covered person's prescribing provider of the determination made under Paragraph (1).

(b) The health carrier may require the written certification to include any of, but no more than, the following information:

(i) The patient's name, group or contract number, subscriber number or other information necessary to identify the covered person;

(ii) Patient history;

(iii) The primary diagnosis related to the requested prescription drug that is the subject of the medical exceptions request;

(iv) Based on Paragraph (1)(a), (b) or (c), the reason:

(I) Why the formulary drug is not acceptable for the individual patient;

(II) If the medical exceptions request involves a step therapy requirement, why the prescription drug required to be used is not acceptable for the individual patient; or

(III) If the medical exceptions request involves a dose restriction, why the available number of doses for the prescription drug is not acceptable for the individual patient;

(v) The reason why the prescription drug that is the subject of the medical exceptions request is needed for the individual patient or, if the medical exceptions request involves a dose restriction, why an exception to the dose restriction is needed for the individual patient; and

(vi) Any other information reasonably necessary to evaluate the medical necessity of the medical exceptions request.

(c) A prescriber may submit additional information the prescriber deems necessary to establish medical necessity for purposes of the medical exceptions request.

(3) Participation by a provider on behalf of a covered person in the medical exceptions process established under this section shall be construed as being the same as a provider's advocating on behalf of a covered person within the utilization review process established by the health carrier for purposes of [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 6J of the Health Benefit Plan Network Access and Adequacy Model Act (#74)].

Drafting Note: Section 6J of the NAIC Health Benefit Plan Network Access and Adequacy Model Act (#74) provides that a health carrier may not prohibit a participating provider from advocating on behalf of covered persons within the utilization review or grievance or appeals processes established by the carrier or a person contracting with the carrier. The medical exceptions process established under this section for the review of requests for approval for exceptions to a formulary or being subject to a dose restriction or step therapy requirement is similar to the expedited utilization review process that health carriers may be required to establish for the review of health care service benefit requests. Paragraph (3) is intended to ensure that providers participating in the medical exceptions process established under this section have the same protections given to participating providers under Section 6J of the NAIC Health Benefit Plan Network Access and Adequacy Model Act (#74).

C. (1) Upon receipt of a request made pursuant to Subsection A, the health carrier shall ensure that the request is reviewed by appropriate health care professionals who, in reaching a decision on the request, shall take into account the specific facts and circumstances that apply to the covered person for whom the request has been made using documented clinical review criteria that:

(a) Are based on sound clinical evidence and medical and scientific evidence; and

(b) If available, appropriate practice guidelines, which may include generally accepted practice guidelines, evidence-based practice guidelines, practice guidelines developed by the health carrier's P&T committee or any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical or pharmacist societies, boards and associations.

(2) The health care professional or professionals designated by the health carrier to review the request under Paragraph (1) shall ensure that the decision reached on the request is consistent with the benefits and exclusions under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier.

D. (1) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, the medical exceptions process under this section shall require the health carrier to make a decision on a request made pursuant to Subsection A and provide notice of the decision to the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative as quickly as the covered person's particular medical condition requires, but in no event later than seventy-two (72) hours after the later of the date of receipt of the request or, if required by the health carrier, the date of receipt of the certification under Subsection B(2).

(b) (i) A health carrier shall include in its medical exceptions process required under Subsection A an expedited medical exceptions review based on exigent circumstances.

(ii) Exigent circumstances exist when a covered person is suffering from a health condition that may seriously jeopardize the covered person's life, health, or ability to regain maximum function.

Drafting Note: Item (ii) above also is intended to apply when an infant's or a child's health condition may seriously jeopardize their ability to develop maximum function.

(iii) A health carrier shall make a decision on an expedited medical exceptions review request based on exigent circumstances made pursuant to Subsection A and notify the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative of its coverage decision no later than [24] hours following receipt of the request.

(2) (a) If the health carrier fails to make a decision on the request and provide notice of the decision within the time frame required under Paragraph (1)(a) or Paragraph (1)(b):

(i) The covered person shall be entitled to have coverage for, up to one month's supply of the prescription drug that is the subject of the request; and

(ii) The health carrier shall make a decision on the request prior to the covered person's completion of the supply provided in Item (i).

(b) If the health carrier fails to make a decision on the request and provide notice of the decision prior to the covered person's completion of the supply provided for in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the health carrier shall maintain coverage, as specified in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, on the same terms on an ongoing basis, as long as the prescription drug continues to be prescribed for that covered person and is considered safe for the treatment of the covered person's disease or medical condition until a decision is made on the request and notice of that decision is provided, unless there is a material change in the covered person's terms of coverage or the applicable benefit limits have been exhausted.

E. (1) Whenever a request made under this section is approved, the health carrier shall not require the covered person to request approval under this section for a refill, or a new prescription to continue using the prescription drug after the refills for the initial prescription have been exhausted, for the same prescription drug that was previously approved under this section for coverage or continued coverage or that was previously approved under this section as an exception to the health carrier's PBMP for that drug, subject to the terms of coverage under the health carrier's health benefit plan for prescription drug benefits as long as:

(a) The covered person's prescribing provider continues to prescribe the prescription drug to treat the same disease or medical condition of the covered person; and

(b) The prescription drug continues to be considered safe for treating the covered person's disease or medical condition.

(2) In addition to Paragraph (1), whenever a request made under this section is approved, the health carrier shall provide coverage for the approved prescription drug [and count the covered person's in-network cost-sharing for the drug toward the covered person's annual limitation on cost-sharing].

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the bracketed language above is a requirement under federal regulations implementing the ACA for plans providing essential health benefits (EHBs) in the individual and small group markets (see Title 45 CFR – Subpart B – Essential Health Benefits Package Section 156.122(c) (Prescription Drug Benefits)). As such, states will need to consider whether to include the bracketed language where it could have a broader application.

(3) A health carrier shall not establish a special formulary tier or co-payment or other cost-sharing requirement that is applicable only to prescription drugs approved for coverage under this section.

Drafting Note: A state that requires health carriers to establish specific formulary tiers with specific cost-sharing requirements for each tier should modify the language in Paragraph (3) to take into account the requirements of its law.

F. (1) Any denial by a health carrier of a request made under Subsection A:

(a) Shall be provided to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing or, if the covered person has agreed to receive information in this manner, electronically;

(b) Shall be provided electronically to the covered person's prescribing provider or, upon request, in writing; and

(c) May be appealed by filing a grievance pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act (#72)].

(2) The denial shall, in plain language, set forth:

(a) The specific reason or reasons for the denial;

(b) A reference to the evidence or documentation, including the clinical review criteria, including practice guidelines, and clinical evidence and medical and scientific evidence considered in reaching the decision to deny the request;

(c) Instructions for requesting, a written statement of the clinical and medical or scientific rationale for the denial; and

(d) A description of the process and procedures that must be followed for filing a grievance to appeal the denial pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act (#72)], including any time limits applicable to those procedures.

G. A health carrier that permits a covered person's prescriber to make formulary and other PBMP exceptions without having to obtain authorization from the carrier and that maintains on an ongoing basis in its administrative systems information about the exception status of a particular prescription drug for a particular covered person shall not be required to establish a medical exceptions process in accordance with Subsection A or required to comply with the provisions of Subsections B, C, D, E(1) and (2) and F with respect to the prescription drug orders of these prescribing participating providers.

Drafting Note: Subsection G above is intended to apply to carriers that are organized and operated as integrated care systems, such as a staff model HMO, where health care providers manage and provide covered health care services to covered persons without having to seek specific authorization from the carrier for the provision of those specific services.

H. A health carrier shall not be required to establish a medical exceptions process in accordance with Subsection A or required to comply with the provisions of Subsections B, C, D, E(1) and (2) and F if the health carrier:

(1) Has an expedited utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act (#73)]; and

(2) Allows covered persons or their authorized representatives to use this process to seek approval for coverage of a prescription drug that is not otherwise covered because of the health carrier's formulary or because of any other PBMP requirement that restricts coverage of the prescription drug until the PBMP requirement has been met.

I. A covered person may not use the process established under this section to request coverage for: (1) an investigational or a non-FDA-approved prescription drug; or (2) a prescription drug for a specifically excluded benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan.

Drafting Note: Subsection I reflects that health benefit plans exclude certain benefits from coverage by listing non-covered benefits, but do not exclude specific medical conditions from coverage.

Drafting Note: Also, with respect to Subsection I, states should be aware that an issue could arise in situations where an application for new drug approval has been submitted to the FDA, but, at the time a covered person submits a medical exceptions request for coverage of that prescription drug, the drug has not received FDA-approval.

Section 8. Nondiscrimination in Prescription Drug Benefit Design

A health carrier or its designee shall not adopt or implement a formulary or prescription drug benefit design that is discriminatory in violation of state or federal law.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should consider federal nondiscrimination laws and regulations requiring health carriers in the individual and small group health insurance markets to meet a range of requirements related to prescription drug benefit coverage, including nondiscrimination in prescription drug benefit design.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should consider the nondiscrimination provisions contained in state laws based on the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act (#36), the Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act (#106); or the Unfair Trade Practices Act (#880).

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should pay particular attention to the formulary and prescription drug benefit notices and disclosures health carriers are required under this Act to provide to covered persons to ensure that these notices and disclosures, whether provided electronically or in print, accommodate individuals with disabilities and individuals with limited English proficiency.

Section 9. Record Keeping and Reporting Requirements

A. (1) Each health carrier shall maintain written or electronic records sufficient to demonstrate compliance with this Act, including records documenting the application of a process for making decisions on formularies and other PBMPs that is required under Section 5 of this Act and, except for a health carrier that satisfies the requirements of Section 7G or H of this Act, records documenting the application of the medical exceptions process that is required under Section 7 of this Act.

(2) The records shall be maintained for period of three (3) years or until the completion of the health carrier's next market conduct examination, whichever is later, and shall be made available to the commissioner upon request by the commissioner.

B. Except for a health carrier that satisfies the requirements of Section 7G or H of this Act, each health carrier shall maintain data on and, upon request, make available to the commissioner the following information with respect to medical exceptions requests made under Section 7 of this Act:

(1) The total number of medical exceptions requests;

(2) From the total number of medical exceptions requests provided under Paragraph (1):

(a) The number of requests made for coverage of a nonformulary prescription drug;

(b) The number of requests made for continuing coverage of a prescription drug that the health carrier was discontinuing from coverage on the formulary for reasons other than safety or because the drug cannot be supplied by or has been withdrawn from the market by the drug's manufacturer; and

(c) The number of requests made for an exception to being subject to a PBMP;

(3) The number of medical exceptions requests approved and denied;

[(4) The changes to its formulary or prescription drug benefit information made after the start of the plan year;] and

(5) Any other information the commissioner may request.

Section 10. Oversight and Contracting Responsibilities

A. A health carrier shall be responsible for monitoring all activities carried out by, or on behalf, of the health carrier under this Act and for ensuring that all requirements of this Act and applicable regulations are met.

B. Whenever a health carrier contracts with another person to perform activities required under this Act or applicable regulations, the commissioner shall hold the health carrier responsible for monitoring the activities of that person with which the health carrier contracts and for ensuring that the requirements of this Act and applicable regulations with respect to that activity are met.

Section 11. Disclosure Requirements

A. Each health carrier that uses a formulary or any other PBMP shall in the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage provided to covered persons:

(1) Disclose the existence of the formulary and any other PBMP and that there may be other plan restrictions or requirements that may affect the specific prescription drugs that will be covered and where to find more specific information;

(2) Except for a health carrier that satisfies the requirements of Section 7G or H of this Act, describe the medical exceptions process that may be used to request coverage of nonformulary prescription drugs or to obtain an exception to being subject to any PBMP requirement; and

(3) If applicable, describe the process for filing a grievance as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act (#72)] to appeal a denial of a medical exceptions request.

B. (1) In addition to Subsection A, the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage provided to covered persons shall explain in plain language information on the health carrier's formulary and other prescription drug benefit information as provided in Section 6A and state where the information is available electronically and a print copy of the formulary list and specific prescription drug information can be provided to a covered person by the health carrier or its designee on request.

(2) In addition to the information explained under Paragraph (1), a health carrier shall explain in plain language in a separate document or other attachment to the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage that:

(a) Any formulary change impacting prescription drug benefit coverage or PBMP administration could impact the covered person's out-of-pocket costs and the covered person may want to consider contacting his or her prescribing provider to determine whether continuation of that particular prescription drug impacted by the change is appropriate or whether there is an acceptable alternative prescription drug that can be used to treat the covered person's disease or medical condition;

(b) The covered person may want to review the health benefit plan's formulary from time-to-time or contact the health carrier or its designee to obtain any updated formulary information prior to obtaining a refill for a particular prescription drug the covered person is currently using to find out if there has been any change in the requirements for obtaining coverage for the drug or if there has been a change in the covered person's out-of-pocket costs for the drug and include the telephone number or electronic link that covered persons can use to contact the health carrier or its designee to obtain this information; and

(c) The amount that the covered person may be required to pay out-of-pocket for a particular prescription drug may change from time-to-time;

Section 12. Regulations

The commissioner may promulgate regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 13. Penalties

A violation of this Act shall [insert appropriate administrative penalty from state law].

Section 14. Separability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other that those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 15. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date]. [If applicable:] The [insert year of adoption] amendments to this Act shall be effective [insert date].

HEALTH CARRIER PRESCRIPTION DRUG BENEFIT MANAGEMENT MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2018

HEALTH CARRIER PRESCRIPTION DRUG BENEFIT MANAGEMENT MODEL ACT (#22)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

In 2013, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force was charged to review NAIC existing models related to health insurance to determine whether they needed to be amended in light of all the changes made by the federal Affordable Care Act (ACA). During that review process, the Task Force decided that revising the Health Carrier Prescription Drug Benefit Management Model Act (#22) was a priority for state insurance regulators, carriers and consumers given the expanded role state insurance regulators were given in overseeing prescription drug formulary issues under federal regulations implementing the provisions of the ACA. In addition, in November 2015, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopted a 2016 charge directing the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to review and, if necessary, consider revisions to Model #22 to address issues related to: 1) transparency, accuracy and disclosure regarding prescription drug formularies and formulary changes during a policy year; 2) accessibility of prescription drug benefits using a variety of pharmacy options; and 3) tiered prescription drug formularies and discriminatory benefit design.

In February 2016, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force established the Model #22 (B) Subgroup, with Wisconsin as chair, to begin working on revising Model #22. In April 2016, the Subgroup began meeting every other week to review and discuss the comments received on Model #22 by the Jan. 22, 2016, public comment deadline. During its conference calls, the Subgroup discussed a myriad of issues, including the model's application and scope, Pharmacy and Therapeutics (P&T) committee conflict of interest requirements, consumer disclosures, mid-year formulary changes, and nondiscrimination formulary and prescription drug benefit design. The Subgroup finished its review of the comments in September 2017 and released a second draft of proposed revisions to Model #22 with a Oct. 17, 2017, comment deadline. The Subgroup held three conference calls to discuss the comments received. The Subgroup adopted the proposed revisions to Model #22 on Nov. 7, 2017, via conference call and submitted the draft to the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force for its consideration. The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force adopted the proposed revisions on Dec. 2, 2017. The Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopted the revisions on Dec. 3, 2017.

The proposed revisions to Model #22 include a number of enhancements, including more specific requirements in Section 5—Requirements for the Development and Maintenance of Prescription Drug Formularies and Other Pharmaceutical Benefit Management Procedures concerning P&T committee establishment and how it develops and manages a health carrier's formulary and pharmacy benefit management procedures (PBMPs). The revisions also enhance provisions concerning a P&T committee's conflict of interest policies and procedures. The proposed revisions to Model #22 also enhance and clarify requirements in Section 6—Information to Prescribers, Pharmacies, Covered Persons and Prospective Covered Persons regarding the information consumers must be provided concerning a health carrier's formulary and other prescription drug benefit information. The revisions to this section also enhance consumer disclosure requirements whenever a health carrier makes or approves a change in a formulary or PBMP administration. Additional revisions to Model #22 include revisions to Section 7—Medical Exceptions Approval Process Requirements and Procedures adding an expedited medical exceptions process and adding a new section—Section 8—Nondiscrimination in Prescription Drug Benefit Design.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Model #22 (B) Subgroup of the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force drafted the proposed revisions to Model #22. The members of the Subgroup were: Wisconsin, Chair; Alaska; California; Florida; Iowa; Missouri; Nebraska; New Mexico; Oklahoma; Oregon; Rhode Island; and Washington.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

Based on the 2016 charge below from the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force established the Model #22 (B) Subgroup in February 2016 to consider revisions to Model #22.

"Utilize the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to review and, if necessary, consider revisions to the Health Carrier Prescription Drug Benefit Management Model Act (#22) to address issues related to: 1) transparency, accuracy and disclosure regarding prescription drug formularies and formulary changes during a policy year; 2) accessibility of prescription drug benefits using a variety of pharmacy options; and 3) tiered prescription drug formularies and discriminatory benefit design.—Important"

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc.; include any parties outside the members that participated)

Beginning in March 2016 and ending in November 2017, the Subgroup reviewed and discussed all of the comments received as part of the drafting process. Numerous interested parties participated in the process. The interested parties represented all stakeholder groups, including consumers, health care providers, hospitals, insurers and health care facilities. Each draft of proposed revisions was posted to the Subgroup's page on the NAIC website. All comment letters received also were posted. The Subgroup met via conference call every other week and sometimes weekly during the drafting process and also held in-person meetings at the NAIC national meetings.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Beginning in March 2016 and ending in November 2017, the Subgroup reviewed and discussed all of the comments received. Numerous interested parties participated in the drafting process. The interested parties represented all stakeholder groups, including consumers, health care providers, hospitals, insurers and health care facilities. Each draft of proposed revisions with public comment deadlines was posted to the Subgroup's page on the NAIC website. All comment letters received also were posted. The Subgroup met via conference call twice weekly during the drafting process and also held in-person meetings at the NAIC national meetings.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

A number of significant issues were raised and addressed, including a provision on nondiscrimination requirements in formulary benefit design, prohibition on mid-year formulary changes and whether to apply certain provisions to qualified health plans (QHPs) only or to any health benefit plan providing prescription drug benefits.

With respect to the nondiscrimination in formulary benefit design provision, the Subgroup considered three options: 1) not include nondiscrimination language because it exists in other models; 2) include general nondiscrimination language that state insurance regulators may want to reference to ensure things are nondiscriminatory; or 3) include a more extensive proposal along the lines of the proposed draft language. After extension discussion, as reflected in Section 8, the Subgroup decided: 1) the model should include a nondiscrimination section containing some general language to allow state insurance regulators to look at PBMPs and formulary structural issues to make sure they are not discriminatory; 2) there should be a reference to federal nondiscrimination provisions that may apply; and 3) there should be a reference to existing NAIC models with nondiscrimination language that states may want to consider if developing implementing regulations to this model.

Another issue the Subgroup discussed extensively was whether to include language in the revisions prohibiting health carriers from making mid-year formulary changes. Interested parties advocating for such language said allowing health carriers to make mid-year formulary changes means that consumers who enrolled in a plan based on the formulary will not be getting the benefits they thought they would be receiving at the time of plan enrollment. The Subgroup acknowledged those concerns, but because the model applies to all markets—individual market, small group market and large group market—implementing such a provision would be administratively complex. The Subgroup also felt that other revisions to the model, including additional consumer disclosure requirements on this issue and enhanced medical exceptions process provisions, addressed the issue.

Another issue the Subgroup discussed was whether to apply certain provisions to QHPs only or apply to any health benefit plan providing prescription drug benefits. The Subgroup decided not to make such a distinction in the model and instead make decisions on the revisions based on policy.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

Section-by-Section Summary of Proposed Revisions

Section 1. Short Title

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make no changes to this section.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make no substantive changes to this section, but add a drafting note clarifying that Model #22 is not intended to address prescription drug formularies and other PBMPs that health carriers or their designees may use for the purpose of workers' compensation.

Section 3. Definitions

The proposed revisions to Model #22 add, revise and delete definitions to reflect the substantive changes made in the other sections of the Act. In addition, some of the definitions in this section have been revised for consistency with the revisions to the same terms used in the Health Benefit Plan Network Access and Adequacy Model Act (#74). The proposed revisions add one new definition for the term "drug substitution" and revise several definitions, including definitions for the terms "authorized representative," "medical and scientific evidence," "pharmaceutical benefit management procedure," "Pharmacy and Therapeutics committee," "prescription drug," and "step therapy." The proposed revisions to Model #22 delete definitions for the terms "generic substitution" and "health maintenance organization."

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

The proposed revisions to Model #22 revise this section substantively for clarity as to the model's application to prescription drugs categorically or contractually excluded from coverage under a covered person's health benefit plan. The proposed revisions add a drafting note on the issue. The proposed revisions also add another drafting note clarifying that the reference to "designee" in this section is intended to be construed broadly to any person or entity a health carrier contracts with to perform, or carry out on its behalf, specified activities required under the Act or applicable regulations.

Section 5. Requirements for the Development and Maintenance of Prescription Drug Formularies and Other Pharmaceutical Benefit Management Procedures

The proposed revisions to Model #22 enhance the existing provisions of this section to more clearly establish the responsibilities and duties of any P&T committee a health carrier uses to develop and maintain its prescription drug formulary and implement its PBMPs. The proposed revisions also include additional P&T committee member conflict of interest requirements. The proposed revisions also include a provision requiring health carriers to allow covered persons access to prescription drug benefits at in-network retail or mail order pharmacies, except under specified circumstances.

Section 6. Information to Prescribers, Pharmacies, Covered Persons and Prospective Covered Persons

The proposed revisions to Model #22 clarify and enhance the provisions in this section concerning disclosures, particularly consumer disclosures, related to formulary and prescription drug benefit information and changes to that information. The proposed revisions also specifically require health carriers to provide a 60-day notice or take other specific action whenever the health carrier makes or approves a change in a formulary affecting prescription drug benefit coverage or PBMP administration, including, but not limited to, co-payment amounts, co-insurance percentage level, step therapy, drug substitution and mandatory generics.

Section 7. Medical Exceptions Approval Process Requirements and Procedures

The proposed revisions to Model #22 clarify the provisions in this section related to the medical exceptions process. The proposed revisions also add an expedited medical exceptions process.

Section 8. Nondiscrimination in Prescription Drug Benefit Design

The proposed revisions to Model #22 add this section. This section prohibits a health carrier or its designee from adopting or implementing a formulary or prescription drug benefit design that is discriminatory in violation of state or federal law. The revisions also add three drafting notes to provide guidance to state insurance regulators in implementing this section. One drafting note references existing NAIC models with nondiscrimination language that states may want to consider if developing implementing regulations to this model.

Section 9. Recordkeeping and Reporting Requirements

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make one substantive revision to this section. The revisions require a health carrier to also maintain data on and, upon request, make available to the commissioner information on the changes to its formulary or prescription drug benefit information made after the state of a plan year. This revision is optional for a state to include when adopting the revisions.

Section 10. Oversight and Contracting Responsibilities

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make no changes to this section.

Section 11. Disclosure Requirements

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make a few clarifying changes to this section for consistency with the revisions made to other sections concerning the information concerning formularies and PBMPs a health carrier must disclose in a policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage provided to covered persons.

Section 12. Regulations

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make no changes to this section.

Section 13. Penalties

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make no changes to this section.

Section 14. Separability

The proposed revisions to Model #22 make no changes to this section.

Section 15. Effective Date

The proposed revisions to Model #22 add optional language related to the effective date of model revisions.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2003

HEALTH CARRIER PRESCRIPTION DRUG BENEFIT MANAGEMENT MODEL ACT (#22)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

This model law was drafted to address an issue of increasing concern to consumers—the use by health carriers of formularies and other pharmaceutical benefit management procedures to manage prescription drug utilization. The model sets out standards for the establishment, maintenance and management of prescription drug formularies and other pharmaceutical benefit management procedures to assure that covered persons have appropriate access to medically necessary prescription drugs. The model law also establishes a medical exceptions process that would permit consumers to request a nonformulary prescription drug or to request an exception to a dose restriction or step therapy requirement.

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model:

Pharmaceutical Issues Working Group of the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force.

States Participating:

North Carolina, Chair
Colorado
Delaware
District of Columbia
Illinois
Indiana
Kansas
Kentucky
Louisiana
Maine
Maryland
New Hampshire
Ohio
Texas
Vermont
Washington
Wisconsin

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge given in February 2000: Study the issue of formulary regulation and pharmacy benefit managers, and how they are currently handled at the state level; determine if a more formal regulatory framework is warranted. Report by Winter 2000 Meeting.

After the working group held public hearings in June 2000, the following revised charge was given in February 2001:

Study the issue of formulary regulation and pharmacy benefit managers, and how they are currently handled at the state level and develop a new model or amend an existing model or models, as appropriate. Report by Winter 2001 Meeting.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The model was drafted by the working group. Numerous interested parties participated, including industry representatives, such as the American Association of Health Plans (AAHP), the Health Insurance Association of America (HIAA), the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (BCBSA), the National Association of Health Underwriters (NAHU), the Academy of Managed Care Pharmacy (AMCP), the Pharmaceutical Care Management Association (PCMA), AdvancePCS, Express Scripts, Inc., Kaiser Permanente, and the American Republic Insurance Company; prescription drug manufacturer representatives, such as Pfizer Pharmaceuticals, Inc., the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA), GlaxoSmithKline and Schering-Plough Corporation; provider representatives, such as the American Medical Association (AMA), the American Psychiatric Association (APA), the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists (ASHP), and the National Association of Chain Drug Stores (NACDS); consumer representatives, such as AARP, the National Mental Health Association (NMHA), Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS), Epilepsy Foundation of Colorado, National Partnership for Women and Families; and other interested parties, such as the National Pharmaceutical Council (NPC), the National Health Council and the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA).

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

There have been five drafts of the proposed new model. Each draft was circulated for comment to interested parties prior to discuss at NAIC quarterly meetings. In addition, all drafts of the proposed model were posted on the NAIC web site. Throughout the drafting process comments from various interest groups and organizations were received and discussed by the working group.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the due process and the group's response.

The most significant issue that arose during the drafting of this proposed model concerned its scope. Industry wanted to limit the scope of the model such that it applied only to prescription drug formulary development and maintenance. The working group, however, determined that because health carriers use other pharmaceutical benefit management procedures in addition to formularies to manage prescription drug utilization, these other procedures, such as prior authorization requirements, dose restrictions and step therapy protocols, should be included in the model and should be subject to the same requirements as prescription drug formularies.

Another significant issue of controversy that arose during the drafting of the proposed model concerned whether covered persons should be able to use the medical exceptions process to request a medical exception to having to pay a higher co-payment for a higher tier prescription drug when the lower tier drug (with a lower co-payment amount) was determined not to be effective or appropriate for treating the covered person's medical condition. The working group decided not to permit such requests under the medical exceptions process because they believed that this was a plan design issue and, in addition, this was an issue that could not be easily addressed in a model law due to a myriad of other issues, including cost and the ability for one covered person versus another covered person to pay that cost.

INDIVIDUAL MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL REGULATION

Section 1. Statement of Purpose

This regulation is intended to implement the provisions of the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act ("Act"). The purposes of the Act and this regulation are to set out the requirements for guaranteed availability, guaranteed renewability and premium rating in the individual market and provide for the establishment of coverage and other benefit requirements in the individual market.

Section 2. Definitions

As used in this Regulation:

A. "Actuarial Value" or "AV" means the percentage paid by a health benefit plan of the total allowed costs of benefits.

B. "Annual open enrollment period" means the period each year during which an individual may enroll or change coverage in a health benefit plan.

C. "Benefit year" means a calendar year for which a health benefit plan provides coverage for health benefits.

D. "CMS" means the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

E. (1) "Cost-sharing" means any expenditure required by or on behalf of an enrollee with respect to essential health benefits.

(2) "Cost-sharing" includes deductibles, coinsurance, copayments or similar charges, but excludes premiums, balance billing amounts for non-network providers and spending for non-covered services.

F. "EHB-benchmark plan" means the standardized set of essential health benefits (EHB) that a health carrier must provide as required by the commissioner or Secretary.

G. "HHS" means the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

H. (1) "Health factor" means, in relation to any individual, any of the following health status-related factors:

(a) Health status;

(b) Medical condition, including both physical and mental illnesses;

(c) Claims experience;

(d) Receipt of health care services;

(e) Medical history;

(f) Genetic information;

(g) Evidence of insurability, including:

(i) Conditions arising out of acts of domestic violence; or

(ii) Participation in activities, such as motorcycling, snowmobiling, all-terrain vehicle riding, horseback riding, skiing, and other similar activities; or

(h) Disability.

(2) For purposes of this subsection, "health factor" does not include the decision whether to elect individual market health insurance coverage, including the time chosen to enroll, such as under special enrollment or later enrollment.

I. "Minimum essential coverage" has the meaning stated in Section 5000A(f) of the Internal Revenue Code (Code).

J. "Percentage of the total allowed costs of benefits" means the anticipated covered medical spending for EHB coverage, as defined in Section 3K of the Act, paid by a health benefit plan for a standard population, computed in accordance with the plan's cost-sharing, divided by the total anticipated allowed charges for EHB coverage provided to a standard population, and expressed as a percentage.

K. "Plan" means, with respect to a health carrier and a product, the pairing of health insurance coverage benefits under the product with a metal tier level, as described in Section 1302(d) and (e) of the Federal Act, and service area. The product comprises all plans offered within the product, and the combination of all plans offered within a product constitutes the total service area of the product.

L. "Policy year" means, with respect to:

(1) Grandfathered health plan coverage providing individual market health insurance coverage and student health insurance coverage, the 12-month period that is designated as the policy year in the policy documents of the health insurance coverage. If there is no designation of a policy year in the policy document (or no such policy document is available), then the policy year is the deductible or limit year used under the coverage. If deductibles or other limits are not imposed on a yearly basis, the policy year is the calendar year; or

(2) Non-grandfathered health plan coverage providing individual market health insurance coverage, or a market in which the State has merged has merged the individual and small group market risk pools for coverage issued or renewed beginning Jan. 1, 2014, a calendar year for which health insurance coverage provides coverage for health benefits.

M. "Product" means a discrete package of health insurance coverage benefits that a health carrier offers using a particular product network type (e.g., HMO, PPO, EPO, POS or indemnity) within a geographic service area.

N. "Special enrollment period" means a period during which an individual or covered person who experiences certain qualified events may enroll in or change enrollment in a health benefit plan outside of the initial and annual open enrollment periods.

Section 3. Applicability and Scope

Subject to the provisions in Section 4 of the Act and specific provisions in this regulation, this regulation is applicable to health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage in this State.

Section 4. Restrictions Relating to Premium Rates

A. The premium rate charged by a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage may vary only, with respect to the particular coverage involved, on the basis of the following:

(1) Whether the plan covers an individual or family:

(a) For family coverage, the total premium for family coverage must be determined by summing the premiums for each individual family member, except that if there are more than three (3) covered children under the age of twenty-one (21), the total family premium shall include only the premiums for all covered family members over the age of twenty-one (21) and the three (3) oldest children under the age of twenty-one (21); and

(b) For family coverage, any rating variation on the basis of age or tobacco use must be applied separately to the portion of the premium attributable to each covered family member;

Drafting Note: As specified in 45 CFR §147.102(c)(2), a state has the option to establish uniform family tiers and uniform rating multipliers for those tiers in lieu of the family rating methodology specified in Paragraph (1), but only if the state does not permit any rating variation for age and tobacco use as described in Paragraphs (3) and (4). If the state does not establish uniform family tiers and the corresponding multipliers, the per-member-rating methodology in this section under Paragraph (1) will apply in that state.

(2) (a) (i) Geographic rating area, as established by HHS in accordance with 45 CFR §147.102(b), unless the commissioner establishes alternative geographic rating areas pursuant to Item (ii) of this subparagraph; and

(ii) The commissioner may adopt regulations establishing uniform geographic rating areas subject to the provisions of 45 CFR §147.102(b); and Drafting Note: States choosing to limit the permissible variation based on geographic rating areas, or to establish uniform geographic area multipliers, should consider incorporating those provisions in an additional provision under this subparagraph, such as Item (iii).

Drafting Note: States should be aware that 45 CFR §147.102(b) of the final rule published in the Federal Register Feb. 27, 2013, permits a state to establish one or more geographic rating areas within that state. If a state does not establish geographic rating areas, or the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) determines that the state's geographic rating areas are not adequate, the default will be one geographic rating area for each metropolitan statistical area in the state and one geographic rating comprising all non-metropolitan statistical areas in the state, as defined by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

(b) For purposes of this paragraph, geographic rating area is to be determined in the individual market using the primary policyholder's address;

(3) Age:

(a) The rate may not vary based on age by more than 3:1 for like individuals of different age who are twenty-one (21) and older, and the variation in rate must be actuarially justified for individuals under age twenty-one (21);

(b) The rate for each enrollee must be based on the enrollee's age as of the date of policy issuance, renewal or addition to the policy;

(c) Variations in rates based on age must be consistent with the uniform age rating curve established by HHS under 45 CFR §147.102(e), unless the commissioner establishes an alternative age rating curve pursuant to Subparagraph (d) of this paragraph; and

(d) The commissioner may adopt regulations establishing a uniform age rating curve, subject to the restrictions imposed by 45 CFR §147.102(e). Any uniform age rating curve must be based on the following uniform age bands:

(i) A single age band for individuals age 0 through 20;

(ii) One-year age bands for individuals age 21 through 63; and

(iii) A single age band for individuals age 64 and older; and Drafting Note: States should be aware that 45 CFR §147.102(e) of the final rule published in the Federal Register Feb. 27, 2013, permits a state to establish a uniform age rating curve in the individual or small group market, or both markets. If a state does not establish a uniform age rating curve or provide information on such age curve in accordance with 45 CFR §147.103, a default uniform age rating curve specified in guidance by the Secretary will apply in that state which takes into account the rating variation permitted for age under state law.

(4) Tobacco use:

(a) The rate may not vary by more than 1.5:1 on the basis of tobacco use;

(b) A rating surcharge for tobacco use may only be applied to individuals who may legally use tobacco under federal and state law;

(c) A rating surcharge for "tobacco use" may only be applied to individuals who have used tobacco on average four (4) or more times per week within the most recent six-month period; and

(d) The health carrier may consider the use of any tobacco product for rating purposes, but may not consider religious or ceremonial use of tobacco. Further, the health carrier must consider "tobacco use" in terms of when a tobacco product was last used.

Drafting Note: States may prohibit tobacco use as a rating factor or may impose stronger restrictions on tobacco use rating than the restrictions in this Regulation as provided in Paragraph (4) above.

B. A premium rate may not vary with respect to a particular coverage by any other factor not described in Subsection A.

C. This section does not apply to grandfathered health plan coverage in accordance with 45 CFR §147.140.

Section 5. Single Risk Pool

A. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act must consider the claims experience of all enrollees in all health benefit plans (other than grandfathered health plan coverage) subject to Section 5 of the Act and offered by the carrier in the individual market in a state, including enrollees who do not enroll in such plans through the exchange, to be members of a single risk pool.

Drafting Note: As specified in 45 CFR §156.80, a state may require the individual and small group health insurance markets within the state to be merged into a single risk pool if the state determines appropriate. A state that requires such merger must submit to CMS information on its election in accordance with the procedures described in 45 CFR §147.103.

B. (1) (a) A health carrier must establish an index rate that is effective January 1 of each calendar year for the individual market, described in Subsection A or, if applicable, a merged market, if the state has required such merger, based on the total combined claims cost for providing essential health benefits within the single risk pool of that state market.

(b) The index rate must be adjusted on a market-wide basis for the state based on the total expected market-wide payments and charges under the risk adjustment and reinsurance programs and exchange user fees (expected to be remitted under 45 CFR §156.50(b) or §156.50(c) and (d), as applicable, plus the dollar amount under 45 §156.50(d)(3)(i) and (ii) expected to be credited against user fees payable in that state market).

(c) The premium rate for all of the health carrier's plans in the relevant state market must use the applicable market-wide adjusted index rate, subject only to plan-level adjustments permitted in Paragraph (2).

(2) For policy years beginning on or after January 1, 2014, a health carrier may vary premium rates for a particular health benefit plan from its market-wide index rate for a relevant state market based only on the following actuarially justified plan-specific factors:

(a) The actuarial value and cost-sharing design of the plan;

(b) The plan's provider network, delivery system characteristics and utilization management practices;

(c) The benefits provided under the plan that are in addition to the essential health benefits. These additional benefits must be pooled with similar benefits within the single risk pool and the claims experience from those benefits must be utilized to determine rate variations for plans that offer those benefits in addition to essential health benefits;

(d) Administrative costs, excluding exchange user fees; and

(e) With respect to catastrophic plans, the expected impact of the specific eligibility categories for those plans.

(3) A health carrier may not establish an index rate and make the market-wide adjustments pursuant to Paragraph (1), or make the plan-level adjustments pursuant to Paragraph (2), more or less frequently than annually.

C. This section does not apply to grandfathered health plan coverage in accordance with the provisions of Section 1312(c)(4) of the Federal Act.

Section 6. Guaranteed Availability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage; Enrollment Periods

A. Subject to Section 6 of the Act and Subsections B through D, a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage must offer to any individual in the state all products that are approved for sale in the individual market and must accept any individual that applies for coverage under any of those products.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that additional exceptions (i.e. exceptions for network plans, limited financial capacity, etc.) to guaranteed availability of coverage can be found in Section 6 of the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act (#36). Those provisions were not included in this section in order to avoid unnecessary duplication. However, states may choose to include those provisions in this section if they want to do so.

B. A health carrier may restrict enrollment in health insurance coverage to open or special enrollment periods.

C. (1) A health carrier must allow an individual to purchase health insurance coverage during an annual open enrollment period established by HHS unless the commissioner establishes a broader open enrollment period than the open enrollment period established by HHS. Coverage must become effective consistent with the dates described in Paragraph (2).

(2) The health carrier must ensure coverage is effective for an individual who has applied for coverage under the health benefit plan in accordance with requirements established by the commissioner if the commissioner establishes a broader open enrollment period or as established by HHS.

D. For individuals enrolled in non-calendar year health benefit plans, a health carrier must provide a limited open enrollment period that begins on the date that is thirty (30) calendar days prior to the date the policy year ends in 2014. The effective date of coverage under this subsection must be consistent with the dates described in Subsection E(2)(b).

Drafting Note: States that permitted health carriers to renew non-ACA compliant policies pursuant to the November 2013 "Transitional Policy," and any extensions of that transitional policy, may need to alert carriers that they must provide a special enrollment period for those covered persons at least 30 calendar days prior to the date the policy ends.

E. (1) (a) In addition to the special enrollment periods provided in Section 9B of the Act and qualifying events, as defined under Section 603 of ERISA, a health carrier must provide special enrollment periods for the following triggering events:

(i) An individual or dependent loses minimum essential coverage;

(ii) An individual gains a dependent through marriage, birth, adoption or placement for adoption or placement in foster care;

(iii) An individual's enrollment or non-enrollment in a health benefit plan is unintentional, inadvertent or erroneous and as a result of the error, misrepresentation or inaction of an officer, employee or agent of the health carrier or HHS or its instrumentalities as evaluated and determined by the health carrier. In such cases, the health carrier may take such action as may be necessary to correct or eliminate the effects of such error, misrepresentation or inaction;

(iv) A covered person adequately demonstrates to the health carrier that the health benefit plan in which he or she is enrolled substantially violated a material provision of its contract in relation to the covered person;

(v) A covered person is determined newly eligible or newly ineligible for advance payments of the premium tax credit or has a change in eligibility for cost-sharing reductions. A health carrier must permit individuals whose existing coverage through an eligible employer-sponsored plan will no longer be affordable, as defined by federal law or regulation, or no longer provide minimum value, as defined by federal law or regulation, for his or her employer's upcoming plan year, to access this special enrollment period prior to the end of his or her coverage through such eligible employer-sponsored plan; and

(vi) An individual or covered person gains access to new health benefit plans as a result of a permanent move.

(b) These special enrollment periods are in addition to any other special enrollment periods required under state or federal law.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that federal preemption standards allow states to impose stronger consumer protections in state law such as, for example, additional special enrollment periods or open enrollment periods that allow individuals to purchase coverage more frequently than the federal minimum requirements.

(2) (a) With respect to an election made under Subsection D or Paragraph (1) of this subsection, coverage must become effective consistent with the dates described in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph.

(b) Except as provided in Subparagraph (c) of this paragraph, for a health benefit plan selection received by the health carrier from an individual:

(i) Between the first and fifteenth day of any month, the health carrier must ensure a coverage effective date of the first day of the following month; and

(ii) Between the sixteenth and the last day of any month, the health carrier must ensure a coverage effective date of the first day of the second following month.

(c) (i) In the case of birth, adoption or placement for adoption, the health carrier must ensure that coverage is effective regardless of enrollment date in accordance with the provisions of Section 9B of the Act on the date of birth, adoption or placement for adoption.

(ii) In the case of marriage, or in the case where an individual loses minimum essential coverage, as described in Paragraph (1)(a)(i), the health carrier must ensure coverage is effective on the first day of the following month.

F. This section does not apply to grandfathered health plan coverage in accordance with 45 CFR §147.140.

Section 7. Guaranteed Renewability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage

A. As provided in Section 7 of the Act and this section, subject to Subsection B, a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act must renew or continue in force the coverage at the option of the individual.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that additional exceptions (i.e. exceptions for product discontinuation and market exit, etc.) to guaranteed renewability of coverage can be found in Section 7 of the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act (#36). Those provisions were not included in this section in order to avoid unnecessary duplication. However, states may choose to include those provisions in this section if they want to do so.

B. A health carrier may nonrenew or discontinue health insurance coverage based only on one or more of the following:

(1) The individual has failed to pay premiums in accordance with the terms of the health insurance coverage, including any timeliness requirements;

(2) The individual has performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud or made an intentional misrepresentation of material fact in connection with the coverage;

(3) The carrier is ceasing to offer coverage in the market in accordance with Section 7C (discontinuing a particular product) or Section 7D (discontinuing all coverage) of the Act and applicable state law;

(4) For network plans, there is no longer any covered person who lives, resides or works in the service area of the carrier (or the area for which the carrier is authorized to do business); or

(5) For coverage made available in the individual market only through one or more bona fide associations, the individual's membership in the association ceases, but only if the coverage is terminated uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of covered persons.

C. (1) At the time of coverage renewal only, a health carrier may modify the health insurance coverage for a product offered in the individual market if the modification is consistent with federal or state law and is effective uniformly among all policyholders with that product.

(2) For purposes of Paragraph (1), a modification made uniformly and solely pursuant to applicable federal or state requirements is considered a uniform modification of coverage if:

(a) The modification is made within a reasonable time period after the imposition or modification of the federal or state requirement; and

(b) The modification is directly related to the imposition or modification of the federal or state requirement.

(3) Other types of modifications made uniformly are considered a uniform modification of coverage if the individual market health insurance coverage for the product meets all of the following criteria:

(a) The product is offered by the same health carrier, as that term is defined in Section 3B of the Act;

(b) The product is offered as the same product network type;

(c) The product continues to cover at least a majority of the same service area;

(d) Within the product, each plan has the same cost-sharing structure as before the modification, except for any variation in cost-sharing solely related to changes in cost and utilization of health care services, or to maintain the same metal tier level described in Section 1302(d) and (e) of the Federal Act; and

(e) The product provides the same covered benefits, except any changes in benefits that cumulatively impact the plan-adjusted index rate, as described in Section 5B of this regulation, for any plan within the product within an allowable variation of +/- two (2) percentage points, not including changes pursuant to applicable federal or state requirements.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that 45 CFR §147.106(e)(4) permits a state to broaden the standards described in Paragraph (3)(c) and (d) above.

D. If a health carrier is renewing non-grandfathered individual market health insurance coverage as described in Subsection A, or uniformly modifying non-grandfathered individual market health insurance coverage as described in Subsection C, the health carrier must provide to each individual written notice of the renewal before the date of the first day of the next open enrollment period in a form and manner specified by the Secretary.

E. (1) Nothing in this section should be construed to require a health carrier to renew or continue in force individual market health insurance coverage for which continued eligibility would otherwise be prohibited under applicable federal law.

(2) Medicare eligibility or entitlement to such benefits is not a basis for non-renewal or termination of an individual's health insurance coverage in the individual market.

F. This section applies to grandfathered health plan coverage in accordance with 45 CFR §147.140 to the extent the grandfathered health plan coverage was required to comply with the guaranteed renewability provisions under Section 2742 of the PHSA in effect pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191 (HIPAA) prior to the effective date of the Federal Act.

Section 8. Prohibition of Preexisting Condition Exclusions

A. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act may not impose any preexisting condition exclusions as provided in Section 9A of the Act.

B. As described in Section 4 of the Act, grandfathered health plan coverage that is individual health insurance coverage is not required to comply with this section.

Section 9. Prohibition on Discrimination Based on Health Factors

Drafting Note: For purposes of this Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Regulation (#TBD), states should be aware that Section 2705 of the PHSA extends the HIPAA nondiscrimination prohibitions to the individual market. However, Section 2705 of the PHSA does not extend the wellness program exception to the prohibition on discrimination to coverage in the individual market. In addition, states should be aware that in the Incentives for Nondiscriminatory Wellness Programs in Group Health Plans; Final Rule (78 Fed. Reg. 33158) published in the Federal Register June 3, 2013, the preamble of that final rule (78 Fed. Reg. 33167) states that "[c]ommenters requested that the wellness provisions be extended to the individual market or that states be allowed to authorize participatory programs in the individual market. Although the proposed rule addressing the individual market is being finalized without change, it is HHS's belief that participatory wellness programs in the individual market do not violate the nondiscrimination provisions provided that such programs are consistent with State law and available to all similarly situated individuals enrolled in the individual health insurance coverage. This is because participatory wellness programs do not base rewards on achieving a standard related to a health factor, and thus do not discriminate based upon health status."

A. (1) A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act may not establish a rule for eligibility, including continued eligibility, of an individual to enroll for benefits under the plan that discriminates based on any health factor that relates to the individual or dependent of the individual.

(2) For purposes of this section, a rule of eligibility includes a rule relating to:

(a) Enrollment;

(b) The effective date of coverage;

(c) Waiting or affiliation periods;

(d) Late and special enrollment;

(e) Eligibility for benefit packages, including rules for individuals to change their selection among benefit packages;

(f) Benefits, including a rule relating to covered benefits, benefit restrictions, and cost-sharing mechanisms, such as coinsurance, copayments and deductibles, as described in Subsection C(1) and (2);

(g) Continued eligibility; and

(h) Terminating coverage, including disenrollment, of an individual under the plan.

(3) Nothing in this section prohibits a health carrier from establishing more favorable rules of eligibility for individuals with an adverse health factor, such as a disability, than for individuals without the adverse health factor.

B. (1) Subject to federal or state law or regulations and Paragraph (2), Subsection A does not require a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act to provide coverage for any particular benefit to similarly situated individuals.

(2) (a) A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act shall make the benefits provided under a plan available uniformly to all individuals.

(b) For any restriction on a benefit or benefits provided under a plan, the health carrier:

(i) Shall apply the restriction uniformly; and

(ii) May not direct the restriction, as determined based on all of the relevant facts and circumstances, at any individual or dependents of an individual based on any health factor of the individual or a dependent of the individual.

(c) The health carrier may require a deductible, copayment, coinsurance or other cost-sharing requirement in order to obtain a benefit under the plan if the cost-sharing requirement:

(i) Applies uniformly;

(ii) Is not directed at any individual or dependents of an individual based on any health factor of the individual or dependent of an individual; and

(iii) Does not apply to preventive benefits specified in Section 2713 of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA).

(d) For purposes of this paragraph, a plan amendment applicable to all individuals under the plan and made effective no earlier than the first day of the first plan year after the amendment is adopted is not considered to be directed at any individual or dependent of an individual.

(3) If the health carrier generally provides benefits for a type of injury, the health carrier may not deny any individual or dependent of an individual benefits otherwise provided under the plan for treatment of the injury if the injury results from an act of domestic violence or a medical condition. This provision applies to an injury resulting from a medical condition even if the medical condition is not diagnosed before the injury.

C. In accordance with Subsection A, a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act may not establish a rule of eligibility or set an individual policyholder's premium or contribution rate based on:

(1) Whether the policyholder is confined in a hospital or other health care institution; or

(2) The policyholder's ability to engage in normal life activities.

Section 10. Essential Health Benefits Package

A. To meet the requirements of Section 13 of the Act, provision of essential health benefits means that a health benefit plan provides health benefits that:

(1) Are substantially equal to the EHB-benchmark plan including:

(a) Covered benefits;

(b) Limitations on coverage including coverage of benefit amount, duration and scope; and

(c) Prescription drug benefits that meet the requirements of Section 12 of this Regulation;

(2) With the exception of the essential health benefits category of coverage for pediatric services, do not exclude an enrollee from coverage in an essential health benefits category;

(3) With respect to the mental health and substance use disorder services, including behavioral health treatment services, comply with the requirements of 45 CFR §146.136 related to parity in mental health and substance use disorder benefits;

(4) Include preventive health services, as provided in Section 14 of the Act;

(5) If the EHB-benchmark plan does not include coverage for habilitative services, include habilitative services in a manner that meets one of the following:

(a) Provides parity by covering habilitative services benefits that are similar in scope, amount and duration to benefits covered for rehabilitative services;

(b) Is determined by the health carrier and reported to HHS; or

(c) As determined by the state as provided in 45 CFR §156.110(f).

B. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan in the individual market providing essential health benefits may substitute benefits if the carrier meets the following conditions:

Drafting Note: States should be aware that they may adopt more restrictive requirements related to health carriers substituting benefits, including not permitting the practice.

(1) Substitutes a benefit that:

(a) Is actuarially equivalent to the benefit that is being replaced as determined in Paragraph (2);

(b) Is made only within the same essential health benefit category; and

(c) Is not a prescription drug benefit; and

(2) Submits evidence of actuarial equivalence that is:

(a) Certified by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries;

(b) Based on an analysis performed in accordance with generally accepted actuarial principles and methodologies;

(c) Based on a standardized plan population; and

(d) Determined regardless of cost-sharing.

C. A health benefit plan does not fail to provide essential health benefits solely because it does not offer the services described in 45 CFR §156.280(d).

D. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan in the individual market providing essential health benefits may not include routine non-pediatric dental services, routine non-pediatric eye exam services, long-term/custodial nursing home care benefits or non-medically necessary orthodontia as essential health benefits.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that in the preamble of the final regulations published in the Federal Register Feb. 25, 2013 (78 FR 12866), there is commentary related to a provision in the ACA and implementing regulations that provides that if an exchange offers a standalone dental plan offering a pediatric dental EHB benefit, medical insurance plans are not required to offer a pediatric dental plan on that exchange. HHS was encouraged by commenters on the proposed regulation to extend into the non-exchange market (outside market) the ability of a medical insurance plan to not offer the pediatric dental EHB in cases where a standalone dental plan that meets the standards to cover the pediatric dental EHB is offered. In its response to the comments, HHS notes that the ACA does not provide for the same exclusion of a pediatric dental EHB outside of the exchange as it does in Section 1304(b)(4) of the ACA for exchanges. Therefore, individuals enrolling in health insurance coverage in the outside market must be offered the full ten EHB categories, including the pediatric dental benefit. HHS notes, however, that in cases in which an individual has purchased stand-alone pediatric dental coverage offered by an exchange-certified stand-alone dental plan off the exchange, that individual would already be covered by the same pediatric dental benefit that is a part of EHB. As such, when an issuer is reasonably assured that an individual has obtained such coverage through an exchange-certified stand-alone dental plan offered outside an exchange, the issuer would not be found non-compliant with EHB requirements if the issuer offers that individual a policy that, when combined with the exchange-certified stand-alone dental plan, ensures full coverage of EHB. HHS also notes that this alternative method of compliance is at the option of the medical insurance plan issuer, and would only apply with respect to individuals for whom the medical insurance plan issuer is reasonably assured have obtained pediatric dental coverage through an exchange-certified stand-alone dental plan. In addition, this option is only available for pediatric dental EHB, and not for any other EHB. States should be aware that because this alternative option is included in the final regulation's preamble, but not in the text of the final regulation, states may be taking a different approach to address this issue.

E. A health carrier offering health benefit plan in the individual market providing essential health benefits may not impose annual and lifetime dollar limits on essential health benefits in accordance with 45 CFR §147.126.

Section 11. Parity in Mental Health and Substance Use Disorder Benefits

A. (1) The provisions of 45 CFR §146.136 apply to a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act in the same manner and to the same extent as such provisions apply to health insurance coverage offered in connection with a group health insurance plan in the large group market.

(2) For purposes of this subsection, "large group market" has the meaning stated in 45 CFR §144.103.

B. This section applies to non-grandfathered health plan coverage and grandfathered health plan coverage.

Section 12. Prescription Drug Benefits

A. A health benefit plan does not provide essential health benefits unless it:

(1) Except as provided in Subsection B, covers at least the greater of:

(a) One drug in every United States Pharmacopeia (USP) category and class; or

(b) The same number of prescription drugs in each category and class as the EHB-benchmark plan; and

(2) Submits its drug list to the state.

B. A health benefit plan does not fail to provide essential health benefits prescription drug benefits solely because it does not offer drugs approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration as a service described in 45 CFR §156.280(d).

C. (1) A health benefit plan providing essential health benefits must have procedures in place that allow an enrollee to request and gain access to clinically appropriate drugs not covered by the health benefit plan.

(2) (a) The procedures must include a process for an enrollee, the enrollee's designee or the enrollee's prescribing physician or other prescriber to request an expedited review based on exigent circumstances.

(b) Exigent circumstances exist when an enrollee is suffering from a health condition that may seriously jeopardize the enrollee's life, health or ability to regain maximum function or when an enrollee is undergoing a current course of treatment using a non-formulary drug.

(c) A health benefit plan must make its coverage determination on an expedited review request based on exigent circumstances and notify the enrollee or the enrollee's designee and the prescribing physician or other prescriber, as appropriate, of its coverage determination no later than twenty-four (24) hours after it receives the request.

(d) A health benefit plan that grants an exception based on exigent circumstances must provide coverage of the non-formulary drug for the duration of the exigency.

Drafting Note: The provisions of Subsection C above reference health benefit plans having procedures, including an expedited review process as part of those procedures, in place to allow enrollees to request and gain access to clinically appropriate drugs not covered by the health benefit plan. In considering what procedures, if any, states may want to require health carriers to have in place for their health benefit plans to carry out the provisions of Subsection C, states may want to review procedures in the NAIC models concerning internal and external review. In addition, states may want to review the provisions of the NAIC Health Carrier Prescription Drug Benefit Management Model Act (#22), particularly Section 7—Medical Exceptions Approval Process Requirements and Procedures.

Section 13. Prohibition on Discrimination in Providing Essential Health Benefits

A. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act does not provide essential health benefits if its benefit design, or the implementation of its benefit design, discriminates based on an individual's age, expected length of life, present or predicted disability, degree of medical dependency, quality of life or other health conditions.

B. A health carrier must not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, disability, age, sex, gender identity or sexual orientation.

Drafting Note: States should review their laws and regulations for consistency with the provisions of Subsection B above and, if necessary, revise the language in Subsection B.

C. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a health carrier from appropriately utilizing reasonable medical management techniques.

Section 14. Cost-Sharing Requirements

A. (1) For a policy year beginning in calendar year 2014, cost-sharing may not exceed the following:

(a) For self-only coverage that is in effect for 2014, the annual dollar limit as described in Section 223(c)(2)(A)(ii)(I) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended; or

(b) For non-self-only coverage that is in effect for 2014, the annual dollar limit as described in Section 223(c)(2)(A)(ii)(II) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

(2) For a policy year beginning in a calendar year after 2014, cost-sharing may not exceed the following:

(a) For self-only coverage, the dollar limit for calendar year 2014 increased by an amount equal to the product of that amount and the premium adjustment percentage, as defined in Subsection E; or

(b) For non-self-only coverage, twice the dollar limit for self-only coverage described in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

B. In the case of a plan using a network of providers, the annual limitation on cost-sharing, as defined in Subsection A does not apply to benefits provided out-of-network, other than benefits provided on an appeal or exceptions basis because medically necessary services were not reasonably accessible within the network.

Drafting Note: Subject to state or federal law or regulations, nothing in this section would prohibit a health carrier from establishing contractual limits on cost-sharing that are lower than the limits provided in Subsection A or establishing contractual limits on cost-sharing that apply to benefits provided both in-network and out-of-network. Federal law does not prevent a state from establishing lower cost-sharing limits, or establishing limits that apply to out-of-network benefits.

C. For a policy year beginning in a calendar year after 2014, any increase in the annual dollar limits described in Subsection A that does not result in a multiple of 50 dollars will be rounded down, to the next lowest multiple of 50 dollars.

D. The premium adjustment percentage is the percentage, if any, by which the average per capita premium for health insurance coverage for the preceding calendar year exceeds such average per capita premium for health insurance coverage for 2013. HHS will publish the annual premium adjustment percentage in the annual HHS notice of benefits and payment parameters.

E. Nothing in this section is in derogation of the requirements of Section 14 of the Act.

F. Emergency department services must be provided as follows:

(1) Without imposing any requirement under the health benefit plan for prior authorization of services or any limitation on coverage where the provider of services is out of network that is more restrictive than the requirements or limitations that apply to emergency department services received in network; and

(2) If such services are provided out of network, cost-sharing must be limited as provided in [insert reference to state law or regulation equivalent to Section 11C of the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act].

Section 15. Actuarial Value Calculation for Determining Level of Coverage; Levels of Coverage

A. Subject to Subsection B, a health carrier must use the AV Calculator developed and made available by HHS to calculate the AV of a health benefit plan.

B. If a health benefit plan's design is not compatible with the AV Calculator, the health carrier must meet the following:

(1) Submit the actuarial certification from an actuary, who is a member of the American Academy of Actuaries, on the chosen methodology identified in Subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this paragraph:

(a) Calculate the plan's AV by:

(i) Estimating the fit of its plan design into the parameters of the AV calculator; and

(ii) Having an actuary, who is a member of the American Academy of Actuaries, certify that the plan design was fit appropriately in accordance with generally accepted actuarial principles and methodologies; or

(b) Use the AV Calculator to determine the AV for the plan provisions that fit within the calculator parameters and have an actuary, who is a member of the American Academy of Actuaries, calculate and certify, in accordance with generally accepted actuarial principles and methodologies, appropriate adjustments to the AV identified by the calculator, for plan design features that deviate substantially from the parameters of the AV Calculator; and

(2) The calculation methods described in Paragraph (1)(a) and (b) may include in-network cost-sharing, including multi-tier networks.

C. (1) Beginning in 2015, if submitted by the state and approved by HHS, a state-specific data set, in a format specified by HHS that can support the use of the AV Calculator as described in Subsection A, will be used as the standard population to calculate AV in accordance with Subsection A.

(2) The AV will be calculated using the default standard population described in Paragraph (3), unless a data set in a format specified by HHS that can support the use of the AV Calculator, as described in Subsection A, is submitted by a state and approved by HHS consistent with the requirements of 45 CFR §156.135(d) by a state specified by HHS.

(3) The default standard population for AV calculation will be developed and summary statistics, such as in continuance tables, will be provided by HHS in a format that supports the calculation of AV as described in Subsection A.

D. (1) The AV, calculated as described in Subsections A through C, and within a de minimis variation as defined in Paragraph (3), determines whether a health benefit plan offers a bronze, silver, gold or platinum level of coverage.

(2) The levels of coverage are:

(a) A bronze plan is a health benefit plan that has an AV of 60%.

(b) A silver plan is a health benefit plan that has an AV of 70%.

(c) A gold plan is a health benefit plan that has an AV of 80%.

(d) A platinum plan is a health benefit plan that has an AV of 90%.

(3) The allowable variation in the AV of a health benefit plan that does not result in a material difference in the true dollar value of the health benefit plan is +/-2 percentage points.

Section 16. Enrollment in Catastrophic Plans

A. A health benefit plan is a catastrophic plan if it meets the following conditions:

(1) Meets all of the applicable requirements for individual market health insurance coverage and is offered only in the individual market;

(2) Does not provide a bronze, silver, gold or platinum level of coverage described in Section 1302(d) of the Federal Act;

(3) Provides coverage of essential health benefits under Section 1302(b) of the Federal Act once the annual limitation on cost-sharing in Section 1302(c)(1) of the Federal Act is reached and, except as provided in Paragraph (4) and Subsection B, provides no benefits for any policy year until such limitation on cost-sharing is reached;

(4) Provides coverage for at least three (3) primary care visits per year before reaching the deductible; and

(5) Covers only individuals who meet either of the following conditions:

(a) Have not attained the age of thirty (30) years prior to the first day of the policy year; or

(b) Have received a certificate of exemption for reasons identified in Section 1302(e)(2)(B)(i) or (ii) of the Federal Act.

B. A catastrophic plan may not impose any cost-sharing requirements, such as a copayment, coinsurance or deductible, for preventive services, in accordance with Section 2713 of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA).

C. For other than self-only coverage, each individual enrolled must meet the requirements of Subsection A(5).

Section 17. Provision of Summary of Benefits and Coverage; Uniform Glossary

Drafting Note: States should be aware that in addition to the provisions of 45 CFR §147.200, the Departments of Labor (DOL), Health and Human Services (HHS) and the Treasury (collectively, the Departments), the federal agencies charged with implementing the ACA, have issued extensive sub-regulatory guidance in the form of frequently asked questions (FAQs) and enforcement safe harbors for issuers subject to Section 2715 of the PHSA and the implementing federal regulations. The drafting note below details this sub-regulatory guidance and issuer enforcement safe harbors.

Drafting Note: The Departments have maintained their intent to continue the safe harbors and other enforcement relief provided to issuers for the first year of applicability related to the requirement to provide a Summary of Benefits and Coverage (SBC) and a uniform glossary during subsequent years of applicability. The Departments confirmed their intent in the Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part XIX, Q8 issued May 2, 2014,"in recognition of and to ensure a smooth transition to new market changes in 2014," to extend the following previously-issued enforcement and transition relief guidance until further guidance is issued:

- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part VIII, Q2 (regarding the federal agencies' basic approach to implementation of the SBC requirements during the first year of applicability);
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part IX, Q1 (regarding the circumstances in which an SBC may be provided electronically);
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part IX, Q8 (regarding penalties for failure to provide the SBC or uniform glossary);
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part IX, Q9 (regarding the coverage examples calculator); and related information related to use of the coverage examples calculator;
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part IX, Q10 (regarding an issuer's obligation to provide an SBC with respect to benefits it does not insure);
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part IX, Q13 (regarding expatriate coverage);
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part XIV, Q2 (regarding providing information about MEC (minimum essential coverage) and MV (minimum value) without changing the SBC template;
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part XIV, Q3 (removal of the row on the SBC template related to annual limits information);
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part VIII, Q5 (regarding carve-out arrangements);
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part XIV, Q7 (regarding anti-duplication rule for student health insurance coverage);
- The Special Rule contained in the Instruction Guides for Group and Individual Coverage;
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part X, Q1 (regarding Medicare Advantage); and
- Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part XIV, Q6 (an enforcement safe harbor related to closed blocks of business).

The May 2, 2014 guidance also noted that "[t]his guidance supersedes any previous sub-regulatory guidance, including FAQs, stating that certain enforcement relief for the SBC and uniform glossary requirements is limited to the first or second year of applicability."

A. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act must provide a summary of benefits and coverage (SBC) for each benefit package without charge to the individuals described in this section and in accordance with this section.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, as enacted, the Federal Act retained, with amendment, what was Section 2713 of the PHSA, now Section 2709 of the PHSA (Disclosure of Information), which requires health carriers to disclose information to individuals concerning the carrier's right to change premium rates and the factors that may affect changes in premium rates and the benefits and premiums available under all health insurance coverage for which the individual is qualified. The provisions of this section do not include these required disclosure requirements.

B. (1) A health carrier must provide an SBC to an individual covered under the health benefit plan, including every dependent, upon receiving an application for any plan, as soon as practicable following receipt of the application, but in no event later than seven (7) business days following receipt of the application.

(2) If there is any change in the information required to be in the SBC that was provided upon application and before the first day of coverage, the carrier must update and provide a current SBC to the individual no later than the first day of coverage.

(3) (a) A health carrier must provide the SBC to policyholders annually at renewal in accordance with Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph. The SBC must reflect any modified plan terms that would be effective on the first day of the new policy year.

(b) The SBC must be provided as follows:

(i) If written application is required in either paper or electronic form for renewal or reissuance, the carrier must provide the SBC no later than the date on which the written application materials are distributed; or

(ii) If renewal or reissuance is automatic, the carrier must provide the SBC no later than thirty (30) days prior to the first day of the new policy year; however, if the policy, certificate or contract of insurance has not been issued or renewed before such 30-day period, the carrier must provide the SBC as soon as practicable, but in no event later than seven (7) business days after issuance of the new policy, certificate or contract of insurance or the receipt of the written confirmation of intent to renew, whichever is earlier.

(4) (a) A health carrier must provide an SBC to any individual or dependent anytime the individual or dependent requests an SBC or summary information about a health insurance product as soon as practicable, but in no event later than seven (7) business days following receipt of the request.

(b) For purposes of this subsection, a request for an SBC or summary information about a health insurance product includes a request made both before and after an individual submits an application for coverage.

(5) If a health carrier provides a single SBC to an individual and any dependents at the individual's last known address, then the carrier's requirement to provide the SBC to the individual and any dependents is generally satisfied. However, if a dependent's last known address is different than the individual's last known address, the carrier must provide a separate SBC to the dependent at the dependent's last known address.

C. (1) Subject to Paragraph (3), an SBC provided under this section must include the following:

(a) Uniform definitions of standard insurance terms and medical terms so that consumers may compare health coverage and understand the terms of, or exceptions to, their coverage, in accordance with guidance as specified by the Secretary;

(b) A description of the coverage, including cost-sharing, for each category of benefits identified by the Secretary in guidance;

(c) The exceptions, reductions and limitations of coverage;

(d) The cost-sharing provisions of the coverage, including deductible, coinsurance and copayment obligations;

(e) The renewability and continuation of coverage provisions;

(f) Coverage examples in accordance with Paragraph (2);

(g) A statement about whether the coverage provides minimum essential coverage as defined under Section 5000A(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended and whether the coverage's share of the total allowed costs of benefits provided under the coverage meets applicable requirements;

(h) A statement that the SBC is only a summary and that the policy, certificate or contract of insurance should be consulted to determine the governing contractual provisions of the coverage;

(i) Contact information for questions and obtaining a copy of the insurance policy, certificate or contract of insurance, such as a telephone number for customer service and a publicly accessible Internet address where a copy of the plan document or the insurance policy, certificate or contract of insurance can be reviewed and obtained;

(j) For carriers that maintain one or more provider networks, an Internet address, or similar contact information, for obtaining a list of network providers;

(k) For carriers that use a formulary in providing prescription drug coverage, an Internet address, or similar contact information, for obtaining information on prescription drug coverage; and

(l) An Internet address for obtaining the uniform glossary, as described in Subsection H, as well as a contact telephone number to obtain a paper copy of the uniform glossary, and a disclosure that paper copies are available.

(2) (a) The SBC must include coverage examples specified by the Secretary in guidance that illustrate benefits provided under the coverage for common benefit scenarios, including pregnancy and serious or chronic medical conditions in accordance with this paragraph. The Secretary may identify up to six (6) coverage examples that may be required in an SBC.

(b) For purposes of this paragraph, a benefit scenario is a hypothetical situation, consisting of a sample treatment plan for a specified medical condition during a specified period of time, based on recognized clinical practice guidelines as defined by the National Guideline Clearinghouse, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality.

Drafting Note: The HHS Secretary of will specify, in guidance, the assumptions, including the relevant items and services and reimbursement information, for each claim in the benefits scenario.

(c) (i) For purposes of this paragraph, to illustrate benefits provided under the coverage for a particular benefits scenario, a carrier simulates claims processing in accordance with guidance issued by the Secretary to generate an estimate of what an individual might expect to pay under the policy or benefit package.

(ii) The illustration of benefits provided will take into account any cost-sharing, excluded benefits and other limitations on coverage as specified by the Secretary in guidance.

(3) (a) In lieu of summarizing coverage for items and services provided outside of the United States, a carrier may provide an Internet address (or similar contact information) for obtaining information about benefits and coverage provided outside the Unites States.

Drafting Note: In Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ s), the federal agencies charged with implementing the ACA provide that expatriate coverage is not subject to the ACA requirements for plan years ending before Dec. 15, 2015, including the requirements to provide an SBC with respect to expatriate coverage during the first year of applicability. States should refer to the Drafting Note at the beginning of this section for additional information regarding this enforcement safe harbor.

(b) In any case, the carrier must provide an SBC in accordance with this section that accurately summarizes benefits and coverage available under the coverage within the United States.

D. (1) A carrier must provide an SBC in the form, and in accordance with the instructions for completing the SBC, that are specified by the Secretary in regulations and applicable guidance.

Drafting Note: States should refer to the Drafting Note at the beginning of this section regarding the safe harbor for plans and issuers provided in the Special Rule in the final Instruction Guides for Group and Individual Coverage (February 2012 Edition) for completing the SBC. As stated in the final Instruction Guides for Group and Individual Coverage (February 2012 Edition), the Special Rule provides: "To the extent a plan's terms that are required to be described in the SBC template cannot reasonably be described in a manner consistent with the template and instructions, the plan or issuer must accurately describe the relevant plan terms while using its best efforts to do so in a manner that is still as consistent with the instructions and template format as reasonably possible. Such situations may occur, for example, if a plan provides a different structure for provider network tiers or drug tiers than is represented in the SBC template and these instructions, if a plan provides different benefits based on facility type (such as hospital inpatient versus non-hospital inpatient), in a case where a plan is denoting the effects of a related health flexible spending arrangement or a health reimbursement arrangement, or if a plan provides different cost sharing based on participation in a wellness program."

(2) The SBC must be provided in a uniform format, use terminology understandable by the average individual covered under the policy, not exceed four (4) double-sided pages in length and not include print smaller than 12-point font.

(3) The carrier must provide the SBC as a stand-alone document.

E. (1) A carrier must provide an SBC in a manner that can reasonably be expected to provide actual notice in paper or electronic form.

Drafting Note: States should refer to the Drafting Note at the beginning of this section regarding the circumstances in which a SBC may be provided electronically consistent with the safe harbor provided by the federal agencies.

(2) A carrier satisfies the requirements of this subsection if the carrier:

(a) Hand-delivers a printed copy of the SBC to the individual or dependent;

(b) Mails a printed copy of the SBC to the mailing address provided to the carrier by the individual or dependent;

(c) Provides the SBC by email after obtaining the individual's or dependent's agreement to receive the SBC or other electronic disclosures by email;

(d) Posts the SBC on the Internet and advises the individual or dependent in paper or electronic form, in a manner compliant with Subparagraphs (a) through (c) of this paragraph, that the SBC is available on the Internet and includes the applicable Internet address; or

(e) Provides the SBC by any other method that can reasonably be expected to provide actual notice.

(3) An SBC may not be provided electronically unless:

(a) The format is reasonably accessible;

(b) The SBC is placed in a location that is prominent and readily accessible;

(c) The SBC is provided in an electronic form which can be electronically retained and printed;

(d) The SBC is consistent with the appearance, content and language requirements of this section; and

(e) The carrier notifies the individual or dependent that the SBC is available in paper form without charge upon request and provides it upon request.

(4) A carrier that provides the content required under Subsection C, as specified in guidance published by the Secretary, to the federal health reform Web portal described in 45 CFR 159.120 will be deemed to satisfy the requirements of Subsection B(4) with respect to a request for summary information about a health insurance product made prior to an application for coverage. However, nothing in this paragraph should be construed as otherwise limiting the carrier's obligations under this section.

F. A health carrier must provide the SBC in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner. For purposes of this section, a carrier is considered to provide the SBC in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner if the thresholds and standards of 45 CFR §147.136(e) are met as applied to the SBC.

G. (1) If a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act makes any material modification, as defined under Section 102 of ERISA, in any terms of the coverage that would affect the content of the SBC, that is not reflected in the most recently provided SBC, and that occurs other than in connection with renewal or reissuance of coverage, the health carrier must provide notice of the modification to an individual covered under a health benefit plan not later than sixty (60) days prior to the date on which the modification will become effective.

(2) The health carrier must provide the notice of modification in a form that is consistent with Subsection E.

H. (1) A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act must make available to applicants, policyholders and covered dependents, the uniform glossary described in Paragraph (2) of this subsection in accordance with the appearance and form and manner requirements of Paragraphs (3) and (4).

(2) The uniform glossary must provide uniform definitions, specified by the Secretary in guidance of the following health-coverage-related terms and medical terms:

(a) Allowed amount; appeal; balance billing; co-insurance; complications of pregnancy; co-payment; deductible; durable medical equipment; emergency medical condition; emergency medical transportation; emergency room care; emergency services; excluded services; grievance; habilitative services; health insurance; home health care; hospice services; hospitalization; hospital out-patient care; in-network co-insurance; in-network co-payment; medically necessary; network; non-preferred provider; out-of-network co-insurance; out-of-network co-payment; out-of-pocket limit; physician services; plan; preauthorization; preferred provider; premium; prescription drug coverage; prescription drugs; primary care physician; primary care provider; provider; reconstructive surgery; rehabilitation services; skilled nursing care; specialist; usual customary and reasonable (UCR); and urgent care;

(b) Such other terms as the Secretary determines are important to define so that individuals may compare and understand the terms of coverage and medical benefits, including any exceptions to those benefits, as specified in guidance.

(3) A carrier must provide the uniform glossary with the appearance specified by the Secretary in guidance to ensure the uniform glossary is presented in a uniform format and uses terminology understandable to the average individual covered under a health insurance policy.

(4) A carrier must make the uniform glossary described in this subsection available upon request, in either paper or electronic form (as requested), within seven (7) business days after receipt of the request.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that consumers may review and obtain the uniform glossary at several websites, including www.healthcare.gov (Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS)), www.cciio.cms.gov (Center for Consumer Information and Insurance Oversight (CCIIO)), and www.dol.gov/ebsa/healthreform (U.S. Department of Labor (DOL), Employee Benefits Security Administration (EBSA)).

Section 18. Certification and Disclosure of Prior Creditable Coverage

Drafting Note: The federal agencies charged with implementing the provisions of the ACA published a final rule (79 FR 30341) in the Federal Register May 27, 2014, amending 45 CFR §148.124 to eliminate the requirement in the individual market to provide certificates of credible coverage and to demonstrate creditable coverage. The language in this section is consistent with the language from the final rule.

A. The federal rules for providing certificates of creditable coverage and demonstrating creditable coverage under 45 CFR §148.124 have been superseded by the prohibition on preexisting condition exclusions in accordance with Section 2704 of the Public Health Service Act.

B. The provisions of this section apply beginning December 31, 2014.

Section 19. Rules Related to Fair Marketing

A. A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to the Act must actively market each of its health benefit plans to individuals in this state, except that for health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage not subject to Section 6 of the Act, a health carrier must offer coverage upon request and is not required to actively market such coverage.

Drafting Note: This regulation requires the active marketing of all individual market health benefit plans offered by a carrier. This requirement is present to prevent targeted marketing by a carrier or producer. Marketing materials should make clear, however, that not all individuals may be eligible for all individual market health benefit plans issued by the carrier. Those materials should also make clear that some individual market health benefit plans may only be available in certain geographic areas and based on certain eligibility criteria (e.g. catastrophic plans).

B. The health carrier shall maintain a toll-free telephone service that answers its telephone calls in a timely manner to provide information to individuals regarding the availability of individual market health benefit plans in this state. The service shall provide information to callers on how to apply for coverage from the carrier. The information may include the names and telephone numbers of producers located geographically proximate to the caller or other information reasonably designed to assist the caller to locate an authorized producer or to otherwise apply for coverage.

Drafting Note: Some states with smaller populations may determine that this provision is not necessary to assure fair marketing of individual market health benefit plans in their state. For those states that determine this provision is necessary, it is imperative that the toll-free number be accessible.

C. The health carrier may not require an individual to join or contribute to an association or group as a condition of being accepted for coverage by the carrier.

D. The health carrier may not require, as a condition to the offer or sale of a health benefit plan to an individual that the individual purchase or qualify for any other insurance product or service.

E. (1) A health carrier must file annually the following information with the commissioner related to individual market health benefit plans issued by the carrier to individuals in this state:

(a) The number of individuals that were issued, or received renewals of, individual market health benefit plans in the previous calendar year (separated as to newly issued plans and renewals);

(b) The number of individual market health benefit plans in force in the state as of December 31 of the previous calendar year;

Drafting Note: Instead of requesting information on the number of individual health benefit plans in force in the state, as provided in Subparagraph (b) above, a state may decide it is more appropriate to request such information by county, three-digit zip code or metropolitan statistical area and non-metropolitan statistical area geographic divisions.

(c) The number of individual market health benefit plans that were voluntarily not renewed by individuals in the previous calendar year; and

(d) The number of individual market health benefit plans that were terminated or not renewed and reasons (other than nonpayment of premium) for the termination or nonrenewal by the carrier in the previous calendar year.

(2) The information described in Paragraph (1) shall be filed no later than March 15 of each year.

F. A health carrier may not create financial incentives or disincentives for producers to sell or to not sell any of its individual market health benefit plans. The commissioner shall have authority to review a carrier's commission structure to ensure no financial incentives or disincentives to sell or to not sell any of its individual market health benefit plans are created by the structure.

G. A health carrier may not employ marketing practices or benefit designs that will have the effect of discouraging enrollment of individuals with significant health needs in health insurance coverage or discriminate based on an individual's race, color, national origin, present or predicted disability, age, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, expected length of life, degree of medical dependency, quality of life or other health conditions.

Drafting Note: States should review their laws and regulations for consistency with the provisions of Subsection G above and, if necessary, revise the language in Subsection G.

Section 20. Rules Related to Quality of Care Reporting

To be completed at a later date.

Section 21. Severability

If any provision of this regulation or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the regulation and the application of its provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Section 22. Effective Date

This regulation shall be effective on [insert date].

INDIVIDUAL MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2014

INDIVIDUAL MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL REGULATION (#26)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

At the 2013 Spring National Meeting, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force began its review of an initial outline for developing the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Regulation as a companion regulation to the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act (#36). The Task Force began discussing an initial draft of the model regulation at the 2013 Summer National Meeting. The draft model regulation incorporates the provisions of various federal regulations implementing the 2014 market reform provisions and other relevant provisions of the federal Affordable Care Act (ACA). The Task Force adopted the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Regulation Nov. 16 at the 2014 Fall National Meeting and presented it to the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee for its consideration. As part of the Task Force's report, the Committee adopted the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Regulation Nov. 17.

Major provisions in the model regulation include:

- Restrictions Relating to Premium Rates (Section 4)
- Single Risk Pool (Section 5)
- Guaranteed Availability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage; Enrollment Periods (Section 6)
- Guaranteed Renewability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage (Section 7)
- Prohibition on Preexisting Condition Exclusions (Section 8)
- Essential Health Benefits Package (Section 10)
- Prescription Drug Benefits (Section 12)
- Cost-Sharing Requirements (Section 14)
- Actuarial Value Calculation for Determining Level of Coverage; Levels of Coverage (Section 15)
- Enrollment in Catastrophic Plans (Section 16)
- Provision of Summary of Benefits and Coverage (Section 17)
- Certification and Disclosure of Prior Creditable Coverage (Section 18)

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force drafted the model regulation. The members of the Task Force at the time of adoption were: Wisconsin, Chair; Utah, Vice Chair; Arizona; California; Colorado; Connecticut; Delaware; Florida; Idaho; Illinois; Indiana; Kansas; Kentucky; Maine; Minnesota; Missouri; Montana; Nebraska; Nevada; New Jersey; N. Marina Islands; Ohio; Oklahoma; Oregon; Pennsylvania; Puerto Rico; South Dakota; Tennessee; Virginia; and West Virginia.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force has a general charge to: coordinate and develop the provision of technical assistance to the states regarding state level implementation issues raised by federal health legislation and regulations. The Task Force also has a specific charge to consider the development of new NAIC model laws and regulations, as well as the revision of existing NAIC model laws and regulations affected by federal legislation and final federal regulations promulgated pursuant to such legislation.

After the enactment of the ACA in March 2010, consistent with its charges, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee directed the Task Force to review and revise existing NAIC models affected by the ACA or, as necessary, develop new NAIC models to assist the states in implementing the ACA. This proposed new NAIC model regulation is consistent with that directive.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc.). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The model regulation was drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held in-person meetings at each of the 2013 and 2014 National Meetings and several open conference calls, during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC website. During these in-person meetings and open conference calls, representatives from various stakeholder groups participated, including consumer representatives, such as the Georgetown University Health Policy Institute, the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities (CBPP), the Consumers Union and Families USA, and the Alzheimer's Foundation of America; industry representatives, such as the America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP), the BlueCross and BlueShield Association (BCBSA), and the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA); and individual consumers.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The model regulation was drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held in-person meetings at each of the 2013 and 2014 National Meetings and several open conference calls, during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC website.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

There was only one significant issue discussed at the end of the drafting process. During the last public comment period, more than 40 comment letters were received concerning an issue related to network plans found in Section 14B. The issue related to a provision in the final federal regulations concerning the application of non-network cost-sharing to the annual limitation on cost-sharing. As provided in 45 CFR §156.130, in the case of a plan using a network of providers, the annual limitation on cost-sharing, as defined in 45 CFR §156.130(a), does not apply to benefits provided out-of-network. Section 14B of the model regulation reflected the federal provision, but included a drafting note alerting state insurance regulators that subject to state or federal law or regulations, nothing prohibits a health carrier from establishing contractual limits on cost-sharing that are lower than the limits provided in the federal regulations or establishing contractual limits on cost-sharing that apply to benefits provided both in-network and out-of-network. A majority of the comment letters received on this issue urged the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to consider revising the model regulation, at a minimum, to provide that the out-of-network cost-sharing that results from an exceptions or appeal process permitting a covered person to obtain covered benefits from an out-of-network provider should apply to the annual cost-sharing limitation.

During its meeting at the 2014 Fall National Meeting, the Task Force discussed the comment letters received on this issue and the suggested revisions to address it. The Task Force voted unanimously to revise Section 14B to permit benefits provided on an appeal or exceptions basis because medically necessary services were not reasonably available within the network to be applied to the annual cost-sharing limitation. The Task Force also voted unanimously to add a sentence to the drafting note specifically alerting the states that federal law does not prevent a state from establishing lower cost-sharing limits or establishing limits that apply to out-of-network benefits.

STANDARDIZED HEALTH CLAIM FORM MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Drafting Note: This regulation is for use by states that have current statutory authority to prescribe a standard claim form for the filing of health care claims. It assumes the authority is broad enough to require compliance by the health care practitioner community. States that do not have this broad authority should delete the requirements that apply to providers.

Section 1. Short Title

This regulation shall be known and may be cited as the Standardized Health Claim Form Regulation.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose and intent of this regulation is to standardize the forms used in the billing and reimbursement of health care, reduce the number of forms utilized, increase efficiency in the reimbursement of health care through standardization and encourage the use of and prescribe a timetable for implementation of electronic data interchange of health care expenses and reimbursement.

Section 3. Definitions

As used in this regulation:

A. "ASC X12N standard format" means the standards for electronic data interchange within the health care industry developed by the Accredited Standards Committee X12N Insurance Subcommittee of the American National Standards Institute.

B. "CDT-1 Codes" means the current dental terminology prescribed by the American Dental Association.

C. "CPT-4 Codes" means the physicians current procedural terminology, fourth edition published by the American Medical Association.

D. "HCFA" means the Health Care Financing Administration of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

E. "HCFA Form 1450" means the health insurance claim form maintained by HCFA for use by institutional care practitioners.

F. "HCFA Form 1500" means the health insurance claim form maintained by HCFA for use by health care practitioners.

G. "HCPCS" means HCFA's Common Procedure Coding System, a coding system which describes products, supplies, procedures and health professional services and includes, the American Medical Association's (AMA's) Physician Current Procedural Terminology, Fourth Edition (CPT-4) codes, alphanumeric codes, and related modifiers. This includes:

(1) "HCPCS Level 1 Codes" which are the AMA's CPT-4 codes and modifiers for professional services and procedures.

(2) "HCPCS Level 2 Codes" which are national alpha-numeric codes and modifiers for health care products and supplies, as well as some codes for professional services not included in the AMA's CPT-4.

(3) "HCPCS Level 3 Codes" which are local alpha-numeric codes and modifiers for items and services not included in HCPCS Level 1 or HCPCS Level 2.

H. "Health care practitioner" means:

(1) An acupuncturist licensed under [insert state statute defining an acupuncturist].

(2) A chiropractor licensed under [insert state statute defining a chiropractor].

(3) A corporation or partnership of health care practitioners defined in this section.

(4) A dentist licensed under [insert state statute defining a dentist].

(5) A nurse licensed under [insert state statute defining each level of nursing (i.e. registered nurse, licensed practical nurse)].

(6) An ophthalmologist licensed under [insert state statute defining an ophthalmologist].

(7) An optometrist licensed under [insert state statute defining an optometrist].

(8) A physician licensed under [insert state statute defining a physician].

(9) A podiatrist licensed under [insert state statute defining a podiatrist].

(10) A psychologist licensed under [insert state statute defining a psychologist].

(11) A speech, physical, respiratory or occupational therapist licensed under [insert state statutes defining speech, physical, respiratory and occupational therapists].

(12) A home health care provider [insert state statute defining home health care providers].

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to consult with the state agency responsible for licensing health care practitioners to be certain all practitioners of health care licensed by the state are included in this section.

I. "ICD-9-CM Codes" means the diagnosis and procedure codes in the International Classification of Diseases, Ninth revision, clinical modifications published by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

J. "Institutional Care Practitioner" means:

(1) A hospice licensed under [insert state statute defining a hospice];

(2) A hospital licensed under [insert state statute defining a hospital]; and

(3) Skilled nursing facility, extended care facility, intermediate care facility, convalescent nursing home, and personal care facility licensed under [insert state statute defining long-term care related facilities].

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to consult with the state agency responsible for licensing institutional care practitioners to be certain all institutional providers of health care licensed by the state are included in this section.

K. "Issuer" means an insurance company, fraternal benefit society, health care service plan, health maintenance organization, and third party administrator, and any other entity reimbursing the costs of health care expenses.

Drafting Note: States that do not regulate third party administrators should delete the reference to them from this section.

L. "J512 Form" means the uniform dental claim form approved by the American Dental Association for use by dentists.

M. "Revenue Codes" means the codes established for use by institutional care practitioners by the National Uniform Billing Committee.

Drafting Note: The U.S. Government Printing Office, 710 North Capitol Street NW, Washington, DC 20401 can supply copies of the following: HCPCS Codes, ICD-9-CM Diagnosis Codes, Volumes 1 & 2, HCFA Form 1450 and instructions, HCFA Form 1500 and instructions. The American Dental Association, 211 East Chicago Ave., Chicago, IL 60611 can supply the CDT-1 Codes and users manual and the J512 Form. The American Medical Association Form Order Department can supply copies of the Physician's Current Procedural Terminology (CPT-4) book.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. Except as otherwise specifically provided, the requirements of this regulation apply to issuers, health care practitioners, and institutional care practitioners.

B. Nothing in this regulation shall prevent an issuer from requesting additional information that is not contained on the forms required under this regulation to determine eligibility of the claim for payment if required under the terms of the policy or certificate issued to the claimant.

C. Nothing in this regulation shall prohibit an issuer, health care practitioner or institutional care practitioner from using alternative forms or procedures for filing claims as are specified in a written contract between the health care practitioner or institutional care practitioner and issuer.

Drafting Note: A contract under Subsection C cannot relieve a health care practitioner, institutional care practitioner or issuer from data reporting requirements under state or federal law or regulation.

Section 5. Requirements for Use of HCFA Form 1500

A. Health care practitioners, other than dentists, shall use the HCFA Form 1500 and instructions provided by HCFA for use of the HCFA Form 1500 when filing claims with issuers for professional services. Health care practitioners that bill patients directly shall provide a properly completed HCFA Form 1500 in addition to any other explanatory information used to bill the patient when requested by the patient.

B. Issuers may only require health care practitioners to use the following coding system for the initial filing of claims for health care services:

(1) HCPCS Codes; and

(2) ICD-9-CM Codes.

C. Issuers may only require health care practitioners to use other explanations with a code or to furnish additional information with the initial submission of a HCFA Form 1500 under the following circumstances:

(1) When the procedure code used describes a treatment or service that is not otherwise classified; or

(2) When the procedure code is followed by the CPT-4 modifier 22, 52 or 99. Health care practitioners may use item 19 of the HCFA Form 1500 to explain multiple modifiers, unless item 19 is used for other purposes in accordance with the instructions for this form.

D. Health care practitioners may use Box 19 of the HCFA Form 1500 to indicate the form is an amended version of a form previously submitted to the issuer by inserting the word "amended" in the space provided.

E. Health care practitioners billing for services based on the amount of time involved shall define on line 19 the time interval in item 24 G of the HCFA Form 1500, if the time interval is not already defined the HCPCS code. If not defined by either HCPCS or in line 19, units will be assumed to be days of treatment.

F. Health care practitioners shall provide the unique physician identification number, as assigned by HCFA, in box 17a and the federal tax identification number or social security number to complete Item 25 of the HCFA Form 1500, as required by the HCFA instructions.

Section 6. Requirements for Use of HCFA Form 1450

A. Institutional care practitioners shall use the HCFA Form 1450 and instructions provided by HCFA for use of the HCFA Form 1450 when filing claims with issuers for health care services. Institutional care providers that bill patients directly shall provide a properly completed HCFA Form 1450 in addition to any other explanation information used to bill the patient when requested by the patient.

B. Issuers may only require institutional care practitioners to use the following coding system for the initial filing of claims for health care services:

(1) ICD-9-CM Codes;

(2) Revenue Codes;

(3) HCPCS Codes; and

(4) The information outlined in Section 5 of this regulation, if the charges include direct service furnished by a health care practitioner, and the direct service are not covered by the instructions for the HCFA form 1450.

C. Hospitals may use the HCFA Form 1500 to supplement a HCFA Form 1450 if necessary in billing patients or their representatives or filing claims with issuers for outpatient services.

Section 7. Requirements for Use of J512 Form

A. Dentists shall use the J512 Form and instructions provided by the American Dental Association CDT-1 for use of the J512 Form for filing claims with issuers for professional services. Dentists that bill patients directly shall provide a properly completed J512 Form in addition to any other form used to bill the patient when requested by the patient.

B. Issuers may not require a dentist to use any code other than the CDT-1 codes for the initial filing of claims for dental care services, unless the use of supplemental codes are defined and permitted in a written contract between the issuer and dentist.

Section 8. General Provisions

A. Health care practitioners and institutional care practitioners shall file claims in a manner consistent with the requirements of this regulation. Claims filed in paper form shall be printed on 8.5 x 11 inch paper.

B. Issuers shall accept forms submitted in compliance with this regulation for the processing of claims.

C. Health care practitioners, institutional care practitioners and issuers shall:

(1) Use and accept the most current editions of the HCFA Form 1500, HCFA Form 1450, or J512 Form and most current instructions for these forms in the billing of patients or their representatives and filing claims with issuers.

(2) Modify their billing and claim reimbursement practices to encompass the coding changes for all billing and claim filing by the effective date of the changes set forth by the developers of the forms, codes and procedures required under this regulation.

Section 9. Mandatory Electronic Format

Issuers that receive claims or send payments by electronic means shall, by [insert date] or the date on which the Health Care Financing Administration requires it of Medicare intermediaries and carriers, whichever is later, accept the ASC X12N standard format for the health care claims submission transaction set (837) and send the ASC X12N health care claim payment transaction set (835).

Section 10. Separability

If any provision of this regulation or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the regulation and the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

HEALTH CARRIER CLAIM AUDIT GUIDELINES MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Health Carrier Claim Audit Guidelines Model Act.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this Act is to provide for the reasonable standardization of statewide claim audit guidelines of health care bills for health care services and their reimbursement by health carriers, preferred provider organizations, third party administrators, or any other health benefit plan to determine whether data in a health care record of an institutional provider is supported by services listed on the claim for payment of an insured or an institutional provider. It is further the purpose of this Act to alleviate the potential conflict of the audit with medical uses of the health record and to reduce the cost of conducting a necessary audit.

Drafting Note: States should consider coordinating with other state agencies and amending other state laws to provide for sanctions against institutional providers that violate provisions of state insurance law.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Ambulatory surgical center" means an establishment with an organized medical staff of physicians, with permanent facilities that are equipped and operated primarily for the purpose of performing surgical procedures, with continuous physician services and registered professional nursing services available whenever a patient is in the center, that does not provide services or other accommodations for patients to stay overnight, and that offers the following services whenever a patient is in the center: drug services as needed for medical operations and procedures performed, provisions for physical and emotional well-being of patients, provision of emergency services, organized administrative structure and administrative, statistical and medical records.

B. "Claim audit" means a process to determine whether data in a claimant's medical record for health care documents health care services listed on a claim for payment submitted to a carrier. Claim audit does not mean a review of the medical necessity of the services provided, or the reasonableness of charges for the services.

C. "Claimant" means an insured or enrollee under a health benefit plan who receives surgical or inpatient care, the costs of which are submitted to a carrier for payment, either by the claimant or by another on the claimant's behalf.

D. "Final claim" means the final itemized bill from an institutional provider detailing all the charges for which the institutional provider is seeking payment.

E. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement entered into, offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

F. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

G. "Health carrier" or "carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a provider-sponsored organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health services.

H. "Institutional provider" means an institution providing health care services in a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals, other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical centers, skilled nursing centers and residential treatment centers.

I. "Medical record" means a compilation of charts, records, reports, documents, and other memoranda maintained by an institutional provider wherever located, to record or indicate the past or present condition, sickness or disease, and treatment rendered, physical or mental, of a patient.

J. "Qualified claim auditor" means a person employed by a corporation or firm that is recognized as competent to perform or coordinate claim audits and that has explicit policies and procedures protecting the confidentiality and disposal of all patient information in its possession.

K. "Underbilled charges" means the volume of services indicated on a claim is less than the volume identified in the institutional provider's medical documentation; also known as undercharges.

L. "Unbilled charges" means charges or services provided for and not billed.

M. "Unsupported charges" or "undocumented charges" means the volume of services indicated on a claim exceeds the total volume identified in the institutional provider's medical documentation; also known as overcharges.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

This Act shall apply to all health carriers. The institutional provider accepting assignment of benefits of an insured shall be responsible for the conduct and results of the claim audit whether conducted by an employee or by contract with another firm. The institutional provider and carrier shall:

A. Exercise proper supervision of the process to ensure that the audit is conducted in accordance with the requirements of this Act;

B. Be aware of the actions being undertaken by the auditor in connection with the claim audit and its related activities; and

C. Take prompt remedial action if inappropriate behavior by the auditor is discovered.

Section 5. Qualifications of Auditors and Institutional Provider Audit Coordinators

A. All persons performing claim audits as well as persons functioning as institutional provider audit coordinators shall have appropriate knowledge, experience, and expertise in health care including, but not limited to, the following areas:

(1) Format and content of the health record as well as other forms of medical and clinical documentation;

(2) Generally accepted auditing principles and practices as they apply to claim audits;

(3) Billing claims forms, including the UB92 and the HCFA 1500, and charging and billing procedures;

(4) All state and federal regulations concerning the use, disclosure and confidentiality of patient records;

(5) Specific critical care units, specialty area, and ancillary units involved in a particular audit; and

(6) Coding, including ICD-9, CPT, HCPCS and medical terminology.

B. Institutional providers or carriers that encounter audit personnel who do not meet these qualifications shall immediately contact the auditor's firm or sponsoring party.

C. Audit personnel shall conduct themselves in a professional manner and adhere to ethical standards and confidentiality requirements, and shall remain objective. They shall completely document their findings and problems.

D. All unsupported, unbilled or underbilled charges identified in the course of an audit shall be documented in the audit report by the auditor.

E. Individual audit personnel shall not be placed in a situation through their remuneration, benefits, contingency fees or other instructions that would call their findings into question. Compensation of audit personnel shall be structured so that it does not create incentives to produce questionable audit findings. Institutional providers or carriers that encounter an individual who appears to have a conflict of interest shall contact the appropriate management of the sponsoring organization.

Section 6. Notification of Audit

A. Carriers and institutional providers shall make every effort to resolve claim inquiries directly. The name, contact telephone number and facsimile number of each carrier or institutional provider representative shall be exchanged no later than at the time of billing for an institutional provider and the point of first inquiry by a carrier.

Drafting Note: Subsection A states that resolution of questionable charges may be resolved telephonically. It often happens that an auditor representing a carrier must travel many miles and incur hotel, plane, and other expenses in order to perform an on-site audit. If the institutional provider is unable to resolve charges at the time of audit, resolution by telephone or fax saves time and money for the carrier and removes the incentive to postpone audit completion for the institutional provider.

B. If a satisfactory resolution of the questions surrounding the bill is not achieved by carrier and institutional provider representatives, then a full audit process may be initiated by the carrier.

C. Claim audits require documentation from or review of a patient's health record and other similar medical or clinical documentation. Health records exist primarily to ensure continuity of care for a patient; therefore, the use of a patient's record for an audit must be secondary to its use in patient care.

D. All carrier claim audits shall begin with a notification to the institutional provider of an intent to audit. Notification to the institutional provider by the qualified claim auditor shall occur within six (6) months following receipt of the final claim for payment by the carrier. Once notified, the institutional provider shall respond to the qualified claim auditor within one month with a schedule for the conduct of the audit. The qualified auditor shall complete the audit within twelve (12) months of receipt of the final claim by the carrier. When there is a substantial and continuing relationship between a carrier and an institutional provider, this relationship may warrant a notification, response and audit schedule other than that outlined in this Act. Each party shall make reasonable provisions to accommodate circumstances in which the schedule specified cannot be met by the other party. The carrier will not request nor accept audits after twelve (12) months from the date of receipt of the final claim.

E. All claim audits shall be conducted on the premises of the institutional provider ("on-site") except in instances where an institutional provider chooses to allow individual, reasonable requests for off-site audits.

F. All requests for claim audits, whether telephonically, electronically or written, shall include the following information:

(1) The basis of the carrier's intent to conduct an audit on a particular bill or group of bills. When the intent is to audit only specific charges or portions of the bills, this information should be included in the notification request;

(2) Name of the patient;

(3) Admit and discharge dates;

(4) Name of the auditor and the name of the audit firm;

(5) Medical record number and institutional provider's patient account number; and

(6) Whom to contact to discuss the request and scheduled audit.

G. Institutional providers that cannot accommodate an audit request that conforms to these guidelines shall explain why the request cannot be met in a reasonable period of time and shall be provided with a reasonable period to reschedule the audit. Auditors shall group audits to increase efficiency whenever possible.

H. It shall be the responsibility of the institutional provider seeking payment of a claim or reimbursement under a managed care contract to notify the auditor prior to the scheduled date of audit, if the auditor will have problems accessing records. As a condition for payment, the institutional provider shall be responsible for supplying the auditor with any information that could affect the efficiency of the audit once the auditor is on-site.

Section 7. Institutional Provider Audit Coordinators

A. Institutional providers shall designate an individual to coordinate all claim audit activities. An audit coordinator shall have the same qualifications as required for an auditor pursuant to Section 5 of this Act. The duties of an audit coordinator include, but are not limited to, the coordination of the following areas:

(1) Scheduling an audit;

(2) Advising other institutional provider personnel and departments of a pending audit;

(3) Ensuring that the condition of admission statement is part of the medical record;

(4) Verifying that the auditor is an authorized representative of the carrier;

(5) Gathering the necessary documents for the audit;

(6) Coordinating auditor requests for information, space in which to conduct an audit, and access to records and institutional provider personnel;

(7) Orienting auditors to hospital/surgery center audit procedures, record documentation conventions, and billing practices;

(8) Acting as a liaison between the auditor and other institutional provider personnel;

(9) Conducting an exit interview with the auditor to answer questions and review audit findings;

(10) Reviewing the auditor's final written report and following up on any charges still in dispute;

(11) Arranging for payment as applicable; and

(12) Arranging for any required adjustment to bills or refunds.

Section 8. Conditions and Scheduling of Audits

A. In order to have a fair, efficient, and effective audit process, institutional providers and carrier auditors shall adhere to the following requirements:

(1) Whatever the original intended purpose of the claim audit, all parties shall agree to recognize, record or present any identified unsupported, unbilled or underbilled charges discovered by the audit parties;

(2) The scheduling of an audit shall not preclude late billing;

(3) The parties involved in the audit shall mutually agree to set and adhere to a predetermined time frame for the resolution of any discrepancies, questions or errors that surface in the audit;

(4) An exit conference and a written report shall be part of each audit; if the institutional provider waives the exit conference, the auditor shall note that action in the written report. The specific content of the final report shall be restricted to those parties involved in the audit;

(5) The institutional provider shall be afforded sixty (60) days to contest all findings, after which the audit shall be considered final;

(6) Once both parties agree to the audit findings, audit results are final;

(7) All personnel involved shall maintain a professional, courteous manner and resolve all misunderstandings amicably; and

(8) At times, the audit will note ongoing problems either with the billing or documentation process. When this situation occurs, and it cannot be corrected as part of the exit process, the management of the institutional provider and carrier shall be contacted to apprise them of the situation. The institutional providers and carriers shall take appropriate steps to resolve the identified problem. Parties to an audit shall eliminate ongoing problems or questions whenever possible as part of the audit process.

Section 9. Confidentiality and Authorizations

A. All parties to a claim audit shall comply with all federal and state laws and any contractual agreements regarding the confidentiality of patient information.

B. The release of medical records requires authorization from the patient. An authorization shall be provided for in the condition of admission or equivalent statement procured by the institutional provider upon admission of the patient. If no such statement is obtained, an authorization for a claim audit is required. The authorization need not be specific to the insurer or auditor conducting the audit.

C. The authorization shall be obtained by the claim audit firm or institutional provider and shall include at least the following information:

(1) The name of the carrier and, if applicable, the name of the audit firm that is to receive the information;

(2) The name of the institution that is to release the information;

(3) The full name, birth date, and address of the patient whose records are to be released;

(4) The extent or nature of the information to be released, with inclusive dates of treatment;

(5) The institutional provider's patient account number if included on the bill; and

(6) The signature of the patient or his legal representative and the date the consent is signed.

D. A patient's assignment of benefits shall include a presumption of authorization to review records.

E. The audit coordinator or medical records representative shall confirm for the audit representative that a condition of admission statement is available for the particular audit that needs scheduling.

F. The institutional provider will inform the requestor, on a timely basis, if there are any federal or state laws prohibiting or restricting review of the medical record and if there are institutional confidentiality policies and procedures affecting the review. These institutional confidentiality policies shall not be specifically oriented in order to delay an external audit.

Section 10. Documentation

A. Verification of charges shall include the investigation of whether or not:

(1) Charges are reported on the bill accurately;

(2) Services are documented in medical or other appropriate records as having been rendered to the patient; and

(3) Services were delivered by the institution in compliance with the physician's plan of treatment. In appropriate situations, professional staff may provide supplies or follow procedures that are in accordance with established institutional policies, procedures, or professional licensure standards. Many procedures include items that are not specifically documented in a record but are referenced in medical or clinical policies. All those policies shall be reviewed, approved, and documented as required by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations or other accreditation agencies. Policies shall be available for review by the auditor.

B. The medical record documents clinical data on diagnoses, treatments and outcomes. It is not designed to be a billing document. A patient medical record generally documents pertinent information related to care. The medical record may not back up each individual charge on the patient bill. Other signed documentation for services provided to the patient may exist within the institutional provider's ancillary departments in the form of department treatment logs, daily records, individual service or order tickets, and other documents.

C. Auditors may have to review a number of other documents to determine valid charges. Auditors must recognize that these sources of information are accepted as reasonable evidence that the services ordered by the physician were actually provided to the patient. Institutional providers must ensure that proper policies and procedures exist to specify what documentation and authorization must be in the health record and in the ancillary records and logs. These procedures document that services have been properly ordered for and delivered to patients. When sources other than the health record are providing documentation, the institutional provider shall notify the auditor and make those sources available to the auditor.

Section 11. Fees and Payments

A. A health carrier shall make prompt payment of a bill and shall not delay payment for an audit process. Payment on a submitted bill from a third-party carrier shall be based on amounts billed and covered by the patient's health benefit plan.

B. (1) A payment of ninety-five percent (95%) of the insurance liability shall be an acceptable amount of payment under Subsection A prior to the scheduling of an audit. Based on ninety-five percent (95%) of payment of the insurance liability by the payer, all hospital audit fees shall be waived.

(2) A payment of less than ninety-five percent (95%) of the insurance liability is appropriate when state regulations, federal regulations or contractual agreements apply.

(3) In no case shall an audit fee exceed $100.

C. Audit fees, if required, are to be paid upon commencement of the on-site claim audit. A payment identified in the audit results that is owed to either party by the other, shall be settled by the audit parties within a reasonable period of time not to exceed thirty (30) days after completion of the audit unless the parties agree otherwise.

D. Photocopying and duplication charges shall not exceed [fifty-cents] per page.

Drafting Note: Parties are entitled to reimbursement of costs for duplication charges. Insert the appropriate monetary amount reflecting the average duplication charges in your state.

Drafting Note: Many carriers have ongoing relationships with institutional providers. If a negative balance exists between the carrier and the institutional provider, that balance may be settled as future claims arise.

HEALTH CARRIER CLAIM AUDIT GUIDELINES MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the [Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act].

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose and intent of this Act is to set out the requirements for guaranteed availability, guaranteed renewability and premium rating in the individual market and provide for the establishment of coverage and other benefit requirements in the individual market.

Drafting Note: The provisions of this Act are consistent with the provisions of the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) Public Law 111-148), as amended by the federal Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-152) (and with Title XXVII of the PHSA as amended by those statutes) and, as applicable, the regulations issued related to provisions of the ACA. However, states should be aware that the federal preemption standards permit states to impose more stringent, consumer protection requirements.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Bona fide association" means an association that meets all of the following criteria:

(1) Serves a single profession that requires a significant amount of education, training or experience, or a license or certificate from a state authority to practice that profession;

(2) Has been actively in existence for five (5) years;

(3) Has a constitution and by-laws or other analogous governing documents;

(4) Has been formed and maintained in good faith for purposes other than obtaining insurance;

(5) Is not owned or controlled by a carrier or affiliated with a carrier;

(6) Does not condition membership in the association on any health status-related factor;

(7) Has at least 1,000 members if it is a national association; 500 members if it is a state association; or 200 members if it is a local association;

(8) All members and dependents of members are eligible for coverage regardless of any health status-related factor;

(9) Does not make a health benefit plan offered through the association available other than in connection with a member of the association;

(10) Is governed by a board of directors and sponsors annual meetings of its members; and

(11) Producers only market association memberships, accept applications for membership, or sign up members in the professional association where the subject individuals are actively engaged in, or directly related to, the profession represented by the association.

Drafting Note: This definition of "bona fide association" is narrower than the definition of "bona fide association" contained in Section 2791(d)(3) of the (PHSA) because of the requirement of Paragraph (1) above that the professional association serve a single profession. Specifically, Section 2791(d)(3) of the PHSA defines "bona fide association," as an association, which: (1) has been actively in existence for at least 5 years; (2) has been formed and maintained in good faith for purposes other than obtaining insurance; (3) does not condition membership in the association on any health status-related factor relating to an individual (including an employee of an employer or a dependent of an employee); (4) makes health insurance coverage offered through the association available to all members regardless of any health status-related factor relating to such members (or individuals eligible for coverage through a member); (5) does not make health insurance offered through the association available other than in connection with a member of the association; and (6) meets such additional requirements as may be imposed under state law. Because the definition of "bona fide association" contained in Section 2791(d)(3) explicitly permits the states to impose additional requirements, the narrower definition of "bona fide association" used in this Act does not conflict with or prevent the application of the federal law. Therefore, the states can elect to adopt either version of this definition.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the term "bona fide association" is used in this Act in connection with providing an exception to the guaranteed renewability requirements in Section 7B(6) of this Act. Section 7B(6) of this Act only permits a health carrier to non-renew health coverage for an individual whose association membership ceases if the association is a "bona fide association" the individual's membership was the basis of which the coverage is provided, and the coverage is terminated uniformly for all individuals leaving the association without regard to any health status-related factor relating to any covered person. Associations that are not "bona fide associations" are not eligible for this exception. The definition of "bona fide association" does not impact how states have chosen to define "associations" for other purposes.

B. "Carrier" or "health carrier" means any entity licensed, or required to be licensed, by the Department of Insurance that offers health benefit plans covering eligible individuals pursuant to this Act. For the purposes of this Act, carrier includes an insurance company, [insert appropriate reference for a prepaid hospital or medical care plan], [insert appropriate reference for a fraternal benefit society], a health maintenance organization, and any other entity providing a plan of health insurance or health benefits subject to state insurance regulation.

C. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "Commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

D. "Converted policy" means a health benefit plan issued pursuant to [insert reference in state law comparable to the Group Health Insurance Mandatory Conversion Privilege Model Act].

E. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" mean those health care services to which an individual is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

F. "Covered person" means a policyholder or enrollee participating in a health benefit plan.

G. "Creditable coverage" means, with respect to an individual, health benefits or coverage provided under any of the following:

(1) A group health plan;

(2) A health benefit plan;

(3) Part A or Part B of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act (Medicare);

(4) Title XIX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid), other than coverage consisting solely of benefits under Section 1928 (the program for distribution of pediatric vaccines);

(5) Chapter 55 of Title 10, United States Code (medical and dental care for members and certain former members of the uniformed services, and for their dependents. For purposes of Title 10, U.S.C. Chapter 55, "uniformed services" means the armed forces and the Commissioned Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and of the Public Health Service);

(6) A medical care program of the Indian Health Service or of a tribal organization;

(7) A state health benefits risk pool;

(8) A health plan offered under Chapter 89 of Title 5, United States Code (Federal Employees Health Benefits Program (FEHBP));

(9) A public health plan, which for purposes of this act, means a plan established or maintained by a state, the United States government or a foreign country or any political subdivision of a state, the United States government or a foreign country that provides health insurance coverage to individuals enrolled in the plan;

(10) A health benefit plan under Section 5(e) of the Peace Corps Act (22 U.S.C. 2504(e)); or

(11) Title XXI of the Social Security Act (State Children's Health Insurance Program).

H. Except as otherwise may be defined for purposes of Section 8 of this Act, "dependent" shall be defined in the same manner as in [insert reference in state law defining dependent].

I. "Employee" has the meaning given such term under Section 3(6) of ERISA.

J. "Enrollee" means an individual who is covered by a health benefit plan providing individual health insurance coverage.

K. (1) "Essential health benefits" has the meaning under Section 1302(b) of the Federal Act and applicable regulations.

(2) "Essential health benefits" include:

(a) Ambulatory patient services,

(b) Emergency services;

(c) Hospitalization;

(d) Laboratory services;

(e) Maternity and newborn care;

(f) Mental health and substance abuse disorder services, including behavioral health treatment;

(g) Pediatric services, including oral and vision care;

(h) Prescription drugs;

(i) Preventive and wellness services and chronic disease management; and

(j) Rehabilitative and habilitative services and devices.

L. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

M. "Family member" means with respect to an individual:

(1) A dependent of the individual; and

(2) Any other individual who is a first-degree, second-degree, third-degree or fourth-degree relative of the individual or an individual described in Paragraph (1).

N. (1) "Federal Act" means the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Public Law 111-148), as amended by the federal Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-152) (ACA), and any amendments thereto, or regulations or guidance issued under, those Acts.

(2) "Federal Act" includes Title XXVII of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA), as amended by the ACA.

O. (1) "Genetic information" means, with respect to any individual, information about:

(a) The individual's genetic tests;

(b) The genetic tests of the individual's family members; and

(c) The manifestation of a disease or disorder in family members of the individual.

(2) "Genetic information" includes, with respect to any individual, any request for, or receipt of, genetic services, or participation in clinical research, which includes genetic services, by the individual or any family member of the individual.

(3) "Genetic information" does not include information about the sex or age of any individual.

P. "Genetic services" means:

(1) A genetic test;

(2) Genetic counseling, including obtaining, interpreting or assessing genetic information; or

(3) Genetic education.

Q. (1) "Genetic test" means an analysis of human DNA, RNA, chromosomes, proteins or metabolites that detects genotypes, mutations or chromosomal changes.

(2) "Genetic test" does not mean:

(a) An analysis of proteins or metabolites that does not detect genotypes, mutations or chromosomal changes; or

(b) An analysis of proteins or metabolites that is directly related to a manifested disease, disorder or pathological condition that could reasonably be detected by a health care professional with appropriate training and expertise in the field of medicine involved.

R. "Geographic rating area" is an area established in accordance with Section 2701(a)(2) of the PHSA, or any federal regulation adopted thereunder, for purposes of adjusting the rates for a health benefit plan.

S. "Grandfathered health plan coverage" means coverage provided by a health carrier in which an individual was enrolled on March 23, 2010, for as long as it maintains that status in accordance with federal regulations, and includes any extension of coverage to individuals who become dependents of grandfathered enrollees after March 23, 2010.

T. "Group health insurance plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to an employer or group of employers to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

U. "Group health plan" has the meaning given such term under Section 2791(a) of the PHSA.

V. (1) "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

Drafting Note: The Federal Act uses the terms "health plan" and "health insurance coverage." "Health benefit plan," as defined above, is intended to be consistent with the definition of "health insurance coverage" contained in Title XXVII of the PHSA, as enacted by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) and amended by the Federal Act.

(2) "Health benefit plan" does not include:

(a) Coverage only for accident, or disability income insurance, or any combination thereof;

(b) Coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance;

(c) Liability insurance, including general liability insurance and automobile liability insurance;

(d) Workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(e) Automobile medical payment insurance;

(f) Credit-only insurance;

(g) Coverage for on-site medical clinics; or

(h) Other similar insurance coverage, specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191, under which benefits for health care services are secondary or incidental to other insurance benefits.

(3) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if they are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance or are otherwise not an integral part of the plan:

(a) Limited scope dental or vision benefits;

(b) Benefits for long-term care, nursing home care, home health care, community-based care, or any combination thereof; or

(c) Other similar, limited benefits specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191.

(4) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if the benefits are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance, there is no coordination between the provision of the benefits and any exclusion of benefits under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor, and the benefits are paid with respect to an event without regard to whether benefits are provided with respect to such an event under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor:

(a) Coverage only for a specified disease or illness; or

(b) Hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity insurance.

(5) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following if offered as a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance:

(a) Medicare supplemental health insurance as defined under Section 1882(g)(1) of the Social Security Act;

(b) Coverage supplemental to the coverage provided under chapter 55 of title 10, United States Code (Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS)); or

(c) Similar supplemental coverage provided to coverage under a group health insurance plan.

W. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not "corporate persons."

X. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or facility.

Y. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a medical condition, illness, injury or disease.

Z. "Health maintenance organization" means a person that undertakes to provide or arrange for the delivery of health care services to covered persons on a prepaid basis, except for a covered person's responsibility for copayments, coinsurance or deductibles.

AA. "Health status-related factor" means any of the following factors:

(1) Health status;

(2) Medical condition, including both physical and mental illnesses;

(3) Claims experience;

(4) Receipt of health care services;

(5) Medical history;

(6) Genetic information;

(7) Evidence of insurability, including conditions arising out of acts of domestic violence and participation in activities such as motorcycling, snowmobiling, all-terrain vehicle riding, horseback riding, skiing and other similar activities;

(8) Disability; or

(9) Any other health status-related factor determined appropriate by the Secretary.

BB. (1) "Individual market health insurance coverage" means health insurance coverage, other than a converted policy, offered to individuals in the individual market, but does not include short-term limited duration insurance.

(2) For purposes of this Act, "student health insurance coverage," as defined in Subsection MM of this Act, shall be considered a type of individual health insurance coverage.

CC. "Individual market" means the market for health insurance coverage offered to individuals other than in connection with a group health plan.

DD. "Network plan" means a health benefit plan issued by a health carrier under which the financing and delivery of health care services, including items and services paid for as medical care, are provided, in whole or in part, through a defined set of providers under contract with the carrier.

EE. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing.

FF. (1) "Preexisting condition exclusion" means, with respect to coverage, a limitation or exclusion of benefits relating to a condition based on the fact that the condition was present before the enrollment date of the coverage, whether or not any medical advice, diagnosis, care or treatment was recommended or received before such date.

(2) Genetic information shall not be treated as a condition under Paragraph (1) for which a preexisting condition exclusion may be imposed in the absence of a diagnosis of the condition related to the information.

GG. "Policyholder" means an individual who has paid premium for himself or herself and his or her dependents, if any, who are also covered under a health benefit plan providing individual health insurance coverage, and is responsible for continued premium payments under the terms of the health benefit plan.

HH. "Premium" means all moneys paid by a policyholder as a condition of receiving individual health insurance coverage from a health carrier, including any fees or other contributions associated with the health benefit plan and includes any portion of premium paid on behalf of a policyholder.

II. "Producer" means [incorporate reference to definition in state law for licensing producers].

Drafting Note: States that have not adopted the NAIC Producer Licensing Model should substitute the term "agent" or "broker" for the term "producer," as appropriate.

JJ. (1) "Rescission" means a cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan that has a retroactive effect.

(2) "Rescission" does not include a cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan if:

(a) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage has only a prospective effect; or

(b) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage is effective retroactively to the extent it is attributable to a failure to timely pay required premiums or contributions towards the cost of coverage.

KK. "Secretary" means the Secretary of the federal Department of Health and Human Services.

LL. "Student administrative health fee" means a fee charged by an institution of higher education on a periodic basis to students of the institution of higher education to offset the cost of providing health care through health clinics regardless of whether the students utilize the health clinics or enroll in student health insurance coverage.

MM. "Student health insurance coverage" means a type of individual health insurance coverage that is provided pursuant to a written agreement between an institution of higher education (as defined in the Higher Education Act of 1965) and a health carrier and provided to students enrolled in that institution of higher education and their dependents, that meets the following:

(1) Does not make health insurance coverage available other than in connection with enrollment as student (or as a dependent of a student) in the institution of higher education;

(2) Does not condition eligibility for health insurance coverage on any health status-related factor related to a student (or a dependent of a student); and

(3) Meets any additional requirement that may be imposed under state law.

Drafting Note: On March 21, 2012, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) published in the Federal Register the final rule on the requirements for student health insurance coverage under the PHSA and the ACA. The final rule applied many, but not all, of the provisions of the PHSA and the ACA to student health insurance coverage. Therefore, it is important that states are aware of which provisions do and do not apply to these plans. Although HHS declined to regulate self-funded student health plans in the final regulation, HHS recognized that states may regulate these plans.

NN. "Underwriting purposes" means:

(1) Rules for, or determination of, eligibility including enrollment and continued eligibility for benefits under the health benefit plan;

(2) The computation of premium or contribution amounts under the health benefit plan; and

(3) Other activities related to the creation, renewal or replacement of a contract of individual health insurance coverage.

OO. "Waiting period" means the period of time that must pass before coverage for a covered person who is otherwise eligible to enroll under the terms of a health benefit plan can become effective.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. Subject to Subsection B, this Act shall apply to health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual health insurance coverage in this state.

B. Except for Sections 7, 8, 10C, 11A(1), 12, 17, 18 and 19 of this Act and to the extent provisions of other sections in this Act were in effect pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191 (HIPAA) and Pub. L. No. 110-233 (GINA) prior to the effective date of the Federal Act, this Act does not apply to any grandfathered health plan coverage.

Drafting Note: Generally, Section 1251 of the ACA exempts coverage from most reforms in Subtitles A and C of Title 1 of the ACA if the coverage was in force as of March 23, 2010, the date on which the ACA was signed into law, and the terms of coverage have not materially changed. This coverage is known as "grandfathered health plan coverage." However, Section 1251 of the ACA specifically applies certain provisions of the ACA from which such coverage would otherwise be exempt. Some of these provisions apply to all grandfathered health plans, while other provisions apply only to grandfathered group health insurance plans. To the extent provisions of the PHSA, ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) do not apply as amended by the ACA to a grandfathered plan, the pre-ACA versions of those provisions will continue to apply. In general, grandfathered plans must also comply with all applicable state laws; the only express preemption provision in the ACA is the prohibition against states including grandfathered plans in the rating pool for non-grandfathered plans. The standards for grandfathered plans, including the requirements for maintaining grandfathered status, are found in the interim final regulations on grandfathered plans (26 CFR 54.9815-1251T, 29 CFR 2590.715-1251 and 45 CFR 147.140), as published in the Federal Register June 17, 2010. In particular, HIPAA portability and nondiscrimination requirements and GINA requirements applicable prior to the effective date of the ACA continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage. The following table lists the new health coverage reforms in part A of title XXVII of the PHSA, as amended by the ACA, which apply to grandfathered health plan coverage:

List of New Health Coverage Reform ACA Provisions That Apply to Grandfathered Health Plan Coverage

PHSA Statutory Provisions	Application to Grandfathered Health Plan Coverage
§ 2704 of the PHSA—Prohibition of preexisting condition exclusion or other discrimination based on health status.	Applicable to grandfathered group health plans and group health insurance coverage. Not applicable to grandfathered individual health insurance coverage.
§ 2708 of the PHSA—Excessive waiting periods.	Applicable to grandfathered group health plan coverage.
§ 2711 of the PHSA—No lifetime or annual limits.	Lifetime limits applicable to grandfathered health plan coverage. Annual limits applicable to grandfathered group health plans and group health insurance coverage; not applicable to grandfathered individual health insurance coverage.
§ 2712 of the PHSA—Prohibition on rescissions.	Applicable to grandfathered health plan coverage.
§ 2715 of the PHSA—Development and utilization of uniform explanation of coverage documents and standardized definitions.	Applicable to grandfathered health plan coverage.
§ 2718 of the PHSA—Bringing down the cost of health care coverage (for insured coverage).	Applicable to insured grandfathered health plan coverage.

Drafting Note: As noted in the drafting note above, some requirements of the PHSA, ERISA and IRC that were applicable prior to the enactment of the ACA continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage. As such, HIPAA portability and nondiscrimination requirements applicable to the individual market and GINA requirements applicable to the individual market prior to the effective date of the ACA continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage. States should be aware that this Act does not include many of these provisions, such as provisions related to crediting previous coverage for purposes of applying a preexisting condition exclusion period with respect to the small group market or provisions related to determining whether an individual can be treated as an "eligible individual" (or HIPAA-eligible) for purposes of qualifying for guaranteed issued coverage without the imposition of any preexisting condition exclusions with respect to the individual market. States will have to consider how they want to address this situation in retaining some provisions that continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage and enacting new provisions consistent with the requirements of the ACA that are applicable to health benefit plans beginning Jan. 1, 2014, in the individual and small group markets.

Section 5. Restrictions Relating to Premium Rates

A. (1) With respect to the premium rates charged by a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage subject to this Act, the carrier shall develop its premium rates based on the following and vary the premium rates with respect to the particular plan or coverage only by:

(a) Whether the plan or coverage covers an individual or family;

(b) Geographic rating area, established in accordance with Section 2701(a)(2) of the PHSA;

(c) Age, except that the rate shall not vary by more than 3 to 1 for adults; and

(d) Tobacco use, except that the rate shall not vary by more than 1.5 to 1.

(2) A premium rate shall not vary with respect to any particular health benefit plan or individual market health insurance coverage by any other factor not described in Paragraph (1).

(3) With respect to family coverage under a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage, the rating variations permitted under Paragraph (1)(c) and (d) shall be applied based on the portion of the premium that is attributable to each family member covered under the plan.

B. The premium charged with respect to any particular health benefit plan or individual market health insurance coverage shall not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium rates may be changed to reflect:

(1) Changes to the family composition of the policyholder;

(2) Changes in geographic rating area of the policyholder, as provided in Subsection A(1)(b);

(3) Changes in tobacco use, as provided in Subsection (A)(1)(d);

(4) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the policyholder; or

(5) Other changes required by federal law or regulations or otherwise expressly permitted by state law.

C. A health carrier shall consider all enrollees in all health benefit plans (other than grandfathered health plan coverage) offered by the carrier in the individual market, including those enrollees who do not enroll in such plans through an exchange, as established under Section 1311 of the Federal Act, to be members of a single risk pool.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that Section 1312(c)(3) of the Federal Act permits a state to merge its individual and small group health insurance markets. States should also be aware that Section 1312(c)(4) of the Federal Act prohibits states from requiring grandfathered health plan coverage to be included in the single risk pool for non-grandfathered health plan coverage.

Drafting Note: If the final ACA Health Insurance Market Reforms and Rate Review regulations determine to exempt student health insurance coverage from certain provisions of the federal regulations, States may wish to modify their requirements accordingly.

D. The Commissioner may establish regulations to implement the provisions of this section and to assure that rating practices used by health carriers are consistent with the purposes of this Act.

E. In connection with the offering for sale of individual market health insurance coverage under this Act, a health carrier shall make a reasonable disclosure, as part of its solicitation and sales materials, of all of the following:

(1) The provisions of the coverage concerning the carrier's right to change premium rates and the factors that may affect changes in premium rates; and

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the requirement that health carriers disclose the information described in Paragraph (1) above is required under Section 2709 of the PHSA. However, States may not require that this information be provided in the summary of benefits and coverage (SBC) required under Section 2715 of the PHSA and the federal regulations implementing that section.

(2) A listing of and descriptive information, including benefits and premiums, about all health benefit plans offered by the carrier that provide individual market health insurance coverage and the availability of the plans for which the individual is qualified.

F. (1) Each health carrier shall maintain at its principal place of business a complete and detailed description of its rating practices, including information and documentation that demonstrate that its rating methods and practices are based upon commonly accepted actuarial assumptions and are in accordance with sound actuarial principles.

(2) Each health carrier shall file with the Commissioner annually on or before March 15, an actuarial certification certifying that the carrier is in compliance with this Act and that the rating methods of the carrier are actuarially sound. The certification shall be in a form and manner, and shall contain such information, as specified by the Commissioner. A copy of the certification shall be retained by the carrier at its principal place of business.

(3) (a) A health carrier shall make the information and documentation described in Paragraph (1) available to the Commissioner upon request.

(b) Except in cases of violations of this Act, the information shall be considered proprietary and trade secret information and shall not be subject to disclosure by the Commissioner to persons outside of the Department of Insurance except as agreed to by the health carrier or as ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, with respect to the information and documentation described in Paragraph (1), certain provisions of the Federal Act or federal regulations or other federal law or state law or regulations may require the Department of Insurance to make public or share with other entities, such as health insurance exchanges or federal agencies.

Section 6. Guaranteed Availability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage

A. Subject to Subsections B-E, each health carrier that offers a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage in this state shall issue any applicable health benefit plan to any eligible individual who applies for the plan and agrees to make the required premium payments and to satisfy the other reasonable provisions of the health benefit plan not inconsistent with this Act.

B. (1) A health carrier described under Subsection A may restrict enrollment in coverage described in Subsection A to open or special enrollment periods.

(2) A health carrier described under Subsection A shall, in accordance with regulations established by the Secretary, establish special enrollment periods for qualifying events and as provided in Section 9B of this Act.

C. (1) Subject to Paragraph (3), a health carrier with respect to coverage offered through a network plan shall not be required to offer coverage under that plan or accept applications for that plan pursuant to Subsection A in the case of the following:

(a) To an individual, when the individual does not live or reside within the carrier's established geographic service area for such network plan; or

Drafting Note: States should be aware that Section 2702 of the PHSA does not expressly provide, for network plans, an exception for guaranteed issue in the individual market for individuals who do not live or reside within the carrier's established geographic service area.

(b) Within the geographic service area for such network plan where the carrier reasonably anticipates, and demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, that it will not have the capacity within its established geographic service area to deliver service adequately to any additional individuals because of its obligations to existing enrollees.

(2) A health carrier that cannot offer coverage pursuant to Paragraph (1)(b) may not offer coverage in the individual market in the applicable geographic service area to new individuals or to any enrollees until the later of 180 days following each such refusal or the date on which the carrier notifies the Commissioner that it has regained capacity to deliver services.

(3) A health carrier shall apply the provisions of this subsection uniformly to all individuals without regard to the claims experience of those individuals and their dependents or any health status-related factor relating to such individuals and their dependents.

D. (1) A health carrier described under Subsection A shall not be required to provide coverage if:

(a) For any period of time the carrier demonstrates, and the Commissioner determines, the carrier does not have the financial reserves necessary to underwrite additional coverage; and

(b) The carrier is applying this subsection uniformly to all individuals in the individual market in this state consistent with applicable state law and without regard to the claims experience of an individual and their dependents or any health status-related factor relating to such individual and their dependents.

(2) A health carrier that denies coverage in accordance with Paragraph (1) may not offer coverage in the individual market in this state for the later of:

(a) A period of 180 days after the date the coverage is denied; or

(b) Until the carrier has demonstrated to the Commissioner that it has sufficient financial reserves to underwrite additional coverage.

Drafting Note: States may apply the provisions of Paragraph (2) on a service-area-specific basis.

E. (1) This section shall not be construed to require a health carrier offering health benefit plans only in connection with group health plans to offer coverage in the individual market.

(2) This section shall not be construed to require that a health carrier offering health benefits plans only through one or more bona fide associations offer coverage in the individual market. However, if the health carrier offers health benefit plan bona fide association coverage in the individual market, the health carrier shall offer such coverage to eligible individuals in the individual market as required under Subsection A and consistent with the provisions of Section 3A of this Act.

Drafting Note: With respect to Paragraph (2), states should be aware that Section 2742(e)(1) of the PHSA, as enacted by HIPAA, provided an exception to guaranteed issue in the individual market for bona fide associations with respect to "eligible individuals" (as that term is defined in Section 2741(b) of the PHSA). With the enactment of the Federal Act and its guaranteed issue requirements under Section 2702 of the PHSA for the individual market, this exception for bona fide associations in Section 2742(e)(1) of the PHSA was effectively eliminated such that, beginning Jan. 1, 2014, bona fide associations that choose to participate in the individual market are subject to the guaranteed issue requirements of Section 2702 of the PHSA.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, the proposed regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) published in the Federal Register, Nov. 26, 2012, and as further described below in the drafting note, state that Section 2702 of the PHSA, as enacted by the ACA, does not include an explicit guaranteed availability exception allowing health carriers to limit the offering of certain plans to members of bona fide associations. As such, it appears, that, under the proposed rules, health carriers must offer plans to all individuals regardless of membership in the bona fide association. Therefore, given this provision in the proposed regulations, states may want to consider not addressing this issue in statute and consider, instead, addressing it by regulation after final regulations are issued on the subject. In addition, those states that may have existing laws on this issue related to bona fide associations may wish to review that language and consider repealing it until final regulations are issued.

F. This section shall not be construed to require that a health carrier offering only student health insurance coverage to otherwise offer coverage in the individual market so long as the carrier is offering student health insurance coverage consistent with the provisions of Section 3MM of this Act.

G. At the time of renewal, a health carrier may modify coverage under a health benefit plan offering individual market health insurance coverage so long as such modification is consistent with state law and effective on a uniform basis among all individuals with the health benefit plan.

Section 7. Guaranteed Renewability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage

A. Except as provided in this section, a health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage in this state subject to this Act shall renew or continue in force the coverage, at the option of the policyholder.

B. A health carrier may not renew or discontinue coverage under a health benefit plan subject to this Act if:

(1) The policyholder has failed to pay premiums or contributions in accordance with the terms of the health benefit plan or the carrier has not received timely premium payments;

(2) The policyholder or the policyholder's representative has performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud or made an intentional misrepresentation of material fact under the terms of coverage;

(3) The carrier elects to cease offering individual market health insurance coverage in this state in accordance with Subsection D and other applicable state law;

(4) In the case of a health carrier that offers coverage through a network plan, the policyholder no longer lives or resides within the carrier's established geographic service area and the carrier would deny enrollment in the plan pursuant to Section 6C(1)(b) of this Act;

(5) The Commissioner:

(a) Finds that the continuation of the coverage would not be in the best interests of the covered persons or would impair the carrier's ability to meet its contractual obligations; and

(b) Assists affected covered persons in finding replacement coverage;

(6) In the case of health benefit plans that are made available in the individual market only through one or more bona fide associations, the membership of a policyholder in the association on the basis of which the coverage is provided ceases, provided the coverage is terminated under this paragraph uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor relating to any covered person;

(7) In the case of health benefit plans that are made available in the individual market as student health insurance coverage, the student policyholder covered under the coverage ceases to be a student at the institution of higher education through which the student health insurance coverage is offered, provided the coverage is terminated under this paragraph uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor related to any covered person; or

(8) The Commissioner finds that the product form is obsolete and is being replaced with comparable coverage and the carrier decides to discontinue offering that particular type of health benefit plan (obsolete product form) in this state's individual market if the carrier:

(a) Provides advance notice of its decision under this paragraph to the Commissioner in each state in which it is licensed;

(b) Provides notice of the decision not to renew coverage at least 180 days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans to:

(i) All affected policyholders; and

(ii) The Commissioner in each state in which an affected policyholder is known to reside, provided the notice sent to the Commissioner under this subparagraph is sent at least three (3) working days prior to the date the notice is sent to the affected policyholders;

(c) Provides notice to each enrollee issued that particular type of health benefit plan (obsolete product form) that the policyholder has the option to purchase all other health benefit plans currently being offered by the carrier in the individual market in this state; and

(d) In exercising this option to discontinue that particular type of health benefit plan (obsolete product form) and in offering the option of coverage pursuant to subparagraph (c) of this paragraph acts uniformly without regard to the claims experience of those covered persons or any other health status-related factor relating to any covered person who may become eligible for coverage.

C. In any case in which a health carrier decides to discontinue offering a particular type of health benefit plan of individual market health insurance coverage, the health carrier may discontinue coverage in accordance with applicable state law only if the carrier:

(1) Provides advance notice of its decision under this subsection to the Commissioner in each state in which it is licensed;

(2) Provides notice of the decision not to renew coverage at least 90 days prior to the nonrenewal of the health benefit plan to:

(a) All affected policyholders; and

(b) The Commissioner in each state in which an affected policyholder is known to reside, provided the notice to the Commissioner under this subparagraph is sent at least three (3) working days prior to the date the notice is sent to the affected policyholders;

(3) Provides notice to each enrollee issued that particular type of health benefit plan that the policyholder has the option to purchase all other health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage currently being offered by the carrier in this state; and

(4) In exercising this option to discontinue that particular type of health benefit plan and in offering the option of coverage pursuant to Paragraph (3) acts uniformly without regard to the claims experience of those policyholders or any health status-related factor relating to any policyholder or dependent of a policyholder or new policyholders and their dependents who may become eligible for coverage.

D. (1) In any case in which a health carrier elects to discontinue offering health insurance coverage under health benefit plans in the individual market, or all markets, in this state, the carrier may discontinue such coverage only in accordance with applicable state law and if:

(a) The carrier provides advance notice of its decision under this paragraph to the Commissioner in each state in which it is licensed; and

(b) Provides notice of the decision not to renew coverage at least 180 days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans to:

(i) All affected policyholders; and

(ii) The Commissioner in each state in which an affected policyholder is known to reside, provided the notice sent to the Commissioner under this subparagraph is sent at least three (3) working days prior to the date the notice is sent to the affected policyholders.

(2) In the case of a discontinuance under Paragraph (1), the health carrier shall be prohibited from writing new business in the market in this state for a period of five (5) years beginning on the date the carrier ceased offering new coverage in this state.

(3) In the case of a discontinuance under Paragraph (1), the health carrier, as determined by the Commissioner, may renew its existing business in the market in this state or may be required to nonrenew all of its existing business in the market in this state.

E. In the case of a health carrier doing business in one established geographic service area of the state, the provisions of this section shall apply only to the carrier's operations in that service area.

Section 8. Extension of Dependent Coverage

A. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage that makes available dependent coverage of children shall make that coverage available for children until attainment of twenty-six (26) years of age.

B. (1) With respect to a child who has not attained twenty-six (26) years of age, a health carrier shall not define dependent for purposes of eligibility for dependent coverage of children other than the terms of a relationship between a child and the policyholder.

(2) (a) A health carrier shall not deny or restrict coverage for a child who has not attained twenty-six (26) years of age based on a factor, such as the presence or absence of the child's financial dependency upon the policyholder or any other person, residency with the policyholder or with any other person, marital status, student status, employment or any combination of those factors.

(b) In addition to Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, a health carrier shall not deny or restrict coverage of a child based on eligibility for other coverage.

C. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require a health carrier to make coverage available for the child of a child receiving dependent coverage, unless the grandparent becomes the legal guardian or adoptive parent of that grandchild.

D. The terms of coverage in a health benefit plan offered by a health carrier providing dependent coverage of children cannot vary based on age except for children who are twenty-six (26) years of age or older.

Drafting Note: For purposes of this section, there is no definition of "dependent". Section 152(f)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code defines "child" as including only sons, daughters, stepchildren, adopted children, including children placed for adoption and foster children. Some states have defined "dependent" similarly, while others have not. In defining "dependent," states should keep in mind that the intent of the ACA is to require the availability of dependent coverage of children until the child reaches age 26 and that coverage cannot be conditioned based on certain dependency factors, such support, residency, student status or marital status.

Section 9. Prohibition of Preexisting Condition Exclusions; Special Enrollment Periods

A. Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall not impose any preexisting condition exclusion with respect to such coverage.

B. (1) A health carrier described in Subsection A that makes coverage available under a health benefit plan with respect to a dependent of an individual shall provide for a dependent special enrollment period described in Paragraph (2) during which the dependent in the case of the birth or adoption (or placement for adoption) of a child or the spouse of the individual, if the spouse is otherwise eligible for coverage, may be enrolled as a dependent of the individual.

(2) The special enrollment period for individuals that meet the provisions of Paragraph (1) shall be a period of not less than thirty (30) days and begins on the later of:

(a) The date dependent coverage is made available; or

(b) The date of the marriage, birth or adoption or placement for adoption described in Paragraph (1).

(3) If an individual seeks to enroll a dependent during the first thirty (30) days of the dependent special enrollment period described under Paragraph (2), the coverage of the dependent shall be effective:

(a) In the case of marriage, not later than the first day of the first month beginning after the date the completed request for enrollment is received;

(b) In the case of a dependent's birth, as of the date of birth; and

(c) In the case of a dependent's adoption or placement for adoption, the date of the adoption or placement for adoption.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, in some cases, individuals having prior group health plan coverage may be eligible for special enrollment in a health benefit plan if the individual was under a COBRA continuation provision and the coverage under such provision was exhausted or the individual was not under a COBRA continuation provision, but the coverage was terminated as a result of a COBRA qualifying event resulting in the loss of eligibility of coverage, including as a result of legal separation, divorce, death, termination of employment or reduction in the number of hours of employment or employer contributions toward such coverage were terminated.

Section 10. Prohibition on Discrimination Based on Health Status; Genetic Testing

Drafting Note: This section is based, in part, on Section 2753 of the PHSA. Section 2753 of PHSA prohibits health discrimination on the basis of genetic information in the individual health insurance market, as provided in GINA. GINA was enacted prior to the ACA and the provisions of Section 2753 were not specifically supplanted by the ACA. GINA included certain provisions, however, that because of ACA provisions related to premium rating restrictions, as reflected in Section 5 of this Act and a prohibition on preexisting condition exclusion periods, as reflected in Section 9 of this Act, are no longer permitted beginning Jan. 1, 2014. Given this, those provisions permitting the use of health status as a rating factor and the imposition of preexisting condition exclusion periods, are not included in this section. In addition, the definition of "underwriting purposes" in Section 3LL of this Act is broad enough to include the application of any preexisting condition exclusion, when those exclusions are permitted. As noted in Section 4 of this Act, states should be aware that those provisions could continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage.

A. A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage in this state shall not establish rules for eligibility, including continuing eligibility, of any individual to enroll under the terms of coverage based on any health status-related factor in relation to the individual or dependent of the individual.

B. (1) A health carrier described in Subsection A shall not require any individual as a condition of enrollment or continued enrollment under a health benefit plan to pay a premium or contribution that is greater than such premium or contribution for a similarly situated individual enrolled in the plan on the bases of any health status-related factor in relation to the individual or to an individual enrolled under the plan as a dependent of the individual.

(2) Nothing in Paragraph (1) may be construed to restrict the amount that an individual may be charged for individual market health insurance coverage.

Drafting Note: Section 2705(1) of the PHSA authorizes the Secretary to establish a 10-state demonstration project under which participating states shall apply the provisions of Section 2705(j) of the PHSA to programs of health promotion offered by a health carrier that offers health insurance coverage in the individual market in such state. If a state chooses to participate in the demonstration project, then it should revise Paragraph (2) above as follows:

(2) Nothing in Paragraph (1) may be construed to:

(a) Restrict the amount that an individual may be charged for coverage under the plan; or

(b) Prevent the health carrier from establishing premium discounts or rebates or modifying otherwise applicable copayment amounts or deductibles in return for adherence to programs of health promotion and disease prevention, as provided in Section 2705(l) of the PHSA.

C. A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage in this state shall not establish rules for the eligibility, including continued eligibility, of any individual to enroll for coverage under an individual health benefit plan based on genetic information.

D. A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall not adjust premium or contribution amounts for an individual on the basis of genetic information concerning the individual or a family member of the individual.

E. A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall not on the basis of genetic information impose any preexisting condition exclusion with respect to coverage under the plan.

F. (1) A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall not request or require an individual or a family member of an individual to undergo a genetic test.

(2) Paragraph (1) shall not be construed to limit the authority of a health care professional who is providing health care services to an individual to request that the individual undergo a genetic test.

(3) (a) Nothing in Paragraph (1) shall be construed to preclude the health carrier from obtaining and using the results of a genetic test in making a determination regarding payment (as that term is defined for purposes of applying the regulations promulgated by the Secretary under part C of title XI of the Social Security Act and Section 264 of HIPAA, as may be revised from time to time) consistent with Subsections C and E.

(b) For purposes of Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the health carrier may request only the minimum amount of information necessary to accomplish the intended purpose.

(4) Notwithstanding Paragraph (1), the health carrier may request, but not require, that an individual or a family member of the individual undergo a genetic test if each of the following conditions is met:

(a) The request is made pursuant to research that complies with part 46 of title 45, Code of Federal Regulations or equivalent federal regulations and any applicable state or local law or regulations for the protection of human subjects in research;

(b) The carrier clearly indicates to each individual, or in the case of a minor child, to the legal guardian of the child, to whom the request is made that:

(i) Compliance with the request is voluntary; and

(ii) Noncompliance will have no effect on enrollment status or premium or contribution amounts;

(c) No genetic information collected or acquired under this paragraph shall be used for underwriting purposes;

(d) The carrier notifies the Secretary in writing that the carrier is conducting activities pursuant to the exception provided in this paragraph, including a description of the activities conducted; and

(e) The carrier complies with such other conditions as the Secretary may by regulation require for activities conducted under this paragraph.

G. (1) A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall not request, require or purchase genetic information for underwriting purposes.

(2) A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall not request, require or purchase genetic information with respect to any individual prior to the individual's enrollment under the plan in connection with such enrollment.

(3) If the health carrier obtains genetic information incidental to the requesting, requiring or purchasing of other information concerning any individual, such request, requirement or purchase shall not be considered a violation of Paragraph (2) if such request, requirement or purchase is not in violation of Paragraph (1).

H. Any reference in this section to genetic information concerning an individual or family member of an individual shall:

(1) With respect to the individual or family member of an individual who is a pregnant woman, include genetic information of any fetus carried by the pregnant woman; and

(2) With respect to an individual or family member utilizing an assisted reproductive technology, include genetic information of any embryo legally held by the individual or family member.

Section 11. Prohibition on Lifetime and Annual Limits

A. (1) Except as provided in Subsection B, health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall not establish a lifetime limit on the dollar amount of essential health benefits for any individual.

(2) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph and Subsections B and C, a health carrier shall not establish any annual limit on the dollar amount of essential health benefits for any individual.

(b) A health flexible spending arrangement (FSA), as defined in Section 106(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code, a medical savings account (MSA), as defined in Section 220 of the Internal Revenue Code, and a health savings account (HSA), as defined in Section 223 of the Internal Revenue Code are not subject to the requirements of Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

B. The provisions of Subsection A shall not prevent a health carrier from placing annual or lifetime dollar limits for any individual on specific covered benefits that are not essential health benefits to the extent that such limits are otherwise permitted under applicable federal or state law.

C. Nothing in this section prohibits a health carrier from excluding all benefits for a given condition, as otherwise permitted under federal or state law.

Section 12. Prohibition on Rescissions of Coverage

A. (1) A health carrier shall not rescind coverage under a health benefit plan with respect to an individual, including family coverage in which the individual is included, after the individual is covered under the plan, unless:

(a) The individual or a person seeking coverage on behalf of the individual, performs an act, practice or omission that constitutes fraud; or

(b) The individual makes an intentional misrepresentation of material fact, as prohibited by the terms of the plan or coverage.

(2) For purposes of Paragraph (1)(a), a person seeking coverage on behalf of an individual does not include a producer or employee or authorized representative of the health carrier.

B. A health carrier shall provide at least thirty (30) days advance written notice to each individual who would be affected by the proposed rescission of coverage before coverage under the plan may be rescinded in accordance with Subsection A regardless of whether the rescission applies to the entire group in the case of family coverage or only to the policyholder.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that Sections 9 and 10 of the NAIC Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act include language describing what should be included in an advance notice of a rescission that is considered an adverse determination.

C. The provisions of this section apply regardless of any applicable contestability period.

Section 13. Comprehensive Health Insurance Coverage Requirements

A. (1) Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall ensure that such coverage includes the essential health benefits package required under Section 1302(a) of the Federal Act, as described in Paragraph (2) of this subsection.

(2) For purposes of this subsection, "essential health benefits package" means coverage that:

(a) Provides for the essential health benefits, as defined in section 3K of this Act;

(b) Limits cost-sharing for such coverage in accordance with section 1302(c) of the Federal Act, as described in Subsection B; and

(c) Subject to Subsection C, provides bronze, silver, gold or platinum level of coverage described in Section 1302(d) of the Federal Act as follows:

(i) Bronze level. A health benefit plan in the bronze level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 60% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan;

(ii) Silver level. A health benefit plan in the silver level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 70% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan;

(iii) Gold level. A health benefit plan in the gold level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 80% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan; and

(iv) Platinum level. A health benefit plan in the platinum level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 90% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan.

B. If a health carrier offers health insurance coverage in any level of coverage specified under Section 1302(d) of the Federal Act, as described in Subsection A(2)(c) above, the carrier shall also offer such coverage in that level as a health benefit plan in which the only enrollees are individuals who, as of the beginning of a policy year, have not attained the age of 21 years.

C. A health benefit plan not providing a bronze, silver, gold or platinum level of coverage, as described in Subsection A(2)(c) above, shall be treated as meeting the requirements of Section 1302(d) of the Federal Act with respect to any policy year if it provides a catastrophic plan that meets the requirements of Section 1302(e) of the Federal Act.

D. This section shall not apply to a dental plan described in Section 1311(d)(2)(B)(ii) of the Federal Act.

Section 14. Coverage of Preventive Health Services

A. (1) A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall provide coverage for all of the following items and services, and shall not impose any cost-sharing requirements, such as a copayment, coinsurance or deductible, with respect to the following items and services:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in Subsection B, evidence-based items or services that have in effect a rating of A or B in the current recommendations of the United States Preventive Services Task Force with respect to the individual involved;

Drafting Note: The items and services referenced in subparagraph (a) above can be found at this link: http://www.healthcare.gov/news/factsheets/2010/07/preventive-services-list.html. States should be aware that these items and services could change over time.

(b) Immunizations for routine use in children, adolescents and adults that have in effect a recommendation from the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention with respect to the individual involved. For purposes of this paragraph, a recommendation from the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is considered in effect after it has been adopted by the Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and a recommendation is considered to be for routine use if it is listed on the Immunization Schedules of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention;

Drafting Note: The recommended immunizations for children, adolescents and adults referenced in Subparagraph (b) above can be found at this link: http://www.healthcare.gov/news/factsheets/2010/07/preventive-services-list.html.

(c) With respect to infants, children and adolescents, evidence-informed preventive care, and screenings provided for in comprehensive guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration; and Drafting Note: The comprehensive guidelines referenced in Subparagraph (c) above can be found at this link: http://www.healthcare.gov/news/factsheets/2010/07/preventive-services-list.html.

(d) With respect to women, to the extent not described in Paragraph (1), evidence-informed preventive care and screenings provided for in comprehensive guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration.

Drafting Note: The comprehensive guidelines referenced in Subparagraph (d) above can be found at this link: http://www.hrsa.gov/womensguidelines.

(2) (a) (i) A health carrier is not required to provide coverage for any items or services specified in any recommendation or guideline described in Paragraph (1) after the recommendation or guideline is no longer described in Paragraph (1).

(ii) Other provisions of state or federal law may apply in connection with a health carrier's ceasing to provide coverage for any such items or services including Section 2715(d)(4) of the Public Health Service Act, which requires a health carrier to give sixty (60) days advance notice to an enrollee before any material modification will become effective.

(b) For purposes of Paragraph (1) and for purpose of any other provision of law, the United States Preventive Services Task Force recommendations regarding breast cancer screening, mammography and prevention issued in or around November 2009 are not considered to be current.

(c) A health carrier shall, for policy years that begin on or after the date that is one year after the recommendation or guideline is issued, revise the preventive services covered under its health benefit plans pursuant to this section consistent with the recommendations of the United States Preventive Services Task Force, the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the guidelines with respect to infants, children, adolescents and women evidence-based preventive care and screenings by the Health Resources and Services Administration in effect at the time.

Drafting Note: This website: http://www.HealthCare.gov/center/regulations/prevention.html is provided in the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register July 19, 2010, which health carriers can visit once a year to find information necessary to determine any additional items or services that must be covered without cost-sharing requirements or to determine any items or services that are no longer required to be covered.

B. (1) A health carrier may impose cost-sharing requirements with respect to an office visit if an item or service described in Subsection A is billed separately or is tracked as individual encounter data separately from the office visit.

(2) A health carrier shall not impose cost-sharing requirements with respect to an office visit if an item or service described in Subsection A is not billed separately or is not tracked as individual encounter data separately from the office visit and the primary purpose of the office visit is the delivery of the item or service.

(3) A health carrier may impose cost-sharing requirements with respect to an office visit if an item or service described in Subsection A is not billed separately or is not tracked as individual encounter data separately from the office visit and the primary purpose of the office visit is not the delivery of the item or service.

(4) Notwithstanding the requirements of this section, student administrative health fees are not considered cost-sharing requirements with respect to specified recommended preventive services.

C. (1) Nothing in this section requires a health carrier that has a network of providers to provide benefits for items and services described in Subsection A that are delivered by an out-of-network provider.

(2) Nothing in Subsection A precludes a health carrier that has a network of providers from imposing cost-sharing requirements for items or services described in Subsection A that are delivered by an out-of-network provider.

D. Nothing prevents a health carrier from using reasonable medical management techniques to determine the frequency, method, treatment or setting for an item or service described in Subsection A to the extent not specified in the recommendation or guideline.

E. Nothing in this section prohibits a health carrier from providing coverage for items and services in addition to those recommended by the United States Preventive Services Task Force or the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, or provided by guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration, or from denying coverage for items and services that are not recommended by that task force or that advisory committee, or under those guidelines. A health carrier may impose cost-sharing requirements for a treatment not described in Subsection A even if the treatment results from an item or service described in Subsection A.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, under Section 2713(c) of the PHSA, the Secretary is given the discretionary authority to develop guidelines that would permit health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage to utilize value-based insurance designs. If the Secretary develops such guidelines, the language in this section may have to be revised.

Section 15. Coverage for Participation in Approved Clinical Trials

A. As used in this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Approved clinical trial" means a phase I, a phase II, a phase III or a phase IV clinical trial that is conducted in relation to the prevention, detection or treatment of cancer or a life-threatening condition and is not designed exclusively to test toxicity or disease pathophysiology and the trial must be:

(a) Conducted under an investigational new drug application reviewed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA);

(b) Exempt from obtaining an investigational new drug application; or

(c) Approved or funded by:

(i) The National Institutes of Health, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention; the Agency for Health Care Research and Quality, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services or a cooperative group or center of any of the entities described in this item;

(ii) A cooperative group or center of the U.S. Department of Defense or the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs;

(iii) A qualified nongovernmental research entity identified in the guidelines issued by the National Institutes of Health for center support grants; or

(iv) The U.S. Departments of Veterans Affairs, Defense or Energy if the trial has been reviewed or approved through a system of peer review determined by the Secretary to:

(I) Be comparable to the system of peer review of studies and investigations used by the National Institutes of Health; and

(II) Provide an unbiased scientific review by qualified individuals who have no interest in the outcome of the review.

(2) "Life-threatening condition" means a disease or condition from which the likelihood of death is probable unless the course of the disease or condition is interrupted.

(3) "Qualified individual" means an individual with individual market health insurance coverage who is eligible to participate in an approved clinical trial according to the trial protocol for the treatment of cancer or a life threatening condition because:

(a) The referring health care professional is participating in the trial and has concluded that the individual's participation in the trial would be appropriate; or

(b) The individual provides medical and scientific information establishing that the individual's participation in the trial is appropriate because the individual meets the conditions described in the trial protocol.

(4) (a) "Routine patient costs" include all items and services covered by the health benefit plan of individual market health insurance coverage when the items or services are typically covered for an enrollee who is not a qualified individual enrolled in an approved clinical trial.

(b) "Routine patient costs" do not include:

(i) An investigational item, device or service that is part of the trial;

(ii) An item or service provided solely to satisfy data collection and analysis needs for the trial if the item or services is not used in the direct clinical management of the patient;

(iii) A service that is clearly inconsistent with widely accepted and established standards of care for the individual's diagnosis; or

(iv) An item or service customarily provided and paid for by the sponsor of a trial.

B. A health carrier that offers a health benefit plan providing individual market health insurance coverage in this state may not:

(1) Deny participation by a qualified individual in an approved clinical trial;

(2) Deny, limit or impose additional conditions on the coverage of routine patient costs for items or services furnished in connection with participation in the trial; or

(3) Discriminate against an individual on the basis of the individual's participation in an approved clinical trial.

C. A network plan may require a qualified individual who wishes to participate in an approved clinical trial to participate in a trial that is offered through a health care provider who is part of the network plan if the provider is participating in the trial and the provider accepts the individual as a participant in the trial.

D. This section applies to a qualified individual residing in this state who participates in an approved clinical trial that is conducted outside of this state.

E. This section shall not be construed to require a health carrier offering individual market health insurance coverage through a network plan to provide benefits for routine patient costs if the services are provided outside of the plan's network unless the out-of-network benefits are otherwise provided under the coverage.

F. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit a health carrier's coverage with respect to clinical trials.

Section 16. Choice of Health Care Professional; Access to Pediatric and Obstetrical and Gynecological Care Requirements

A. (1) (a) If a health carrier offering individual market health insurance coverage under a health benefit plan requires or provides for the designation by a covered person of a participating primary health care professional, the health carrier shall permit each covered person to:

(i) Designate any participating primary care health care professional who is available to accept the covered person; and

(ii) For a child, designate any participating physician who specializes in pediatrics as the child's primary care health care professional and is available to accept the child.

(b) The provisions of Subparagraph (a)(ii) shall not be construed to waive any exclusions of coverage under the terms and conditions of the health benefit plan with respect to coverage of pediatric care.

(2) (a) If a health carrier provides coverage for obstetrical or gynecological care and requires the designation by a covered person of a participating primary care health care professional, the health carrier:

(i) Shall not require any covered person's, including a primary care health care professional's authorization or referral in the case of a female covered person who seeks coverage for obstetrical or gynecological care provided by a participating health care professional who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology; and

(ii) Shall treat the provision of obstetrical and gynecological care, and the ordering of related obstetrical and gynecological items and services, pursuant to item (i), by a participating health care professional who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology as the authorization of the primary care health care professional.

(b) (i) The health carrier may require the health care professional to agree to otherwise adhere to the health carrier's policies and procedures, including procedures for obtaining prior authorization and provider services in accordance with a treatment plan, if any, approved by the health carrier.

(ii) For purposes of item (i), a health care professional, who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology, means any individual, including an individual other than a physician, who is authorized under state law to provide obstetrical or gynecological care.

(c) The provisions of Subparagraph (b)(i) shall not be construed to:

(i) Waive any exclusions of coverage under the terms and conditions of the health benefit plan with respect to coverage of obstetrical or gynecological care; or

(ii) Preclude the health carrier involved from requiring that the participating health care professional providing obstetrical or gynecological care notify the primary care health care professional or the health carrier of treatment decisions.

B. (1) A health carrier shall provide notice to covered persons of the terms and conditions of the health benefit plan related to the designation of a participating health care professional provided in Subsection A and of a covered person's rights with respect to those provisions.

(2) The notice described in Paragraph (1) shall be included whenever the health carrier provides a policyholder with a summary plan description or other similar description of benefits under the health benefit plan.

Section 17. Provision of Summary of Benefits and Coverage Explanation

A. Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall provide a summary of benefits and coverage explanation pursuant to the standards adopted by the Secretary under Section 2715(a) of the PHSA to:

(1) An applicant at the time of application;

(2) An enrollee prior to the time of enrollment or reenrollment, as applicable; and

(3) A policyholder at the time of issuance of the policy.

B. A health carrier described in Subsection A shall be deemed to have complied with Subsection A if the summary of benefits and coverage described in Section 2715(a) of the PHSA is provided in paper or electronic form, in accordance with the standards adopted by the Secretary under Section 2715(d) of the PHSA.

C. Except in connection with a policy renewal or reissuance, if a health carrier makes any material modifications in any of the terms of the coverage, as defined for purposes of Section 102 of ERISA, that is not reflected in the most recently provided summary of benefits and coverage, the carrier shall provide notice of the modification to covered persons not later than sixty (60) days prior to the date on which the modification will become effective.

Drafting Note: Under Section 2715(f) of the PHSA, a health carrier that willfully fails to provide the information required under Section 2715 of the PHSA is subject to a federal civil penalty of not more than $1,000 for each such failure. In addition, Section 2715(f) of the PHSA provides that such failure with respect to each covered person shall constitute a separate offense.

Drafting Note: The language of this section reflects the provisions of Section 2715 of the PHSA. Regulations issued by the Secretary related to Section 2715 of the PHSA provide more specific information and requirements not reflected in this section. The NAIC, through the work of the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force, anticipates developing a model regulation as a companion to this Act, which will reflect the more specific information and requirements provided in the federal regulation.

Section 18. Certification of Creditable Coverage

A. Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage shall provide written certification of creditable coverage to individuals in accordance with Subsection B.

B. The certification of creditable coverage shall be provided:

(1) At the time an individual ceases to be covered under the health benefit plan; and

(2) At the time a request is made on behalf of an individual if the request is made not later than twenty-four (24) months after the date of cessation of coverage described in Subparagraph (a) or (b), whichever is later.

C. The certification described in this subsection is a written certification of:

(1) The period of creditable coverage of the individual under the health benefit plan; and

(2) The waiting period, if any, and affiliation period, if applicable, imposed on the individual for any coverage under the health benefit plan.

Drafting Note: Federal regulations issued pursuant to Section 2704(e) of the PHSA include additional information that must be included in a certificate of creditable coverage. The NAIC, through the work of the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force, anticipates developing a model regulation as a companion to this Act, which will reflect the more specific information and requirements provided in the federal regulation.

Section 19. Standards to Assure Fair Marketing

A. Subject to Section 6A of this Act, each health carrier providing individual market health insurance coverage shall actively market all health benefit plans sold by the carrier to eligible individuals in this state.

B. (1) Except as provided in Paragraph (2), a health carrier or a producer shall not, directly or indirectly, engage in the following activities:

(a) Encourage or direct individuals to refrain from filing an application for coverage with the carrier because of any health status-related factor or because of the industry, occupation or geographic location of the individual;

(b) Encourage or direct individuals to seek coverage from another carrier because of any health status-related factor or because of the industry, occupation or geographic location of the individual.

(2) The provisions of Paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to information provided by a health carrier or producer to an individual regarding the established geographic service area or a restricted network provision of a health carrier.

C. (1) Except as provided in Paragraph (2), a health carrier shall not, directly or indirectly, enter into any contract, agreement or arrangement with a producer that provides for or results in the compensation paid to a producer for the sale of a health benefit plan to be varied because of any initial or renewal health status-related factor, industry, occupation or geographic location of the individual or the individual's dependents.

(2) Paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to a compensation arrangement that provides compensation to a producer that does not vary because of any health status-related factor, industry, occupation or geographic area of the individual or the individual's dependents.

D. A health carrier shall not terminate, fail to renew or limit its contract or agreement of representation with a producer for any reason related to any initial or renewal health status-related factor, occupation or geographic location of any individual or the individual's dependents placed by the producer with the carrier.

E. Denial by a health carrier of an application for coverage from an individual shall be in writing or electronically provided and shall state the reason or reasons for the denial. Nothing in this subsection allows any denial by a health carrier that is not in compliance with Sections 6 and 7 of this Act.

F. The Commissioner may establish regulations setting forth additional standards to provide for the fair marketing and broad availability of health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage to individuals in this state.

G. (1) A violation of this section by a health carrier or a producer shall be an unfair trade practice under [insert appropriate reference to state law corresponding to Section 4 of the NAIC Unfair Trade Practices Act].

(2) If a health carrier enters into a contract, agreement or other arrangement with a third-party administrator to provide administrative, marketing or other services related to the offering of health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage in this state, the third-party administrator shall be subject to this section as if it were a health carrier.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the provisions of Section 19 of this Act are subject to change depending on whether federal regulations or guidance are issued on the topic.

Section 20. Quality of Care Reporting Requirements

A. (1) Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing individual market health insurance coverage in this state shall annually submit to the Secretary and the commissioner in each state the carrier is licensed and to policyholders under the coverage, a report on whether the benefits under the coverage satisfy the elements described in Subsection B.

(2) The report required under Paragraph (1) shall be made available to each policyholder under the coverage during each open enrollment period.

B. (1) For purposes of Subsection A, using the reporting requirements developed by the Secretary, a health carrier shall report on coverage benefits and health care provider reimbursement structures that:

(a) Improve health outcomes through the implementation of activities such as quality reporting, effective case management, care coordination, chronic disease management, and medication and care compliance initiatives, including through the use of the medical homes model, as defined for purposes of Section 3602 of the Federal Act, for treatment or services under the coverage;

(b) Implement activities that prevent hospital readmissions through a comprehensive program for hospital discharge that includes patient-centered education and counseling, comprehensive discharge planning and post discharge reinforcement by an appropriate health care professional;

(c) Implement activities to improve patient safety and reduce medical errors through the appropriate use of best clinical practices, evidence based medicine and health information technology under the coverage; and

(d) Implement wellness and health promotion activities.

(2) For purposes of Paragraph (1)(d), wellness and health promotion activities may include personalized wellness and prevention services, which are coordinated, maintained or delivered by a health care provider, a wellness and prevention plan manager or a health, wellness or prevention services organization that conducts health risk assessments or offers ongoing face-to-face, telephonic or web-based intervention efforts for each of the program's participants, and which may include the following wellness and prevention efforts:

(a) Smoking cessation;

(b) Weight management;

(c) Stress management;

(d) Physical fitness;

(e) Nutrition;

(f) Heart disease prevention;

(g) Healthy lifestyle support; and

(h) Diabetes prevention.

Section 21. Risk Adjustment Mechanism

The Commissioner may establish an assessment and payment mechanism for health carriers providing individual market health insurance coverage to adjust for actuarial risk that is consistent with the criteria and methods developed by the Secretary in accordance with Section 1343(b) of the Federal Act.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, in guidance issued by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), HHS indicated that it would operate the risk adjustment program in those states that do not establish a State-based Exchange (SBE).

Section 22. Regulations

The Commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 23. Severability

If any provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the Act and the application of its provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Section 24. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective on [insert date].

INDIVIDUAL MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

INDIVIDUAL MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2013

INDIVIDUAL MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL ACT (#36)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

At the 2011 Spring National Meeting, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force discussed a work plan to develop one or more new NAIC models that would incorporate the 2014 market reforms under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) and its Sept. 23, 2010 immediate reform provisions. At the 2012 Spring National Meeting, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force decided to develop two new NAIC model acts: one for the non-group market and the second for the small group market. The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force adopted the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act Nov. 29 at the 2012 Fall National Meeting and presented it to the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee for its consideration. As part of the Task Force's report, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopted the Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act on Nov. 30.

Major provisions in the model act include:

Provisions reflecting the ACA's 2014 market reforms:

- Restrictions Relating to Premium Rates (Section 5)
- Guaranteed Availability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage (Section 6)
- Guaranteed Renewability of Individual Market Health Insurance Coverage (Section 7)
- Prohibition of Preexisting Condition Exclusions (Section 9)
- Comprehensive Health Insurance Coverage Requirements (Section 13)
- Coverage for Participation in Approved Clinical Trials (Section 15)
- Provision of Summary of Benefits and Coverage Explanation (Section 17)
- Quality of Care Reporting Requirements (Section 20)

Provisions using the model language template language from the ACA's Sept. 23, 2010 immediate reform provisions:

- Extension of Dependent Coverage (Section 8)
- Prohibition on Lifetime and Annual Limits (Section 11)
- Prohibition on Rescissions of Coverage (Section 12)
- Coverage of Preventive Health Services (Section 14)
- Choice of Health Care Professional; Access to Pediatric and Obstetrical and Gynecological Care Requirements (Section 16)

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force drafted the model language. The members of the Task Force are: South Dakota, Chair, Idaho, Vice Chair, California, Colorado, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Regulatory Framework Task Force has a general charge to: coordinate and develop the provision of technical assistance to the states regarding state level implementation issues raised by federal health legislation and regulations. The Task Force also has a specific charge to consider the development of new NAIC model laws and regulations and the revision of existing NAIC model laws and regulations affected by federal legislation and final federal regulations promulgated pursuant to such legislation.

After the enactment of the ACA in March 2010, consistent with its charges, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee directed the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to review and revise existing NAIC models impacted by the ACA or, as necessary, develop new NAIC models to assist the states in implementing the ACA. This proposed new NAIC model act is consistent with that directive.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The model act was drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held in-person meetings at each of the 2012 National Meetings and at a June 26, 2012 interim meeting during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. The drafts and comments received on the drafts were also discussed during open conference calls held on Sept. 19, Oct. 24 and Nov. 19, 2012. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website. During these in-person meetings and open conference calls representatives from various stakeholder groups participated, including consumer representatives, such as Georgetown University Health Policy Institute, Consumers for Affordable Health Care, Center on Budget and Policy Priorities (CBPP), Consumers Union and Families USA; and industry representatives, such as America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP), BlueCross and BlueShield Association (BCBSA), WellPoint and Golden Rule.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The model act was drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held in-person meetings at each of the 2012 National Meetings and at a June 26, 2012 interim meeting during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. The drafts and comments received on the drafts were also discussed during open conference calls held on Sept. 19, Oct. 24 and Nov. 19, 2012. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

There were two significant issues of controversy discussed and resolved by the Task Force during the drafting process. One of the issues related to the exception to guaranteed availability for bona fide associations. Initially, the draft of the model act had removed this exception, which was derived from a requirement under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), because it was rendered moot by the ACA due to the ACA's guaranteed issue requirements in the individual market. HIPAA had included this exception to guaranteed issue for bona fide associations so that such associations would not be required to provide coverage to HIPAA-eligibles. However, given the guaranteed issue requirements for the individual market under the ACA, logically, it seemed that this HIPAA-imposed exception was no longer relevant. During the discussions of this issue, some urged the Task Force to retain the exception saying that it was not clear that the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) had decided that this exception was moot, while others suggested that, given the ACA's individual market guaranteed availability provisions, it was clear that the exception was no longer relevant. The final draft of the model act deleted the specific exception for guaranteed issue for bona fide associations. However, this provision in the model act includes two drafting notes alerting the states to the controversy. The drafting notes highlight provisions contained in the proposed regulations issued by HHS, as published in the Federal Register, Nov. 26, 2012, which appear to require health carriers to offer plans to all individuals regardless of membership in a bona fide association. The drafting notes also suggest that, given these provisions, those states that have existing laws on this issue related to bona fide associations may wish to review that language and consider repealing it until HHS issues its final regulations and address the issue at that time.

The other significant issue the Task Force discussed and resolved during the drafting process concerned how to address, if at all, student health insurance coverage, which has been defined in federal regulations as a type of individual health insurance coverage. Initially, a draft of the model act had proposed not including student health insurance coverage in the model act by carving such coverage out of the definition of "individual health insurance coverage." This approach was suggested due to the possible complexities of trying to include it the model act because many provisions of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA) and the ACA do not apply to student health insurance coverage. The model act is intended to set out the requirements for individual health insurance coverage for which all of the requirements of the PHSA and ACA apply. During the discussions of this issue, some suggested that student health insurance coverage be included in the model act because of a concern that requirements related to such coverage would not be immediately addressed in other possible NAIC model acts or regulations. The Task Force reached a consensus and adopted compromise language adding student health insurance coverage to the model act.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

ADVERTISEMENTS OF ACCIDENT AND SICKNESS INSURANCE MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of the Advertisements of Accident and Sickness Insurance Model Regulation is to establish minimum criteria to assure proper and accurate description and to protect prospective purchasers with respect to the advertisement of accident and sickness insurance in the same manner as the regulation governing advertisements of Medicare supplement insurance. This regulation assures the clear and truthful disclosure of the benefits, limitations and exclusions of policies sold as accident and sickness insurance by the establishment of standards of conduct in the advertising of accident and sickness insurance in a manner that prevents unfair, deceptive and misleading advertising and is conducive to accurate presentation and description to the insurance-buying public through the advertising media and material used by insurance agents and companies.

Section 2. Applicability

A. This regulation shall apply to individual and group accident and sickness insurance (except Medicare supplement insurance or any other insurance that is covered by a separate state statute) "advertisement," as that term is defined in Section 3B, G, H and I unless otherwise specified in this regulation, which the insurer knows or reasonably should know is intended for presentation, distribution or dissemination in this state when the presentation, distribution or dissemination is made either directly or indirectly by or on behalf of an insurer, agent, broker, producer or solicitor, as those terms are defined in the Insurance Code of this state.

Drafting Note: This regulation applies to group and blanket as well as individual accident and sickness insurance. Certain distinctions, however, are applicable to these categories. Among these distinctions is the insureds' level of familiarity with insurance and insurance terminology, a factor that is covered in Section 5C.

B. Every insurer shall establish and at all times maintain a system of control over the content, form and method of dissemination of all advertisements of its policies. All of the insurer's advertisements, regardless of by whom written, created, designed or presented, shall be the responsibility of the insurer whose policies are advertised.

C. Advertising materials that are reproduced in quantity shall be identified by form numbers or other identifying means. The identification shall be sufficient to distinguish an advertisement from any other advertising materials, policies, applications or other materials used by the insurer.

Section 3. Definitions

A. (1) "Accident and sickness insurance policy" means a policy, plan, certificate, contract, agreement, statement of coverage, rider or endorsement that provides accident or sickness benefits or medical, surgical or hospital benefits, whether on an indemnity, reimbursement, service or prepaid basis, except when issued in connection with another kind of insurance other than life and except disability, waiver of premium and double indemnity benefits included in life insurance and annuity contracts. An accident and sickness insurance policy does not include a Medicare supplement insurance policy, or any other type of accident and sickness insurance with advertising guidelines covered by a separate statute.

(2) The language "except disability, waiver of premium and double indemnity benefits included in life insurance and annuity contracts" means it does not include disability, waiver of premium and double indemnity benefits included in life insurance, endowment or annuity contracts or contracts supplemental to the above contracts that contain only provisions that:

(a) Provide additional benefits in case of death or dismemberment or loss of sight by accident; or

(b) Operate to safeguard the contracts against lapse or to give a special surrender value, special benefit or an annuity in the event that the insured or annuitant shall become totally and permanently disabled as defined by the contract or supplemental contract.

B. (1) "Advertisement" means:

(a) Printed and published material, audio visual material, and descriptive literature of an insurer used in direct mail, newspapers, magazines, radio scripts, TV scripts, web sites and other Internet displays or communications, other forms of electronic communications, billboards and similar displays;

(b) Descriptive literature and sales aids of all kinds issued by an insurer, agent, producer, broker or solicitor for presentation to members of the insurance-buying public, such as circulars, leaflets, booklets, depictions, illustrations, form letters and lead-generating devices of all kinds; and

(c) Prepared sales talks, presentations and material for use by agents, brokers, producers and solicitors whether prepared by the insurer or the agent, broker, producer or solicitor.

(2) The definition of "advertisement" includes advertising material included with a policy when the policy is delivered and material used in the solicitation of renewals and reinstatements.

(3) The definition of advertisement extends to the use of all media for communications to the general public, to the use of all media for communications to specific members of the general public, and to the use of all media for communications by agents, brokers, producers and solicitors.

(4) The definition of advertisement does not include:

(a) Material used solely for the training and education of an insurer's employees, agents or brokers;

(b) Material used in-house by insurers;

(c) Communications within an insurer's own organization not intended for dissemination to the public;

(d) Individual communications of a personal nature with current policyholders other than material urging the policyholders to increase or expand coverages;

(e) Correspondence between a prospective group or blanket policyholder and an insurer in the course of negotiating a group or blanket contract;

(f) Court-approved material ordered by a court to be disseminated to policyholders; or

(g) A general announcement from a group or blanket policyholder to eligible individuals on an employment or membership list that a contract or program has been written or arranged; provided that the announcement clearly indicates that it is preliminary to the issuance of a booklet and that the announcement does not describe the specific benefits under the contract or program nor describe advantages as to the purchase of the contract or program. This does not prohibit a general endorsement of the program by the sponsor.

C. "Certificate" meansa statement of the coverage and provisions of a policy of group accident and sickness insurance, which has been delivered or issued for delivery in this state and includes riders, endorsements and enrollment forms, if attached.

D. "Exception" means any provision in a policy whereby coverage for a specified hazard is entirely eliminated; it is a statement of a risk not assumed under the policy.

E. "Insurer" means an individual, corporation, association, partnership, reciprocal exchange, inter-insurer, Lloyds, fraternal benefit society, health maintenance organization, hospital service corporation, medical service corporation, prepaid health plan and any other legal entity that is defined as an insurer in the insurance code of this state, and is engaged in the advertisement of itself or an accident and sickness insurance policy.

F. "Institutional advertisement" means an advertisement having as its sole purpose the promotion of the reader's, viewer's or listener's interest in the concept of accident and sickness insurance, or the promotion of the insurer as a seller of accident and sickness insurance.

G. "Invitation to contract" means an advertisement that is neither an invitation to inquire nor an institutional advertisement.

H. "Invitation to inquire" means:

(1) An advertisement having as its objective the creation of a desire to inquire further about accident and sickness insurance and that is limited to a brief description of the loss for which benefits are payable but may contain:

(a) The dollar amount of benefits payable; and

(b) The period of time during which benefits are payable.

(2) An invitation to inquire may not refer to cost.

(3) An invitation to inquire shall contain a provision in the following or substantially similar form:

"This policy has [exclusions] [limitations] [reduction of benefits] [terms under which the policy may be continued in force or discontinued]. For costs and complete details of the coverage, call [or write] your insurance agent or the company [whichever is applicable]."

I. "Lead-generating device" means any communication directed to the publicthat, regardless of form, content or stated purpose, is intended to result in the compilation or qualification of a list containing names and other personal information to be used to solicit residents of this State for the purchase of accident and sickness insurance.

J. "Limitation" means a provision that restricts coverage under the policy other than an exception or a reduction.

K. "Limited benefit health coverage" shall have the same meaning as defined in [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 7L of the NAIC Model Regulation to Implement the Accident and Sickness Insurance Minimum Standards Act].

L. Person" means a natural person, association, organization, partnership, trust, group, discretionary group, corporation or any other entity.

M. "Prominently" or "conspicuously" means that the information to be disclosed prominently or conspicuously will be presented in a manner that is noticeably set apart from other information or images in the advertisement.

N. "Reduction" means a provision that reduces the amount of the benefit; a risk of loss is assumed but payment upon the occurrence of the loss is limited to some amount or period less than would be otherwise payable and the reduction has not been used.

Section 4. Method of Disclosure of Required Information

All information, exceptions, limitations, reductions and other restrictions required to be disclosed by this regulation shall be set out conspicuously and in close conjunction to the statements to which the information relates or under appropriate captions of such prominence that it shall not be minimized, rendered obscure or presented in an ambiguous fashion or intermingled with the context of the advertisements so as to be confusing or misleading. This regulation permits, but is not limited to, the use of either of the following methods of disclosure:

A. Disclosure in the description of the related benefits or in a paragraph set out in close conjunction with the description of policy benefits; or

B. Disclosure not in conjunction with the provisions describing policy benefits but under appropriate captions of such prominence that the information shall not be minimized, rendered obscure or otherwise made to appear unimportant. The phrase "under appropriate captions" means that the title must be accurately descriptive of the captioned material. Appropriate captions include the following: "Exceptions," "Exclusions," "Conditions Not Covered," and "Exceptions and Reductions." The use of captions such as the following are prohibited because they do not provide adequate notice of the significance of the material: "Extent of Coverage," "Only these Exclusions," or "Minimum Limitations."

Drafting Note: In considering whether an advertisement complies with the disclosure requirements of this regulation, the regulation must be applied in conjunction with the form and content standards contained in Section 5.

Section 5. Form and Content of Advertisements

A. The format and content of an advertisement of an accident or sickness insurance policy shall be sufficiently complete and clear to avoid deception or the capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive. Format means the arrangement of the text and the captions.

B. Distinctly different advertisements are required for publication in different media, such as newspapers or magazines of general circulation as compared to scholarly, technical or business journals and newspapers. Where an advertisement consists of more than one piece of material, each piece of material must, independent of all other pieces of material, conform to the disclosure requirements of this regulation.

C. Whether an advertisement has a capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive shall be determined by the commissioner from the overall impression that the advertisement may be reasonably expected to create within the segment of the public to which it is directed.

Drafting Note: These subsections must be applied in conjunction with Sections 1 and 4. These subsections refer specifically to format and content of the advertisement and the overall impression created by the advertisement. This involves factors such as the size, color and prominence of type used to describe benefits.

D. Advertisements shall be truthful and not misleading in fact or in implication. Words or phrases, the meaning of which is clear only by implication or by familiarity with insurance terminology, shall not be used.

Drafting Note: This subsection prohibits the use of incomplete statements and words or phrases that have the tendency or capacity to mislead or deceive because of the reader's unfamiliarity with insurance terminology. Therefore, words, phrases and illustrations used in an advertisement must be clear and unambiguous and, if the advertisement uses insurance terminology, sufficient description of a word, phrase or illustration shall be provided by definition or description in the context of the advertisement. As stated in Subsection C, distinctly different levels of comprehension of the subscribers of various publications may be anticipated.

E. An insurer shall clearly identify its accident and sickness insurance policy as an insurance policy. A policy trade name shall be followed by the words "insurance policy" or similar words clearly identifying the fact that an insurance policy or health benefits product (in the case of health maintenance organizations, prepaid health plans and other direct service organizations) is being offered.

F. An insurer, agent, broker, producer, solicitor or other person shall not solicit a resident of this state for the purchase of accident and sickness insurance in connection with or as the result of the use of advertisement by the person or any other persons, where the advertisement:

(1) Contains any misleading representations or misrepresentations, or is otherwise untrue, deceptive or misleading with regard to the information imparted, the status, character or representative capacity of the person or the true purpose of the advertisement; or

(2) Otherwise violates the provisions of this regulation.

G. An insurer, agent, broker, producer, solicitor or other person shall not solicit residents of this State for the purchase of accident and sickness insurance through the use of a true or fictitious name that is deceptive or misleading with regard to the status, character or proprietary or representative capacity of the person or the true purpose of the advertisement.

Section 6. Advertisements of Benefits Payable, Losses Covered or Premiums Payable

A. Covered Benefits.

(1) The use of deceptive words, phrases or illustrations in advertisements of accident and sickness insurance is prohibited.

Drafting Note: This broad provision may be deleted if your state has enacted an Unfair Trade Practices Act that contains the same prohibitions.

(2) An advertisement that fails to state clearly the type of insurance coverage being offered is prohibited.

(3) An advertisement shall not omit information or use words, phrases, statements, references or illustrations if the omission of information or use of words, phrases, statements, references or illustrations has the capacity, tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers as to the nature or extent of any policy benefit payable, loss covered or premium payable. The fact that the policy offered is made available to a prospective insured for inspection prior to consummation of the sale or an offer is made to refund the premium if the purchaser is not satisfied, does not remedy misleading statements.

(4) An advertisement shall not contain or use words or phrases such as "all," "full," "complete," "comprehensive," "unlimited," "up to," "as high as," "this policy will help fill some of the gaps that Medicare and your present insurance leave out," "the policy will help to replace your income," (when used to express loss of time benefits), or similar words and phrases, in a manner that exaggerates a benefit beyond the terms of the policy.

Drafting Note: An advertisement shall not state or imply by word, phrase or illustration that the benefits being offered will supplement any other insurance policy, health benefit plan, or governmental plan if that is not the fact.

(5) An advertisement of a hospital or other similar facility confinement benefit that makes reference to the benefit being paid directly to the policyholder is prohibited unless, in making the reference, the advertisement includes a statement that the benefits may be paid directly to the hospital or other health care facility if an assignment of benefits is made by the policyholder. An advertisement of medical and surgical expense benefits shall comply with this regulation in regard to the disclosure of assignments of benefits to providers of services. Phrases such as "you collect," "you get paid," "pays you," or other words or phrases of similar import may be used so long as the advertisement indicates that it is payable to the insured or someone designated by the insured.

(6) (a) An advertisement for basic hospital expense coverage, basic medical-surgical expense coverage, basic hospital/medical-surgical expense coverage, hospital confinement indemnity coverage, accident only coverage, specified disease coverage, specified accident coverage or limited benefit health coverage or for coverage that covers only a certain type of loss is prohibited if:

(i) The advertisement refers to a total benefit maximum limit payable under the policy in any headline, lead-in or caption without also in the same headline, lead-in or caption specifying the applicable daily limits and other internal limits;

(ii) The advertisement states a total benefit limit without stating the periodic benefit payment, if any, and the length of time the periodic benefit would be payable to reach the total benefit limit; or

(iii) The advertisement prominently displays a total benefit limit that would not, as a general rule, be payable under an average claim.

(b) This paragraph does not apply to individual major medical expense coverage, individual basic medical expense coverage, or disability income insurance.

(7) Advertisements that emphasize total amounts payable under hospital, medical or surgical accident and sickness insurance coverage or other benefits in a policy, such as benefits for private duty nursing, are prohibited unless the actual amounts payable per day for the indemnity or benefits are stated.

(8) Advertisements that include examples of benefits payable under a policy shall not use examples in a way that implies that the maximum payable benefit payable under the policy will be paid, when less than maximum benefits are paid in an average claim.

(9) When a range of benefit levels is set forth in an advertisement, it shall be clear that the insured will receive only the benefit level written or printed in the policy selected and issued. Language that implies that the insured may select the benefit level at the time of filing claims is prohibited.

(10) Language in an advertisement that implies that the amount of benefits payable under a loss-of-time policy may be increased at the time of claim or disability according to the needs of the insured is prohibited.

(11) Advertisements for policies with premiums that are modest because of their limited coverage or limited amount of benefits shall not describe premiums as "low," "low cost," "budget" or use qualifying words of similar import. The use of words such as "only" and "just" in conjunction with statements of premium amounts when used to imply a bargain are prohibited.

(12) Advertisements that state or imply that premiums will not be changed in the future are prohibited unless the advertised policies expressly provide that the premiums will not be changed in the future.

(13) An advertisement for a policy that does not require the premium to accompany the application shall not overemphasize that fact and shall clearly indicate under what circumstances coverage will become effective.

(14) An advertisement that exaggerates the effects of statutorily mandated benefits or required policy provisions or that implies that the provisions are unique to the advertised policy is prohibited.

Drafting Note: For example, the phrase, "money back guarantee" is an exaggerated description of the free look right to examine the policy and is prohibited.

(15) An advertisement that implies that a common type of policy or a combination of common benefits is "new," "unique," "a bonus," "a breakthrough," or is otherwise unusual is prohibited. The addition of a novel method of premium payment to an otherwise common plan of insurance does not render it new.

(16) Language in an advertisement that states or implies that each member under a family contract is covered as to the maximum benefits advertised, where that is not the fact, is prohibited.

(17) An advertisement that contains statements such as "anyone can apply," or "anyone can join," other than with respect to a guaranteed issue policy for which administrative procedures exist to assure that the policy is issued within a reasonable period of time after the application is received by the insurer, is prohibited.

(18) An advertisement that states or implies immediate coverage of a policy is prohibited unless administrative procedures exist so that the policy is issued within fifteen (15) working days after the insurer receives the completed application.

(19) An advertisement that contains statements such as "here is all you do to apply," or "simply" or "merely" to refer to the act of applying for a policy that is not a guaranteed issue policy is prohibited unless it refers to the fact that the application is subject to acceptance or approval by the insurer.

(20) An advertisement of accident and sickness insurance sold by direct response shall not state or imply that because no insurance agent will call and no commissions will be paid to agents that it is a low cost plan, or use other similar words or phrases because the cost of advertising and servicing the policies is a substantial cost in the marketing by direct response.

(21) Applications, request forms for additional information and similar related materials are prohibited if they resemble paper currency, bonds, stock certificates, etc., or use any name, service mark, slogan, symbol or device in a manner that implies that the insurer or the policy advertised is connected with a government agency, such as the Social Security Administration or the Department of Health and Human Services.

Drafting Note: Illustrations that depict paper currency or checks showing an amount payable are deceptive and misleading.

(22) An advertisement that implies in any manner that the prospective insured may realize a profit from obtaining hospital, medical or surgical insurance coverage is prohibited.

(23) An advertisement that uses words such as "extra," "special" or "added" to describe a benefit in the policy is prohibited. No advertisement of a benefit for which payment is conditioned upon confinement in a hospital or similar facility shall use words or phrases such as "tax-free," "extra cash," "extra income," "extra pay," or substantially similar words or phrases because these words and phrases have the capacity, tendency or effect of misleading the public into believing that the policy advertised will, in some way, enable them to make a profit from being hospitalized.

Drafting Note: Although the regulation prohibits the use of the phrase "tax free," it does not prohibit the use of complete and accurate terminology explaining the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) regulations applicable to the taxation of accident and sickness benefits. The IRS regulations provide that the premiums paid for and the benefits received from hospital indemnity policies are subject to the same regulations as loss of time premiums and benefits and are not afforded the same favorable tax treatment as premiums for expense incurred hospital, medical and surgical benefit coverages. (Rev. Rul. 68-451 and Rev. Rul. 69-154.) Prominence either by caption, lead-in, boldface or large type shall not be given in any manner to statements relating to the tax status of the benefits.

Paragraphs 21 to 23 reflect the prohibition of advertising language that creates the impression of a profit or gain to be realized by the insured when enrolling in certain kinds of coverage. For example, a hospital indemnity advertisement shall not include language such as "pay for a trip to Florida," "buy a new television," or otherwise imply that the insured will make a profit on hospitalization.

(24) An advertisement of a hospital or other similar facility confinement benefit shall not advertise that the amount of the benefit is payable on a monthly or weekly basis when, in fact, the amount of the benefit payable is based upon a daily pro rata basis relating to the number of days of confinement unless the statements of the monthly or weekly benefit amounts are in juxtaposition with equally prominent statements of the benefit payable on a daily basis. The term "juxtaposition" means side by side or immediately above or below. When the policy contains a limit on the number of days of coverage provided, the limit shall appear in the advertisement.

(25) An advertisement of a policy covering only one disease or a list of specified diseases shall not imply coverage beyond the terms of the policy. Synonymous terms shall not be used to refer to any disease so as to imply broader coverage than is the fact.

(26) An advertisement that is an invitation to contract for a specified disease policy that provides lesser benefit amounts for a particular subtype of disease, shall clearly disclose the subtype and its benefits. This provision shall not apply to institutional advertisements.

(27) An advertisement of a specified disease policy providing expense benefits shall not use the term "actual" when the policy only pays up to a limited amount for expenses. Instead, the term "charges" or substantially similar language should be used that does not create the misleading impression that there is full coverage for expenses.

(28) An advertisement that describes any benefits that vary by age shall disclose that fact.

(29) An advertisement that uses a phrase such as "no age limit," if benefits or premiums vary by age or if age is an underwriting factor, shall disclose that fact.

Drafting Note: This section recognizes that certain words and phrases in advertising may have a tendency to mislead the public as to the extent of benefits under an advertised policy. Consequently, the terms (and those specified in the regulation do not represent a comprehensive list but are only examples) must be used with caution to avoid a tendency to exaggerate benefits and must not be used unless the statement is literally true in every instance. The use of the following phrases based on the terms or having the same effect must be similarly restricted: "pays hospital, surgical, etc., bills," "pays dollars to offset the cost of medical care," "safeguards your standard of living," "pays full coverage," "pays complete coverage," "pays for financial needs," "provides for replacement of your lost paycheck," "replaces income" or "emergency paycheck." Other phrases may or may not be acceptable depending upon the nature of the coverage being advertised. For example, the phrase "this policy will help to replace your income" is acceptable in advertising for loss-of-time coverage but is prohibited in advertising for hospital confinement (including "hospital indemnity") coverage. In any advertisement the phrase "no lifetime maximum" may not be repeated under each policy benefit or otherwise overemphasized. However, this does not preclude the use of the general statement in an advertisement that describes the manner in which any lifetime maximum is applied under the coverage.

(30) A television, radio, mail or newspaper advertisement or lead-generating device that is designed to produce leads either by use of a coupon, a request to write or to call the company or a subsequent advertisement prior to contact shall include information disclosing that an agent may contact the applicant.

(31) Advertisements, applications, requests for additional information and similar materials are prohibited if they state or imply that the recipient has been individually selected to be offered insurance or has had his or her eligibility for the insurance individually determined in advance when the advertisement is directed to all persons in a group or to all persons whose names appear on a mailing list.

(32) An advertisement, including invitations to inquire or invitations to contract, shall not employ devices that are designed to create undue fear or anxiety in the minds of those to whom they are directed. Examples of prohibited devices are:

(a) The use of phrases such as "cancer kills somebody every two minutes" and "total number of accidents" without reference to the total population from which the statistics are drawn;

Drafting Note: As an example of a permissible device, data prepared by the American Cancer Society are acceptable provided their source is noted and they are not overemphasized.

(b) The exaggeration of the importance of diseases rarely or seldom found in the class of persons to whom the policy is offered;

(c) The use of phrases such as "the finest kind of treatment," implying that the treatment would be unavailable without insurance;

(d) The reproduction of newspaper articles, magazine articles, information from the Internet or other similar published material containing irrelevant facts and figures;

(e) The use of images that unduly emphasize automobile accidents, disabled persons or persons confined in beds who are in obvious distress, persons receiving hospital or medical bills or persons being evicted from their homes due to their medical bills;

(f) The use of phrases such as "financial disaster," "financial distress," "financial shock," or another phrase implying that financial ruin is likely without insurance is only permissible in an advertisement for major medical expense coverage, individual basic medical expense coverage or disability income coverage, and only if the phrase does not dominate the advertisement;

(g) The use of phrases or devices that unduly excite fear of dependence upon relatives or charity; and

(h) The use of phrases or devices that imply that long sicknesses or hospital stays are common among the elderly.

Drafting Note: This regulation prohibits words or phrases that exaggerate the effect of benefit payments on the insured's general well-being, such as "worry-free savings plan," "guaranteed savings," "financial peace of mind," and "you will never have to worry about hospital bills again."

B. Exceptions, Reductions and Limitations

(1) An advertisement shall not contain descriptions of policy limitations, exceptions or reductions, worded in a positive manner to imply that it is a benefit, such as describing a waiting period as a "benefit builder" or stating "even preexisting conditions are covered after two years." Words and phrases used in an advertisement to describe the policy limitations, exceptions and reductions shall fairly and accurately describe the negative features of the limitations, exceptions and reductions of the policy offered.

(2) An advertisement that is an invitation to contract shall disclose those exceptions, reductions and limitations affecting the basic provisions of the policy.

(3) When a policy contains a waiting, elimination, probationary or similar time period between the effective date of the policy and the effective date of coverage under the policy or at a time period between the date a loss occurs and the date benefits begin to accrue for the loss, an advertisement that is subject to the requirements of the preceding paragraph shall prominently disclose the existence of the periods.

Drafting Note: This paragraph imposes the same disclosure standards as Paragraph (1) with respect to policy provisions providing for waiting, elimination, probationary or similar time periods between the effective date of the policy and the effective date of coverage under the policy or at a time period between the date a loss occurs and the date benefits begin to accrue for the loss. Where a policy has waiting, elimination, probationary or other limiting time periods, the provisions must be stated in negative terms.

(4) An advertisement shall not use the words "only," "just," "merely," "minimum," "necessary" or similar words or phrases to describe the applicability of any exceptions, reductions, limitations or exclusions such as: "This policy is subject to the following minimum exceptions and reductions."

Drafting Note: The regulation requires a fair and accurate description of exceptions, limitations and reductions in a manner that does not minimize, render obscure or otherwise make them appear unimportant. Advertisements must state exceptions, limitations and reductions in the negative and must not understate any exception, limitation or reduction or qualify any exception, limitation or reduction to emphasize coverage described elsewhere (e.g., "Does not pay for [insert exception, limitation or reduction], however, Medicare pays this" is prohibited, nor is "Does not pay for the first four days in hospital for sickness, but pays for accident from first day."

(5) An advertisement that is an invitation to contract that fails to disclose the amount of any deductible or the percentage of any coinsurance factor is prohibited.

(6) An advertisement for loss-of-time coverage that is an invitation to contract that sets forth a range of amounts of benefit levels is prohibited unless it also states that eligibility for the benefits is based upon condition of health, income or other economic conditions, or other underwriting standards of the insurer if that is the fact.

(7) An advertisement that refers to "hospitalization for injury or sickness" omitting the word "covered" when the policy excludes certain sicknesses or injuries, or that refers to "whenever you are hospitalized," "when you go to the hospital" or "while you are confined in the hospital" omitting the phrase "for covered injury or sickness," if the policy excludes certain injuries or sickness, is prohibited. Continued reference to "covered injury or sickness" is not necessary where this fact has been prominently disclosed in the advertisement and where the description of sicknesses or injuries not covered is prominently set forth.

(8) An advertisement that fails to disclose that the definition of "hospital" does not include certain facilities that provide institutional care such as a nursing home, convalescent home or extended care facility, when the facilities are excluded under the definition of hospital in the policy, is prohibited.

(9) The term "confining sickness" shall be explained in an advertisement containing the term. The explanation might be as follows: "Benefits are payable for total disability due to confining sickness only so long as the insured is necessarily confined indoors." Captions such as "Lifetime Sickness Benefits" or "Five-Year Sickness Benefits" are incomplete if the benefits are subject to confinement requirements. When sickness benefits are subject to confinement requirements, captions such as "Lifetime House Confining Sickness Benefits" or "Five-Year House Confining Sickness Benefits" would be permissible.

Drafting Note: The term "confining sickness" is an abbreviated expression and requires explanation so as not to be misleading.

(10) An advertisement that fails to disclose any waiting or elimination periods for specific benefits is prohibited.

(11) An advertisement for a policy providing benefits for specified illnesses only, such as cancer, or for specified accidents only, such as automobile accidents, or other policies providing benefits that are limited in nature, shall clearly and conspicuously in prominent type state the limited nature of the policy. The statement shall be worded in language identical to or substantially similar to the following: "THIS IS A LIMITED POLICY," "THIS POLICY PROVIDES LIMITED BENEFITS," "THIS IS A CANCER ONLY POLICY," or "THIS IS AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT ONLY POLICY."

Drafting Note: An advertisement that is an invitation to contract must recite the exceptions, reductions, and limitations as required by this regulation and in a manner consistent with Section 4. If an exception, reduction or limitation is important enough to use in a policy, it is of sufficient importance that its existence in the policy should be referred to in the advertisement regardless of whether it may also be the subject matter of a provision of the Uniform Individual Accident and Sickness Provision Law.

Some advertisements disclose exceptions, reductions and limitations as required, but the advertisement is so lengthy as to obscure the disclosure. Where the length of an advertisement has this effect, special emphasis must be given by changing the format to show the restrictions in a manner that does not minimize, render obscure or otherwise make them appear unimportant.

C. Preexisting Conditions

(1) An advertisement that is an invitation to contract shall, in negative terms, disclose the extent to which any loss is not covered if the cause of the loss is traceable to a condition existing prior to the effective date of the policy. The use of the term "preexisting condition" without an appropriate definition or description shall not be used.

Drafting Note: This regulation requires in negative terms a description of the effect of a preexisting condition exclusion because this exclusion is a restriction on coverage. The use of the phrase "preexisting condition" without an appropriate definition or description of the term is prohibited, as well as stating a reduction in the statutory time limit (such as a reduction from three years to two years or to one year) as an affirmative benefit. The words "appropriate definition or description" mean that the term "preexisting condition" must be defined as the company's claims department uses it.

Negative features must be accurately set forth. Any limitation on benefits including preexisting conditions also must be restated under a caption concerning exclusions or limitations, notwithstanding that the preexisting condition exclusion has been disclosed elsewhere in the advertisement.

(2) When an accident and sickness insurance policy does not cover losses resulting from preexisting conditions, an advertisement of the policy shall not state or imply that the applicant's physical condition or medical history will not affect the issuance of the policy or payment of a claimunder the policy. This regulation prohibits the use of the phrase "no medical examination required" and phrases of similar import, but does not prohibit explaining "automatic issue." If an insurer requires a medical examination for a specified policy, the advertisement if it is an invitation to contract shall disclose that a medical examination is required.

Drafting Note: The phrase "no health questions" or words of similar import shall not be used if the policy excludes preexisting conditions. Use of a phrase such as "guaranteed issue" or "automatic issue," if the policy excludes preexisting conditions for a certain period, must be accompanied by a statement disclosing that fact in a manner that does not minimize, render obscure, or otherwise make it appear unimportant and is otherwise consistent with Section 4.

(3) When an advertisement contains an application form to be completed by the applicant and returned by mail, the application form shall contain a question or statement that reflects the preexisting condition provisions of the policy immediately preceding the blank space for the applicant's signature. For example, the application form shall contain a question or statement substantially as follows:

"Do you understand that this policy will not pay benefits during the first [insert number] [years, months] after the issue date for a disease or physical condition that you now have or have had in the past? YES"

Or substantially the following statement:

"I understand that the policy applied for will not pay benefits for any loss incurred during the first [insert number] [years, months] after the issue date on account of disease or physical condition that I now have or have had in the past."

Drafting Note: Some states require approval of the application even when the application is not attached to the policy when issued. This regulation does not change the requirement. The text of this regulation should be modified to reflect the applicable regulation in the state.

Section 7. Necessity for Disclosing Policy Provisions Relating to Renewability, Cancellability and Termination

A. An advertisement that is an invitation to contract shall disclose the provisions relating to renewability, cancellability and termination and any modification of benefits, losses covered, or premiums because of age or for other reasons, in a manner that shall not minimize or render obscure the qualifying conditions.

B. Advertisements of cancellable accident and sickness insurance policies shall state that the contract is cancellable or renewable at the option of the company, as the case may be, in language substantially similar to the following: A policy that is renewable at the option of the insurance company shall be advertised in a manner similar to, "This policy is renewable at the option of the company," or "The company has the right to refuse renewal of this policy," or "Renewable at the option of the insurer," or "This policy can be cancelled by the company at any time."

C. Advertisements of insurance policies that are guaranteed renewable, cancelable or renewable at the option of the company shall disclose that the insurer has the right to increase premium rates if the policy so provides.

D. Qualifying conditions that constitute limitations on the permanent nature of the coverage shall be disclosed in advertisements of insurance policies that are guaranteed renewable, cancelable or renewable at the option of the company. Examples of qualifying conditions are (1) age limits, (2) reservation of a right to increase premiums, and (3) the establishment of aggregate limits.

(1) Provisions for reduction of benefits at stated ages shall be set forth. For example, a policy may contain a provision that reduces benefits fifty percent (50%) after age sixty (60) although it is renewable to age sixty-five (65). Such a reduction shall be set forth. Also, a provision for the elimination of certain hazards at any specific ages or after the policy has been in force for a specified time shall be set forth.

(2) An advertisement for a policy that provides for step-rated premium rates based upon the policy year or the insured's attained age shall disclose the rate increases and the times or ages at which the premiums increase.

Drafting Note: This regulation imposes the same disclosure standards with respect to policy provisions relating to renewability, cancellability and termination, modification of benefits, losses or premiums because of age or otherwise as stated in Section 6. This regulation requires that the qualifying conditions of renewability must be disclosed in a manner that does not minimize or render obscure the qualifying conditions of renewal. For example, "non-cancellable and guaranteed renewable" does not fulfill the requirement of the regulation if the policy contains a terminal age of sixty-five. In such a case, a proper statement would be "non-cancellable and guaranteed renewable to age sixty-five." If a guaranteed renewable policy reserves the right to increase premiums, the statement must be expanded into language similar to "guaranteed renewable to age sixty-five but the company reserves the right to increase premium rates on a class basis." If the contract contains an aggregate limit after which no further benefits are payable, the above statement must be amplified with the phrase "subject to a maximum aggregate amount of $50,000" or similar language. A policy may have one or more of the three basic limitations and an advertisement must describe each of those that the policy contains. Over fifty percent of new individual policy issues are guaranteed renewable; therefore, the fact that a policy is guaranteed renewable shall not be exaggerated. With respect to noncancellable policies and guaranteed renewable policies, the regulation requires that a summary of the policy provisions with respect to renewability be set forth and defined where appropriate. The disclosure of provisions relating to renewability requires the use of language such as "noncancellable," "noncancellable and guaranteed renewable," or "guaranteed renewable." Unless otherwise modified by law or regulation in an individual state, the use of those terms and the definitions provided shall be consistent with the definitions of those terms adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (See 1960 Proceedings of the NAIC I 153).

Section 8. Standards for Marketing

A. An insurer, directly or through its agents or brokers, shall:

(1) Establish marketing procedures to assure that any comparison of policies by its agents or brokers will be fair and accurate;

(2) Establish marketing procedures assuring excessive insurance is not sold or issued, except this requirement does not apply to group major medical expense coverage and disability income coverage; and

(3) Establish auditable procedures for verifying compliance with this subsection.

B. In addition to the practices prohibited in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the NAIC Unfair Trade Practices Act], the following acts and practices are prohibited:

(1) Twisting. Knowingly making any misleading representation or incomplete or fraudulent comparison of insurance policies or insurers for the purpose of inducing, or tending to induce, a person to lapse, forfeit, surrender, terminate, retain, pledge, assign, borrow on, or convert an insurance policy, or to take out a policy of insurance with another insurer;

(2) High Pressure Tactics. Employing a method of marketing that has the effect of inducing the purchase of insurance, or tends to induce the purchase of insurance through force, fright, threat, whether explicit or implied, or undue pressure to purchase or recommend the purchase of insurance; and

(3) Cold Lead Advertising. Making use directly or indirectly of any method of marketing that fails to disclose in a conspicuous manner that a purpose of the method of marketing is solicitation of insurance and that contact will be made by an insurance agent or insurance company.

Section 9. Testimonials or Endorsements by Third Parties

A. Testimonials and endorsements used in advertisements shall be genuine, represent the current opinion of the author, be applicable to the policy advertised and be accurately reproduced. The insurer, in using a testimonial or endorsement, makes as its own all of the statements contained in it, and the advertisement, including the statement, is subject to all the provisions of this regulation. When a testimonial or endorsement is used more than one year after it was originally given, a confirmation must be obtained.

Drafting Note: The regulation must be applied in conjunction with Section 10 and requires that all the statements must be genuine and not fictitious. Under the regulation, the manufacturing, substantive editing or "doctoring" of a testimonial is clearly prohibited as being false and misleading to the insurance-buying public. However, language that would be prohibited under this regulation must be edited out of a testimonial.

B. A person shall be deemed a "spokesperson" if the person making the testimonial or endorsement:

(1) Has a financial interest in the insurer or a related entity as a stockholder, director, officer, employee or otherwise;

(2) Has been formed by the insurer, is owned or controlled by the insurer, its employees, or the person or persons who own or control the insurer;

(3) Has any person in a policy-making position who is affiliated with the insurer in any of the above described capacities; or

(4) Is in any way directly or indirectly compensated for making a testimonial or endorsement.

Drafting Note: Reimbursement for substantial travel and entertainment expenses is also required to be disclosed; however, union scale wages required by union regulations are not required to be disclosed. Travel away from the home of the person giving the testimonial or endorsement to a distant location involving transportation expenses, lodging expenses or expenses for meals constitutes payment and must be reflected as a paid endorsement.

C. The fact of a financial interest or the proprietary or representative capacity of a spokesperson shall be disclosed in an advertisement and shall be accomplished in the introductory portion of the testimonial or endorsement in the same form and with equal prominence. If a spokesperson is directly or indirectly compensated for making a testimonial or endorsement, the fact shall be disclosed in the advertisement by language substantially as follows: "Paid Endorsement." The requirement of this disclosure may be fulfilled by use of the phrase "Paid Endorsement" or words of similar import in a type style and size at least equal to that used for the spokesperson's name or the body of the testimonial or endorsement, whichever is larger. In the case of television or radio advertising, the required disclosure shall be accomplished in the introductory portion of the advertisement and shall be given prominence.

Drafting Note: This regulation requires both that approval or endorsement of a policy by an individual, group of individuals, society, association, or other organization be factual and that any proprietary relationship between the sponsoring or endorsing organization and the insurer be disclosed. For example, if the dividend under an association group case is payable to the association, disclosure of that fact is required. Also, if the insurer or an officer of the insurer formed or controls the association, that fact must be disclosed.

D. The disclosure requirements of this regulation shall not apply where the sole financial interest or compensation of a spokesperson, for all testimonials or endorsements made on behalf of the insurer, consists of the payment of union scale wages required by union rules, and if the payment is actually the scale for TV or radio performances.

E. An advertisement shall not state or imply that an insurer or an accident and sickness insurance policy has been approved or endorsed by any individual, group of individuals, society, association or other organizations, unless that is the fact, and unless any proprietary relationship between an organization and the insurer is disclosed. If the entity making the endorsement or testimonial has been formed by the insurer or is owned or controlled by the insurer or the person or persons who own or control the insurer, the fact shall be disclosed in the advertisement. If the insurer or an officer of the insurer formed or controls the association, or holds any policy-making position in the association, that fact must be disclosed.

F. When a testimonial refers to benefits received under an accident and sickness insurance policy, the specific claim data, including claim number, date of loss and other pertinent information shall be retained by the insurer for inspection for a period of four (4) years or until the filing of the next regular report of examination of the insurer, whichever is the longer period of time. The use of testimonials that do not correctly reflect the present practices of the insurer or that are not applicable to the policy or benefit being advertised is not permissible.

Section 10. Use of Statistics

A. An advertisement relating to the dollar amounts of claims paid, the number of persons insured, or similar statistical information relating to an insurer or policy shall not use irrelevant facts, and shall not be used unless it accurately reflects all of the current and relevant facts. The advertisement shall not imply that the statistics are derived from the policy advertised unless that is the fact, and when applicable to other policies or plans shall specifically so state.

(1) An advertisement shall specifically identify the accident and sickness insurance policy to which statistics relate and where statistics are given that are applicable to a different policy, it shall be stated clearly that the data do not relate to the policy being advertised.

(2) An advertisement using statistics that describe an insurer, such as assets, corporate structure, financial standing, age, product lines or relative position in the insurance business, may be irrelevant and, if used at all, shall be used with extreme caution because of the potential for misleading the public. As a specific example, an advertisement for accident and sickness insurance that refers to the amount of life insurance which the company has in force or the amounts paid out in life insurance benefits is not permissible unless the advertisement clearly indicates the amount paid out for each line of insurance.

Drafting Note: This regulation prohibits the use of statistics in a manner that is misleading and deceptive. This regulation requires the disclosure of all relevant facts and prohibits the use of irrelevant facts. Irrelevant facts include statistics that are out-of-date and no longer current. An advertisement that states the dollar amount of claims paid must also indicate the period over which the claims have been paid. If the term "loss ratio" is used, it shall be properly explained in the context of the advertisement and, unless the state has issued a regulation otherwise defining the term, it shall be calculated on the basis of premiums earned to losses incurred and shall not be on a yearly run-off basis.

B. An advertisement shall not represent or imply that claim settlements by the insurer are "liberal" or "generous," or use words of similar import, or that claim settlements are or will be beyond the actual terms of the contract. An unusual amount paid for a unique claim for the policy advertised is misleading and shall not be used.

C. The source of any statistics used in an advertisement shall be identified in the advertisement.

Drafting Note: The regulation does not require that state-only statistics be used since statistics such as hospital charges and average stays may vary from state to state. When nationwide statistics are used the fact should be noted, unless the statistics on the particular point are substantially the same in a state to which the advertisement is directed. Statistics may be used only if they are credible. Statistics that are applicable to a broader array of illnesses or accidents than those covered under the policy cannot be used.

Section 11. Identification of Plan or Number of Policies

A. An advertisement that uses the word "plan" without prominently identifying it as an accident and sickness insurance policy is prohibited.

B. When a choice of the amount of benefits is referred to, an advertisement that is an invitation to contract shall disclose that the amount of benefits provided depends upon the plan selected and that the premium will vary with the amount of the benefits selected.

C. When an advertisement that is an invitation to contract refers to various benefits that may be contained in two (2) or more policies, other than group master policies, the advertisement shall disclose that the benefits are provided only though a combination of policies.

Section 12. Disparaging Comparisons and Statements

An advertisement shall not directly or indirectly make unfair or incomplete comparisons of policies or benefits or comparisons of non-comparable policies of other insurers, and shall not disparage competitors, their policies, services or business methods, and shall not disparage or unfairly minimize competing methods of marketing insurance.

A. An advertisement shall not contain statements such as "no red tape" or "here is all you do to receive benefits."

B. Advertisements that state or imply that competing insurance coverages customarily contain certain exceptions, reductions or limitations not contained in the advertised policies are prohibited unless the exceptions, reductions or limitations are contained in a substantial majority of the competing coverages.

C. Advertisements that state or imply that an insurer's premiums are lower or that its loss ratios are higher because its organizational structure differs from that of competing insurers are prohibited.

Drafting Note: The regulation prohibits disparaging, unfair or incomplete comparisons of policies or benefits that would have a tendency to deceive or mislead the public. The regulation does not preclude the use of comparisons by health maintenance organizations, prepaid health plans and other direct service organizations that describe the difference between their prepaid health benefits coverage and indemnity insurance coverage.

Section 13. Jurisdictional Licensing and Status of Insurer

A. An advertisement that is intended to be seen or heard beyond the limits of the jurisdiction in which the insurer is licensed shall not imply licensing beyond those limits.

Drafting Note: This regulation prohibits advertisements that imply that an insurer is licensed beyond the limits of those jurisdictions where it is actually licensed. An advertisement that contains testimonials from persons who reside in a state in which the insurer is not licensed or that refers to claims of persons residing in states in which the insurer is not licensed implies licensing in those states and therefore is in violation of this regulation unless the advertisement states that the insurer is not licensed in those states.

B. An advertisement shall not create the impression directly or indirectly that the insurer, its financial condition or status, or the payment of its claims, or the merits, desirability, or advisability of its policy forms or kinds or plans of insurance are approved, endorsed or accredited by any division or agency of this state or the federal government. Terms such as "official" or words of similar import, used to describe any policy or application form are prohibited because of the potential for deceiving or misleading the public.

Drafting Note: Although the regulation permits a reference to an insurer being licensed in a state where the advertisement appears, it does not allow exaggeration of the fact of the licensing nor does it permit the suggestion that competing insurers may not be so licensed because, in most states, an insurer must be licensed in the state to which it directs its advertising.

C. An advertisement shall not imply that approval, endorsement or accreditation of policy forms or advertising has been granted by any division or agency of the state or federal government. Approval of either policy forms or advertising shall not be used by an insurer to imply or state that a governmental agency has endorsed or recommended the insurer, its policies, advertising or its financial condition.

Section 14. Identity of Insurer

A. The name of the actual insurer shall be stated in all of its advertisements. The form number or numbers of the policy advertised shall be stated in an advertisement that is an invitation to contract. An advertisement shall not use a trade name, an insurance group designation, name of the parent company of the insurer, name of a particular division of the insurer, service mark, slogan, symbol or other device that without disclosing the name of the actual insurer, would have the capacity and tendency to mislead or deceive as to the true identity of the insurer.

Drafting Note: The regulation recognizes the existence of holding companies. The requirement that the advertisement refer to the policy form number is applicable only to advertisements of individual and franchise policies that are invitations to contract.

B. An advertisement shall not use any combination of words, symbols, or physical materials that by their content, phraseology, shape, color or other characteristics are so similar to combination of words, symbols or physical materials used by agencies of the federal government or of this state, or otherwise appear to be of such a nature that it tends to confuse or mislead prospective insureds into believing that the solicitation is in some manner connected with an agency of the municipal, state or federal government.

C. Advertisements, envelopes or stationery that employ words, letters, initials, symbols or other devices that are similar to those used in governmental agencies or by other insurers are not permitted if they may lead the public to believe:

(1) That the advertised coverages are somehow provided by or are endorsed by the governmental agencies or the other insurers;

(2) That the advertiser is the same as is connected with or is endorsed by the governmental agencies or the other insurers.

D. An advertisement shall not use the name of a state or political subdivision of a state in a policy name or description.

E. An advertisement in the form of envelopes or stationery of any kind may not use any name, service mark, slogan, symbol or any device in a manner that implies that the insurer or the policy advertised, or that any agent who may call upon the consumer in response to the advertisement, is connected with a governmental agency, such as the Social Security Administration.

F. An advertisement may not incorporate the word "Medicare" in the title of the plan or policy being advertised unless, wherever it appears, the word is qualified by language differentiating it from Medicare. The advertisement, however, shall not use the phrase "[ ] Medicare Department of the [ ] Insurance Company," or language of similar import.

G. An advertisement may not imply that the reader may lose a right or privilege or benefit under federal, state or local law if he or she fails to respond to the advertisement.

H. The use of letters, initials or symbols of the corporate name or trademark that would have the tendency or capacity to mislead or deceive the public as to the true identity of the insurer is prohibited unless the true, correct and complete name of the insurer is in close conjunction and in the same size type as the letters, initials or symbols of the corporate name or trademark.

I. The use of the name of an agency or "[ ] Underwriters" or "[ ] Plan" in type, size and location so as to have the capacity and tendency to mislead or deceive as to the true identity of the insurer is prohibited.

J. The use of an address so as to mislead or deceive as to true identity of the insurer, its location or licensing status is prohibited.

K. An insurer shall not use, in the trade name of its insurance policy, any terminology or words so similar to the name of a governmental agency or governmental program as to have the tendency to confuse, deceive or mislead the prospective purchaser.

L. Advertisements used by agents, producers, brokers or solicitors of an insurer shall have prior written approval of the insurer before they may be used.

M. An agent who makes contact with a consumer, as a result of acquiring that consumer's name from a lead-generating device, shall disclose that fact in the initial contact with the consumer. An agent or insurer may not use names produced from lead-generating devices that do not comply with the requirements of this regulation.

Section 15. Group or Quasi-Group Implications

A. An advertisement of a particular policy shall not state or imply that prospective insureds become group or quasi-group members covered under a group policy and as members, enjoy special rates or underwriting privileges, unless that is the fact.

B. This regulation prohibits the solicitations of a particular class, such as governmental employees, by use of advertisements which state or imply that their occupational status entitles them to reduced rates on a group or other basis when, in fact, the policy being advertised is sold only on an individual basis at regular rates.

C. Advertisements that indicate that a particular coverage or policy is exclusively for "preferred risks" or a particular segment of the population or that a particular segment of the population is an acceptable risk, when the distinctions are not maintained in the issuance of policies, are prohibited.

D. An advertisement to join an association, trust or discretionary group that is also an invitation to contract for insurance coverage shall clearly disclose that the applicant will be purchasing both membership in the association, trust or discretionary group and insurance coverage. The insurer shall solicit insurance coverage on a separate and distinct application that requires a separate signature. The separate and distinct applications required need not be on separate documents or contained in a separate mailing. The insurance program shall be presented so as not to conceal the fact that the prospective members are purchasing insurance as well as applying for membership, if that is the case. Similarly, it is prohibited to use terms such as "enroll" or "join" to imply group or blanket insurance coverage when that is not the fact.

E. Advertisements for group or franchise group plans that provide a common benefit or a common combination of benefits shall not imply that the insurance coverage is tailored or designed specifically for that group, unless that is the fact.

Drafting Note: The regulation prohibits the use of representations to any segment of the population that a particular policy or coverage is available only to that or similar segments of the population as preferred risks when actually the policy or coverage is available to members of the public at large at the same rates. For example, the regulation prohibits an advertisement labeled "Now for Readers of X Magazine."

Section 16. Introductory, Initial or Special Offers

A. (1) An advertisement of an individual policy shall not directly or by implication represent that a contract or combination of contracts is an introductory, initial or special offer, or that applicants will receive substantial advantages not available at a later date, or that the offer is available only to a specified group of individuals, unless that is the fact. An advertisement shall not contain phrases describing an enrollment period as "special," "limited," or similar words or phrases when the insurer uses the enrollment periods as the usual method of marketing accident and sickness insurance.

(2) An enrollment period during which a particular insurance product may be purchased on an individual basis shall not be offered within this state unless there has been a lapse of not less than [insert number] months between the close of the immediately preceding enrollment period for the same product and the opening of the new enrollment period. The advertisement shall indicate the date by which the applicant must mail the application, which shall be not less than ten (10) days and not more than forty (40) days from the date that the enrollment period is advertised for the first time. This regulation applies to all advertising media, i.e., mail, newspapers, the Internet, radio, television, magazines and periodicals, by any one insurer. It is inapplicable to solicitations of employees or members of a particular group or association that otherwise would be eligible under specific provisions of the Insurance Code for group, blanket or franchise insurance. The phrase "any one insurer" includes all the affiliated companies of a group of insurance companies under common management or control.

Drafting Note: The regulation restricts the repetitive use of enrollment periods. The requirement of reasonable closing dates and waiting periods between enrollment periods was adopted to eliminate abuses that formerly existed. The regulation does not limit just the use of enrollment periods. It requires that a particular insurance product offered in an enrollment period through any advertising media, including the prepared presentations of agents, cannot be offered again in the entire state until a specified number of months from the close of the enrollment period have expired. Thus, an insurer must choose whether to use enrollment periods or open enrollment for a product. (See Paragraph (4) for a definition of "a particular insurance product."). The regulation does not prohibit multiple advertising during an enrollment period through any and all media published or transmitted within this state as long as the enrollment periods for all the advertisements have the same expiration date.

The regulation does not prohibit the solicitation of members of a group or association for the same product even though there has not been a lapse of a specified number of months since the close of a preceding enrollment period that was open to the general public for the same product. The regulation does not require separation by a specified number of months of enrollment periods for the same insurance product in this state if the advertising material is directed by an admitted insurer to persons by direct solicitation on the basis that a common relationship exists with an entity, such as a bank and its depositors, a department store to its charge account customers or an oil company to its credit card holders, and more than one of the organizations is sponsoring the insurance product at different times if providing the insurance under this method is not otherwise prohibited by law. However, the [insert number] month regulation does apply to one specific sponsor to the same person in this state on the basis of his or her status as a customer of that one specific entity only.

The number of months was left open in this regulation because several states permit six months; several states allow three months, and other states prohibit certain periods of enrollment. Whether the enrollment periods should be permissible and the period of time between enrollments are items on which each state should make its decision on an individual basis and each state should modify the time limit in this regulation to comply with state law.

(3) This regulation prohibits any statement or implication to the effect that only a specific number of policies will be sold, or that a time is fixed for the discontinuance of the sale of the particular policy advertised because of special advantages available in the policy, unless that is the fact.

(4) The phrase "a particular insurance product" in Paragraph (2) of this subsection means an insurance policy that provides substantially different benefits than those contained in any other policy. Different terms of renewability; an increase or decrease in the dollar amounts of benefits; an increase or decrease in any elimination period or waiting period from those available during an enrollment period for another policy shall not be sufficient to constitute the product being offered as a different product eligible for concurrent or overlapping enrollment periods.

Drafting Note: This regulation defines the meaning of "a particular insurance product" and prohibits advertising of products having minor variations, such as different elimination periods or different amounts of daily hospital indemnity benefits, in a succession of enrollment periods.

B. An advertisement shall not offer a policy that utilizes a reduced initial premium rate in a manner that overemphasizes the availability and the amount of the initial reduced premium. When an insurer charges an initial premium that differs in amount from the amount of the renewal premium payable on the same mode, the advertisement shall not display the amount of the reduced initial premium either more frequently or more prominently than the renewal premium, and both the initial reduced premium and the renewal premium must be stated in juxtaposition in each portion of the advertisement where the initial reduced premium appears.

Drafting Note: Some states prohibit a reduced initial premium. Section 16B does not imply that the states that prohibit an initial premium are not in conformity with the model regulation. This is an item to be decided on a state-by-state basis.

C. Special awards, such as a "safe drivers' award," shall not be used in connection with advertisements of accident and sickness insurance.

Section 17. Statements about an Insurer

An advertisement shall not contain statements that are untrue in fact, or by implication misleading, with respect to the assets, corporate structure, financial standing, age or relative position of the insurer in the insurance business. An advertisement shall not contain a recommendation by any commercial rating system unless it clearly indicates the purpose of the recommendation and the limitations of the scope and extent of the recommendations.

Drafting Note: This is closely related to the requirements of Section 10 concerning the use of statistics. The regulation prohibits insurers that have been organized for only a brief period of time advertising that they are "old" and also prohibits the use of images of a "home office" building in a manner that is misleading with respect to the actual size and magnitude of the insurer. Also, the occupations of the persons comprising the insurer's board of directors or the public's familiarity with their names or reputations are irrelevant and must not be emphasized. The preponderance of a particular occupation or profession among the board of directors of an insurer does not justify the advertisement of a plan of insurance offered to the general public as insurance designed or recommended by members of that occupation or profession. For example, it is prohibited for an insurance company to advertise a policy offered to the general public as "the physician's policy" or "the doctor's plan" simply because there is a preponderance of physicians on the board of directors of the insurer. The regulation prohibits the use of a recommendation of a commercial rating system unless the purpose, meaning and limitations of the recommendation are clearly indicated.

Section 18. Enforcement Procedures

A. Advertising File. Each insurer shall maintain at its home or principal office a complete file containing every printed, published or prepared advertisement of its individual policies and typical printed, published or prepared advertisements of its blanket, franchise and group policies hereafter disseminated in this or any other state, whether or not licensed in an other state, with a notation attached to each advertisement that indicates the manner and extent of distribution and the form number of any policy advertised. The file shall be subject to regular and periodical inspection by the commissioner. All of these advertisements shall be maintained in a file for a period of either four (4) years or until the filing of the next regular report on examination of the insurer, whichever is the longer period of time.

B. Certificate of Compliance. Each insurer required to file an annual statement shall file with the commissioner, with its annual statement, a certificate of compliance executed by an authorized officer of the insurer that states that, to the best of the officer's knowledge, information and belief, the advertisements that were disseminated by the insurer during the preceding statement year complied or were made to comply in all respects with the provisions of this regulation and the insurance laws of this state as implemented and interpreted by this regulation.

Drafting Note: Where the regulation was adopted on other than January 1 of the year, the required certification that all advertisements used in the preceding annual statement year complied with the regulation cannot be given. The respective insurance departments should consider remedying the problem in the Certificate of Compliance used for the calendar year in which the regulation was adopted.

Section 19. Severability Provision

If any section or portion of a section of this regulation, or its applicability to any person or circumstance is held invalid by a court, the remainder of the regulation, or the applicability of the provision to other persons or circumstances, shall not be affected.

Section 20. Filing for Prior Review

The commissioner may, at his or her discretion, require filing of any accident and sickness insurance advertising material for review prior to use.. The advertising material shall be filed by the insurer with the commissioner not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date the insurer desires to use the advertisement.

Drafting Note: This is an example of a regulation that may be used at the option of the commissioner in a state that elects to review advertisements prior to use. The NAIC takes no position on the question of whether advertising material should be subject to prior review by the commissioner.

ADVERTISEMENTS OF ACCIDENT AND SICKNESS INSURANCE MODEL REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROHIBITION ON THE USE OF DISCRETIONARY CLAUSES MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Short Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Discretionary Clause Prohibition Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act as a regulation or bulletin. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as a regulation or bulletin.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this Act is to assure that health insurance benefits and disability income protection coverage are contractually guaranteed, and to avoid the conflict of interest that occurs when the carrier responsible for providing benefits has discretionary authority to decide what benefits are due. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as imposing any requirement or duty on any person other than a health carrier or insurer that offers disability income protection coverage.

Section 3. Definitions

A. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

B. "Disability income protection coverage" is a policy, contract, certificate or agreement that provides for periodic payments, weekly or monthly, for a specified period during the continuance of disability resulting from either sickness or injury or a combination of them.

C. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

D. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service cooperation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statute instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

E. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or combination of the foregoing.

Section 4. Discretionary Clauses Prohibited

A. No policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued in this state by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services may contain a provision purporting to reserve discretion to the health carrier to interpret the terms of the contract, or to provide standards of interpretation or review that are inconsistent with the laws of this state.

B. No policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued in this state providing for disability income protection coverage may contain a provision purporting to reserve discretion to the insurer to interpret the terms of the contract, or to provide standards of interpretation or review that are inconsistent with the laws of this state.

Section 5. Penalties

A violation of this Act shall [insert appropriate administrative penalty from state law].

Section 6. Separability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance, shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 7. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY – 2004

PROHIBITION ON THE USE OF DISCRETIONARY CLAUSES MODEL ACT (#42)

1. Project Description

In 2002, the NAIC adopted the Prohibition on the Use of Discretionary Clauses Model Act (Model Act), which prohibits the use of such clauses in health insurance contracts. At the 2004 Spring National Meeting, the Consumer Protections Working Group of the Executive (EX) Committee decided that a public hearing should be held in conjunction with the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee during the 2004 Summer National Meeting. The hearing was intended to create a forum for interested parties to discuss whether the NAIC should expand the Model Act to include disability income insurance. The public hearing resulted in a request that staff draft amendments to the model act to prohibit the use of discretionary clauses in disability income insurance as well as health insurance for consideration by the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee. The draft amendments to the Model Act were adopted unanimously by the B Committee at the 2004 Fall National Meeting.

2. Group Responsible for Drafting Model and States Participating

The Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee was responsible for drafting the Model Act, chaired by Commissioner Praeger. The following states were members of the Committee: Kansas, Montana, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, Wisconsin, and West Virginia.

3. Charge Authorizing Project

B Committee Charge: Monitor, report, and analyze developments related to ERISA, and make recommendations regarding NAIC strategy and policy with respect to those developments. Report quarterly.

4. Description of Drafting Process

2004 Spring National Meeting – The Consumer Protections Working Group of the Executive (EX) Committee Health Insurance and the Managed Care (B) Committee decided that a joint public hearing should be held at the 2004 Summer National Meeting.

2004 Summer National Meeting – A joint public hearing of the Consumer Protections Working Group of the Executive (EX) Committee and Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee was held. The following individuals testified at the hearing: Mary Ellen Signorille (AARP Foundation, Litigation); Terri Sorota (American Council of Life Insurers—ACLI); Richard E. Ramsay (America's Health Insurance Plans—AHIP); Brad Wegner (Association of California Life and Health Insurance Companies); Sonya Schwartz (Families USA); Mila Kofman (Georgetown University—Health Policy Institute); Teresa S. Renaker (Lewis & Feinberg, P.C.) and clients Joanna Baida, Mark Rosten, and Gregory Rowe; Ruth Silver Taube (Silver & Taube); Melvyn D. Silver (Silver & Taube); Lawrence Frank (Standard Insurance Company); Karrol Kitt (The University of Texas at Austin); and Cathey W. Steinberg (Women's Policy Group, Women's Policy Education Fund). Testimony and written submissions were collected and are included as part of the written record of the hearing. Following the hearing, staff was directed to draft and circulate amendments to the Prohibition on the Use Of Discretionary Clauses Model Act for consideration by the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee at the 2004 Fall National Meeting

August 2004 – Draft amendments were emailed to the B Committee and interested parties. Comments were requested. Comments were collected and emailed to B Committee and interested parties prior to the 2004 Fall National Meeting.

2004 Fall National Meeting – Draft amendments and comments were reviewed. After discussion in which regulators and interested parties participated, the B Committee unanimously voted to adopt the revisions to the model act.

Significant Issues Raised

- The current Prohibition on the Use of Discretionary Clauses Model Act prohibits the use of discretionary clauses in health insurance contracts. The inclusion of discretionary clauses in disability income insurance policies is as objectionable as their inclusion in health insurance policies.

- Insurers argued that a recent Supreme Court case, Aetna v. Davila, taken together with other cases, invalidated the ability of the state to prohibit the use of discretionary clauses. The Davila case, however, is about remedies under ERISA, not about a discretionary standard. Nothing in the Davila case overrules a prior Supreme Court opinion that states that discretionary clauses can be prohibited by state law.

PROJECT HISTORY – 2002

PROHIBITION ON THE USE OF DISCRETIONARY CLAUSES MODEL ACT (#42)

1. Project Description

The working group reviewed the practice and case law on the issue of insurers using discretionary clauses in their insurance contracts. The ERISA Working Group agreed to develop a draft model act prohibiting the use of discretionary clauses in health insurance contracts.

2. Group Responsible for Drafting Model and States Participating

The ERISA Working Group of the Health Insurance & Managed Care (B) Committee was responsible for drafting the model. Wisconsin chaired the working group. The following states were members of the working group: Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia.

3. Charge Authorizing Project

Working Group Charge: Monitor, report, and analyze developments related to ERISA, and make recommendations regarding NAIC strategy and policy with respect to those developments. Report quarterly.

4. Description of Drafting Process

March 2001 National Meeting—ERISA WG reviews documents regarding issue in closed session (Indiana had reviewed issue; confidential document was provided to regulators). ERISA WG asked staff to draft a memorandum for next national meeting.

June 2001 National Meeting—ERISA WG reviews memorandum and agrees to develop a model act prohibiting such clauses. Reported to B Committee.

December 2001 National Meeting—ERISA WG reviews draft model act and comments received. Further comments requested. Reported to B Committee.

March 2001 National Meeting—ERISA WG recommends adoption of model to B Committee. B Committee adopts model. Interested parties comment at both meetings.

Significant Issues Raised

- Discretionary clauses purport to give an insurance company full and final discretion in interpreting benefits and administering an insurance contract.

- Circuit Courts of Appeals have generally concluded that courts must give deference to claims decisions by insurers when insurance contracts confer discretion to the insurer to interpret the terms of the contract. Consequently, it is an industry practice to use the clauses in contracts.

- Regulators found this particularly troubling given that most of the courts recognize that there is a substantial conflict of interest between the carrier's financial interest in deciding claims and the interest of claimants in obtaining coverage. Such an inherent conflict of interest makes the reservation of complete and final discretion to the insurer patently unfair and a de novo standard of review appropriate for the review of insurer's claim decisions.

- Several states have concluded that the inclusion of discretionary clauses in insurance contracts is considered inequitable, deceptive and misleading to consumers.

- Insurers argued that the model act is preempted under ERISA. However, states are not preempted by ERISA in prohibiting the use of discretionary clauses in insurance contracts because under ERISA states are free to regulate insurance, including the contents of insurance contracts.

- Insurers also argued that the model act will result increased litigation and health care costs. However, several states currently prohibit the use of discretionary clauses and industry failed to present evidence of a resulting increase in litigation or rise in the cost of health insurance in those states. In fact, prohibiting discretionary clauses has no effect on who may file a lawsuit, or when. Furthermore, as regulators pointed out, the majority of carriers pay claims that should be paid, and therefore it is only a small number of claims that are disputed. The claimant needs to show by a preponderance of the evidence that the claim should be paid. Plaintiffs can show this now, but with the presence of a discretionary clause, get thrown out of court because there is no abuse of discretion.

PREPAID LIMITED HEALTH SERVICE ORGANIZATION MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Short Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the "Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act of [insert state]."

Section 2. Definitions

As used in this Act, unless otherwise defined in this Act:

A. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: This model uses the term "commissioner." Each state should use the title of its chief insurance supervisory official.

B. "Enrollee" means an individual, including dependents, who is entitled to limited health services pursuant to a contract with an entity authorized to provide or arrange for such services under this Act.

C. "Evidence of coverage" means the certificate, agreement or contract issued pursuant to Section 9 of this Act setting forth the coverage to which an enrollee is entitled.

D. "Limited health service" means dental care services, vision care services, mental health services, substance abuse services, pharmaceutical services, podiatric care services, and such other services as may be determined by the commissioner to be limited health services. Limited health service shall not include hospital, medical, surgical or emergency services except as these services are provided incident to the limited health services set forth in the preceding sentence.

E. "Prepaid limited health service organization" means any corporation, partnership or other entity that, in return for a prepayment, undertakes to provide or arrange for the provision of one or more limited health services to enrollees. Prepaid limited health service organization does not include:

(1) An entity otherwise authorized pursuant to the laws of this state either to provide any limited health service on a prepayment or other basis or to indemnify for any limited health service;

(2) An entity that meets the requirements of Section 7 of this Act; or

(3) A provider or entity when providing or arranging for the provision of limited health services pursuant to a contract with a prepaid limited health service organization or with an entity described in Paragraph (1) or (2) of this definition.

Drafting Note: The primary objective of this model legislation is to provide the means to regulate limited health service plans, which currently escape regulation in many states. At the same time, this model act seeks to avoid unnecessary duplication of regulation for other entities, which currently are authorized pursuant to state law to provide limited health services on a prepayment or other basis or to indemnify for such services. Certain of these entities, however, which do not meet the prepaid limited health service organization definition, may provide limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis by fulfilling the requirements of Section 7.

Each state should consider whether the repeal of existing statutes governing single health care service organizations, e.g., for-profit dental plan organization statutes, nonprofit dental service corporation statutes, vision care statutes, will advance the purpose of this Act in its own jurisdiction.

F. "Provider" means a physician, dentist, health facility, or other person or institution that is licensed or otherwise authorized to deliver or furnish limited health services.

H. "Subscriber" means the person whose employment or other status, except for family dependency, is the basis for entitlement to limited health services pursuant to a contract with an entity authorized to provide or arrange for such services under this Act.

Section 3. Certificate of Authority Required

No person, corporation, partnership or other entity may operate a prepaid limited health service organization in this state without obtaining and maintaining a certificate of authority from the commissioner pursuant to this Act.

Section 4. Application for Certificate of Authority

An application for a certificate of authority to operate a prepaid limited health service organization shall be filed with the commissioner on a form prescribed by the commissioner. The application shall be verified by an officer or authorized representative of the applicant and shall set forth, or be accompanied by, the following:

A. A copy of the applicant's basic organizational document, such as the articles of incorporation, articles of association, partnership agreement, trust agreement or other applicable documents and all amendments to these documents;

B. A copy of all bylaws, rules and regulations, or similar documents, if any, regulating the conduct of the applicant's internal affairs;

C. A list of the names, addresses, official positions, and biographical information of the individuals who are responsible for conducting the applicant's affairs, including but not limited to, all members of the board of directors, board of trustees, executive committee, or other governing board or committee, the principal officers, and any person or entity owning or having the right to acquire ten percent (10%) or more of the voting securities of the applicant, and the partners or members in the case of a partnership or association;

D. A statement generally describing the applicant, its facilities, personnel and the limited health services to be offered;

E. A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any providers regarding the provision of limited health services to enrollees;

F. A copy of the form of any contract made, or to be made between the applicant and any person listed in Subsection C of this section;

G. A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any person, corporation, partnership or other entity for the performance on the applicant's behalf of any functions including, but not limited to, marketing, administration, enrollment, investment management and subcontracting for the provision of limited health services to enrollees;

H. A copy of the form of any group contract that is to be issued to employers, unions, trustees or other organizations and a copy of any form of evidence of coverage to be issued to subscribers;

I. A copy of the applicant's most recent financial statements audited by independent certified public accountants. If the financial affairs of the applicant's parent company are audited by independent certified public accountants but those of the applicant are not, then a copy of the most recent audited financial statement of the applicant's parent company, certified by an independent certified public accountant, attached to which shall be consolidating financial statements of the applicant, shall satisfy this requirement unless the commissioner determines that additional or more recent financial information is required for the proper administration of this Act;

J. A copy of the applicant's financial plan, including a three-year projection of anticipated operating results, a statement of the sources of working capital, and any other sources of funding and provisions for contingencies;

K. A schedule of rates and charges;

L. A description of the proposed method of marketing;

M. A statement acknowledging that all lawful process in any legal action or proceeding against the applicant on a cause of action arising in this state is valid if served in accordance with [insert citation to appropriate section of insurance code];

N. A description of the complaint procedures to be established and maintained as required under Section 13 of this Act;

O. A description of the quality assessment and utilization review procedures to be utilized by the applicant;

P. A description of how the applicant will comply with Section 18 of this Act;

Q. The fee for issuance of a certificate of authority provided in Section 24 of this Act; and

R. Such other information as the commissioner may reasonably require to make the determinations required by this Act.

Section 5. Issuance of Certificate of Authority; Denial

A. Following receipt of an application filed pursuant to Section 4, the commissioner shall review the application and notify the applicant of any deficiencies. The commissioner shall issue a certificate of authority to an applicant provided that the following conditions are met:

(1) The requirements of Section 4 have been fulfilled;

(2) The individuals responsible for conducting the applicant's affairs are competent, trustworthy and possess good reputations, and have had appropriate experience, training or education;

(3) The applicant is financially responsible and may reasonably be expected to meet its obligations to enrollees and to prospective enrollees. In making this determination, the commissioner may consider:

(a) The financial soundness of the applicant's arrangements for limited health services and the minimum standard rates, deductibles, copayments and other patient charges used in connection therewith;

(b) The adequacy of working capital, other sources of funding, and provisions for contingencies;

(c) Any agreement for paying the cost of the limited health services or for alternative coverage in the event of insolvency of the prepaid limited health service organization; and

(d) The manner in which the requirements of Section 18 of this Act have been fulfilled;

(4) The agreements with providers for the provision of limited health services contain the provisions required by Section 17 of this Act; and

(5) Any deficiencies identified by the commissioner have been corrected.

B. If the certificate of authority is denied, the commissioner shall notify the applicant and shall specify the reasons for denial in the notice. The prepaid limited health service organization shall have [insert number] days from the date of receipt of the notice to request a hearing before the commissioner pursuant to [insert citation to state's administrative procedures act].

Section 6. Effect on Organizations Operating on Effective Date of this Act

Within [insert number] days after the effective date of this Act, every prepaid limited health service organization operating in this state without a certificate of authority shall submit an application for a certificate of authority to the commissioner. Each such organization may continue to operate during the pendency of its application. In the event an application is denied under this section, the applicant will then be treated as a prepaid limited health service organization whose certificate of authority has been revoked.

Section 7. Filing Requirements for Authorized Entities

A. An entity authorized pursuant to the laws of this state to operate a health maintenance organization, an accident and health insurance company, a nonprofit health, hospital or medical service corporation or a fraternal benefit society and that is not otherwise authorized pursuant to the laws of this state to offer limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis may do so by filing for approval with the commissioner the information requested by Section 4D, E, G, H, J, K, L and O and any subsequent material modification or addition thereto.

B. If the commissioner disapproves the filing, the procedures set forth in Section 5B of this Act shall be followed.

Drafting Note: This section enables specified entities, which already are authorized pursuant to state law to provide certain health benefits or services, to expand their product offerings to include limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis. To do so, the entities must file an attenuated application for approval pursuant to this Act. The attenuated filing is designed to provide the commissioner with the information essential to understanding the product offering. Of course, these entities remain subject to all of the financial and other requirements of their enabling legislation. Entities that already are authorized pursuant to state law to provide limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis fall outside the ambit of this Act.

Section 8. Changes in Rates and Benefits, Material Modifications; Addition of Limited Health Services

A. A prepaid limited health service organization shall file with the commissioner prior to use, a notice of any change in rates, charges or benefits and of any material modification of any matter or document furnished pursuant to Section 4, together with supporting documents necessary to fully explain the change or modification. If the commissioner does not disapprove the filing within [insert number] days of its filing, the filing shall be deemed approved.

B. If a prepaid limited health service organization desires to add one or more limited health services, it shall file a notice with the commissioner and, at the same time, shall submit the information required by Section 4 (if different from that filed with the prepaid limited health service organization's application), and shall demonstrate compliance with Sections 17, 18 and 24. If the commissioner does not disapprove the filing within [insert number] days of its filing, the filing shall be deemed approved.

C. If such filings are disapproved, the commissioner shall notify the prepaid limited health service organization and shall specify the reasons for disapproval in the notice. The prepaid limited health service organization shall have [insert number] days from the date of receipt of notice to request a hearing before the commissioner pursuant to [insert citation to state's administrative procedures act].

Section 9. Evidence of Coverage

A. Every subscriber shall be issued an evidence of coverage, which shall contain a clear and complete statement of:

(1) The limited health services to which each enrollee is entitled;

(2) Any limitation of the services, kinds of services or benefits to be provided, and exclusions, including any deductible, copayment or other charges;

(3) Where and in what manner information is available as to where and how services may be obtained; and

(4) The method for resolving complaints.

B. Any amendment to the evidence of coverage may be provided to the subscriber in a separate document.

Section 10. Rates and Charges

The rates and charges shall be reasonable in relation to the services provided. The commissioner may request information from the prepaid limited health service organization supporting the appropriateness of the rates and charges.

Section 11. Construction with Other Laws

A. (1) A prepaid limited health service organization organized under the laws of this state shall be deemed to be a domestic insurer for purposes of [insert citation to the state's insurance holding company system regulatory act] unless specifically exempted in writing from one or more of the provisions of that act by the commissioner.

(2) A prepaid limited health service organization shall be subject to [insert citations to pertinent sections of state's unfair insurance trade practices act and penalty provisions governing insurance companies].

(3) No other provision of the insurance code shall apply to a prepaid limited health service organization unless such an organization is specifically mentioned therein.

Drafting Note: Each state should review its unfair insurance trade practices act and penalty provisions governing insurance companies to determine if any of its provisions should not apply to prepaid limited health service organizations.

B. The provision of limited health services by a prepaid limited health service organization or other entity pursuant to this Act shall not be deemed to be the practice of medicine or other healing arts.

Drafting Note: The intent of Subsection B of this section is to specify that prepaid limited health service organizations and other entities operating pursuant to this Act are not involved in the practice of medicine or in the practice of any other form of health services. Since the statutes in a number of states define one or more types of health services as other than the practice of medicine, this exclusion should contain references to the applicable sections of a state's licensing provisions.

C. Solicitation to arrange for or provide limited health services in accordance with this Act shall not be construed to violate any provision of law relating to solicitation or advertising by health professionals.

Section 12. Nonduplication of Coverage

Notwithstanding any other law of this state, a prepaid limited health service organization, health maintenance organization, accident and health insurance company, nonprofit health or hospital or medical service corporation or fraternal benefit society may exclude, in any contract or policy issued to a group, any coverage that would duplicate the coverage for limited health services (whether in the form of services, supplies or reimbursement), insofar as the coverage or service is provided in accordance with this Act under a contract or policy issued to the same group or to a part of that group by a prepaid limited health service organization, a health maintenance organization, an accident and health insurance company, a nonprofit health or hospital or medical service corporation or a fraternal benefit society.

Drafting Note: A number of state laws mandate coverage for various health care benefits and services. Under current law, health maintenance organizations, accident and health insurance companies, nonprofit health, hospital or medical service corporations, and fraternal benefit societies must include the mandated benefit in a group policy or contract without exception. This section permits the exclusion of the mandated benefit or services from the policy or contract to the extent that it is provided as a limited health service. In this manner, the insureds/covered persons receive the benefit mandated by law, but there is no expensive duplication. Without this provision, employers would have to pay twice for mandated benefits for limited health services. Such a result would severely limit the development and competitiveness of plans providing limited health services, which would be to the detriment of employers and consumers.

Section 13. Complaint System

Every prepaid limited health service organization shall establish and maintain a complaint system providing reasonable procedures for resolving written complaints initiated by enrollees and providers. Nothing herein shall be construed to preclude an enrollee or a provider from filing a complaint with the commissioner or as limiting the commissioner's ability to investigate such complaints.

Section 14. Examination of Organization

A. The commissioner may examine the affairs of any prepaid limited health service organization as often as is reasonably necessary to protect the interests of the people of this state, but not less frequently than once every [insert number] years.

B. Every prepaid limited health service organization shall make its relevant books and records available for an examination and in every way cooperate with the commissioner to facilitate an examination.

C. The reasonable expenses of an examination under this section shall be charged to the organization being examined and remitted to the commissioner.

D. In lieu of an examination, the commissioner may accept the report of an examination made by the commissioner of another state.

Section 15. Investments

The funds of a prepaid limited health service organization shall be invested only in accordance with the guidelines established by the National Association of Insurance Cmmissioners for investments by health maintenance organizations.

Section 16. Agents

No individual may apply, procure, negotiate or place for others any policy or contract of a prepaid limited health service organization unless that individual holds a license or is otherwise authorized to sell accident and health insurance policies, health, hospital or medical service contracts, or health maintenance organization contracts.

Section 17. Contracts with Providers

All contracts with providers or with entities subcontracting for the provision of limited health services to enrollees on a prepayment or other basis shall contain or shall be construed to contain the following terms and conditions:

A. In the event the prepaid limited health service organization fails to pay for limited health services for any reason whatsoever, including but not limited to, insolvency or breach of contract, the enrollees shall not be liable to the provider for any sums owed to the provider under the contract.

B. No provider, agent, trustee or assignee thereof may maintain an action at law or attempt to collect from the enrollee sums owed to the provider by the prepaid limited health service organization.

C. These provisions do not prohibit collection of uncovered charges consented to by enrollees or collection of copayments from enrollees.

D. These provisions shall survive the termination of the contract, regardless of the reason giving rise to termination.

E. Termination of the contract shall not release the provider from completing procedures in progress on enrollees then receiving treatment for a specific condition for a period not to exceed [insert number] days, at the same schedule of copayment or other applicable charge in effect upon the effective date of termination of the contract.

F. Any amendment to these foregoing provisions of the contract must be submitted to and be approved by the commissioner prior to becoming effective.

Section 18. Protection Against Insolvency; Deposit

A. (1) Except as approved in accordance with Subsection D of this section, each prepaid limited health service organization shall at all times have and maintain tangible net equity equal to the greater of:

(a) $50,000; or

(b) Two percent (2%) of the organization's annual gross premium income, up to a maximum of the required capital and surplus of an accident and health insurer.

(2) A prepaid limited health service organization that has uncovered expenses in excess of $50,000, as reported on the most recent annual financial statement filed with the commissioner, shall maintain tangible net equity equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the uncovered expense in excess of $50,000 in addition to the tangible net equity required by Subsection A(1) of this section.

B. For the purpose of this section, "net equity" means the excess of total assets over total liabilities, excluding liabilities which have been subordinated in a manner acceptable to the commissioner. "Tangible net equity" means net equity reduced by the value assigned to intangible assets including, but not limited to, goodwill; going concern value; organizational expense; starting-up costs; long-term prepayments of deferred charges; nonreturnable deposits; and obligations of officers, directors, owners, or affiliates, except short-term obligations of affiliates for goods or services arising in the normal course of business that are payable on the same terms as equivalent transactions with nonaffiliates and that are not past due.

C. (1) Each prepaid limited health service organization shall deposit with the commissioner or with any organization or trustee acceptable to the commissioner through which a custodial or controlled account is utilized, cash, securities or any combination of these or other measures that is acceptable to the commissioner in an amount equal to $25,000 plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the tangible net equity required in Subsection A of this section; provided, however, that the deposit shall not be required to exceed $100,000.

(2) The deposit shall be an admitted asset of the prepaid limited health service organization in the determination of tangible net equity.

(3) All income from deposits shall be an asset of the prepaid limited health service organization. A prepaid limited health service organization may withdraw a deposit or any part thereof after making a substitute deposit of equal amount and value. Any securities shall be approved by the commissioner before being substituted.

(4) The deposit shall be used to protect the interests of the prepaid limited health service organization's enrollees and to assure continuation of limited health care services to enrollees of a prepaid limited health service organization that is in rehabilitation or conservation. If a prepaid limited health service organization is placed in receivership or liquidation, the deposit shall be an asset subject to provisions of the liquidation act.

(5) The commissioner may reduce or eliminate the deposit requirement if the prepaid limited health service organization has made an acceptable deposit with the state or jurisdiction of domicile for the protection of all enrollees, wherever located, and delivers to the commissioner a certificate to that effect, duly authenticated by the appropriate state official holding the deposit.

D. Upon application by a prepaid limited health service organization, the commissioner may waive some or all of the requirements of Subsection A of this section for any period of time the commissioner deems proper upon a finding that either (1) the prepaid limited health service organization has a net equity of at least $5,000,000; or (2) an entity having a net equity of at least $5,000,000 furnishes to the commissioner a written commitment, acceptable to the commissioner, to provide for the uncovered expenses of the prepaid limited health service organization.

E. For the purposes of this section, "uncovered expense" means the cost of health care services that are the obligation of a prepaid limited health organization (1) for which an enrollee may be liable in the event of the insolvency of the organization and (2) for which alternative arrangements acceptable to the commissioner have not been made to cover the costs. Costs incurred by a provider who has agreed in writing not to bill enrollees, except for permissible supplemental charges, shall be considered a covered expense.

Drafting Note: Due to the limited scope of services provided and the limited underwriting risks associated with prepaid limited health service organizations, the tangible net equity requirements are lower than for full-service health maintenance organizations. In addition, this section provides suggested variable tangible net equity standards to take into account variations in plan size and amounts of uncovered expenses.

Section 19. Officers and Employees Fidelity Bond

A. A prepaid limited health service organization shall maintain in force a fidelity bond in its own name on its officers and employees in an amount not less than [insert amount] or in any other amount prescribed by the commissioner. Except as otherwise provided by this subsection, the bond must be issued by an insurance company that is licensed to do business in this state or, if the fidelity bond required by this subsection is not available from an insurance company that holds a certificate of authority in this state, a fidelity bond procured by a licensed surplus lines agent resident in this state in compliance with [insert citation to insurance code], shall satisfy the requirements of this subsection.

B. In lieu of the bond specified in Subsection A of this section, a prepaid limited health service organization may deposit with the [insert appropriate state authority] cash or securities or other investments of the types set forth in Section 15 of this Act. Such a deposit shall be maintained in joint custody with the commissioner in the amount and subject to the same conditions required for a bond under this subsection.

Section 20. Reports

A. Every prepaid limited health service organization shall file with the commissioner annually, on or before April 1, a report verified by at least two principal officers covering the preceding calendar year.

B. The report shall be on forms prescribed by the commissioner and shall include:

(1) A financial statement of the organization, including its balance sheet, income statement and statement of changes in financial position for the preceding year, certified by an independent public accountant or a consolidated audited financial statement of its parent company certified by an independent public accountant, attached to which shall be consolidating financial statements of the prepaid limited health service organization;

(2) The number of subscribers at the beginning of the year, the number of subscribers as of the end of the year, and the number of enrollments terminated during the year; and

(3) Such other information relating to the performance of the organization as is necessary to enable the commissioner to carry out his or her duties under this Act.

C. The commissioner may require more frequent reports containing such information as is necessary to enable the commissioner to carry out his or her duties under this Act.

D. The commissioner may assess a fine of up to $100 per day for each day any required report is late, and the commissioner may suspend the organization's certificate of authority pending the proper filing of the required report by the organization.

Section 21. Suspension or Revocation of Certificate of Authority

A. The commissioner may suspend or revoke the certificate of authority issued to a prepaid limited health service organization pursuant to this Act upon determining that any of the following conditions exist:

(1) The prepaid limited health service organization is operating significantly in contravention of its basic organizational document or in a manner contrary to that described in and reasonably inferred from any other information submitted pursuant to Section 4 of this Act, unless amendments to the submissions have been filed with and approved by the commissioner;

(2) The prepaid limited health service organization issues an evidence of coverage or uses rates or charges that do not comply with the requirements of Sections 9 and 10 of this Act;

(3) The prepaid limited health service organization is unable to fulfill its obligations to furnish limited health services;

(4) The prepaid limited health service organization is not financially responsible and may reasonably be expected to be unable to meet its obligations to enrollees or prospective enrollees;

(5) The tangible net equity of the prepaid limited health service organization is less than that required by Section 18 or the prepaid limited health service organization has failed to correct any deficiency in its tangible net equity as required by the commissioner;

(6) The prepaid limited health service organization has failed to implement in a reasonable manner the complaint system required by Section 13 of this Act;

(7) The continued operation of the prepaid limited health service organization would be hazardous to its enrollees; or

(8) The prepaid limited health service organization has otherwise failed to comply with this Act.

B. If the commissioner has cause to believe that grounds for the suspension or revocation of a certificate of authority exist, he or she shall notify the prepaid limited health service organization in writing specifically stating the grounds for suspension or revocation and fixing a time not more than sixty (60) days thereafter for a hearing on the matter in accordance with the [insert citation to state's administrative procedures act].

C. When the certificate of authority of a prepaid limited health service organization is revoked, the organization shall proceed, immediately following the effective date of the order of revocation, to wind up its affairs, and shall conduct no further business except as may be essential to the orderly conclusion of the affairs of the organization. It shall engage in no further advertising or solicitation whatsoever. The commissioner may, by written order, permit such further operation of the organization as he may find to be in the best interest of enrollees, to the end that enrollees will be afforded the greatest practical opportunity to obtain continuing limited health services.

Section 22. Penalties

In lieu of any penalty specified elsewhere in this Act, or when no penalty is specifically provided, whenever a prepaid limited health service organization or other person, corporation, partnership or entity subject to this Act has been found, pursuant to [insert citation to the appropriate sections of the state's administrative procedures act] to have violated any provision of this Act, the commissioner may:

A. Issue and cause to be served upon the organization, person, or entity charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the organization, person or entity to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice that constitutes the violation; and

B. Impose a monetary penalty of not more than $1,000 for each violation, but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $10,000.

Section 23. Rehabilitation, Conservation or Liquidation

A. Any rehabilitation, conservation or liquidation of a prepaid limited health service organization shall be deemed to be the rehabilitation, conservation or liquidation of an insurance company and shall be conducted pursuant to [insert citations to statutory sections governing the rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation of insurance companies].

B. A prepaid limited health service organization shall not be subject to the laws and regulations governing insurance insolvency guaranty funds, nor shall any insurance insolvency guaranty fund provide protection to individuals entitled to receive limited health services from a prepaid limited health service organization.

Section 24. Fees

Every prepaid limited health service organization subject to this Act shall pay to the commissioner the following fees:

A. For filing an application for a certificate of authority or amendment thereto—[insert amount];

B. For filing a material modification or addition of a limited health service—[insert amount];

C. For filing each annual report—[insert amount]; and

D. For filing periodic reports as required by the commissioner—[insert amount].

Section 25. Confidentiality

A. Any information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment or health of any enrollee obtained from the person or from a provider by a prepaid limited health service organization and any contract with providers submitted pursuant to the requirements of this Act shall be held in confidence and shall not be disclosed to any person except:

(1) To the extent that it may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act;

(2) Upon the express consent of the enrollee or applicant, provider or prepaid limited health service organization, as appropriate;

(3) Pursuant to statute or court order for the production of evidence or the discovery thereof; or

(4) In the event of claim or litigation wherein the data or information is relevant.

B. With respect to any information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment or health of any enrollee or applicant, a prepaid limited health service organization shall be entitled to claim any statutory privileges against disclosure that the provider who furnished the information to the prepaid limited health service organization is entitled to claim.

C. In addition, any information provided to the commissioner that constitutes a trade secret, is privileged information, or is part of a department investigation or examination shall be held in confidence.

Section 26. Taxes

The same [tax/tax rates] provided for in [insert citation to state's health maintenance organization act] shall be imposed upon each prepaid limited health service organization, and the organization also shall be entitled to the same tax deductions, reductions, abatements and credits that health maintenance organizations are entitled to receive.

Drafting Note: The bracketed language in the first sentence of this section acknowledges that there may be different types of health maintenance organization taxes. Each state should review the applicability and appropriateness of extending any health maintenance organization taxes or tax rates that are in place to prepaid limited health service organizations. This review should consider: (1) the goals of, and reasoning for, the health maintenance organization taxes; (2) the significantly lower average per enrollee revenue of prepaid limited health service organizations as compared with that of health maintenance organizations; and (3) the applicability of equivalent health maintenance organization deductions, reductions, abatements and credits to prepaid limited health service organizations.

Section 27. Severability

If any section, term or provision of this Act shall be adjudged invalid for any reason by a court of competent jurisdiction, the judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate any other section, term or provision of this Act, but the remaining sections, terms and provisions shall be and remain in full force and effect.

Section 28. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act.

Section 29. Effective Date

The effective date of this Act shall be [insert date].

Chronological Summary of Action (all references are to the Proceedings of the NAIC).

1989 Proc. 1 9, 24-25, 703, 755, 796-804 (adopted).

PREPAID LIMITED HEALTH SERVICE ORGANIZATION MODEL ACT

The NAIC amended this model during the 2007 Summer National Meeting. These amendments were adopted as guidelines under the NAIC's model laws process. The 2007 2nd Quarter Guideline Amendments are highlighted in grey.

Table of Contents

Section 1. Short Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the "Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act of [insert state]."

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this model Act is to provide the means to regulate limited health service organizations, including Medicare Prescription Drug Plans (PDPs), that is fair and efficient, and promotes the continued solvency of prepaid limited health service organizations. At the same time, this model act seeks to avoid unnecessary duplication of regulation for other entities, which currently are authorized pursuant to state law to provide limited health services on a prepayment or other basis or to indemnify for such services. Certain of these entities, however, which do not meet the prepaid limited health service organization definition, may provide limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis by fulfilling the requirements of Section 8 of this Act.

Each state should consider whether the repeal of existing statutes governing single health care service organizations, e.g., for-profit dental plan organization statutes, nonprofit dental service corporation statutes, vision care statutes, will advance the purpose of this Act in its own jurisdiction.

This Act is designed to operate in conjunction with other state laws that establish standards for the regulation of health plans, such as, [insert state law equivalent to the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Model Act, the Quality Assessment and Improvement Model Act, the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Model Act, the Utilization Review Model Act, the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act, the Health Information Privacy Model Act, the Unfair Trade Practices Model Act, the Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Model Act, the Insurance Holding Company System Regulatory Act, and the Risk-Based Capital (RBC) for Health Organizations Model Act.

Section 3. Definitions

As used in this Act, unless otherwise defined in this Act:

A. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: This model uses the term "commissioner." Each state should use the title of its chief insurance supervisory official.

B. "Enrollee" means an individual, including dependents, who is entitled to limited health services pursuant to a contract with an entity authorized to provide or arrange for such services under this Act.

C. "Evidence of coverage" means the certificate, agreement or contract issued pursuant to Section 9 of this Act setting forth the coverage to which an enrollee is entitled.

D. (1) "Limited health service" means dental care services, vision care services, mental health services, substance abuse services, pharmaceutical services, podiatric care services, and such other services as may be determined by the commissioner to be limited health services.

(2) Limited health service shall not include hospital, medical, surgical or emergency services except as these services are provided incident to the limited health services set forth in the preceding sentence.

E. (1) "Prepaid limited health service organization" means any corporation, partnership or other entity that, in return for a prepayment, undertakes to provide or arrange for the provision of one or more limited health services to enrollees.

(2) Prepaid limited health service organization does not include:

(a) An entity otherwise authorized pursuant to the laws of this state either to provide any limited health service on a prepayment or other basis or to indemnify for any limited health service;

(b) An entity that meets the requirements of Section 8 of this Act; or

(c) A provider or entity when providing or arranging for the provision of limited health services pursuant to a contract with a prepaid limited health service organization or with an entity described in Subparagraph (a) or (b) of this Paragraph.

F. "Provider" means a physician, dentist, health facility, or other person or institution that is licensed or otherwise authorized to deliver or furnish limited health services.

G. "Subscriber" means the person whose employment or other status, except for family dependency, is the basis for entitlement to limited health services pursuant to a contract with an entity authorized to provide or arrange for such services under this Act.

Section 4. Certificate of Authority Required

No person, corporation, partnership or other entity may operate a prepaid limited health service organization in this state without obtaining and maintaining a certificate of authority from the commissioner pursuant to this Act.

Section 5. Application for Certificate of Authority

A. An application for a certificate of authority to operate a prepaid limited health service organization shall be filed with the commissioner on a form prescribed by the commissioner.

B. The application shall be verified by an officer or authorized representative of the applicant and shall set forth, or be accompanied by, the following:

(1). A copy of the applicant's basic organizational document, such as the articles of incorporation, articles of association, partnership agreement, trust agreement or other applicable documents and all amendments to these documents;

(2). A copy of all bylaws, rules and regulations, or similar documents, if any, regulating the conduct of the applicant's internal affairs;

(3). A list of the names, addresses, official positions, and biographical information of the individuals who are responsible for conducting the applicant's affairs, including but not limited to, all members of the board of directors, board of trustees, executive committee, or other governing board or committee, the principal officers, and any person or entity owning or having the right to acquire ten percent (10%) or more of the voting securities of the applicant, and the partners or members in the case of a partnership or association;

(4). A statement generally describing the applicant, its facilities, personnel and the limited health services to be offered;

(5). A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any providers regarding the provision of limited health services to enrollees;

(6). A copy of the form of any contract made, or to be made between the applicant and any person listed in Paragraph (3) of this section;

(7). A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any person, corporation, partnership or other entity for the performance on the applicant's behalf of any functions including, but not limited to, marketing, administration, enrollment, investment management and subcontracting for the provision of limited health services to enrollees;

(8). A copy of the form of any group contract that is to be issued to employers, unions, trustees or other organizations and a copy of any form of evidence of coverage to be issued to subscribers;

(9). A copy of the applicant's most recent financial statements audited by independent certified public accountants. If the financial affairs of the applicant's parent company are audited by independent certified public accountants but those of the applicant are not, then a copy of the most recent audited financial statement of the applicant's parent company, certified by an independent certified public accountant, attached to which shall be consolidating financial statements of the applicant, shall satisfy this requirement unless the commissioner determines that additional or more recent financial information is required for the proper administration of this Act;

(10). A copy of the applicant's financial plan, including a three-year projection of anticipated operating results, a statement of the sources of working capital, and any other sources of funding and provisions for contingencies;

(11). A schedule of rates and charges;

(12). A description of the proposed method of marketing;

(13). A statement acknowledging that all lawful process in any legal action or proceeding against the applicant on a cause of action arising in this state is valid if served in accordance with [insert citation to appropriate section of insurance code];

(14). A description of the complaint procedures to be established and maintained as required under Section 14 of this Act;

(15). A description of the quality assessment and utilization review procedures to be utilized by the applicant;

(16). A description of how the applicant will comply with Section 19 of this Act;

(17). The fee for issuance of a certificate of authority provided in Section 25 of this Act; and (18). Such other information as the commissioner may reasonably require to make the determinations required by this Act.

Section 6. Issuance of Certificate of Authority; Denial

A. Following receipt of an application filed pursuant to Section 5, the commissioner shall review the application and notify the applicant of any deficiencies.

B. The commissioner shall issue a certificate of authority to an applicant provided that the following conditions are met:

(1) The requirements of Section 5 have been fulfilled;

(2) The individuals responsible for conducting the applicant's affairs are competent, trustworthy and possess good reputations, and have had appropriate experience, training or education;

(3) The applicant is financially responsible and may reasonably be expected to meet its obligations to enrollees and to prospective enrollees. In making this determination, the commissioner may consider:

(a) The financial soundness of the applicant's arrangements for limited health services and the minimum standard rates, deductibles, copayments and other patient charges used in connection therewith;

(b) The adequacy of working capital, other sources of funding, and provisions for contingencies;

(c) Any agreement for paying the cost of the limited health services or for alternative coverage in the event of insolvency of the prepaid limited health service organization; and

(d) The manner in which the requirements of Section 18 of this Act have been fulfilled;

(4) The agreements with providers for the provision of limited health services contain the provisions required by Section 18 of this Act; and

(5) Any deficiencies identified by the commissioner have been corrected.

C. If the certificate of authority is denied, the commissioner shall notify the applicant and shall specify the reasons for denial in the notice. The prepaid limited health service organization shall have [insert number] days from the date of receipt of the notice to request a hearing before the commissioner pursuant to [insert citation to state's administrative procedures act].

Section 7. Effect on Organizations Operating on Effective Date of this Act

Within [insert number] days after the effective date of this Act, every prepaid limited health service organization operating in this state without a certificate of authority shall submit an application for a certificate of authority to the commissioner. Each such organization may continue to operate during the pendency of its application. In the event an application is denied under this section, the applicant will then be treated as a prepaid limited health service organization whose certificate of authority has been revoked.

Section 8. Filing Requirements for Authorized Entities

A. An entity authorized pursuant to the laws of this state to operate a health maintenance organization, an accident and health insurance company, a nonprofit health, hospital or medical service corporation or a fraternal benefit society and that is not otherwise authorized pursuant to the laws of this state to offer limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis may do so by filing for approval with the commissioner the information requested by Paragraphs (4), (5), (7), (8), (10), (11), (12) and (15) of Section 5B and any subsequent material modification or addition thereto.

B. If the commissioner disapproves the filing, the procedures set forth in Section 6C of this Act shall be followed.

Drafting Note: This section enables specified entities, which already are authorized pursuant to state law to provide certain health benefits or services, to expand their product offerings to include limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis. To do so, the entities must file an attenuated application for approval pursuant to this Act. The attenuated filing is designed to provide the commissioner with the information essential to understanding the product offering. Of course, these entities remain subject to all of the financial and other requirements of their enabling legislation. Entities that already are authorized pursuant to state law to provide limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis fall outside the ambit of this Act.

Section 9. Changes in Rates and Benefits, Material Modifications; Addition of Limited Health Services

A. A prepaid limited health service organization shall file with the commissioner prior to use, a notice of any change in rates, charges or benefits and of any material modification of any matter or document furnished pursuant to Section 5 of this Act, together with supporting documents necessary to fully explain the change or modification. If the commissioner does not disapprove the filing within [insert number] days of its filing, the filing shall be deemed approved.

B. If a prepaid limited health service organization desires to add one or more limited health services, it shall file a notice with the commissioner and, at the same time, shall submit the information required by Section 4 (if different from that filed with the prepaid limited health service organization's application), and shall demonstrate compliance with Sections 18, 19 and 25 of this Act. If the commissioner does not disapprove the filing within [insert number] days of its filing, the filing shall be deemed approved.

C. If such filings are disapproved, the commissioner shall notify the prepaid limited health service organization and shall specify the reasons for disapproval in the notice. The prepaid limited health service organization shall have [insert number] days from the date of receipt of notice to request a hearing before the commissioner pursuant to [insert citation to state's administrative procedures act].

Section 10. Evidence of Coverage

A. Every subscriber shall be issued an evidence of coverage, which shall contain a clear and complete statement of:

(1) The limited health services to which each enrollee is entitled;

(2) Any limitation of the services, kinds of services or benefits to be provided, and exclusions, including any deductible, copayment or other charges;

(3) Where and in what manner information is available as to where and how services may be obtained; and

(4) The method for resolving complaints.

B. Any amendment to the evidence of coverage may be provided to the subscriber in a separate document.

Section 11. Rates and Charges

The rates and charges shall be reasonable in relation to the services provided. The commissioner may request information from the prepaid limited health service organization supporting the appropriateness of the rates and charges.

Section 12. Construction with Other Laws

A. (1) A prepaid limited health service organization organized under the laws of this state shall be deemed to be a domestic insurer for purposes of [insert citation to the state's insurance holding company system regulatory act] unless specifically exempted in writing from one or more of the provisions of that act by the commissioner.

(2) A prepaid limited health service organization shall be subject to [insert citations to pertinent sections of state's unfair insurance trade practices act and penalty provisions governing insurance companies].

(3) No other provision of the insurance code shall apply to a prepaid limited health service organization unless such an organization is specifically mentioned therein.

Drafting Note: Each state should review its unfair insurance trade practices act and penalty provisions governing insurance companies to determine if any of its provisions should not apply to prepaid limited health service organizations.

B. The provision of limited health services by a prepaid limited health service organization or other entity pursuant to this Act shall not be deemed to be the practice of medicine or other healing arts.

Drafting Note: The intent of Subsection B of this section is to specify that prepaid limited health service organizations and other entities operating pursuant to this Act are not involved in the practice of medicine or in the practice of any other form of health services. Since the statutes in a number of states define one or more types of health services as other than the practice of medicine, this exclusion should contain references to the applicable sections of a state's licensing provisions.

C. Solicitation to arrange for or provide limited health services in accordance with this Act shall not be construed to violate any provision of law relating to solicitation or advertising by health professionals.

Section 13. Nonduplication of Coverage

Notwithstanding any other law of this state, a prepaid limited health service organization, health maintenance organization, accident and health insurance company, nonprofit health or hospital or medical service corporation or fraternal benefit society may exclude, in any contract or policy issued to a group, any coverage that would duplicate the coverage for limited health services (whether in the form of services, supplies or reimbursement), insofar as the coverage or service is provided in accordance with this Act under a contract or policy issued to the same group or to a part of that group by a prepaid limited health service organization, a health maintenance organization, an accident and health insurance company, a nonprofit health or hospital or medical service corporation or a fraternal benefit society.

Drafting Note: A number of state laws mandate coverage for various health care benefits and services. Under current law, health maintenance organizations, accident and health insurance companies, nonprofit health, hospital or medical service corporations, and fraternal benefit societies must include the mandated benefit in a group policy or contract without exception. This section permits the exclusion of the mandated benefit or services from the policy or contract to the extent that it is provided as a limited health service. In this manner, the insureds/covered persons receive the benefit mandated by law, but there is no expensive duplication. Without this provision, employers would have to pay twice for mandated benefits for limited health services. Such a result would severely limit the development and competitiveness of plans providing limited health services, which would be to the detriment of employers and consumers.

Section 14. Complaint System

Every prepaid limited health service organization shall establish and maintain a complaint system providing reasonable procedures for resolving written complaints initiated by enrollees and providers. Nothing herein shall be construed to preclude an enrollee or a provider from filing a complaint with the commissioner or as limiting the commissioner's ability to investigate such complaints.

Section 15. Examination of Organization

A. The commissioner may examine the affairs of any prepaid limited health service organization as often as is reasonably necessary to protect the interests of the people of this state, but not less frequently than once every [insert number] years.

B. Every prepaid limited health service organization shall make its relevant books and records available for an examination and in every way cooperate with the commissioner to facilitate an examination.

C. The reasonable expenses of an examination under this section shall be charged to the organization being examined and remitted to the commissioner.

D. In lieu of an examination, the commissioner may accept the report of an examination made by the commissioner of another state.

Section 16. Investments

The funds of a prepaid limited health service organization shall be invested only in accordance with the guidelines established by the National Association of Insurance Cmmissioners for investments by health maintenance organizations.

Section 17. Agents

No individual may apply, procure, negotiate or place for others any policy or contract of a prepaid limited health service organization unless that individual holds a license or is otherwise authorized to sell accident and health insurance policies, health, hospital or medical service contracts, or health maintenance organization contracts.

Section 18. Contracts with Providers

All contracts with providers or with entities subcontracting for the provision of limited health services to enrollees on a prepayment or other basis shall contain or shall be construed to contain the following terms and conditions:

A. In the event the prepaid limited health service organization fails to pay for limited health services for any reason whatsoever, including but not limited to, insolvency or breach of contract, the enrollees shall not be liable to the provider for any sums owed to the provider under the contract.

B. No provider, agent, trustee or assignee thereof may maintain an action at law or attempt to collect from the enrollee sums owed to the provider by the prepaid limited health service organization.

C. These provisions do not prohibit collection of uncovered charges consented to by enrollees or collection of copayments from enrollees.

D. These provisions shall survive the termination of the contract, regardless of the reason giving rise to termination.

E. Termination of the contract shall not release the provider from completing procedures in progress on enrollees then receiving treatment for a specific condition for a period not to exceed [insert number] days, at the same schedule of copayment or other applicable charge in effect upon the effective date of termination of the contract.

F. Any amendment to these foregoing provisions of the contract must be submitted to and be approved by the commissioner prior to becoming effective.

Section 19. Protection Against Insolvency; Deposit

A. A prepaid limited health service organization shall maintain a minimum tangible net equity equal to the greater of $100,000 or the amount necessary to maintain capital required pursuant to [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Risk Based Capital for Health Organizations Model Act].

Drafting Note: The following alternate Subsection A, based on the 1989 version of the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Model Act, has been included for the benefit of states that have not adopted the Risk-Based Capital for Health Organizations Model Act:

B. (1) Except as approved in accordance with Subsection D of this section, each prepaid limited health service organization shall at all times have and maintain tangible net equity equal to the greater of:

(a) $100,000; or

(b) Two percent (2%) of the organization's annual gross premium income, up to a maximum of the required capital and surplus of an accident and health insurer.

(2) A prepaid limited health service organization that has uncovered expenses in excess of $100,000, as reported on the most recent annual financial statement filed with the commissioner, shall maintain tangible net equity equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the uncovered expense in excess of $100,000 in addition to the tangible net equity required by Subsection (B)(1) of this section.

C. For the purpose of this section, "net equity" means the excess of total assets over total liabilities, excluding liabilities which have been subordinated in a manner acceptable to the commissioner. "Tangible net equity" means net equity reduced by the value assigned to intangible assets including, but not limited to, goodwill; going concern value; organizational expense; starting-up costs; long-term prepayments of deferred charges; nonreturnable deposits; and obligations of officers, directors, owners, or affiliates, except short-term obligations of affiliates for goods or services arising in the normal course of business that are payable on the same terms as equivalent transactions with nonaffiliates and that are not past due.

D. (1) Each prepaid limited health service organization shall deposit with the commissioner or with any organization or trustee acceptable to the commissioner through which a custodial or controlled account is utilized, cash, securities or any combination of these or other measures that is acceptable to the commissioner in an amount equal to $50,000 plus twenty-five percent (25%) of the tangible net equity required in Subsection A of this section; provided, however, that the deposit shall not be required to exceed $200,000.

(2) The deposit shall be an admitted asset of the prepaid limited health service organization in the determination of tangible net equity.

(3) All income from deposits shall be an asset of the prepaid limited health service organization. A prepaid limited health service organization may withdraw a deposit or any part thereof after making a substitute deposit of equal amount and value. Any securities shall be approved by the commissioner before being substituted.

(4) The deposit shall be used to protect the interests of the prepaid limited health service organization's enrollees and to assure continuation of limited health care services to enrollees of a prepaid limited health service organization that is in rehabilitation or conservation. If a prepaid limited health service organization is placed in receivership or liquidation, the deposit shall be an asset subject to provisions of the liquidation act.

(5) The commissioner may reduce or eliminate the deposit requirement if the prepaid limited health service organization has made an acceptable deposit with the state or jurisdiction of domicile for the protection of all enrollees, wherever located, and delivers to the commissioner a certificate to that effect, duly authenticated by the appropriate state official holding the deposit.

E. Upon application by a prepaid limited health service organization, the commissioner may waive some or all of the requirements of Subsection A of this section for any period of time the commissioner deems proper upon a finding that either (1) the prepaid limited health service organization has a net equity of at least $10,000,000; or (2) an entity having a net equity of at least $10,000,000 furnishes to the commissioner a written commitment, acceptable to the commissioner, to provide for the uncovered expenses of the prepaid limited health service organization.

F. For the purposes of this section, "uncovered expense" means the cost of health care services that are the obligation of a prepaid limited health organization (1) for which an enrollee may be liable in the event of the insolvency of the organization and (2) for which alternative arrangements acceptable to the commissioner have not been made to cover the costs. Costs incurred by a provider who has agreed in writing not to bill enrollees, except for permissible supplemental charges, shall be considered a covered expense.

Drafting Note: Due to the limited scope of services provided and the limited underwriting risks associated with prepaid limited health service organizations, the tangible net equity requirements are lower than for full-service health maintenance organizations. In addition, this section provides suggested variable tangible net equity standards to take into account variations in plan size and amounts of uncovered expenses.

Section 20. Officers and Employees Fidelity Bond

A. A prepaid limited health service organization shall maintain in force a fidelity bond in its own name on its officers and employees in an amount not less than [$20,000,000] or in any other amount prescribed by the commissioner. Except as otherwise provided by this subsection, the bond must be issued by an insurance company that is licensed to do business in this state or, if the fidelity bond required by this subsection is not available from an insurance company that holds a certificate of authority in this state, a fidelity bond procured by a licensed surplus lines agent resident in this state in compliance with [insert citation to insurance code], shall satisfy the requirements of this subsection.

B. In lieu of the bond specified in Subsection A of this section, a prepaid limited health service organization may deposit with the [insert appropriate state authority] cash or securities or other investments of the types set forth in Section 16 of this Act. Such a deposit shall be maintained in joint custody with the commissioner in the amount and subject to the same conditions required for a bond under this subsection.

Section 21. Reports

A. Every prepaid limited health service organization shall file with the commissioner annually, on or before April 1, a report verified by at least two principal officers covering the preceding calendar year.

B. The report shall be on forms prescribed by the commissioner and shall include:

(1) A financial statement of the organization, including its balance sheet, income statement and statement of changes in financial position for the preceding year, certified by an independent public accountant or a consolidated audited financial statement of its parent company certified by an independent public accountant, attached to which shall be consolidating financial statements of the prepaid limited health service organization;

(2) The number of subscribers at the beginning of the year, the number of subscribers as of the end of the year, and the number of enrollments terminated during the year; and

(3) Such other information relating to the performance of the organization as is necessary to enable the commissioner to carry out his or her duties under this Act.

C. The commissioner may require more frequent reports containing such information as is necessary to enable the commissioner to carry out his or her duties under this Act.

D. The commissioner may assess a fine of up to $100 per day for each day any required report is late, and the commissioner may suspend the organization's certificate of authority pending the proper filing of the required report by the organization.

Section 22. Suspension or Revocation of Certificate of Authority

A. The commissioner may suspend or revoke the certificate of authority issued to a prepaid limited health service organization pursuant to this Act upon determining that any of the following conditions exist:

(1) The prepaid limited health service organization is operating significantly in contravention of its basic organizational document or in a manner contrary to that described in and reasonably inferred from any other information submitted pursuant to Section 5 of this Act, unless amendments to the submissions have been filed with and approved by the commissioner;

(2) The prepaid limited health service organization issues an evidence of coverage or uses rates or charges that do not comply with the requirements of Sections 10 and 11 of this Act;

(3) The prepaid limited health service organization is unable to fulfill its obligations to furnish limited health services;

(4) The prepaid limited health service organization is not financially responsible and may reasonably be expected to be unable to meet its obligations to enrollees or prospective enrollees;

(5) The tangible net equity of the prepaid limited health service organization is less than that required by Section 19 of this Act or the prepaid limited health service organization has failed to correct any deficiency in its tangible net equity as required by the commissioner;

(6) The prepaid limited health service organization has failed to implement in a reasonable manner the complaint system required by Section 14 of this Act;

(7) The continued operation of the prepaid limited health service organization would be hazardous to its enrollees; or

(8) The prepaid limited health service organization has otherwise failed to comply with this Act.

B. If the commissioner has cause to believe that grounds for the suspension or revocation of a certificate of authority exist, he or she shall notify the prepaid limited health service organization in writing specifically stating the grounds for suspension or revocation and fixing a time not more than sixty (60) days thereafter for a hearing on the matter in accordance with the [insert citation to state's administrative procedures act].

C. When the certificate of authority of a prepaid limited health service organization is revoked, the organization shall proceed, immediately following the effective date of the order of revocation, to wind up its affairs, and shall conduct no further business except as may be essential to the orderly conclusion of the affairs of the organization. It shall engage in no further advertising or solicitation whatsoever. The commissioner may, by written order, permit such further operation of the organization as he may find to be in the best interest of enrollees, to the end that enrollees will be afforded the greatest practical opportunity to obtain continuing limited health services.

Section 23. Penalties

In lieu of any penalty specified elsewhere in this Act, or when no penalty is specifically provided, whenever a prepaid limited health service organization or other person, corporation, partnership or entity subject to this Act has been found, pursuant to [insert citation to the appropriate sections of the state's administrative procedures act] to have violated any provision of this Act, the commissioner may:

A. Issue and cause to be served upon the organization, person, or entity charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the organization, person or entity to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice that constitutes the violation; and

B. Impose a monetary penalty of not more than $1,000 for each violation, but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $10,000.

Section 24. Rehabilitation, Conservation or Liquidation

A. Any rehabilitation, conservation or liquidation of a prepaid limited health service organization shall be deemed to be the rehabilitation, conservation or liquidation of an insurance company and shall be conducted pursuant to [insert citations to statutory sections governing the rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation of insurance companies].

B. A prepaid limited health service organization shall not be subject to the laws and regulations governing insurance insolvency guaranty funds, nor shall any insurance insolvency guaranty fund provide protection to individuals entitled to receive limited health services from a prepaid limited health service organization.

Section 25. Fees

Every prepaid limited health service organization subject to this Act shall pay to the commissioner the following fees:

A. For filing an application for a certificate of authority or amendment thereto—[insert amount];

B. For filing a material modification or addition of a limited health service—[insert amount];

C. For filing each annual report—[insert amount]; and

D. For filing periodic reports as required by the commissioner—[insert amount].

Section 26. Confidentiality

A. Any information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment or health of any enrollee obtained from the person or from a provider by a prepaid limited health service organization and any contract with providers submitted pursuant to the requirements of this Act shall be held in confidence and shall not be disclosed to any person except:

(1) To the extent that it may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act;

(2) Upon the express consent of the enrollee or applicant, provider or prepaid limited health service organization, as appropriate;

(3) Pursuant to statute or court order for the production of evidence or the discovery thereof; or

(4) In the event of claim or litigation wherein the data or information is relevant.

B. With respect to any information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment or health of any enrollee or applicant, a prepaid limited health service organization shall be entitled to claim any statutory privileges against disclosure that the provider who furnished the information to the prepaid limited health service organization is entitled to claim.

C. In addition, any information provided to the commissioner that constitutes a trade secret, is privileged information, or is part of a department investigation or examination shall be held in confidence.

Section 27. Taxes

The same [tax/tax rates] provided for in [insert citation to state's health maintenance organization act] shall be imposed upon each prepaid limited health service organization, and the organization also shall be entitled to the same tax deductions, reductions, abatements and credits that health maintenance organizations are entitled to receive.

Drafting Note: The bracketed language in the first sentence of this section acknowledges that there may be different types of health maintenance organization taxes. Each state should review the applicability and appropriateness of extending any health maintenance organization taxes or tax rates that are in place to prepaid limited health service organizations. This review should consider: (1) the goals of, and reasoning for, the health maintenance organization taxes; (2) the significantly lower average per enrollee revenue of prepaid limited health service organizations as compared with that of health maintenance organizations; and (3) the applicability of equivalent health maintenance organization deductions, reductions, abatements and credits to prepaid limited health service organizations.

Section 28. Severability

If any section, term or provision of this Act shall be adjudged invalid for any reason by a court of competent jurisdiction, the judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate any other section, term or provision of this Act, but the remaining sections, terms and provisions shall be and remain in full force and effect.

Section 29. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act.

Section 30. Effective Date

The effective date of this Act shall be [insert date].

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY – 2007

PREPAID LIMITED HEALTH SERVICE ORGANIZATION MODEL ACT (#68)

1. Project Description

The Task Force was given a charge to review the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Model Act (Model #68) and determine whether it should be amended, particularly taking into account the new Medicare prescription drug plans (PDPs). Under the federal Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement and Modernization Act of 2003 (MMA), states may license PDPs. The Task Force was given this charge because states with laws similar to Model #68 may want to consider using its structure to license PDPs. Model #68, however, had not been updated since it was first adopted in 1989; it also did not reflect the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) minimum solvency requirements for PDPs. Revisions were made to update the model in two ways. First, the model was revised to specifically reference Medicare Prescription Drug Plans (PDPs), so states that would like to, can more easily use this model as a vehicle for regulating Medicare PDPs. Second, the financial requirements were updated to require prepaid limited health service organizations to maintain a minimum tangible net equity equal to the greater of $100,000 or the amount necessary as required under the NAIC Risk Based Capital for Health Organizations Model Act.

3. Charge Authorizing Project

Charge given in 2006:

Review the Limited Prepaid Health Service Organization Model Act and determine whether it should be amended, particularly taking into account the new Medicare prescription drug plans. If appropriate, recommend revisions to the model.

4. Description of Drafting Process

2006 Winter National Meeting – A draft dated Dec. 10, 2006 was distributed at the Regulatory Framework Task Force meeting. The working group request comments on the draft by January 31, 2007.

2007 Spring National Meeting – Technical revisions had been made to the December draft and a new draft dated March 11, 2007, was distributed to the Regulatory Framework Task Force. The Task Force unanimously adopted the revised draft. The Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee also adopted the draft.

HEALTH CARE PROFESSIONAL CREDENTIALING VERIFICATION MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act in regulation form. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as regulations.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

This Act requires a health carrier to establish a comprehensive health care professional credentialing verification program to ensure that its participating health care professionals meet specific minimum standards of professional qualification. The standards set out in this Act address the initial credentialing verification and subsequent re-credentialing process.

Drafting Note: The health care professional credentialing verification process is separate and distinct from the process that a health carrier may go through in deciding which health care professionals it will select as participating providers. The credentialing verification requirements are designed to ensure minimum clinical competency. Health carriers may utilize separate or additional criteria in selecting those health care professionals who will be allowed to participate in the health carrier's various health benefit plans.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Closed plan" means a managed care plan that requires a covered person to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan.

B. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If jurisdiction of managed care organizations lies with some other state agency, or if dual regulation occurs, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

C. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

D. "Credentialing verification" is the process of obtaining and verifying information about a health care professional, and evaluating that health care professional, when that health care professional applies to become a participating provider in a managed care plan offered by a health carrier.

E. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

F. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement entered into, offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

G. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not corporate persons."

H. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

I. "Health care services" or "health services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

J. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

K. "Health indemnity plan" means a health benefit plan that is not a managed care plan.

L. "Managed care plan" means a health benefit plan that either requires a covered person to use, or creates incentives, including financial incentives, for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with or employed by the health carrier.

M. "Open plan" means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan.

N. "Participating provider" means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier.

O. "Primary verification" means verification by the health carrier of a health care professional's credentials based upon evidence obtained from the issuing source of the credential.

P. "Secondary verification" means verification by the health carrier of a health care professional's credentials based upon evidence obtained by means other than direct contact with the issuing source of the credential (e.g., copies of certificates provided by the applying health care professional).

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

This Act shall apply to health carriers that offer managed care plans.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider accreditation by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity, with established and maintained standards, as evidence of meeting some or all of this Act's requirements. Under such an approach, the accrediting entity shall make available to the state its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed the state's requirements. The private accrediting entity shall file or provide the state with documentation that a managed care plan has been accredited by the entity. A health carrier accredited by the private accrediting entity would then be deemed to have met the requirements of the relevant sections of this Act where comparable standards exist.

Section 5. General Responsibilities of the Health Carrier

A. A health carrier shall:

(1) Establish written policies and procedures for credentialing verification of all health care professionals with whom the health carrier contracts and apply these standards consistently;

(2) Verify the credentials of a health care professional before entering into a contract with that health care professional. The medical director of the health carrier or other designated health care professional shall have responsibility for, and shall participate in, health care professional credentialing verification;

(3) Establish a credentialing verification committee consisting of licensed physicians and other health care professionals to review credentialing verification information and supporting documents and make decisions regarding credentialing verification;

(4) Make available for review by the applying health care professional upon written request all application and credentialing verification policies and procedures;

(5) Retain all records and documents relating to a health care professional's credentialing verification process for at least [insert number] years; and

(6) Keep confidential all information obtained in the credentialing verification process, except as otherwise provided by law.

B. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to require a health carrier to select a provider as a participating provider solely because the provider meets the health carrier's credentialing verification standards, or to prevent a health carrier from utilizing separate or additional criteria in selecting the health care professionals with whom it contracts.

Drafting Note: In order to simplify the application process for health care professionals who are applying to multiple health carriers, it is recommended that states develop a basic uniform application to be used by all health carriers in the state. The basic application may then be augmented by the individual health carriers to obtain additional information as required by each health carrier.

Section 6. Verification Responsibilities of the Health Carrier

A health carrier shall:

A. Obtain primary verification of at least the following information about the applicant:

(1) Current [license, certificate of authority or registration] to practice [health care profession] in [insert state] and history of licensure;

(2) Current level of professional liability coverage (if applicable);

(3) Status of hospital privileges (if applicable);

(4) Specialty board certification status (if applicable);

(5) Current Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) registration certificate (if applicable);

(6) Graduation from [health care professional] school; and

(7) Completion of post graduate training (if applicable).

Drafting Note: Some of these items may not be pertinent for health care professionals who are not physicians. This list is not comprehensive, but is considered a minimum. Certain health care professionals may not be "licensed" by a state but may instead be "certified" or "accredited" to provide the health care service. States will need to modify the language to reflect the variation encountered in their jurisdictions.

Drafting Note: There are currently several national databases (e.g. the National Practitioner Data Bank operated by the Health Resources and Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the Physician Masterfile operated by the American Medical Association, and the Federation of State Medical Boards Physician Disciplinary Data Bank) which may provide supplemental verification of credentialing information as well as serve as a source for additional information on health professionals. There is substantial difference of opinion about the value of requiring a health carrier to query any or all of these databases. However, as the databases are constantly being upgraded and improved, it is suggested that any state considering adoption of these standards evaluate the benefit of requiring such an inquiry. In addition the health carrier may wish to inquire whether the applicant has ever been disqualified from participating in Medicare or Medicaid, or otherwise sanctioned under Medicare or Medicaid, or disqualified from or sanctioned under any other programs within the jurisdiction of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

B. Obtain, subject to either primary or secondary verification at the health carrier's discretion:

(1) The health care professional's license history in this and all other states;

Drafting Note: The information required in the license history should include a chronological history of the health care professional's health care license, including dates and places of all applications for licensure, certification or registration, any action taken on the application, any challenges to licensure, certification or registration (state, Drug Enforcement Agency, etc.), the voluntary or involuntary relinquishment of a license or any other disciplinary action taken by the relevant state licensing board or agency.

(2) The health care professional's malpractice history; and Drafting Note: The information required in the malpractice history should include any involvement in a professional liability action, but, at a minimum, any final judgment or settlement involving the individual health care professional.

(3) The health care professional's practice history.

Drafting Note: The information required in the practice history should include a chronological history of the health care professional's health care practice, including staff membership, practice privileges, professional associations, dates and places of practice, any action taken on practice privileges, and the voluntary or involuntary relinquishment, suspension, limitation, reduction or loss of staff membership or practice privileges.

C. At least every three (3) years obtain primary verification of a participating health care professional's:

(1) Current [license, certificate of authority or registration] to practice [health care profession] in [insert state];

(2) Current level of professional liability coverage (if applicable);

(3) Status of hospital privileges (if applicable);

(4) Current DEA registration certificate (if applicable); and

(5) Specialty board certification status (if applicable).

D. Require all participating providers to notify the health carrier of changes in the status of any of the items listed in this section at any time and identify for participating providers the individual to whom they should report changes in the status of an item listed in this section.

Section 7. Health Care Professional's Right to Review Credentialing Verification Information

A health carrier shall provide a health care professional the opportunity to review and correct information submitted in support of that health care professional's credentialing verification application as set forth below.

A. Each health care professional who is subject to the credentialing verification process shall have the right to review all information, including the source of that information, obtained by the health carrier to satisfy the requirements of this Act during the health carrier's credentialing process.

B. A health carrier shall notify a health care professional of any information obtained during the health carrier's credentialing verification process that does not meet the health carrier's credentialing verification standards or that varies substantially from the information provided to the health carrier by the health care professional, except that the health carrier shall not be required to reveal the source of information if the information is not obtained to meet the requirements of this Act, or if disclosure is prohibited by law.

C. A health care professional shall have the right to correct any erroneous information. A health carrier shall have a formal process by which a health care professional may submit supplemental or corrected information to the health carrier's credentialing verification committee and request a reconsideration of the health care professional's credentialing verification application if the health care professional feels that the health carrier's credentialing verification committee has received information that is incorrect or misleading. Supplemental information shall be subject to confirmation by the health carrier.

Section 8. Contracting

Whenever a health carrier contracts to have another entity perform the credentialing functions required by this Act or applicable regulations, the commissioner shall hold the health carrier responsible for monitoring the activities of the entity with which it contracts and for ensuring that the requirements of this Act and applicable regulations are met.

Section 9. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 10. Penalties

A violation of this Act shall [insert appropriate administrative penalty from state law].

Section 11. Separability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance, shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 12. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

HEALTH CARE PROFESSIONAL CREDENTIALING VERIFICATION MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

HEALTH CARE PROFESSIONAL CREDENTIALING VERIFICATION MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

QUALITY ASSESSMENT AND IMPROVEMENT MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act in regulation form. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as regulations.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

This Act establishes criteria for the quality assessment activities of all health carriers that offer managed care plans and for the quality improvement activities of health carriers issuing closed plans or combination plans that have a closed component. The purpose of the criteria is to enable health carriers to evaluate, maintain and improve the quality of health care services provided to covered persons.

Section 3. Definitions

A. "Closed plan" means a managed care plan that requires a covered person to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan.

B. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If jurisdiction of managed care organizations lies with some other state agency, or if dual regulation occurs, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

C. "Consumer" means someone in the general public who may or may not be a covered person or a purchaser of health care, including employers.

D. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

E. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

F. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement entered into, offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

G. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not corporate "persons."

H. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

I. "Health care services" or "health services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

J. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

K. "Health indemnity plan" means a health benefit plan that is not a managed care plan.

L. "Managed care plan" means a health benefit plan that either requires a covered person to use, or creates incentives, including financial incentives, for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with or employed by the health carrier.

M. "Open plan" means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan.

N. "Participating provider" means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier.

O. "Quality assessment" means the measurement and evaluation of the quality and outcomes of medical care provided to individuals, groups or populations.

P. "Quality improvement" means the effort to improve the processes and outcomes related to the provision of care within the health plan.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

Except as otherwise specified, this Act shall apply to all health carriers that offer managed care plans.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider accreditation by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity, with established and maintained standards, as evidence of meeting some or all of this Act's requirements. Under such an approach, the accrediting entity shall make available to the state its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed the state's requirements. The private accrediting entity shall file or provide the state with documentation that a managed care plan has been accredited by the entity. A health carrier accredited by the private accrediting entity would then be deemed to have met the requirements of the relevant sections of this Act where comparable standards exist.

Section 5. Quality Assessment Standards

A health carrier that provides managed care plans shall develop and maintain the infrastructure and disclosure systems necessary to measure the quality of health care services provided to covered persons on a regular basis and appropriate to the types of plans offered by the health carrier. A health carrier shall:

A. Establish a system designed to assess the quality of health care provided to covered persons and appropriate to the types of plans offered by the health carrier. The system shall include systematic collection, analysis and reporting of relevant data in accordance with statutory and regulatory requirements;

Drafting Note: The level of quality assessment activities undertaken by a health plan will vary based on the plan's structure. For example, PPO plans and HMOs will have different quality assessment programs and techniques.

B. Communicate findings in a timely manner to applicable regulatory agencies, providers and consumers as provided in Section 8;

C. Report to the appropriate licensing authority any persistent pattern of problematic care provided by a provider that is sufficient to cause the health carrier to terminate or suspend contractual arrangements with the provider. A health carrier acting in good faith shall be granted immunity from any cause of action under state law in making the report; and

D. File a written description of the quality assessment program with the commissioner in the prescribed format, which shall include a signed certification by a corporate officer of the health carrier that the filing meets the requirements of this Act.

Section 6. Quality Improvement Standards for Closed Plans

A health carrier that issues a closed plan, or a combination plan having a closed component, shall, in addition to complying with the requirements of Section 5, develop and maintain the internal structures and activities necessary to improve quality as required by this section. A health carrier subject to the requirements of this section shall:

A. Establish an internal system capable of identifying opportunities to improve care. This system shall be structured to identify practices that result in improved health care outcomes, identify problematic utilization patterns, identify those providers that may be responsible for either exemplary or problematic patterns, and foster an environment of continuous quality improvement;

B. Use the findings generated by the system to work, on a continuing basis, with participating providers and other staff within the closed plan or closed component to improve the health care delivered to covered persons;

C. Develop and maintain an organizational program for designing, measuring, assessing and improving the processes and outcomes of health care as identified in the health carrier's quality improvement program filed with the commissioner and consistent with the provisions of this Act. This program shall be under the direction of the Chief Medical Officer or Clinical Director. The organizational program shall include:

(1) A written statement of the objectives, lines of authority and accountability, evaluation tools, including data collection responsibilities, performance improvement activities and an annual effectiveness review of the quality improvement program;

(2) A written quality improvement plan that describes how the health carrier intends to:

(a) Analyze both processes and outcomes of care, including focused review of individual cases as appropriate, to discern the causes of variation;

(b) Identify the targeted diagnoses and treatments to be reviewed by the quality improvement program each year. In determining which diagnoses and treatments to target for review, the health carrier shall consider practices and diagnoses that affect a substantial number of the plan's covered persons, or that could place covered persons at serious risk. This section shall not be construed to require a health carrier to review every disease, illness and condition that may affect a member of a managed care plan offered by the health carrier;

Drafting Note: This paragraph seeks to ensure that the diagnoses and patterns of care that a health carrier monitors in any given year are chosen because of their importance and appropriateness to the population served by the closed plan.

(c) Use a range of appropriate methods to analyze quality, including:

(i) Collection and analysis of information on over-utilization and under-utilization of services;

(ii) Evaluation of courses of treatment and outcomes of health care, including health status measures, consistent with reference data bases such as current medical research, knowledge, standards and practice guidelines; and

(iii) Collection and analysis of information specific to a covered person or persons or provider or providers, gathered from multiple sources such as utilization management, claims processing, and documentation of both the satisfaction and grievances of covered persons;

(d) Compare program findings with past performance, as appropriate, and with internal goals and external standards, where available, adopted by the health carrier;

(e) Measure the performance of participating providers and conduct peer review activities, such as:

(i) Identifying practices that do not meet the health carrier's standards;

(ii) Taking appropriate action to correct deficiencies;

(iii) Monitoring participating providers to determine whether they have implemented corrective action; and

(iv) Taking appropriate action when the participating provider has not implemented corrective action;

(f) Utilize treatment protocols and practice parameters developed with appropriate clinical input and using the evaluations described in Paragraphs (2)(a) and (2)(b) above, or utilize acquired treatment protocols developed with appropriate clinical input; and provide participating providers with sufficient information about the protocols to enable participating providers to meet the standards established by these protocols;

(g) Evaluate access to care for covered persons according to standards established by statute, regulation or the commissioner. The quality improvement plan shall describe the health carrier's strategy for integrating public health goals with health services offered to covered persons under the managed care plans of the health carrier, including a description of the health carrier's good faith efforts to initiate or maintain communication with public health agencies;

Drafting Note: Health carriers are not expected to duplicate the services provided by public health agencies, but health carriers should ensure that their plans facilitate the achievement of local public health goals and initiatives. Examples of these initiatives include immunization goals, goals to increase the use of preventive diagnostic services such as Pap smears and mammograms, and efforts to increase the use of seat belts and bicycle helmets. Most states support or maintain health care facilities designed to meet the needs of special populations. These facilities may include migrant worker clinics, community health centers in metropolitan areas, and public health hospitals. States should consider methods of assisting these facilities in developing the capacity to meet health carrier standards for participation in health care networks to preserve this public health infrastructure and avoid conflicting requirements between insurance regulation and public managed care programs. Health carriers should evaluate the compliance of their access provisions with standards set forth in [insert reference to state law similar to the NAIC s Provider Network Adequacy and Contracting Model Act].

(h) Implement improvement strategies related to program findings; and

(i) Evaluate periodically, but not less than annually, the effectiveness of the strategies implemented in Subparagraph (h);

D. Assure that participating providers have the opportunity to participate in developing, implementing and evaluating the quality improvement system; and

E. Provide covered persons the opportunity to comment on the quality improvement process.

Section 7. Corporate Oversight

The Chief Medical Officer or Clinical Director of the health carrier shall have primary responsibility for the quality assessment and quality improvement activities carried out by, or on behalf of, the health carrier and for ensuring that all requirements of this Act are met. The Chief Medical Officer or Clinical Director shall approve the written quality assessment and quality improvement programs, as applicable, implemented in compliance with this Act, and shall periodically review and revise the program document and act to assure ongoing appropriateness. Not less than semi-annually, the Chief Medical Officer or Clinical Director shall review reports of quality assessment and quality improvement activities. The commissioner shall hold the health carrier responsible for the actions of the Chief Medical Officer or Clinical Director carried out on behalf of the health carrier and shall hold the health carrier responsible for ensuring that all requirements of this Act are met.

Section 8. Reporting and Disclosure Requirements

A. A health carrier shall document and communicate information, as specified below, about its quality assessment program and its quality improvement program, if it has one, and shall:

(1) Include a summary of its quality assessment and quality improvement programs in marketing materials;

(2) Include a description of its quality assessment and quality improvement programs and a statement of patient rights and responsibilities with respect to those programs in the certificate of coverage or handbook provided to newly enrolled covered persons; and

(3) Make available annually to providers and covered persons findings from its quality assessment and quality improvement programs and information about its progress in meeting internal goals and external standards, where available. The reports shall include a description of the methods used to assess each specific area and an explanation of how any assumptions affect the findings.

Drafting Note: A state should review its applicable state law addressing data reporting requirements and confidentiality issues to ensure that the requirements of this section are consistent with those laws. The NAIC is developing models to address data reporting and confidentiality.

B. (1) A health carrier shall certify to the commissioner annually that its quality assessment program and its quality improvement program, if it has one, along with the materials provided to providers and consumers in accordance with Subsection A, meet the requirements of this Act.

(2) A health carrier shall make available for review by the public upon request, subject to a reasonable fee, the materials certified in Paragraph (1), except for the materials subject to the confidentiality requirements of Section 9, and materials that are proprietary to the health plan. A health carrier shall retain all certified materials for at least three (3) years from the date the material has been used or until the material has been examined as part of a market conduct examination, whichever is longer.

Section 9. Confidentiality

A. Data or information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment or health of a covered person obtained from the person or from a provider by a health carrier is confidential and shall not be disclosed to any person except to the extent that it may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act and as allowed by state law; or upon the express consent of the covered person; or pursuant to statute or court order for the production of evidence or the discovery thereof; or in the event of a claim or litigation between the covered person and the health carrier where the data or information is pertinent, regardless of whether the information is in the form of paper, is preserved on microfilm or is stored in computer retrievable form. If any data or information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment or health of any enrollee or applicant is disclosed pursuant to the provisions of this subsection, the health carrier making this required disclosure shall not be liable for the disclosure or any subsequent use or misuse of the data. A health carrier shall be entitled to claim any statutory privileges against disclosure that the provider who furnished the information to the health carrier is entitled to claim.

B. A person who, in good faith and without malice, takes an action or makes a decision or recommendation as a member, agent or employee of a health carrier's quality committee in furtherance of and consistent with the quality assessment or quality improvement activities of the health carrier, or who furnishes any records, information or assistance to a quality committee in furtherance of and consistent with the quality assessment or quality improvement activities of the health carrier, shall not be subject to liability for civil damages or any legal action in consequence of his or her action, nor shall the health carrier that established the quality committee or the officers, directors, employees or agents of the health carrier be liable for the activities of the person. This section shall not be construed to relieve any person of liability arising from treatment of a patient.

C. (1) The information considered by a quality committee and the records of its actions and proceedings shall be confidential and not subject to subpoena or order to produce except in proceedings before the appropriate state licensing or certifying agency, or in an appeal, if permitted, from the quality committee's findings or recommendations. No member of a quality committee, or officer, director or other member of a health carrier or its staff engaged in assisting the quality committee, or engaged in the health carrier's quality assessment or quality improvement activities, or any person assisting or furnishing information to the quality committee may be subpoenaed to testify in any judicial or quasi-judicial proceeding if the subpoena is based solely on these activities.

(2) Information considered by a quality committee and the records of its actions and proceedings that are used pursuant to Subsection C(1) by a state licensing or certifying agency or in an appeal shall be kept confidential and shall be subject to the same provisions concerning discovery and use in legal actions as are the original information and records in the possession and control of a quality committee.

D. To fulfill its obligations under this section, the health carrier shall have access to treatment records and other information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment or health status of any covered person.

Section 10. Contracting

Whenever a health carrier contracts to have another entity perform the quality assessment or quality improvement functions required by this Act or applicable regulations, the commissioner shall hold the health carrier responsible for monitoring the activities of the entity with which it contracts and for ensuring that the requirements of this Act and applicable regulations are met.

Section 11. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 12. Separability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 13. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

QUALITY ASSESSMENT AND IMPROVEMENT MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

QUALITY ASSESSMENT AND IMPROVEMENT MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

HEALTH CARRIER GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act in a regulation format. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as regulations.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this Act is to provide standards for the establishment and maintenance of procedures by health carriers to assure that covered persons have the opportunity for the appropriate resolution of grievances, as defined in this Act.

Drafting Note: States are strongly encouraged to adopt both this Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act and the NAIC's Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act. The Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act sets out the process for making utilization review and benefit determinations with respect to requests for health care services. This Act assumes the existence of the utilization review and benefit determination process in the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act and adverse determinations made under that Act with respect to requests for health care services.

Drafting Note: The definition of "adverse determination" found in Section 3A of this Act has been revised to conform with the provisions of the federal Department of Labor (DOL) claims procedure final regulation (DOL final rule), as published in the Federal Register, Nov. 21, 2000, which establishes standards for the processing of claims for benefits under group health plans. Specifically, the definition of "adverse determination" was revised to be consistent with the term "adverse benefit determination" used in the DOL final rule in order to include determinations that may involve eligibility issues in addition to medical necessity issues and any other determination that results in a denial, reduction or termination of a benefit or a failure to provide payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit. The definition of "adverse determination" has been revised to include rescission of coverage determinations, as provided in the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, as published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. (1) "Adverse determination" means:

(a) A determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that, based upon the information provided, a request for a benefit under the health carrier's health benefit plan upon application of any utilization review technique does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness or is determined to be experimental or investigational and the requested benefit is therefore denied, reduced or terminated or payment is not provided or made, in whole or in part, for the benefit;

(b) The denial, reduction, termination or failure to provide or make payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit based on a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization of a covered person's eligibility to participate in the health carrier's health benefit plan; or

(c) Any prospective review or retrospective review determination that denies, reduces or terminates or fails to provide or make payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit.

(2) "Adverse determination" includes a rescission of coverage determination.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule uses the term "adverse benefit determination." This model act uses the term "adverse determination." The NAIC has chosen to continue to use the term "adverse determination" in this model act instead of using the DOL final rule's term "adverse benefit determination" because the term "adverse determination" is referenced in several other NAIC model acts in addition to this model act. If the terminology were changed, this would necessitate revising several NAIC model acts to reflect this change in terminology. The definition of "adverse determination" in Subsection A has been revised, however, to be consistent with the DOL final rule's definition for the term "adverse benefit determination." The definition of "adverse determination" has been revised to include rescission of coverage determinations, as provided in the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010.

B. "Ambulatory review" means utilization review of health care services performed or provided in an outpatient setting.

C. "Authorized representative" means:

(1) A person to whom a covered person has given express written consent to represent the covered person for purposes of this Act;

(2) A person authorized by law to provide substituted consent for a covered person;

(3) A family member of the covered person or the covered person's treating health care professional when the covered person is unable to provide consent;

(4) A health care professional when the covered person's health benefit plan requires that a request for a benefit under the plan be initiated by the health care professional; or

(5) In the case of an urgent care request, a health care professional with knowledge of the covered person's medical condition.

D. "Case management" means a coordinated set of activities conducted for individual patient management of serious, complicated, protracted or other health conditions.

E. "Certification" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that a request for a benefit under the health carrier's health benefit plan has been reviewed and, based on the information provided, satisfies the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care and effectiveness.

F. "Clinical peer" means a physician or other health care professional who holds a non-restricted license in a state of the United States and in the same or similar specialty as typically manages the medical condition, procedure or treatment under review.

Drafting Note: States may wish to define "clinical peer" more broadly to include a health care professional who has demonstrable expertise to review a case, whether or not the reviewing professional is in the same or similar specialty as the health care professional who made the initial decision.

G. "Clinical review criteria" means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocols and practice guidelines used by the health carrier to determine the medical necessity and appropriateness of health care services.

H. "Closed plan" means a managed care plan that requires covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan.

I. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

J. "Concurrent review" means utilization review conducted during a patient's stay or course of treatment in a facility, the office of a health care professional or other inpatient or outpatient health care setting.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule, which was unchanged by the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010, uses the term "concurrent claim" instead of "concurrent review." The DOL final rule does not define "concurrent claim." However, given the use of the term in the substantive provisions of the DOL final rule and the way the term is used substantively in this model, the definition of "concurrent review," as defined in Subsection J, is consistent with the term "concurrent claim."

K. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

L. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

M. "Discharge planning" means the formal process for determining, prior to discharge from a facility, the coordination and management of the care that a patient receives following discharge from a facility.

N. "Emergency medical condition" means a medical condition manifesting itself by acute symptoms of sufficient severity, including severe pain, such that a prudent layperson, who possesses an average knowledge of health and medicine, could reasonably expect that the absence of immediate medical attention would result in serious impairment to bodily functions, serious dysfunction of a bodily organ or part, or would place the person's health or, with respect to a pregnant woman, the health of the woman or her unborn child, in serious jeopardy.

Drafting Note: The definition of "emergency medical condition" has been revised to reflect the definition of that term in the interim final rules on emergency services published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

O. "Emergency services" means, with respect to an emergency medical condition:

(1) A medical screening examination that is within the capability of the emergency department of a hospital, including ancillary services routinely available to the emergency department to evaluate such emergency medical condition; and

(2) Such further medical examination and treatment, to the extent they are within the capability of the staff and facilities available at a hospital, to stabilize a patient.

Drafting Note: The definition of "emergency services" has been revised to reflect the definition of that term in the interim final rules on emergency services published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

P. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

Q. "Final adverse determination" means an adverse determination that has been upheld by the health carrier at the completion of the internal appeals process applicable under Section 7 or Section 10 of this Act or an adverse determination that with respect to which the internal appeals process has been deemed exhausted in accordance with section 6A(2) of this Act.

Drafting Note: The interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, as published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, use the term "final internal adverse determination." For consistency with the NAIC Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act the term as been defined as "final adverse determination" in this Act.

R. "Grievance" means a written complaint or oral complaint if the complaint involves an urgent care request submitted by or on behalf of a covered person regarding:

(1) Availability, delivery or quality of health care services, including a complaint regarding an adverse determination made pursuant to utilization review;

(2) Claims payment, handling or reimbursement for health care services; or

(3) Matters pertaining to the contractual relationship between a covered person and a health carrier.

S. (1) "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

Drafting Note: The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Affordable Care Act) uses the term "health insurance coverage." "Health benefit plan," as defined in this model act, is intended to be consistent with the definition of "health insurance coverage" contained in HIPAA. Paragraphs (2), (3), (4), and (5) below track the language of HIPAA that addresses "excepted benefits," i.e., those benefits that are excepted from the requirements of the Affordable Care Act.

(2) "Health benefit plan" includes short-term and catastrophic health insurance policies, and a policy that pays on a cost-incurred basis, except as otherwise specifically exempted in this definition.

(3) "Health benefit plan" does not include:

(a) Coverage only for accident, or disability income insurance, or any combination thereof;

(b) Coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance;

(c) Liability insurance, including general liability insurance and automobile liability insurance;

(d) Workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(e) Automobile medical payment insurance;

(f) Credit-only insurance;

(g) Coverage for on-site medical clinics; and

(h) Other similar insurance coverage, specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191, under which benefits for medical care are secondary or incidental to other insurance benefits.

(4) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if they are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance or are otherwise not an integral part of the plan:

(a) Limited scope dental or vision benefits;

(b) Benefits for long-term care, nursing home care, home health care, community-based care, or any combination thereof; or

(c) Other similar, limited benefits specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191.

(5) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if the benefits are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance, there is no coordination between the provision of the benefits and any exclusion of benefits under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor, and the benefits are paid with respect to an event without regard to whether benefits are provided with respect to such an event under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor:

(a) Coverage only for a specified disease or illness; or

(b) Hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity insurance.

(6) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following if offered as a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance:

(a) Medicare supplemental health insurance as defined under Section 1882(g)(1) of the Social Security Act;

(b) Coverage supplemental to the coverage provided under Chapter 55 of Title 10, United States Code (Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS)); or

(c) Similar supplemental coverage provided to coverage under a group health plan.

T. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not corporate "persons."

U. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

V. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

W. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health care services.

Drafting Note: The Affordable Care Act uses the term "health insurance issuer" instead of "health carrier." The definition of "health carrier" is consistent with the term "health insurance issuer."

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

X. "Health indemnity plan" means a health benefit plan that is not a managed care plan.

Y. (1) "Managed care plan" means a health benefit plan that requires a covered person to use, or creates incentives, including financial incentives, for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with or employed by the health carrier.

(2) "Managed care plan" includes:

(a) A closed plan, as defined in Subsection H; and

(b) An open plan, as defined in Subsection AA.

Drafting Note: The definition of "managed care plan" is intentionally broad in order to apply to health benefit plans using any type of requirement or incentive for enrollees to choose certain providers over others. Some states may wish to limit the definition by regulation to exclude plans having broad-based provider networks that meet specified standards. Such standards could include minimum network participation requirements (e.g., at least 90% of the providers in the service area participate in the plan) and maximum payment differentials (e.g., the providers in the plan accept a discount of no more than 5% below reasonable and customary charges). The purpose of the exclusion is to exempt health benefit plans that are primarily fee-for-service arrangements, that do not purport to manage the utilization of health care services, and that do not require the safeguards provided to consumers under this Act.

Z. "Network" means the group of participating providers providing services to a managed care plan.

AA. "Open plan" means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan.

BB. "Participating provider" means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier.

CC. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing.

DD. "Prospective review" means utilization review conducted prior to an admission or the provision of a health care service or a course of treatment in accordance with a health carrier's requirement that the health care service or course of treatment, in whole or in part, be approved prior to its provision.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule, which was unchanged by the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010, uses the term "pre-service claim" instead of "prospective review." The DOL final rule defines a "pre-service claim" as "any claim for a benefit under a group health plan with respect to which the terms of the plan condition receipt of the benefit, in whole or in part, on approval of the benefit in advance of obtaining medical care." The definition of "prospective review," as defined in Subsection DD, has been amended to be consistent with the intent of the definition of "pre-service claim" because both require prior approval of the benefit prior to its provision. The DOL final rule does not state what process the claimant must complete to obtain the approval, but, given the definition of "adverse benefit determination" in the DOL final rule, it is reasonable to conclude that performing utilization review would be an acceptable means to determine whether the provision of a health care service will be approved.

EE. (1) "Rescission" means a cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan that has a retroactive effect.

(2) "Rescission" does not include a cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan if:

(a) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage has only a prospective effect; or

(b) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage is effective retroactively to the extent it is attributable to a failure to timely pay required premiums or contributions towards the cost of coverage.

Drafting Note: The definition of "rescission" is derived from the interim final regulations on rescissions published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

FF. (1) "Retrospective review" means any review of a request for a benefit that is not a prospective review request.

(2) "Retrospective review" does not include the review of a claim that is limited to veracity of documentation or accuracy of coding.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule, which was unchanged by the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010, uses the term "post-service claim" instead of "retrospective review." The DOL final rule defines a "post-service claim" as "any claim for a benefit under a group health plan that is not a pre-service claim," as that term is defined under the DOL final rule. To reflect this broad definition of "post-service claim," the definition of "retrospective review," in Subsection FF, has been revised to be consistent with the definition of "post-service claim."

GG. "Second opinion" means an opportunity or requirement to obtain a clinical evaluation by a provider other than the one originally making a recommendation for a proposed health care service to assess the medical necessity and appropriateness of the initial proposed health care service.

HH. "Stabilized" means, with respect to an emergency medical condition, that no material deterioration of the condition is likely, within reasonable medical probability, to result from or occur during the transfer of the individual from a facility or, with respect to a pregnant woman, the woman delivered, including the placenta.

Drafting Note: The definition of "stabilized" has been revised to reflect the definition of that term in the interim final rules on emergency services published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

II. (1) "Urgent care request" means a request for a health care service or course of treatment with respect to which the time periods for making non-urgent care request determination:

(a) Could seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or the ability of the covered person to regain maximum function; or

(b) In the opinion of an attending health care professional with knowledge of the covered person's medical condition, would subject the covered person to severe pain that cannot be adequately managed without the health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request.

(2) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, in determining whether a request is to be treated as an urgent care request, an individual acting on behalf of the health carrier shall apply the judgment of a prudent layperson who possesses an average knowledge of health and medicine.

(b) Any request that an attending health care professional with knowledge of the covered person's medical condition determines is an urgent care request within the meaning of Paragraph (1) shall be treated as an urgent care request.

JJ. "Utilization review" means a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of or evaluate the medical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy or efficiency of health care services, procedures, providers or facilities. Techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning or retrospective review.

KK. "Utilization review organization" means an entity that conducts utilization review, other than a health carrier performing utilization review for its own health benefit plans.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

Except as otherwise specified, this Act shall apply to all health carriers offering a health benefit plan.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider accreditation by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity, with established and maintained standards, as evidence of meeting some or all of this Act's requirements. Under such an approach, the accrediting entity will make available to the state its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed the state's requirements. The private accrediting entity shall file or provide the state with documentation that a health carrier has been accredited by the entity. A health carrier accredited by the private accrediting entity would then be deemed to have met the requirements of the relevant sections of this Act where comparable standards exist. States should periodically review a health carrier's private accreditation and eligibility for deemed compliance.

Drafting Note: The provisions of this Act are consistent with the provisions in the interim final regulations on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, as published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010 and, as those regulations were amended by the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register June 24, 2011. However, states should be aware that the Affordable Care Act's preemption standards permit States to impose more stringent, consumer protection requirements.

Section 5. Grievance Reporting and Recordkeeping Requirements

A. (1) A health carrier shall maintain written records to document all grievances received, including the notices and claims associated with the grievances, during a calendar year (the register).

(2) (a) Notwithstanding the provisions under Subsection F, a health carrier shall maintain the records required under Paragraph (1) for at least six (6) years related to the notices provided under Section 7H and Section 10H of this Act.

(b) The health carrier shall make the records available for examination by covered persons and the commissioner and appropriate federal oversight agency upon request.

B. A request for a first level review of a grievance involving an adverse determination shall be processed in compliance with Section 7 of this Act shall be included in the register.

C. A request for an additional voluntary review of a grievance involving an adverse determination that may be conducted pursuant to Section 9 of this Act shall be included in the register.

D. For each grievance the register shall contain, at a minimum, the following information:

(1) A general description of the reason for the grievance;

Drafting Note: The commissioner may wish to prescribe specific categories. If so, they should be listed here. In prescribing categories the commissioner should refer to the NAIC's Model Regulation for Complaint Records to be Maintained Pursuant to the NAIC Unfair Trade Practices Act to ensure that the prescribed categories are consistent with that regulation.

(2) The date received;

(3) The date of each review or, if applicable, review meeting;

(4) Resolution at each level of the grievance, if applicable;

(5) Date of resolution at each level, if applicable; and

(6) Name of the covered person for whom the grievance was filed.

E. The register shall be maintained in a manner that is reasonably clear and accessible to the commissioner.

F. (1) Subject to the provisions of Subsection A, a health carrier shall retain the register compiled for a calendar year for the longer of three (3) years or until the commissioner has adopted a final report of an examination that contains a review of the register for that calendar year.

(2) (a) A health carrier shall submit to the commissioner, at least annually, a report in the format specified by the commissioner.

(b) The report shall include for each type of health benefit plan offered by the health carrier

(i) The certificate of compliance required by Section 6 of this Act;

(ii) The number of covered lives;

(iii) The total number of grievances;

(iv) The number of grievances for which a covered person requested an additional voluntary grievance review pursuant to Section 9 of this Act;

(v) The number of grievances resolved at each level, if applicable, and their resolution;

(vi) The number of grievances appealed to the commissioner of which the health carrier has been informed;

(vii) The number of grievances referred to alternative dispute resolution procedures or resulting in litigation; and

(viii) A synopsis of actions being taken to correct problems identified.

Drafting Note: This section requires health carriers to maintain detailed written records and imposes specific reporting requirements with respect to all grievances, including grievances involving an adverse determination. The DOL final rule, as published in the Federal Register, Nov. 21, 2000, did not include such requirements. However, the interim final rules related on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, as published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010, revised the DOL final rule to include a requirement that records of all claims and notices associated with the internal claims and appeals processes be retained for at least six years. The revisions to this section reflect this new recordkeeping requirement.

Section 6. Grievance Review Procedures

A. (1) Except as specified in Section 10 of this Act, a health carrier shall use written procedures for receiving and resolving grievances from covered persons, as provided in Sections 7, 8 and 9 of this Act.

(2) (a) Whenever a health carrier fails to adhere to the requirements of section 7 or section 10 of this Act with respect to receiving and resolving grievances involving an adverse determination, the covered person shall be deemed to have exhausted the provisions of this Act and may take action under subparagraph (b) of this paragraph.

(b) (i) A covered person may file a request for external review in accordance with the procedures outlined in [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act].

(ii) In addition to item (i), a covered person is entitled to pursue any available remedies under State or federal law on the basis that the health carrier failed to provide a reasonable internal claims and appeals process that would yield a decision on the merits of the claim.

(3) (a) Notwithstanding paragraph (2), the provisions of section 7 or section 10 of this Act shall not be deemed exhausted based on a de minimus violation that does not cause, and is not likely to cause, prejudice or harm to the covered person as long as the health carrier demonstrates that the violation was for good cause or due to matters beyond the control of the health carrier and that the violation occurred in the context of an ongoing, good faith exchange of information between the health carrier and the covered person.

(b) The exception provided in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph does not apply if the violation is part of a pattern or practice of violations by the health carrier.

(c) (i) A covered person may request a written explanation of the violation from the health carrier.

(ii) The health carrier shall:

(I) Provide the written explanation within ten (10) days of receiving the request; and

(II) Include in the written explanation a specific description of its bases, if any, for asserting that the violation does not deem the provisions of this Act to be exhausted.

(d) (i) If an independent reviewer or a court of competent jurisdiction rejects the grievance involving an adverse determination for immediate review on the basis that the health carrier met the requirements of the exception provided in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the covered person has the right to resubmit and pursue a review of the grievance under this Act.

(ii) In this case, within a reasonable time, after the independent reviewer or the court rejects the grievance involving an adverse determination for immediate review, but not exceeding ten (10) days, the health carrier shall provide to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative notice of the opportunity to resubmit and, as appropriate, pursue a review of the grievance under this Act].

(iii) For purposes of calculating the time period for re-filing the benefit request or claim under this subparagraph, the time period shall begin to run upon the covered person's or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative receipt of the notice of opportunity to resubmit.

B. (1) A health carrier shall file a copy of the procedures required under Subsection A, including all forms used to process requests made pursuant to Section 7, 8 and 9 of this Act, with the commissioner. Any subsequent material modifications to the documents also shall be filed.

(2) The commissioner may disapprove a filing received in accordance with Paragraph (1) that fails to comply with this Act or applicable regulations.

C. In addition to Subsection B, a health carrier shall file annually with the commissioner, as part of its annual report required by Section 5 of this Act, a certificate of compliance stating that the health carrier has established and maintains, for each of its health benefit plans, grievance procedures that fully comply with the provisions of this Act.

D. A description of the grievance procedures required under this section shall be set forth in or attached to the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage provided to covered persons.

E. The grievance procedure documents shall include a statement of a covered person's right to contact the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office for assistance at any time. The statement shall include the telephone number and address of the commissioner or ombudsman's office.

Drafting Note: States may need to revise subsection E above to reflect whatever office or offices established in their state pursuant to section 2793 of PHSA to provide assistance to individuals with internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

Section 7. First Level Reviews of Grievances Involving an Adverse Determination

Drafting Note: This section is intended to satisfy the "full and fair review" requirements of section 503 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as set out in the DOL final rule. Specifically, under those requirements, employee welfare benefit plans, in accordance with regulations of the Department of Labor (DOL final rule), as published in the Federal Register, Nov. 21, 2000, must provide adequate notice in writing to every participant or beneficiary whose claim for benefits under the plan has been denied. The notice must set forth the specific reasons for the denial (known as an adverse benefit determination) and written in a manner calculated to be understood by the participant. In addition, under section 503 of ERISA, plans must afford any participant, whose claim for benefits has been denied, a full and fair review by the appropriate named fiduciary of that adverse determination. Section 9 of this Act, which establishes a voluntary review procedure for grievances that involve an adverse determination, is intended to be an additional review procedure that covered persons may voluntarily use to resolve an adverse determination that remains in dispute at the completion of the first level review under this section prior to seeking judicial or other available remedies. Section 9 of this Act is not intended to be, and should not be considered, part of the "full and fair review" of an adverse benefit determination that plans are required to afford participants pursuant to section 503 of ERISA, as set out in the DOL final rule.

A. Within 180 days after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination sent pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act], a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a grievance with the health carrier requesting a first level review of the adverse determination.

B. (1) The health carrier shall provide the covered person with the name, address and telephone number of a person or organizational unit designated to coordinate the first level review on behalf of the health carrier.

(2) (a) In providing for a first level review under this section, the health carrier shall ensure that the review is conducted in a manner under this section to ensure the independence and impartiality of the individuals involved in making the first level review decision.

(b) In ensuring the independence and impartially of individuals involved in making the first level review decision, the health carrier shall not make decisions related to such individuals regarding hiring, compensation, termination, promotion or other similar matters based upon the likelihood that the individual will support the denial of benefits.

C. (1) (a) In the case of an adverse determination involving utilization review, the health carrier shall designate an appropriate clinical peer or peers of the same or similar specialty as would typically manage the case being reviewed to review the adverse determination. The clinical peer shall not have been involved in the initial adverse determination.

(b) In designating an appropriate clinical peer or peers pursuant to Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the health carrier shall ensure that, if more than one clinical peer is involved in the review, a majority of the individuals reviewing the adverse determination are health care professionals who have appropriate expertise.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, with respect to appeals of adverse determinations that are based in whole or in part on a medical judgment, the DOL final rule requires group health plans to consult with a health care professional who has appropriate training and experience in the field of medicine involved in the medical judgment. Paragraph (1) is more stringent than the DOL final rule. It requires health carriers to designate a clinical peer or peers of the same or similar specialty to review the adverse determination. Based on the preemption standards of ERISA and the DOL final rule, however, states may impose more stringent requirements. Therefore, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions of Paragraph (1).

(2) In conducting a review under this section, the reviewer or reviewers shall take into consideration all comments, documents, records and other information regarding the request for services submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative, without regard to whether the information was submitted or considered in making the initial adverse determination.

D. (1) (a) A covered person does not have the right to attend, or to have a representative in attendance, at the first level review, but the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative is entitled to:

(i) Submit written comments, documents, records and other material relating to the request for benefits for the reviewer or reviewers to consider when conducting the review; and

(ii) Receive from the health carrier, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of all documents, records and other information relevant to the covered person's request for benefits.

(b) For purposes of Subparagraph (a)(ii) of this paragraph, a document, record or other information shall be considered "relevant" to a covered person's request for benefits if the document, record or other information:

(i) Was relied upon in making the benefit determination;

(ii) Was submitted, considered or generated in the course of making the adverse determination, without regard to whether the document, record or other information was relied upon in making the benefit determination;

(iii) Demonstrates that, in making the benefit determination, the health carrier or its designated representatives consistently applied required administrative procedures and safeguards with respect to the covered person as other similarly situated covered persons; or

(iv) Constitutes a statement of policy or guidance with respect to the health benefit plan concerning the denied health care service or treatment for the covered person's diagnosis, without regard to whether the advice or statement was relied upon in making the benefit determination.

(2) The health carrier shall make the provisions of Paragraph (1) known to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative within three (3) working days after the date of receipt of the grievance.

Drafting Note: Paragraph (2) requires a health carrier to inform a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative of the health carrier's appeal procedures within three working days after the date the health carrier receives the grievance. The DOL final rule does not include such a requirement. However, based on the preemption standards of ERISA and the DOL final rule, states may impose more stringent requirements. Therefore, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions of Paragraph (2).

Drafting Note: States that have adopted the NAIC Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act may want to consider whether to include the requirements of Paragraph (2) because of the notice requirements contained in that model act.

E. For purposes of calculating the time periods within which a determination is required to be made and notice provided under Subsection F, the time period shall begin on the date the grievance requesting the review is filed with the health carrier in accordance with the health carrier's procedures established pursuant to Section 6 of this Act for filing a request without regard to whether all of the information necessary to make the determination accompanies the filing.

F. (1) A health carrier shall notify and issue a decision in writing or electronically to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative within the time frames provided in Paragraph (2) or (3).

(2) With respect to a grievance requesting a first level review of an adverse determination involving a prospective review request, the health carrier shall notify and issue a decision within a reasonable period of time that is appropriate given the covered person's medical condition, but no later than thirty (30) days after the date of the health carrier's receipt of the grievance requesting the first level review made pursuant to Subsection A.

(3) With respect to a grievance requesting a first level review of an adverse determination involving a retrospective review request, the health carrier shall notify and issue a decision within a reasonable period of time, but no later than sixty (60) days after the date of the health carrier's receipt of the grievance requesting the first level review made pursuant to Subsection A.

Drafting Note: In adopting Subsection F, states should be aware that the DOL final rule permits a group health plan to provide for two levels of mandatory review of an adverse determination involving a prospective review request and an adverse determination involving a retrospective review request. In the case of a prospective review request, a maximum of 15 days is provided for a benefit determination at each level. In the case of a retrospective review request a maximum of 30 days is provided for a benefit determination at each level. For example, if a covered person decides to request a review of an adverse determination involving a prospective review request, and the group health plan provides for two levels of mandatory review, the plan must make a benefit determination within a reasonable period of time, taking into account the medical circumstances, but not later than 15 days after receipt of the appeal. If that benefit request is again denied at the first level of mandatory review and the covered person appeals that denial to the second level of mandatory review, the plan must again make a determination within a reasonable period of time, taking into account the medical circumstances, but not later than 15 days after the plan's receipt of the covered person's second level review request.

Drafting Note: The interim final regulations on internal claims and appeals published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, requires health carriers for individual health benefit plans to require the claimant to complete only one level of internal review before issuing a final adverse determination.

G. (1) Prior to issuing a decision in accordance with the timeframes provided in subsection F, the health carrier shall provide free of charge to covered person, or the covered person's authorized representative, any new or additional evidence, relied upon or generated by the health carrier, or at the direction of the health carrier, in connection with the grievance sufficiently in advance of the date the decision is required to be provided to permit the covered person, or the covered person's authorized representative, a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date.

(2) Before the health carrier issues or provides notice of a final adverse determination in accordance with the timeframes provided in subsection F that is based on new or additional rationale, the health carrier shall provide the new or additional rationale to the covered person, or the covered person's authorized representative, free of charge as soon as possible and sufficiently in advance of the date the notice of final adverse determination is to be provided to permit the covered person, or the covered person's authorized representative a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date.

H. The decision issued pursuant to Subsection F shall set forth in a manner calculated to be understood by the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative:

(1) The titles and qualifying credentials of the person or persons participating in the first level review process (the reviewers);

(2) Information sufficient to identify the claim involved with respect to the grievance, including the date of service, the health care provider and, if applicable, the claim amount;

(3) A statement describing the availability, upon request, of the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning. For purposes of this paragraph, a health carrier: (a) shall provide to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, as soon as practicable, upon request, the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning, associated with any adverse determination; and (b) shall not consider a request for the diagnosis code and treatment information, in itself, to be a request for external review pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act];

(4) A statement of the reviewers' understanding of the covered person's grievance;

(5) The reviewers' decision in clear terms and the contract basis or medical rationale in sufficient detail for the covered person to respond further to the health carrier's position;

(6) A reference to the evidence or documentation used as the basis for the decision;

(7) For a first level review decision issued pursuant to Section F that upholds the grievance:

(a) The specific reason or reasons for the final adverse determination, including the denial code and its corresponding meaning, as well as a description of the health carrier's standard, if any, that was used in reaching the denial;

(b) The reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination is based;

(c) A statement that the covered person is entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records and other information relevant, as the term "relevant" is defined in Subsection D(1)(b), to the covered person's benefit request;

(d) If the health carrier relied upon an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion to make the final adverse determination, either the specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion or a statement that a specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon to make the final adverse determination and that a copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion will be provided free of charge to the covered person upon request;

(e) If the final adverse determination is based on a medical necessity or experimental or investigational treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for making the determination, applying the terms of the health benefit plan to the covered person's medical circumstances or a statement that an explanation will be provided to the covered person free of charge upon request; and

(f) If applicable, instructions for requesting:

(i) A copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion relied upon in making the final adverse determination, as provided in Subparagraph (d) of this paragraph; and

(ii) The written statement of the scientific or clinical rationale for the determination, as provided in Subparagraph (e) of this paragraph;

(8) If applicable, a statement indicating:

(a) A description of the process to obtain an additional voluntary review of the first level review decision, if the covered person wishes to request a voluntary review pursuant to Section 9 of this Act;

(b) The written procedures governing the voluntary review, including any required time frame for the review;

(c) A description of the procedures for obtaining an independent external review of the final adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act] if the covered person decides not to file for an additional voluntary review of the first level review decision involving an adverse determination; and Drafting Note: The language in Subparagraph (c) should be adopted by states that have enacted an external review law equivalent to the NAIC Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act and, in accordance with that law, permit a covered person to file a request for external review after completion of one level of the health carrier's internal grievance review process. Those states that have enacted an external review law equivalent to the NAIC Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act, but require the covered person to complete more than one level of a health carrier's internal grievance review process prior to filing a request for external review, should not adopt the language in Subparagraph (c). Instead, these states may want to modify the language in this paragraph to provide covered persons with specific notice of this exhaustion requirement. States should be aware that in accordance with the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, as published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010, for individual health insurance coverage, health carriers for individual health benefit plans may only require covered persons to complete one level of internal review.

(d) The covered person's right to bring a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction;

(9) If applicable, the following statement: "You and your plan may have other voluntary alternative dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your state Insurance Commissioner."; and

(10) Notice of the covered person's right to contact the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office for assistance with respect to any claim, grievance or appeal at any time, including the telephone number and address of the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office.

Drafting Note: States may need to revise paragraph (10) above to reflect whatever office or offices established in their state pursuant to section 2793 of PHSA to provide assistance to individuals with internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

Drafting Note: States that have established an appeals procedure in the office of the commissioner may wish to use the following provision in Paragraph (10): "Notice of the covered person's right to appeal the decision to the commissioner. The notice shall contain the telephone number and address of the commissioner's office."

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the DOL final rule sets out certain information that must be included in any notice to a claimant that involves an adverse benefit determination. Some of the information required to be provided in the notice under Subsection H, particularly the information required in Subsection H(1), (4), (5) and (6) is not specifically required by the DOL final rule. For example, the DOL final rule does not require group health plans to automatically provide the title and qualifying credentials of medical experts participating in the first level review, as provided in Subsection H(1). The DOL final rule requires group health plans to provide for the identification of medical or vocational experts whose advice was obtained on behalf of the plan in connection with the claimant's adverse benefit determination. The DOL final rule does not address the other requirements in Subsection H(4) through (6). Based on the preemption standards of ERISA and the DOL final rule, however, states may impose more stringent requirements. Therefore, in revising this section, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions in Subsection H.

I. (1) A health carrier shall provide the notice required under subsection H in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner in accordance with federal regulations.

(2) To be considered to meet the requirements of paragraph (1), the health carrier shall:

(a) Provide oral language services, such as a telephone assistance hotline, that include answering questions in any applicable non-English language and providing assistance with filing benefit requests and claims and appeals in any applicable non-English language;

(b) Provide, upon request, a notice in any applicable non-English language; and

(c) Include in the English versions of all notices, a statement prominently displayed in any applicable non-English language clearly indicating how to access the language services provided by the carrier.

(3) For purposes of this subsection, with respect to any United States county to which a notice is sent, a non-English language is an applicable non-English language if ten (10) percent or more of the population residing in the county is literate only in the same non-English language, as determined in published federal guidance.

Section 8. Standard Reviews of Grievances Not Involving an Adverse Determination

Drafting Note: States should be aware that this section is not required under the DOL final rule published in the Federal Register, Nov. 21, 2000 or the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010.

A. A health carrier shall establish written procedures for a standard review of a grievance that does not involve an adverse determination.

B. (1) The procedures shall permit a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative to file a grievance that does not involve an adverse determination with the health carrier under this section.

(2) (a) A covered person does not have the right to attend, or to have a representative in attendance at the standard review, but the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative is entitled to submit written material for the person or persons designated by the carrier pursuant to Subsection C to consider when conducting the review.

(b) The health carrier shall make the provisions of Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph known to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative within three (3) working days after the date of receiving the grievance.

C. (1) Upon receipt of the grievance, a health carrier shall designate a person or persons to conduct the standard review of the grievance.

(2) The health carrier shall not designate the same person or persons to conduct the standard review of the grievance that denied the claim or handled the matter that is the subject of the grievance.

(3) The health carrier shall provide the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative with the name, address and telephone number of a person designated to coordinate the standard review on behalf of the health carrier.

D. (1) The health carrier shall notify in writing the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the decision within twenty (20) working days after the date of receipt of the request for a standard review of a grievance filed pursuant to Subsection B.

(2) (a) Subject to Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, if, due to circumstances beyond the carrier's control, the health carrier cannot make a decision and notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Paragraph (1) within twenty (20) working days, the health carrier may take up to an additional ten (10) working days to issue a written decision.

(b) A health carrier may extend the time for making and notifying the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in accordance with Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, if, on or before the twentieth working day after the date of receiving the request for a standard review of a grievance, the health carrier provides written notice to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the extension and the reasons for the delay.

E. The written decision issued pursuant to Subsection D shall contain:

(1) The titles and qualifying credentials of the person or persons participating in the standard review process (the reviewers);

(2) A statement of the reviewers' understanding of the covered person's grievance;

(3) The reviewers' decision in clear terms and the contract basis in sufficient detail for the covered person to respond further to the health carrier's position;

(4) A reference to the evidence or documentation used as the basis for the decision;

(5) If applicable, a statement indicating:

(a) A description of the process to obtain an additional review of the standard review decision if the covered person wishes to request a voluntary review pursuant to Section 9 of this Act; and

(b) The written procedures governing the voluntary review, including any required time frame for the review; and

(6) Notice of the covered person's right, at any time, to contact the commissioner's office, including the telephone number and address of the commissioner's office.

Section 9. Voluntary Level of Reviews of Grievances

Drafting Note: Although this section requires health carriers that offer managed care plans to establish an additional voluntary review process for its managed care plans, the decision to file a request for the additional voluntary review of a grievance involving an adverse determination rests solely within the discretion of the covered person. This section is intended to be an optional additional level of review that the covered person may voluntarily use to resolve the issue in dispute after receiving an adverse determination upon completion of the review conducted under Section 7 of this Act. This section is not intended to be, and should not be considered to be, part of the requirements for the "full and fair review" of claim denials (known as adverse benefit determinations) under Section 503 of ERISA, as specified in the DOL final rule. As such, thissection is not required to be included in any internal claims and appeals process for purposes of complying with the DOL final rule published in the Federal Register, Nov. 21, 2000 or the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010.

A. (1) A health carrier that offers managed care plans shall establish a voluntary review process for its managed care plans to give those covered persons who are dissatisfied with the first level review decision made pursuant to Section 7 of this Act, or who are dissatisfied with the standard review decision made pursuant to Section 8 of this Act, the option to request an additional voluntary review, at which the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has the right to appear in person at the review meeting before designated representatives of the health carrier.

(2) This section shall not apply to health indemnity plans.

B. (1) A health carrier required by this section to establish a voluntary review process shall provide covered persons or their authorized representatives with notice pursuant to Section 7G(6) or Section 8E(5) of this Act, as appropriate, of the option to file a request with the health carrier for an additional voluntary review of the first level review decision received under Section 7 of this Act or the standard review decision received under Section 8 of this Act.

(2) Upon receipt of a request for an additional voluntary review, the health carrier shall send notice to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the covered person's right to:

(a) Request, within the time frame specified in Paragraph (3)(a), the opportunity to appear in person before a review panel of the health carrier's designated representatives;

(b) Receive from the health carrier, upon request, copies of all documents, records and other information that is not confidential or privileged relevant to the covered person's request for benefits;

(c) Present the covered person's case to the review panel;

(d) Submit written comments, documents, records and other material relating to the request for benefits for the review panel to consider when conducting the review both before and, if applicable, at the review meeting;

(e) If applicable, ask questions of any representative of the health carrier on the review panel; and

(f) Be assisted or represented by an individual of the covered person's choice.

(3) (a) A covered person or the authorized representative of the covered person wishing to request to appear in person before the review panel of the health carrier's designated representatives shall make the request to the health carrier within five (5) working days after the date of receipt of the notice sent in accordance with Paragraph (2).

(b) The covered person's right to a fair review shall not be made conditional on the covered person's appearance at the review.

C. (1) (a) With respect to a voluntary review of a first level review decision made pursuant to Section 7 of this Act, a health carrier shall appoint a review panel to review the request.

(b) In conducting the review, the review panel shall take into consideration all comments, documents, records and other information regarding the request for benefits submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection B(2), without regard to whether the information was submitted or considered in reaching the first level review decision.

(c) The panel shall have the legal authority to bind the health carrier to the panel's decision.

(2) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, a majority of the panel shall be comprised of individuals who were not involved in the in the first level review decision made pursuant to Section 7 of this Act.

(b) An individual who was involved with the first level review decision may be a member of the panel or appear before the panel to present information or answer questions.

(c) The health carrier shall ensure that a majority of the individuals conducting the additional voluntary review of the first level review decision made pursuant to Section 7 of this Act are health care professionals who have appropriate expertise.

(d) Except, when such a reviewing health care professional is not reasonably available, in cases where there has been a denial of a health care service, the reviewing health care professional shall not:

(i) Be a provider in the covered person's health benefit plan; and

(ii) Have a financial interest in the outcome of the review.

D. (1) (a) With respect to a voluntary review of a standard review decision made pursuant to Section 8 of this Act , a health carrier shall appoint a review panel to review the request.

(b) The panel shall have the legal authority to bind the health carrier to the panel's decision.

(2) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, a majority of the panel shall be comprised of employees or representatives of the health carrier who were not involved in the standard review decision made pursuant to Section 8 of this Act.

(b) An employee or representative of the health carrier who was involved with the standard review decision may be a member of the panel or appear before the panel to present information or answer questions.

E. (1) (a) Whenever a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative requests within the time frame specified in Subsection B(3)(a) the opportunity to appear in person before the review panel appointed pursuant to Subsection C or Subsection D, the procedures for conducting the review shall include the provisions described in this paragraph.

Drafting Note: Subsection E(1)(a) requires a covered person affirmatively to exercise the option to request a review meeting. A state may prefer to require a health carrier to provide a meeting unless a covered person acts to waive that right.

(b) (i) The review panel shall schedule and hold a review meeting within forty-five (45) working days after the date of receipt of the request.

(ii) The covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative shall be notified in writing at least fifteen (15) working days in advance of the date of the review meeting.

(iii) The health carrier shall not unreasonably deny a request for postponement of the review made by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative.

(c) The review meeting shall be held during regular business hours at a location reasonably accessible to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative.

(d) In cases where a face-to-face meeting is not practical for geographic reasons, a health carrier shall offer the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative the opportunity to communicate with the review panel, at the health carrier's expense, by conference call, video conferencing, or other appropriate technology.

(e) If the health carrier desires to have an attorney present to represent the interests of the health carrier, the health carrier shall notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative at least fifteen (15) working days in advance of the date of the review meeting that an attorney will be present and that the covered person may wish to obtain legal representation of his or her own.

Drafting Note: States may want to require the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative to notify the health carrier in advance of the review meeting date if the covered person plans to bring an attorney to the review meeting.

(f) The review panel shall issue a written decision, as provided in Subsection F, to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative within five (5) working days of completing the review meeting.

(2) Whenever the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative does not request the opportunity to appear in person before the review panel within the specified timeframe provided under Subsection B(3)(a), the review panel shall issue a decision and notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the decision, as provided in Subsection F, in writing or electronically, within forty-five (45) working days after the earlier of:

(a) The date the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative notifies the health carrier of the covered person's decision not to request the opportunity to appear in person before the review panel; or

(b) The date on which the covered person's or the covered person's authorized representative's opportunity to request to appear in person before the review panel expires pursuant to Subsection B(3)(a).

(3) For purposes of calculating the time periods within which a decision is required to be made and notice provided under Paragraphs (1) and (2), the time period shall begin on the date the request for an additional voluntary review is filed with the health carrier in accordance with the health carrier's procedures established pursuant to Section 6 of this Act for filing a request without regard to whether all of the information necessary to make the determination accompanies the filing.

F. A decision issued pursuant to Subsection E shall include:

(1) The titles and qualifying credentials of the members of the review panel;

(2) A statement of the review panel's understanding of the nature of the grievance and all pertinent facts;

(3) The rationale for the review panel's decision;

(4) A reference to evidence or documentation considered by the review panel in making that decision;

(5) In cases concerning a grievance involving an adverse determination:

(a) The instructions for requesting a written statement of the clinical rationale, including the clinical review criteria used to make the determination; and

(b) If applicable, a statement describing the procedures for obtaining an independent external review of the adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act]; and Drafting Note: Subparagraph (b) should be adopted by states that have enacted an external review law equivalent to the NAIC Health Carrier External Review Model Act. States that have not enacted such a law should not adopt the language in Subparagraph (b).

(6) Notice of the covered person's right to contact the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office for assistance with respect to any claim, grievance or appeal at any time, including the telephone number and address of the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office.

Drafting Note: States may need to revise paragraph (6) above to reflect whatever office or offices established in their state pursuant to section 2793 of PHSA to provide assistance to individuals with internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

Drafting Note: States that have established an appeals procedure in the office of the commissioner may wish to use the following provision in Paragraph (6): "Notice of the covered person's right to appeal the decision to the commissioner. The notice shall contain the telephone number and address of the commissioner's office."

Section 10. Expedited Reviews of Grievances Involving An Adverse Determination

A. A health carrier shall establish written procedures for the expedited review of urgent care requests of grievances involving an adverse determination.

B. In addition to Subsection A, a health carrier shall provide expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination with respect to concurrent review urgent care requests involving an admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for a covered person who has received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility.

C. The procedures shall allow a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative to request an expedited review under this section orally or in writing.

D. A health carrier shall appoint an appropriate clinical peer or peers in the same or similar specialty as would typically manage the case being reviewed to review the adverse determination. The clinical peer or peers shall not have been involved in making the initial adverse determination.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, with respect to appeals of adverse benefit determinations that are based in whole or in part on a medical judgment, the DOL final rule requires group health plans to consult with a health care professional who has appropriate training and experience in the field of medicine involved in the medical judgment. Subsection D is more stringent than the DOL final rule. It requires health carriers to designate a clinical peer or peers of the same or similar specialty to review the adverse determination. Based on the preemption standards of ERISA and the DOL final rule, however, states may impose more stringent requirements. Therefore, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions of Subsection D.

E. In an expedited review, all necessary information, including the health carrier's decision, shall be transmitted between the health carrier and the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative by telephone, facsimile or the most expeditious method available.

F. (1) An expedited review decision shall be made and the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative shall be notified of the decision in accordance with Subsection H as expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition requires, but in no event more than seventy-two (72) hours after the receipt of the request for the expedited review.

(2) If the expedited review is of a grievance involving an adverse determination with respect to a concurrent review urgent care request, the service shall be continued without liability to the covered person until the covered person has been notified of the determination.

Drafting Note: If the expedited review is of a grievance involving an adverse determination with respect to a concurrent review request, Paragraph (2) requires that the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination be continued without liability to the covered person until the covered person has been notified of the determination. The DOL final rule does not include such a requirement. However, based on the preemption standards of ERISA and the DOL final rule, states may impose more stringent requirements. Therefore, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions of Paragraph (2).

G. For purposes of calculating the time periods within which a decision is required to be made under Subsection F, the time period within which the decision is required to be made shall begin on the date the request is filed with the health carrier in accordance with the health carrier's procedures established pursuant to Section 6 of this Act for filing a request without regard to whether all of the information necessary to make the determination accompanies the filing.

H. (1) A notification of a decision under this section shall, in a manner calculated to be understood by the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, set forth:

(a) The titles and qualifying credentials of the person or persons participating in the expedited review process (the reviewers);

(b) Information sufficient to identify the claim involved with respect to the grievance, including the date of service, the health care provider and, if applicable, the claim amount;

(c) A statement describing the availability, upon request, of the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning. For purposes of this subparagraph, a health carrier: (i) shall provide to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, as soon as practicable, upon request, the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning, associated with any adverse determination; and (ii) shall not consider a request for the diagnosis code and treatment information, in itself, to be a request for external review pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act];

(d) A statement of the reviewers' understanding of the covered person's grievance;

(e) The reviewers' decision in clear terms and the contract basis or medical rationale in sufficient detail for the covered person to respond further to the health carrier's position;

(f) A reference to the evidence or documentation used as the basis for the decision; and

(g) If the decision involves a final adverse determination, the notice shall provide:

(i) The specific reasons or reasons for the final adverse determination, including the denial code and its corresponding meaning, as well as a description of the health carrier's standard, if any, that was used in reaching the denial;

(ii) Reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination is based;

(iii) A description of any additional material or information necessary for the covered person to complete the request, including an explanation of why the material or information is necessary to complete the request;

(iv) If the health carrier relied upon an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion to make the adverse determination, either the specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion or a statement that a specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon to make the adverse determination and that a copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion will be provided free of charge to the covered person upon request;

(v) If the final adverse determination is based on a medical necessity or experimental or investigational treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for making the determination, applying the terms of the health benefit plan to the covered person's medical circumstances or a statement that an explanation will be provided to the covered person free of charge upon request;

(vi) If applicable, instructions for requesting:

(I) A copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion relied upon in making the adverse determination in accordance with Item (iv); or

(II) The written statement of the scientific or clinical rationale for the adverse determination in accordance with Item (v);

(vii) A statement describing the procedures for obtaining an independent external review of the adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act];

Drafting Note: The language in Item (vii) should be adopted by states that have enacted an external review law equivalent to the NAIC Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act. States that have not enacted such a law should not adopt the language in Item (vii).

(viii) A statement indicating the covered person's right to bring a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction;

(ix) The following statement: "You and your plan may have other voluntary alternative dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your state Insurance Commissioner."; and

(x) A notice of the covered person's right to contact the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office for assistance with respect to the any claim, grievance or appeal at any time, including the telephone number and address of the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office.

Drafting Note: States may need to revise item (x) above to reflect whatever office or offices established in their state pursuant to section 2793 of PHSA to provide assistance to individuals with internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

Drafting Note: States that have established an appeals procedure in the office of the commissioner may wish to use the following provision in Item (x): "Notice of the covered person's right to appeal the decision to the commissioner. The notice shall contain the telephone number and address of the commissioner's office."

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the DOL final rule sets out certain information that must be included in any notice to a claimant that involves an adverse benefit determination. Some of the information required to be provided in a notice under Subsection H(1), particularly the information required in Subsection H(1)(a) and (d) through (f), is not specifically required by the DOL final rule. For example, the DOL final rule does not require group health plans to automatically provide the title and qualifying credentials of medical experts participating in the first level review, as provided in Subsection H(1)(a). The DOL final rule requires group health plans to provide for the identification of medical or vocational experts whose advice was obtained on behalf of the plan in connection with the claimant's adverse benefit determination. The DOL final rule does not address the other requirements in Subsection H(1)(a) and (d) through (f). Based on the preemption standards of ERISA and the DOL final rule, however, states may impose more stringent requirements. Therefore, in revising this section, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions in Subsection H(1).

(2) (a) A health carrier shall provide the notice required under this section in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner in accordance with federal regulations.

(b) To be considered to meet the requirements of subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the health carrier shall:

(i) Provide oral language services, such as a telephone assistance hotline, that include answering questions in any applicable non-English language and providing assistance with filing benefit requests and claims and appeals in any applicable non-English language;

(ii) Provide, upon request, a notice in any applicable non-English language; and

(iii) Include in the English versions of all notices, a statement prominently displayed in any applicable non-English language clearly indicating how to access the language services provided by the carrier.

(c) For purposes of this paragraph, with respect to any United States county to which a notice is sent, a non-English language is an applicable non-English language if ten (10) percent or more of the population residing in the county is literate only in the same non-English language, as determined in published federal guidance.

(3) (a) A health carrier may provide the notice required under this section orally, in writing or electronically.

(b) If notice of the adverse determination is provided orally, the health carrier shall provide written or electronic notice of the adverse determination within three (3) days following the oral notification.

Section 11. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 12. Penalties

A violation of this Act shall [insert appropriate administrative penalty from state law].

Section 13. Separability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 14. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

HEALTH CARRIER GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

HEALTH CARRIER GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2012

REVISIONS TO HEALTH CARRIER GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE MODEL ACT (#72)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The revisions to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act (#72) were made to reflect the provisions of the interim final regulations for internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, as revised by the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register June 24, 2011.

The interim final regulations published in the Federal Register June 24, 2011 made four changes to the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, that impacted this model and the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act (#73). The first change, which impacted the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act (#73) only, amended the interim final regulations to return to the requirement that a health insurance issuer make an initial determination for a claim involving an urgent care request within 72 hours. The second change, which impacted both models, eliminated the requirement that health insurance issuers automatically provide the diagnosis and treatment codes as part of a notice of an adverse benefit determination or final adverse benefit determination. The issuer must, however, notify claimants of their opportunity to request the codes.

The third change, which also impacted both models, revised the deemed exhaustion provisions in the interim final regulations to provide that, if a health insurance issuer's failure to strictly adhere to the internal claims and appeals procedure is de minimus—i.e., not reflective of a pattern—then there is no deemed exhaustion. The amendments also provide that the claimant be notified of his or her right to obtain an explanation of the issuer's basis that the failure to follow the procedure was de minimus. The last change, which also impacted both models, amends a provision in the interim final regulations related to the requirement that certain notices be provided to claimants in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner. The amendment establishes for both the group and individual markets the trigger for when notices must be provided to a claimant in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner—when 10% or more of the population residing in a claimant's county are literate only in the same non-English language. The amendment also requires a health insurance issuer to include in each notice sent to a claimant a one-sentence statement in the relevant non-English language about the availability of language services. Issuers are also required to provide a customer assistance process, such as a telephone hotline, with oral language services in the non-English language and to provide written notices in the non-English language.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force is responsible for drafting the revisions. The members of the Task Force are: South Dakota, Chair, Nebraska, Vice Chair, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, N. Mariana Islands, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Regulatory Framework Task Force has a general charge to: coordinate and develop the provision of technical assistance to the states regarding state level implementation issues raised by federal health legislation and regulations. After the enactment of PPACA in March 2010, consistent with this charge, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee directed the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to review and revise existing NAIC models impacted by PPACA or, as necessary, develop new NAIC models to assist the states in implementing PPACA.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The revisions were drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held a conference call Sept. 1, 2011 and a person-to-person meeting at the 2011 Fall National Meeting during which the draft and comments received on it were discussed. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2010

REVISIONS TO HEALTH CARRIER GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE MODEL ACT (#72)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

At the Summer National Meeting, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force adopted a work plan to revise NAIC models impacted by the Sept. 23 immediate reform provisions of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA) and, for those PPACA Sept. 23 immediate reform provisions that do not fit into any existing NAIC model, to develop model language templates to assist the states in implementing those provisions. The revisions to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act (#72) reflect the provisions of section 2719 of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA) of PPACA and the interim final regulations for internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register July 23. This model was revised in 2001 for consistency with the final regulations promulgated by the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) in 2000 for the handling of health insurance claims under employer benefit plans governed by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). The interim final regulations published in the Federal Register July 23 revise the DOL regulations; the revisions to the model reflect those revisions.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force is responsible for drafting the revisions. The members of the Task Force are: South Dakota, Chair, Idaho, Vice Chair, Alabama, Arkansas, California, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Regulatory Framework Task Force has a general charge to: coordinate and develop the provision of technical assistance to the states regarding state level implementation issues raised by federal health legislation and regulations. After the enactment of PPACA in March 2010, consistent with this charge, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee directed the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to review and revise existing NAIC models impacted by PPACA or, as necessary, develop new NAIC models to assist the states in implementing PPACA.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The revisions were drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held conference calls Sept. 13, 20 and 27, Oct. 4 and Nov. 1, 8 and 15 and a person-to-person meeting at the Fall National Meeting during which the draft and comments received on it were discussed. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website.

UTILIZATION REVIEW AND BENEFIT DETERMINATION MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act in regulation form. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as regulations.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

This Act establishes standards and criteria for the structure and operation of utilization review and benefit determination processes designed to facilitate ongoing assessment and management of health care services.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. (1) "Adverse determination" means:

(a) A determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that, based upon the information provided, a request for a benefit under the health carrier's health benefit plan upon application of any utilization review technique does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness or is determined to be experimental or investigational and the requested benefit is therefore denied, reduced or terminated or payment is not provided or made, in whole or in part, for the benefit;

(b) The denial, reduction, termination or failure to provide or make payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit based on a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization of a covered person's eligibility to participate in the health carrier's health benefit plan; or

(c) Any prospective review or retrospective review determination that denies, reduces or terminates or fails to provide or make payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit.

(2) "Adverse determination" includes a rescission of coverage determination.

Drafting Note: The federal Department of Labor's claims procedure final regulation (DOL final rule), as published in the Federal Register, Nov. 21, 2000, which establishes standards for the processing of claims under group health plans, uses the term "adverse benefit determination." This model act uses the term "adverse determination." The NAIC has chosen to continue to use the term "adverse determination" in this model act instead of using the DOL final rule's term "adverse benefit determination" because the term "adverse determination" is referenced in several other NAIC model acts in addition to this model act. If the terminology were changed, this would necessitate revising several NAIC model acts to reflect this change in terminology. The definition of "adverse determination" in Subsection A has been revised, however, to be consistent with the DOL final rule's definition for the term "adverse benefit determination." The definition of "adverse determination" has been revised to include rescission of coverage determinations, as provided in the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010.

B. "Ambulatory review" means utilization review of health care services performed or provided in an outpatient setting.

C. "Authorized representative" means:

(1) A person to whom a covered person has given express written consent to represent the covered person for purposes of this Act;

(2) A person authorized by law to provide substituted consent for a covered person;

(3) A family member of the covered person or the covered person's treating health care professional when the covered person is unable to provide consent;

(4) A health care professional when the covered person's health benefit plan requires that a request for a benefit under the plan be initiated by the health care professional; or

(5) In the case of an urgent care request, a health care professional with knowledge of the covered person's medical condition.

D. "Case management" means a coordinated set of activities conducted for individual patient management of serious, complicated, protracted or other health conditions.

E. "Certification" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that a request for a benefit under the health carrier's health benefit plan has been reviewed and, based on the information provided, satisfies the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care and effectiveness.

F. "Clinical peer" means a physician or other health care professional who holds a nonrestricted license in a state of the United States and in the same or similar specialty as typically manages the medical condition, procedure or treatment under review.

Drafting Note: States may wish to define "clinical peer" more broadly to include a health care professional who has demonstrable expertise to review a case, whether or not the reviewing professional is in the same or similar specialty as the health care professional who made the initial decision.

G. "Clinical review criteria" means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocols and practice guidelines used by the health carrier to determine the medical necessity and appropriateness of health care services.

H. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

I. "Concurrent review" means utilization review conducted during a patient's stay or course of treatment in a facility, the office of a health care professional or other inpatient or outpatient health care setting.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule, which was unchanged by the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010, uses the term "concurrent claim" instead of "concurrent review." The DOL final rule does not define "concurrent claim." However, given the use of the term in the substantive provisions of the DOL final rule and the way the term is used substantively in this model, the definition of "concurrent review," as defined in Subsection I, is consistent with the term "concurrent claim."

J. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

K. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

L. "Discharge planning" means the formal process for determining, prior to discharge from a facility, the coordination and management of the care that a patient receives following discharge from a facility.

M. "Emergency medical condition" means a medical condition manifesting itself by acute symptoms of sufficient severity, including severe pain, such that a prudent layperson, who possesses an average knowledge of health and medicine, could reasonably expect that the absence of immediate medical attention would result in serious impairment to bodily functions or serious dysfunction of a bodily organ or part, or would place the person's health or, with respect to a pregnant woman, the health of the woman or her unborn child, in serious jeopardy.

Drafting Note: The definition of "emergency medical condition" has been revised to reflect the definition of that term in the interim final rules on emergency services published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

N. "Emergency services" means, with respect to an emergency medical condition:

(1) A medical screening examination that is within the capability of the emergency department of a hospital, including ancillary services routinely available to the emergency department to evaluate such emergency medical condition; and

(2) Such further medical examination and treatment, to the extent they are within the capability of the staff and facilities available at a hospital, to stabilize a patient.

Drafting Note: The definition of "emergency services" has been revised to reflect the definition of that term in the interim final rules on emergency services published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

O. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

P. (1) "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement entered into, offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

Drafting Note: The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Affordable Care Act) uses the term "health insurance coverage." "Health benefit plan," as defined in this model act, is intended to be consistent with the definition of "health insurance coverage" contained in HIPAA. Paragraphs (2), (3), (4), and (5) below track the language of HIPAA that addresses "excepted benefits," i.e., those benefits that are excepted from the requirements of the Affordable Care Act.

(2) "Health benefit plan" includes short-term and catastrophic health insurance policies, and a policy that pays on a cost-incurred basis, except as otherwise specifically exempted in this definition.

(3) "Health benefit plan" does not include:

(a) Coverage only for accident, or disability income insurance, or any combination thereof;

(b) Coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance;

(c) Liability insurance, including general liability insurance and automobile liability insurance;

(d) Workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(e) Automobile medical payment insurance;

(f) Credit-only insurance;

(g) Coverage for on-site medical clinics; and

(h) Other similar insurance coverage, specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191, under which benefits for medical care are secondary or incidental to other insurance benefits.

(4) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if they are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance or are otherwise not an integral part of the plan:

(a) Limited scope dental or vision benefits;

(b) Benefits for long-term care, nursing home care, home health care, community-based care, or any combination thereof; or

(c) Other similar, limited benefits specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191.

(5) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if the benefits are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance, there is no coordination between the provision of the benefits and any exclusion of benefits under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor, and the benefits are paid with respect to an event without regard to whether benefits are provided with respect to such an event under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor:

(a) Coverage only for a specified disease or illness; or

(b) Hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity insurance.

(6) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following if offered as a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance:

(a) Medicare supplemental health insurance as defined under Section 1882(g)(1) of the Social Security Act;

(b) Coverage supplemental to the coverage provided under Chapter 55 of Title 10, United States Code (Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS)); or

(c) Similar supplemental coverage provided to coverage under a group health plan.

Q. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not "corporate persons."

R. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

S. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

T. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health care services.

Drafting Note: The Affordable Care Act uses the term "health insurance issuer" instead of "health carrier." The definition of "health carrier" is consistent with the term "health insurance issuer."

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

U. "Managed care plan" means a health benefit plan that either requires a covered person to use, or creates incentives, including financial incentives, for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with or employed by the health carrier.

V. "Network" means the group of participating providers providing services to a managed care plan.

W. "Participating provider" means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier.

X. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing.

Y. "Prospective review" means utilization review conducted prior to an admission or the provision of a health care service or a course of treatment in accordance with a health carrier's requirement that the health care service or course of treatment, in whole or in part, be approved prior to its provision.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule, which was unchanged by the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010, uses the term "pre-service claim" instead of "prospective review." The DOL final rule defines a "pre-service claim" as "any claim for a benefit under a group health plan with respect to which the terms of the plan condition receipt of the benefit, in whole or in part, on approval of the benefit in advance of obtaining medical care." The definition of "prospective review," as defined in Subsection Y, has been amended to be consistent with the intent of the definition of "pre-service claim" because both require prior approval of the benefit prior to its provision. The DOL final rule does not state what process the claimant must complete to obtain the approval, but, given the definition of "adverse benefit determination" in the DOL final rule, it is reasonable to conclude that performing utilization review would be an acceptable means to determine whether the provision of a health care service will be approved.

Z. (1) "Rescission" means a cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan that has a retroactive effect.

(2) "Rescission" does not include a cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan if:

(a) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage has only a prospective effect; or

(b) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage is effective retroactively to the extent it is attributable to a failure to timely pay required premiums or contributions towards the cost of coverage.

Drafting Note: The definition of "rescission" is derived from the interim final regulations on rescissions published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

AA. (1) "Retrospective review" means any review of a request for a benefit that is not a prospective review request.

(2) "Retrospective review" does not include the review of a claim that is limited to veracity of documentation or accuracy of coding.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule uses the term "post-service claim" instead of "retrospective review." The DOL final rule defines a "post-service claim" as "any claim for a benefit under a group health plan that is not a pre-service claim," as that term is defined under the DOL final rule. To reflect this broad definition of "post-service claim," the definition of "retrospective review," in Subsection AA, has been revised to be consistent with the definition of "post-service claim."

BB. "Second opinion" means an opportunity or requirement to obtain a clinical evaluation by a provider other than the one originally making a recommendation for a proposed health care service to assess the medical necessity and appropriateness of the initial proposed health care service.

CC. "Stabilized" means, with respect to an emergency medical condition, that no material deterioration of the condition is likely, within reasonable medical probability, to result from or occur during the transfer of the individual from a facility or, with respect to a pregnant woman, the woman has delivered, including the placenta.

Drafting Note: The definition of "stabilized" is derived from the interim final regulations on rescissions published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010.

DD. (1) "Urgent care request" means a request for a health care service or course of treatment with respect to which the time periods for making a non-urgent care request determination:

(a) Could seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or the ability of the covered person to regain maximum function; or

(b) In the opinion of an attending health care professional with knowledge of the covered person's medical condition, would subject the covered person to severe pain that cannot be adequately managed without the health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request.

(2) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, in determining whether a request is be treated as an urgent care request, an individual acting on behalf of the health carrier shall apply the judgment of a prudent layperson who possesses an average knowledge of health and medicine.

(b) Any request that an attending health care professional with knowledge of the covered person's medical condition determines is an urgent care request within the meaning of Paragraph (1) shall be treated as an urgent care request.

EE. "Utilization review" means a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of, or evaluate the medical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of, health care services, procedures, or settings. Techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning or retrospective review.

FF. "Utilization review organization" means an entity that conducts utilization review, other than a health carrier performing utilization review for its own health benefit plans.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

This Act shall apply to a health carrier offering a health benefit plan that provides or performs utilization review services. The requirements of this Act also shall apply to any designee of the health carrier or utilization review organization that performs utilization review functions on the carrier's behalf. This Act also shall apply to a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that provides or performs prospective review or retrospective review benefit determinations.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule expands the scope and application of this model to include initial benefit determinations based on whether a covered person is eligible to participate in the health carrier's health benefit plan, as well as any other determination that results in a denial, reduction or termination of, or a failure to provide payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit. To be consistent with the DOL final rule, this section was revised to include these types of determinations as well as utilization review determinations that involve medical necessity. The definition of "adverse determination" in Section 3A has been revised to reflect the DOL final rule's definition of "adverse benefit determination." That term has also been revised to reflect the inclusion of rescission of coverage determinations, as provided in the interim final rules on internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register, July 23, 2010. Any denial, reduction, termination of or failure to provide or make payment, in whole or in part, based on a determination of the covered person's eligibility to participate in the health carrier's health benefit plan and any other determination that results in a denial, reduction or termination of, or a failure to provide payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit will be an adverse determination under this Act and, consequently, eligible for an appeal under the NAIC Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act. Rescission of coverage determinations are also eligible for an appeal under the NAIC Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act.

Drafting Note: The provisions of this Act are consistent with the provisions in the interim final regulations on internal claims and appeals and external review processes, as published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010 and, as those regulations were amended by the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register June 24, 2011. However, states should be aware that the Affordable Care Act's preemption standards permit States to impose more stringent, consumer protection requirements.

Drafting Note: States that regulate utilization review organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the appropriate commissioner instead of, or in addition to, the insurance commissioner

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider accreditation by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity, with established and maintained standards, as evidence of meeting some or all of this Act's requirements. Under such an approach, the accrediting entity will make available to the state its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed the state's requirements. The private accrediting entity shall file or provide the state with documentation that a health carrier has been accredited by the entity. A health carrier accredited by the private accrediting entity would then be deemed to have met the requirements of the relevant sections of this Act where comparable standards exist. States should periodically review a health carrier's private accreditation and eligibility for deemed compliance.

Drafting Note: States that have defined and regulated limited benefit plans should compare their regulatory structure with the requirements of this Act and may want to exempt limited benefit plans from certain requirements that duplicate the existing structure or that are not appropriate for limited benefit plans because their services are less comprehensive. States that have not defined or regulated limited benefit plans may want to adopt a definition similar to the one above and decide which of the requirements of this Act are feasible and appropriate for these plans. Exemptions from the requirements of this Act should only be granted where the limited benefit plan does not perform the activity to which the requirement applies or where the technology necessary to comply does not exist for limited benefit plans. Exemptions should not be granted merely because compliance with the requirement would be expensive or inconvenient for the limited benefit plan.

States also may wish to consider whether Medicare supplement, long-term care of disability income insurance, coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance, worker's compensation or similar insurance, or automobile medical payment insurance is appropriate for inclusion in this Act.

Section 5. Corporate oversight of Utilization Review Program

A health carrier shall be responsible for monitoring all utilization review activities carried out by, or on behalf of, the health carrier and for ensuring that all requirements of this Act and applicable regulations are met. The health carrier also shall ensure that appropriate personnel have operational responsibility for the conduct of the health carrier's utilization review program.

Section 6. Contracting

Whenever a health carrier contracts to have a utilization review organization or other entity perform the utilization review functions required by this Act or applicable regulations, the commissioner shall hold the health carrier responsible for monitoring the activities of the utilization review organization or entity with which the health carrier contracts and for ensuring that the requirements of this Act and applicable regulations are met.

Section 7. Scope and Content of Utilization Review Program

A. (1) A health carrier that requires a request for benefits under the covered person's health benefit plan to be subjected to utilization review shall implement a written utilization review program that describes all review activities and procedures, both delegated and non-delegated for:

(a) The filing of benefit requests;

(b) The notification of utilization review and benefit determinations; and

(c) The review of adverse determinations in accordance with [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(2) The program document shall describe the following:

(a) Procedures to evaluate the medical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy or efficiency of health care services;

(b) Data sources and clinical review criteria used in decision-making;

(c) Mechanisms to ensure consistent application of clinical review criteria and compatible decisions;

(d) Data collection processes and analytical methods used in assessing utilization of health care services;

(e) Provisions for assuring confidentiality of clinical and proprietary information;

(f) The organizational structure (e.g. utilization review committee, quality assurance or other committee) that periodically assesses utilization review activities and reports to the health carrier's governing body; and

(g) The staff position functionally responsible for day-to-day program management.

Section 8. Operational Requirements

A. A utilization review program shall use documented clinical review criteria that are based on sound clinical evidence and are evaluated periodically to assure ongoing efficacy. A health carrier may develop its own clinical review criteria or it may purchase or license clinical review criteria from qualified vendors. A health carrier shall make available its clinical review criteria upon request to authorized government agencies.

Drafting Note: Each state should identify the agencies authorized to request a health carrier's clinical review criteria.

B. Qualified health care professionals shall administer the utilization review program and oversee utilization review decisions. A clinical peer shall evaluate the clinical appropriateness of adverse determinations.

C. (1) A health carrier shall issue utilization review and benefit determinations in a timely manner pursuant to the requirements of Sections 9 and 10 of this Act.

(2) (a) Whenever a health carrier fails to adhere to the requirements of section 9 or section 10 of this Act with respect to making utilization review and benefit determinations of a benefit request or claim, the covered person shall be deemed to have exhausted the provisions of this Act and may take action under subparagraph (b) of this paragraph.

(b) (i) A covered person may file a request for external review in accordance with the procedures outlined in [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act].

(ii) In addition to item (i), a covered person is entitled to pursue any available remedies under State or federal law on the basis that the health carrier failed to provide a reasonable internal claims and appeals process that would yield a decision on the merits of the claim.

(3) (a) Notwithstanding paragraph (2), the provisions of section 9 or section 10 of this Act shall not be deemed exhausted based on a de minimus violation that does not cause, and is not likely to cause, prejudice or harm to the covered person as long as the health carrier demonstrates that the violation was for good cause or due to matters beyond the control of the health carrier and that the violation occurred in the context of an ongoing, good faith exchange of information between the health carrier and the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative.

(b) The exception provided in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph does not apply if the violation is part of a pattern or practice of violations by the health carrier.

(c) (i) A covered person may request a written explanation of the violation from the health carrier.

(ii) The health carrier shall:

(I) Provide the written explanation within ten (10) days of receiving the request; and

(II) Include in the written explanation a specific description of its bases, if any, for asserting that the violation does not deem the provisions of this Act to be exhausted.

(d) (i) If an independent reviewer or a court of competent jurisdiction rejects the benefit request or claim for immediate review on the basis that the health carrier met the requirements of the exception provided in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the covered person has the right to resubmit and, as appropriate, pursue a review of the benefit request or claim under this Act or file a grievance pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(ii) In this case, within a reasonable time, after the independent reviewer or the court rejects the benefit request or claim for immediate review, but not exceeding ten (10) days, the health carrier shall provide to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative notice of the opportunity to resubmit and, as appropriate, pursue a review of the benefit request or claim under this Act or file a grievance pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(iii) For purposes of calculating the time period for re-filing the benefit request or claim under this subparagraph, the time period shall begin to run upon the covered person's or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative's receipt of the notice of opportunity to resubmit.

D. A health carrier shall have a process to ensure that utilization reviewers apply clinical review criteria in conducting utilization review consistently.

E. A health carrier shall routinely assess the effectiveness and efficiency of its utilization review program.

F. A health carrier's data systems shall be sufficient to support utilization review program activities and to generate management reports to enable the health carrier to monitor and manage health care services effectively.

G. If a health carrier delegates any utilization review activities to a utilization review organization, the health carrier shall maintain adequate oversight, which shall include:

(1) A written description of the utilization review organization's activities and responsibilities, including reporting requirements;

(2) Evidence of formal approval of the utilization review organization program by the health carrier; and

(3) A process by which the health carrier evaluates the performance of the utilization review organization.

H. The health carrier shall coordinate the utilization review program with other medical management activity conducted by the carrier, such as quality assurance, credentialing, provider contracting, data reporting, grievance procedures, processes for assessing member satisfaction and risk management.

I. A health carrier shall provide covered persons and participating providers with access to its review staff by a toll-free number or collect call telephone line.

J. When conducting utilization review, the health carrier shall collect only the information necessary, including pertinent clinical information, to make the utilization review or benefit determination

K. (1) In conducting utilization review, the health carrier shall ensure that the review is conducted in a manner to ensure the independence and impartiality of the individuals involved in making the utilization review or benefit determination.

(2) In ensuring the independence and impartially of individuals involved in making the utilization review or benefit determination, the health carrier shall not make decisions regarding hiring, compensation, termination, promotion or other similar matters based upon the likelihood that the individual will support the denial of benefits.

Section 9. Procedures for Standard Utilization Review and Benefit Determinations

A. A health carrier shall maintain written procedures pursuant to this section for making standard utilization review and benefit determinations on requests submitted to the health carrier by covered persons or their authorized representatives for benefits and for notifying covered persons and their authorized representatives of its determinations with respect to these requests within the specified time frames required under this section.

B. (1) (a) (i) Subject to Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, for prospective review determinations, a health carrier shall make the determination and notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the determination, whether the carrier certifies the provision of the benefit or not, within a reasonable period of time appropriate to the covered person's medical condition, but in no event later than fifteen (15) days after the date the health carrier receives the request.

(ii) Whenever the determination is an adverse determination, the health carrier shall make the notification of the adverse determination in accordance with Subsection F.

(b) The time period for making a determination and notifying the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the determination pursuant to Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph may be extended one time by the health carrier for up to fifteen (15) days, provided the health carrier:

(i) Determines that an extension is necessary due to matters beyond the health carrier's control; and

(ii) Notifies the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, prior to the expiration of the initial fifteen-day time period, of the circumstances requiring the extension of time and the date by which the health carrier expects to make a determination.

(c) If the extension under Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph is necessary due to the failure of the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative to submit information necessary to reach a determination on the request, the notice of extension shall:

(i) Specifically describe the required information necessary to complete the request; and

(ii) Give the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative at least forty-five (45) days from the date of receipt of the notice to provide the specified information.

(2) (a) Whenever the health carrier receives a prospective review request from a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative that fails to meet the health carrier's filing procedures, the health carrier shall notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of this failure and provide in the notice information on the proper procedures to be followed for filing a request.

(b) (i) The notice required under Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph shall be provided, as soon as possible, but in no event later than five (5) days following the date of the failure.

(ii) The health carrier may provide the notice orally or, if requested by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative, in writing.

(c) The provisions of this paragraph shall apply only in the case of a failure that:

(i) Is a communication by a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative that is received by a person or organizational unit of the health carrier responsible for handling benefit matters; and

(ii) Is a communication that refers to a specific covered person, a specific medical condition or symptom, and a specific health care service, treatment or provider for which certification is being requested.

C. (1) For concurrent review determinations, if a health carrier has certified an ongoing course of treatment to be provided over a period of time or number of treatments:

(a) Any reduction or termination by the health carrier during the course of treatment before the end of the period or number treatments, other than by health benefit plan amendment or termination of the health benefit plan, shall constitute an adverse determination; and

(b) The health carrier shall notify the covered person of the adverse determination in accordance with Subsection F at a time sufficiently in advance of the reduction or termination to allow the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative to file a grievance to request a review of the adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] and obtain a determination with respect to that review of the adverse determination before the benefit is reduced or terminated.

(2) The health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination shall be continued without liability to the covered person with respect to the internal review request made pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

Drafting Note: Paragraph (2) requires health carriers to continue the health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination without liability to the covered person until the covered person has been notified of the determination made with respect to the appeal of the adverse determination involving a concurrent review request. The DOL final rule does not include such a requirement. However, based on the preemption standards of ERISA and the DOL final rule, states may impose more stringent requirements. Therefore, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions of Paragraph (2).

D. (1) (a) For retrospective review determinations, a health carrier shall make the determination within a reasonable period of time, but in no event later than thirty (30) days after the date of receiving the benefit request.

(b) If the determination is an adverse determination, the health carrier shall provide notice of the adverse determination to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in accordance with Subsection F.

(2) (a) The time period for making a determination and notifying the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) may be extended one time by the health carrier for up to fifteen (15) days, provided the health carrier:

(i) Determines that an extension is necessary due to matters beyond the health carrier's control; and

(ii) Notifies the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, prior to the expiration of the initial thirty-day time period, of the circumstances requiring the extension of time and the date by which the health carrier expects to make a determination.

(b) If the extension under Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph is necessary due to the failure of the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative to submit information necessary to reach a determination on the request, the notice of extension shall:

(i) Specifically describe the required information necessary to complete the request; and

E. (1) For purposes of calculating the time periods within which a determination is required to be made under Subsections B and D, the time period within which the determination is required to be made shall begin on the date the request is received by the health carrier in accordance with the health carrier's procedures established pursuant to Section 7 of this Act for filing a request without regard to whether all of the information necessary to make the determination accompanies the filing.

(2) (a) If the time period for making the determination under Subsection B or D is extended due to the covered person's or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative's failure to submit the information necessary to make the determination, the time period for making the determination shall be tolled from the date on which the health carrier sends the notification of the extension to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative until the earlier of:

(i) The date on which the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative responds to the request for additional information; or

(ii) The date on which the specified information was to have been submitted.

(b) If the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative fails to submit the information before the end of the period of the extension, as specified in Subsection B or D, the health carrier may deny the certification of the requested benefit.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule does not specifically state what actions a group health plan may take if the claimant or the claimant's authorized representative fails to submit the information requested before the end of the period of the extension. However, the provisions of Subsection E(2)(b), which would permit the health carrier to deny certification of the requested benefit if the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative does not submit the requested information within the specified time frame, are consistent with provisions of the DOL final rule. Therefore, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions of Subsection E(2)(b).

F. (1) A notification of an adverse determination under this section shall, in a manner calculated to be understood by the covered person, set forth:

(a) Information sufficient to identify the benefit request or claim involved, including the date of service, if applicable, the health care provider and the claim amount, if applicable;

(b) A statement describing the availability, upon request, of the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning. For purposes of this subparagraph, a health carrier: (i) shall provide to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, as soon as practicable, upon request, the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning, associated with any adverse determination; and (ii) shall not consider a request for the diagnosis code and treatment information, in itself, to be a request to file a grievance for review of an adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], or a request for external review;

(c) The specific reasons or reasons for the adverse determination, including the denial code and its corresponding meaning, as well as a description of the health carrier's standard, if any, that was used in denying the benefit request or claim;

(d) Reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination is based;

(e) A description of any additional material or information necessary for the covered person to perfect the benefit request, including an explanation of why the material or information is necessary to perfect the request;

(f) A description of the health carrier's grievance procedures established pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], including any time limits applicable to those procedures;

(g) If the health carrier relied upon an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion to make the adverse determination, either the specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion or a statement that a specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon to make the adverse determination and that a copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion will be provided free of charge to the covered person upon request;

(h) If the adverse determination is based on a medical necessity or experimental or investigational treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for making the determination, applying the terms of the health benefit plan to the covered person's medical circumstances or a statement that an explanation will be provided to the covered person free of charge upon request;

(i) A copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion relied upon in making the adverse determination, as provided in Subparagraph (g) of this paragraph; or

(j) The written statement of the scientific or clinical rationale for the adverse determination, as provided in Subparagraph (h) of this paragraph; and

(k) A statement explaining the availability of and the right of the covered person, as appropriate, to contact the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office at any time for assistance or, upon completion of the health carrier's grievance procedure process as provided under [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], to file a civil suit in a court of competent jurisdiction. The statement shall include contact information for the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office.

Drafting Note: States may need to revise subparagraph (k) above to reflect whatever office or offices established in their state pursuant to section 2793 of PHSA to provide assistance to individuals with internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

(2) (a) A health carrier shall provide the notice required under this section in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner in accordance with federal regulations.

(b) To be considered to meet the requirements of subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the health carrier shall:

(i) Provide oral language services, such as a telephone assistance hotline, that include answering questions in any applicable non-English language and providing assistance with filing benefit requests and claims and appeals in any applicable non-English language;

(ii) Provide, upon request, a notice in any applicable non-English language; and

(iii) Include in the English versions of all notices, a statement prominently displayed in any applicable non-English language clearly indicating how to access the language services provided by the carrier.

(c) For purposes of this paragraph, with respect to any United States county to which a notice is sent, a non-English language is an applicable non-English language if ten (10) percent or more of the population residing in the county is literate only in the same non-English language, as determined in published federal guidance.

(3) If the adverse determination is a rescission, the health carrier shall provide in the advance notice of the rescission determination required to be provided under [insert reference to provision in State law or regulation related to the advance notice requirement of a proposed rescission], in addition to any applicable disclosures required under paragraph (1):

(a) Clear identification of the alleged fraudulent act, practice or omission or the intentional misrepresentation of material fact;

(b) An explanation as to why the act, practice or omission was fraudulent or was an intentional misrepresentation of a material fact;

(c) Notice that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative, prior to the date the advance notice of the proposed rescission ends, may immediately file a grievance to request a review of the adverse determination to rescind coverage pursuant to [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act];

(d) A description of the health carrier's grievance procedures established pursuant to [insert reference in State law to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], including any time limits applicable to those procedures; and

(e) The date when the advance notice ends and the date back to which the coverage will be retroactively rescinded.

(4) A health carrier may provide the notice required under this section in writing or electronically.

Drafting Note: Section 2719 of the PHSA of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and the interim final regulations implementing that section, as published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, establish the NAIC's Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act as the minimum standard for state external review processes. Because the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act references the procedures and timeframes in this Act and the NAIC's Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act, states are strongly encouraged to adopt both this Act and the NAIC's Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act. The Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act sets out a process, including timeframes, for covered persons to file a grievance requesting a review of an adverse determination made by a health carrier under this Act.

Section 10. Procedures for Expedited Utilization Review and Benefit Determinations

A. (1) A health carrier shall establish written procedures in accordance with this section for receiving benefit requests from covered persons or their authorized representatives and for making and notifying covered persons or their authorized representatives of expedited utilization review and benefit determinations with respect to urgent care requests and concurrent review urgent care requests.

(2) (a) As part of the procedures required under Paragraph (1), a health carrier shall provide that, in the case of a failure by a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative to follow the health carrier's procedures for filing an urgent care request, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative shall be notified of the failure and the proper procedures to be following for filing the request.

(b) The notice required under Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph:

(i) Shall be provided to the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative, as appropriate, as soon as possible, but not later than twenty-four (24) hours after receipt of the request; and

(ii) May be oral, unless the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative requests the notice in writing.

(c) The provisions of this paragraph apply only in the case of a failure that:

(i) Is a communication by a covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that is received by a person or organizational unit of the health carrier responsible for handling benefit matters; and

(ii) Is a communication that refers to a specific covered person, a specific medical condition or symptom, and a specific health care service, treatment or provider for which approval is being requested.

B. (1) (a) For an urgent care request, unless the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has failed to provide sufficient information for the health carrier to determine whether, or to what extent, the benefits requested are covered benefits or payable under the health carrier's health benefit plan, the health carrier shall notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the health carrier's determination with respect to the request, whether or not the determination is an adverse determination, as soon as possible, taking into account the medical condition of the covered person, but in no event later than seventy-two (72) hours after the receipt of the request by the health carrier.

(b) If the health carrier's determination is an adverse determination, the health carrier shall provide notice of the adverse determination in accordance with Subsection E.

(2) (a) If the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative has failed to provide sufficient information for the health carrier to make a determination, the health carrier shall notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative either orally or, if requested by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative, in writing of this failure and state what specific information is needed as soon as possible, but in no event later than twenty-four (24) hours after receipt of the request.

(b) The health carrier shall provide the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative a reasonable period of time to submit the necessary information, taking into account the circumstances, but in no event less than forty-eight (48) hours after notifying the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative of the failure to submit sufficient information, as provided in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

(c) The health carrier shall notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of its determination with respect to the urgent care request as soon as possible, but in no event more than forty-eight (48) hours after the earlier of:

(i) The health carrier's receipt of the requested specified information; or

(ii) The end of the period provided for the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative to submit the requested specified information.

(d) If the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative fails to submit the information before the end of the period of the extension, as specified in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, the health carrier may deny the certification of the requested benefit.

Drafting Note: The DOL final rule does not specifically state what actions a group health plan may take if the claimant or the claimant's authorized representative fails to submit the information requested by the plan before the end of the period of the extension. However, the provisions of Subsection B(2)(d), which would permit a health carrier to deny certification of the requested benefit if the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative does not submit the requested information within the specified time frame, are consistent with the provisions of the DOL final rule. Therefore, the NAIC has chosen to retain the provisions of Subsection B(2)(d).

(e) If the health carrier's determination is an adverse determination, the health carrier shall provide notice of the adverse determination in accordance with Subsection E.

C. (1) For concurrent review urgent care requests involving a request by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative to extend the course of treatment beyond the initial period of time or the number of treatments, if the request is made at least twenty-four (24) hours prior to the expiration of the prescribed period of time or number of treatments, the health carrier shall make a determination with respect to the request and notify the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the determination, whether it is an adverse determination or not, as soon as possible, taking into account the covered person's medical condition, but in no event more than twenty-four (24) hours after the health carrier's receipt of the request.

(2) If the health carrier's determination is an adverse determination, the health carrier shall provide notice of the adverse determination in accordance with Subsection E.

D. For purposes of calculating the time periods within which a determination is required to be made under Subsection B or C, the time period within which the determination is required to be made shall begin on the date the request is filed with the health carrier in accordance with the health carrier's procedures established pursuant to Section 7 of this Act for filing a request without regard to whether all of the information necessary to make the determination accompanies the filing.

E. (1) A notification of an adverse determination under this section shall, in a manner calculated to be understood by the covered person, set forth:

(a) Information sufficient to identify the benefit request or claim involved, including the date of service, if applicable, the health care provider and the claim amount, if applicable;

(b) A statement describing the availability, upon request, of the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning. For purposes of this subparagraph, a health carrier: (i) shall provide to the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, as soon as practicable, upon request, the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning, and the treatment code and its corresponding meaning, associated with any adverse determination; and (ii) shall not consider a request for the diagnosis code and treatment information, in itself, to be a request to file a grievance for review of an adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], or a request for external review;

(c) The specific reasons or reasons for the adverse determination, including the denial code and its corresponding meaning, as well as a description of the health carrier's standard, if any, that was used in denying the benefit request or claim;

(d) Reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination is based;

(e) A description of any additional material or information necessary for the covered person to complete the request, including an explanation of why the material or information is necessary to complete the request;

(f) A description of the health carrier's internal review procedures established pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], including any time limits applicable to those procedures;

(g) A description of the health carrier's expedited review procedures established pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(h) If the health carrier relied upon an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion to make the adverse determination, either the specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion or a statement that a specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon to make the adverse determination and that a copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion will be provided free of charge to the covered person upon request;

(i) If the adverse determination is based on a medical necessity or experimental or investigational treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for making the determination, applying the terms of the health benefit plan to the covered person's medical circumstances or a statement that an explanation will be provided to the covered person free of charge upon request;

(j) If applicable, instructions for requesting:

(i) A copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion relied upon in making the adverse determination in accordance with Subparagraph (h) of this paragraph; or

(ii) The written statement of the scientific or clinical rationale for the adverse determination in accordance with Subparagraph (i) of this paragraph; and

(k) A statement explaining the availability of and the right of the covered person, as appropriate, to contact the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office at any time for assistance or, upon completion of the health carrier's grievance procedure process as provided under [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], to file a civil suit in a court of competent jurisdiction. The statement shall include contact information for the commissioner's office or ombudsman's office.

Drafting Note: States may need to revise subparagraph (k) above to reflect whatever office or offices established in their state pursuant to section 2793 of PHSA to provide assistance to individuals with internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

(2) (a) A health carrier shall provide the notice required under this section in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner in accordance with federal regulations.

(b) To be considered to meet the requirements of subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the health carrier shall:

(i) Provide oral language services, such as a telephone assistance hotline, that include answering questions in any applicable non-English language and providing assistance with filing benefit requests and claims and appeals in any applicable non-English language;

(ii) Provide, upon request, a notice in any applicable non-English language; and

(iii) Include in the English versions of all notices, a statement prominently displayed in any applicable non-English language clearly indicating how to access the language services provided by the carrier.

(c) For purposes of this paragraph, with respect to any United States county to which a notice is sent, a non-English language is an applicable non-English language if ten (10) percent or more of the population residing in the county is literate only in the same non-English language, as determined in published federal guidance.

(3) If the adverse determination is a rescission, the health carrier shall provide, in addition to any applicable disclosures required under paragraph (1):

(a) Clear identification of the alleged fraudulent act, practice or omission or the intentional misrepresentation of material fact;

(b) An explanation as to why the act, practice or omission was fraudulent or was an intentional misrepresentation of a material fact;

(c) The date the health carrier made the decision to rescind the coverage; and

(d) The date when the advance notice of the health carrier's decision to rescind the coverage ends.

(4) (a) A health carrier may provide the notice required under this section orally, in writing or electronically.

(b) If notice of the adverse determination is provided orally, the health carrier shall provide written or electronic notice of the adverse determination within three (3) days following the oral notification.

Drafting Note: Section 2719 of the PHSA of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and the interim final regulations implementing that section, as published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, establish the NAIC's Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act as the minimum standard for state external review processes. Because the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act references the procedures and timeframes in this Act and the NAIC's Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act, states are strongly encouraged to adopt both this Act and the NAIC's Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act. The Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act sets out a process, including timeframes, for covered persons to file a grievance requesting a review of an adverse determination made by a health carrier under this Act.

Section 11. Emergency Services

A. When conducting utilization review or making a benefit determination for emergency services, a health carrier that provides benefits for services in an emergency department of a hospital shall follow the provisions of this section.

B. A health carrier shall cover emergency services to screen and stabilize a covered person in the following manner:

(1) Without the need for prior authorization of such services if a prudent layperson would have reasonably believed that an emergency medical condition existed even if the emergency services are provided on an out-of-network basis;

(2) Shall cover emergency services whether the health care provider furnishing the services is a participating provider with respect to such services;

(3) If the emergency services are provided out-of-network, without imposing any administrative requirement or limitation on coverage that is more restrictive than the requirements or limitations that apply to emergency services received from network providers;

(4) If the emergency services are provided out-of-network, by complying with the cost-sharing requirements of subsection C(2); and

(5) Without regard to any other term or condition of coverage, other than:

(a) The exclusion of or coordination of benefits;

(b) An affiliation or waiting period as permitted under section 2704 of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA); or

(c) Applicable cost-sharing, as provided in subsection C(1) or subsection C(2).

C. (1) For in-network emergency services, coverage of emergency services shall be subject to applicable copayments, coinsurance and deductibles.

(2) (a) For out-of-network emergency services, any cost-sharing requirement expressed as a copayment amount or coinsurance rate imposed with respect to a covered person cannot exceed the cost-sharing requirement imposed with respect to a covered person if the services were provided in-network.

(b) Notwithstanding subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, a covered person may be required to pay, in addition to the in-network cost-sharing, the excess of the amount the out-of-network provider charges over the amount the health carrier is required to pay under this subparagraph.

Drafting Note: The provisions of subparagraph (b) above would permit an out-of-network provider to balance bill the covered person for the excess of the amount the provider charged over the amount the health carrier paid, as provided in the interim final regulations on emergency services published in the Federal Register June 28, 2010. States should be aware that some states do not permit this practice under certain circumstances and may continue to prohibit such a practice based on the Affordable Care Act's preemption standards, which permit states to impose more stringent requirements to protect consumers.

(c) A health carrier complies with the requirements of this paragraph if it provides payment of emergency services provided by an out-of-network provider in an amount not less than the greatest of the following:

(i) The amount negotiated with in-network providers for emergency services, excluding any in-network copayment or coinsurance imposed with respect to the covered person;

(ii) The amount of the emergency service calculated using the same method the plan uses to determine payments for out-of-network services, but using the in-network cost-sharing provisions instead of the out-of-network cost-sharing provisions; or

(iii) The amount that would be paid under Medicare for the emergency services, excluding any in-network copayment or coinsurance requirements.

(d) (i) For capitated or other health benefit plans that do not have a negotiated per-service amount for in-network providers, subparagraph (c)(i) of this paragraph does not apply.

(ii) If a heath benefit plan has more than one negotiated amount for in-network providers for a particular emergency service, the amount in subparagraph (c)(i) of this paragraph is the median of these negotiated amounts.

(3) (a) Any cost-sharing requirement other than a copayment or coinsurance requirement, such as a deductible or out-of-pocket maximum, may be imposed with respect to emergency services provided out-of-network if the cost-sharing requirement generally applies to out-of-network benefits.

(b) A deductible may be imposed with respect to out-of-network emergency services only as part of a deductible that generally applies to out-of-network benefits.

(c) If an out-of-pocket maximum generally applies to out-of-network benefits, that out-of-network maximum must apply to out-of-network emergency services.

D. For immediately required post-evaluation or post-stabilization services, a health carrier shall provide access to designated representative twenty-four (24) hours a day, seven (7) days a week, to facilitate review.

Section 12. Confidentiality Requirements

A health carrier shall annually certify in writing to the commissioner that the utilization review program of the health carrier or its designee complies with all applicable state and federal law establishing confidentiality and reporting requirements.

Drafting Note: The NAIC's Health Information Privacy Model Act establishes more detailed standards.

Section 13. Disclosure Requirements

A. In the certificate of coverage or member handbook provided to covered persons, a health carrier shall include a clear and comprehensive description of its utilization review procedures, including the procedures for obtaining review of adverse determinations, and a statement of rights and responsibilities of covered persons with respect to those procedures.

B. A health carrier shall include a summary of its utilization review and benefit determination procedures in materials intended for prospective covered persons.

C. A health carrier shall print on its membership cards a toll-free telephone number to call for utilization review and benefit decisions.

Section 14. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rule making and review of regulations].

Section 15. Penalties

A violation of this Act shall [insert appropriate administrative penalty from state law].

Section 16. Separability

If any provisions of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 17. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

UTILIZATION REVIEW AND BENEFIT DETERMINATION MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

UTILIZATION REVIEW AND BENEFIT DETERMINATION MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. PROJECT HISTORY - 2012

REVISIONS TO UTILIZATION REVIEW AND BENEFIT DETERMINATION MODEL ACT (#73)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The revisions to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act (#73) were made to reflect the provisions of the interim final regulations for internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, as revised by the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register June 24, 2011.

The interim final regulations published in the Federal Register June 24, 2011 made four changes to the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register July 23, 2010, that impacted this model and the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act (#72) The first change, which impacted this model only, amended the interim final regulations to return to the requirement that a health insurance issuer make an initial determination for a claim involving an urgent care request within 72 hours. The second change, which impacted both models, eliminated the requirement that health insurance issuers automatically provide the diagnosis and treatment codes as part of a notice of an adverse benefit determination or final adverse benefit determination. The issuer must, however, notify claimants of their opportunity to request the codes.

The third change, which also impacted both models, revised the deemed exhaustion provisions in the interim final regulations to provide that, if a health insurance issuer's failure to strictly adhere to the internal claims and appeals procedure is de minimus—i.e., not reflective of a pattern—then there is no deemed exhaustion. The amendments also provide that the claimant be notified of his or her right to obtain an explanation of the issuer's basis that the failure to follow the procedure was de minimus. The last change, which also impacted both models, amends a provision in the interim final regulations related to the requirement that certain notices be provided to claimants in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner. The amendment establishes for both the group and individual markets the trigger for when notices must be provided to a claimant in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner—when 10% or more of the population residing in a claimant's county are literate only in the same non-English language. The amendment also requires a health insurance issuer to include in each notice sent to a claimant a one-sentence statement in the relevant non-English language about the availability of language services. Issuers are also required to provide a customer assistance process, such as a telephone hotline, with oral language services in the non-English language and to provide written notices in the non-English language.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force is responsible for drafting the revisions. The members of the Task Force are: South Dakota, Chair, Nebraska, Vice Chair, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, N. Mariana Islands, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Regulatory Framework Task Force has a general charge to: coordinate and develop the provision of technical assistance to the states regarding state level implementation issues raised by federal health legislation and regulations. After the enactment of PPACA in March 2010, consistent with this charge, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee directed the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to review and revise existing NAIC models impacted by PPACA or, as necessary, develop new NAIC models to assist the states in implementing PPACA.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The revisions were drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held a conference call Sept. 1, 2011 and a person-to-person meeting at the 2011 Fall National Meeting during which the draft and comments received on it were discussed. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force held a conference call Sept. 1, 2011 and a person-to-person meeting at the 2011 Fall National Meeting during which the draft and comments received on it were discussed. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2010

REVISIONS TO UTILIZATION REVIEW AND BENEFIT DETERMINATION MODEL ACT (#73)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

At the Summer National Meeting, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force adopted a work plan to revise NAIC models impacted by the Sept. 23 immediate reform provisions of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA) and, for those PPACA Sept. 23 immediate reform provisions that do not fit into any existing NAIC model, to develop model language templates to assist the states in implementing those provisions. The revisions to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act (#73) reflect the provisions of section 2719 of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA) of PPACA and the interim final regulations for internal claims and appeals and external review processes published in the Federal Register July 23. This model was revised in 2001 for consistency with the final regulations promulgated by the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) in 2000 for the handling of health insurance claims under employer benefit plans governed by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). The interim final regulations published in the Federal Register July 23 revised the DOL regulations. The revisions to the model reflect those revisions. In addition, the revisions to Section 11 of the model reflect the provisions of 2719A of the PHSA of PPACA related to emergency services and the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register June 28.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force is responsible for drafting the revisions. The members of the Task Force are: South Dakota, Chair, Idaho, Vice Chair, Alabama, Arkansas, California, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

PROJECT HISTORY REPORT - 2003

UTILIZATION REVIEW AND HEALTH CARRIER GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE MODEL ACT (#73)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

The proposed amendments revise these model acts for compliance with the Department of Labor claims procedure final rule in order to avoid federal preemption. The Department of Labor claims procedure final rule became effective January 20, 2001. Group health plans must be in compliance with the final rule for claims filed on or after the first day of the first plan year beginning on or after July 1, 2002, but no later than January 1, 2003.

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model:

Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force

States Participating:

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge was given to the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force in 2002:

Consider revisions to the Utilization Review Model Act and the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act as a result of the adoption of the Health Carrier External Review Model Act and the adoption of any pertinent federal law or regulation. Report by Winter 2002 National Meeting.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The amendments were drafted by the task force. Numerous interested parties participated, including insurance industry representatives, such as the American Association of Health Plans (AAHP) and the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (BCBSA); and consumer groups, such as the Western Minnesota Legal Services.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

Beginning with the 2001 Winter National Meeting, drafts of the amendments were reviewed and discussed at each National Meeting. Comments were requested and were received and considered throughout the drafting process. In addition, all of the drafts of the amendments to the model acts were posted on the NAIC website.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the drafting process and the group's response.

There were no significant discussion issues raised during the drafting process, except for the general issue of whether the NAIC models should be revised to mirror the exact language in the DOL final rule. The task force chose to revise the models to reflect the DOL final rule provisions only when necessary to avoid federal preemption. Provisions already contained in the models that were more protective of consumers were retained.

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

HEALTH BENEFIT PLAN NETWORK ACCESS AND ADEQUACY MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Health Benefit Plan Network Access and Adequacy Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act in regulation form. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as regulations.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose and intent of this Act are to:

A. Establish standards for the creation and maintenance of networks by health carriers; and

B. Assure the adequacy, accessibility, transparency and quality of health care services offered under a network plan by:

(1) Establishing requirements for written agreements between health carriers offering network plans and participating providers regarding the standards, terms and provisions under which the participating provider will provide covered services to covered persons; and

(2) Requiring health carriers to maintain and follow access plans that consist of policies and procedures for assuring the ongoing sufficiency of provider networks consistent with Section 5 of this Act, including any requirements in Section 5E of this Act related to its availability to the public.

Drafting Note: In states that regulate prepaid health services, this Act may be modified for application to contractual arrangements between prepaid limited health service organizations that provide a single or limited number of health care services and the providers that deliver services to covered persons.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Authorized representative" means:

(1) A person to whom a covered person has given express written consent to represent the covered person;

(2) A person authorized by law to provide substituted consent for a covered person; or

(3) The covered person's treating health care professional only when the covered person is unable to provide consent or a family member of the covered person.

B. "Balance billing" means the practice of a provider billing for the difference between the provider's charge and the health carrier's allowed amount.

C. "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of this state.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

D. "Covered benefit" or "benefit" means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

E. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

F. "Emergency medical condition" means a physical, mental or behavioral health condition that manifests itself by acute symptoms of sufficient severity, including severe pain that would lead a prudent layperson, possessing an average knowledge of medicine and health, to reasonably expect, in the absence of immediate medical attention, to result in:

(1) Placing the individual's physical, mental or behavioral health or, with respect to a pregnant woman, the woman's or her [fetus'] [unborn child's] health in serious jeopardy;

(2) Serious impairment to a bodily function;

(3) Serious impairment of any bodily organ or part; or

(4) With respect to a pregnant woman who is having contractions:

(a) That there is inadequate time to effect a safe transfer to another hospital before delivery; or

(b) That transfer to another hospital may pose a threat to the health or safety of the woman or [fetus] [unborn child].

G. "Emergency services" means, with respect to an emergency condition, as defined in Subsection F:

(1) A medical or mental health screening examination that is within the capability of the emergency department of a hospital, including ancillary services routinely available to the emergency department to evaluate the emergency medical condition; and

(2) Any further medical or mental health examination and treatment to the extent they are within the capabilities of the staff and facilities available at the hospital to stabilize the patient.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the definition of "emergency services" above is derived from the federal definition for the term. Some states have developed a broader definition of "emergency services." For those states with a broader definition of the term, each state will have to determine which definition is appropriate for their state. States should be aware that if they use this definition of "emergency services," it could mean that emergency transportation is excluded from the special out-of-network cost-sharing protections applied to emergency services.

H. "Essential community provider" or "ECP" means a provider that:

(1) Serves predominantly low-income, medically underserved individuals, including a health care provider defined in Section 340B(a)(4) of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA); or

(2) Is described in section 1927(c)(1)(D)(i)(IV) of the Social Security Act, as set forth by section 221 of Pub.L.111-8.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that a qualified health plan (QHP) must have a certain number or percentage of essential community providers (ECPs) in a provider network, or if applicable, must meet the alternate standard, in order to be offered on a health insurance exchange under the federal Affordable Care Act (ACA) and implementing regulations.

I. "Facility" means an institution providing [physical, mental or behavioral] health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, urgent care centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

Drafting Note: States that regulate Medicaid managed care plans may wish to broaden this definition.

J. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement entered into, offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of [physical, mental or behavioral] health care services.

K. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified [physical, mental or behavioral] health care services consistent with their scope of practice under state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not corporate "persons."

L. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional, a pharmacy or a facility.

Drafting Note: A pharmacy is an entity where prescription drugs are prepared, compounded, preserved or dispensed. Many types of pharmacies provide a broad range of access for prescription drug benefits in the health care services delivered to a covered person. Any determination of network sufficiency should consider the broad range of pharmacy access points available to covered persons and that certain provisions of this Act may not apply to pharmacy. States should take note of the federal rules implementing the federal Affordable Care Act (ACA) that go into effect Jan. 1, 2017, which will require carriers providing essential health benefits (EHBs) in the individual and small group markets to provide a range of pharmacy options, including access through mail order pharmacies and retail pharmacies (see Title 45 CFR – Subpart B – Essential Health Benefits Section 156.122(e)).

M. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a physical, mental or behavioral health condition, illness, injury or disease, including mental health and substance use disorders.

N. "Health carrier" or "carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a health insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health care services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

Drafting Note: Section 2791(b)(2) of the PHSA defines the term "health insurance issuer" instead of "health carrier." The definition of "health carrier" above is consistent with the definition of "health insurance issuer" in Section 2791(b)(2) of the PHSA.

O. "Intermediary" means a person authorized to negotiate and execute provider contracts with health carriers on behalf of health care providers or on behalf of a network.

P. "Limited scope dental plan" means a plan that provides coverage substantially all of which is for treatment of the mouth, including any organ or structure within the mouth, which is provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance or is otherwise not an integral part of a group benefit plan.

Drafting Note: In some cases, dental benefits are embedded in or are integral to a health benefit plan, but are separately administered from the medical benefit of the health benefit plan. State insurance regulators should review this definition of "limited scope dental plan" to determine if exceptions from certain specified provisions of this Act should be given to the plan in such situations.

Q. "Limited scope vision plan" means a plan that provides coverage substantially all of which is for treatment of the eye that is provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance or is otherwise not an integral part of a group benefit plan.

Drafting Note: In some cases, vision benefits are embedded in or are integral to a health benefit plan, but are separately administered from the medical benefit of the health benefit plan. State insurance regulators should review this definition of "limited scope vision plan" to determine if exceptions from certain specified provisions of this Act should be given to the plan in such situations.

R. "Network" means the group or groups of participating providers providing services under a network plan.

S. "Network plan" means a health benefit plan that either requires a covered person to use, or creates incentives, including financial incentives, for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with or employed by the health carrier.

Drafting Note: The definition of "network plan" is intentionally broad in order to apply to health benefit plans using any type of requirement or incentive for covered persons to choose certain providers over others, such as HMOs, EPOs, PPO, ACOs and other innovative delivery system models.

T. "Participating provider" means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier.

U. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing.

V. "Primary care" means health care services for a range of common physical, mental or behavioral health conditions provided by a physician or non-physician primary care professional.

Drafting Note: Many states may have an existing definition of "primary care" in their state laws or regulations. Those states that have such a definition should carefully review that definition in comparison with the definition above and decide if the term "primary care" needs to be defined for purposes of this Act using the definition above for "primary care" or the state's existing definition of "primary care."

W. "Primary care professional" means a participating health care professional designated by the health carrier to supervise, coordinate or provide initial care or continuing care to a covered person, and who may be required by the health carrier to initiate a referral for specialty care and maintain supervision of health care services rendered to the covered person.

X. (1) "Specialist" means a physician or non-physician health care professional who:

(a) Focuses on a specific area of physical, mental or behavioral health or a group of patients; and

(b) Has successfully completed required training and is recognized by the state in which he or she practices to provide specialty care.

(2) "Specialist" includes a subspecialist who has additional training and recognition above and beyond his or her specialty training.

Y. "Specialty care" means advanced medically necessary care and treatment of specific physical, mental or behavioral health conditions or those health conditions which may manifest in particular ages or subpopulations, that are provided by a specialist, preferably in coordination with a primary care professional or other health care professional.

Drafting Note: Some states may have an existing definition of "specialty care" in their state laws or regulations. Those states that have such a definition should carefully review that definition in comparison with the definition above and decide if the term "specialty care" needs to be defined for purposes of this Act using the definition above for "specialty care" or the state's existing definition of "specialty care."

Z. "Telemedicine" or "Telehealth" means health care services provided through telecommunications technology by a health care professional who is at a location other than where the covered person is located.

Drafting Note: States should review the definition of "telemedicine" or "telehealth" for consistency with any state laws or regulations related to telemedicine or telehealth.

AA. "Tiered network" means a network that identifies and groups some or all types of providers and facilities into specific groups to which different provider reimbursement, covered person cost-sharing or provider access requirements, or any combination thereof, apply for the same services.

Drafting Note: Health carriers may use different terms other than the term "tier" to refer to the type of network described in the definition above. State insurance regulators should be aware of this for purposes of the definition above and any changes a state may want to make to the definition above as a result, such as using another term or terms in place of or in addition to the term "tier."

BB. "To stabilize" means with respect to an emergency medical condition, as defined in Subsection F, to provide such medical treatment of the condition as may be necessary to assure, within a reasonable medical probability, that no material deterioration of the condition is likely to result from or occur during the transfer of the individual to or from a facility, or, with respect to an emergency birth with no complications resulting in a continued emergency, to deliver the child and the placenta.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that if they decide not to include the definition of "emergency services" using the language provided in Subsection G, it may not be necessary to include this definition.

CC. "Transfer" means, for purposes of Subsection BB, the movement, including the discharge, of an individual outside a hospital's facilities at the direction of any person employed by, or affiliated or associated, directly or indirectly, with the hospital, but does not include the movement of an individual who:

(1) Has been declared dead; or

(2) Leaves the facility without the permission of any such person.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. Except as provided in Subsection B, this Act applies to all health carriers that offer network plans.

B. The following provisions of this Act shall not apply to health carriers that offer network plans that consist solely of limited scope dental plans or limited scope vision plans:

(1) Section 5A(2) of this Act;

(2) Section 5F(7)(e), (8)(b) and (11) of this Act;

(3) Section 6L(2)(a)(i)(I) and (III) and (c)(iii)(III) of this Act;

(4) Section 8 of this Act;

(5) Section 9B(2) and (3) of this Act; and

(6) Section 9C(1)(a) and (b), (2) and (3) of this Act.

Drafting Note: In addition to Subsection B, states will need to consider what other types of health benefit plans subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state that use networks should be subject to the requirements of this Act.

Drafting Note: States may consider accreditation by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity with established and maintained standards that, at a minimum, are substantially similar to or exceed the standards required under this Act, as evidence of meeting some or all of this Act's requirements. However, accreditation should not be used as a substitute for state regulatory oversight nor should accreditation be considered a delegation of state regulatory authority in determining network adequacy. States should consider accreditation as an additional regulatory tool in determining compliance with the standards required under this Act. Under such an approach, the accrediting entity should make available to the state and the public its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed the state's requirements. The private accrediting entity or health carrier should provide the state with documentation that the health carrier and its networks have been accredited by the entity and make the underlying accreditation files available to the state upon request.

Section 5. Network Adequacy

A. (1) A health carrier providing a network plan shall maintain a network that is sufficient in numbers and appropriate types of providers, including those that serve predominantly low-income, medically underserved individuals, to assure that all covered services to covered persons, including children and adults, will be accessible without unreasonable travel or delay.

(2) Covered persons shall have access to emergency services twenty-four (24) hours per day, seven (7) days per week.

Drafting Note: Particular attention should be given to network sufficiency, marketing and disclosure in certain health carrier network plan designs, such as tiered, multi-tiered, layered or multi-level network plans, which include different access to benefits and cost-sharing based on a covered person's choice of provider. State insurance regulators should carefully review filings to ensure that the network plan design is not potentially discriminatory for children and adults with serious, chronic or complex health conditions and that carriers will disclose information in a clear and conspicuous manner so that the covered person can understand the use of the tiered, multi-tiered, layered or multi-level network plan to access the benefits offered within the health benefit plan.

B. The commissioner shall determine sufficiency in accordance with the requirements of this section, and may establish sufficiency by reference to any reasonable criteria, which may include but shall not be limited to:

(1) Provider-covered person ratios by specialty;

(2) Primary care professional-covered person ratios;

(3) Geographic accessibility of providers;

(4) Geographic variation and population dispersion;

(5) Waiting times for an appointment with participating providers;

(6) Hours of operation;

(7) The ability of the network to meet the needs of covered persons, which may include low-income persons, children and adults with serious, chronic or complex health conditions or physical or mental disabilities or persons with limited English proficiency;

(8) Other health care service delivery system options, such as telemedicine or telehealth, mobile clinics, centers of excellence and other ways of delivering care; and

(9) The volume of technological and specialty care services available to serve the needs of covered persons requiring technologically advanced or specialty care services.

Drafting Note: When determining criteria for evaluating network sufficiency provided in Subsection B, state insurance regulators also may want to consider a number of additional factors, such as the extent to which participating providers are accepting new patients, the degree to which participating physicians are authorized to admit patients to participating hospitals and hospital-based providers are participating providers, and the regionalization of specialty care, which may require some children and adults to cross state lines for care. State insurance regulators also may conduct or review available periodic surveys of covered persons and providers to help inform their monitoring of network adequacy and may choose to make the results publicly available.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should consider establishing network sufficiency and accessibility standards that are specific to limited scope dental and/or vision plans. Certain network sufficiency and accessibility requirements for comprehensive health benefit plans may not be appropriate for these type benefit plans. For example, hours of operation for dental offices are traditionally standard business hours and are not utilized to illustrate network sufficiency, nor is telehealth widely utilized in the dental and vision industry.

Drafting Note: Some states have developed specific quantitative standards to ensure adequate access that carriers must, at a minimum, satisfy in order to be considered to have a sufficient network. Such standards have included requirements for carriers to have a minimum number of providers within a specified area (such as a rural or urban area, metropolitan or non-metropolitan area), limits on travel distance to providers, limits on travel time to providers and limits on waiting times to obtain an appointment with a primary care provider. These standards could be incorporated into a law. However, in many cases, these standards are more likely to be included in regulations.

C. (1) A health carrier shall have a process to assure that a covered person obtains a covered benefit at an in-network level of benefits, including an in-network level of cost-sharing, from a non-participating provider, or shall make other arrangements acceptable to the commissioner when:

(a) The health carrier has a sufficient network, but does not have a type of participating provider available to provide the covered benefit to the covered person or it does not have a participating provider available to provide the covered benefit to the covered person without unreasonable travel or delay; or

(b) The health carrier has an insufficient number or type of participating provider available to provide the covered benefit to the covered person without unreasonable travel or delay.

(2) The health carrier shall specify and inform covered persons of the process a covered person may use to request access to obtain a covered benefit from a non-participating provider as provided in Paragraph (1) when:

(a) The covered person is diagnosed with a condition or disease that requires specialized health care services or medical services; and Drafting Note: For purposes of this paragraph, "specialized health care services or medical services" include the delivery of covered benefits in a manner that is physically accessible and provides communication and accommodations needed by covered persons with disabilities.

(b) The health carrier:

(i) Does not have a participating provider of the required specialty with the professional training and expertise to treat or provide health care services for the condition or disease; or

(ii) Cannot provide reasonable access to a participating provider with the required specialty with the professional training and expertise to treat or provide health care services for the condition or disease without unreasonable travel or delay.

(3) The health carrier shall treat the health care services the covered person receives from a non-participating provider pursuant to Paragraph (2) as if the services were provided by a participating provider, including counting the covered person's cost-sharing for such services toward the maximum out-of-pocket limit applicable to services obtained from participating providers under the health benefit plan.

(4) The process described under Paragraphs (1) and (2) shall ensure that requests to obtain a covered benefit from a non-participating provider are addressed in a timely fashion appropriate to the covered person's condition.

Drafting Note: In order to determine what may be considered "in a timely fashion," state insurance regulators may want to review the timeframes and notification requirements provided in its utilization review law or regulation.

(5) The health carrier shall have a system in place that documents all requests to obtain a covered benefit from a non-participating provider under this subsection and shall provide this information to the commissioner upon request.

(6) The process established in this subsection is not intended to be used by health carriers as a substitute for establishing and maintaining a sufficient provider network in accordance with the provisions of this Act nor is it intended to be used by covered persons to circumvent the use of covered benefits available through a health carrier's network delivery system options.

(7) Nothing in this section prevents a covered person from exercising the rights and remedies available under applicable state or federal law relating to internal and external claims grievance and appeals processes.

Drafting Note: It is presumed that the health carrier shall make its process under this subsection available in writing to covered persons and to the commissioner, in a form and manner the commissioner may specify.

D. (1) A health carrier shall establish and maintain adequate arrangements to ensure covered persons have reasonable access to participating providers located near their home or business address. In determining whether the health carrier has complied with this provision, the commissioner shall give due consideration to the relative availability of health care providers with the requisite expertise and training in the service area under consideration.

(2) A health carrier shall monitor, on an ongoing basis, the ability, clinical capacity and legal authority of its participating providers to furnish all contracted covered benefits to covered persons.

Drafting Note: If the commissioner determines that there is a deficiency in access to care for a limited scope dental and /or vision plan, the commissioner may work with the health carrier for approval of in-network reimbursements to covered persons.

E. (1) Beginning [insert effective date], a health carrier shall file with the commissioner [for review] [for approval] prior to or at the time it files a newly offered network, in a manner and form defined by rule of the commissioner, an access plan meeting the requirements of this Act.

Drafting Note: States will establish different requirements for the access plan. Paragraph (1) provides for this by giving states the option to require a health carrier to file the access plan with the commissioner for approval before use. Paragraph (1) also gives states the option to require a health carrier to file the access plan with the commissioner for review, but permit the health carrier to use the access plan while it is subject to review. In states that require a health carrier to file access plans with the commissioner for review, the commissioner may want to consider, for example, whether access to specific types of providers or health care services, geographic areas of the state, and other network issues with a past pattern of adequacy concerns require heightened review. Some states may also specify an agency other than the insurance department as the appropriate agency to receive or approve access plans.

(2) (a) The health carrier may request the commissioner to deem sections of the access plan as [proprietary, competitive or trade secret] information that shall not be made public. The health carrier shall make the access plans, absent [proprietary, competitive or trade secret] information, available online, at its business premises, and to any person upon request.

(b) For the purposes of this subsection, information is [proprietary or competitive or a trade secret] if revealing the information would cause the health carrier's competitors to obtain valuable business information.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should be aware that the intent of Paragraph (2) above is that the access plan be considered public information. Health carriers should not be permitted to request that the entire plan is [proprietary, competitive or trade information] and, as such, no provision of the plan may be made public. State insurance regulators should review their open records laws in determining whether a particular provision, if any, of an access plan is [proprietary, competitive or trade secret] information and should not be made public based on information received from the health carrier supporting its request. For purposes of this paragraph, state insurance regulators also should review their laws or regulations to determine which term "proprietary," "competitive" or "trade secret" is appropriate to use or if some other term is more appropriate. State insurance regulators should rely on the state law or regulation that defines "trade secret" or "proprietary."

(3) The health carrier shall prepare an access plan prior to offering a new network plan, and shall notify the commissioner of any material change to any existing network plan within fifteen (15) business days after the change occurs. The carrier shall include in the notice to the commissioner a reasonable timeframe within which it will submit to the commissioner for approval or file with the commissioner, as appropriate, an update to an existing access plan.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators may want to consider defining "material change" for purposes of Paragraph (3) above. For example, a "material change" may be a certain percentage change, as determined by a state, in the health carrier's network of providers or type of providers available in the network to provide health care services or specialty health care services to covered persons or it may be any change that renders the health carrier's network non-compliant with one or more network adequacy standards. Types of changes that could be considered material could include: 1) a significant reduction in the number of primary or specialty care physicians available in a network; 2) a reduction in a specific type of provider such that a specific covered service is no longer available; 3) a change to the tiered, multi-tiered, layered or multi-level network plan structure; or 4) a change in inclusion of a major health system that causes the network to be significantly different from what the covered person initially purchased.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should be aware that requirements in this section for the access plan may be duplicative of other requirements in other sections of this Act. To the extent there is such duplication, the intent is that the health carrier be required to file or submit, as appropriate, the information one time.

F. The access plan shall describe or contain at least the following:

(1) The health carrier's network, including how the use of telemedicine or telehealth or other technology may be used to meet network access standards, if applicable;

(2) The health carrier's procedures for making and authorizing referrals within and outside its network, if applicable;

(3) The health carrier's process for monitoring and assuring on an ongoing basis the sufficiency of the network to meet the health care needs of populations that enroll in network plans;

(4) The factors used by the health carrier to build its provider network, including a description of the network and the criteria used to select [and/or tier] providers;

(5) The health carrier's efforts to address the needs of covered persons, including, but not limited to children and adults, including those with limited English proficiency or illiteracy, diverse cultural or ethnic backgrounds, physical or mental disabilities, and serious, chronic or complex medical conditions. This includes the carrier's efforts, when appropriate, to include various types of ECPs in its network;

(6) The health carrier's methods for assessing the health care needs of covered persons and their satisfaction with services;

(7) The health carrier's method of informing covered persons of the plan's covered services and features, including but not limited to:

(a) The plan's grievance and appeals procedures;

(b) Its process for choosing and changing providers;

(c) Its process for updating its provider directories for each of its network plans;

(d) A statement of health care services offered, including those services offered through the preventive care benefit, if applicable; and

(e) Its procedures for covering and approving emergency, urgent and specialty care, if applicable;

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should ensure that limited scope dental plans have provisions in their access plans or form filings, as appropriate, consistent with current practice to address situations where covered persons need urgent dental care.

Drafting Note: Some states may have an existing definition of "urgent care" in their state laws or regulations. Those states that have an existing definition of "urgent care" may want to consider including that definition in this Act.

(8) The health carrier's system for ensuring the coordination and continuity of care:

(a) For covered persons referred to specialty physicians; and

(b) For covered persons using ancillary services, including social services and other community resources, and for ensuring appropriate discharge planning;

(9) The health carrier's process for enabling covered persons to change primary care professionals, if applicable;

(10) The health carrier's proposed plan for providing continuity of care in the event of contract termination between the health carrier and any of its participating providers, or in the event of the health carrier's insolvency or other inability to continue operations. The description shall explain how covered persons will be notified of the contract termination, or the health carrier's insolvency or other cessation of operations, and transitioned to other providers in a timely manner;

(11) The health carrier's process for monitoring access to physician specialist services in emergency room care, anesthesiology, radiology, hospitalist care and pathology/laboratory services at their participating hospitals; and

Drafting Note: If a limited scope dental and/or vision plan uses hospitals and/or other type of facility in its provider network, then the limited scope dental and/or vision plan shall comply with the Act's requirements pertaining to hospitals and/or other type of facility.

(12) Any other information required by the commissioner to determine compliance with the provisions of this Act.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators may want to consider requiring that an access plan include information on the health carrier's efforts to ensure that its participating providers meet available and appropriate quality of care standards and health outcomes for network plans that the health carrier has designed to include providers that have high quality of care and health outcomes.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that for dental network plans, some state insurance regulators may not require the preparation and submission of a so-called "access plan" for purposes of determining the sufficiency of a dental provider network. These states may require other documentation to be included in the form filings to accomplish this purpose in order to review and determine the sufficiency of a dental and/or vision provider network. State insurance regulators, however, should be aware that dental carriers seeking certification to offer limited scope dental plans on a health insurance exchange or exchange use the term "access plan."

Section 6. Requirements for Health Carriers and Participating Providers

A health carrier offering a network plan shall satisfy all the requirements contained in this section.

A. A health carrier shall establish a mechanism by which the participating provider will be notified on an ongoing basis of the specific covered health care services for which the provider will be responsible, including any limitations or conditions on services.

B. Every contract between a health carrier and a participating provider shall set forth a hold harmless provision specifying protection for covered persons. This requirement shall be met by including a provision substantially similar to the following:

"Provider agrees that in no event, including but not limited to nonpayment by the health carrier or intermediary, insolvency of the health carrier or intermediary, or breach of this agreement, shall the provider bill, charge, collect a deposit from, seek compensation, remuneration or reimbursement from, or have any recourse against a covered person or a person (other than the health carrier or intermediary) acting on behalf of the covered person for services provided pursuant to this agreement. This agreement does not prohibit the provider from collecting coinsurance, deductibles or copayments, as specifically provided in the evidence of coverage, or fees for uncovered services delivered on a fee-for-service basis to covered persons. Nor does this agreement prohibit a provider (except for a health care professional who is employed full-time on the staff of a health carrier and has agreed to provide services exclusively to that health carrier's covered persons and no others) and a covered person from agreeing to continue services solely at the expense of the covered person, as long as the provider has clearly informed the covered person that the health carrier may not cover or continue to cover a specific service or services. Except as provided herein, this agreement does not prohibit the provider from pursuing any available legal remedy."

C. Every contract between a health carrier and a participating provider shall set forth that in the event of a health carrier or intermediary insolvency or other cessation of operations, the provider's obligation to deliver covered services to covered persons without balance billing will continue until the earlier of:

(1) The termination of the covered person's coverage under the network plan, including any extension of coverage provided under the contract terms or applicable state or federal law for covered persons who are in an active course of treatment or totally disabled; or

Drafting Note: The reference to termination of coverage in Paragraph (1) above is meant to encompass all the ways a covered person's coverage can be terminated. The grounds, conditions and effective date of termination are dictated by other provisions of law, which are outside the scope of this Act, such as for nonpayment of premium or the performance of an act or practice that constitutes fraud or an intentional misrepresentation of material fact in connection with the coverage. State insurance regulators should keep this in mind in implementing Paragraph (1).

(2) The date the contract between the carrier and the provider, including any required extension for covered persons in an active course of treatment, would have terminated if the carrier or intermediary had remained in operation.

D. The contract provisions that satisfy the requirements of Subsections B and C shall be construed in favor of the covered person, shall survive the termination of the contract regardless of the reason for termination, including the insolvency of the health carrier, and shall supersede any oral or written contrary agreement between a provider and a covered person or the representative of a covered person if the contrary agreement is inconsistent with the hold harmless and continuation of covered services provisions required by Subsections B and C of this section.

Drafting Note: Subsection D above provides that the obligation to hold the patient harmless for services rendered in the provider's capacity as a participating provider survives the termination of the provider contract. The hold harmless obligation does not apply to services rendered after the termination of the provider contract, except to the extent that the network relationship is extended to provide continuity of care under Subsection L.

E. In no event shall a participating provider collect or attempt to collect from a covered person any money owed to the provider by the health carrier.

F. (1) Health carrier selection standards for selecting and tiering, as applicable, of participating providers shall be developed for providers and each health care professional specialty.

(2) (a) The standards shall be used in determining the selection [and tiering] of participating providers by the health carrier and its intermediaries with which it contracts.

(b) The standards shall meet the requirements of [insert reference to state provisions equivalent to the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Model Act].

(3) (a) Selection [and tiering] criteria shall not be established in a manner:

(i) That would allow a health carrier to discriminate against high-risk populations by excluding [and tiering] providers because they are located in geographic areas that contain populations or providers presenting a risk of higher than average claims, losses or health care services utilization; or

(ii) That would exclude providers because they treat or specialize in treating populations presenting a risk of higher than average claims, losses or health care services utilization.

(b) (i) In addition to Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, a health carrier's selection criteria may not discriminate with respect to participation under the health benefit plan against any provider who is acting within the scope of the provider's license or certification under applicable state law or regulations.

(ii) The provisions of Subparagraph (b)(i) of this paragraph may not be construed to require a health carrier to contract with any provider willing to abide by the terms and conditions for participation established by the carrier.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the provisions of Subparagraph (b) above are based in large part on the provisions of Section 2706(a) of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA). The Departments of Labor (DOL), Health and Human Services (HHS) and the Treasury (collectively, the Departments), the federal agencies charged with implementing the ACA, issued on May 26, 2015, sub-regulatory guidance in the form of frequently asked questions (FAQs), which provides an enforcement safe harbor for health insurance issuers subject to Section 2706(a) of the PHSA. Specifically, in the Affordable Care Act Implementation FAQs Part XXVII, Q4 and Q5 issued May 26, 2015, the Departments restated their current enforcement approach to Section 2706(a) of the PHSA which is to not take any enforcement action against a health insurance issuer offering group or individual coverage, with respect to implementing the requirements of Section 2706(a) of the PHSA as long as the issuer is using a good faith, reasonable interpretation of the statutory provision.

(4) Paragraph (3) shall not be construed to prohibit a carrier from declining to select a provider who fails to meet the other legitimate selection criteria of the carrier developed in compliance with this Act.

(5) The provisions of this Act do not require a health carrier, its intermediaries or the provider networks with which they contract, to employ specific providers acting within the scope of their license or certification under applicable state law that may meet their selection criteria, or to contract with or retain more providers acting within the scope of their license or certification under applicable state law than are necessary to maintain a sufficient provider network, as required under Section 5 of this Act.

Drafting Note: This subsection is intended to prevent health carriers from avoiding risk by excluding either of two types of providers: (1) those providers who are geographically located in areas that contain potentially high-risk populations; or (2) those providers who actually treat or specialize in treating high-risk populations, regardless of where the provider is located. Exclusion based on geographic location may discourage individuals from enrolling in the plan because they would be required to travel outside their neighborhood to obtain services. Exclusion based on the provider's specialty or on the type of patient contained in the provider's practice may discourage a person unwilling to change providers in the course of treatment from enrolling in the plan. For example, if a carrier were permitted to exclude physicians whose practices included many patients infected with HIV, the carrier could avoid enrolling these persons in its plan, since those persons would probably not want to change physicians in the course of treatment. This subsection does not prevent health carriers from requiring all providers that participate in the carrier's network to meet all the carrier's requirements for participation.

G. A health carrier shall make its standards for selecting and tiering, as applicable, participating providers available for review [and approval] by the commissioner. A description in plain language of the standards the health carrier uses for selecting and tiering, as applicable, shall be available to the public.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators should review how a health carrier markets or represents its network plans to consumers particularly for those network plans that carriers market or represent to consumers as using quality as at least one method of assessing whether to include providers in the network. In addition, for such network plans, state insurance regulators also should review a health carrier's provider selection standards to ensure that quality is actually being used to assess whether to include providers in the network.

Drafting Note: The disclosure of a health carrier's selection standards to providers and consumers is an important issue to be considered by states and could be addressed in this Act or in another law.

H. A health carrier shall notify participating providers of the providers' responsibilities with respect to the health carrier's applicable administrative policies and programs, including but not limited to payment terms; utilization review; quality assessment and improvement programs; credentialing; grievance and appeals procedures; data reporting requirements; reporting requirements for timely notice of changes in practice, such as discontinuance of accepting new patients; confidentiality requirements; and any applicable federal or state programs.

I. A health carrier shall not offer an inducement to a provider that would encourage or otherwise incent the provider to deliver less than medically necessary services to a covered person.

J. A health carrier shall not prohibit a participating provider from discussing any specific or all treatment options with covered persons irrespective of the health carrier's position on the treatment options, or from advocating on behalf of covered persons within the utilization review or grievance or appeals processes established by the carrier or a person contracting with the carrier or in accordance with any rights or remedies available under applicable state or federal law.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the term "participating provider" is meant to include a health care professional acting within the scope of their authority who may not be in the typical physician office setting or hospital setting, and may include licensed, accredited or certified staff, such as patient care coordinators, operating under the supervision of a participating provider.

K. Every contract between a health carrier and a participating provider shall require the provider to make health records available to appropriate state and federal authorities involved in assessing the quality of care or investigating the grievances or complaints of covered persons, and to comply with the applicable state and federal laws related to the confidentiality of medical and health records and the covered person's right to see, obtain copies of or amend their of medical and health records.

L. (1) (a) A health carrier and participating provider shall provide at least sixty (60) days written notice to each other before the provider is removed or leaves the network without cause.

Drafting Note: In addition to when a provider is removed or leaves the network without cause, with respect to tiered network plans, states may want to consider the implications that consumers may face, including continuity of care and financial implications, when a participating provider is reassigned in the middle of a policy or contract year to another tier with higher cost-sharing requirements.

(b) The health carrier shall make a good faith effort to provide written notice of a provider's removal or leaving the network within thirty (30) days of receipt or issuance of a notice provided in accordance with Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph to all covered persons who are patients seen on a regular basis by the provider being removed or leaving the network, irrespective of whether it is for cause or without cause.

(c) When the provider being removed or leaving the network is a primary care professional, all covered persons who are patients of that primary care professional shall also be notified. When the provider either gives or receives the notice in accordance with Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the provider shall supply the health carrier with a list of those patients of the provider that are covered by a plan of the health carrier.

(2) (a) For purposes of this paragraph, the following terms have the meanings indicated:

(i) "Active course of treatment" means:

(I) An ongoing course of treatment for a life-threatening condition;

(II) An ongoing course of treatment for a serious acute condition;

(III) The second or third trimester of pregnancy; or

(IV) An ongoing course of treatment for a health condition for which a treating physician or health care provider attests that discontinuing care by that physician or health care provider would worsen the condition or interfere with anticipated outcomes.

(ii) "Life-threatening health condition" means a disease or condition for which likelihood of death is probable unless the course of the disease or condition is interrupted.

(iii) "Serious acute condition" means a disease or condition requiring complex on-going care which the covered person is currently receiving, such as chemotherapy, post-operative visits or radiation therapy.

(b) For purposes of Subparagraph (a)(i) of this paragraph, a covered person shall have been treated by the provider being removed or leaving the network on a regular basis to be considered in an "active course of treatment."

(c) (i) When a covered person's provider leaves or is removed from the network, a health carrier shall establish reasonable procedures to transition the covered person who is in an active course of treatment to a participating provider in a manner that provides for continuity of care.

(ii) The health carrier shall provide the notice required under Paragraph (1), and shall make available to the covered person a list of available participating providers in the same geographic area who are of the same provider type and information about how the covered person may request continuity of care as provided under this paragraph.

(iii) The procedures shall provide that:

(I) Any request for continuity of care shall be made to the health carrier by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative;

(II) Requests for continuity of care shall be reviewed by the health carrier's Medical Director after consultation with the treating provider for patients who meet the criteria listed in Paragraph (2) and are under the care of a provider who has not been removed or leaving the network for cause. Any decisions made with respect to a request for continuity of care shall be subject to the health benefit plan's internal and external grievance and appeal processes in accordance with applicable state or federal law or regulations;

(III) The continuity of care period for covered persons who are in their second or third trimester of pregnancy shall extend through the postpartum period; and

(IV) The continuity of care period for covered persons who are undergoing an active course of treatment shall extend to the earlier of:

a. The termination of the course of treatment by the covered person or the treating provider;

b. [Ninety (90) days] unless the Medical Director determines that a longer period is necessary;

c. The date that care is successfully transitioned to a participating provider;

d. Benefit limitations under the plan are met or exceeded; or

e. Care is not medically necessary.

Drafting Note: The current accreditation standard for the length of the continuity of care period is 90 days. When determining the length of time for the continuity of care period, states should consider the number of providers, especially specialty providers who are available to treat serious health conditions in their states. States that have relatively few specialists or where consumers face significant wait times for appointments may want to adjust the continuity of care time frame.

(iv) In addition to the provisions of Item (iii)(IV), a continuity of care request may only be granted when:

(I) The provider agrees in writing to accept the same payment from and abide by the same terms and conditions with respect to the health carrier for that patient as provided in the original provider contract; and

(II) The provider agrees in writing not to seek any payment from the covered person for any amount for which the covered person would not have been responsible if the physician or provider were still a participating provider.

Drafting Note: In the event of a termination of a limited scope dental or vision plan participating provider, the commissioner may work with the plan's health carrier for approval of in-network benefits provided to the covered person until the episode of care is concluded.

Drafting Note: States may want to review other state laws and regulations and consider adding special enrollment periods to address potential issues consumers may face, particularly with respect to continuity of care issues, when a consumer's enrollment or non-enrollment in a health benefit plan is the result of a material error, inaccuracy or misrepresentation in a provider directory, including when a provider is listed as a participating provider, but subsequently is found not to have been a participating provider at the time of enrollment or when a participating provider was listed as accepting new patients, but was not accepting new patients at the time of enrollment.

M. The rights and responsibilities under a contract between a health carrier and a participating provider shall not be assigned or delegated by either party without the prior written consent of the other party.

N. A health carrier is responsible for ensuring that a participating provider furnishes covered benefits to all covered persons without regard to the covered person's enrollment in the plan as a private purchaser of the plan or as a participant in publicly financed programs of health care services. This requirement does not apply to circumstances when the provider should not render services due to limitations arising from lack of training, experience, skill or licensing restrictions.

O. A health carrier shall notify the participating providers of their obligations, if any, to collect applicable coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles from covered persons pursuant to the evidence of coverage, or of the providers' obligations, if any, to notify covered persons of their personal financial obligations for non-covered services.

P. A health carrier shall not penalize a provider because the provider, in good faith, reports to state or federal authorities any act or practice by the health carrier that jeopardizes patient health or welfare.

Q. A health carrier shall establish a mechanism by which participating providers may determine in a timely manner at the time services are provided whether or not an individual is a covered person or is within a grace period for payment of premium during which the carrier may hold a claim for services pending receipt of payment of premium.

Drafting Note: There are situations that may arise when using the mechanism established in accordance with Subsection Q above when a participating provider has verified an individual's eligibility on the date of service, but later the provider learns that the individual was not actually eligible or has been terminated due to failure to pay premium or due to some other situation that may arise due to enrollment timing issues and other issues under the federal Affordable Care Act (ACA). Providers in this situation are permitted to bill the individual for payment of services provided. States may want to look at establishing possible protections for consumers in such situations when carriers have verified eligibility.

R. A health carrier shall establish procedures for resolution of administrative, payment or other disputes between providers and the health carrier.

S. A contract between a health carrier and a provider shall not contain provisions that conflict with the provisions contained in the network plan or the requirements of this Act.

T. (1) (a) At the time the contract is signed, a health carrier and, if appropriate, an intermediary shall timely notify a participating provider of all provisions and other documents incorporated by reference in the contract.

(b) While the contract is in force, the carrier shall timely notify a participating provider of any changes to those provisions or documents that would result in material changes in the contract.

(c) For purposes of this paragraph, the contract shall define what is to be considered timely notice and what is to be considered a material change.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators may want to consider reviewing the sample contract forms filed with the commissioner under Section 11 of this Act in order to determine if the provisions in the contract defining what is to be considered timely notice and what is to be considered a material change reflect fair contracting between the parties to the contract. Retroactive application of a change in the contract or in a document incorporated by reference will not be considered timely notice of the change. If the regulatory authority to review provider contracts lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, a state should consider adding language to this section, Section 11 of this Act or some other section of the Act referencing that agency to ensure appropriate regulatory oversight of provider contracting issues.

(2) A health carrier shall timely inform a provider of the provider's network participation status on any health benefit plan in which the carrier has included the provider as a participating provider.

Section 7. Requirements for Participating Facilities with Non-Participating Facility-Based Providers

A. For purposes of this section, "facility-based provider" means a provider who provides health care services to patients who are in an in-patient or ambulatory facility, including services such as pathology, anesthesiology, emergency room care, radiology or other services provided in an in-patient or ambulatory facility setting. These health care services are typically arranged by the facility by contract or agreement with the facility-based provider as part of the facility's general business operations, and a covered person or the covered person's health benefit plan generally does not specifically select or have a choice of providers from which to receive such services within the facility.

Drafting Note: States should carefully review the definition of "facility-based provider" above to make sure it includes any provider who may bill separately from the facility for health care services provided at the in-patient or ambulatory facility.

B. Non-emergency out-of-network services.

(1) At the time a participating facility schedules a procedure or seeks prior authorization from a health carrier for the provision of non-emergency services to a covered person, the facility shall provide the covered person with an out-of-network services written disclosure that states the following:

(a) That certain facility-based providers may be called upon to render care to the covered person during the course of treatment;

(b) That those facility-based providers may not have contracts with the covered person's health carrier and are therefore considered to be out-of-network;

(c) That the service(s) therefore will be provided on an out-of-network basis;

(d) A description of the range of the charges for the out-of-network service(s) for which the covered person may be responsible;

(e) A notification that the covered person may either agree to accept and pay the charges for the out-of-network service(s), contact the covered person's health carrier for additional assistance or rely on whatever other rights and remedies that may be available under state or federal law; and

(f) A statement indicating that the covered person may obtain a list of facility-based providers from his or her health benefit plan that are participating providers and that the covered person may request those participating facility-based providers.

Drafting Note: The notice required in this subsection could replace the notice in Section 8B of this Act.

(2) At the time of admission in the participating facility where the non-emergency services are to be performed on the covered person, the facility shall provide the covered person with the written disclosure, as outlined in Paragraph (1), and obtain the covered person's or the covered person's authorized representative's signature on the disclosure document acknowledging that the covered person received the disclosure document in advance prior to the time of admission.

C. Out-of-network emergency services.

(1) For out-of-network emergency services, the non-participating facility-based provider shall include a statement on any billing notice sent to the covered person for services provided informing the covered person that he or she is responsible for paying their applicable in-network cost-sharing amount, but has no legal obligation to pay the remaining balance. Such statement also shall inform the covered person of his or her obligation to forward the bill to their health carrier for consideration under the Provider Mediation Process described in Subsection G if the difference in the billed charge and the plan's allowable amount is more than [$500.00].

Drafting Note: A state that has enacted provisions concerning payment for emergency services provided by a non-participating provider, which permit a non-participating provider to balance bill the covered person, should be aware that the provisions of Paragraph (1) above would not permit a non-participating provider to balance bill the covered person in that situation. As such, if a state decides to adopt the provisions of Paragraph (1) above, the state should review their laws or regulations that may be equivalent to Section 11C of the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act (#73) and revise them accordingly.

(2) Nothing in this section precludes a covered person from agreeing to accept and pay the charges for the out-of-network service(s) and not using the Provider Mediation Process described in Subsection G.

D. Limitation on balance billing covered persons.

(1) In instances where a non-participating facility-based provider sends a billing notice directly to a covered person for the non-participating facility-based provider's service(s), the billing notice shall include the Payment Responsibility Notice in Paragraph (2).

(2) The Payment Responsibility Notice shall state the following or substantially similar language:

"Payment Responsibility Notice – The service[s] outlined below was [were] performed by a facility-based provider who is a non-participating provider with your health care plan. At this time, you are responsible for paying your applicable cost-sharing obligation - copayment, coinsurance or deductible amount – just as you would be if the provider is within your plan's network. With regard to the remaining balance, you have three choices: 1) you may choose to pay the balance of the bill; OR 2) if the difference in the billed charge and the plan's allowable amount is more than [$500.00], you may send the bill to your health care plan for processing pursuant to the health carrier's non-participating facility-based provider billing process or the provider mediation process required by [this Section] OR 3) you may rely on other rights and remedies that may be available in your state."

(3) Non-participating facility-based providers may not attempt to collect payment, excluding appropriate cost-sharing, from covered persons when the provider has elected to trigger the health carrier's non-participating facility-based provider billing process described in Subsection E.

(4) Non-participating facility-based providers who do not provide a covered person with a Payment Responsibility Notice, as outlined in Paragraph (2), may not balance bill the covered person.

(5) Nothing in this section precludes a covered person from agreeing to accept and pay the bill received from the non-participating facility-based provider and not using the Provider Mediation Process described in Subsection G.

E. Health carrier out-of-network facility-based provider payments.

(1) Health carriers shall develop a program for payment of non-participating facility-based provider bills submitted pursuant to this section.

(2) Health carriers may elect to pay non-participating facility-based provider bills as submitted or the health carrier may pay in accordance with the benchmark established in Subsection F.

(3) Non-participating facility-based providers who object to the payment(s) made in Paragraph (2) may elect the Provider Mediation Process described in Subsection G.

(4) This section does not preclude a health carrier and an out-of-network facility-based provider from agreeing to a separate payment arrangement.

F. Benchmark for non-participating facility-based provider payments. Payments to non-participating facility-based providers shall be presumed to be reasonable if it is based on the higher of the health carrier's contracted rate or [XX] percentage of the Medicare payment rate for the same or similar services in the same geographic area.

Drafting Note: Subsection F above proposes that states set a benchmark or benchmarks for payments to non-participating facility-based providers. States can consider a number of options to use as the default reimbursement presumed to be reasonable, including, as provided in Subsection F, using a percentage of the Medicare payment that a state considers appropriate to determine the rate for the same or similar services in the same geographic area as provided in Subsection F and others such as: a) some percentage of a public, independent, database of charges for the same or similar services in the same geographic area; or b) some percentage of usual, customary and reasonable (UCR) charges in the state, if defined in state law or regulation. In setting a benchmark or benchmarks, states should carefully consider the impact on the market. Setting a rate too high or too low may negatively impact the ability of facility-based providers and health carriers to agree on a contract.

G. Provider Mediation Process.

(1) Health carriers shall establish a provider mediation process for payment of non-participating facility-based provider bills for providers objecting to the application of the established payment rate outlined in Subsection F.

(2) The health carrier provider mediation process shall be established in accordance with one of the following recognized mediation standards:

(a) The Uniform Mediation Act;

(b) Mediation.org, a division of the American Arbitration Association;

(c) The Association for Conflict Resolution (ACR);

(d) The American Bar Association Dispute Resolution Section; or

(e) The State of [XX] [state dispute resolution, mediation or arbitration section].

Drafting Note: Some states have included a provider mediation process in an independent dispute resolution process. The intent and effect is similar to this process.

(3) Following completion of the provider mediation process, the cost of mediation shall be split evenly and paid by the health carrier and the non-participating facility-based provider.

(4) A health carrier provider mediation process may not be used when the health carrier and the non-participating facility-based provider agree to a separate payment arrangement or when the covered person agrees to accept and pay the non-participating facility-based provider's charges for the out-of-network service(s).

(5) A health carrier shall maintain records on all requests for mediation and completed mediations under this subsection during a calendar year and, upon request, submit a report to the commissioner in the format specified by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: In promulgating regulations to implement this section, the commissioner and other appropriate state agencies involved in the rulemaking process should consider a number of provisions related to this subsection, such as the timing of the notice that the mediation process has been triggered, the timeframe to trigger the process and the standard rights and obligations of the parties participating in the mediation process.

H. The rights and remedies provided under this section to covered persons shall be in addition to and may not preempt any other rights and remedies available to covered persons under state or federal law.

I. Enforcement. The [insert appropriate state agency with hospital/provider oversight, consumer protection division, or attorney general] and the [insurance department] shall be responsible for enforcement of the requirements of this section.

J. Applicability.

(1) The provisions of this section shall not apply to a policy or certificate that provides coverage only for a specified disease, specified accident or accident-only coverage, credit, dental, disability income, hospital indemnity, long-term care insurance, as defined by [insert the reference to state law that defines long-term care insurance], vision care or any other limited supplemental benefit or to a Medicare supplement policy of insurance, as defined by the commissioner by regulation, coverage under a plan through Medicare, Medicaid, or the federal employees health benefits program, any coverage issued under Chapter 55 of Title 10, U.S. Code and any coverage issued as supplement to that coverage, any coverage issued as supplemental to liability insurance, workers' compensation or similar insurance, automobile medical-payment insurance or any insurance under which benefits are payable with or without regard to fault, whether written on a group blanket or individual basis.

(2) The requirements of this section do not apply to providers or covered persons using the process established in Section 5C of this Act.

(3) The requirements of this section do not apply to facilities that have made arrangements with facility-based providers they employ or with whom they have contracts which prevent balance bills from being sent to persons covered by the same health benefit plans with which the facility contracts.

Drafting Note: This section is not intended to be used in situations where the covered person affirmatively chooses, prior to the provision of the services, to obtain health care services from a non-participating facility-based provider.

K. Regulations. The commissioner and the [insert appropriate state agency with hospital/provider oversight, consumer protection division, or attorney general as indicated in Subsection I, above] may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this section. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 8. Disclosure and Notice Requirements

A. (1) A health carrier shall develop a written disclosure or notice to be provided to a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative at the time of pre-certification, if applicable, for a covered benefit to be provided at a facility that is in the covered person's health benefit plan network that there is the possibility that the covered person could be treated by a health care professional that is not in the same network.

(2) The disclosure or notice shall indicate that the covered person may be subject to higher cost-sharing, as described in the covered person's plan summary of coverage and benefits documents, including balance billing, if the covered services are performed by a health care professional, who is not in the covered person's plan network even though the covered person is receiving the covered services at a participating facility, and that information on what the covered person's plan will pay for the covered services provided by a non-participating health care professional is available on request from the health carrier. The disclosure or notice also shall inform the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative of options available to access covered services from a participating provider.

B. For non-emergency services, as a requirement of its provider contract with a health carrier, a facility shall develop a written disclosure or notice to be provided to a covered person of the carrier within ten (10) days of an appointment for in-patient or outpatient services at the facility or at the time of a non-emergency admission at the facility that confirms that the facility is a participating provider of the covered person's network plan and informs the covered person that a health care professional, such as an anesthesiologist, pathologist or radiologist, who may provide services to the covered person while at the facility may not be a participating provider in the same network.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that network adequacy issues could arise due to an insufficient number of participating providers available to provide adequate and reasonable access for covered persons to covered benefits related to facility-based health care professionals who are not in the same network as the facility. States may want to consider developing appropriate laws and regulations to apply notice and disclosure standards to facilities to advise covered persons of the potential for balance billing by non-participating providers performing covered services at those facilities.

Drafting Note: If a limited scope dental and/or vision plan uses hospitals and/or other type of facility in its provider network, then the limited scope dental and/or vision plan shall comply with the Act's requirements pertaining to hospitals and/or other type of facility.

Section 9. Provider Directories

A. (1) (a) A health carrier shall post electronically a current and accurate provider directory for each of its network plans with the information and search functions, as described in Subsection C.

(b) In making the directory available electronically, the carrier shall ensure that the general public is able to view all of the current providers for a plan through a clearly identifiable link or tab and without creating or accessing an account or entering a policy or contract number.

(2) (a) The health carrier shall update each network plan provider directory at least monthly.

Drafting Note: In addition to requiring health carriers to update their provider directories at least monthly, to help improve the accuracy of the directories, states could consider the following: 1) a requirement that health carriers in some manner, such as through an automated verification process, contact providers listed as participating providers who have not submitted claims within the past six months or other time frame a state may feel is appropriate, to determine whether the provider still intends to be in network; and 2) closely monitoring consumer complaints.

Drafting Note: In situations in which a covered person receives covered services from a non-participating provider due to a material misrepresentation in the provider directory indicating that the provider is a participating provider, state insurance regulators should refer the issue to their consumer complaint division for a resolution, such as requiring the health carrier to cover the benefit claim as if the services were obtained from a participating provider.

(b) The health carrier shall periodically audit at least a reasonable sample size of its provider directories for accuracy and retain documentation of such an audit to be made available to the commissioner upon request.

(3) A health carrier shall provide a print copy, or a print copy of the requested directory information, of a current provider directory with the information described in Subsection B upon request of a covered person or a prospective covered person.

(4) For each network plan, a health carrier shall include in plain language in both the electronic and print directory, the following general information:

(a) In plain language, a description of the criteria the carrier has used to build its provider network;

(b) If applicable, in plain language, a description of the criteria the carrier has used to tier providers;

(c) If applicable, in plain language, how the carrier designates the different provider tiers or levels in the network and identifies for each specific provider, hospital or other type of facility in the network which tier each is placed, for example by name, symbols or grouping, in order for a covered person or a prospective covered person to be able to identify the provider tier; and

(d) If applicable, note that authorization or referral may be required to access some providers.

(5) (a) A health carrier shall make it clear for both its electronic and print directories what provider directory applies to which network plan, such as including the specific name of the network plan as marketed and issued in this state.

(b) The health carrier shall include in both its electronic and print directories a customer service email address and telephone number or electronic link that covered persons or the general public may use to notify the health carrier of inaccurate provider directory information.

(6) For the pieces of information required pursuant to Subsections B, C and D in a provider directory pertaining to a health care professional, a hospital or a facility other than a hospital, the health carrier shall make available through the directory the source of the information and any limitations, if applicable.

(7) A provider directory, whether in electronic or print format, shall accommodate the communication needs of individuals with disabilities, and include a link to or information regarding available assistance for persons with limited English proficiency.

B. The health carrier shall make available through an electronic provider directory, for each network plan, the information under this subsection in a searchable format:

(1) For health care professionals:

(a) Name;

(b) Gender;

(c) Participating office location(s);

(d) Specialty, if applicable;

(e) Medical group affiliations, if applicable;

(f) Facility affiliations, if applicable;

(g) Participating facility affiliations, if applicable;

(h) Languages spoken other than English, if applicable; and

(i) Whether accepting new patients.

(2) For hospitals:

(a) Hospital name;

(b) Hospital type (i.e. acute, rehabilitation, children's, cancer);

(c) Participating hospital location; and

(d) Hospital accreditation status; and

(3) For facilities, other than hospitals, by type:

(a) Facility name;

(b) Facility type;

(c) Types of services performed; and

(d) Participating facility location(s).

C. For the electronic provider directories, for each network plan, a health carrier shall make available the following information in addition to all of the information available under Subsection B:

(1) For health care professionals:

(a) Contact information;

(b) Board certification(s); and

(c) Languages spoken other than English by clinical staff, if applicable.

(2) For hospitals: Telephone number; and

(3) For facilities other than hospitals: Telephone number.

D. (1) The health carrier shall make available in print, upon request, the following provider directory information for the applicable network plan:

(a) For health care professionals:

(i) Name;

(ii) Contact information;

(iii) Participating office location(s);

(iv) Specialty, if applicable;

(v) Languages spoken other than English, if applicable; and

(vi) Whether accepting new patients.

(b) For hospitals:

(i) Hospital name;

(ii) Hospital type (i.e. acute, rehabilitation, children's, cancer); and

(iii) Participating hospital location and telephone number; and

(c) For facilities, other than hospitals, by type:

(i) Facility name;

(ii) Facility type;

(iii) Types of services performed; and

(iv) Participating facility location(s) and telephone number.

(2) The health carrier shall include a disclosure in the directory that the information in Paragraph (1) included in the directory is accurate as of the date of printing and that covered persons or prospective covered persons should consult the carrier's electronic provider directory on its website or call [insert appropriate customer service telephone number] to obtain current provider directory information.

Drafting Note: In addition to the information provided in Subsections B, C and D health carriers may include or make available in their provider directories additional information, such as information concerning the structural accessibility, presence of accessible examination and diagnostic equipment and availability of programmatic accessibility.

Drafting Note: States should consider that the information included in electronic and print provider directories for limited scope dental and/or vision plans may have to differ from the information included in provider directories for major medical, comprehensive health benefit plans. For example, information on provider medical group affiliations and board certifications are not typically included in provider directories for limited scope dental and/or vision plans.

Section 10. Intermediaries

A contract between a health carrier and an intermediary shall satisfy all the requirements contained in this section.

A. Intermediaries and participating providers with whom they contract shall comply with all the applicable requirements of Section 6 of this Act.

B. A health carrier's statutory responsibility to monitor the offering of covered benefits to covered persons shall not be delegated or assigned to the intermediary.

C. A health carrier shall have the right to approve or disapprove participation status of a subcontracted provider in its own or a contracted network for the purpose of delivering covered benefits to the carrier's covered persons.

D. A health carrier shall maintain copies of all intermediary health care subcontracts at its principal place of business in the state, or ensure that it has access to all intermediary subcontracts, including the right to make copies to facilitate regulatory review, upon twenty (20) days prior written notice from the health carrier.

E. If applicable, an intermediary shall transmit utilization documentation and claims paid documentation to the health carrier. The carrier shall monitor the timeliness and appropriateness of payments made to providers and health care services received by covered persons.

F. If applicable, an intermediary shall maintain the books, records, financial information and documentation of services provided to covered persons at its principal place of business in the state and preserve them for [cite applicable statutory duration] in a manner that facilitates regulatory review.

G. An intermediary shall allow the commissioner access to the intermediary's books, records, financial information and any documentation of services provided to covered persons, as necessary to determine compliance with this Act.

H. A health carrier shall have the right, in the event of the intermediary's insolvency, to require the assignment to the health carrier of the provisions of a provider's contract addressing the provider's obligation to furnish covered services. If a health carrier requires assignment, the health carrier shall remain obligated to pay the provider for furnishing covered services under the same terms and conditions as the intermediary prior to the insolvency.

I. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, to the extent the health carrier delegates its responsibilities to the intermediary, the carrier shall retain full responsibility for the intermediary's compliance with the requirements of this Act.

Drafting Note: States may want to consider requiring intermediaries to register with the state department of insurance, or other state agency as the state may feel is appropriate, or impose some other type of regulatory scheme on such entities, to ensure the state has the regulatory authority to regulate them and keep track of their activities.

Section 11. Filing Requirements and State Administration

A. At the time a health carrier files its access plan, the health carrier shall file [for approval] with the commissioner sample contract forms proposed for use with its participating providers and intermediaries.

Drafting Note: States may want to review their open records laws to determine whether the sample contract forms filed under Subsection A are considered public information.

B. A health carrier shall submit material changes to a contract that would affect a provision required under this Act or implementing regulations to the commissioner [for approval] at least [cite period of time in the form approval statute] days prior to use.

Drafting Note: Subsections A and B provide an option for states to require health carriers to file with the commissioner for informational purposes any material changes to a contract or to require health carriers to file contracts and material changes for prior approval. A state should choose which option is appropriate for the state.

Drafting Note: States should consider that when health carriers make changes in contracted provider payment rates, coinsurance, copayments or deductibles, or other plan benefit modifications, such changes could materially impact a covered person's access to covered benefits or timely access to participating providers; and as such, would be considered a material change to a contract subject to the requirement to file with the commissioner for informational purposes or filing for prior approval.

[C. If the commissioner takes no action within sixty (60) days after submission of a contract or a material change to a contract by a health carrier, the contract or change is deemed approved.]

D. The health carrier shall maintain provider and intermediary contracts at its principal place of business in the state, or the health carrier shall have access to all contracts and provide copies to facilitate regulatory review upon twenty (20) days prior written notice from the commissioner.

Section 12. Contracting

A. The execution of a contract by a health carrier shall not relieve the health carrier of its liability to any person with whom it has contracted for the provision of services, nor of its responsibility for compliance with the law or applicable regulations.

B. All contracts shall be in writing and subject to review.

Drafting Note: Each state should add provisions that are consistent with that state's current regulatory requirements for the approval or disapproval of health carrier contracts, documents or actions. For example, a state may want to add a provision requiring a health carrier to obtain prior approval of contracts, or requiring a health carrier to file a contract before using it, or requiring a health carrier to certify that all its contracts comply with this Act.

C. All contracts shall comply with applicable requirements of the law and applicable regulations.

Section 13. Enforcement

A. If the commissioner determines that a health carrier has not contracted with a sufficient number of participating providers to assure that covered persons have accessible health care services in a geographic area, or that a health carrier's network access plan does not assure reasonable access to covered benefits, or that a health carrier has entered into a contract that does not comply with this Act, or that a health carrier has not complied with a provision of this Act, the commissioner shall require a modification to the access plan or institute a corrective action plan, as appropriate, that shall be followed by the health carrier, or may use any of the commissioner's other enforcement powers to obtain the health carrier's compliance with this Act.

Drafting Note: The reference to requiring the health carrier to modify the access plan instead of instituting a corrective action is to reflect the idea that sometimes the network changes through no fault of the health carrier and in those instances, the commissioner may require the health carrier to modify the access plan to bring the health carrier into compliance with the network adequacy requirements of this Act.

Drafting Note: State insurance regulators may use a variety of tools and/or methods to determine a health carrier's ongoing compliance with the provisions of this Act and whether the health carrier's provider network is sufficient and provides covered persons with reasonable access to covered benefits. Such tools and/or methods include consumer surveys, reviewing and tracking consumer complaints and data collection on the use of out-of-network benefits.

B. The commissioner will not act to arbitrate, mediate or settle disputes regarding a decision not to include a provider in a network plan or in a provider network or regarding any other dispute between a health carrier, its intermediaries or one or more providers arising under or by reason of a provider contract or its termination.

Section 14. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 15. Penalties

A violation of this Act shall [insert appropriate administrative penalty from state law].

Section 16. Separability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 17. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date]. [If applicable:] The [insert year of adoption] amendments to this Act shall be effective [insert date].

A. All provider and intermediary contracts in effect on [insert effective date] shall comply with this Act no later than eighteen (18) months after [insert effective date]. The commissioner may extend the eighteen (18) months for an additional period not to exceed six (6) months if the health carrier demonstrates good cause for an extension.

B. A new provider or intermediary contract that is issued or put in force on or after [insert a date that is six (6) months after the effective date of this Act] shall comply with this Act.

C. A provider contract or intermediary contract not described in Subsection A or Subsection B shall comply with this Act no later than eighteen (18) months after [insert effective date].

D. Transition period for compliance with amended Section 5 of this Act.

Option 1.

For states with access plan requirements comparable to the pre-2015 Act: No later than [twelve (12) months] after [insert effective date of amendments], each health carrier offering or renewing network plans in this state shall file revised access plans consistent with Section 5 of this Act, as amended, for all in-force network plans.

Option 2.

For states without access plan requirements comparable to the pre-2015 Act: No later than [twelve (12) months] after [insert effective date of Act or effective date of amendments], each health carrier offering or renewing network plans in this state shall file access plans consistent with Section 5 of this Act for all in-force network plans.

HEALTH BENEFIT PLAN NETWORK ACCESS AND ADEQUACY MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2015

MANAGED CARE PLAN NETWORK ADEQUACY MODEL ACT (#74)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

In 2013, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force was charged to review NAIC existing models related to health insurance to determine whether they needed to be amended in light of all the changes made by the federal Affordable Care Act (ACA). During that review process, it was clear that revising the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Model Act (#74) was a priority for regulators, carriers and consumers. In addition, revising Model #74 became even more of a priority because of the concern that the federal Center for Consumer Information and Insurance Oversight (CCIIO) was, and still is, considering adopting regulations to establish federal network adequacy standards; i.e., a possible "one-size-fits-all" national standard. A federal one-size-fits-all national standard would not benefit consumers or health carriers. State insurance regulators are best positioned to balance cost, access and geographic considerations when developing network adequacy standards to ensure networks are sufficient so that consumers can access promised services without unreasonable delay.

In March 2014, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force established the Network Adequacy Model Review (B) Subgroup, with Wisconsin as chair, to begin working on revising Model #74. In May 2014, the Subgroup began weekly calls—which became twice weekly calls—to receive input from various interested groups and consider possible revisions to Model #74. In November 2014, the Subgroup released an initial draft of proposed revisions to Model #74 with a Jan. 12, 2015, comment deadline. In response to the Subgroup's request for comment, the Subgroup received more than 100 comment letters. In February 2015, the Subgroup began meeting again via conference call twice weekly to review and discuss the comments. During its conference calls, the Subgroup discussed myriad issues, including how to deal with tiered networks, provider directory information and accuracy, "surprise bills" received by consumers for out-of-network services provided at participating facilities, essential community providers (ECPs) and limited scope dental and visions benefit plans. The Subgroup finished its review of the comments in August 2015 and released a second draft of proposed revisions to Model #74 with a Sept. 22, 2015, comment deadline. The Subgroup held three conference calls to discuss the comments received. The Subgroup adopted the proposed revisions to Model #74 Oct. 12, 2015, via conference call and submitted the draft to the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force for its consideration. The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force adopted the proposed revisions Oct. 22, 2015. The Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopted the revisions Nov. 3, 2015.

The proposed revisions to Model #74 include a number of enhancements, including more specific requirements in Section 5—Network Adequacy concerning network sufficiency, how network sufficiency is to be determined and who is to determine network sufficiency. The revisions also add a new section concerning provider directories. This section describes what information must be included in both print and electronic directories to help consumers select a health benefit plan. It also includes a requirement for health carriers to periodically audit their provider directories for accuracy. The proposed revisions to Model #74 also include a new section, Section 7—Requirements for Participating Facility Providers with Out-of-Network Facility-Based Providers. This section addresses a narrow aspect of the so-called "surprise bill" issue (balanced billing) by establishing a mechanism for consumers to deal with bills they received for services provided by out-of-network facility-based providers while receiving treatment at an in-network facility. Section 7 also includes a provider mediation process for payment of out-of-network facility-based provider remittances for those providers who object to the amount of the payment they received for the out-of-network services they provided using the established payment rate. The proposed revisions to Model #74 also add a specific new section concerning provider directories. This new section establishes requirements for health carriers concerning the specific information that must be included in the directories for health care professionals, hospitals and other types of facilities to assist consumers in selecting a health benefit plan. It also includes requirements for carriers to help ensure the accuracy of the directories, including a periodic audit requirement.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating Network Adequacy Model Review (B) Subgroup of the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force drafted the proposed revisions to Model #74. The members of the Subgroup were: Wisconsin, Chair; California; Colorado; Missouri; Montana; Nebraska; Nevada; New Mexico; Oregon; Rhode Island; Tennessee; and Washington.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

Based on the charge below, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force established the Network Adequacy Model Review (B) Subgroup in March 2014 to consider revisions to Model #74.

"Continue to review the model law review recommendations of NAIC models recommended for revision by the former Affordable Care Act (ACA) Model Review (B) Working Group and, as appropriate, appoint a working group to revise the NAIC model(s) prioritized for revision in 2014.—Important"

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc.; include any parties outside the members that participated)

Beginning in March 2014 and ending in October 2015, the Subgroup reviewed and discussed all of the comments received as part of the drafting process. More than 100 different interested parties participated in the process. The interested parties represented all stakeholder groups, including consumers, health care providers, hospitals, insurers and health care facilities. Each draft of proposed revisions was posted to the Subgroup's page on the NAIC website. All comment letters received also were posted. The Subgroup met via conference call twice weekly during the drafting process and also held in-person meetings at the NAIC national meetings.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Beginning in March 2014 and ending in October 2015, the Subgroup reviewed and discussed all of the comments received. More than 100 different interested parties participated in the process. The interested parties represented all stakeholder groups, including consumers, health care providers, hospitals, insurers and health care facilities. Each draft of proposed revisions with public comment deadlines was posted to the Subgroup's page on the NAIC website. All comment letters received also were posted. The Subgroup met via conference call twice weekly during the drafting process and also held in-person meetings at the NAIC national meetings.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

A number of significant issues were raised and addressed. One of the issues was whether to, and if so, in what manner exempt limited scope dental and vision plans because the focus of Model #74 is on health benefit plans that provide major medical benefits. After several discussions, the Subgroup reviewed the draft and decided to exempt these types of limited benefit plans from specific provisions in Model #74 that would not make any sense to be applied to such plans.

Another major issue the Subgroup encountered was addressing the issue of "surprise bills." These are bills that consumers receive for services provided by non-participating providers in situations where the consumer may be in a participating facility, but while in the participating facility received services from a non-participating provider. The Subgroup decided to address one narrow aspect of the "surprise bill" issue in adding Section 7—Requirements for Participating Facilities with Non-Participating Facility-Based Providers. Section 7 sets out a process for payment of bills that consumers receive from non-participating facility-based providers for services provided at a participating facility.

The Subgroup also encountered a number of issues related to provider tiering. The Subgroup did not include specific provisions related to provider tiering, but included references to provider tiering throughout the draft, including a definition of "tiered network." The proposed revisions also include requirements in Section 9—Provider Directories for health carriers to include information in their directories identifying the tier within which each specific provider, hospital or other type of facility in the network is placed.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

Section-by-Section Summary of Proposed Revisions

Section 1. Short Title

The proposed revisions to Model #74 change the title to "Health Benefit Plan Network Access and Adequacy Act" in order to reflect network adequacy requirements apply to any health benefit plan that uses a network to provide covered benefits to covered persons, not just managed care plans.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The proposed revisions to Model #74 make clarifying revisions to this section. In addition, the revisions add language to this section specifically requiring health carriers to maintain and follow the access plans required under Section 5.

Section 3. Definitions

The proposed revisions to Model #74 add, revise and delete definitions to reflect the substantive changes made in the other sections of the Act. Among the new definitions are definitions of the terms "balance billing," "essential community provider," "limited scope dental plan," "limited scope vision plan," "network plan," and "telehealth or telemedicine." The proposed revisions to Model #74 delete definitions for the terms "closed plan," "health indemnity plan," "managed care plan" and "open plan."

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

The proposed revisions to Model #74 revise this section to have the model's provisions apply to all health carriers that offer network plans. In addition, the revisions include a carve out from having to comply with certain provisions of Model #74 for limited scope dental plans or limited scope vision plans because those provisions, which are focused on health benefit plans that offer comprehensive major medical benefits, are not suitable for the these types of limited benefit plans.

Section 5. Network Adequacy

The proposed revisions to Model #74 enhance the existing provisions of this section to more clearly state what will be considered a sufficient network and specifically require the domiciliary commissioner to determine network sufficiency in accordance with the requirements of this section. The proposed revisions include a requirement that health carriers have a process to ensure that a covered person obtains a covered benefit at an in-network level of benefits, including an in-network level of cost-sharing, from a non-participating provider, or make other arrangements acceptable to the domiciliary commissioner, when: 1) the carrier has a sufficient network but does not have the type of participating provider available to provide the covered benefit or it does not have a participating provider available without unreasonable travel or delay; or 2) the carrier has an insufficient number or type of participating provider available to provide the covered benefit to the covered person without unreasonable travel or delay. The proposed revisions also enhance the type of information that carriers much describe or include in their access plans submitted to the domiciliary commissioner. The proposed revisions give the domiciliary commissioner the option to require health carriers to submit the access plan for prior approval or for review.

Section 6. Requirements for Health Carriers and Participating Providers

The proposed revisions to Model #74 clarify the provisions in this section concerning the continuity of care both in situations where the health carrier, or its intermediary due to insolvency or other cessation of operations, and when a participating provider is being removed or leaving the network with or without cause. The proposed revisions also add provider tiering to the health carrier selection standards and add an option for insurance commissioners not only review the standards, but also approve the standards. In addition, the proposed revisions require that a description in plain language of the standards that a health carrier uses for selecting and tiering participating providers be made available to the public.

The proposed revisions to Model #74 also require that at the time a contract is signed, a health carrier and, if appropriate, its intermediary, shall timely notify a participating provider of all provisions and other documents incorporated by reference in the contract. While the contract is in force, the carrier also is required to timely notify a participating provider of any changes to those provisions or documents that could result in material changes in the contract. The proposed revisions also require the health carrier to timely inform a provider of the provider's network participation status on any health benefit plan in which the carrier has included the provider as a participating provider.

Section 7. Requirements for Participating Facilities with Non-Participating Facility-Based Providers

The proposed revisions to Model #74 add this section. This section sets out the requirements for addressing one narrow aspect of the so-called "surprise bill" issue in the situation where a covered person may receive for services provided at a participating facility by a non-participating facility-based provider. "Facility-based provider" is defined in this section as a provider who provides health care services to patients who are in an in-patient or ambulatory facility, including services such as pathology, anesthesiology, emergency room care, radiology or other services provided in an in-patient facility or ambulatory facility setting. This section establishes limitations on balance billing for non-participating facility-based providers if the difference in the billed charge and the plan's allowable amount is more than $500. Health carriers are required to develop a program for payment of non-participating facility-based provider bills submitted to the carrier from the covered person. Under this program, the health carrier can elect to pay the non-participating facility-based provider bill as submitted or the health carrier may pay in accordance with the benchmark established in this section. The benchmark, which a state will set, for non-participating facility-based provider payments is presumed to be reasonable if it is based on the higher of the health carrier's contracted rate or [xx] percentage of the Medicare payment rate for the same or similar services in the same geographic area. In the drafting note for this section related to the benchmark, the proposed revisions discuss having a state use other default reimbursement methodologies, such as: a) some percentage of a public, independent, database of charges for the same or similar services in the same geographic area; or b) some percentage of usual, customary and reasonable (UCR) charges in the state, if defined in state law or regulation.

The proposed revisions to Model #74 also include an enforcement provision recognizing that some of the provisions of this section will have to be enforced by other appropriate state agencies in addition to the state insurance department. Similar language also is included in the provision concerning the adoption of regulations.

Section 8. Disclosure and Notice Requirements

The proposed revisions to Model #74 add this section. This section requires health carriers to develop a written disclosure or notice to be provided to covered persons at the time of pre-certification that the facility that is in the covered person's network there is the possibility that the covered person could be treated by a health care professional that is not in the same network. This section also specifies what information is to be included in the disclosure or notice, including informing covered persons of the options available to access covered services from a participating provider.

This section also requires a facility, as part of its contract with a health carrier, to develop a written disclosure or notice to be provided to covered persons within 10 days of an appointment for in-patient or outpatient services at the facility, or at the time of a non-emergency admission at the facility, confirming that the facility is a participating provider of the covered person's network plan and informing covered persons that certain health care professionals who may provide services to the covered person at the facility may not be a participating provider in the same network.

Section 9. Provider Directories

The proposed revisions to Model #74 add this section. This section establishes requirements for health carriers related to electronic and print provider directories. This section describes what general and specific information must be included in both print and electronic directories to enable consumers select a health benefit plan most appropriate to their needs. It also includes a requirement for health carriers to update their provider directories at least monthly and to periodically audit them for accuracy.

Section 10. Intermediaries

The proposed revisions to Model #74 add one new provision to this section specifying that to the extent a health carrier delegates its responsibilities under this model to an intermediary, the health carrier retains full responsibility for the intermediary's compliance with the requirements of this model.

Section 11. Filing Requirements and State Administration

The proposed revisions to Model #74 make a few clarifying changes to this section concerning the timing of filing sample contract forms. The revisions also provide options for each state to decide whether to require health carriers to file the sample contract forms and any material changes with the domiciliary commissioner for informational purposes or prior approval.

Section 12. Contracting

The proposed revisions to Model #74 make no changes to this section.

Section 13. Enforcement

The proposed revisions to Model #74 make clarifying changes to this section to require that if the domiciliary commissioner determines that a health carrier has not contracted with a sufficient number of participating providers, or that a health carrier's network access plan does not assure reasonable access to covered benefits, or that a health carrier has entered into a contract that does not comply with Model #74, or that a health carrier has not complied with a provision of this model, the domiciliary commissioner shall require the health carrier to modify its access plan or institute a corrective action plan, as appropriate, or the domiciliary commissioner may use any of the commissioner's other enforcement powers to obtain compliance with this model.

Section 14. Regulations

The proposed revisions to Model #74 make no changes to this section.

Section 15. Penalties

The proposed revisions to Model #74 make no changes to this section.

Section 16. Separability

The proposed revisions to Model #74 make no changes to this section.

Section 17. Effective Date

The proposed revisions to Model #74 add a transition period for compliance with the amended provisions of Section 5 of this model.

HEALTH CARRIER EXTERNAL REVIEW MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Health Carrier External Review Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act as a regulation. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as a regulation.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this Act is to provide standards for the establishment and maintenance of external review procedures to assure that covered persons have the opportunity for an independent review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination, as defined in this Act.

Drafting Note: This Act governs the processes relating to external review procedures only. For processes related to a health carrier's internal grievance procedures, see the NAIC Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act.

Drafting Note: States are strongly encouraged to adopt both this Act and the NAIC's Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act, which sets out an internal grievance process for the review of written grievances stemming from adverse determinations, as defined in that Act. The external review procedures of this Act assume the existence of the internal grievance process outlined in the NAIC Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act. This Act also assumes that any adverse determination that remains in dispute after the health carrier's internal grievance process has been exhausted and for which a request for an external review is made under this Act, will be considered a "final adverse determination," as that term is defined by this Act. Further, this Act assumes that, in a case in which the health carrier's internal grievance process has not been exhausted prior to a request for external review under this Act, the subject of the request for external review will be the adverse determination made by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization pursuant to the NAIC's Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Adverse determination" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that an admission, availability of care, continued stay or other health care service that is a covered benefit has been reviewed and, based upon the information provided, does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness, and the requested service or payment for the service is therefore denied, reduced or terminated.

Drafting Note: The definition of "adverse determination" should be interpreted broadly to ensure that all adverse determinations where the covered person believes the treatment or service is medically necessary are eligible for external review in accordance with the provisions of this Act. It includes, for example, adverse determinations regarding cosmetic procedures, when the covered person requests the health care service on medical necessity grounds rather than for cosmetic reasons. It also includes adverse determinations related to out-of-network services, when the covered person requests health care services from a provider that does not participate in the health carrier's provider network because the clinical expertise of the provider may be medically necessary for treatment of the covered person's medical condition and that expertise is not available in the health carrier's provider network. States may wish to consider carving out adverse determinations related to out-of-network services depending on their regulatory structure relating to utilization review and out-of-network treatment decisions, including any concurrent jurisdiction among state agencies that may be applicable, in determining the scope of the external review process.

Denials of coverage based on a determination that a recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental also are adverse determinations. The NAIC believes, however, that the review of these denials should be subject to separate external review standards and procedures. Section 10 of this Act sets out external review standards and procedures for reviewing coverage denials based on a determination that a recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental.

B. "Ambulatory review" means utilization review of health care services performed or provided in an outpatient setting.

C. "Authorized representative" means:

(1) A person to whom a covered person has given express written consent to represent the covered person in an external review;

(2) A person authorized by law to provide substituted consent for a covered person; or

(3) A family member of the covered person or the covered person's treating health care professional when the covered person is unable to provide consent.

D. "Case management" means a coordinated set of activities conducted for individual patient management of serious, complicated, protracted or other health conditions.

E. "Certification" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that an admission, availability of care, continued stay or other health care service has been reviewed and, based on the information provided, satisfies the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care and effectiveness.

F. "Clinical review criteria" means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocols and practice guidelines used by a health carrier to determine the necessity and appropriateness of health care services.

G. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

H. "Concurrent review" means utilization review conducted during a patient's hospital stay or course of treatment.

I. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

J. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

K. "Discharge planning" means the formal process for determining, prior to discharge from a facility, the coordination and management of the care that a patient receives following discharge from a facility.

L. "Disclose" means to release, transfer or otherwise divulge protected health information to any person other than the individual who is the subject of the protected health information.

M. "Emergency medical condition" means the sudden and, at the time, unexpected onset of a health condition or illness that requires immediate medical attention, where failure to provide medical attention would result in a serious impairment to bodily functions, serious dysfunction of a bodily organ or part, or would place the person's health in serious jeopardy.

N. "Emergency services" means health care items and services furnished or required to evaluate and treat an emergency medical condition.

O. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

P. "Final adverse determination" means an adverse determination involving a covered benefit that has been upheld by a health carrier, or its designee utilization review organization, at the completion of the health carrier's internal grievance process procedures as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

Drafting Note: States that do not require covered persons to exhaust a health carrier's internal grievance process procedures before filing a request for an external review should not adopt the definition of "final adverse determination" in Subsection P and should not use the term in the rest of the law.

Q. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

R. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not corporate "persons."

S. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

T. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

U. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health care services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

V. "Health information" means information or data, whether oral or recorded in any form or medium, and personal facts or information about events or relationships that relates to:

(1) The past, present or future physical, mental, or behavioral health or condition of an individual or a member of the individual's family;

(2) The provision of health care services to an individual; or

(3) Payment for the provision of health care services to an individual.

W. "Independent review organization" means an entity that conducts independent external reviews of adverse determinations and final adverse determinations.

X. "Medical or scientific evidence" means evidence found in the following sources:

(1) Peer-reviewed scientific studies published in or accepted for publication by medical journals that meet nationally recognized requirements for scientific manuscripts and that submit most of their published articles for review by experts who are not part of the editorial staff;

(2) Peer-reviewed medical literature, including literature relating to therapies reviewed and approved by a qualified institutional review board, biomedical compendia and other medical literature that meet the criteria of the National Institutes of Health's Library of Medicine for indexing in Index Medicus (Medline) and Elsevier Science Ltd. for indexing in Excerpta Medicus (EMBASE);

(3) Medical journals recognized by the Secretary of Health and Human Services under Section 1861(t)(2) of the federal Social Security Act

(4) The following standard reference compendia:

(a) The American Hospital Formulary Service–Drug Information;

(b) Drug Facts and Comparisons;

(c) The American Dental Association Accepted Dental Therapeutics; and

(d) The United States Pharmacopoeia–Drug Information;

(5) Findings, studies or research conducted by or under the auspices of federal government agencies and nationally recognized federal research institutes, including:

(a) The federal Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality;

(b) The National Institutes of Health;

(c) The National Cancer Institute;

(d) The National Academy of Sciences;

(e) The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services;

(f) The federal Food and Drug Administration; and

(g) Any national board recognized by the National Institutes of Health for the purpose of evaluating the medical value of health care services; or

(6) Any other medical or scientific evidence that is comparable to the sources listed in Paragraphs (1) through (5).

Y. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing.

Z. "Prospective review" means utilization review conducted prior to an admission or a course of treatment.

AA. "Protected health information" means health information:

(1) That identifies an individual who is the subject of the information; or

(2) With respect to which there is a reasonable basis to believe that the information could be used to identify an individual.

BB. "Retrospective review" means a review of medical necessity conducted after services have been provided to a patient, but does not include the review of a claim that is limited to an evaluation of reimbursement levels, veracity of documentation, accuracy of coding or adjudication for payment.

CC. "Second opinion" means an opportunity or requirement to obtain a clinical evaluation by a provider other than the one originally making a recommendation for a proposed health care service to assess the clinical necessity and appropriateness of the initial proposed health care service.

DD. "Utilization review" means a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of, or evaluate the clinical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of, health care services, procedures, or settings. Techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning, or retrospective review.

EE. "Utilization review organization" means an entity that conducts utilization review, other than a health carrier performing a review for its own health benefit plans.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. Except as provided in Subsection B, this Act shall apply to all health carriers that provide or perform utilization review.

B. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to a policy or certificate that provides coverage only for a specified disease, specified accident or accident-only coverage, credit, dental, disability income, hospital indemnity, long-term care insurance, as defined by [insert the reference to state law that defines long-term care insurance], vision care or any other limited supplemental benefit or to a Medicare supplement policy of insurance, as defined by the commissioner by regulation, coverage under a plan through Medicare, Medicaid, or the federal employees health benefits program, any coverage issued under Chapter 55 of Title 10, U.S. Code and any coverage issued as supplement to that coverage, any coverage issued as supplemental to liability insurance, workers' compensation or similar insurance, automobile medical-payment insurance or any insurance under which benefits are payable with or without regard to fault, whether written on a group blanket or individual basis.

Section 5. Notice of Right to External Review

A. (1) A health carrier shall notify the covered person in writing of the covered person's right to request an external review to be conducted pursuant to Section 8, 9 or 10 of this Act and include the appropriate statements and information set forth in Subsection B at the time the health carrier sends written notice of:

(a) An adverse determination upon completion of the health carrier's utilization review process set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act]; and

(b) A final adverse determination.

(2) As part of the written notice required under Paragraph (1), a health carrier shall include the following, or substantially equivalent, language: "We have denied your request for the provision of or payment for a health care service or course of treatment. You may have the right to have our decision reviewed by health care professionals who have no association with us if our decision involved making a judgment as to the medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness of the health care service or treatment you requested by submitting a request for external review to the Office of the Insurance Commissioner [insert address and telephone number of the office of the insurance commissioner or other unit in the office that administers the external review program]."

Drafting Note: States that have not established an external review program in the office of the commissioner, such as those states that adopt Option 3 in Sections 8 and 9 of this Act, should alter the language in Paragraph (2) as appropriate.

B. (1) The health carrier shall include in the notice required under Subsection A:

(a) For a notice related to an adverse determination, a statement informing the covered person that:

(i) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review to be conducted pursuant to Section 9 of this Act, or Section 10 of this Act if the adverse determination involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational and the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated, at the same time the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], but that the independent review organization assigned to conduct the expedited external review will determine whether the covered person shall be required to complete the expedited review of the grievance prior to conducting the expedited external review; and

(ii) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a grievance under the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], but if the health carrier has not issued a written decision to the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative within thirty (30) days following the date the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files the grievance with the health carrier and the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has not requested or agreed to a delay, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review pursuant to Section 6 of this Act and shall be considered to have exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process for purposes of Section 7 of this Act; and

(b) For a notice related to a final adverse determination, a statement informing the covered person that:

(i) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to Section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review pursuant to Section 9 of this Act; or

(ii) If the final adverse determination concerns:

(I) An admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may request an expedited external review pursuant to Section 9 of this Act; or

(II) A denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for a standard external review to be conducted pursuant to Section 10 of this Act or if the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may request an expedited external review to be conducted under Section 10 of this Act.

(2) In addition to the information to be provided pursuant to Paragraph (1), the health carrier shall include a copy of the description of both the standard and expedited external review procedures the health carrier is required to provide pursuant to Section 18 of this Act, highlighting the provisions in the external review procedures that give the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative the opportunity to submit additional information and including any forms used to process an external review.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify more particularly the information that must be included in the written notice.

(3) As part of any forms provided under Paragraph (2), the health carrier shall include an authorization form, or other document approved by the commissioner, by which the covered person, for purposes of conducting an external review under this Act, authorizes the health carrier to disclose protected health information, including medical records, concerning the covered person that are pertinent to the external review, as provided in [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 10H of the Health Information Privacy Model Act].

Section 6. Request for External Review

Option 1.

Drafting Note: The following Option 1 for Section 6A applies to states that choose to establish the external grievance process in the office of the commissioner and require that covered persons file all requests for external review with the commissioner.

A. Except for a request for an expedited external review as set forth in Section 9 of this Act, all requests for external review shall be made in writing to the commissioner.

Option 2.

Drafting Note: The following Option 2 for Section 6A applies to states that choose to establish responsibility for the external grievance process with the health carrier and require that covered persons file requests for external review with the health carrier.

A. Except for a request for an expedited external review as set forth in Section 9 of this Act, all requests for external review shall be made in writing to the health carrier.

B. A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an external review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination.

Section 7. Exhaustion of Internal Grievance Process

A. (1) Except as provided in Subsection B, a request for an external review pursuant to Section 8, 9 or 10 of this Act shall not be made until the covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(2) A covered person shall be considered to have exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process for purposes of this section, if the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative:

(a) Has filed a grievance involving an adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; and

(b) Except to the extent the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative requested or agreed to a delay, has not received a written decision on the grievance from the health carrier within thirty (30) days following the date the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative filed the grievance with the health carrier.

(3) Notwithstanding Paragraph (2), a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may not make a request for an external review of an adverse determination involving a retrospective review determination made pursuant to [insert reference in state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] until the covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process.

B. (1) (a) At the same time a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination:

(i) Under Section 9 of this Act if the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of an expedited review of the grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(ii) Under Section 10 of this Act if the adverse determination involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational and the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review under Subparagraph (a), the independent review organization conducting the external review in accordance with the provisions of Section 9 or 10 of this Act shall determine whether the covered person shall be required to complete the expedited review process set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] before it conducts the expedited external review.

(c) Upon a determination made pursuant to Subparagraph (b) that the covered person must first complete the expedited grievance review process set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], the independent review organization immediately shall notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of this determination and that it will not proceed with the expedited external review set forth in Section 9 of this Act until completion of the expedited grievance review process and the covered person's grievance at the completion of the expedited grievance review process remains unresolved.

(2) A request for an external review of an adverse determination may be made before the covered person has exhausted the heath carrier's internal grievance procedures as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] whenever the health carrier agrees to waive the exhaustion requirement.

C. If the requirement to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance procedures is waived under Subsection B(2), the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request in writing for a standard external review as set forth in Section 8 or 10 of this Act.

Drafting Note: States are strongly encouraged to adopt both this Act and the NAIC's Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act, which sets out an internal grievance process for the review of written grievances stemming from adverse determinations, as defined in that Act. The external review procedures of this Act assume the existence of the internal grievance process outlined in the NAIC Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act. This Act also assumes that any adverse determination that remains in dispute after the health carrier's internal grievance process has been exhausted and for which a request for an external review is made under this Act, will be considered a "final adverse determination," as that term is defined by this Act. Further, this Act assumes that, in a case in which the health carrier's internal grievance process has not been exhausted prior to a request for external review under this Act, the subject of the request for external review will be the adverse determination made by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization pursuant to the NAIC's Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act.

Drafting Note: States that do not require exhaustion of the internal grievance process prior to filing a request for external review should not adopt this section.

Section 8. Standard External Review

Option 1.

Drafting Note: Option 1 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to establish the external review process in the office of the commissioner and require that covered persons file all requests for external review with the commissioner. This option also provides that the commissioner will conduct a preliminary review of the request for external review to ensure that it meets all of the requirements to be eligible for external review. If the request for external review is determined to be eligible for external review, the commissioner is required to assign an independent review organization to conduct the external review. This option requires the assigned independent review organization to provide the commissioner with a written recommendation on whether to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination. The commissioner is required to review the recommendation to ensure that it is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan. After completion of the review, the commissioner is required to notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and the health carrier of the external review decision.

A. (1) Within sixty (60) days after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Section 5 of this Act, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an external review with the commissioner.

(2) Upon receipt of a request for an external review pursuant to Paragraph (1), the commissioner immediately shall notify and send a copy of the request to the health carrier that made the adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the request.

B. Within five (5) days after the date of receipt of a request for an external review, the commissioner shall complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was provided;

(2) The health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination reasonably appears to be a covered service under the covered person's health benefit plan, but for a determination by the health carrier that the health care service is not covered because it does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness;

(3) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to Section 7 of this Act; and

(4) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required by the commissioner that are necessary to process an external review, including the release form provided under Section 5B of this Act.

C. (1) Upon completion of the preliminary review pursuant to Subsection B, the commissioner immediately shall notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request has been accepted for external review.

(2) If the request is accepted for external review, the commissioner shall:

(a) Include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit to the commissioner in writing within seven (7) days following the date of receipt of the notice additional information and supporting documentation that the assigned independent review organization shall consider when conducting the external review; and

(b) Immediately notify the health carrier in writing of the acceptance of the request for external review.

(3) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the commissioner shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not accepted for external review, the commissioner shall inform the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, and the health carrier in writing of the reasons for its nonacceptance.

D. (1) At the time a request is accepted for external review pursuant to Subsection C, the commissioner shall assign an independent review organization that has been approved pursuant to Section 12 of this Act to conduct the external review and provide a written recommendation to the commissioner on whether to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) In reaching a recommendation, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

E. (1) Within seven (7) days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to Subsection C(2), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization, the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) Upon receipt of a notice from the assigned independent review organization that the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization has failed to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1), the commissioner may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under Subparagraph (a), the commissioner shall notify the assigned independent review organization, the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, and the health carrier.

F. (1) The assigned independent review organization, shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to Subsection E and any other information submitted in writing by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection C(2) that has been forwarded to the independent review organization by the commissioner.

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection C(2), at the same time the commissioner forwards the information to the independent review organization, the commissioner shall forward the information to the health carrier.

G. (1) Upon receipt of the information required to be forwarded pursuant to Subsection F(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may only be terminated if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in Paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person , if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to Subparagraph (a).

H. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to Subsection E, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a recommendation:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which may include generally accepted practice guidelines, evidence-based practice guidelines or any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations; and

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization.

I. (1) The independent review organization assigned pursuant to Subsection D shall provide its recommendation to the commissioner within thirty (30) days after the date of receipt of the request for an external review.

(2) The independent review organization shall include in its recommendation provided pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(c) The date the external review was conducted;

(d) The date of its recommendation;

(e) The principal reason or reasons for its recommendation;

(f) The rationale for its recommendation; and

(g) References to the evidence or documentation, including the practice guidelines, considered in reaching its recommendation.

(3) Upon receipt of the assigned independent review organization's recommendation pursuant to Paragraph (1), the commissioner immediately shall review the recommendation to ensure that it is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier.

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "medical necessity" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

J. (1) The commissioner shall notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, and the health carrier in writing of the decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or the final adverse determination within fifteen (15) days after the date of receipt of the selected independent review organization's recommendation provided pursuant to Subsection I(1).

(2) The commissioner shall include in the notice sent pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) The principal reason or reasons for the decision, including, as an attachment to the notice or in any other manner the commissioner considers appropriate, the information provided by the selected independent review organization in regard to its recommendation pursuant to Subsection I(2); and

(b) If appropriate, the principal reason or reasons why the commissioner did not follow the assigned independent review organization's recommendation.

(3) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

Option 2.

Drafting Note: Option 2 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose not to review the external review decision of an independent review organization as in Option 1. Option 2 requires covered persons to file all requests for external review with the commissioner. The commissioner then conducts a preliminary review of the request for external review to ensure that it meets all of the requirements to be eligible for external review. If the commissioner determines that the request meets specified requirements to be eligible for external review, the commissioner then assigns an independent review organization to conduct the external review.

A. (1) Within sixty (60) days after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Section 5 of this Act, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an external review with the commissioner.

(2) Upon receipt of a request for an external review pursuant to Paragraph (1), the commissioner immediately shall notify and send a copy of the request to the health carrier that made the adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the request.

B. Within five (5) days after the date of receipt of a request for an external review, the commissioner shall complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was provided;

(2) The health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination reasonably appears to be a covered service under the covered person's health benefit plan, but for a determination by the health carrier that the health care service is not covered because it does not meeting the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness;

(3) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to Section 7 of this Act; and

(4) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required by the commissioner that are necessary to process an external review, including the release form provided under Section 5B of this Act.

C. (1) Upon completion of the preliminary review pursuant to Subsection B, the commissioner immediately shall notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request has been accepted for external review.

(2) If the request is accepted for external review, the commissioner shall:

(a) Include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit to the commissioner in writing within seven (7) days following the date of the notice additional information and supporting documentation that the independent review organization shall consider when conducting the external review; and

(b) Immediately notify the health carrier in writing of the acceptance of the request for external review.

(3) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the commissioner shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not accepted for external review, the commissioner shall inform the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, and the health carrier in writing of the reasons for its nonacceptance.

D. (1) At the time a request for external review is accepted pursuant to Subsection C, the commissioner shall assign an independent review organization to conduct the external review that has been approved pursuant to Section 13 of this Act.

(2) In reaching a decision, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

E. (1) Within seven (7) days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to Subsection C(2), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization, the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) If the health carrier or its utilization review organization fails to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under Subparagraph (a), the independent review organization shall notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner.

F. (1) The assigned independent review organization shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to Subsection E and any other information submitted in writing by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection C(2) that has been forwarded to the independent review organization by the commissioner.

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection C(2), at the same time the commissioner forwards the information to the independent review organization, the commissioner shall forward the information to the health carrier.

G. (1) Upon receipt of the information required to be forwarded pursuant to Subsection F(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may only be terminated if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in Paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person , if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to Subparagraph (a).

H. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to Subsection E, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the documents or information is available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "medical necessity" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which may include generally accepted practice guidelines, evidence-based practice guidelines or any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations; and

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization.

I. (1) Within forty-five (45) days after the date of receipt of the request for external review, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written notice of its decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination to:

(a) The covered person;

(b) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(c) The health carrier; and

(d) The commissioner.

Drafting Note: States may want to consider requiring independent review organizations to identify in the notice provided to the commissioner under Subsection I(1) any problem contract or policy provisions, such as ambiguity, found during the conduct of the external review.

(2) The independent review organization shall include in the notice sent pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(c) The date the external review was conducted;

(d) The date of its decision;

(e) The principal reason or reasons for its decision;

(f) The rationale for its decision; and

(g) References to the evidence or documentation, including the practice guidelines, considered in reaching its decision.

(3) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

Option 3.

Drafting Note: Option 3 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to establish responsibility for the external review process with the health carrier and require that covered persons file requests for external review with the health carrier. This option also requires the health carrier to assign an independent review organization from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled by the commissioner to conduct a preliminary review of the request and conduct an external review of the request if the request has satisfied specified requirements to be eligible for external review.

A. (1) Within sixty (60) days after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Section 5 of this Act, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an external review with the health carrier.

(2) Upon receipt of a request for external review pursuant to Paragraph (1), the health carrier shall send a copy of the request to the commissioner.

B. At the time the health carrier receives a request for an external review, the health carrier shall assign an independent review organization from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to Section 12 of this Act to conduct a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was provided;

(2) The health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or the final adverse determination reasonably appears to be a covered service under the covered person's health benefit plan, but for a determination by the health carrier that the health care service is not covered because it does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness;

(3) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to Section 7 of this Act; and

(4) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required to process an external review, including the release form provided under Section 5B of this Act.

C. (1) Within five (5) days after receipt of the request for external review, the independent review organization assigned pursuant to Subsection B shall complete the preliminary review and immediately notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request has been accepted for external review.

(2) The assigned independent review organization shall include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit in writing to the independent review organization within seven (7) days following the date of receipt of the notice additional information and supporting documentation that the independent review organization shall consider when conducting the external review.

(3) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the assigned independent review organization shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not accepted for external review, the assigned independent review organization shall inform the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner in writing of the reasons for its nonacceptance.

D. (1) Whenever a request for external review is accepted for external review following the preliminary review conducted pursuant to Subsection C, the assigned independent review organization shall notify the health carrier and the commissioner.

(2) In reaching a decision, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review Model and Benefit Determination Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

E. (1) Within seven (7) days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to Section D(1), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) If the health carrier or its utilization review organization fails to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under Subparagraph (a), the independent review organization shall notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner.

F. (1) The assigned independent review organization shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to Subsection E and any other information submitted in writing to the independent review organization by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection C(2).

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection C(2), the assigned independent review organization immediately shall forward the information to the health carrier.

G. (1) Upon receipt of the information, if any, required to be forwarded pursuant to Subsection F(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may only be terminated if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in Paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person , if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to Subparagraph (a).

H. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to Subsection E, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "medical necessity" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which may include generally accepted practice guidelines, evidence-based practice guidelines or any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations; and

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization.

I. (1) Within forty-five (45) days after the date of receipt of the request for an external review, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written notice of its decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or the final adverse determination to:

(a) The covered person;

(b) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(c) The health carrier; and

(d) The commissioner.

Drafting Note: States may want to consider requiring independent review organizations to identify in the notice provided to the commissioner under Subsection I(1) any problem contract or policy provisions, such as ambiguity, found during the conduct of the external review.

(2) The independent review organization shall include in the notice sent pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the health carrier to conduct the preliminary review of the external review request;

(c) The date the external review was conducted, if appropriate;

(d) The date of its decision;

(e) The principal reason or reasons for its decision;

(f) The rationale for its decision; and

(g) References to the evidence or documentation, including the practice guidelines, considered in reaching its decision.

(3) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

J. The assignment by a health carrier of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be fair and impartial. The health carrier and the independent review organization shall comply with standards promulgated by the commissioner by regulation to ensure fairness and impartiality in the assignment by health carriers of approved independent review organizations to conduct external reviews, including its term, its termination and payment arrangement.

Section 9. Expedited External Review

Option 1.

Drafting Note: Option 1 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to establish the expedited external review process in the office of the commissioner and require covered persons make all requests for an expedited external review with the commissioner. This option requires the commissioner to assign the conduct of the expedited external review to an independent review organization if the request has met specified requirements to be eligible for an expedited external review. The assigned independent review organization is required to provide to the commissioner with a recommendation on whether to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

A. Except as provided in Subsection H, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an expedited external review with the commissioner at the time the covered person receives:

(1) An adverse determination if:

(a) The adverse determination involves a medical condition of the covered person for which the timeframe for completion of an expedited internal review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; and

(b) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has filed a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; or

(2) A final adverse determination:

(a) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to Section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(b) If the final adverse determination concerns an admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility.

B. At the time the commissioner receives a request for an expedited external review, the commissioner immediately shall:

(1) Notify and provide a copy of the request to the health carrier that made the adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the request; and

(2) For a request that the commissioner has determined meets the reviewability requirements set forth in Section 8B of this Act, assign an independent review organization that has been approved pursuant to Section 12 of this Act to conduct the expedited external review and provide a written recommendation to the commissioner on whether to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

C. In reaching a recommendation, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

D. At the time the health carrier receives the notice pursuant to Subsection B, the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

E. In addition to the documents and information provided or transmitted pursuant to Subsection D, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a recommendation:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which may include generally accepted practice guidelines, evidence-based practice guidelines or any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations; and

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization in making adverse determinations.

F. (1) The assigned independent review organization shall provide its recommendation to the commissioner as expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than forty-eight (48) hours after the date the commissioner received the request for an expedited external review pursuant to Subsection A.

(2) Upon receipt of the assigned independent review organization's recommendation pursuant to Paragraph (1), the commissioner immediately shall review the recommendation to ensure that it is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier.

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "medical necessity" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

G. (1) As expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than twenty-four (24) hours after receiving the recommendation of the assigned independent review organization as required pursuant to Subsection F, the commissioner shall complete the review of the independent review organization's recommendation and notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, and the health carrier of the decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(2) If the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) was not in writing, within two (2) days after the date of providing that notice, the commissioner shall:

(a) Provide written confirmation of the decision to the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, and the health carrier; and

(b) Include the information set forth in Section 8J(2) of this Act.

(3) Upon receipt of the notice a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

H. An expedited external review may not be provided for retrospective adverse or final adverse determinations.

Option 2.

Drafting Note: Option 2 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose not to review the external review decision of an independent review organization as in Option 1. Option 2 requires covered persons make all requests for an expedited external review with the commissioner. If the request has met specified requirements to be eligible for an expedited external review, the commissioner then immediately assigns an independent review organization to conduct the expedited external review.

A. Except as provided in Subsection G, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an expedited external review with the commissioner at the time the covered person receives:

(1) An adverse determination if:

(a) The adverse determination involves a medical condition of the covered person for which the timeframe for completion of an expedited internal review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; and

(b) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has filed a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; or

(2) A final adverse determination:

(a) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to Section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(b) If the final adverse determination concerns an admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility.

B. At the time the commissioner receives a request for an expedited external review, the commissioner immediately shall:

(1) Notify and provide a copy of the request to the health carrier that made the adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the request; and

(2) For a request that the commissioner has determined meets the reviewability requirements set forth in Section 8B of this Act, assign an independent review organization that has been approved pursuant to Section 13 of this Act to conduct the review and to make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

C. In reaching a decision, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

D. At the time the health carrier receives the notice pursuant to Subsection B, the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

E. In addition to the documents and information provided or transmitted pursuant to Subsection D, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "medical necessity" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which may include generally accepted practice guidelines, evidence-based practice guidelines or any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations; and

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization in making adverse determinations.

F. (1) As expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than seventy-two (72) hours after the date of receipt of the request for an expedited external review, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination; and

(b) Notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner of the decision.

(2) If the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) was not in writing, within two (2) days after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Provide written confirmation of the decision to the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner; and

(b) Include the information set forth in Section 8 I(2) of this Act.

(3) Upon receipt of the notice a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

G. An expedited external review may not be provided for retrospective adverse or final adverse determinations.

Option 3.

Drafting Note: Option 3 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to establish responsibility for the expedited external review process with the health carrier and require that covered persons file requests for an expedited external review with the health carrier. This option also requires the health carrier to assign an approved independent review organization to conduct an expedited external review of the request if the request has satisfied specified requirements to be eligible for an expedited external review.

A. Except as provided in Subsection F, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an expedited external review with the health carrier at the time the covered person receives:

(1) An adverse determination if:

(a) The adverse determination involves a medical condition of the covered person for which the timeframe for completion of an expedited internal review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; and

(b) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has filed a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in state law equivalent to Section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; or

(2) A final adverse determination:

(a) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to Section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(b) If the final adverse determination concerns an admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility.

B. (1) At the time the health carrier receives a request for an expedited external review, the health carrier immediately shall:

(a) Assign an independent review organization from the list compiled and maintained pursuant to Section 13 of this Act to determine whether the request meets the reviewability requirements set forth in Section 8B of this Act and conduct the external review if the request meets the reviewability requirements of Section 8B of this Act; and

(b) Send a copy of the request to the commissioner.

(2) In reaching a decision in accordance with Subsection E, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

C. At the time the health carrier assigns an independent review organization to conduct the expedited external review pursuant to Subsection B, the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

D. In addition to the documents and information provided or transmitted pursuant to Subsection C, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "medical necessity" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which may include generally accepted practice guidelines, evidence-based practice guidelines or any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations; and

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization in making adverse determinations.

E. (1) As expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than seventy-two (72) hours after the date of receipt of the request for an expedited external review that meets the reviewability requirements set forth in Section 8B of this Act, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination; and

(b) Notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner of the decision.

(2) If the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) was not in writing, within two (2) days after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Provide written confirmation of the decision to the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner; and

(b) Include the information set forth in Section 8I(2) of this Act.

(3) Upon receipt of the notice a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

F. An expedited external review may not be provided for retrospective adverse or final adverse determinations.

G. The assignment by a health carrier of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be fair and impartial. The health carrier and the independent review organization shall comply with standards promulgated by the commissioner by regulation to ensure fairness and impartiality in the assignment by health carriers of approved independent review organizations to conduct external reviews, including its term, its termination and payment arrangement.

Section 10. External Review of Experimental or Investigational Treatment Adverse Determinations

Option 1.

Drafting Note: Option 1 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to establish the external review process in the office of the commissioner and require that covered persons file all requests for external review with the commissioner. This option also provides that the commissioner will conduct a preliminary review of the request for external review to ensure that it meets all of the requirements to be eligible for external review. If the request for external review is determined to be eligible for external review, the commissioner is required to assign an independent review organization to conduct the external review. This option requires the assigned independent review organization to provide the commissioner with a written recommendation on whether to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination. The commissioner is required to review the recommendation to ensure that it is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan. After completion of the review, the commissioner is required to notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and the health carrier of the external review decision.

A. (1) Within sixty (60) days after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Section 5 of this Act that involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the health care service or treatment recommended or requested is experimental or investigational, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review with the commissioner.

(2) (a) A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make an oral request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) if the covered person's treating physician certifies, in writing, that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review that meets the reviewability requirements of Subsection C, the commissioner immediately shall assign an independent review organization as set forth in Subsection E to conduct the review.

B. (1) Upon receipt of a request for external review pursuant to Subsection A, the commissioner immediately shall notify and send a copy of the request to the health carrier that made the adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the request.

(2) For an expedited external review request made pursuant to Subsection A(2), at the time the health carrier receives the notice pursuant to Paragraph (1), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious manner.

C. Except for a request for an expedited external review made pursuant to Subsection A(2), within five (5) days after the date of receipt of a request for external review, the commissioner shall complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was recommended or requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was provided;

(2) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination:

(a) Reasonably appears to be a covered benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan except for the health carrier's determination that the service or treatment is experimental or investigational for a particular medical condition; and

(b) Is not explicitly listed as an excluded benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(3) The covered person's treating physician has certified that one of the following situations is applicable:

(a) Standard health care services or treatments have not been effective in improving the condition of the covered person;

(b) Standard health care services or treatments are not medically appropriate for the covered person; or

(c) There is no available standard health care service or treatment covered by the health carrier that is more beneficial than the recommended or requested health care service or treatment described in Paragraph (4);

(4) The covered person's treating physician:

(a) Has recommended a health care service or treatment that the physician certifies, in writing, is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person, in the physician's opinion, than any available standard health care services or treatments; or

(b) Who is a licensed, board certified or board eligible physician qualified to practice in the area of medicine appropriate to treat the covered person's condition, has certified in writing that scientifically valid studies using accepted protocols demonstrate that the health care service or treatment requested by the covered person that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments;

(5) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to Section 7 of this Act; and

(6) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required by the commissioner that are necessary to process an external review, including the release form provided under Section 5B of this Act.

D. (1) Upon completion of the preliminary review pursuant to Subsection C, the commissioner immediately shall notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request has been accepted for external review.

(2) If the request is accepted for external review, the commissioner shall:

(a) Include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit to the commissioner in writing within seven (7) days following the date of receipt of the notice additional information and supporting documentation that each clinical peer reviewer selected by the assigned independent review organization pursuant to Subsection E shall consider when conducting the external review; and

(b) Immediately notify the health carrier in writing of the acceptance of the request for external review.

(3) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the commissioner shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not accepted for external review, the commissioner shall inform the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the health carrier in writing of the reasons for its nonacceptance.

E. (1) At the time a request is accepted for external review pursuant to Subsection A(2) or Subsection D, the commissioner shall assign an independent review organization that has been approved pursuant to Section 13 of this Act that:

(a) Will be responsible for selecting one or more clinical peer reviewers, as it determines is appropriate, to conduct the external review; and

(b) Based on the opinion of the clinical peer reviewer, or opinions if more than one clinical peer reviewer has been selected to conduct the external review, shall provide a recommendation to the commissioner on whether to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) (a) Immediately upon assignment under Paragraph (1), the independent review organization shall select one or more clinical peer reviews to conduct the external review.

(b) In accordance with Subsection I, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide a written opinion to the independent review organization on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(3) (a) In selecting clinical peer reviewers pursuant to Paragraph (2)(a), the assigned independent review organization shall select physicians or other health care professionals who meet the minimum qualifications described in Section 14 of this Act and, through clinical experience in the past three (3) years, are experts in the treatment of the covered person's condition and knowledgeable about the recommended or requested health care service or treatment.

(b) Neither the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, nor the health carrier shall choose or control the choice of the physicians or other health care professionals to be selected to conduct the external review.

(4) In reaching an opinion, clinical peer reviewers are not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

F. (1) Within seven (7) days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to Subsection D(2), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization, the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) Upon receipt of a notice from the assigned independent review organization that the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization has failed to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1), the commissioner may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under Subparagraph (a), the commissioner shall notify the assigned independent review organization, the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the health carrier.

G. (1) Each clinical peer reviewer selected pursuant to Subsection E shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to Subsection F and any other information submitted in writing by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection D(2) that has been forwarded to the independent review organization by the commissioner.

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection D(2), at the same time the commissioner forwards the information to the independent review organization, the commissioner shall forward the information to the health carrier.

H. (1) Upon receipt of the information required to be forwarded pursuant to Subsection G(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may be terminated only if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in Paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative if applicable, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to Subparagraph (a).

I. (1) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), within twenty (20) days after being selected in accordance with Subsection E to conduct the external review, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide an opinion to the assigned independent review organization pursuant to Subsection J on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(2) Except for an opinion provided pursuant to Paragraph (3), each clinical peer reviewer's opinion shall be in writing and include the following information:

(a) A description of the covered person's medical condition;

(b) A description of the indicators relevant to determining whether there is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments;

(c) A description and analysis of any medical or scientific evidence, as that term is defined in Section 3X of this Act, considered in reaching the opinion; and

(d) Information on whether the reviewer's rationale for the opinion is based on Subsection J(4)(a) or (b).

(3) (a) For an expedited external review, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide an opinion orally or in writing to the assigned independent review organization within five (5) days after being selected in accordance with Subsection E.

(b) If the opinion provided in accordance with Subparagraph (a) was not in writing, within two (2) days following the date the opinion was provided, the clinical peer reviewer shall provide written confirmation of the opinion to the assigned independent review organization and include the information required under Paragraph (2).

J. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to Subsection B(2) or Subsection F, each clinical peer reviewer selected pursuant to Subsection E, to the extent the information or documents are available and the reviewer considers appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching an opinion pursuant to Subsection I:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending physician or health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating physician or health care professional; and

(4) Whether:

(a) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment has been approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration for the condition; or

(b) Medical or scientific evidence demonstrates that the expected benefits of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care service or treatment and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments.

K. (1) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b), within ten (10) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical peer reviewer pursuant to Subsection I, the assigned independent review organization shall, in accordance with Paragraph (2), make a recommendation and provide written notice of the recommendation to the commissioner.

(b) (i) For an expedited external review, within two (2) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical peer reviewer pursuant to Subsection I, the assigned independent review organization shall, in accordance with Paragraph (2), make a recommendation and provide notice of the recommendation orally or in writing to the commissioner.

(ii) If the recommendation provided under Item (i) was not in writing, within two (2) days after the date of providing the recommendation, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written confirmation of the recommendation to the commissioner and include the information set forth in Paragraph (3).

(2) (a) If a majority of the clinical peer reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall recommend to the commissioner that the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination be reversed.

(b) If a majority of the clinical peer reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should not be covered, the independent review organization shall recommend to the commissioner that the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination be upheld.

(c) (i) If the clinical peer reviewers are evenly split as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall obtain the opinion of an additional clinical peer reviewer in order for the independent review organization to make a recommendation to the commissioner based on the opinions of a majority of the clinical peer reviewers pursuant to Subparagraph (a) or (b).

(ii) The additional clinical peer reviewer selected under Item (i) shall use the same information to reach an opinion as the clinical peer reviewers who have already submitted their opinions pursuant to Subsection I.

(iii) The selection of the additional clinical peer reviewer under this subparagraph shall not extend the time within which the assigned independent review organization is required to make a recommendation to the commissioner based on the opinions of the clinical peer reviewers selected under Subsection E pursuant to Paragraph (1).

(3) The independent review organization shall include in the recommendation provided pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The written opinion of each clinical peer reviewer, including the recommendation of each clinical peer reviewer as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered and the rationale for the reviewer's recommendation;

(c) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(d) The date the external review was conducted;

(e) The date of its recommendation;

(f) The principal reason or reasons for its recommendation; and

(g) The rationale for its recommendation.

(4) Upon receipt of the assigned independent review organization's recommendation pursuant to Paragraph (1), the commissioner immediately shall review the recommendation to ensure that, but for the health carrier's determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the recommendation is experimental or investigational, the recommendation is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier.

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "experimental" or "investigational" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

L. (1) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b), within ten (10) days after the date of receipt of the assigned independent review organization's recommendation provided pursuant to Subsection K, the commissioner shall complete the review and notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the health carrier in writing of the decision.

(b) For an expedited external review, within two (2) days after the date of receipt of the assigned independent review organization's recommendation provided pursuant to Subsection K, the commissioner shall complete the review and orally or in writing notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the health carrier of the decision.

(2) The commissioner shall include in a written notice sent pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) The principal reason or reasons for the decision, including, as an attachment to the notice or in any other manner the commissioner considers appropriate, the information provided by the assigned independent review organization in regard to its recommendation pursuant to Subsection K; and

(b) If appropriate, the principal reason or reasons why the commissioner did not follow the assigned independent review organization's recommendation.

(3) If the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1)(b) was not in writing, within two (2) days after the date of providing that notice, the commissioner shall:

(a) Provide written confirmation of the decision to the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, and the health carrier; and

(b) Include the information set forth in Paragraph (2).

(4) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve coverage of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

Option 2.

Drafting Note: Option 2 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose not to review the external review decision of an independent review organization as in Option 1. Option 2 requires covered persons to file all requests for external review with the commissioner. The commissioner then conducts a preliminary review of the request for external review to ensure that it meets all of the requirements to be eligible for external review. If the commissioner determines that the request meets specified requirements to be eligible for external review, the commissioner then assigns an independent review organization to conduct the external review.

A. (1) Within sixty (60) days after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Section 5 of this Act that involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the health care service or treatment recommended or requested is experimental or investigational, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review with the commissioner.

(2) (a) A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make an oral request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) if the covered person's treating physician certifies, in writing, that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review that meets the reviewability requirements of Subsection C, the commissioner immediately shall assign an independent review organization as set forth in Subsection E to conduct the review.

B. (1) Upon receipt of a request for external review pursuant to Subsection A, the commissioner immediately shall notify and send a copy of the request to the health carrier that made the adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the request.

(2) For an expedited external review request made pursuant to Subsection A(2), at the time the health carrier receives the notice pursuant to Paragraph (1), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious manner.

C. Except for a request for an expedited external review made pursuant to Subsection A(2), within five (5) days after the date of receipt of a request for external review, the commissioner shall complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was recommended or requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was provided;

(2) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination:

(a) Reasonably appears to be a covered benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan except for the health carrier's determination that the service or treatment is experimental or investigational for a particular medical condition; and

(b) Is not explicitly listed as an excluded benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(3) The covered person's treating physician has certified that one of the following situations is applicable:

(a) Standard health care services or treatments have not been effective in improving the condition of the covered person;

(b) Standard health care services or treatments are not medically appropriate for the covered person; or

(c) There is no available standard health care service or treatment covered by the health carrier that is more beneficial than the recommended or requested health care service or treatment described in Paragraph (4);

(4) The covered person's treating physician:

(a) Has recommended a health care service or treatment that the physician certifies, in writing, is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person, in the physician's opinion, than any available standard health care services or treatments; or

(b) Who is a licensed, board certified or board eligible physician qualified to practice in the area of medicine appropriate to treat the covered person's condition, has certified in writing that scientifically valid studies using accepted protocols demonstrate that the health care service or treatment requested by the covered person that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments;

(5) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to Section 7 of this Act; and

(6) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required by the commissioner that are necessary to process an external review, including the release form provided under Section 5B of this Act.

D. (1) Upon completion of the preliminary review pursuant to Subsection C, the commissioner immediately shall notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request has been accepted for external review.

(2) If the request is accepted for external review, the commissioner shall:

(a) Include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit to the commissioner in writing within seven (7) days following the date of receipt of the notice additional information and supporting documentation that each clinical peer reviewer selected by the assigned independent review organization pursuant to Subsection E shall consider when conducting the external review; and

(b) Immediately notify the health carrier in writing of the acceptance of the request for external review.

(3) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the commissioner shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not accepted for external review, the commissioner shall inform the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the health carrier in writing of the reasons for its nonacceptance.

E. (1) At the time a request is accepted for external review pursuant to Subsection A(2) or Subsection D, the commissioner shall assign an independent review organization that has been approved pursuant to Section 13 of this Act that:

(a) Will be responsible for selecting one or more clinical peer reviewers, as it determines is appropriate, to conduct the external review; and

(b) Based on the opinion of the clinical peer reviewer, or opinions if more than one clinical peer reviewer has been selected to conduct the external review, shall make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(2) (a) Immediately upon assignment under Paragraph (1), the independent review organization shall select one or more clinical peer reviewers to conduct the external review.

(b) In accordance with Subsection I, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide a written opinion to the independent review organization on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(3) (a) In selecting clinical peer reviewers pursuant to Paragraph (2)(a), the assigned independent review organization shall select physicians or other health care professionals who meet the minimum qualifications described in Section 14 of this Act and, through clinical experience in the past three (3) years, are experts in the treatment of the covered person's condition and knowledgeable about the recommended or requested health care service or treatment.

(b) Neither the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, nor the health carrier shall choose or control the choice of the physicians or other health care professionals to be selected to conduct the external review.

(4) In reaching an opinion, clinical peer reviewers are not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

F. (1) Within seven (7) days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to Subsection D(2), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization, the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) Upon receipt of a notice from the assigned independent review organization that the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization has failed to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1), the commissioner may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under Subparagraph (a), the commissioner shall notify the assigned independent review organization, the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the health carrier.

G. (1) Each clinical peer reviewer selected pursuant to Subsection E shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to Subsection F and any other information submitted in writing by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection D(2) that has been forwarded to the independent review organization by the commissioner.

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection D(2), at the same time the commissioner forwards the information to the independent review organization, the commissioner shall forward the information to the health carrier.

H. (1) Upon receipt of the information required to be forwarded pursuant to Subsection G(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may be terminated only if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in Paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative if applicable, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to Subparagraph (a).

I. (1) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), within twenty (20) days after being selected in accordance with Subsection E to conduct the external review, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide an opinion to the assigned independent review organization pursuant to Subsection J on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(2) Except for an opinion provided pursuant to Paragraph (3), each clinical peer reviewer's opinion shall be in writing and include the following information:

(a) A description of the covered person's medical condition;

(b) A description of the indicators relevant to determining whether there is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments;

(c) A description and analysis of any medical or scientific evidence, as that term is defined in Section 3X of this Act, considered in reaching the opinion; and

(d) Information on whether the reviewer's rationale for the opinion is based on Subsection J(5)(a) or (b).

(3) (a) For an expedited external review, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide an opinion orally or in writing to the assigned independent review organization within five (5) days after being selected in accordance with Subsection E.

(b) If the opinion provided in accordance with Subparagraph (a) was not in writing, within two (2) days following the date the opinion was provided, the clinical peer reviewer shall provide written confirmation of the opinion to the assigned independent review organization and include the information required under Paragraph (2).

J. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to Subsection B(2) or Subsection F, each clinical peer reviewer selected pursuant to Subsection E, to the extent the information or documents are available and the reviewer considers appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching an opinion pursuant to Subsection I:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending physician or health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating physician or health care professional;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that, but for the health carrier's determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the opinion is experimental or investigational, the reviewer's opinion is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier; and

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "experimental" or "investigational" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

(5) Whether:

(a) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment has been approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration for the condition; or

(b) Medical or scientific evidence demonstrates that the expected benefits of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care service or treatment and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments.

K. (1) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b), within twenty (20) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical peer reviewer pursuant to Subsection I, the assigned independent review organization shall, in accordance with Paragraph (2), make a decision and provide written notice of the decision to:

(i) The covered person;

(ii) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(iii) The health carrier; and

(iv) The commissioner.

(b) (i) For an expedited external review, within two (2) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical peer reviewer pursuant to Subsection I, the assigned independent review organization shall, in accordance with Paragraph (2), make a decision and provide notice of the decision orally or in writing to the persons listed in Subparagraph (a).

(ii) If the notice provided under Item (i) was not in writing, within two (2) days after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written confirmation of the decision to the persons listed in Subparagraph (a) and include the information set forth in Paragraph (3).

Drafting Note: States may want to consider requiring independent review organizations to identify in the notice provided to commissioner under Subsection K(1) any problem contract or policy provisions, such as ambiguity, found during the conduct of the external review.

(2) (a) If a majority of the clinical peer reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to reverse the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) If a majority of the clinical peer reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should not be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to uphold the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(c) (i) If the clinical peer reviewers are evenly split as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall obtain the opinion of an additional clinical peer reviewer in order for the independent review organization to make a decision based on the opinions of a majority of the clinical peer reviewers pursuant to Subparagraph (a) or (b).

(ii) The additional clinical peer reviewer selected under Item (i) shall use the same information to reach an opinion as the clinical peer reviewers who have already submitted their opinions pursuant to Subsection I.

(iii) The selection of the additional clinical peer reviewer under this subparagraph shall not extend the time within which the assigned independent review organization is required to make a decision based on the opinions of the clinical peer reviewers selected under Subsection E pursuant to Paragraph (1).

(3) The independent review organization shall include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The written opinion of each clinical peer reviewer, including the recommendation of each clinical peer reviewer as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered and the rationale for the reviewer's recommendation;

(c) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(d) The date the external review was conducted;

(e) The date of its decision;

(f) The principal reason or reasons for its decision; and

(g) The rationale for its decision.

(4) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve coverage of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

Option 3.

Drafting Note: Option 3 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to establish responsibility for the external review process with the health carrier and require that covered persons file requests for external review with the health carrier. This option also requires the health carrier to assign an independent review organization from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled by the commissioner to conduct a preliminary review of the request and conduct an external review of the request if the request has satisfied specified requirements to be eligible for external review.

A. (1) Within sixty (60) days after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Section 5 of this Act that involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the health care service or treatment recommended or requested is experimental or investigational, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review with the health carrier.

(2) (a) A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make an oral request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) if the covered person's treating physician certifies, in writing, that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review, the health carrier immediately shall assign an independent review organization from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to Section 13 of this Act to determine whether the request meets the reviewability requirements of Subsection C and, if the request meets those requirements, conduct the review pursuant to Subsection E.

(c) At the time the health carrier assigns an independent review organization to review the request and, if appropriate, conduct the expedited external review pursuant to Subparagraph (b), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

B. Upon receipt of a request for external review under Subsection A, the health carrier shall send a copy of the request to the commissioner.

C. Except for a request for an expedited external review made pursuant to Subsection A(2), at the time the health carrier receives a request for an external review, the health carrier shall assign an independent review organization from the list of approved independent review organizations complied and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to Section 13 of this Act to conduct a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was recommended or requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was provided;

(2) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination:

(a) Reasonably appears to be a covered benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan except for the health carrier's determination that the service or treatment is experimental or investigational for a particular medical condition; and

(b) Is not explicitly listed as an excluded benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(3) The covered person's treating physician has certified that one of the following situations is applicable:

(a) Standard health care services or treatments have not been effective in improving the condition of the covered person;

(b) Standard health care services or treatments are not medically appropriate for the covered person; or

(c) There is no available standard health care service or treatment covered by the health carrier that is more beneficial than the recommended or requested health care service or treatment described in Paragraph (4);

(4) The covered person's treating physician:

(a) Has recommended a health care service or treatment that the physician certifies, in writing, is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person, in the physician's opinion, than any available standard health care services or treatments; or

(b) Who is a licensed, board certified or board eligible physician qualified to practice in the area of medicine appropriate to treat the covered person's condition, has certified in writing that scientifically valid studies using accepted protocols demonstrate that the health care service or treatment requested by the covered person that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments;

(5) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to Section 7 of this Act; and

(6) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required by the commissioner that are necessary to process an external review, including the release form provided under Section 5B of this Act.

D. (1) Within five (5) days after receipt of the request for external review, the independent review organization assigned pursuant to Subsection C shall complete the preliminary review and immediately notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request has been accepted for external review.

(2) The assigned independent review organization shall include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1) a statement that the covered person or, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative may submit in writing to the independent review organization within seven (7) days following the date of receipt of the notice additional information and supporting documentation that each clinical peer reviewer selected by the assigned independent review organization pursuant to Subsection E shall consider when conducting the external review.

(3) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the assigned independent review organization shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not accepted for external review, the assigned independent review organization shall inform the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, the health carrier, and the commissioner in writing of the reasons for its nonacceptance.

(4) Whenever a request for external review is accepted for external review, the assigned independent review organization shall notify the health carrier and the commissioner.

E. (1) At the time a request is accepted for external review pursuant to Subsection A(2) or Subsection D(1), the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Immediately select one or more clinical peer reviewers, as it determines is appropriate, pursuant to Paragraph (2) to conduct the external review; and

(b) Based on the opinion of the clinical peer reviewer, or opinions if more than one clinical peer reviewer has been selected to conduct the external review, make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(2) (a) In selecting clinical peer reviewers pursuant to Paragraph (1)(a), the assigned independent review organization shall select physicians or other health care professionals who meet the minimum qualifications described in Section 14 of this Act and, through clinical experience in the past three (3) years, are experts in the treatment of the covered person's condition and knowledgeable about the recommended or requested health care service or treatment.

(b) Neither the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, nor the health carrier shall choose or control the choice of the physicians or other health care professionals to be selected to conduct the external review.

(3) In accordance with Subsection I, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide a written opinion to the assigned independent review organization on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(4) In reaching an opinion, clinical peer reviewers are not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to state law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

F. (1) Within seven (7) days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to Subsection D(4), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization, the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) If the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization has failed to provide the documents and information within the time specified in Paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under Subparagraph (a), the independent review organization shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, the health carrier, and the commissioner.

G. (1) Each clinical peer reviewer selected pursuant to Subsection E shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to Subsection F and any other information submitted in writing by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection D(2).

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to Subsection D(2), at the assigned independent review organization immediately shall forward the information to the health carrier.

H. (1) Upon receipt of the information required to be forwarded pursuant to Subsection G(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to Paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may terminated only if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in Paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative if applicable, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to Subparagraph (a).

I. (1) Except as provided in Paragraph (3), within twenty (20) days after being selected in accordance with Subsection E to conduct the external review, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide an opinion to the assigned independent review organization pursuant to Subsection J on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(2) Except for an opinion provided pursuant to Paragraph (3), each clinical peer reviewer's opinion shall be in writing and include the following information:

(a) A description of the covered person's medical condition;

(b) A description of the indicators relevant to determining whether there is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments;

(c) A description and analysis of any medical or scientific evidence, as that term is defined in Section 3X of this Act, considered in reaching the opinion; and

(d) Information on whether the reviewer's rationale for the opinion is based on Subsection J(5)(a) or (b).

(3) (a) For an expedited external review, each clinical peer reviewer shall provide an opinion orally or in writing to the assigned independent review organization within five (5) days after being selected in accordance with Subsection E.

(b) If the opinion provided pursuant to Subparagraph (a) was not in writing, within two (2) days following the date the opinion was provided, the clinical peer reviewer shall provide written confirmation of the opinion to the assigned independent review organization and include the information required under Paragraph (2).

J. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to Subsection A(2) or Subsection F, each clinical peer reviewer selected pursuant to Subsection E, to the extent the information or documents are available and the reviewer considers appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching an opinion pursuant to Subsection I:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending physician or health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating physician or health care professional;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that, but for the health carrier's determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the opinion is experimental or investigational, the reviewer's opinion is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier; and

Drafting Note: When reviewing health benefit plan policy or contract language describing the terms of coverage under the plan, states may wish to pay particular attention to language that defines "experimental" or "investigational" because of the effect of such a definition on the rights of covered persons to receive benefits under the health benefit plan.

(5) Whether:

(a) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment has been approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration for the condition; or

(b) Medical or scientific evidence demonstrates that the expected benefits of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care service or treatment and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments.

K. (1) (a) Except as provided in Subparagraph (b), within twenty (20) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical peer reviewer pursuant to Subsection I, the assigned independent review organization, in accordance with Paragraph (2), shall make a decision and provide written notice of the decision to:

(i) The covered person;

(ii) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(iii) The health carrier; and

(iv) The commissioner.

(b) (i) For an expedited external review, within two (2) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical peer reviewer pursuant to Subsection I, the assigned independent review organization, in accordance with Paragraph (2), shall make a decision and provide notice of the decision orally or in writing to the persons listed in Subparagraph (a).

(ii) If the notice provided under Item (i) was not in writing, within two (2) days after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written confirmation of the decision to the persons listed in Subparagraph (a) and include the information set forth in Paragraph (3).

Drafting Note: States may want to consider requiring independent review organizations to identify in the notice provided to commissioner under Subsection K(1) any problem contract or policy provisions, such as ambiguity, found during the conduct of the external review.

(2) (a) If a majority of the clinical peer reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to reverse the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) If a majority of the clinical peer reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should not be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to uphold the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(c) (i) If the clinical peer reviewers are evenly split as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall obtain the opinion of an additional clinical peer reviewer in order for the independent review organization to make a decision based on the opinions of a majority of the clinical peer reviewers pursuant to Subparagraph (a) or (b).

(ii) The additional clinical peer reviewer selected under Item (i) shall use the same information to reach an opinion as the clinical peer reviewers who have already submitted their opinions pursuant to Subsection I.

(iii) The selection of the additional clinical peer reviewer under this subparagraph shall not extend the time within which the assigned independent review organization is required to make a decision based on the opinions of the clinical peer reviewers selected under Subsection E pursuant to Paragraph (1).

(3) The independent review organization shall include in the notice provided pursuant to Paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The written opinion of each clinical peer reviewer, including the recommendation of each clinical peer reviewer as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered and the rationale for the reviewer's recommendation;

(c) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the health carrier to conduct the preliminary review of the external review request;

(d) The date the external review was conducted, if appropriate;

(e) The date of its decision;

(f) The principal reason or reasons for its decision; and

(g) The rationale for its decision.

(4) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to Paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve coverage of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

L. The assignment by a health carrier of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be fair and impartial. The health carrier and the independent review organization shall comply with standards promulgated by the commissioner by regulation to ensure fairness and impartiality in the assignment by health carriers of approved independent review organizations to conduct external reviews, including its term, its termination and payment arrangement.

Section 11. Binding Nature of External Review Decision

Option 1.

Drafting Note: Option 1 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to follow Option 1 for Sections 8 and 9 of this Act in establishing their external review processes where the commissioner makes the external review decision.

A. An external review decision is binding on the health carrier except to the extent the health carrier has other remedies available under applicable state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to review their administrative procedure rules to see how they impact this section. In their review, states should pay particular attention to whether health carriers have a right to an automatic stay for any departmental decision, including an external review decision.

B. An external review decision is binding on the covered person except to the extent the covered person has other remedies available under applicable federal or state law.

C. A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may not file a subsequent request for external review involving the same adverse determination or final adverse determination for which the covered person has already received an external review decision pursuant to this Act.

Option 2.

Drafting Note: Option 2 for this section of this Act applies to states that choose to follow Option 2 or Option 3 for Sections 8 and 9 of this Act in establishing their external review processes where the independent review organization makes the external review decision.

A. An external review decision is binding on the health carrier.

B. An external review decision is binding on the covered person except to the extent the covered person has other remedies available under applicable federal or state law.

C. A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may not file a subsequent request for external review involving the same adverse determination or final adverse determination for which the covered person has already received an external review decision pursuant to this Act.

Drafting Note: Regardless of whether a state uses Option 1 or Option 2 for this section of this Act, states may wish to add a provision that specifies whether an external review decision made in accordance with this Act is subject to the state's Administrative Procedure Act.

Section 12. Filing Fees (Optional)

A. Except in the case of a request for an expedited external review, at the time of filing a request for external review, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative shall submit to the commissioner with the request a filing fee of [$25].

B. The commissioner may waive the filing fee upon a showing of undue financial hardship.

C. The filing fee shall be refunded to the person who paid the fee if the external review results in the reversal of the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination that was the subject of the external review.

Drafting Note: This section is optional. Many states do not require filing fees for external reviews.

Section 13. Approval of Independent Review Organizations

A. The commissioner shall approve independent review organizations eligible to be assigned to conduct external reviews under this Act to ensure that an independent review organization satisfies the minimum qualifications established under Section 14 of this Act.

B. The commissioner shall develop an application form for initially approving and for reapproving independent review organizations to conduct external reviews.

C. (1) Any independent review organization wishing to be approved to conduct external reviews under this Act shall submit the application form and include with the form all documentation and information necessary for the commissioner to determine if the independent review organization satisfies the minimum qualifications established under Section 14 of this Act.

(2) The commissioner may charge an application fee that independent review organizations shall submit to the commissioner with an application for approval and reapproval.

D. (1) An approval is effective for two (2) years, unless the commissioner determines before expiration of the approval that the independent review organization is not satisfying the minimum qualifications established under Section 14 of this Act.

(2) Whenever the commissioner determines that an independent review organization no longer satisfies the minimum requirements established under Section 14 of this Act, the commissioner shall terminate the approval of the independent review organization and remove the independent review organization from the list of independent review organizations approved to conduct external reviews under this Act that is maintained by the commissioner pursuant to Subsection E.

E. The commissioner shall maintain and periodically update a list of approved independent review organizations.

F. The commissioner may promulgate regulations to carry out the provisions of this section.

Drafting Note: Instead of requiring the commissioner to approve independent review organizations, states may wish to consider accreditation by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity with established and maintained standards for independent review organizations that meet the minimum qualifications established pursuant to Section 14 of this Act. Under such an approach, the accrediting entity will make available to the state its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards for independent review organizations meet or exceed the minimum qualifications established pursuant to Section 14 of this Act. The private accrediting entity shall file or provide the state with documentation that an independent review organization has been accredited by the entity. An independent review organization accredited by the private accrediting entity then would be deemed to have met the requirements of this section and Section 14 of this Act except for the requirement that the independent review organization maintain the information required under Section 16 of this Act. States should periodically review an independent review organization's private accreditation and eligibility for deemed compliance. Also, states may wish to consider utilizing a mechanism for monitoring the performance of an independent review organization, such as a peer review organization.

Section 14. Minimum Qualifications for Independent Review Organizations

A. To be approved under Section 13 of this Act to conduct external reviews, an independent review organization shall have and maintain written policies and procedures that govern all aspects of both the standard external review process and the expedited external review process set forth in Sections 8 and 9 of this Act that include, at a minimum:

(1) A quality assurance mechanism in place that:

(a) Ensures that external reviews are conducted within the specified time frames and required notices are provided in a timely manner;

(b) Ensures the selection of qualified and impartial clinical peer reviewers to conduct external reviews on behalf of the independent review organization and suitable matching of reviewers to specific cases;

(c) Ensures the confidentiality of medical and treatment records and clinical review criteria; and

(d) Ensures that any person employed by or under contract with the independent review organization adheres to the requirements of this Act;

(2) A toll-free telephone service to receive information on a 24-hour-day, 7-day-a-week basis related to external reviews that is capable of accepting, recording or providing appropriate instruction to incoming telephone callers during other than normal business hours; and Drafting Note: Paragraph (2) may not be necessary if the office of the commissioner is involved in the external review process. In such a case, the commissioner should maintain a toll-free telephone number for this purpose.

(3) Agree to maintain and provide to the commissioner the information set out in Section 16 of this Act.

B. All clinical peer reviewers assigned by an independent review organization to conduct external reviews shall be physicians or other appropriate health care providers who meet the following minimum qualifications:

(1) Be an expert in the treatment of the covered person's medical condition that is the subject of the external review;

(2) Be knowledgeable about the recommended health care service or treatment through recent or current actual clinical experience treating patients with the same or similar medical condition of the covered person;

(3) Hold a non-restricted license in a state of the United States and, for physicians, a current certification by a recognized American medical specialty board in the area or areas appropriate to the subject of the external review; and

(4) Have no history of disciplinary actions or sanctions, including loss of staff privileges or participation restrictions, that have been taken or are pending by any hospital, governmental agency or unit, or regulatory body that raise a substantial question as to the clinical peer reviewer's physical, mental or professional competence or moral character.

C. In addition to the requirements set forth in Subsection A, an independent review organization may not own or control, be a subsidiary of or in any way be owned or controlled by, or exercise control with a health benefit plan, a national, state or local trade association of health benefit plans, or a national, state or local trade association of health care providers.

D. (1) In addition to the requirements set forth in Subsections A, B and C, to be approved pursuant to Section 13 of this Act to conduct an external review of a specified case, neither the independent review organization selected to conduct the external review nor any clinical peer reviewer assigned by the independent organization to conduct the external review may have a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest with any of the following:

(a) The health carrier that is the subject of the external review;

(b) The covered person whose treatment is the subject of the external review or the covered person's authorized representative;

(c) Any officer, director or management employee of the health carrier that is the subject of the external review;

(d) The health care provider, the health care provider's medical group or independent practice association recommending the health care service or treatment that is the subject of the external review;

(e) The facility at which the recommended health care service or treatment would be provided; or

(f) The developer or manufacturer of the principal drug, device, procedure or other therapy being recommended for the covered person whose treatment is the subject of the external review.

(2) In determining whether an independent review organization or a clinical peer reviewer of the independent review organization has a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest for purposes of Paragraph (1), the commissioner shall take into consideration situations where the independent review organization to be assigned to conduct an external review of a specified case or a clinical peer reviewer to be assigned by the independent review organization to conduct an external review of a specified case may have an apparent professional, familial or financial relationship or connection with a person described in Paragraph (1), but that the characteristics of that relationship or connection are such that they are not a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest that results in the disapproval of the independent review organization or the clinical peer reviewer from conducting the external review.

Drafting Note: In applying Subsection D, states should be aware that conflict of interest questions involving independent review organizations and clinical peer reviewers might arise in a variety of situations. For example, conflict of interest questions may arise when a health care provider, including a physician or other health care professional, who is a clinical peer reviewer for an independent review organization or an academic medical center, or other similar medical research center, which is seeking to be an approved independent review organization, has a contract to provide health care services to enrollees of the health carrier that is the subject of an external review or when a health care provider, including a physician or other health care professional, who is a clinical peer reviewer for an independent review organization, has staff privileges at the facility where the recommended health care service or treatment would be provided if the health carrier's adverse or final adverse determination is reversed. The question for states to consider is whether a relationship or connection with persons involved in an external review is a material conflict of interest such that the objectivity of the independent review organization to be assigned to conduct the external review or any clinical peer reviewer to be assigned by the independent review organization to conduct the external review may actually be or may perceived to be negatively impacted. Whether the relationship or connection is a material conflict of interest will depend on the characteristics of each state's market. Therefore, states should consider adding provisions to this section that provide additional guidelines or procedures to address this issue given their local market characteristics.

Section 15. Hold Harmless for Independent Review Organizations

No independent review organization or clinical peer reviewer working on behalf of an independent review organization shall be liable in damages to any person for any opinions rendered during or upon completion of an external review conducted pursuant to this Act, unless the opinion was rendered in bad faith or involved gross negligence.

Section 16. External Review Reporting Requirements

A. (1) An independent review organization assigned pursuant to Section 8 or Section 9 of this Act to conduct an external review shall maintain written records in the aggregate and by health carrier on all requests for external review for which it conducted an external review during a calendar year and submit a report to the commissioner, as required under Paragraph (2).

(2) Each independent review organization required to maintain written records on all requests for external review pursuant to Paragraph (1) for which it was assigned to conduct an external review shall submit to the commissioner, at least annually, a report in the format specified by the commissioner.

(3) The report shall include in the aggregate and for each health carrier:

(a) The total number of requests for external review;

(b) The number of requests for external review resolved and, of those resolved, the number resolved upholding the adverse determination or final adverse determination and the number resolved reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination;

(c) The average length of time for resolution;

(d) A summary of the types of coverages or cases for which an external review was sought, as provided in the format required by the commissioner;

(e) The number of external reviews pursuant to Section 8G of this Act that were terminated as the result of a reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination after the receipt of additional information from the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative; and

(f) Any other information the commissioner may request or require.

(4) The independent review organization shall retain the written records required pursuant to this subsection for at least three (3) years.

B. (1) Each health carrier shall maintain written records in the aggregate and for each type of health benefit plan offered by the health carrier on all requests for external review that are filed with the health carrier or that the health carrier receives notice of from the commissioner pursuant to this Act.

(2) Each health carrier required to maintain written records on all requests for external review pursuant to Paragraph (1) shall submit to the commissioner, at least annually, a report in the format specified by the commissioner.

(3) The report shall include in the aggregate and by type of health benefit plan:

(a) The total number of requests for external review;

(b) From the number of requests for external review that are filed directly with the health carrier, the number of requests accepted for a full external review;

(c) The number of requests for external review resolved and, of those resolved, the number resolved upholding the adverse determination or final adverse determination and the number resolved reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination;

(d) The average length of time for resolution;

(e) A summary of the types of coverages or cases for which an external review was sought, as provided in the format required by the commissioner;

(f) The number of external reviews pursuant to Section 8G of this Act that were terminated as the result of a reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination after the receipt of additional information from the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative; and

(g) Any other information the commissioner may request or require.

(4) The health carrier shall retain the written records required pursuant to this subsection for at least three (3) years.

Section 17. Funding of External Review

The health carrier against which a request for a standard external review or an expedited external review is filed shall pay the cost of the independent review organization for conducting the external review.

Section 18. Disclosure Requirements

A. Each health carrier shall include a description of the external review procedures in or attached to the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage it provides to covered persons.

B. The description required under Subsection A shall include a statement that informs the covered person of the right of the covered person to file a request for an external review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination with the commissioner. The statement may explain that external review is available when the adverse determination or final adverse determination involves an issue of medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness. The statement shall include the telephone number and address of the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States that have not established an external review process in the office of the commissioner, such as those states that adopt Option 3 in Sections 8 and 9 of this Act, may wish to use the following provision in Subsection B: "The description required under Subsection A shall include a statement of the right of the covered person to contact the commissioner for assistance at any time. The statement shall include the telephone number and address of the commissioner."

C. In addition to Subsection B, the statement shall inform the covered person that, when filing a request for an external review, the covered person will be required to authorize the release of any medical records of the covered person that may be required to be reviewed for the purpose of reaching a decision on the external review.

Section 19. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 20. Penalties

A violation of this Act shall [insert appropriate administrative penalty from state law].

Section 21. Separability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 22. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

HEALTH CARRIER EXTERNAL REVIEW MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2004

HEALTH CARRIER EXTERNAL REVIEW MODEL ACT (#75)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

The revisions to this model clarify the scope of the model so that it is consistent with its original intent to permit external review only for adverse determinations involving an issue of medical necessity. These clarifying revisions were necessary in light of the recent revisions made to the Utilization Review and Health Carrier Grievance Procedure model acts.

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model:

Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force

States Participating:

Wisconsin, Chair
California	Nebraska
Delaware	New Hampshire
District of Columbia	New Mexico
Hawaii	North Carolina
Idaho	Oklahoma
Illinois	Oregon
Iowa	South Dakota
Kansas	Vermont
Louisiana	Virginia
Mississippi	West Virginia

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge given in January 2003:

Revise the External Review Model Act to account for the amendments made to the Utilization Review and Health Carrier Grievance Procedure model acts. Report by Winter 2003 National Meeting.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The revisions, and comments received on them, were reviewed and discussed by the task force.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

The draft of the proposed revisions to the model were circulated to interested parties and posted on the NAIC website. Interested parties were given the opportunity to submit comments. The task force reviewed and considered all comments received.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the due process and the group's response.

The only controversial issue that was raised was whether certain definitions in this model that are also used in the Utilization Review and Grievance Procedure model acts, particularly the definition of "adverse determination," should be revised in the same manner as in those models. Industry expressed a concern that revising the definitions to conform would cause the scope of this model to be broadened beyond its original intent despite other revised language in this model that would narrow that scope. After discussion, the task force agreed to a compromise. It decided not to revise the definitions to mirror those same terms that are used in the Utilization Review and Grievance Procedure model acts. However, it would retain the revised language in the substantive provisions of this model to ensure that full external reviews are provided only for those requests that involve a question of medical necessity. This revision is consistent with the original intent of this model.

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

UNIFORM HEALTH CARRIER EXTERNAL REVIEW MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Act.

Drafting Note: In some States existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act as a regulation. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as a regulation.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this Act is to provide uniform standards for the establishment and maintenance of external review procedures to assure that covered persons have the opportunity for an independent review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination, as defined in this Act.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Adverse determination" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that an admission, availability of care, continued stay or other health care service that is a covered benefit has been reviewed and, based upon the information provided, does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness, and the requested service or payment for the service is therefore denied, reduced or terminated.

B. "Ambulatory review" means utilization review of health care services performed or provided in an outpatient setting.

C. "Authorized representative" means:

(1) A person to whom a covered person has given express written consent to represent the covered person in an external review;

(2) A person authorized by law to provide substituted consent for a covered person; or

(3) A family member of the covered person or the covered person's treating health care professional only when the covered person is unable to provide consent.

D. "Best evidence" means evidence based on:

(1) Randomized clinical trials;

(2) If randomized clinical trials are not available, cohort studies or case-control studies;

(3) If paragraphs (1) and (2) are not available, case-series; or

(4) If paragraphs (1), (2)and (3) are not available, expert opinion.

E. "Case-control study" means a retrospective evaluation of two (2) groups of patients with different outcomes to determine which specific interventions the patients received.

F. "Case management" means a coordinated set of activities conducted for individual patient management of serious, complicated, protracted or other health conditions.

G. "Case-series" means an evaluation of a series of patients with a particular outcome, without the use of a control group.

H. "Certification" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that an admission, availability of care, continued stay or other health care service has been reviewed and, based on the information provided, satisfies the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care and effectiveness.

I. "Clinical review criteria" means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocols and practice guidelines used by a health carrier to determine the necessity and appropriateness of health care services.

J. "Cohort study" means a prospective evaluation of two (2) groups of patients with only one group of patients receiving a specific intervention(s).

K. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some State agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a State should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

L. "Concurrent review" means utilization review conducted during a patient's hospital stay or course of treatment.

M. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

N. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

O. "Discharge planning" means the formal process for determining, prior to discharge from a facility, the coordination and management of the care that a patient receives following discharge from a facility.

P. "Disclose" means to release, transfer or otherwise divulge protected health information to any person other than the individual who is the subject of the protected health information.

Q. "Emergency medical condition" means the sudden and, at the time, unexpected onset of a health condition or illness that requires immediate medical attention, where failure to provide medical attention would result in a serious impairment to bodily functions, serious dysfunction of a bodily organ or part, or would place the person's health in serious jeopardy.

R. "Emergency services" means health care items and services furnished or required to evaluate and treat an emergency medical condition.

S. "Evidence-based standard" means the conscientious, explicit and judicious use of the current best evidence based on the overall systematic review of the research in making decisions about the care of individual patients.

T. "Expert opinion" means a belief or an interpretation by specialists with experience in a specific area about the scientific evidence pertaining to a particular service, intervention or therapy.

U. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

V. "Final adverse determination" means an adverse determination involving a covered benefit that has been upheld by a health carrier, or its designee utilization review organization, at the completion of the health carrier's internal grievance process procedures as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

Drafting Note: States that do not require covered persons to exhaust a health carrier's internal grievance process procedures before filing a request for an external review should not adopt the definition of "final adverse determination" in subsection V and should not use the term in the rest of the law.

W. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

X. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not corporate "persons."

Y. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

Z. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

AA. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this State, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health care services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

BB. "Health information" means information or data, whether oral or recorded in any form or medium, and personal facts or information about events or relationships that relates to:

(1) The past, present or future physical, mental, or behavioral health or condition of an individual or a member of the individual's family;

(2) The provision of health care services to an individual; or

(3) Payment for the provision of health care services to an individual.

CC. "Independent review organization" means an entity that conducts independent external reviews of adverse determinations and final adverse determinations.

DD. "Medical or scientific evidence" means evidence found in the following sources:

(1) Peer-reviewed scientific studies published in or accepted for publication by medical journals that meet nationally recognized requirements for scientific manuscripts and that submit most of their published articles for review by experts who are not part of the editorial staff;

(2) Peer-reviewed medical literature, including literature relating to therapies reviewed and approved by a qualified institutional review board, biomedical compendia and other medical literature that meet the criteria of the National Institutes of Health's Library of Medicine for indexing in Index Medicus (Medline) and Elsevier Science Ltd. for indexing in Excerpta Medicus (EMBASE);

(3) Medical journals recognized by the Secretary of Health and Human Services under Section 1861(t)(2) of the federal Social Security Act;

(4) The following standard reference compendia:

(a) The American Hospital Formulary Service–Drug Information;

(b) Drug Facts and Comparisons;

(c) The American Dental Association Accepted Dental Therapeutics; and

(d) The United States Pharmacopoeia–Drug Information;

(5) Findings, studies or research conducted by or under the auspices of federal government agencies and nationally recognized federal research institutes, including:

(a) The federal Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality;

(b) The National Institutes of Health;

(c) The National Cancer Institute;

(d) The National Academy of Sciences;

(e) The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services;

(f) The federal Food and Drug Administration; and

(g) Any national board recognized by the National Institutes of Health for the purpose of evaluating the medical value of health care services; or

(6) Any other medical or scientific evidence that is comparable to the sources listed in paragraphs (1) through (5).

EE. "NAIC" means the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

FF. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing.

GG. "Prospective review" means utilization review conducted prior to an admission or a course of treatment.

HH. "Protected health information" means health information:

(1) That identifies an individual who is the subject of the information; or

(2) With respect to which there is a reasonable basis to believe that the information could be used to identify an individual.

II. "Randomized clinical trial" means a controlled, prospective study of patients that have been randomized into an experimental group and a control group at the beginning of the study with only the experimental group of patients receiving a specific intervention, which includes study of the groups for variables and anticipated outcomes over time.

JJ. "Retrospective review" means a review of medical necessity conducted after services have been provided to a patient, but does not include the review of a claim that is limited to an evaluation of reimbursement levels, veracity of documentation, accuracy of coding or adjudication for payment.

KK. "Second opinion" means an opportunity or requirement to obtain a clinical evaluation by a provider other than the one originally making a recommendation for a proposed health care service to assess the clinical necessity and appropriateness of the initial proposed health care service.

LL. "Utilization review" means a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of, or evaluate the clinical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of, health care services, procedures, or settings. Techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning, or retrospective review.

MM. "Utilization review organization" means an entity that conducts utilization review, other than a health carrier performing a review for its own health benefit plans.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. Except as provided in subsection B, this Act shall apply to all health carriers.

B. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to a policy or certificate that provides coverage only for a specified disease, specified accident or accident-only coverage, credit, dental, disability income, hospital indemnity, long-term care insurance, as defined by [insert the reference to State law that defines long-term care insurance], vision care or any other limited supplemental benefit or to a Medicare supplement policy of insurance, as defined by the commissioner by regulation, coverage under a plan through Medicare, Medicaid, or the federal employees health benefits program, any coverage issued under Chapter 55 of Title 10, U.S. Code and any coverage issued as supplement to that coverage, any coverage issued as supplemental to liability insurance, workers' compensation or similar insurance, automobile medical-payment insurance or any insurance under which benefits are payable with or without regard to fault, whether written on a group blanket or individual basis.

Section 5. Notice of Right to External Review

A. (1) A health carrier shall notify the covered person in writing of the covered person's right to request an external review to be conducted pursuant to section 8, 9 or 10 of this Act and include the appropriate statements and information set forth in subsection B at the same time the health carrier sends written notice of:

(a) An adverse determination upon completion of the health carrier's utilization review process set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act]; and Drafting Note: States that do not have a statutory utilization review process for health carriers similar to the NAIC Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act may want to alter the reference to that model in subparagraph (a) above to take this into account. In addition, States may wish to include in their utilization review or grievance laws the requirement that the health carrier give timely notice of the right to request expedited external review prior to the conclusion of the utilization review or grievance process.

(b) A final adverse determination.

(2) As part of the written notice required under paragraph (1), a health carrier shall include the following, or substantially equivalent, language: "We have denied your request for the provision of or payment for a health care service or course of treatment. You may have the right to have our decision reviewed by health care professionals who have no association with us if our decision involved making a judgment as to the medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness of the health care service or treatment you requested by submitting a request for external review to the Office of the Insurance Commissioner [insert address and telephone number of the office of the insurance commissioner or other unit in the office that administers the external review program]."

(3) The commissioner may prescribe by regulation the form and content of the notice required under this section.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model notice the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

B. (1) The health carrier shall include in the notice required under subsection A:

(a) For a notice related to an adverse determination, a statement informing the covered person that:

(i) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review to be conducted pursuant to section 9 of this Act, or section 10 of this Act if the adverse determination involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational and the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated, at the same time the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], but that the independent review organization assigned to conduct the expedited external review will determine whether the covered person shall be required to complete the expedited review of the grievance prior to conducting the expedited external review; and

(ii) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a grievance under the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], but if the health carrier has not issued a written decision to the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative within thirty (30) days following the date the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files the grievance with the health carrier and the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has not requested or agreed to a delay, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review pursuant to section 6 of this Act and shall be considered to have exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process for purposes of section 7 of this Act; and

(b) For a notice related to a final adverse determination, a statement informing the covered person that:

(i) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review pursuant to section 9 of this Act; or

(ii) If the final adverse determination concerns:

(I) An admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may request an expedited external review pursuant to section 9 of this Act; or

(II) A denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for a standard external review to be conducted pursuant to section 10 of this Act or if the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may request an expedited external review to be conducted under section 10 of this Act.

(2) In addition to the information to be provided pursuant to paragraph (1), the health carrier shall include a copy of the description of both the standard and expedited external review procedures the health carrier is required to provide pursuant to section 17 of this Act, highlighting the provisions in the external review procedures that give the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative the opportunity to submit additional information and including any forms used to process an external review.

(3) As part of any forms provided under paragraph (2), the health carrier shall include an authorization form, or other document approved by the commissioner that complies with the requirements of 45 CFR Section 164.508, by which the covered person, for purposes of conducting an external review under this Act, authorizes the health carrier and the covered person's treating health care provider to disclose protected health information, including medical records, concerning the covered person that are pertinent to the external review, as provided in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10H of the Health Information Privacy Model Act].

Section 6. Request for External Review

A. (1) Except for a request for an expedited external review as set forth in section 9 of this Act, all requests for external review shall be made in writing to the commissioner.

(2) The commissioner may prescribe by regulation the form and content of external review requests required to be submitted under this section.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model external review request form the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

B. A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an external review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination.

Section 7. Exhaustion of Internal Grievance Process

A. (1) Except as provided in subsection B, a request for an external review pursuant to section 8, 9 or 10 of this Act shall not be made until the covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(2) A covered person shall be considered to have exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process for purposes of this section, if the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative:

(a) Has filed a grievance involving an adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; and

(b) Except to the extent the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative requested or agreed to a delay, has not received a written decision on the grievance from the health carrier within thirty (30) days following the date the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative filed the grievance with the health carrier.

(3) Notwithstanding paragraph (2), a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may not make a request for an external review of an adverse determination involving a retrospective review determination made pursuant to [insert reference in State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] until the covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process.

B. (1) (a) At the same time a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination:

(i) Under section 9 of this Act if the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of an expedited review of the grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(ii) Under section 10 of this Act if the adverse determination involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational and the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the independent review organization conducting the external review in accordance with the provisions of section 9 or 10 of this Act shall determine whether the covered person shall be required to complete the expedited review process set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] before it conducts the expedited external review.

(c) Upon a determination made pursuant to subparagraph (b) of this paragraph that the covered person must first complete the expedited grievance review process set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], the independent review organization immediately shall notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of this determination and that it will not proceed with the expedited external review set forth in section 9 of this Act until completion of the expedited grievance review process and the covered person's grievance at the completion of the expedited grievance review process remains unresolved.

(2) A request for an external review of an adverse determination may be made before the covered person has exhausted the heath carrier's internal grievance procedures as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] whenever the health carrier agrees to waive the exhaustion requirement.

C. If the requirement to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance procedures is waived under subsection B(2), the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request in writing for a standard external review as set forth in section 8 or 10 of this Act.

Drafting Note: States that do not require exhaustion of the internal grievance process prior to filing a request for external review should not adopt this section.

Section 8. Standard External Review

A. (1) Within four (4) months after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to section 5 of this Act, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an external review with the commissioner.

(2) Within one (1) business day after the date of receipt of a request for external review pursuant to paragraph (1), the commissioner shall send a copy of the request to the health carrier.

B. Within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the copy of the external review request from the commissioner under subsection A(2), the health carrier shall complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was provided;

(2) The health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or the final adverse determination is a covered service under the covered person's health benefit plan, but for a determination by the health carrier that the health care service is not covered because it does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness;

(3) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to section 7 of this Act; and

(4) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required to process an external review, including the release form provided under section 5B of this Act.

C. (1) Within one (1) business day after completion of the preliminary review, the health carrier shall notify the commissioner and covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request is eligible for external review.

(2) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the health carrier shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and the commissioner in writing and include in the notice what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not eligible for external review, the health carrier shall inform the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and the commissioner in writing and include in the notice the reasons for its ineligibility.

(3) (a) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under this subsection and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(b) The notice of initial determination shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that the external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(4) (a) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under section 8B of this Act notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination that the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(b) In making a determination under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

D. (1) Whenever the commissioner receives a notice that a request is eligible for external review following the preliminary review conducted pursuant to subsection C, within one (1) business day after the date of receipt of the notice, the commissioner shall:

(a) Assign an independent review organization from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act to conduct the external review and notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization; and

(b) Notify in writing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the request's eligibility and acceptance for external review.

(2) In reaching a decision, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review Model and Benefit Determination Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(3) The commissioner shall include in the notice provided to the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit in writing to the assigned independent review organization within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1) additional information that the independent review organization shall consider when conducting the external review. The independent review organization is not required to, but may, accept and consider additional information submitted after five (5) business days.

E. (1) Within five (5) business days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to section D(1), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) If the health carrier or its utilization review organization fails to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Within one (1) business day after making the decision under subparagraph (a), the independent review organization shall notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner.

F. (1) The assigned independent review organization shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to subsection E and any other information submitted in writing to the independent review organization by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(3).

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(3), the assigned independent review organization shall within one (1) business day forward the information to the health carrier.

G. (1) Upon receipt of the information, if any, required to be forwarded pursuant to subsection F(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may only be terminated if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Within one (1) business day after making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

H. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to subsection E, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which shall include applicable evidence-based standards and may include any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations;

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization; and

(7) The opinion of the independent review organization's clinical reviewer or reviewers after considering paragraphs (1) through (6) to the extent the information or documents are available and the clinical reviewer or reviewers consider appropriate.

I. (1) Within forty-five (45) days after the date of receipt of the request for an external review, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written notice of its decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or the final adverse determination to:

(a) The covered person;

(b) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(c) The health carrier; and

(d) The commissioner.

(2) The independent review organization shall include in the notice sent pursuant to paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(c) The date the external review was conducted;

(d) The date of its decision;

(e) The principal reason or reasons for its decision, including what applicable, if any, evidence-based standards were a basis for its decision;

(f) The rationale for its decision; and

(g) References to the evidence or documentation, including the evidence-based standards, considered in reaching its decision.

(3) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

J. The assignment by the commissioner of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be done on a random basis among those approved independent review organizations qualified to conduct the particular external review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination and other circumstances, including conflict of interest concerns pursuant to section 13D of this Act.

Section 9. Expedited External Review

A. Except as provided in subsection F, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an expedited external review with the commissioner at the time the covered person receives:

(1) An adverse determination if:

(a) The adverse determination involves a medical condition of the covered person for which the timeframe for completion of an expedited internal review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; and

(b) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has filed a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; or

(2) A final adverse determination:

(a) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(b) If the final adverse determination concerns an admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility.

B. (1) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review, the commissioner immediately shall send a copy of the request to the health carrier.

(2) Immediately upon receipt of the request pursuant to paragraph (1), the health carrier shall determine whether the request meets the reviewability requirements set forth in section 8B of this Act. The health carrier shall immediately notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of its eligibility determination.

(3) (a) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under this subsection and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(b) The notice of initial determination shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that an external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(4) (a) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under section 8B of this Act notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination that the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(b) In making a determination under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

(5) Upon receipt of the notice that the request meets the reviewability requirements, the commissioner immediately shall assign an independent review organization to conduct the expedited external review from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act. The commissioner shall immediately notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization.

(6) In reaching a decision in accordance with subsection E, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

C. Upon receipt of the notice from the commissioner of the name of the independent review organization assigned to conduct the expedited external review pursuant to subsection B(5), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

D. In addition to the documents and information provided or transmitted pursuant to subsection C, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which shall include evidence-based standards, and may include any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations;

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization in making adverse determinations; and

(7) The opinion of the independent review organization's clinical reviewer or reviewers after considering paragraphs (1) through (6) to the extent the information and documents are available and the clinical reviewer or reviewers consider appropriate.

E. (1) As expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than seventy-two (72) hours after the date of receipt of the request for an expedited external review that meets the reviewability requirements set forth in section 8B of this Act, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination; and

(b) Notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner of the decision.

(2) If the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1) was not in writing, within forty-eight (48) hours after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Provide written confirmation of the decision to the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner; and

(b) Include the information set forth in section 8I(2) of this Act.

(3) Upon receipt of the notice a decision pursuant to paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

F. An expedited external review may not be provided for retrospective adverse or final adverse determinations.

G. The assignment by the commissioner of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be done on a random basis among those approved independent review organizations qualified to conduct the particular external review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination and other circumstances, including conflict of interest concerns pursuant to section 13D of this Act.

Section 10. External Review of Experimental or Investigational Treatment Adverse Determinations

A. (1) Within four (4) months after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to section 5 of this Act that involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the health care service or treatment recommended or requested is experimental or investigational, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review with the commissioner.

(2) (a) A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make an oral request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to paragraph (1) if the covered person's treating physician certifies, in writing, that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review, the commissioner immediately shall notify the health carrier.

(c) (i) Upon notice of the request for expedited external review, the health carrier immediately shall determine whether the request meets the reviewability requirements of subsection B. The health carrier shall immediately notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of its eligibility determination.

(ii) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under item (i) and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(iii) The notice of initial determination under item (i) shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that the external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(d) (i) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under subsection B(2) notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(ii) In making a determination under item (i), the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

(e) Upon receipt of the notice that the expedited external review request meets the reviewability requirements of subsection B(2), the commissioner immediately shall assign an independent review organization to review the expedited request from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act and notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization.

(f) At the time the health carrier receives the notice of the assigned independent review organization pursuant to subparagraph (e) of this paragraph, the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

B. (1) Except for a request for an expedited external review made pursuant to subsection A(2), within one (1) business day after the date of receipt of the request, the commissioner receives a request for an external review, the commissioner shall notify the health carrier.

(2) Within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the notice sent pursuant to paragraph (1), the health carrier shall conduct and complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(a) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was recommended or requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was provided;

(b) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination:

(i) Is a covered benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan except for the health carrier's determination that the service or treatment is experimental or investigational for a particular medical condition; and

(ii) Is not explicitly listed as an excluded benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(c) The covered person's treating physician has certified that one of the following situations is applicable:

(i) Standard health care services or treatments have not been effective in improving the condition of the covered person;

(ii) Standard health care services or treatments are not medically appropriate for the covered person; or

(iii) There is no available standard health care service or treatment covered by the health carrier that is more beneficial than the recommended or requested health care service or treatment described in subparagraph (d) of this paragraph;

(d) The covered person's treating physician:

(i) Has recommended a health care service or treatment that the physician certifies, in writing, is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person, in the physician's opinion, than any available standard health care services or treatments; or

(ii) Who is a licensed, board certified or board eligible physician qualified to practice in the area of medicine appropriate to treat the covered person's condition, has certified in writing that scientifically valid studies using accepted protocols demonstrate that the health care service or treatment requested by the covered person that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments;

(e) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to section 7 of this Act; and

(f) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required by the commissioner that are necessary to process an external review, including the release form provided under section 5B of this Act.

C. (1) Within one (1) business day after completion of the preliminary review, the health carrier shall notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request is eligible for external review.

(2) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the health carrier shall inform in writing the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and include in the notice what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not eligible for external review, the health carrier shall inform the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the commissioner in writing and include in the notice the reasons for its ineligibility.

(3) (a) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under paragraph (2) and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(b) The notice of initial determination provided under paragraph (2) shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that the external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(4) (a) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under subsection B(2) notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination that the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(b) In making a determination under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

(5) Whenever a request for external review is determined eligible for external review, the health carrier shall notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative.

D. (1) Within one (1) business day after the receipt of the notice from the health carrier that the external review request is eligible for external review pursuant to subsection A(2)(d) or subsection C(5), the commissioner shall:

(a) Assign an independent review organization to conduct the external review from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act and notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization; and

(b) Notify in writing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the request's eligibility and acceptance for external review.

(2) The commissioner shall include in the notice provided to the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit in writing to the assigned independent review organization within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1) additional information that the independent review organization shall consider when conducting the external review. The independent review organization is not required to, but may, accept and consider additional information submitted after five (5) business days.

(3) Within one (1) business day after the receipt of the notice of assignment to conduct the external review pursuant to paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Select one or more clinical reviewers, as it determines is appropriate, pursuant to paragraph (4) to conduct the external review; and

(b) Based on the opinion of the clinical reviewer, or opinions if more than one clinical reviewer has been selected to conduct the external review, make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) In selecting clinical reviewers pursuant to paragraph (3)(a), the assigned independent review organization shall select physicians or other health care professionals who meet the minimum qualifications described in section 13 of this Act and, through clinical experience in the past three (3) years, are experts in the treatment of the covered person's condition and knowledgeable about the recommended or requested health care service or treatment.

(b) Neither the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, nor the health carrier shall choose or control the choice of the physicians or other health care professionals to be selected to conduct the external review.

(5) In accordance with subsection H, each clinical reviewer shall provide a written opinion to the assigned independent review organization on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(6) In reaching an opinion, clinical reviewers are not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

E. (1) Within five (5) business days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to subsection D(1), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization, the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) If the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization has failed to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the independent review organization shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, the health carrier, and the commissioner.

F. (1) Each clinical reviewer selected pursuant to subsection D shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to subsection E and any other information submitted in writing by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(2).

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(2), within one (1) business day after the receipt of the information, the assigned independent review organization shall forward the information to the health carrier.

G. (1) Upon receipt of the information required to be forwarded pursuant to subsection F(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may terminated only if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative if applicable, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

H. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (3), within twenty (20) days after being selected in accordance with subsection D to conduct the external review, each clinical reviewer shall provide an opinion to the assigned independent review organization pursuant to subsection I on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(2) Except for an opinion provided pursuant to paragraph (3), each clinical reviewer's opinion shall be in writing and include the following information:

(a) A description of the covered person's medical condition;

(b) A description of the indicators relevant to determining whether there is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments;

(c) A description and analysis of any medical or scientific evidence, as that term is defined in section 3DD of this Act, considered in reaching the opinion;

(d) A description and analysis of any evidence-based standard, as that term is defined in section 3S of this Act; and

(e) Information on whether the reviewer's rationale for the opinion is based on subsection I(5)(a) or (b).

(3) (a) For an expedited external review, each clinical reviewer shall provide an opinion orally or in writing to the assigned independent review organization as expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than five (5) calendar days after being selected in accordance with subsection D.

(b) If the opinion provided pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this paragraph was not in writing, within forty-eight (48) hours following the date the opinion was provided, the clinical reviewer shall provide written confirmation of the opinion to the assigned independent review organization and include the information required under paragraph (2).

I. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to subsection A(2) or subsection E, each clinical reviewer selected pursuant to subsection D, to the extent the information or documents are available and the reviewer considers appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching an opinion pursuant to subsection H:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending physician or health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating physician or health care professional;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that, but for the health carrier's determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the opinion is experimental or investigational, the reviewer's opinion is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier; and

(5) Whether:

(a) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment has been approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration, if applicable, for the condition; or

(b) Medical or scientific evidence or evidence-based standards demonstrate that the expected benefits of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care service or treatment and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments.

J. (1) (a) Except as provided in subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, within twenty (20) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical reviewer pursuant to subsection I, the assigned independent review organization, in accordance with paragraph (2), shall make a decision and provide written notice of the decision to:

(i) The covered person;

(ii) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(iii) The health carrier; and

(iv) The commissioner.

(b) (i) For an expedited external review, within forty-eight (48) hours after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical reviewer pursuant to subsection I, the assigned independent review organization, in accordance with paragraph (2), shall make a decision and provide notice of the decision orally or in writing to the persons listed in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

(ii) If the notice provided under item (i) was not in writing, within forty-eight (48) hours after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written confirmation of the decision to the persons listed in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph and include the information set forth in paragraph (3).

(2) (a) If a majority of the clinical reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to reverse the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) If a majority of the clinical reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should not be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to uphold the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(c) (i) If the clinical reviewers are evenly split as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall obtain the opinion of an additional clinical reviewer in order for the independent review organization to make a decision based on the opinions of a majority of the clinical reviewers pursuant to subparagraph (a) or (b) of this paragraph.

(ii) The additional clinical reviewer selected under item (i) shall use the same information to reach an opinion as the clinical reviewers who have already submitted their opinions pursuant to subsection I.

(iii) The selection of the additional clinical reviewer under this subparagraph shall not extend the time within which the assigned independent review organization is required to make a decision based on the opinions of the clinical reviewers selected under subsection D pursuant to paragraph (1).

(3) The independent review organization shall include in the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The written opinion of each clinical reviewer, including the recommendation of each clinical reviewer as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered and the rationale for the reviewer's recommendation;

(c) The date the independent review organization was assigned by the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(d) The date the external review was conducted;

(e) The date of its decision;

(f) The principal reason or reasons for its decision; and

(g) The rationale for its decision.

(4) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve coverage of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

L. The assignment by the commissioner of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be done on a random basis among those approved independent review organizations qualified to conduct the particular external review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination and other circumstances, including conflict of interest concerns pursuant to section 13D of this Act.

Section 11. Binding Nature of External Review Decision

A. An external review decision is binding on the health carrier except to the extent the health carrier has other remedies available under applicable State law.

B. An external review decision is binding on the covered person except to the extent the covered person has other remedies available under applicable federal or State law.

C. A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may not file a subsequent request for external review involving the same adverse determination or final adverse determination for which the covered person has already received an external review decision pursuant to this Act.

Section 12. Approval of Independent Review Organizations

A. The commissioner shall approve independent review organizations eligible to be assigned to conduct external reviews under this Act.

B. In order to be eligible for approval by the commissioner under this section to conduct external reviews under this Act an independent review organization:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, shall be accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity that the commissioner has determined has independent review organization accreditation standards that are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications for independent review organizations established under section 13 of this Act; and

(2) Shall submit an application for approval in accordance with subsection D.

C. The commissioner shall develop an application form for initially approving and for reapproving independent review organizations to conduct external reviews.

D. (1) Any independent review organization wishing to be approved to conduct external reviews under this Act shall submit the application form and include with the form all documentation and information necessary for the commissioner to determine if the independent review organization satisfies the minimum qualifications established under section 13 of this Act.

(2) (a) Subject to subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, an independent review organization is eligible for approval under this section only if it is accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity that the commissioner has determined has independent review organization accreditation standards that are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications for independent review organizations under section 13 of this Act.

(b) The commissioner may approve independent review organizations that are not accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity if there are no acceptable nationally recognized private accrediting entities providing independent review organization accreditation.

(3) The commissioner may charge an application fee that independent review organizations shall submit to the commissioner with an application for approval and re-approval.

E. (1) An approval is effective for two (2) years, unless the commissioner determines before its expiration that the independent review organization is not satisfying the minimum qualifications established under section 13 of this Act.

(2) Whenever the commissioner determines that an independent review organization has lost its accreditation or no longer satisfies the minimum requirements established under section 13 of this Act, the commissioner shall terminate the approval of the independent review organization and remove the independent review organization from the list of independent review organizations approved to conduct external reviews under this Act that is maintained by the commissioner pursuant to subsection F.

F. The commissioner shall maintain and periodically update a list of approved independent review organizations.

G. The commissioner may promulgate regulations to carry out the provisions of this section.

Section 13. Minimum Qualifications for Independent Review Organizations

A. To be approved under section 12 of this Act to conduct external reviews, an independent review organization shall have and maintain written policies and procedures that govern all aspects of both the standard external review process and the expedited external review process set forth in this Act that include, at a minimum:

(1) A quality assurance mechanism in place that:

(a) Ensures that external reviews are conducted within the specified time frames and required notices are provided in a timely manner;

(b) Ensures the selection of qualified and impartial clinical reviewers to conduct external reviews on behalf of the independent review organization and suitable matching of reviewers to specific cases and that the independent review organization employs or contracts with an adequate number of clinical reviewers to meet this objective;

(c) Ensures the confidentiality of medical and treatment records and clinical review criteria; and

(d) Ensures that any person employed by or under contract with the independent review organization adheres to the requirements of this Act;

(2) A toll-free telephone service to receive information on a 24-hour-day, 7-day-a-week basis related to external reviews that is capable of accepting, recording or providing appropriate instruction to incoming telephone callers during other than normal business hours; and

(3) Agree to maintain and provide to the commissioner the information set out in section 15 of this Act.

B. All clinical reviewers assigned by an independent review organization to conduct external reviews shall be physicians or other appropriate health care providers who meet the following minimum qualifications:

(1) Be an expert in the treatment of the covered person's medical condition that is the subject of the external review;

(2) Be knowledgeable about the recommended health care service or treatment through recent or current actual clinical experience treating patients with the same or similar medical condition of the covered person;

(3) Hold a non-restricted license in a State of the United States and, for physicians, a current certification by a recognized American medical specialty board in the area or areas appropriate to the subject of the external review; and

(4) Have no history of disciplinary actions or sanctions, including loss of staff privileges or participation restrictions, that have been taken or are pending by any hospital, governmental agency or unit, or regulatory body that raise a substantial question as to the clinical reviewer's physical, mental or professional competence or moral character.

C. In addition to the requirements set forth in subsection A, an independent review organization may not own or control, be a subsidiary of or in any way be owned or controlled by, or exercise control with a health benefit plan, a national, State or local trade association of health benefit plans, or a national, State or local trade association of health care providers.

D. (1) In addition to the requirements set forth in subsections A, B and C, to be approved pursuant to section 12 of this Act to conduct an external review of a specified case, neither the independent review organization selected to conduct the external review nor any clinical reviewer assigned by the independent organization to conduct the external review may have a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest with any of the following:

(a) The health carrier that is the subject of the external review;

(b) The covered person whose treatment is the subject of the external review or the covered person's authorized representative;

(c) Any officer, director or management employee of the health carrier that is the subject of the external review;

(d) The health care provider, the health care provider's medical group or independent practice association recommending the health care service or treatment that is the subject of the external review;

(e) The facility at which the recommended health care service or treatment would be provided; or

(f) The developer or manufacturer of the principal drug, device, procedure or other therapy being recommended for the covered person whose treatment is the subject of the external review.

(2) In determining whether an independent review organization or a clinical reviewer of the independent review organization has a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest for purposes of paragraph (1), the commissioner shall take into consideration situations where the independent review organization to be assigned to conduct an external review of a specified case or a clinical reviewer to be assigned by the independent review organization to conduct an external review of a specified case may have an apparent professional, familial or financial relationship or connection with a person described in paragraph (1), but that the characteristics of that relationship or connection are such that they are not a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest that results in the disapproval of the independent review organization or the clinical reviewer from conducting the external review.

Drafting Note: In applying subsection D, States should be aware that conflict of interest questions involving independent review organizations and clinical reviewers might arise in a variety of situations. For example, conflict of interest questions may arise when a health care provider, including a physician or other health care professional, who is a clinical reviewer for an independent review organization or an academic medical center, or other similar medical research center, which is seeking to be an approved independent review organization, has a contract to provide health care services to enrollees of the health carrier that is the subject of an external review or when a health care provider, including a physician or other health care professional, who is a clinical reviewer for an independent review organization, has staff privileges at the facility where the recommended health care service or treatment would be provided if the health carrier's adverse or final adverse determination is reversed. The question for States to consider is whether a relationship or connection with persons involved in an external review is a material conflict of interest such that the objectivity of the independent review organization to be assigned to conduct the external review or any clinical reviewer to be assigned by the independent review organization to conduct the external review may actually be or may perceived to be negatively impacted. Whether the relationship or connection is a material conflict of interest will depend on the characteristics of each State's market. Therefore, States should consider adding provisions to this section that provide additional guidelines or procedures to address this issue given their local market characteristics.

E. (1) An independent review organization that is accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity that has independent review accreditation standards that the commissioner has determined are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications of this section shall be presumed in compliance with this section to be eligible for approval under section 12 of this Act.

(2) The commissioner shall initially review and periodically review the independent review organization accreditation standards of a nationally recognized private accrediting entity to determine whether the entity's standards are, and continue to be, equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications established under this section. The commissioner may accept a review conducted by the NAIC for the purpose of the determination under this paragraph.

(3) Upon request, a nationally recognized private accrediting entity shall make its current independent review organization accreditation standards available to the commissioner or the NAIC in order for the commissioner to determine if the entity's standards are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications established under this section. The commissioner may exclude any private accrediting entity that is not reviewed by the NAIC.

F. An independent review organization shall be unbiased. An independent review organization shall establish and maintain written procedures to ensure that it is unbiased in addition to any other procedures required under this section.

Section 14. Hold Harmless for Independent Review Organizations

No independent review organization or clinical reviewer working on behalf of an independent review organization or an employee, agent or contractor of an independent review organization shall be liable in damages to any person for any opinions rendered or acts or omissions performed within the scope of the organization's or person's duties under the law during or upon completion of an external review conducted pursuant to this Act, unless the opinion was rendered or act or omission performed in bad faith or involved gross negligence.

Section 15. External Review Reporting Requirements

A. (1) An independent review organization assigned pursuant to section 8, section 9 or section 10 of this Act to conduct an external review shall maintain written records in the aggregate by State and by health carrier on all requests for external review for which it conducted an external review during a calendar year and, upon request, submit a report to the commissioner, as required under paragraph (2).

(2) Each independent review organization required to maintain written records on all requests for external review pursuant to paragraph (1) for which it was assigned to conduct an external review shall submit to the commissioner, upon request, a report in the format specified by the commissioner.

(3) The report shall include in the aggregate by State, and for each health carrier:

(a) The total number of requests for external review;

(b) The number of requests for external review resolved and, of those resolved, the number resolved upholding the adverse determination or final adverse determination and the number resolved reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination;

(c) The average length of time for resolution;

(d) A summary of the types of coverages or cases for which an external review was sought, as provided in the format required by the commissioner;

(e) The number of external reviews pursuant to section 8G of this Act that were terminated as the result of a reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination after the receipt of additional information from the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative; and

(f) Any other information the commissioner may request or require.

(4) The independent review organization shall retain the written records required pursuant to this subsection for at least three (3) years.

B. (1) Each health carrier shall maintain written records in the aggregate, by State and for each type of health benefit plan offered by the health carrier on all requests for external review that the health carrier receives notice of from the commissioner pursuant to this Act.

(2) Each health carrier required to maintain written records on all requests for external review pursuant to paragraph (1) shall submit to the commissioner, upon request, a report in the format specified by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model report format form the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

(3) The report shall include in the aggregate, by State, and by type of health benefit plan:

(a) The total number of requests for external review;

(b) From the total number of requests for external review reported under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the number of requests determined eligible for a full external review; and

(c) Any other information the commissioner may request or require.

(4) The health carrier shall retain the written records required pursuant to this subsection for at least three (3) years.

Section 16. Funding of External Review

The health carrier against which a request for a standard external review or an expedited external review is filed shall pay the cost of the independent review organization for conducting the external review.

Section 17. Disclosure Requirements

A. (1) Each health carrier shall include a description of the external review procedures in or attached to the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage it provides to covered persons.

(2) The disclosure required by paragraph (1) shall be in a format prescribed by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model disclosure form the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

B. The description required under subsection A shall include a statement that informs the covered person of the right of the covered person to file a request for an external review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination with the commissioner. The statement may explain that external review is available when the adverse determination or final adverse determination involves an issue of medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness. The statement shall include the telephone number and address of the commissioner.

C. In addition to subsection B, the statement shall inform the covered person that, when filing a request for an external review, the covered person will be required to authorize the release of any medical records of the covered person that may be required to be reviewed for the purpose of reaching a decision on the external review.

Section 18. Severability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 19. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Act.

Drafting Note: In some States existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act as a regulation. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as a regulation.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose of this Act is to provide uniform standards for the establishment and maintenance of external review procedures to assure that covered persons have the opportunity for an independent review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination, as defined in this Act.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Adverse determination" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that an admission, availability of care, continued stay or other health care service that is a covered benefit has been reviewed and, based upon the information provided, does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness, and the requested service or payment for the service is therefore denied, reduced or terminated.

B. "Ambulatory review" means utilization review of health care services performed or provided in an outpatient setting.

C. "Authorized representative" means:

(1) A person to whom a covered person has given express written consent to represent the covered person in an external review;

(2) A person authorized by law to provide substituted consent for a covered person; or

(3) A family member of the covered person or the covered person's treating health care professional only when the covered person is unable to provide consent.

D. "Best evidence" means evidence based on:

(1) Randomized clinical trials;

(2) If randomized clinical trials are not available, cohort studies or case-control studies;

(3) If paragraphs (1) and (2) are not available, case-series; or

(4) If paragraphs (1), (2)and (3) are not available, expert opinion.

E. "Case-control study" means a retrospective evaluation of two (2) groups of patients with different outcomes to determine which specific interventions the patients received.

F. "Case management" means a coordinated set of activities conducted for individual patient management of serious, complicated, protracted or other health conditions.

G. "Case-series" means an evaluation of a series of patients with a particular outcome, without the use of a control group.

H. "Certification" means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review organization that an admission, availability of care, continued stay or other health care service has been reviewed and, based on the information provided, satisfies the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care and effectiveness.

I. "Clinical review criteria" means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocols and practice guidelines used by a health carrier to determine the necessity and appropriateness of health care services.

J. "Cohort study" means a prospective evaluation of two (2) groups of patients with only one group of patients receiving a specific intervention(s).

K. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some State agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a State should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

L. "Concurrent review" means utilization review conducted during a patient's hospital stay or course of treatment.

M. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

N. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

O. "Discharge planning" means the formal process for determining, prior to discharge from a facility, the coordination and management of the care that a patient receives following discharge from a facility.

P. "Disclose" means to release, transfer or otherwise divulge protected health information to any person other than the individual who is the subject of the protected health information.

Q. "Emergency medical condition" means the sudden and, at the time, unexpected onset of a health condition or illness that requires immediate medical attention, where failure to provide medical attention would result in a serious impairment to bodily functions, serious dysfunction of a bodily organ or part, or would place the person's health in serious jeopardy.

R. "Emergency services" means health care items and services furnished or required to evaluate and treat an emergency medical condition.

S. "Evidence-based standard" means the conscientious, explicit and judicious use of the current best evidence based on the overall systematic review of the research in making decisions about the care of individual patients.

T. "Expert opinion" means a belief or an interpretation by specialists with experience in a specific area about the scientific evidence pertaining to a particular service, intervention or therapy.

U. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

V. "Final adverse determination" means an adverse determination involving a covered benefit that has been upheld by a health carrier, or its designee utilization review organization, at the completion of the health carrier's internal grievance process procedures as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

Drafting Note: States that do not require covered persons to exhaust a health carrier's internal grievance process procedures before filing a request for an external review should not adopt the definition of "final adverse determination" in subsection V and should not use the term in the rest of the law.

W. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

X. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not corporate "persons."

Y. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or a facility.

Z. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

AA. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this State, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health care services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

BB. "Health information" means information or data, whether oral or recorded in any form or medium, and personal facts or information about events or relationships that relates to:

(1) The past, present or future physical, mental, or behavioral health or condition of an individual or a member of the individual's family;

(2) The provision of health care services to an individual; or

(3) Payment for the provision of health care services to an individual.

CC. "Independent review organization" means an entity that conducts independent external reviews of adverse determinations and final adverse determinations.

DD. "Medical or scientific evidence" means evidence found in the following sources:

(1) Peer-reviewed scientific studies published in or accepted for publication by medical journals that meet nationally recognized requirements for scientific manuscripts and that submit most of their published articles for review by experts who are not part of the editorial staff;

(2) Peer-reviewed medical literature, including literature relating to therapies reviewed and approved by a qualified institutional review board, biomedical compendia and other medical literature that meet the criteria of the National Institutes of Health's Library of Medicine for indexing in Index Medicus (Medline) and Elsevier Science Ltd. for indexing in Excerpta Medicus (EMBASE);

(3) Medical journals recognized by the Secretary of Health and Human Services under Section 1861(t)(2) of the federal Social Security Act;

(4) The following standard reference compendia:

(a) The American Hospital Formulary Service–Drug Information;

(b) Drug Facts and Comparisons;

(c) The American Dental Association Accepted Dental Therapeutics; and

(d) The United States Pharmacopoeia–Drug Information;

(5) Findings, studies or research conducted by or under the auspices of federal government agencies and nationally recognized federal research institutes, including:

(a) The federal Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality;

(b) The National Institutes of Health;

(c) The National Cancer Institute;

(d) The National Academy of Sciences;

(e) The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services;

(f) The federal Food and Drug Administration; and

(g) Any national board recognized by the National Institutes of Health for the purpose of evaluating the medical value of health care services; or

(6) Any other medical or scientific evidence that is comparable to the sources listed in paragraphs (1) through (5).

EE. "NAIC" means the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

FF. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing.

GG. "Prospective review" means utilization review conducted prior to an admission or a course of treatment.

HH. "Protected health information" means health information:

(1) That identifies an individual who is the subject of the information; or

(2) With respect to which there is a reasonable basis to believe that the information could be used to identify an individual.

II. "Randomized clinical trial" means a controlled, prospective study of patients that have been randomized into an experimental group and a control group at the beginning of the study with only the experimental group of patients receiving a specific intervention, which includes study of the groups for variables and anticipated outcomes over time.

JJ. "Retrospective review" means a review of medical necessity conducted after services have been provided to a patient, but does not include the review of a claim that is limited to an evaluation of reimbursement levels, veracity of documentation, accuracy of coding or adjudication for payment.

KK. "Second opinion" means an opportunity or requirement to obtain a clinical evaluation by a provider other than the one originally making a recommendation for a proposed health care service to assess the clinical necessity and appropriateness of the initial proposed health care service.

LL. "Utilization review" means a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of, or evaluate the clinical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of, health care services, procedures, or settings. Techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning, or retrospective review.

MM. "Utilization review organization" means an entity that conducts utilization review, other than a health carrier performing a review for its own health benefit plans.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. Except as provided in subsection B, this Act shall apply to all health carriers.

B. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to a policy or certificate that provides coverage only for a specified disease, specified accident or accident-only coverage, credit, dental, disability income, hospital indemnity, long-term care insurance, as defined by [insert the reference to State law that defines long-term care insurance], vision care or any other limited supplemental benefit or to a Medicare supplement policy of insurance, as defined by the commissioner by regulation, coverage under a plan through Medicare, Medicaid, or the federal employees health benefits program, any coverage issued under Chapter 55 of Title 10, U.S. Code and any coverage issued as supplement to that coverage, any coverage issued as supplemental to liability insurance, workers' compensation or similar insurance, automobile medical-payment insurance or any insurance under which benefits are payable with or without regard to fault, whether written on a group blanket or individual basis.

Section 5. Notice of Right to External Review

A. (1) A health carrier shall notify the covered person in writing of the covered person's right to request an external review to be conducted pursuant to section 8, 9 or 10 of this Act and include the appropriate statements and information set forth in subsection B at the same time the health carrier sends written notice of:

(a) An adverse determination upon completion of the health carrier's utilization review process set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act]; and Drafting Note: States that do not have a statutory utilization review process for health carriers similar to the NAIC Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act may want to alter the reference to that model in subparagraph (a) above to take this into account. In addition, States may wish to include in their utilization review or grievance laws the requirement that the health carrier give timely notice of the right to request expedited external review prior to the conclusion of the utilization review or grievance process.

(b) A final adverse determination.

(2) As part of the written notice required under paragraph (1), a health carrier shall include the following, or substantially equivalent, language: "We have denied your request for the provision of or payment for a health care service or course of treatment. You may have the right to have our decision reviewed by health care professionals who have no association with us if our decision involved making a judgment as to the medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness of the health care service or treatment you requested by submitting a request for external review to the Office of the Insurance Commissioner [insert address and telephone number of the office of the insurance commissioner or other unit in the office that administers the external review program]."

(3) The commissioner may prescribe by regulation the form and content of the notice required under this section.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model notice the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

B. (1) The health carrier shall include in the notice required under subsection A:

(a) For a notice related to an adverse determination, a statement informing the covered person that:

(i) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review to be conducted pursuant to section 9 of this Act, or section 10 of this Act if the adverse determination involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational and the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated, at the same time the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], but that the independent review organization assigned to conduct the expedited external review will determine whether the covered person shall be required to complete the expedited review of the grievance prior to conducting the expedited external review; and

(ii) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a grievance under the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], but if the health carrier has not issued a written decision to the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative within thirty (30) days following the date the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files the grievance with the health carrier and the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has not requested or agreed to a delay, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review pursuant to section 6 of this Act and shall be considered to have exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process for purposes of section 7 of this Act; and

(b) For a notice related to a final adverse determination, a statement informing the covered person that:

(i) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review pursuant to section 9 of this Act; or

(ii) If the final adverse determination concerns:

(I) An admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may request an expedited external review pursuant to section 9 of this Act; or

(II) A denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for a standard external review to be conducted pursuant to section 10 of this Act or if the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated, the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may request an expedited external review to be conducted under section 10 of this Act.

(2) In addition to the information to be provided pursuant to paragraph (1), the health carrier shall include a copy of the description of both the standard and expedited external review procedures the health carrier is required to provide pursuant to section 17 of this Act, highlighting the provisions in the external review procedures that give the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative the opportunity to submit additional information and including any forms used to process an external review.

(3) As part of any forms provided under paragraph (2), the health carrier shall include an authorization form, or other document approved by the commissioner that complies with the requirements of 45 CFR Section 164.508, by which the covered person, for purposes of conducting an external review under this Act, authorizes the health carrier and the covered person's treating health care provider to disclose protected health information, including medical records, concerning the covered person that are pertinent to the external review, as provided in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10H of the Health Information Privacy Model Act].

Section 6. Request for External Review

A. (1) Except for a request for an expedited external review as set forth in section 9 of this Act, all requests for external review shall be made in writing to the commissioner.

(2) The commissioner may prescribe by regulation the form and content of external review requests required to be submitted under this section.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model external review request form the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

B. A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an external review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination.

Section 7. Exhaustion of Internal Grievance Process

A. (1) Except as provided in subsection B, a request for an external review pursuant to section 8, 9 or 10 of this Act shall not be made until the covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(2) A covered person shall be considered to have exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process for purposes of this section, if the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative:

(a) Has filed a grievance involving an adverse determination pursuant to [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; and

(b) Except to the extent the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative requested or agreed to a delay, has not received a written decision on the grievance from the health carrier within thirty (30) days following the date the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative filed the grievance with the health carrier.

(3) Notwithstanding paragraph (2), a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may not make a request for an external review of an adverse determination involving a retrospective review determination made pursuant to [insert reference in State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] until the covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process.

B. (1) (a) At the same time a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative files a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination:

(i) Under section 9 of this Act if the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of an expedited review of the grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(ii) Under section 10 of this Act if the adverse determination involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is experimental or investigational and the covered person's treating physician certifies in writing that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the independent review organization conducting the external review in accordance with the provisions of section 9 or 10 of this Act shall determine whether the covered person shall be required to complete the expedited review process set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] before it conducts the expedited external review.

(c) Upon a determination made pursuant to subparagraph (b) of this paragraph that the covered person must first complete the expedited grievance review process set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act], the independent review organization immediately shall notify the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of this determination and that it will not proceed with the expedited external review set forth in section 9 of this Act until completion of the expedited grievance review process and the covered person's grievance at the completion of the expedited grievance review process remains unresolved.

(2) A request for an external review of an adverse determination may be made before the covered person has exhausted the heath carrier's internal grievance procedures as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to section 7 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] whenever the health carrier agrees to waive the exhaustion requirement.

C. If the requirement to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance procedures is waived under subsection B(2), the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request in writing for a standard external review as set forth in section 8 or 10 of this Act.

Drafting Note: States that do not require exhaustion of the internal grievance process prior to filing a request for external review should not adopt this section.

Section 8. Standard External Review

A. (1) Within four (4) months after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to section 5 of this Act, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for an external review with the commissioner.

(2) Within one (1) business day after the date of receipt of a request for external review pursuant to paragraph (1), the commissioner shall send a copy of the request to the health carrier.

B. Within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the copy of the external review request from the commissioner under subsection A(2), the health carrier shall complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(1) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service was provided;

(2) The health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or the final adverse determination is a covered service under the covered person's health benefit plan, but for a determination by the health carrier that the health care service is not covered because it does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness;

(3) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to section 7 of this Act; and

(4) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required to process an external review, including the release form provided under section 5B of this Act.

C. (1) Within one (1) business day after completion of the preliminary review, the health carrier shall notify the commissioner and covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request is eligible for external review.

(2) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the health carrier shall inform the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and the commissioner in writing and include in the notice what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not eligible for external review, the health carrier shall inform the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and the commissioner in writing and include in the notice the reasons for its ineligibility.

(3) (a) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under this subsection and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(b) The notice of initial determination shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that the external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(4) (a) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under section 8B of this Act notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination that the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(b) In making a determination under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

D. (1) Whenever the commissioner receives a notice that a request is eligible for external review following the preliminary review conducted pursuant to subsection C, within one (1) business day after the date of receipt of the notice, the commissioner shall:

(a) Assign an independent review organization from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act to conduct the external review and notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization; and

(b) Notify in writing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the request's eligibility and acceptance for external review.

(2) In reaching a decision, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review Model and Benefit Determination Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

(4) The commissioner shall include in the notice provided to the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit in writing to the assigned independent review organization within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1) additional information that the independent review organization shall consider when conducting the external review. The independent review organization is not required to, but may, accept and consider additional information submitted after five (5) business days.

E. (1) Within five (5) business days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to section D(1), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) If the health carrier or its utilization review organization fails to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Within one (1) business day after making the decision under subparagraph (a), the independent review organization shall notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner.

F. (1) The assigned independent review organization shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to subsection E and any other information submitted in writing to the independent review organization by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(3).

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(3), the assigned independent review organization shall within one (1) business day forward the information to the health carrier.

G. (1) Upon receipt of the information, if any, required to be forwarded pursuant to subsection F(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may only be terminated if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Within one (1) business day after making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

H. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to subsection E, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which shall include applicable evidence-based standards and may include any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations;

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization; and

(7) The opinion of the independent review organization's clinical reviewer or reviewers after considering paragraphs (1) through (6) to the extent the information or documents are available and the clinical reviewer or reviewers consider appropriate.

I. (1) Within forty-five (45) days after the date of receipt of the request for an external review, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written notice of its decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or the final adverse determination to:

(a) The covered person;

(b) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(c) The health carrier; and

(d) The commissioner.

(2) The independent review organization shall include in the notice sent pursuant to paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The date the independent review organization received the assignment from the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(c) The date the external review was conducted;

(d) The date of its decision;

(e) The principal reason or reasons for its decision, including what applicable, if any, evidence-based standards were a basis for its decision;

(f) The rationale for its decision; and

(g) References to the evidence or documentation, including the evidence-based standards, considered in reaching its decision.

(3) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

J. The assignment by the commissioner of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be done on a random basis among those approved independent review organizations qualified to conduct the particular external review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination and other circumstances, including conflict of interest concerns pursuant to section 13D of this Act.

Section 9. Expedited External Review

A. Except as provided in subsection F, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make a request for an expedited external review with the commissioner at the time the covered person receives:

(1) An adverse determination if:

(a) The adverse determination involves a medical condition of the covered person for which the timeframe for completion of an expedited internal review of a grievance involving an adverse determination set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; and

(b) The covered person or the covered person's authorized representative has filed a request for an expedited review of a grievance involving an adverse determination as set forth in [insert reference in State law equivalent to section 10 of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act]; or

(2) A final adverse determination:

(a) If the covered person has a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review pursuant to section 8 of this Act would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function; or

(b) If the final adverse determination concerns an admission, availability of care, continued stay or health care service for which the covered person received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility.

B. (1) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review, the commissioner immediately shall send a copy of the request to the health carrier.

(2) Immediately upon receipt of the request pursuant to paragraph (1), the health carrier shall determine whether the request meets the reviewability requirements set forth in section 8B of this Act. The health carrier shall immediately notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of its eligibility determination.

(3) (a) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under this subsection and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(b) The notice of initial determination shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that an external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(4) (a) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under section 8B of this Act notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination that the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(b) In making a determination under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

(5) Upon receipt of the notice that the request meets the reviewability requirements, the commissioner immediately shall assign an independent review organization to conduct the expedited external review from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act. The commissioner shall immediately notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization.

(6) In reaching a decision in accordance with subsection E, the assigned independent review organization is not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

C. Upon receipt of the notice from the commissioner of the name of the independent review organization assigned to conduct the expedited external review pursuant to subsection B(5), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

. In addition to the documents and information provided or transmitted pursuant to subsection C, the assigned independent review organization, to the extent the information or documents are available and the independent review organization considers them appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching a decision:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative or the covered person's treating provider;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that the independent review organization's decision is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(5) The most appropriate practice guidelines, which shall include evidence-based standards, and may include any other practice guidelines developed by the federal government, national or professional medical societies, boards and associations;

(6) Any applicable clinical review criteria developed and used by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization in making adverse determinations; and

(6) The opinion of the independent review organization's clinical reviewer or reviewers after considering paragraphs (1) through (6) to the extent the information and documents are available and the clinical reviewer or reviewers consider appropriate.

E. (1) As expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than seventy-two (72) hours after the date of receipt of the request for an expedited external review that meets the reviewability requirements set forth in section 8B of this Act, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination; and

(b) Notify the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner of the decision.

(2) If the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1) was not in writing, within forty-eight (48) hours after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Provide written confirmation of the decision to the covered person, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative, the health carrier, and the commissioner; and

(b) Include the information set forth in section 8I(2) of this Act.

(3) Upon receipt of the notice a decision pursuant to paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve the coverage that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

F. An expedited external review may not be provided for retrospective adverse or final adverse determinations.

G. The assignment by the commissioner of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be done on a random basis among those approved independent review organizations qualified to conduct the particular external review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination and other circumstances, including conflict of interest concerns pursuant to section 13D of this Act.

Section 10. External Review of Experimental or Investigational Treatment Adverse Determinations

A. (1) Within four (4) months after the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to section 5 of this Act that involves a denial of coverage based on a determination that the health care service or treatment recommended or requested is experimental or investigational, a covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may file a request for external review with the commissioner.

(2) (a) A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may make an oral request for an expedited external review of the adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to paragraph (1) if the covered person's treating physician certifies, in writing, that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the request would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.

(b) Upon receipt of a request for an expedited external review, the commissioner immediately shall notify the health carrier.

(c) (i) Upon notice of the request for expedited external review, the health carrier immediately shall determine whether the request meets the reviewability requirements of subsection B. The health carrier shall immediately notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of its eligibility determination.

(ii) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under item (i) and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(iii) The notice of initial determination under item (i) shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that the external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(d) (i) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under subsection B(2) notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(ii) In making a determination under item (i), the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

(e) Upon receipt of the notice that the expedited external review request meets the reviewability requirements of subsection B(2), the commissioner immediately shall assign an independent review organization to review the expedited request from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act and notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization.

(f) At the time the health carrier receives the notice of the assigned independent review organization pursuant to subparagraph (e) of this paragraph, the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide or transmit all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse determination or final adverse determination to the assigned independent review organization electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method.

B. (1) Except for a request for an expedited external review made pursuant to subsection A(2), within one (1) business day after the date of receipt of the request, the commissioner receives a request for an external review, the commissioner shall notify the health carrier.

(2) Within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the notice sent pursuant to paragraph (1), the health carrier shall conduct and complete a preliminary review of the request to determine whether:

(a) The individual is or was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was recommended or requested or, in the case of a retrospective review, was a covered person in the health benefit plan at the time the health care service or treatment was provided;

(b) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination:

(i) Is a covered benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan except for the health carrier's determination that the service or treatment is experimental or investigational for a particular medical condition; and

(ii) Is not explicitly listed as an excluded benefit under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier;

(c) The covered person's treating physician has certified that one of the following situations is applicable:

(i) Standard health care services or treatments have not been effective in improving the condition of the covered person;

(ii) Standard health care services or treatments are not medically appropriate for the covered person; or

(iii) There is no available standard health care service or treatment covered by the health carrier that is more beneficial than the recommended or requested health care service or treatment described in subparagraph (d) of this paragraph;

(d) The covered person's treating physician:

(i) Has recommended a health care service or treatment that the physician certifies, in writing, is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person, in the physician's opinion, than any available standard health care services or treatments; or

(ii) Who is a licensed, board certified or board eligible physician qualified to practice in the area of medicine appropriate to treat the covered person's condition, has certified in writing that scientifically valid studies using accepted protocols demonstrate that the health care service or treatment requested by the covered person that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments;

(e) The covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act] unless the covered person is not required to exhaust the health carrier's internal grievance process pursuant to section 7 of this Act; and

(f) The covered person has provided all the information and forms required by the commissioner that are necessary to process an external review, including the release form provided under section 5B of this Act.

C. (1) Within one (1) business day after completion of the preliminary review, the health carrier shall notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative in writing whether:

(a) The request is complete; and

(b) The request is eligible for external review.

(2) If the request:

(a) Is not complete, the health carrier shall inform in writing the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative and include in the notice what information or materials are needed to make the request complete; or

(b) Is not eligible for external review, the health carrier shall inform the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, and the commissioner in writing and include in the notice the reasons for its ineligibility.

(3) (a) The commissioner may specify the form for the health carrier's notice of initial determination under paragraph (2) and any supporting information to be included in the notice.

(b) The notice of initial determination provided under paragraph (2) shall include a statement informing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative that a health carrier's initial determination that the external review request is ineligible for review may be appealed to the commissioner.

(4) (a) The commissioner may determine that a request is eligible for external review under subsection B(2) notwithstanding a health carrier's initial determination that the request is ineligible and require that it be referred for external review.

(b) In making a determination under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the commissioner's decision shall be made in accordance with the terms of the covered person's health benefit plan and shall be subject to all applicable provisions of this Act.

(5) Whenever a request for external review is determined eligible for external review, the health carrier shall notify the commissioner and the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative.

D. (1) Within one (1) business day after the receipt of the notice from the health carrier that the external review request is eligible for external review pursuant to subsection A(2)(d) or subsection C(5), the commissioner shall:

(a) Assign an independent review organization to conduct the external review from the list of approved independent review organizations compiled and maintained by the commissioner pursuant to section 12 of this Act and notify the health carrier of the name of the assigned independent review organization; and

(b) Notify in writing the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative of the request's eligibility and acceptance for external review.

(2) The commissioner shall include in the notice provided to the covered person and, if applicable, the covered person's authorized representative a statement that the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may submit in writing to the assigned independent review organization within five (5) business days following the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1) additional information that the independent review organization shall consider when conducting the external review. The independent review organization is not required to, but may, accept and consider additional information submitted after five (5) business days.

(3) Within one (1) business day after the receipt of the notice of assignment to conduct the external review pursuant to paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization shall:

(a) Select one or more clinical reviewers, as it determines is appropriate, pursuant to paragraph (4) to conduct the external review; and

(b) Based on the opinion of the clinical reviewer, or opinions if more than one clinical reviewer has been selected to conduct the external review, make a decision to uphold or reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) In selecting clinical reviewers pursuant to paragraph (3)(a), the assigned independent review organization shall select physicians or other health care professionals who meet the minimum qualifications described in section 13 of this Act and, through clinical experience in the past three (3) years, are experts in the treatment of the covered person's condition and knowledgeable about the recommended or requested health care service or treatment.

(b) Neither the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, nor the health carrier shall choose or control the choice of the physicians or other health care professionals to be selected to conduct the external review.

(5) In accordance with subsection H, each clinical reviewer shall provide a written opinion to the assigned independent review organization on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(6) In reaching an opinion, clinical reviewers are not bound by any decisions or conclusions reached during the health carrier's utilization review process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act] or the health carrier's internal grievance process as set forth in [insert reference to State law equivalent to the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Model Act].

E. (1) Within five (5) business days after the date of receipt of the notice provided pursuant to subsection D(1), the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization shall provide to the assigned independent review organization, the documents and any information considered in making the adverse determination or the final adverse determination.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph (3), failure by the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1) shall not delay the conduct of the external review.

(3) (a) If the health carrier or its designee utilization review organization has failed to provide the documents and information within the time specified in paragraph (1), the assigned independent review organization may terminate the external review and make a decision to reverse the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) Immediately upon making the decision under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the independent review organization shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, if applicable, the health carrier, and the commissioner.

F. (1) Each clinical reviewer selected pursuant to subsection D shall review all of the information and documents received pursuant to subsection E and any other information submitted in writing by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(2).

(2) Upon receipt of any information submitted by the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative pursuant to subsection D(2), within one (1) business day after the receipt of the information, the assigned independent review organization shall forward the information to the health carrier.

G. (1) Upon receipt of the information required to be forwarded pursuant to subsection F(2), the health carrier may reconsider its adverse determination or final adverse determination that is the subject of the external review.

(2) Reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination pursuant to paragraph (1) shall not delay or terminate the external review.

(3) The external review may terminated only if the health carrier decides, upon completion of its reconsideration, to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination and provide coverage or payment for the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(4) (a) Immediately upon making the decision to reverse its adverse determination or final adverse determination, as provided in paragraph (3), the health carrier shall notify the covered person, the covered person's authorized representative if applicable, the assigned independent review organization, and the commissioner in writing of its decision.

(b) The assigned independent review organization shall terminate the external review upon receipt of the notice from the health carrier sent pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

H. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (3), within twenty (20) days after being selected in accordance with subsection D to conduct the external review, each clinical reviewer shall provide an opinion to the assigned independent review organization pursuant to subsection I on whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered.

(2) Except for an opinion provided pursuant to paragraph (3), each clinical reviewer's opinion shall be in writing and include the following information:

(a) A description of the covered person's medical condition;

(b) A description of the indicators relevant to determining whether there is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments;

(c) A description and analysis of any medical or scientific evidence, as that term is defined in section 3DD of this Act, considered in reaching the opinion;

(d) A description and analysis of any evidence-based standard, as that term is defined in section 3S of this Act; and

(e) Information on whether the reviewer's rationale for the opinion is based on subsection I(5)(a) or (b).

(3) (a) For an expedited external review, each clinical reviewer shall provide an opinion orally or in writing to the assigned independent review organization as expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition or circumstances requires, but in no event more than five (5) calendar days after being selected in accordance with subsection D.

(b) If the opinion provided pursuant to subparagraph (a) of this paragraph was not in writing, within forty-eight (48) hours following the date the opinion was provided, the clinical reviewer shall provide written confirmation of the opinion to the assigned independent review organization and include the information required under paragraph (2).

I. In addition to the documents and information provided pursuant to subsection A(2) or subsection E, each clinical reviewer selected pursuant to subsection D, to the extent the information or documents are available and the reviewer considers appropriate, shall consider the following in reaching an opinion pursuant to subsection H:

(1) The covered person's pertinent medical records;

(2) The attending physician or health care professional's recommendation;

(3) Consulting reports from appropriate health care professionals and other documents submitted by the health carrier, covered person, the covered person's authorized representative, or the covered person's treating physician or health care professional;

(4) The terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier to ensure that, but for the health carrier's determination that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that is the subject of the opinion is experimental or investigational, the reviewer's opinion is not contrary to the terms of coverage under the covered person's health benefit plan with the health carrier; and

(5) Whether:

(a) The recommended or requested health care service or treatment has been approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration, if applicable, for the condition; or

(b) Medical or scientific evidence or evidence-based standards demonstrate that the expected benefits of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment is more likely than not to be beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care service or treatment and the adverse risks of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment would not be substantially increased over those of available standard health care services or treatments.

J. (1) (a) Except as provided in subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, within twenty (20) days after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical reviewer pursuant to subsection I, the assigned independent review organization, in accordance with paragraph (2), shall make a decision and provide written notice of the decision to:

(i) The covered person;

(ii) If applicable, the covered person's authorized representative;

(iii) The health carrier; and

(iv) The commissioner.

(b) (i) For an expedited external review, within forty-eight (48) hours after the date it receives the opinion of each clinical reviewer pursuant to subsection I, the assigned independent review organization, in accordance with paragraph (2), shall make a decision and provide notice of the decision orally or in writing to the persons listed in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

(ii) If the notice provided under item (i) was not in writing, within forty-eight (48) hours after the date of providing that notice, the assigned independent review organization shall provide written confirmation of the decision to the persons listed in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph and include the information set forth in paragraph (3).

(2) (a) If a majority of the clinical reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to reverse the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(b) If a majority of the clinical reviewers recommend that the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should not be covered, the independent review organization shall make a decision to uphold the health carrier's adverse determination or final adverse determination.

(c) (i) If the clinical reviewers are evenly split as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered, the independent review organization shall obtain the opinion of an additional clinical reviewer in order for the independent review organization to make a decision based on the opinions of a majority of the clinical reviewers pursuant to subparagraph (a) or (b) of this paragraph.

(ii) The additional clinical reviewer selected under item (i) shall use the same information to reach an opinion as the clinical reviewers who have already submitted their opinions pursuant to subsection I.

(iii) The selection of the additional clinical reviewer under this subparagraph shall not extend the time within which the assigned independent review organization is required to make a decision based on the opinions of the clinical reviewers selected under subsection D pursuant to paragraph (1).

(3) The independent review organization shall include in the notice provided pursuant to paragraph (1):

(a) A general description of the reason for the request for external review;

(b) The written opinion of each clinical reviewer, including the recommendation of each clinical reviewer as to whether the recommended or requested health care service or treatment should be covered and the rationale for the reviewer's recommendation;

(c) The date the independent review organization was assigned by the commissioner to conduct the external review;

(d) The date the external review was conducted;

(e) The date of its decision;

(f) The principal reason or reasons for its decision; and

(g) The rationale for its decision.

(4) Upon receipt of a notice of a decision pursuant to paragraph (1) reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination, the health carrier immediately shall approve coverage of the recommended or requested health care service or treatment that was the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination.

L. The assignment by the commissioner of an approved independent review organization to conduct an external review in accordance with this section shall be done on a random basis among those approved independent review organizations qualified to conduct the particular external review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination and other circumstances, including conflict of interest concerns pursuant to section 13D of this Act.

Section 11. Binding Nature of External Review Decision

A. An external review decision is binding on the health carrier except to the extent the health carrier has other remedies available under applicable State law.

B. An external review decision is binding on the covered person except to the extent the covered person has other remedies available under applicable federal or State law.

C. A covered person or the covered person's authorized representative may not file a subsequent request for external review involving the same adverse determination or final adverse determination for which the covered person has already received an external review decision pursuant to this Act.

Section 12. Approval of Independent Review Organizations

A. The commissioner shall approve independent review organizations eligible to be assigned to conduct external reviews under this Act.

B. In order to be eligible for approval by the commissioner under this section to conduct external reviews under this Act an independent review organization:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, shall be accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity that the commissioner has determined has independent review organization accreditation standards that are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications for independent review organizations established under section 13 of this Act; and

(2) Shall submit an application for approval in accordance with subsection D.

C. The commissioner shall develop an application form for initially approving and for reapproving independent review organizations to conduct external reviews.

D. (1) Any independent review organization wishing to be approved to conduct external reviews under this Act shall submit the application form and include with the form all documentation and information necessary for the commissioner to determine if the independent review organization satisfies the minimum qualifications established under section 13 of this Act.

(2) (a) Subject to subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, an independent review organization is eligible for approval under this section only if it is accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity that the commissioner has determined has independent review organization accreditation standards that are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications for independent review organizations under section 13 of this Act.

(b) The commissioner may approve independent review organizations that are not accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity if there are no acceptable nationally recognized private accrediting entities providing independent review organization accreditation.

(3) The commissioner may charge an application fee that independent review organizations shall submit to the commissioner with an application for approval and re-approval.

E. (1) An approval is effective for two (2) years, unless the commissioner determines before its expiration that the independent review organization is not satisfying the minimum qualifications established under section 13 of this Act.

(2) Whenever the commissioner determines that an independent review organization has lost its accreditation or no longer satisfies the minimum requirements established under section 13 of this Act, the commissioner shall terminate the approval of the independent review organization and remove the independent review organization from the list of independent review organizations approved to conduct external reviews under this Act that is maintained by the commissioner pursuant to subsection F.

F. The commissioner shall maintain and periodically update a list of approved independent review organizations.

G. The commissioner may promulgate regulations to carry out the provisions of this section.

Section 13. Minimum Qualifications for Independent Review Organizations

A. To be approved under section 12 of this Act to conduct external reviews, an independent review organization shall have and maintain written policies and procedures that govern all aspects of both the standard external review process and the expedited external review process set forth in this Act that include, at a minimum:

(1) A quality assurance mechanism in place that:

(a) Ensures that external reviews are conducted within the specified time frames and required notices are provided in a timely manner;

(b) Ensures the selection of qualified and impartial clinical reviewers to conduct external reviews on behalf of the independent review organization and suitable matching of reviewers to specific cases and that the independent review organization employs or contracts with an adequate number of clinical reviewers to meet this objective;

(c) Ensures the confidentiality of medical and treatment records and clinical review criteria; and

(d) Ensures that any person employed by or under contract with the independent review organization adheres to the requirements of this Act;

(2) A toll-free telephone service to receive information on a 24-hour-day, 7-day-a-week basis related to external reviews that is capable of accepting, recording or providing appropriate instruction to incoming telephone callers during other than normal business hours; and

(3) Agree to maintain and provide to the commissioner the information set out in section 15 of this Act.

B. All clinical reviewers assigned by an independent review organization to conduct external reviews shall be physicians or other appropriate health care providers who meet the following minimum qualifications:

(1) Be an expert in the treatment of the covered person's medical condition that is the subject of the external review;

(2) Be knowledgeable about the recommended health care service or treatment through recent or current actual clinical experience treating patients with the same or similar medical condition of the covered person;

(3) Hold a non-restricted license in a State of the United States and, for physicians, a current certification by a recognized American medical specialty board in the area or areas appropriate to the subject of the external review; and

(4) Have no history of disciplinary actions or sanctions, including loss of staff privileges or participation restrictions, that have been taken or are pending by any hospital, governmental agency or unit, or regulatory body that raise a substantial question as to the clinical reviewer's physical, mental or professional competence or moral character.

C. In addition to the requirements set forth in subsection A, an independent review organization may not own or control, be a subsidiary of or in any way be owned or controlled by, or exercise control with a health benefit plan, a national, State or local trade association of health benefit plans, or a national, State or local trade association of health care providers.

D. (1) In addition to the requirements set forth in subsections A, B and C, to be approved pursuant to section 12 of this Act to conduct an external review of a specified case, neither the independent review organization selected to conduct the external review nor any clinical reviewer assigned by the independent organization to conduct the external review may have a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest with any of the following:

(a) The health carrier that is the subject of the external review;

(b) The covered person whose treatment is the subject of the external review or the covered person's authorized representative;

(c) Any officer, director or management employee of the health carrier that is the subject of the external review;

(d) The health care provider, the health care provider's medical group or independent practice association recommending the health care service or treatment that is the subject of the external review;

(e) The facility at which the recommended health care service or treatment would be provided; or

(f) The developer or manufacturer of the principal drug, device, procedure or other therapy being recommended for the covered person whose treatment is the subject of the external review.

(2) In determining whether an independent review organization or a clinical reviewer of the independent review organization has a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest for purposes of paragraph (1), the commissioner shall take into consideration situations where the independent review organization to be assigned to conduct an external review of a specified case or a clinical reviewer to be assigned by the independent review organization to conduct an external review of a specified case may have an apparent professional, familial or financial relationship or connection with a person described in paragraph (1), but that the characteristics of that relationship or connection are such that they are not a material professional, familial or financial conflict of interest that results in the disapproval of the independent review organization or the clinical reviewer from conducting the external review.

Drafting Note: In applying subsection D, States should be aware that conflict of interest questions involving independent review organizations and clinical reviewers might arise in a variety of situations. For example, conflict of interest questions may arise when a health care provider, including a physician or other health care professional, who is a clinical reviewer for an independent review organization or an academic medical center, or other similar medical research center, which is seeking to be an approved independent review organization, has a contract to provide health care services to enrollees of the health carrier that is the subject of an external review or when a health care provider, including a physician or other health care professional, who is a clinical reviewer for an independent review organization, has staff privileges at the facility where the recommended health care service or treatment would be provided if the health carrier's adverse or final adverse determination is reversed. The question for States to consider is whether a relationship or connection with persons involved in an external review is a material conflict of interest such that the objectivity of the independent review organization to be assigned to conduct the external review or any clinical reviewer to be assigned by the independent review organization to conduct the external review may actually be or may perceived to be negatively impacted. Whether the relationship or connection is a material conflict of interest will depend on the characteristics of each State's market. Therefore, States should consider adding provisions to this section that provide additional guidelines or procedures to address this issue given their local market characteristics.

E. (1) An independent review organization that is accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity that has independent review accreditation standards that the commissioner has determined are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications of this section shall be presumed in compliance with this section to be eligible for approval under section 12 of this Act.

(2) The commissioner shall initially review and periodically review the independent review organization accreditation standards of a nationally recognized private accrediting entity to determine whether the entity's standards are, and continue to be, equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications established under this section. The commissioner may accept a review conducted by the NAIC for the purpose of the determination under this paragraph.

(3) Upon request, a nationally recognized private accrediting entity shall make its current independent review organization accreditation standards available to the commissioner or the NAIC in order for the commissioner to determine if the entity's standards are equivalent to or exceed the minimum qualifications established under this section. The commissioner may exclude any private accrediting entity that is not reviewed by the NAIC.

F. An independent review organization shall be unbiased. An independent review organization shall establish and maintain written procedures to ensure that it is unbiased in addition to any other procedures required under this section.

Section 14. Hold Harmless for Independent Review Organizations

No independent review organization or clinical reviewer working on behalf of an independent review organization or an employee, agent or contractor of an independent review organization shall be liable in damages to any person for any opinions rendered or acts or omissions performed within the scope of the organization's or person's duties under the law during or upon completion of an external review conducted pursuant to this Act, unless the opinion was rendered or act or omission performed in bad faith or involved gross negligence.

Section 15. External Review Reporting Requirements

A. (1) An independent review organization assigned pursuant to section 8, section 9 or section 10 of this Act to conduct an external review shall maintain written records in the aggregate by State and by health carrier on all requests for external review for which it conducted an external review during a calendar year and, upon request, submit a report to the commissioner, as required under paragraph (2).

(2) Each independent review organization required to maintain written records on all requests for external review pursuant to paragraph (1) for which it was assigned to conduct an external review shall submit to the commissioner, upon request, a report in the format specified by the commissioner.

(3) The report shall include in the aggregate by State, and for each health carrier:

(a) The total number of requests for external review;

(b) The number of requests for external review resolved and, of those resolved, the number resolved upholding the adverse determination or final adverse determination and the number resolved reversing the adverse determination or final adverse determination;

(b) The average length of time for resolution;

(d) A summary of the types of coverages or cases for which an external review was sought, as provided in the format required by the commissioner;

(e) The number of external reviews pursuant to section 8G of this Act that were terminated as the result of a reconsideration by the health carrier of its adverse determination or final adverse determination after the receipt of additional information from the covered person or the covered person's authorized representative; and

(f) Any other information the commissioner may request or require.

(4) The independent review organization shall retain the written records required pursuant to this subsection for at least three (3) years.

B. (1) Each health carrier shall maintain written records in the aggregate, by State and for each type of health benefit plan offered by the health carrier on all requests for external review that the health carrier receives notice of from the commissioner pursuant to this Act.

(2) Each health carrier required to maintain written records on all requests for external review pursuant to paragraph (1) shall submit to the commissioner, upon request, a report in the format specified by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model report format form the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

(3) The report shall include in the aggregate, by State, and by type of health benefit plan:

(a) The total number of requests for external review;

(b) From the total number of requests for external review reported under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the number of requests determined eligible for a full external review; and

(c) Any other information the commissioner may request or require.

(4) The health carrier shall retain the written records required pursuant to this subsection for at least three (3) years.

Section 16. Funding of External Review

The health carrier against which a request for a standard external review or an expedited external review is filed shall pay the cost of the independent review organization for conducting the external review.

Section 17. Disclosure Requirements

A. (1) Each health carrier shall include a description of the external review procedures in or attached to the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage or other evidence of coverage it provides to covered persons.

(2) The disclosure required by paragraph (1) shall be in a format prescribed by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to use the model disclosure form the NAIC Regulatory Framework Task Force plans to develop.

B. The description required under subsection A shall include a statement that informs the covered person of the right of the covered person to file a request for an external review of an adverse determination or final adverse determination with the commissioner. The statement may explain that external review is available when the adverse determination or final adverse determination involves an issue of medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness. The statement shall include the telephone number and address of the commissioner.

C. In addition to subsection B, the statement shall inform the covered person that, when filing a request for an external review, the covered person will be required to authorize the release of any medical records of the covered person that may be required to be reviewed for the purpose of reaching a decision on the external review.

Section 18. Severability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 19. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

Appendix A – Model Notice of Appeal Rights

NOTICE OF APPEAL RIGHTS

You have a right to appeal any decision we make that denies payment on your claim or your request for coverage of a health care service or treatment.

You may request more explanation when your claim or request for coverage of a health care service or treatment is denied or the health care service or treatment you received was not fully covered. Contact[1] us when you:

- Do not understand the reason for the denial;
- Do not understand why the health care service or treatment was not fully covered;
- Do not understand why a request for coverage of a health care service or treatment was denied;
- Cannot find the applicable provision in your Benefit Plan Document;
- Want a copy (free of charge) of the guideline, criteria or clinical rationale that we used to make our decision; or
- Disagree with the denial or the amount not covered and you want to appeal.

If your claim was denied due to missing or incomplete information, you or your health care provider may resubmit the claim to us with the necessary information to complete the claim.[1]

Appeals: All appeals for claim denials (or any decision that does not cover expenses you believe should have been covered) must be sent to [insert address of where appeals should be sent to the health carrier] within 180 days of the date you receive our denial.[2] We will provide a full and fair review of your claim by individuals associated with us, but who were not involved in making the initial denial of your claim. You may provide us with additional information that relates to your claim and you may request copies of information that we have that pertains to your claims. We will notify you of our decision in writing within 60 days of receiving your appeal.[3] If you do not receive our decision within 60 days of receiving your appeal[3], you may be entitled to file a request for external review.[4]

External Review[4]: We have denied your request for the provision of or payment for a health care service or course of treatment. You may have a right to have our decision reviewed by independent health care professionals who have no association with us if our decision involved making a judgment as to the medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness of the health care service or treatment you requested by submitting a request for external review within 4 months after receipt of this notice to the Office of the Insurance Commissioner [insert address and telephone number of the office of the insurance commissioner or other unit in the office that administers the external review program]. For standard external review, a decision will be made within 45 days of receiving your request. If you have a medical condition that would seriously jeopardize your life or health or would jeopardize your ability to regain maximum function if treatment is delayed, you may be entitled to request an expedited external review of our denial. If our denial to provide or pay for health care service or course of treatment is based on a determination that the service or treatment is experimental or investigation, you also may be entitled to file a request for external review of our denial. For details, please review your Benefit Plan Document, contact us or contact your state insurance department.[1]

[1] See address and telephone number on the enclosed Explanation of Benefits if you have questions about this notice.
[2] Unless your plan or any applicable state law allows you additional time.
[3] Some states and plans allow you more (or less) time to file an appeal and less (or more) time for our decision. See your Benefit Plan Document for your state's appeal process.
[4] See your Benefit Plan Document for your state's appeal process and to determine if you're eligible to request an external review in your state (e.g. some state appeal processes require you to complete your insurer's appeal process before filing an external review request unless waived by your insurer; while some states do not have such a requirement).

Appendix B – Model External Review Request Form

This EXTERNAL REVIEW REQUEST FORM must be filed with [insert state insurance department] within FOUR (4) MONTHS after receipt from your insurer of a denial of payment on a claim or request for coverage of a health care service or treatment.

HEALTH CARE SERVICE OR TREATMENT DECISION IN DISPUTE

DESCRIBE IN YOUR OWN WORDS THE DISAGREEMENT WITH YOUR HEALTH CARRIER. INDICATE CLEARLY THE SERVICE(S) BEING DENIED AND THE SPECIFIC DATE(S) BEING DENIED. EXPLAIN WHY YOU DISAGREE. ATTACH ADDITIONAL PAGES IF NECESSARY AND INCLUDE AVAILABLE PERTINENT MEDICAL RECORDS, ANY INFORMATION YOU RECEIVED FROM YOUR HEALTH CARRIER CONCERNING THE DENIAL, ANY PERTINENT PEER LITERATURE OR CLINICAL STUDIES, AND ANY ADDITIONAL INFORMATION FROM YOUR PHYSICIAN/HEALTH CARE PROVIDER THAT YOU WANT THE INDEPENDENT REVIEW ORGANIZATION REVIEWER TO CONSIDER.

WHAT TO SEND AND WHERE TO SEND IT

PLEASE CHECK BELOW (NOTE: YOUR REQUEST WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED FOR FULL REVIEW UNLESS ALL FOUR (4) ITEMS BELOW ARE INCLUDED*)

1. ☐ YES, I have included this completed application form signed and dated.

2. ☐ YES, I have included a photocopy of my insurance identification card or other evidence showing that I am insured by the health insurance company named in this application;

3. ☐ YES*, I have enclosed the letter from my health carrier or utilization review company that states:
   (a) Their decision is final and that I have exhausted all internal review procedures; or
   (b) They have waived the requirement to exhaust all of the health carrier's internal review procedures.

You may make a request for external review without exhausting all internal review procedures under certain circumstances. You should contact the Office of the Insurance Commissioner [insert address and telephone number of the office of the insurance commissioner or other unit in the office that administers the external review program].

4. ☐ YES, I have included a copy of my certificate of coverage or my insurance policy benefit booklet, which lists the benefits under my health benefit plan.

*Call the Insurance Department at [insert appropriate telephone number(s)] if you need help in completing this application or if you do not have one or more of the above items and would like information on alternative ways to complete your request for external review.

If you are requesting a standard external review, send all paperwork to: [insert address where paperwork should be mailed].

If you are requesting an expedited external review, call the Insurance Department before sending your paperwork, and you will receive instructions on the quickest way to submit the application and supporting information.

CERTIFICATION OF TREATING HEALTH CARE PROVIDER FOR EXPEDITED CONSIDERATION OF A PATIENT'S EXTERNAL REVIEW APPEAL

NOTE TO THE TREATING HEALTH CARE PROVIDER

Patients can request an external review when a health carrier has denied a health care service or course of treatment on the basis of a utilization review determination that the requested health care service or course of treatment does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care or effectiveness of the health care service or treatment you requested. The [insert name of state insurance department] oversees external appeals. The standard external review process can take up to 45 days from the date the patient's request for external review is received by our department. Expedited external review is available only if the patient's treating health care provider certifies that adherence to the time frame for the standard external review would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function. An expedited external review must be completed at most within 72 hours. This form is for the purpose of providing the certification necessary to trigger expedited review.

EXPERIMENTAL/INVESTIGATIONAL DENIALS
(To Be Completed by Treating Physician)

I hereby certify that I am the treating physician for _____ (covered person's name) and that I have requested the authorization for a drug, device, procedure or therapy denied for coverage due to the insurance company's determination that the proposed therapy is experimental and/or investigational. I understand that in order for the covered person to obtain the right to an external review of this denial, as treating physician I must certify that the covered person's medical condition meets certain requirements:

In my medical opinion as the Insured's treating physician, I hereby certify to the following:
(Please check all that apply) (NOTE: Requirements #1 - #3 below must all apply for the covered person to qualify for an external review).

☐ 1) The covered person has a terminal medical condition, life threatening condition, or a seriously debilitating condition.

☐ 2) The covered person has a condition that qualifies under one or more of the following:
[please indicate which description(s) apply]:

☐ Standard health care services or treatments have not been effective in improving the covered person's condition;

☐ Standard health care services or treatments are not medically appropriate for the covered person; or

☐ There is no available standard health care service or treatment covered by the health carrier that is more beneficial than the requested or recommended health care service or treatment.

☐ 3) The health care service or treatment I have recommended and which has been denied, in my medical opinion, is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments.

☐ 4) The health care service or treatment recommended would be significantly less effective if not promptly initiated.
Explain:_____

_____

☐ 5) It is my medical opinion based on scientifically valid studies using accepted protocols that the health care service or treatment requested by the covered person and which has been denied is likely to be more beneficial to the covered person than any available standard health care services or treatments.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2010

UNIFORM HEALTH CARRIER EXTERNAL REVIEW MODEL ACT (#76)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The revisions to the Uniform Health Carrier External Review Model Act add four new appendices:

- Appendix A Model Notice of Appeal Rights
- Appendix B Model External Review Request Form
- Appendix C Model Independent Review Organization External Review Annual Report Form
- Appendix D Model Health Carrier External Review Annual Report Form

This model law was adopted by the full NAIC membership in 2008. The purpose of the model was to establish a national standard and uniform approach for processing, conducting, and making external review determinations. Although approximately 47 states have adopted external review laws, there is no uniformity among the states regarding external review processes. This model provides for a single-option approach for external review. The model included a requirement that the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force develop these appendices in an effort to promote uniformity among the states for these forms.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force of the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee drafted the model.

States Participating:

Nevada, Chair	Montana
Alabama	Nebraska
California	New Hampshire
Delaware	Ohio
Florida	Oregon
Idaho	Pennsylvania
Illinois	South Dakota
Indiana	Tennessee
Maine	Utah
Maryland	Vermont
Minnesota	Virginia
Mississippi	West Virginia
Missouri	Wisconsin

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The project was authorized in 2005 by the following charge: Review issues surrounding internal appeals and external review with respect to regulatory modernization and determine whether national standards are appropriate. If so, recommend an appropriate vehicle to achieve goals. It was delegated to the Regulatory Framework Task Force in 2006. The model was adopted by the full NAIC membership in 2008. These model notices are to be considered guidelines to this model act.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The model was drafted by the Task Force. Numerous interested parties participated, including industry representatives, such as the America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP) and the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (BCBSA); and other interested parties, such as the National Association of Independent Review Organizations (NAIRO); Families USA; and the Council for Affordable Health Insurance (CAHI).

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Drafts of the proposed model notices were distributed for comment prior to the 2008 Fall National Meeting. At the 2008 Fall National Meeting, the Task Force discussed the comments received on those drafts. Immediately following the 2009 Spring National Meeting, revised drafts of the proposed model notices were distributed for comment. At the 2009 Summer National Meeting, the Task Force discussed the comments received on these drafts. Following the 2009 Summer National Meeting, a third set of revised drafts were distributed for comment. The Task Force discussed the comments and adopted the model notices during a conference call on Oct. 13, 2009.

Comments were requested and were received and considered throughout the drafting process. In addition, all of the drafts of the proposed revisions were posted on the NAIC Web site. The comments were also posted on the NAIC Web site.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the drafting process and the group's response)

There were no significant issues or items of controversy raised during the drafting process. All of the comments received were of a technical nature.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2008

UNIFORM HEALTH CARRIER EXTERNAL REVIEW MODEL ACT #76)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

This model law was drafted to achieve a national standard and uniform approach for processing, conducting, and making external review determinations. Although over 45 states have adopted external review laws, there is no uniformity among the states regarding external review processes. This model provides for a single-option approach for external review.

In 2006, the full NAIC membership adopted the Health Policy Rate and Form Filing Model Act. That model was the result of one of two charges that the Committee had concerning regulatory modernization. The Committee's second charge was to review issues surrounding internal appeals and external review and make a determination on whether national standards for these processes were appropriate. This model completes part of this second charge. It will ensure uniformity among the states with respect to external review processes and procedures and, as a result, consumers will have the same or substantively similar regulatory protections available to them no matter where they reside.

Specifically, the model establishes a standard external review process that includes the following major provisions:

- All requests for external review must be filed with the commissioner within 4 months following the date of receipt of an adverse determination or final adverse determination.
- Upon receipt of the external review request, the commissioner notifies and forwards the request to the health carrier.
- The health carrier conducts a preliminary review of the request to determine if it is eligible for a full external review. Among the conditions that must be satisfied is whether the individual making the request is or was a covered person at the time the health care service in dispute was provided. The health carrier will also determine whether the health care service in dispute is a covered service.
- The commissioner has the authority to review and ultimately overturn a health carrier's determination that an external review request is ineligible for external review and require that it be referred to full external review.
- If the external review request is determined eligible for external review, the commissioner randomly assigns an independent review organization (IRO) to review the request. Specifically, the commissioner randomly assigns an approved IRO from those approved IROs qualified to conduct the particular review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination and other circumstances, including any conflict of interest concerns.
- The assigned IRO has 45 days after the date of receipt of the external review request to reach a standard external review decision.
- In reaching a decision, the IRO can review any information and documents it considers appropriate to the extent the information or documents are available. The IRO must also consider the opinion of the its clinical reviewer or reviewers after the reviewer or reviewers consider specified information and documents related to the external review request to the extent the information and documents are available and the reviewer or reviewers consider appropriate.
- In its written decision notice, the IRO must provide the principal reason or reasons for its decision, including what applicable, if any, evidence-based standards were a basis for its decision, the rationale for its decision and references to the evidence or documentation, including the evidence-based standards, considered in reaching its decision.

The model also includes provisions for an expedited external review and a standard and expedited external review of experimental or investigational treatment of adverse determinations or final adverse determinations.

In addition, the model also provides a streamlined method of approving IROs eligible to conduct external reviews. An IRO is eligible to conduct external reviews if it is accredited by a nationally recognized private accrediting entity that the commissioner has determined has IRO accreditation standards that are equivalent to or exceed the minimum requirements in the model act. Any IRO that has such accreditation is presumed in compliance with the model act's minimum requirements to be eligible to conduct external reviews. The commissioner must initially review and periodically review the IRO accreditation standards to ensure that those standards are and continue to be equivalent or exceed the model act's minimum requirements. The commissioner may, however, rely on a review conducted by the NAIC. The model also requires IROs to be unbiased. IROs must establish and maintain written procedures to ensure that they are unbiased.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force of the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee drafted the model.

States Participating:

Wisconsin, Chair	Missouri
California	Montana
Colorado	Nebraska
Delaware	Nevada
Florida	Ohio
Idaho	Oregon
Illinois	Rhode Island
Indiana	South Dakota
Iowa	Utah
Kansas	Vermont
Kentucky	Virginia
Maine	West Virginia

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The project was authorized in 2005 by the following charge: Review issues surrounding internal appeals and external review with respect to regulatory modernization and determine whether national standards are appropriate. If so, recommend an appropriate vehicle to achieve goals. It was delegated to the Regulatory Framework Task Force in 2006. At the 2007 Summer National Meeting, Executive/Plenary approved the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee's model law development request related to this charge.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The model was drafted by the Task Force. Numerous interested parties participated, including industry representatives, such as the America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP) and the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (BCBSA); accrediting body representatives, such as URAC and the National Committee on Quality Assurance (NCQA); the National Association of Independent Review Organizations (NAIRO); provider representatives, such as the American Medical Association (AMA) and the American Psychiatric Association (APA); and other interested parties, such as the Council for Affordable Health Insurance (CAHI).

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Beginning with the NAIC 2006 Winter National Meeting, drafts of the proposed revisions were reviewed and discussed at each National Meeting. The Task Force also held an informational hearing on the several issues related to the proposed model at the NAIC 2007 Spring National Meeting. Those issues included the use of evidence-based medicine in making external review decisions, the accreditation of independent review organizations (IROs) to conduct external review and the appropriate external review regulatory structure to be used to conduct external reviews. Comments were requested and were received and considered throughout the drafting process. In addition, all of the drafts of the proposed revisions were posted on the NAIC Web site. The comments were also posted on the NAIC Web site.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

The Task Force discussed and resolved a few significant issues during the drafting process.

The existing NAIC Health Carrier External Review Model Act includes three options that states can choose from in establishing an external review process. The options range from an approach that provides for extensive commissioner involvement under which the commissioner receives all external review requests, conducts the preliminary review to determine if the request is eligible for external review and, after considering the IRO's recommendation, makes the final external review determination to an approach that provides for very limited commissioner involvement under which the health carrier receives all external review requests and the IRO conducts the preliminary review for eligibility and makes the final external review determination. As such, one general issue discussed at the beginning of the drafting process concerned the degree of involvement of the commissioner in the external review process. In considering this issue, the Task Force also considered two related issues: (1) whether the commissioner or the consumer should select the IRO to conduct the external review; and (2) whether the health carrier, the IRO or the commissioner should conduct the preliminary review to determine whether an external request is eligible for a full external review.

After extensive discussion and debate during several meetings, the Task Force settled on something in between. It decided that the commissioner should receive all external review requests. The Task Force also decided that the health carrier should conduct the preliminary review of each external request for eligibility but gave the commissioner the authority to overturn a health carrier's ineligibility determination. In reaching this decision, the Task Force reasoned that the health carrier has the information necessary to decide whether: (1) the person is or was covered under the health benefit plan at the time the health care service in dispute was provided; (2) the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination is a covered service; (3) the covered person has exhausted the health carrier's internal review process, if applicable; and (4) all of the necessary forms have been provided. Also, IROs have medical expertise, not coverage expertise. The Task Force also reasoned that it was not efficient for the commissioner to conduct the preliminary review. For some states, there could be staffing and financial resource issues if the commissioner was required to conduct the preliminary review.

The Task Force also decided that it would be in the best interest of consumers if the commissioner selected the IRO. At the request of interested parties, however, the Task Force added language requiring the commissioner to select the IRO on a random basis among approved IROs qualified to conduct the particular external review based on the nature of the health care service that is the subject of the adverse determination or final adverse determination, including any conflict of interest considerations.

The Task Force also had extensive discussions on the appropriate use and consideration of evidence-based standards in reaching an external review decision. The AMA and the APA both raised concerns about requiring IROs to consider evidence-based standards in reaching an external review decision. They also raised concerns about the definition of "best evidence" and how this definition ranks "expert opinion" last in the list of what would be considered "best evidence." The Task Force decided to leave the definition of "best evidence" unchanged and the provisions in the proposed model concerning what information the IRO must consider in reaching an external review decision. This provision requires the IRO to consider evidence-based standards in reaching a decision but does not limit the IRO to basing a decision on these standards. The IRO can consider other standards, as it deems appropriate, and even base its decision on these other standards. However, the Task Force did decide to include specific language requiring the IRO to consider the opinion of its clinical reviewers in reaching an external review decision.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

MEDICAL PROFESSIONAL LIABILITY CLOSED CLAIM REPORTING MODEL LAW

Table of Contents

Drafting Introductory Note: This model law pertains to the collection of data necessary to accomplish the purpose stated in Section 1. It is not intended to discourage states from collecting additional data for other purposes.

Section 1. Statement of Purpose

This Act is intended to ensure the availability of closed claim data necessary for thorough analysis and understanding of issues associated with medical professional liability claims, in order to support the establishment and maintenance of sound public policy.

Section 2. Definitions

As used in this Act:

A. "Claim" means:

(1) A demand for monetary damages for injury or death caused by medical malpractice; or

(2) A voluntary indemnity payment for injury or death caused by medical malpractice.

B. "Claimant" means a person, including a decedent's estate, who is seeking or has sought monetary damages for injury or death caused by medical malpractice.

C. "Closed claim" means a claim that has been settled or otherwise disposed of by the insuring entity, self-insurer, facility or provider. A claim may be closed with or without an indemnity payment to a claimant.

D. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance.

E. "Companion claims" means separate claims involving the same incident of medical malpractice made against other providers or facilities.

F. "Economic damages" means objectively verifiable monetary losses, including medical expenses, loss of earnings, burial costs, loss of use of property, cost of replacement or repair, cost of obtaining substitute domestic services and loss of business or employment opportunities.

G. "Health care facility" or "facility" means a clinic, diagnostic center, hospital, laboratory, mental health center, nursing home, office, surgical facility, treatment facility or similar place where a health care provider provides health care to patients.

H. "Health care provider" or "provider" means:

(1) A person licensed to provide health care or related services, including an acupuncturist, doctor of medicine or osteopathy, a dentist, a nurse, an optometrist, a podiatric physician and surgeon, a chiropractor, a physical therapist, a psychologist, a pharmacist, an optician, a physician's assistant, a midwife, an osteopathic physician's assistant, a nurse practitioner or a physician's trained mobile intensive care paramedic. If the person is deceased, this includes his or her estate or personal representative; or

(2) An employee or agent of a person described in paragraph (1) of this subsection, acting in the course and scope of his or her employment. If the employee or agent is deceased, this includes his or her estate or personal representative.

I. "Insuring entity" means:

(1) An authorized insurer;

(2) A captive insurer;

(3) A joint underwriting association;

(4) A patient compensation fund;

(5) A risk retention group; or

(6) An unauthorized insurer that provides surplus lines coverage.

J. "Medical malpractice" means an actual or alleged negligent act, error, or omission in providing or failing to provide health care services.

K. "Noneconomic damages" means subjective, nonmonetary losses, including pain, suffering, inconvenience, mental anguish, disability or disfigurement incurred by the injured party, emotional distress, loss of society and companionship, loss of consortium, humiliation and injury to reputation, and destruction of the parent-child relationship.

L. "Self-insurer" means any health care provider, facility, or other individual or entity that assumes operational or financial risk for claims of medical professional liability.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

Drafting Note: If some of these terms are already defined elsewhere in this State's statutes, references to those statutes may be substituted for the definitions above. If some types of insuring entities are defined elsewhere in this State's statutes, those definitions may be cited.

Section 3. Applicability and Scope

This Act shall apply to all medical professional liability claims in this State, regardless of whether or how they are covered by medical professional liability insurance.

Section 4. Reporting Requirements

A. For claims closed on or after January 1, [insert year]:

(1) Every insuring entity or self-insurer that provides medical professional liability insurance to any facility or provider in this State must report each medical professional liability closed claim to the commissioner.

(2) A closed claim that is covered under a primary policy and one or more excess policies shall be reported only by the insuring entity that issued the primary policy. The insuring entity that issued the primary policy shall report the total amount, if any, paid with respect to the closed claim, including any amount paid under an excess policy, any amount paid by the facility or provider, and any amount paid by any other person on behalf of the facility or provider.

(3) If a claim is not covered by an insuring entity or self-insurer, the facility or provider named in the claim must report it to the commissioner after a final claim disposition has occurred due to a court proceeding or a settlement by the parties. Instances in which a claim may not be covered by an insuring entity or self-insurer include situations in which:

(a) The facility or provider did not buy insurance or maintained a self-insured retention that was larger than the final judgment or settlement;

(b) The claim was denied by an insuring entity or self-insurer because it did not fall within the scope of the insurance coverage agreement; or

(c) The annual aggregate coverage limits had been exhausted by other claim payments.

(4) If a claim is covered by an insuring entity or self-insurer that fails to report the claim to the commissioner, the facility or provider named in the claim must report it to the commissioner after a final claim disposition has occurred due to a court proceeding or a settlement by the parties.

(a) If a facility or provider is insured by a risk retention group and the risk retention group refuses to report closed claims and asserts that the federal liability risk retention act (95 Stat. 949; 15 U.S.C. Sec. 3901 et seq.) preempts state law, the facility or provider must report all data required by this Act on behalf of the risk retention group.

(b) If a facility or provider is insured by an unauthorized insurer and the unauthorized insurer refuses to report closed claims and asserts a federal exemption or other jurisdictional preemption, the facility or provider must report all data required by this Act on behalf of the unauthorized insurer.

(c) If a facility or provider is insured by a captive insurer and the captive insurer refuses to report closed claims and asserts a federal exemption or other jurisdictional preemption, the facility or provider must report all data required by this Act on behalf of the captive insurer.

Drafting Note: When subsection A(4) applies, the State needs to consider inserting wording regarding who is responsible for notification to facilities and providers. Notification by either the domiciliary state regulator or the insurer must be provided in advance to insureds that they must produce all data required by this act upon behalf of the insurer.

B. Beginning in [insert year], reports required under subsection A of this section must be filed by March 1. These reports must include data for all claims closed in the preceding calendar year and any adjustments to data reported in prior years.

C. The commissioner may adopt rules that require insuring entities, self-insurers, facilities and providers to submit all required closed claim data electronically.

Drafting Note: Many State insurance codes specify penalties for failure to timely file statutorily required reports or for submitting materially incorrect data. Each State should determine the applicability of such penalties to this Act. If it is determined that the State does not possess an adequate means to enforce this Act, the State may wish to consider inserting additional enforcement wording in this section.

Drafting Note: The year inserted in subsection B should be the year following the year inserted in subsection A.

Section 5. Required Data Elements

Reports required under section 4 of this Act must contain the following information in a format and coding protocol prescribed by the commissioner. To the greatest extent possible while still fulfilling the purposes of this Act, the format and coding protocol shall be consistent with the format and coding protocol for data reported to the National Practitioner Data Bank.

A. Claim and incident identifiers, including:

(1) A claim identifier assigned to the claim by the insuring entity, self-insurer, facility or provider; and

(2) An incident identifier if companion claims have been made by a claimant;

B. The policy limits of the medical professional liability insurance policy covering the claim;

C. The medical specialty of the provider who was primarily responsible for the medical malpractice incident that led to the claim;

D. The type of health care facility where the medical malpractice incident occurred;

E. The primary location within a facility where the medical malpractice incident occurred;

F. The geographic location, by city and county, where the medical malpractice incident occurred;

G. The injured person's sex and age on the incident date;

H. The severity of malpractice injury using the National Practitioner Data Bank severity scale;

I. The dates of:

(1) The earliest act or omission by the defendant that was the proximate cause of the claim;

(2) Notice to the insuring entity, self-insurer, facility or provider;

(3) Suit, if a suit was filed;

(4) Final indemnity payment, if any; and

(5) Final action by the insuring entity, self-insurer, facility or provider to close the claim;

J. Settlement information that identifies the timing and final method of claim disposition, including:

(1) Claims settled by the parties;

(2) Claims disposed of by a court, including the date disposed;

(3) Claims disposed of by alternative dispute resolution, such as arbitration, mediation, private trial and other common dispute resolution methods; and

(4) Whether the settlement occurred before or after trial, if a trial occurred;

K. Specific information about the indemnity payments and defense and cost containment expenses, including:

(1) For claims disposed of by a court that result in a verdict or judgment that itemizes damages:

(a) The indemnity payment made on behalf of the defendant;

(b) Economic damages;

(c) Non-economic damages;

(d) Punitive damages, if applicable; and

(e) Defense and cost containment expenses, including court costs, attorneys' fees, and costs of expert witnesses; and

(2) For claims that do not result in a verdict or judgment that itemizes damages:

(a) The total amount of the settlement on behalf of the defendant;

(b) The insuring entity's or self-insurer's best estimate of economic damages included in the settlement;

(c) The insuring entity's or self-insurer's best estimate of noneconomic damages included in the settlement; and

(d) Defense and cost containment expenses, including court costs, attorneys' fees, and costs of expert witnesses;

L. The reason for the medical professional liability claim. The reporting entity must use the same allegation group and specific allegation codes that are used for mandatory reporting to the National Practitioner Data Bank; and

M. Any other closed claim data the commissioner determines to be necessary to accomplish the purpose of this Act and requires by adopting a rule.

Section 6. Confidentiality of Data

Drafting Note: Each state should determine the extent to which the data collected may be made available to other parties and insert wording consistent with that determination. Options include:

- All data are available to the public.
- All data are subject to release under certain restricted conditions, such as to applicants submitting a research proposal and signing a confidentiality agreement.
- Only individual records that have been "anonymized" may be released. For example, the data can be anonymized to varying degrees by removing elements that may permit identification of the parties to a case, by removing place references such as counties, and by limiting the representation of dates to the corresponding year.
- All data are confidential except data released in summary or aggregate form. Data would be aggregated to a high enough level that readers would not be able to deduce information on any particular provider, facility, claimant, or claim.

Section 7. Authority to Adopt Rules

The commissioner shall adopt any rules needed for implementing the provisions of this Act.

Section 8. Effective Date

This Act shall take effect on [insert date].

Chronological Summary of Action (all references are to the Proceedings of the NAIC)

2008 Proc. 3rd Quarter 3-323 to 3-330 (adopted). (Comment Letters-8-144 to 8-169).

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

THE SINGLE HEALTH CARE VOLUNTARY PURCHASING ALLIANCE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Purpose and Intent

This Act shall be known as the Single Health Care Voluntary Purchasing Alliance Model Act.

The purpose of this Act is to improve the fairness, efficiency and competition in the pricing and delivering of health care coverage for employers with no more than [insert number] employees. It does so by allowing for the establishment by the state of a centralized purchasing entity (purchasing alliance) through which eligible small employers, and self-employed individuals can purchase health coverage. Another goal is to avoid jurisdictional confusion and unnecessary and expensive bureaucracy within the purchasing alliance and state government by clarifying the respective roles and jurisdiction of existing regulatory agencies and the purchasing alliance. This Act provides a mechanism for small employers to join together solely for the purpose of procuring health insurance and operates as an exception to existing false group or fictitious group laws. In addition, the intent of the Act is to avoid creating an undue burden on small employers when purchasing health care coverage through the purchasing alliance.

The Act is also intended to provide a meaningful choice of high quality, fairly priced health care plans and health care coverage for member small employers, employees and individuals of the purchasing alliance through a system that is fair, efficient and accountable to its members and includes procedural and substantive protections.

The purchasing alliance, through an open and fair competitive procurement process, shall contract with qualified group carriers to provide a meaningful choice of carriers providing health benefit plans to purchasing alliance enrollees.

Drafting Note: In order that states might choose which approach would best accommodate their needs, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has developed several purchasing alliance model acts to address the problems of providing health care coverage to small employers and their employees. In doing this, the NAIC is not expressing a preference for one model over another. This Act assumes that a state has already adopted substantially the most recent version of the NAIC's Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Model Act to ensure that the purchasing alliance operates properly. For example, it is imperative that both the purchasing alliance and existing markets operate under the same rating, underwriting, enrollment and participation requirements. Absent strong market reforms, such as guaranteed issue of all products sold in the small group market, a voluntary purchasing alliance will become a high risk pool. The Single Health Care Voluntary Purchasing Alliance Model Act is intended to be a portion of a larger program of underwriting reforms in the general small group market and would necessarily use the same terms and definitions.

Drafting Note: This Act establishes the purchasing alliance as a state agency. However, states may wish to establish the purchasing alliance as a state-chartered, nonprofit organization. States may also consider establishment under an existing state agency such as the office of the commissioner. States may consider expanding alliance eligibility to include individuals, state employees, and other designated population groupings that are eligible to purchase health insurance coverage through a purchasing alliance. However, in expanding eligibility prior to universal coverage, states should be careful to avoid burdening the purchasing alliance with high-risk individuals or groups. If population groupings other than small employers are eligible to purchase coverage through the alliance, underwriting and rating parity should be required inside and outside the alliance.

Section 1. Definitions

A. "Adjusted community rating" has the same meaning as in Section [cite reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

B. "Antitrust laws" means state laws intended to protect commerce from unlawful restraints, monopolies and unfair business practices.

C. "Board" means the state purchasing alliance board authorized pursuant to this Act.

D. "Carrier" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law] and for the purposes of this Act shall include carriers that are authorized to offer dental benefits pursuant to [insert reference to applicable state statutes dealing with dental-only carriers] for the limited purpose of enabling dental-only carriers to offer dental benefits through an alliance, either in conjunction with a small group carrier or on a stand-along basis. These carriers shall be subject to the terms of this Act relating to participating carriers but shall not be required to qualify as small group carriers pursuant to Section 6A(1) of this Act.

Drafting Note: Most states provide for the licensing of dental-only carriers authorized to offer dental benefits. Inclusion of dental-only carriers in the definitions of "small group carrier" and "participating carrier" is designed to enable these carriers to offer dental-only benefits through an alliance without requiring them to be "small group carriers" pursuant to a state's small employer health insurance availability law. These dental-only carriers are required to comply with all of the Act's provisions except those which would otherwise require qualified carriers to offer health benefits other than dental benefits.

E. "Commissioner" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to the chief insurance regulatory official of the state].

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. Where jurisdiction of managed care organizations lies with some other state agency, or dual state regulation occurs, a state should add additional language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

F. "Dependent" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to state insurance law defining dependent].

Drafting Note: States without a statutory definition of dependent may wish to use the following definition:

"Dependent" means a spouse; an unmarried child under the age of [nineteen (19)] years; an unmarried child who is a full-time student under the age of [insert maximum age] and who is financially dependent upon the enrollee; and an unmarried child of any age who is medically certified as disabled and dependent upon the enrollee.

When using this definition, states should insert a maximum age for student dependents that is consistent with other state laws. States also may wish to include other individuals defined as dependents by state law. The term child above is not intended to be limited to natural children of the enrollee.

G. "Eligible employee" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

H. "Enrollee" means an eligible employee, self-employed individual or a dependent of an eligible employee who is enrolled in a health benefit plan offered through the purchasing alliance by a participating carrier.

Drafting Note: The Act assumes that a small employer group includes self-employed individuals. This term should be deleted from the definition of "enrollee" if the minimum size of a small employer group is two or more.

I. "Fund" means the state purchasing alliance fund established under Section 11.

J. "Health benefit plan" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

K. "Late enrollee" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

L. "Limited benefit health insurance" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

M. "Member small employer" means a small employer who enrolls in the purchasing alliance.

N. "Participating carrier" means a carrier that contracts with the purchasing alliance to provide coverage to enrollees under a health benefit plan and for the purposes of this Act shall include carriers that are authorized to offer dental benefits pursuant to [insert reference to applicable state statutes dealing with dental-only carriers] for the limited purpose of enabling dental-only carriers to offer dental benefits through an alliance, either in conjunction with a small group carrier or on a stand-alone basis. These carriers shall be subject to the terms of this Act relating to participating carriers but shall not be required to qualify as small group carriers pursuant to Section 6A(1) of this Act.

O. "Purchasing alliance" means the state agency established by this Act to provide health insurance through multiple unaffiliated participating carriers to member small employers and their employees throughout the state.

P. "Regional service areas" means clearly defined, non-overlapping and exclusive geographical regions encompassing the entire state as determined by the board.

Q. "Small employer" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

Drafting Note: Definitions that reference the small employer health insurance availability law may be deleted if placement of this Act is within the availability law.

Section 2. Jurisdiction of the Commissioner; Penalties

A. Except as authorized by this Act, no person or entity may market, sell, offer or arrange for a package of one or more health benefit plans underwritten by two (2) or more carriers to two (2) or more small employers or their eligible employees.

B. A person or entity not established under this Act as a purchasing alliance and engaged in the purchase, sale, marketing or distribution of health insurance or health care benefit plans shall not hold itself out as an alliance, health insurance purchasing alliance, purchasing alliance or health insurance purchasing cooperative, or otherwise use a confusing similar name.

C. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to be in conflict with or in limitation of the duties and powers granted to the commissioner under the laws of this state.

D. The board shall report to the commissioner suspected or alleged law violations.

E. Violations of this Act shall be subject to the penalties contained in Sections [insert sections of state law penalty provisions].

Drafting Note: The range of regulatory actions, processes, remedies and penalties to be specified here should be at least as broad as those available to the commissioner when he or she investigates or sanctions entities under the insurance laws.

Section 3. Establishment of the Board; Membership; Terms; Conflicts of Interest

A. A state purchasing alliance, which shall be operated by the board, is established as a state agency.

Drafting Note: It is the intent of this Act to keep the roles of the board and commissioner clearly delineated. The role of the board is to oversee the operations of the purchasing alliance. Simply put, the commissioner continues as the "regulator" of all insurance activities within the state. The board operates the purchasing alliance for the benefit of its enrollees.

B. The initial board shall consist of nine (9) members, as follows:

(1) Three (3) appointed by the governor, including: two (2) who expect to be owners or managers of a member small employer of the purchasing alliance, and one who expects to be an employee enrollee of the purchasing alliance;

(2) Two (2) appointed by the legislature upon the recommendation of the speaker of the house, including: one who expects to be an owner or manager of a member small employer of the purchasing alliance, and one who expects to be an employee enrollee of the purchasing alliance;

(3) Two (2) appointed by the legislature upon recommendation of the president (pro tempore) of the senate, including: one who expects to be an owner or manager of a member small employer of the purchasing alliance, and one who expects to be an employee enrollee of the purchasing alliance;

(4) The commissioner shall appoint one member; and

(5) The state's chief health officer shall appoint one member.

C. In reference to small employer and employee representatives appointed to the board pursuant to Subsection B, subsequent appointments shall be made using small employers and employees who are participating in the purchasing alliance.

D. Members of the board shall receive reimbursement for travel and subsistence at the rates specified in [insert reference to state rules regarding reimbursements].

E. The term for members appointed to serve on the board is four (4) years, except that the initial terms of one employee and one employer appointed by the governor, one employee appointed by the Senate and one employer appointed by the House shall expire two (2) years after the effective date of this Act. The initial term of the board shall commence on the effective date of this Act.

F. At the end of a term, a member shall continue to serve until a successor is appointed. A member who is appointed after a term has begun serves only for the remainder of the term and until a successor is appointed.

G. The board shall elect officers biennially.

H. The board shall meet at least quarterly at the times and places it determines. The meeting and procedures shall be governed by the procedures and policies set forth in [insert citation to open meetings law]. A majority of the fully authorized membership of the board is a quorum.

I. No board members or members of their households nor the executive director may be employed by, be a consultant for, be a member of the board of directors of, be affiliated with an agent of, or otherwise be a representative of a carrier or other insurer, a health care provider or agent or broker. This provision shall not preclude a board member from purchasing coverage through the alliance.

J. The executive director and board members shall be subject to the provisions of [insert section of state law which controls the ethics of public officials].

Drafting Note: States should review their ethics laws to ensure prohibition or limitation on the amount of stock that the executive director and board members can own in the entities described in Section 3J. If no prohibition or limitation exists, a state should consider drafting language to do so.

K. No cause of action or liability of any nature or kind shall arise against a member of the board, or its employees or agents, for any action taken in good faith by them in the performance of their powers and duties as defined in Sections 4 and 5.

Section 4. Powers of the Board

A. The board may do the following:

(1) Enter into contracts with participating carriers to provide health benefits to eligible employees and their dependents. The board shall not be required to specify the amounts encumbered for each contract, but may allocate funds to each contract based on projected and actual subscriber enrollments. The board may establish performance standards for specific contractual elements and penalties for failure to fulfill contractual obligations;

Drafting Note: This does not address the board's inherent power to cancel a contract in response to a participating carrier's breach of contract.

(2) Contract with qualified, independent third parties for services necessary to carry out the powers and duties of the purchasing alliance. Unless permission is specifically granted by the board, a third party hired by the purchasing alliance may not release, publish or otherwise use information to which the third party has access under its contract. Except with the express written approval of the board, an entity may not act, directly or through an affiliated company, in the same regional service area both as a participating carrier and a third party under contract to the purchasing alliance;

(3) Enter into all other contracts as are necessary to carry out the powers and duties of this Act;

(4) Sue or be sued, including taking action necessary for securing legal remedies on behalf of, or against the purchasing alliance, member small employers, enrollees, a board member or other parties subject to this Act;

(5) Employ staff necessary to carry out the powers and duties of this Act;

(6) Appoint advisory committees that may include persons with expertise in health benefits management and marketing and representatives of participating carriers, consumer groups, health care providers, and others as may be deemed necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(7) Appoint local beneficiary advisory councils to evaluate purchasing alliance functions and the performance of participating carriers in order to assess the efficacy of the operations for member small employers and enrollees;

(8) Receive and accept grants, funds or anything of value from a public or private agency; and receive and accept contributions from a legitimate source of money, property, labor or any other thing of value. However, the board shall not accept anything of value from a person or entity that might have a vested interest in the decisions of the board except with the express permission of the commissioner;

(9) Define and offer other health benefit plans in addition to the standard and basic health benefit plans promulgated pursuant to [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law]. The alliance may also incidentally offer optional group vision and dental benefit plans and, with the prior approval of the commissioner, other limited benefit health insurance to enrollees;

Drafting Note: Under the guaranteed issue provision of the small employers health insurance availability model act, carriers offering a particular health benefit plan designed through the purchasing alliance will also have to offer and issue that plan to small employers outside of the purchasing alliance.

Drafting Note: States may wish to exempt the alliance from having to purchase the basic and standard health benefit plans that carriers are obligated to offer under state laws. It may be desirable to do this if it is the view that the alliance is the ultimate consumer on behalf of its members and should, accordingly, be able to make the decision whether to accept or reject, on behalf of its members, the health benefit plans that are required to be offered by all carriers who sell in the small employer marketplace.

This approach would allow small employers who desire not to purchase the basic or standard plans to join the alliance and would provide the most flexible system for the board to then actively negotiate a more favorable benefit structure for its members. It would also be necessary to allow for this exemption in Section 5A(8).

(10) Assess member small employers a reasonable fee for costs incurred or anticipated in connection with the operation of the purchasing alliance;

(11) Undertake activities necessary to administer the purchasing alliance, including marketing and publicizing the purchasing alliance, and assuring participating carrier, small employer, and enrollee compliance with purchasing alliance requirements;

(12) Establish conditions and procedures for participation of:

(a) Small employers and eligible employees;

(b) Participating carriers; and

(c) Agents or brokers;

(13) Negotiate with participating carriers the administrative expense component of the premium rates charged for coverage offered through the alliance consistent with Section 6D;

(14) Apportion the state into regional service areas in which multiple unaffiliated participating carriers will provide coverage to enrollees; and

(15) Exercise all powers reasonably necessary to carry out the powers and responsibilities expressly granted or imposed by this Act.

Drafting Note: States may wish to allow the purchasing alliance to keep certain contract terms with participating carriers and third party administrators confidential. Accordingly, states may need to review and change existing statutes that may prohibit this.

B. Any contract entered into pursuant to this Act shall be exempt from the provisions of Section [insert law relating to competitive bidding].

Section 5. Operation of the Purchasing Alliance

A. The board shall:

(1) Establish and operate the purchasing alliance, which shall be a statewide entity offering health benefit plans to all small employers in the state;

(2) Employ an executive director to oversee and direct the administrative functions of the purchasing alliance;

Drafting Note: States should consider whether the executive director and other staff should be exempt from civil service requirements.

(3) Develop model contracts which detail for potential contractors the requirements of the purchasing alliance;

(4) Provide a copy of the model contract to interested carriers, detailing the contractual terms for participation in the purchasing alliance;

(5) Develop and make available a list of objective criteria that must be met by participating carriers in order to be eligible to participate in the purchasing alliance;

(6) Specify in contracts with participating carriers how all premiums will be transmitted together with inclusion of appropriate language for penalties and grace periods on late payments of premiums;

(7) Contract with at least three (3) unaffiliated carriers in each regional service area to ensure that enrollees have a choice from among a reasonable number of differing types of competing carriers and health benefit plans that include the basic and standard health benefits plans required by [cite small employer health insurance availability law]. The commissioner may, upon a showing of good cause, waive the requirement to have at least three (3) unaffiliated participating carriers throughout all portions of the regional service areas;

Drafting Note: Coverage through the purchasing alliance of employees who work and reside outside of the state can create administrative problems due to the application of other states' extraterritorial mandated benefit laws. Moreover, many participating carriers, notably local HMOs, will not be able to provide coverage for out-of-state residents in any event. The purchasing alliance may wish to address this by issuing a separate request for proposal for the purpose of contracting with carriers to provide out-of-state coverage.

(8) Develop standard enrollment procedures to be used by the purchasing alliance;

(9) Publish educational materials, plan descriptions and comparison sheets describing participating carriers and the health benefit plans available through the purchasing alliance for use in enrolling small employers and their eligible employees;

Drafting Note: The NAIC is in the process of evaluating standards and reporting measures that might be used in comparison guides. A number of accrediting organizations and other groups are also developing report cards that might be considered for inclusion under this Act.

(10) Establish conditions for participation of small employers that conform to the requirements of this Act and Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law] and that include, but are not limited to, assurances that the small employer is a bona fide employer group. The board shall specify in contracts with member small employers that the purchasing alliance will be the master contract holder of the health benefit plan policy on behalf of member small employers and enrollees. These contracts shall also provide that all eligible employees of the small employer who obtain coverage under the health benefit plan offered by the small employer must obtain coverage through the purchasing alliance;

(11) In enrolling member small employers, the purchasing alliance shall provide that each eligible employee is permitted to enroll in any health benefit plan offered by any participating carrier so long as the health benefit plan provides coverage where he or she works or lives;

(12) Request from the commissioner certification that all participating carriers are in good standing and licensed as small group carriers as set forth in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law], and that the carriers satisfy the financial requirements established under Section [insert reference to capital and surplus law];

(13) Receive, review and act, as appropriate, on grievances by member small employers or enrollees;

(14) Review information and recommendations from consumers, employers, participating carriers or health care providers and other sources. After the review, the board may issue reports or otherwise make recommendations to improve the delivery or purchase of health care benefits;

(15) Establish administrative and accounting procedures for operating the purchasing alliance and for providing services to member small employers and enrollees;

(16) Prepare an annual report on the operations of the purchasing alliance for the commissioner, legislature and the governor, which shall include, but not be limited to, an accounting of all outside revenues received by the board and all internal and independent audits;

(17) Establish procedures and mechanisms for billing and collection of premiums from member small employers (including any share of the premium paid by enrollees);

(18) Establish procedures for annual or rolling open enrollment periods during which:

(a) An enrollee may elect to enroll in any other health benefit plan that is available through the purchasing alliance and that provides health coverage where he or she lives or works; and

(b) Any late enrollees may elect to enroll in any health benefit plan that is available through the purchasing alliance and that provides health coverage where he or she lives or works;

(19) Place into its contracts between the purchasing alliance and member small employers the following:

(1) For administrative purposes, the purchasing alliance will be the policyholder or contract holder of the health benefit plan on behalf of member small employers, their eligible employees and dependents;

(2) Provide that the participating carrier will issue a certificate of coverage, or equivalent document, specifying the essential features of the health benefit plan's coverage to each enrolled eligible employee; and

(3) Provide that all eligible employees of the small employer who obtains coverage under the health benefit plan offered by the small employer must obtain coverage through the purchasing alliance;

(20) Provide that in the event a member small employer terminates coverage purchased through the purchasing alliance, the former member small employer shall be ineligible to purchase a health benefit plan through the purchasing alliance for a period of twelve (12) months; and

(21) Publicly disclose grants, funds or anything of value received pursuant to Section 4A(8).

B. The board may develop uniform standards for data to be provided by participating carriers and providers. The purchasing alliance may collect and disseminate data necessary for evaluation of the performance of participating carriers and their provider networks by consumers, providers, employers and the state. In formulating data collection standards, the board may use standards based on, and consistent with, existing state, National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) and national health care data collection initiatives and shall take into account their feasibility and cost-effectiveness.

C. The board may not:

(1) Purchase health care services, assume risk for the cost or provision of health service, or otherwise contract with health care providers for the provision of health care services to enrollees;

(2) Exclude a small employer or eligible employee or dependent of an eligible employee from membership in the purchasing alliance who agrees to pay fees for membership and the premium for coverage through the purchasing alliance and who abides by the bylaws and rules of the purchasing alliance;

(3) Prohibit the participation of small employers, or differentiate classes of membership, based on industry type, experience, age, gender, family status, education, health status, income or other means in conflict with the rating methodology specified in Section [insert reference to small employers health insurance availability law];

(4) Commit an act constituting a rebate prohibited pursuant to Section [insert applicable section of state law];

(5) Charge a fee not directly related to the operation of the purchasing alliance or for non-health care related activities;

(6) As a condition of membership, require a small employer, eligible employee or dependent to subscribe to limited health benefit insurance or non-health care related products or services;

(7) Operate the purchasing alliance or market the purchasing alliance in a county or primary metropolitan statistical area in a way which would cause the purchasing alliance to select a risk pool with actuarially projected health care utilization over a two-year period which is below the projected average for all individuals residing in that county or primary metropolitan statistical area. The measurement and composition of projected utilization by members of the purchasing alliance to all individuals shall be done on a county or primary metropolitan statistical area basis and not across all members of the purchasing alliance;

(8) Engage in any competitive act or practice that results in the selection of member small employers and enrollees based on any of the risk factors specified in this subsection or small employer size; or

(9) Require or take any action inconsistent or in conflict with state laws or regulations of the commissioner.

Section 6. Requirements for Participating Carriers

A. In order to be eligible to be a participating carrier, a carrier must be able to satisfactorily demonstrate to the board the following operating characteristics:

(1) That they are licensed, approved as a small employer carrier, and in good standing with the commissioner;

(2) The ability to administer a health benefit plan, to provide adequate service and to comply with all contractual requirements of the purchasing alliance;

(3) The ability to provide enrollees with reasonable access to covered services;

(4) The ability to arrange and pay for the appropriate quality, level and type of health care services;

(5) The ability to provide data required by the board, including information on enrollee satisfaction, including standard surveys as may be prescribed by the board and to meet reasonable satisfaction measures as may be established by the board;

(6) The ability to provide standard data elements in a manner prescribed by the board;

(7) The ability to meet quality of care standards established by the commissioner and other relevant regulators;

(8) Strong financial condition;

(9) Adequate administrative management;

(10) A procedure to address enrollee grievances and appeals;

(11) The ability to achieve satisfactory enrollment levels within the service area in which the carrier is licensed; and

(12) All other criteria established by the board.

B. In evaluating which carriers may participate in the purchasing alliance, the board shall consider, among other factors:

(1) Minimum regional service area and participation requirements, maximum thresholds for premium rates, and standards for determining whether a carrier operates efficiently;

(2) The ability of a carrier to provide services within a regional service area;

(3) Pricing and the competitiveness of each bid from a carrier; and

(4) The effect of contracting with additional carriers on the administrative costs of the purchasing alliance and member small employers, the efficiency of the purchasing alliance, and the competitiveness of the premiums that will be paid to participating carriers.

C. Participating carriers that contract with or employ health care providers shall have mechanisms to accomplish all of the following, in a manner satisfactory to the board, in consultation with the carrier's licensing agency:

(1) Review the quality of care covered;

(2) Review the appropriateness of care covered; and

(3) Provide accessible health care services.

D. Every participating carrier shall:

(1) Meet the standards established by the board pursuant to this Act;

(2) Provide data required by the board;

(3) Comply with all rules and regulations regarding underwriting, claims handling, sales, solicitation, licensing, fair marketing, unfair trade practices, the provisions of this Act and other applicable state statutes;

(4) Comply with all rules and regulations regarding adjusted community rating as specified in Section [cite applicable section of small employer health insurance availability law], except that the purchasing alliance and a participating carrier may negotiate only the administrative expense component of the premium rates charged for coverage offered through the alliance where the carrier can demonstrate net administrative cost savings for its alliance business. For the purposes of this paragraph, administrative expenses are limited to marketing expenses, acquisition expenses, the cost of paying claims, commissions and maintenance expenses;

Drafting Note: Participating carriers must be required to use the same rating methodology inside and outside the alliance. Alliances should be permitted to negotiate with carriers only on administrative costs. Claim costs must be uniform across a carrier's entire small employer group market and not be subject to negotiation.

(5) Enroll and dis-enroll individuals in the manner specified by the board or its designee; and

(6) Comply with other requirements established by the board pursuant to this Act.

E. Nothing in this Act shall prohibit participating carriers from contracting with particular health care providers or types, classes or categories of health care providers or setting reimbursement methodology.

F. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in Section [cite guaranteed renewability section of the small employer health insurance availability law], in the event the participating carrier elects to terminate its contract with the purchasing alliance, the participating carrier shall:

(1) Provide advance notice of its decision to the board; and

(2) Provide notice of the decision at least 180 days prior to the nonrenewal of a health benefit plan to the member small employers and enrollees. A participating carrier that elects not to renew a health benefit plan with the purchasing alliance shall be prohibited from writing new business through the alliance for a period of three (3) years from the date of the notice to the purchasing alliance or until the purchasing alliance, with the concurrence of the commissioner, invites the former participating carrier to renew participation, whichever is sooner.

Section 7. Marketing Health Benefit Plans

A. The board shall establish marketing standards for use by participating carriers.

B. Any marketing, advertisement or educational material for health benefit plans sold through the purchasing alliance shall be approved by the board prior to its use. The board shall review all materials submitted to it and the materials shall be deemed approved if not disapproved within [insert number] days. The purchasing alliance may, through its contracts with participating carriers, deem certain classes of materials to be approved.

C. This section shall not be construed to prohibit or to compel the purchasing alliance or a participating carrier from using the services of an agent or broker.

Drafting Note: States are reminded that this section is not intended to modify existing statutes that require the licensing of individuals who provide advice on insurance coverage or who solicit sales of insurance.

D. A participating carrier, agent, broker, contractor or producer of a participating carrier, or independent insurance agent, broker, contractor or producer may not engage, directly or indirectly, in an activity or marketing practice that would encourage member small employers or eligible employees to:

(1) Refrain from enrolling in a health benefit plan offered through the purchasing alliance because of their health status or claims experience;

(2) Seek coverage from other participating carriers because of their health status or claim experience; or

(3) Enroll or fail to enroll in the purchasing alliance because of their health status or claims experience.

Section 8. Risk Adjustment Mechanism

The commissioner may establish a payment mechanism to adjust for the amount of risk covered by each participating carrier. The commissioner may appoint an advisory committee composed of individuals that have risk adjustment and actuarial expertise to help establish the risk adjusters.

Drafting Note: Some states may prefer to develop a risk adjustment mechanism that applies to the entire small group market and not simply to business written by participating carriers through the purchasing alliance. A risk adjustment mechanism that operates across the entire small group market would preserve the principle of uniform rating and underwriting rules both inside and outside of the alliance and would minimize incentives for carriers to either steer high-risk business to the alliance or avoid participating in the alliance altogether.

Section 9. Antitrust Protection

The purchasing alliance, its employees and agents, and participating carriers are exempt from state antitrust law for an act or omission that is permitted or required by this Act or authorized or required by the board in accordance with this Act.

Section 10. State Health Care Purchasing Alliance Fund

A. There is established in the office of the State Treasurer the State Health Care Purchasing Alliance Fund. All moneys received by the fund shall be placed in an interest-bearing account and interest or other income derived thereon shall be credited to the fund. Moneys in the fund shall be continuously appropriated to the board, without regard to fiscal year, for the purposes specified in this Act.

B. The account and all funds shall be wholly and completely the property of the state and at all times available for audit by the state. Funds in the account may be derived from the following sources:

(1) Employer premiums;

(2) Employer participation fees;

(3) Employer late fees;

(4) Employer reinstatement fees;

(5) Agent and broker fees paid by the employer;

(6) Developmental costs paid by the state;

(7) Interest earned on the account;

(8) Funds paid by the participating carriers for a pooled marketing effort; or

(9) Other lawful sources.

C. Funds from the account may be withdrawn by the board to pay:

(1) Participating carriers under their contracts;

(2) Third parties for their services provided under contract;

(3) Employer billing adjustments;

(4) Agent and broker fees;

(5) Funds owed the state for its administrative costs; and

(6) All other expenditures duly authorized by the board.

Drafting Note: This section should be changed if a state chooses to establish the purchasing alliance as a state-chartered nonprofit organization. Under those circumstances, the purchasing alliance fund should be set up in a bank trust fund subject to audit by the appropriate state agency.

Section 11. Purchasing Alliance Evaluation

The board shall make a report not later than [insert date] to the governor, commissioner and the legislature of at least the following:

A. The progress achieved in assuring affordable health care coverage to employees of member small employers;

B. The need, if any, for financial incentives or other mechanisms to increase participation in the purchasing alliance;

C. The benefits, if any, of exclusive purchasing of health insurance through the purchasing alliance for all small employers who choose to purchase health coverage; and

D. Other changes in the law or procedure that would improve the overall efficiency, further reduce costs and improve fairness.

Section 12. Rulemaking Authority

The board may promulgate regulations consistent with the powers and duties set forth in this Act as necessary to implement and administer the purchasing alliance. Any rules and regulations issued pursuant to this Act may be adopted as emergency regulations in accordance with [insert reference to applicable state law] and with the Administrative Procedures Act.

Section 13. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

Drafting Note: Each state should draft to be consistent with that state's procedures for establishing an effective date.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: *This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

THE REGIONAL HEALTH CARE VOLUNTARY PURCHASING ALLIANCE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Purpose and Intent

This Act shall be known as the Regional Health Care Voluntary Purchasing Alliance Act.

The purpose of this Act is to improve the fairness, efficiency and competition in the pricing and delivering of health care coverage for employers with no more than [insert number] employees. It does so by allowing for the establishment by the state of regional purchasing entities that are referred to as purchasing alliances through which eligible small employers, and self-employed individuals can purchase health coverage. Another goal is to avoid jurisdictional confusion and unnecessary and expensive bureaucracy within the purchasing alliances and state government by clarifying the respective roles and jurisdiction of existing regulatory agencies and the purchasing alliances. This Act provides a mechanism for small employers to join together solely for the purpose of procuring health insurance and operates as an exception to existing false group or fictitious group laws. In addition, the intent of the Act is to avoid creating an undue burden on small employers when purchasing health care coverage through a purchasing alliance.

This Act is also intended to provide a meaningful choice of high quality, fairly priced health care plans and health care coverage for member small employers, employees and individuals of purchasing alliances through a system that is fair, efficient and accountable to its members and includes procedural and substantive protections.

The purchasing alliances, through an open and fair competitive procurement process, shall contract with qualified group carriers to provide a meaningful choice of carriers providing health benefit plans to purchasing alliance enrollees.

Drafting Note: In order that states might choose which approach would best accommodate their needs, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has developed several purchasing alliance model acts to address the problems of providing health care coverage to small employers and their employees. In doing this, the NAIC is not expressing a preference for one model over another. This Act assumes that a state has already adopted substantially the most recent version of the NAIC's Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Model Act to ensure that the purchasing alliance operates properly. For example, it is imperative that the qualified health benefit plans issued to the purchasing alliances and the policies issued directly to small employers who are not members of a purchasing alliance operate under the same rating, underwriting, enrollment and participation requirements.

Absent strong market reforms, such as guaranteed issue of all products sold in the small group market, a voluntary purchasing alliance will become a high risk pool. The Regional Health Care Voluntary Purchasing Alliance Model Act is intended to be a portion of a larger program of underwriting reforms in the general small group market and would necessarily use the same terms and definitions.

Drafting Note: States may consider expanding alliance eligibility to include individuals, state employees, and other designated population groupings that are eligible to purchase health insurance coverage through a purchasing alliance. However, in expanding eligibility prior to universal coverage, states should be careful to avoid burdening the purchasing alliances with high-risk individuals or groups. If population groupings other than small employers are eligible to purchase coverage through an alliance, underwriting and rating parity should be required for inside and outside the alliance.

Section 1. Definitions

A. "Adjusted community rating" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

B. "Alliance service area" means a clearly defined, non-overlapping and exclusive geographical area determined by the state board for the purpose of defining the regions in which the purchasing alliances will operate.

C. "Antitrust laws" means state laws intended to protect commerce from unlawful restraints, monopolies and unfair business practices.

D. "Carrier" or "small group carrier" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law] and for the purposes of this Act shall include carriers that are authorized to offer dental benefits pursuant to [insert reference to applicable state statutes dealing with dental-only carriers] for the limited purpose of enabling dental-only carriers to offer dental benefits through an alliance, either in conjunction with a small group carrier or on a stand-alone basis. These carriers shall be subject to the terms of this Act relating to participating carriers but shall not be required to qualify as small group carriers pursuant to Section 4A(3)(a) and (c)(i) of this Act.

Drafting Note: Most states provide for the licensing of dental-only carriers authorized to offer dental benefits. Inclusion of dental-only carriers in the definitions of "small group carrier" and "participating carrier" is designed to enable these carriers to offer dental-only benefits through an alliance without requiring them to be "small group carriers" pursuant to a state's small employer health insurance availability law. These dental-only carriers are required to comply with all of the Act's provisions except those that would otherwise require qualified carriers to offer health benefits other than dental benefits.

E. "Carrier service area" or "participating carrier service area" means a geographic region in which a carrier is licensed to operate.

F. "Commissioner" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to the chief insurance regulatory official of the state].

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. Where jurisdiction of managed care organizations lies with some other state agency, or dual state regulation occurs, a state should add additional language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

G. "Dependent" means the same as defined in Section [insert reference to state insurance laws defining dependent].

Drafting Note: States without a statutory definition of dependent may wish to use the following definition:

"Dependent" means a spouse; an unmarried child under the age of [nineteen (19)] years; an unmarried child who is a full-time student under the age of [insert maximum age] and who is financially dependent upon the enrollee; and an unmarried child of any age who is medically certified as disabled and dependent upon the enrollee.

If using the suggested definition, states should insert a maximum age for student dependents that is consistent with other state laws. States also may wish to include other individuals defined as dependents by state law. The term child above is not intended to be limited to natural children of the enrollee.

H. "Eligible employee" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

I. "Enrollee" means an eligible employee, self-employed individual or a dependent of an eligible employee who is enrolled in a qualified health benefit plan offered through a purchasing alliance by a participating carrier.

Drafting Note: The Act assumes that a small employer group includes self-employed individuals. This term should be deleted from the definition of "enrollee" if the minimum size of a small employer group is two or more.

J. "Health benefit plan" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

K. "Late enrollee" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

L. "Limited benefit health insurance" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

M. "Member small employer" means a small employer who enrolls in a purchasing alliance.

N. "Participating carrier" means a carrier that contracts with a purchasing alliance to provide coverage to enrollees under a qualified health benefit plan.

O. "Premium" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

P. "Purchasing alliance" or "alliance" means a non-risk-bearing nonprofit corporation established pursuant to this Act under Section [insert statutory reference to nonprofit corporation law] to provide health insurance through multiple unaffiliated participating carriers to member small employers, their eligible employees and dependents within an alliance service area.

Q. "Purchasing alliance board" or "alliance board" means the board of directors of a purchasing alliance.

R. "Qualified carrier" means a carrier designated by the state board to offer a qualified health benefit plan to purchasing alliances and for the purposes of this Act shall include carriers that are authorized to offer dental benefits pursuant to [insert reference to applicable state statutes dealing with dental-only carriers] for the limited purpose of enabling dental-only carriers to offer dental benefits through an alliance, either in conjunction with a small group carrier or on a stand-alone basis. These carriers shall be subject to the terms of this Act relating to participating carriers but shall not be required to qualify as small group carriers pursuant to Section 4A(3)(a) and (c)(i) of this Act.

S. "Qualified health benefit plan" means the standard, basic or other standardized guaranteed issue health benefit plan approved by the state board and offered by a purchasing alliance to member small employers, their eligible employees and dependents. The term shall also include optional group vision and dental benefit plans and, with the prior approval of the commissioner, other limited benefit health insurance.

Drafting Note: Under the guaranteed issue provision of the small employer health insurance availability model act, carriers offering a particular health benefit plan designed through a purchasing alliance will also have to offer and issue that plan to small employers outside of the purchasing alliance.

T. "Small employer" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

U. "State board" means the state purchasing alliance oversight board established by this Act to oversee the activities of the purchasing alliances.

Section 2. Jurisdiction of the Commissioner; Penalties

A. Except as authorized by this Act, no person or entity may market, sell, offer or arrange for a package of one or more health benefit plans underwritten by two (2) or more carriers to two (2) or more small employers or their eligible employees.

B. A person or entity not established under this Act as a purchasing alliance and engaged in the purchase, sale, marketing or distribution of health insurance or health care benefit plans shall not hold itself out as an alliance, health insurance purchasing alliance, purchasing alliance or health insurance purchasing cooperative, or otherwise use a confusing similar name.

C. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to be in conflict with or in limitation of the duties and powers granted to the commissioner under the laws of this state.

D. The state board and alliance boards shall report to the commissioner suspected or alleged law violations.

E. Violations of this Act shall be subject to the penalties contained in [insert sections of state law containing penalty provisions].

Drafting Note: The range of regulatory actions, processes, remedies and penalties to be specified here should be at least as broad as those available to the commissioner when he or she investigates or sanctions entities under the insurance laws.

Section 3. Establishment of the State Purchasing Alliance Oversight Board; Membership; Terms; Conflicts of Interest

A. A state purchasing alliance oversight board is established within the office of the commissioner and shall provide oversight of the purchasing alliances.

Drafting Note: The state board is established within the office of the commissioner to capitalize on the existing expertise that is needed to establish purchasing alliance operations in each of the alliance service areas. It is anticipated that the commissioner's office will require additional funding in order to carry out these duties. However, it is the intent of this Act to keep the roles of the state board and the commissioner clearly delineated. The role of the state board is to oversee the operations of the purchasing alliances. Simply put, the commissioner continues as the regulator of all insurance activities within the state. The state board oversees the purchasing alliances for the benefit of their enrollees.

B. The initial state board shall consist of nine (9) members, as follows:

(1) Three (3) appointed by the governor, including: two (2) who expect to be owners or managers of a member small employer of the purchasing alliance, and one who expects to be an employee enrollee of the purchasing alliance;

(2) Two (2) appointed by the legislature upon the recommendation of the speaker of the house, including: one who expects to be an owner or manager of a member small employer of the purchasing alliance, and one who expects to be an employee enrollee of the purchasing alliance;

(3) Two (2) appointed by the legislature upon recommendation of the president (pro tempore) of the senate, including: one who expects to be an owner or manager of a member small employer of the purchasing alliance, and one who expects to be an employee enrollee of the purchasing alliance;

(4) The commissioner shall appoint one member; and

(5) The state's chief health officer shall appoint one member.

C. In reference to small employer and employee representatives appointed to the state board pursuant to Subsection B, subsequent appointments shall be made using small employers and employees who are participating in the purchasing alliance.

D. Members of the state board shall receive reimbursement for travel and subsistence at the rates specified in [insert reference to state rules regarding reimbursements].

E. The term for members appointed to serve on the state board is four (4) years, except that the initial terms of one employee and one employer appointed by the governor, one employee appointed by the Senate and one employer appointed by the House shall expire two (2) years after the effective date of this Act. The initial term of the board shall commence on the effective date of this Act.

F. At the end of a term, a member shall continue to serve until a successor is appointed. A member who is appointed after a term has begun serves only for the remainder of the term and until a successor is appointed.

G. The state board shall elect officers biennially.

H. The state board shall meet at least quarterly at the times and places it determines. The meeting and procedures shall be governed by the procedures and policies set forth in [insert citation to state open meetings law]. A majority of the fully authorized membership of the board is a quorum.

I. No state board members or members of their households may be employed by, be a consultant for, be a member of the board of directors of, be affiliated with an agent of, or otherwise be a representative of a carrier or other insurer, a health care provider or agent or broker. This provision shall not preclude a state board member from purchasing coverage through a purchasing alliance.

J. The state board members shall be subject to the provisions of [insert section of state law which controls the ethics of public officials].

Drafting Note: States should review their ethics laws to ensure prohibition or limitation on the amount of stock that the state board members can own in the entities described in Section 3I. If no prohibition or limitation exists, a state should consider drafting language to do so.

K. No cause of action or liability of any nature or kind shall arise against a member of the state board, or its employees or agents, for an action taken in good faith by them in the performance of their powers and duties.

Section 4. Powers of the State Board

A. The state board shall:

(1) Establish no less than [insert number] and no more than [insert number] alliance service areas in this state no later than [insert date]. In establishing these areas, the state board shall assure that every location in the state is a part of an alliance service area.

The state board shall consider potential size of enrollment populations, geographic compactness, transportation patterns, metropolitan statistical areas, availability of health and medical resources (especially for disadvantaged populations or areas), unique regional health care problems, medical referral patterns, existing rating territories, health care cost variations, carrier service areas and availability of managed care arrangements. The state board may redefine alliance service areas when:

(a) Insufficient numbers of enrollees, managed care arrangements, health care providers or participating carriers are available to make the requirements feasible; or

(b) Other operational considerations occur that are deemed appropriate by the state board;

(2) Establish and contract, as required, with the purchasing alliance in each designated alliance service area to carry out the purpose of this Act;

(3) Coordinate the qualification of small group carriers eligible to respond to the request for proposals for participating carriers issued by the purchasing alliances. Each small group carrier must seek qualification from the state board in order to be eligible to respond to a request for proposal to participate in a particular purchasing alliance as a participating carrier. The state board shall administer the qualification of small group carriers in accordance with the following:

Drafting Note: The commissioner licenses and regulates small group carriers that are eligible to sell health insurance coverage to the small group marketplace. Carriers that comply with the state's small group reform measures and other regulatory requirements are referred to as "small group carriers." Small group carriers interested in offering coverage through a purchasing alliance must apply to and be qualified by the state board to do so, using the process described above. A small group carrier whose application is approved by the state board is called a "qualified carrier". A qualified carrier is eligible to respond to requests for proposals issued by the purchasing alliances for offering health insurance coverage to member small employers, their eligible employees and dependents. If a carrier's proposal is approved and it signs a contract with one or more of the purchasing alliances to provide health insurance coverage, it is referred to as a "participating carrier." It is important to note that the state board does not regulate in the insurance sense participating carriers, but merely decides which carriers are eligible to respond to the request for proposals for participating carriers issued by the purchasing alliances. Regulatory oversight remains the responsibility of the commissioner.

(a) The state board shall request from the commissioner a list of small group carriers that: (i) are licensed carriers as set forth in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law]; (ii) satisfy the financial requirements required under Section [insert section of state law on capital and surplus requirements]; (iii) have a demonstrated capacity to administer health benefit plans; and (iv) are otherwise in good standing. The commissioner shall update this list as requested, but not less than on a quarterly basis;

(b) The state board, in consultation with the commissioner, shall develop and make available a list of objective criteria that must be met by small group carriers in order to become qualified carriers eligible to respond to the request for proposals for participating carriers that are issued by the purchasing alliances;

(c) In order to be eligible to be designated as a qualified carrier, a carrier must be able to demonstrate the following minimum qualifying and operating characteristics:

(i) That it is licensed and approved as a small employer carrier and in good standing with the commissioner;

(ii) That it has the demonstrated ability or capacity to administer health benefit plans;

(iii) That it has the ability to provide enrollees reasonable access to covered services within the alliance service area;

(iv) That it has the ability to arrange and pay for the appropriate quality, level and type of health care or claims payment services;

(v) That it has the ability to provide information on enrollee satisfaction based on standard surveys as may be prescribed by the state board, and to meet reasonable satisfaction and other minimum service measures as may be established;

(vi) That it has the ability to provide standard data elements in a manner prescribed by the commissioner; and

Drafting Note: States may want to base the data requirements, at least in part, on the data reporting standards under development for all health carriers by the NAIC standards in common use by recognized national accreditation entities or by national health care data collection initiatives.

(vii) That it has the ability to meet basic quality of care standards established by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Commissioners may want to allow qualified carriers to meet the requirements for quality assurance standards established by the commissioner by receiving and maintaining accreditation from recognized private accreditation entities. Under this approach the commissioner would periodically affirm that the standards in use by the private accreditation entity meets or exceeds the standards he or she establishes for use in the state. Once affirmed, qualified carriers holding accreditation by the private entities can be deemed as having met the desired standards until such time as the private accreditation entity is again reviewed by the commissioner.

(d) Each small group carrier wishing to become a qualified carrier must submit a completed application to the state board. The state board shall evaluate, with the assistance of the commissioner and other professionals as may be required, each completed application to determine whether the objective criteria established by the state board have been satisfied. If the state board approves the response, the carrier shall be registered in the state as a qualified carrier;

(e) When a small group carrier does not qualify based upon the criteria set forth in Section 4A(3)(c), the state board may take into account unique services or needs not currently being met within an alliance service area for an identifiable segment of the community. In such cases, the state board may grant waivers on a limited basis allowing small employer carriers, who would not otherwise be qualified to provide coverage to an underserved population;

(4) Review and update the application and qualification process at least once every three (3) years. The review shall include input from the purchasing alliance boards. After the review is completed, the state board may issue a revised application setting forth new criteria;

(5) Conduct or arrange for periodic reviews of the performance of the purchasing alliances and participating carriers to assure compliance with this Act in consultation with the commissioner;

(6) Provide to the commissioner, governor and legislature a summary of these reviews at least biennially, which shall include, but not be limited to, an accounting of all outside revenues received by the state board and purchasing alliances and all internal and independent audits, and make the summary available to the public;

(7) Periodically review and consider comments by purchasing alliance boards relative to services, quality of care, cost, grievance procedures, access and administrative efficiency;

(8) Develop standard enrollment procedures to be used within each purchasing alliance;

Drafting Note: To assure efficient and cost effective interactions between a regional purchasing alliance and its member small employers, between a regional purchasing alliance and its participating carriers, and between one regional purchasing alliance and another, states may consider requiring that all regional purchasing alliances contract with a common administrator. At a minimum it is important that common procedures be adopted for addressing issues which impact more than one alliance, e.g., enrollment procedures for an employer whose employees work or reside in multiple regional purchasing alliance service areas.

(9) Publish educational materials, plan descriptions and comparison sheets describing participating carriers and the qualified health benefit plans being offered within the purchasing alliances for enrolling small employers and their eligible employees and make reasonable efforts to notify all small employers of their option to join a purchasing alliance;

Drafting Note: The NAIC is in the process of evaluating standards and reporting measures that might be used in developing comparison sheets. A number of accrediting organizations and other groups are also developing report cards that might be considered for inclusion under this Act.

(10) Establish conditions of participation for small employers that conform to the requirements of this Act and Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law] and include, but are not limited to the following:

(a) Provide assurances that the small employers are bona fide employer groups;

(b) Assure that small employers that meet the requirements established by the state board and this Act may purchase health care coverage through a purchasing alliance from a participating carrier;

Drafting Note: Each state should insert one of the following alternatives for Subparagraph (c).

(c) [Alternative A (pure employee choice): Offer to all member small employer's eligible employees a choice of all participating carriers in the alliance service area; and]

[Alternative B (modified employee choice): Offer to all member small employer's eligible employees a choice of at least three (3) participating carriers in the alliance service area and chosen by the employer, one of which must provide out-of-network coverage if available, and at least one managed care plan if available; and]

(d) Establish procedures and mechanisms for billing and collection of premiums from member small employers (including any share of the premium paid by enrollees);

(11) Appoint advisory committees that include persons with expertise in health benefits management and marketing and representatives of participating carriers, consumers, small businesses or health care providers, as may be deemed necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act. In addition, the state board may appoint local beneficiary advisory councils to evaluate purchasing alliance functions and the performance of participating carriers in order to assess the efficacy of the operations for member small employees;

(12) Develop standard procedures for the resolution of grievances and disputes between the purchasing alliances and participating carriers, and between the purchasing alliances and member small employers; and

(13) Develop a standardized request for proposal form for use by the purchasing alliances when soliciting health insurance coverage from qualified carriers.

Drafting Note: In order to decrease the administrative costs associated with responding to multiple RFP's from all or most of the purchasing alliances, it is important that the same standardized request for proposal (RFP) form be used by all of the purchasing alliances. This will also enhance the ability of the state board to uniformly compare the effectiveness and performance of each of the purchasing alliances. While the terms, conditions and format of the RFP should be standardized, the form may allow for a section that recognizes unique contractual differences necessary in a particular purchasing alliance.

B. The state board may:

(1) Sue or be sued, including taking action necessary for securing legal remedies on behalf of or against the purchasing alliances, member small employers, enrollees, a state board member or other parties subject to this Act;

(2) Approve all assessments made upon member small employers by the purchasing alliances for costs incurred or anticipated in connection with the operation of the purchasing alliances;

(3) Review all matters of dispute between a purchasing alliance and a participating carrier;

(4) Review information and recommendations from consumers, small employers, purchasing alliances, participating carriers, or health care providers, and other sources. Upon review, the state board may issue reports or otherwise make recommendations to improve the delivery or purchase of health care;

(5) Establish administrative and accounting procedures for operating the purchasing alliances, providing services to member small employers and enrollees; and

(6) Issue model legal documents for the purchasing alliances which may include articles of incorporation, bylaws and purchasing alliance participation agreements with participating carriers.

C. If review by the state board reveals that a purchasing alliance is not carrying out its duties or acting in the best interests of its enrollees, the state board may relieve the purchasing alliance board of its duties and in the interim may assume, or appoint an entity that assumes, the duties of the purchasing alliance until a new purchasing alliance board is appointed.

Section 5. Purchasing Alliances Authorized

A. Each purchasing alliance shall operate under the supervision of a purchasing alliance board of directors, which shall consist of no more than nine (9) members. The majority of members on each purchasing alliance board shall be member employers.

(1) The state board shall initially appoint the members. In so doing, the state board shall consider, among other things, the alliance service area's geographical, ethnic, gender, and workforce diversity, as well as the expertise of consumer and business interests, needed to oversee purchasing alliance operations.

(2) Subsequent members of the purchasing alliance board of directors shall be elected pursuant to the purchasing alliance's bylaws.

(3) Of the initially appointed members of each purchasing alliance board, five (5) members shall be designated to serve two-year terms and the remaining four (4) members shall serve four-year terms. Thereafter, the term of an elected member shall be four (4) years.

(4) Vacancies on the purchasing alliance board shall be filled for the remaining period of the term by a majority vote of the remaining purchasing alliance board members. A member who was appointed after the beginning of a term may serve for the remainder of that term and until a qualified successor is elected for a new term.

(5) A member who serves two (2) consecutive full four-year terms may not be re-elected for four (4) years after completion of those terms.

(6) The purchasing alliance board shall elect officers from among its members every two (2) years. Officers may not serve more than two (2) consecutive terms in an office.

(7) Each purchasing alliance board shall adopt bylaws. The bylaws shall be subject to review and approval by the state board.

B. The purchasing alliance board shall meet at least quarterly at times and places as it determines necessary to operate in accordance with this Act. The meetings shall be governed by the procedures and policies set forth in Section [insert reference to existing state open meetings law].

C. A purchasing alliance board member or members of their households may not be employed by, be a consultant for, be a member of the board of directors of, be affiliated with an agent of, or otherwise be a representative of a carrier or other insurer, a health care provider or agent or broker. This provision shall not preclude a purchasing alliance board member from purchasing coverage through an alliance.

D. The purchasing alliance board members shall be subject to the provisions of [insert section of state law which controls the ethics of public officials].

Drafting Note: States should review their ethics laws to ensure prohibition or limitation on the amount of stock that purchasing alliance board members can own in the entities described in Section 5.C. If no prohibition or limitation exists, a state should consider drafting language to do so.

E. No cause of action or liability of any nature or kind shall arise against a member of a purchasing alliance board, or its employees or agents, for any action taken in good faith by them in the performance of their duties.

F. The purchasing alliance board shall not employ or hire employees or agents that have conflicts of interest with the operations and activities of the purchasing alliance.

Section 6. Powers and Duties of and Restrictions on Purchasing Alliances

A. In addition to other powers granted to nonprofit corporations under state law, a purchasing alliance shall have the following powers and duties:

(1) Appoint an executive director to serve as the chief operating officer of the purchasing alliance who may employ other staff as needed to administer the purchasing alliance. The executive director shall serve at the pleasure of the purchasing alliance board;

(2) Establish advisory committees as necessary to assist with carrying out the duties established pursuant to this section. Consumer representatives shall serve on all such advisory committees;

(3) Coordinate its operations with other purchasing alliances, including those operations where the purchasing alliances are in the same or different states, when the state board and the commissioner in each state deem that interstate coordination is in the best interests of enrollees. Coordination may include adoption of joint operating rules, staff and activities;

(4) Make recommendations to the state board and provide other information that may be requested by the state board;

(5) Prepare annual reports on the operations of the purchasing alliance, including program and financial operations as required by the state board, and provide for annual internal and independent audits;

(6) Receive and accept grants, state funds or anything of value from a public or private agency; and receive and accept contributions from any legitimate source of money, property, labor or any other thing of value. However, the purchasing alliance board shall not accept anything of value from a person or entity that might have a vested interest in the decisions of the board except with the express permission of the commissioner;

(7) Contract with at least three (3) unaffiliated participating carriers to ensure that enrollees have a choice from among a reasonable number of competing carriers and types of health benefit plans which include the basic and standard health benefits plans required by Section [cite small employer health insurance availability law]. The commissioner may, upon a showing of good cause, waive the requirement to have at least three (3) unaffiliated participating carriers throughout all portions of the purchasing alliance's service area;

Drafting Note: Coverage through a purchasing alliance of employees who work and reside outside of the state can create administrative problems due to the application of such other states' extraterritorial mandated benefit laws. Moreover, many participating carriers, notably local HMOs, will not be able to provide coverage for out-of-state residents in any event. Purchasing alliances may wish to address this by issuing a separate request for proposal for the purpose of contracting with carriers to provide out-of-state coverage.

(8) Enter into contracts with member small employers;

(9) In instances where not already provided for by the state board:

(a) Establish procedures and mechanisms for billing and collection of premiums from member small employers (including any share of the premium paid by employee enrollees); and

(b) Establish procedures for annual open enrollment periods;

(10) Impose reasonable fees upon member small employers for necessary costs incurred in connection with the operation of the purchasing alliance;

(11) Provide that in the event a member small employer terminates coverage purchased through the purchasing alliance, the former member small employer shall be ineligible to purchase a health benefit plan through the purchasing alliance for a period of twelve (12) months, except as permitted by the state board for good cause;

(12) Contract, as authorized by the state board, with qualified, independent third parties for services necessary to carry out the powers and duties of the purchasing alliance, including contracts with agents and brokers to assist in contracting with participating carriers and member small employers and to assist the purchasing alliance in educational, marketing, service, grievance and administrative activities. Unless permission is specifically granted by the purchasing alliance board, a third party hired may not release, publish or otherwise use information to which the third party has access under its contract. Except with the express written approval of the state board, no entity may act, directly or through an affiliated company, in a purchasing alliance service area both as a participating carrier and a third party under contract to the purchasing alliance;

(13) Provide to member small employers comparison sheets, in accordance with state board rules, describing participating carriers and the qualified health benefit plans available through the purchasing alliance;

(14) Offer health insurance coverage through multiple unaffiliated participating carriers to all small employers, their eligible employees and dependents;

(15) Develop a marketing plan specifically designed for the purchasing alliance's service area using the marketing standards established by the state board; and

(16) Use the standardized request for proposal format for participating carriers to provide qualified health benefit plans to member small employers, their eligible employees and dependents as provided by the state board.

B. Purchasing alliances shall place premiums, operating funds and all other funds received by it in a trust account.

C. Purchasing alliances may not:

(1) Purchase health care services, assume risk for the cost or provision of health care services, or otherwise contract with health care providers for the provision of health care services to enrollees;

(2) Exclude a small employer or eligible employee or dependent of an eligible employee from membership in the purchasing alliance who agrees to pay fees for membership and the premium for coverage through the purchasing alliance and who abides by the bylaws and rules of the purchasing alliance;

(3) Prohibit the participation of small employers, or differentiate classes of membership, based on industry type, experience, age, gender, family status, education, health status, income or other means in conflict with the rating methodology specified in Section [insert reference to small employers health insurance availability law];

(4) Commit an act constituting a rebate prohibited pursuant to Section [insert applicable section of state law];

(5) Charge a fee not directly related to the operation of the purchasing alliance or for non-health care related activities;

(6) As a condition of membership, require a small employer, eligible employee or dependent to subscribe to limited health benefit insurance or non-health care related products or services;

(7) Operate the purchasing alliance or market the purchasing alliance in a county or primary metropolitan statistical area in a way which would cause the purchasing alliance to select a risk pool with actuarially projected health care utilization over a two-year period which is below the projected average for all individuals residing in that county or primary metropolitan statistical area.

The measurement and composition of projected utilization by members of the purchasing alliance to all individuals shall be done on a county or primary metropolitan statistical area basis and not across all members of the purchasing alliance;

(8) Engage in a competitive act or practice that results in the selection of member small employers and enrollees based on any of the risk factors specified in Paragraph (3) of this subsection or small employer size;

(9) Require or take an action inconsistent or in conflict with state laws or regulations of the commissioner; or

(10) Provide products or services other than those specifically authorized in this Act.

Section 7. Requirements of Participating Carriers

A. In every purchasing alliance in which it participates, a participating carrier shall:

(1) Offer only qualified health benefit plans;

(2) Provide for the collection and reporting to the state board and to the appropriate purchasing alliance of information on the performance of the participating carrier regarding the effectiveness and outcomes in providing selected services. The data reporting requirements adopted by the state board shall be based on and consistent with national or state standards and should not impose an unreasonable cost for compliance;

(3) Establish premium rates for each qualified health benefit plan in accordance with the rating method described in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law];

(4) Comply with all rules and regulations regarding underwriting, claims handling, sales, solicitation, licensing, fair marketing, unfair trade practices, the provisions of this Act and other applicable state statutes;

(5) Comply with all rules and regulations regarding adjusted community rating as specified in [cite applicable section of small employer health insurance availability law], except that the purchasing alliance and a participating carrier may negotiate only the administrative expense component of the premium rates charged for coverage offered through the alliance where the carrier can demonstrate net administrative cost savings for its alliance business. For the purposes of this paragraph, administrative expenses are limited to marketing expenses, acquisition expenses, the cost of paying claims, commissions, and maintenance expenses;

Drafting Note: Participating carriers must be required to use the same rating methodology inside and outside the alliance. Alliances should be permitted to negotiate with carriers only on administrative costs. Claim costs must be uniform across a carrier's entire small employer group market and not be subject to negotiation.

(6) Issue coverage under a health benefit plan to an enrollee who elects to be covered in the manner required under this Act and the provisions of Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

B. After notice and hearing, the state board may place a participating carrier on probation, or suspend or revoke its designation as a qualifying carrier if it fails to maintain compliance with the requirements listed in this Act. In cases of noncompliance, participating carriers shall be afforded reasonable time to correct the areas of deficiency. If the participating carrier fails to comply after that time period, the state board shall revoke the qualification status as a qualified carrier. Carriers subject to revocation shall be afforded the opportunity to appeal the decision of the state board in accordance with the state administrative procedures act or other applicable state law.

C. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in Section [cite guaranteed renewability section of the small employer health insurance availability law], in the event the participating carrier elects to terminate its contract with a purchasing alliance, the participating carrier shall:

(1) Provide advance notice of its decision to the purchasing alliance board, and;

(2) Provide notice of the decision at least 180 days prior to the nonrenewal of a qualified health benefit plan to the member small employers and enrollees. A participating carrier that elects not to renew a health benefit plan with a purchasing alliance shall be prohibited from writing new business through the purchasing alliance for a period of three (3) years from the date of the notice to the purchasing alliance or until the purchasing alliance, with the concurrence of the commissioner, invites the former participating carrier to renew participation, whichever is sooner.

D. In the event that renewal or the acceptance of additional applications for coverage would place the participating carrier in a financially impaired condition, the state board, upon the counsel of the purchasing alliance board and upon the approval by the commissioner, may recommend that the participating carrier be excused from issuing coverage in accordance with this Act until the impairment is remedied.

Section 8. Purchasing Alliance Contracts

A. A contract between the purchasing alliance and a participating carrier shall specify how all premiums will be transmitted, on what basis, and the penalties and grace periods for payments.

B. A contract between the purchasing alliance and a member small employer shall provide:

(1) For administrative purposes, the purchasing alliance will be the policyholder or contract holder of the qualified health benefit plan on behalf of member small employers, their eligible employees and dependents;

(2) Provide that the participating carrier will issue a certificate of coverage, or equivalent document, specifying the essential features of the qualified health benefit plan's coverage to each enrolled eligible employee; and

(3) Provide that all eligible employees of the small employer who obtains coverage under the qualified health benefit plan offered by the small employer must obtain coverage through the purchasing alliance.

Section 9. Marketing Qualified Health Benefit Plans

A. The state board shall establish marketing standards for use by purchasing alliance boards and participating carriers.

B. Any marketing, advertisement or educational material for qualified health benefit plans sold through purchasing alliances shall be approved by the state board prior to its use. The state board shall review all materials submitted to it and the materials shall be deemed approved if not disapproved within [insert number] days. The purchasing alliance may, through its contracts with participating carriers, deem certain classes of materials to be approved.

C. This section shall not be construed to prohibit or to compel the purchasing alliance or a participating carrier from using the services of an agent or broker.

D. A participating carrier, agent, broker, contractor or producer of a participating carrier, or independent insurance agent, broker, contractor or producer may not engage, directly or indirectly, in an activity or marketing practice that would encourage member small employers or eligible employees to:

(1) Refrain from enrolling in a qualified health benefit plan offered through the purchasing alliance because of their health status or claims experience;

(2) Seek coverage from other participating carriers because of their health status or claim experience; or

(3) Enroll or fail to enroll in the purchasing alliance because of their health status or claims experience.

Section 10. Risk Adjustment Mechanism

The commissioner may establish a payment mechanism to adjust for the amount of risk covered by each participating carrier. The commissioner may appoint an advisory committee composed of individuals that have risk adjustment and actuarial expertise to help establish the risk adjusters.

Drafting Note: Some states may prefer to develop a risk adjustment mechanism that applies to the entire small group market and not simply to business written by participating carriers through the purchasing alliance. A risk adjustment mechanism that operates across the entire small group market would preserve the principle of uniform rating and underwriting rules both inside and outside of the alliance and would minimize incentives for carriers to either steer high-risk business to the alliance or avoid participating in the alliance altogether.

Section 11. Antitrust Protection

A. If a purchasing alliance develops standards that have the potential to exclude a participating carrier from offering a qualified health benefit plan or requires a participating carrier to engage in a practice or course of conduct that restricts competition, the state board shall approve the standards prior to their use.

B. The state board shall prescribe the form and procedure for application for approval under this section. The state board may permit a purchasing alliance to file an operating plan on an annual basis to obtain approval or may require a separate application for each exclusion or requirement.

C. The state board may approve an application under this section only if it finds that:

(1) The exclusion will not significantly affect the competitiveness of the affected market; or

(2) The effect on the competitiveness of the affected market is justified because the exclusion or requirement is reasonably necessary to accomplish a purpose which is expected to benefit consumers by improving the quality or efficiency of the provision of health care coverage or health care delivery.

D. The state board shall actively supervise the purchasing alliances and participating carriers to ensure that actions taken affecting market competition are not for private interest, but to accomplish the legislative intent of this Act.

E. A purchasing alliance, its employees and agents, and participating carriers are exempt from state antitrust law for an act or omission which is permitted or required in accordance with this Act.

Section 12. Program Evaluation

The state board shall make a report not later than [insert date] to the governor, commissioner and the legislature of at least the following:

A. The progress achieved in assuring affordable health care coverage to employees of member small employers;

B. The possible need, if any, for financial incentives or other mechanisms to increase participation in the purchasing alliance;

C. The benefits, if any, of exclusive purchasing of health insurance through the purchasing alliance for all small employers who choose to purchase health coverage; and

D. The need to provide choices of additional or supplemental benefit designs beyond the basic and standard benefit plans; and

E. Other changes in the law or procedure that would approve the overall efficiency, further reduce costs and improve fairness.

Section 13. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

Drafting Note: Each state should draft to be consistent with that state's procedures for establishing an effective date.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

THE PRIVATE HEALTH CARE VOLUNTARY PURCHASING ALLIANCE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Purpose and Intent

This Act shall be known as the Private Health Care Voluntary Purchasing Alliance Model Act.

The purpose of this Act is to improve the fairness, efficiency and competition in the pricing and delivering of health care coverage for employers with no more than [insert number] employees. It does so by allowing for the establishment of private competing purchasing entities (purchasing alliances) through which eligible small employers, and self-employed individuals can purchase health coverage. Another goal is to avoid jurisdictional confusion and unnecessary and expensive bureaucracy within a purchasing alliance and state government by clarifying the respective roles and jurisdiction of existing regulatory agencies and a purchasing alliance. This Act provides a mechanism for small employers to join together solely for the purpose of procuring health insurance and operates as an exception to existing false group or fictitious group laws. In addition, the intent of the Act is to avoid creating an undue burden on small employers when purchasing health care coverage through a purchasing alliance.

This Act is also intended to provide a meaningful choice of high quality, fairly priced health care providers and health care coverage for member small employers, employees and individuals of a purchasing alliance through a system that is fair, efficient and accountable to its members and includes procedural and substantive protections.

It is envisioned that a purchasing alliance, through an open and fair competitive procurement process, will contract with qualified group carriers to provide a meaningful choice of carriers providing health benefit plans to purchasing alliance members.

Drafting Note: In order that states might choose which approach would best accommodate their needs, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has developed several purchasing alliance model acts to address the problems of providing health care coverage to small employers and their employees. In doing this, the NAIC is not expressing a preference for one model over another. This Act assumes that a state has already adopted substantially the most recent version of the NAIC's Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Model Act to ensure that a purchasing alliance formed under this Act operates properly.

For example, it is imperative that health benefit plans issued to purchasing alliances and policies issued directly to small employers who are not members of a purchasing alliance operate under the same rating, underwriting, enrollment and participation requirements. Absent strong market reforms, such as guaranteed issue of all products sold in the small group market, a voluntary purchasing alliance will become a high risk pool. The Private Health Care Voluntary Purchasing Alliance Model Act is intended to be a portion of a larger program of underwriting reforms in the general small group market and would necessarily use the same terms and definitions.

Drafting Note: States may consider expanding alliance eligibility to include individuals, state employees, and other designated population groupings that are eligible to purchase health insurance coverage through a purchasing alliance. However, in expanding eligibility prior to universal coverage, states should be careful to avoid burdening a purchasing alliance with high-risk individuals or groups. If population groupings other than small employers are eligible to purchase coverage through an alliance, underwriting and rating parity should be required inside and outside the alliance.

Section 1. Definitions

A. "Adjusted community rating" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

B. "Board" means a purchasing alliance board.

C. "Business plan" means the plan of operation of the health care purchasing alliance.

D. "Carrier" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law] and for the purposes of this Act shall include carriers that are authorized to offer dental benefits pursuant to [insert reference to applicable state statutes dealing with dental-only carriers] for the limited purpose of enabling dental-only carriers to offer dental benefits through an alliance, either in conjunction with a small group carrier or on a stand-alone basis. These carriers shall be subject to the terms of this Act relating to participating carriers but shall not be required to qualify as small group carriers pursuant to Section 8A(1) of this Act.

Drafting Note: Most states provide for the licensing of dental-only carriers authorized to offer dental benefits. Inclusion of dental-only carriers in the definitions of "small group carrier" and "participating carrier" is designed to enable these carriers to offer dental-only benefits through an alliance without requiring them to be "small group carriers" pursuant to a state's small employer health insurance availability law. These dental-only carriers are required to comply with all of the Act's provisions except those which would otherwise require qualified carriers to offer health benefits other than dental benefits.

E. "Commissioner" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to the chief insurance regulatory official of the state].

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. Where jurisdiction of managed care organizations lies with some other state agency, or dual state regulation occurs, a state should add additional language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

F. "Dependent" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

Drafting Note: States without a statutory definition of dependent may wish to use the following definition:

"Dependent" means a spouse; an unmarried child under the age of [nineteen (19)] years; an unmarried child who is a full-time student under the age of [insert maximum age] and who is financially dependent upon the enrollee; and an unmarried child of any age who is medically certified as disabled and dependent upon the enrollee.

When using this definition, states should insert a maximum age for student dependents that is consistent with other state laws. States also may wish to include other individuals defined as dependents by state law. The term child above is not intended to be limited to natural children of the enrollee.

G. "Eligible employee" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

H. "Enrollee" means an eligible employee, self-employed individual or a dependent of an eligible employee who is enrolled in a health benefit plan offered through the purchasing alliance by a participating carrier.

Drafting Note: The Act assumes that a small employer group includes self-employed individuals. This term should be deleted from the definition of "enrollee" if the minimum size of a small employer group is two or more.

I. "Health benefit plan" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

J. "Late enrollee" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

K. "Limited benefit health insurance" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

L. "Member small employer" means a small employer who enrolls in a purchasing alliance.

M. "Participating carrier" means a carrier that contracts with a purchasing alliance to provide coverage to enrollees under a health benefit plan and for the purposes of this Act shall include carriers that are authorized to offer dental benefits pursuant to [insert reference to applicable state statutes dealing with dental-only carriers] for the limited purpose of enabling dental-only carriers to offer dental benefits through an alliance, either in conjunction with a small group carrier or on a stand-alone basis. These carriers shall be subject to the terms of this Act relating to participating carriers but shall not be required to qualify as small group carriers pursuant to Section 8A(1) of this Act.

N. "Purchasing alliance" or "alliance" means a non-risk bearing nonprofit corporation licensed pursuant to this Act established under [insert statutory reference to nonprofit corporation act] to provide health insurance through multiple unaffiliated participating carriers to member small employers and their employees within a defined service area authorized by the commissioner.

O. "Small employer" has the same meaning as in Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law].

Drafting Note: Definitions that reference small employer health insurance availability statutes may be deleted if a state places this Act within the same statutory chapter.

Section 2. Jurisdiction of the Commissioner; Penalties

A. The commissioner shall have the authority to regulate the establishment and conduct of purchasing alliances as set forth in this Act.

B. No person or entity may market, sell, offer, or arrange for a package of one or more health benefit plans underwritten by two (2) or more carriers to two (2) or more small employers or their eligible employees without first being licensed by the commissioner pursuant to this Act.

C. A person or entity not licensed by the commissioner as a purchasing alliance and engaged in the purchase, sale, marketing or distribution of health insurance or health care benefit plans shall not hold itself out as an alliance, health insurance purchasing alliance, purchasing alliance, health insurance purchasing cooperative or purchasing cooperative, or otherwise use a confusingly similar name.

D. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to be in conflict with or limit the duties and powers granted to the commissioner under the laws of this state.

E. Purchasing alliances shall report to the commissioner any suspected or alleged law violations.

F. Violations of this Act shall be subject to the penalties contained in [insert reference to state law penalty provisions].

Drafting Note: The range of regulatory actions, processes, remedies and penalties to be specified here should be least as broad as those available to the commissioner when he or she sanctions entities under the insurance laws.

Section 3. Purchasing Alliance Application and Licensing Process

A. An application in a form designated by the commissioner shall be completed and filed with the commissioner by an authorized representative of the board of the nonprofit corporation established as a precursor to being granted a purchasing alliance license. An application will not be deemed filed until all information necessary to properly process the application has been received by the commissioner.

Upon filing, the commissioner will make a determination concerning the application and will provide notice of the determination to the applicant. If approved, a copy of a license, in a form designed by the commissioner, shall be provided to the purchasing alliance. The license shall serve as authorization to operate pursuant to this Act.

B. Each applicant and duly licensed purchasing alliance shall file with the commissioner the following information or documents:

(1) A business plan for approval by the commissioner. The business plan is a detailed, written plan of operations explaining how the applicant intends to meet the public policy objectives of reduced cost, increased access and improved quality within the small employer marketplace. The business plan is a written commitment by the alliance. Material changes in policy or operations of the business plan are subject to the prior approval of the commissioner on the same basis as the original business plan. The business plan shall include, but not be limited to, the following information:

(a) The specific steps planned to advance cost control and quality improvement, and to improve access to health insurance or health care services. The business plan shall affirmatively demonstrate that the alliance will have the technical expertise and physical capacity to serve a significant group of small employers and their eligible employees not currently being served by a purchasing alliance. Significant means at least ten percent (10%) of the population within the proposed service area. The business plan shall affirmatively demonstrate that the alliance will reduce cost, improve quality and improve access to health insurance or health care services; and

(b) The scope of services to be offered in the proposed service area and the resources and expertise to be used to implement and administer those services. An alliance shall demonstrate the technical and physical capacity to serve a significant group of small employers and their eligible employees over a wide territory. An alliance shall demonstrate the technical and physical capacity to provide service quality throughout the entire alliance service area;

(2) The applicant's nonprofit articles of incorporation, bylaws and other formation and business operation documents. An alliance shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commissioner that its corporate governance makes it an appropriate and effective representative of small employers and their eligible employees' interests within the proposed service area. An alliance shall demonstrate that it is more than a marketing or distribution channel for a single product or the products of a single carrier. An alliance shall organize and facilitate competition between multiple unaffiliated carriers;

(3) A list of officers and directors of the applicant and the contract administrator, if one is employed, and personal biographical information or firm descriptions for each. The officers, directors and contract administrator shall not have a prior record of administrative, civil or criminal violations within any financial service industry.

The personal biographical information and firm descriptions shall demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that those involved in the operation of the alliance have the expertise, experience and character to effectively and professionally represent small employers and their eligible employees in a fiduciary capacity;

(4) Evidence of adequate security and prudence in the accounting, deposit, collection, handling and transfer of moneys. An alliance shall affirmatively demonstrate adequate financial controls to the satisfaction of the commissioner as a condition of licensure;

(5) The small employers and their eligible employees to which the alliance will be marketing. An alliance shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commissioner that it will extend alliance coverages to a significant group of small employers and their eligible employees not currently served by an alliance;

(6) Disclosure of any preexisting oral or written agreements;

Drafting Note: Preexisting agreements may raise questions of conflict or demonstrate the intention to create a marketing channel for a single product or single carrier. Conversely, pre-existing agreements may assist in affirmatively demonstrating technical or physical capacity to serve a service area or to extend alliance services to a significant group of small employers and their eligible employees not currently served by an alliance.

(7) Quarterly financial statements and annual reports on forms approved by the commissioner. The financial statements and annual reports shall be designed to ensure the operation of the alliance in a sound financial fashion, to ensure the alliance is not a risk-bearing entity, to ensure sound financial controls and money management, and to prevent mismanagement or misappropriation of funds either through neglect or malfeasance;

(8) Reports of material changes in the policy or operations of the business plan. The changes are subject to approval by the commissioner prior to implementation by the alliance; and

(9) Any other information required by the commissioner deemed pertinent to the policies and operation of the alliance.

C. Financial and performance audits or examinations of the alliance shall be conducted on a regular basis by the commissioner. The commissioner may require audited financial statements from an alliance. Reasonable costs of examinations or audits are to be paid by the alliance. The commissioner may impose conditions on licensure, or continued licensure, for example, the removal and replacement of managerial, marketing staff or third party contractors to remedy compliance or performance problems.

Section 4. Grounds for Denial, Nonrenewal, Suspension or Revocation of License

In addition to any other grounds specified in this Act, the following constitute grounds for denial, nonrenewal, suspension or revocation of an application or existing license, following notice and an opportunity for hearing:

A. Failure to comply with the provisions of this Act;

B. Failure to disclose a preexisting oral or written agreement during the alliance application process;

C. Failure to comply with and carry out the purchasing alliance business plan filed with the commissioner;

D. Failure to have adequate controls or failure to follow approved procedures;

E. Failure to meet minimum standards in a financial or performance audit or examination;

F. Failure to extend alliance health benefit plan coverages to a significant group of small employers and their eligible employees not currently served by an alliance;

G. Failure to comply with a lawful order of the commissioner;

H. Committing an unfair or deceptive act or practice as defined in [insert reference to unfair trade practices act];

I. Filing any necessary form with the commissioner that contains fraudulent information or omission;

J. Misappropriation, conversion, illegal withholding, or refusal to pay over upon proper demand any moneys that belong to a person or participating carrier otherwise not entitled to the alliance and that have been entrusted to the alliance in its fiduciary capacity;

K. Failure to demonstrate through clear and convincing evidence that it will extend alliance services to a significant group of buyers not currently being served by an alliance; or

L. Failure to demonstrate through clear and convincing evidence that it will reduce the cost, improve the quality, and improve access to or choice of affordable health insurance or health care services.

Section 5. Conflicts of Interest

No board members or members of their household nor any management personnel of the alliance may be employed by, be a consultant for, be a member of the board of directors of, be affiliated with an agent of, or otherwise be a representative of any carrier or other insurer, a health care provider, agent or broker. This provision shall not preclude a board member from purchasing coverage through an alliance.

Drafting Note: States should review their ethics laws to ensure prohibition or limitation on the amount of stock that a board members can own in the entities described in Section 5. If no prohibition or limitation exists, a state should consider drafting language to do so.

Section 6. Additional Powers of and Restrictions on Purchasing Alliances

In addition to the powers granted to it in Section [insert reference to nonprofit corporation act]:

A. A purchasing alliance may do any of the following:

(1) Set reasonable fees for membership, which may vary by employer size, in the purchasing alliance that will finance reasonable and necessary costs incurred in administering the purchasing alliance;

(2) Define and offer other health benefit plans in addition to the standard and basic health benefit plans promulgated pursuant to [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law]. The alliance may also incidentally offer optional group vision and dental benefit plans and, with the prior approval of the commissioner, other limited benefit health insurance to enrollees;

Drafting Note: Under the guaranteed issue provision of the small employer health insurance availability model act, carriers offering a particular health benefit plan designed through a purchasing alliance will also have to offer and issue that plan to any small employer outside of the purchasing alliance.

(3) Require as a condition of membership that all employers include all their employees or a minimum percentage of employees in coverage purchased through the purchasing alliance. The purchasing alliance may require an employer making membership application to the purchasing alliance that would entail entering fewer than 100 percent of the employer's eligible employees or dependents to demonstrate that the resultant membership will not result in an adverse selection group being brought into the purchasing alliance or that the action would otherwise act as a form of risk selection or risk avoidance;

(4) Provide premium collection services for health benefit plans offered through the purchasing alliance;

(5) Reject or allow a carrier to reject an employer from membership or drop or allow a carrier to drop a member small employer if the member employer or any of its eligible employees fail to pay premiums or engage in fraud or material misrepresentation in connection with a health benefit plan purchased through the purchasing alliance. If a member small employer or enrollee is dropped from coverage, the enrollee shall be entitled to continuation and conversion coverage to the extent provided for under applicable state or federal continuation laws and the state conversion law;

(6) Contract with qualified independent third parties for any service necessary to carry out the powers and duties authorized or required by this Act;

(7) Contract with licensed insurance agents or brokers to market and service coverage made available through the purchasing alliance to its members. Compensation for agents and brokers may not vary based on the actual or expected health status or medical utilization of the group to which coverage is sold;

(8) Exclude a carrier or freeze enrollment in a carrier for failure to achieve established quality, access or information reporting standards of the purchasing alliance;

(9) Require that member employers and their eligible employees continue to pay administrative fees that are part of the contract with the purchasing alliance if a member employer or enrollee cancels prior to completion of a contract period;

(10) Have the authority to develop uniform standards for data to be provided by participating carriers and providers. The purchasing alliance may collect data necessary for evaluation of the performance of participating carriers and their provider networks by consumers, providers, employers and the commissioner. In formulating data collection standards, the board may use standards based on, and consistent with, existing state, National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC), and national health care data collection initiatives and shall take into account their feasibility and cost-effectiveness; and

(11) Negotiate with participating carriers the administrative expense component of the premium rates charged for coverage offered through the alliance consistent with Section 8D.

B. A purchasing alliance shall not:

(1) Purchase health care services, assume risk for the cost or provision of health services, or otherwise contract with health care providers for the provision of health care services to enrollees;

(2) Exclude a small employer or eligible employee or dependent of an eligible employee from membership in the purchasing alliance who agrees to pay fees for membership and the premium for coverage through the purchasing alliance and who abides by the bylaws and rules of the purchasing alliance;

(3) Prohibit the participation of small employers, or differentiate classes of membership, based on industry type, experience, age, gender, family status, education, health status, income or other means in conflict with the rating methodology specified in Section [insert reference to small employers health insurance availability law];

(4) Commit an act constituting a rebate prohibited pursuant to [insert applicable section of state law];

(5) Charge a fee not directly related to the operation of the purchasing alliance or for non-health care related activities;

(6) As a condition of membership, require a small employer, eligible employee or dependent to subscribe to limited benefit health insurance or non-health care related products or services;

(7) Operate the purchasing alliance or market the purchasing alliance in a county or primary metropolitan statistical area in a way which would cause the purchasing alliance to select a risk pool with actuarially projected health care utilization over a two-year period which is below the projected average for all individuals residing in that county or primary metropolitan statistical area. The measurement and composition of projected utilization by members of the purchasing alliance to all individuals shall be done on a county or primary metropolitan statistical area basis and not across all members of the purchasing alliance;

(8) Engage in any competitive act or practice that results in the selection of member small employers and enrollees based on any of the risk factors specified in Paragraph (3) of this subsection or small employer size; or

(9) Require or take any action inconsistent or in conflict with state laws or regulations.

Section 7. Operation of Purchasing Alliances

The board shall:

A. Operate the purchasing alliance;

B. Develop and make available a list of objective criteria that participating carriers must meet in order to be eligible to participate in the purchasing alliance;

C. Contract with at least three (3) unaffiliated participating carriers to ensure that enrollees have a choice from among a reasonable number of competing carriers and types of health benefit plans that include the basic and standard health benefits plans required by Section [cite small employer health insurance availability law]. The commissioner may, upon a showing of good cause, waive the requirement to have at least three (3) unaffiliated participating carriers throughout all portions of the purchasing alliance's service area.;

Drafting Note: Coverage through a purchasing alliance of employees who work and reside outside of the state can create administrative problems due to the application of other states' extraterritorial mandated benefit laws. Moreover, many participating carriers, notably local HMOs, will not be able to provide coverage for out-of-state residents in any event. Purchasing alliances may wish to address this by issuing a separate request for proposal for the purpose of contracting with carriers to provide out-of-state coverage.

D. Develop standard enrollment procedures;

E. Publish educational materials, plan descriptions and comparison sheets describing participating carriers and the health benefit plans available through the purchasing alliance for use in enrolling small employers and their eligible employees. The information may include an assessment of utilization management procedures and the level of quality and cost effective care;

Drafting Note: A number of accrediting organizations and other groups are developing report cards that might be considered for inclusion under this Act. In addition, the NAIC is in the process of evaluating standards and reporting measures that might be used in a comparison sheet.

F. Establish conditions for participation of small employers that conform to the requirements of this act and Section [insert reference to small employer health insurance availability law] and that include, but are not limited to, assurances that the small employer is a bona fide employer group and provision for prepayment of premiums or other mechanisms to assure that payment will be made for coverage;

G. In enrolling member small employers, provide that each eligible employee is permitted to enroll in any health benefit plan offered by any participating carrier so long as the health plan provides coverage where he or she works or lives;

H. Request from the commissioner certification that all participating carriers are licensed small group carriers as set forth in Section [insert reference to small group law], and that the carriers satisfy the financial requirements established under Section [insert section] of the laws of the state;

I. Receive, review and act, as appropriate, on grievances by member small employers or enrollees;

J. Review information and recommendations from consumers, employers, participating carriers or health care providers and other sources. After the review, the board may issue reports or otherwise make recommendations to improve the delivery or purchase of health care;

K. Establish administrative and accounting procedures for operating the purchasing alliance and for providing services to member small employers and employee enrollees;

L. Prepare an annual report on the operations of the purchasing alliance to the commissioner, which shall include an accounting of all outside revenues received by the board and internal and independent audits and any other information the commissioner may require;

M. Establish procedures for billing and collection of premiums from member small employers (including any share of the premium paid by employee enrollees);

N. Establish procedures for annual or rolling open enrollment periods during which an employee enrolled in a health benefit plan through the purchasing alliance may elect to enroll in any health benefit plan that is available through the purchasing alliance and that provides health coverage where he or she lives or works and during which late enrollees may elect to enroll in any health benefit plan that is available through the purchasing alliance and that provides health coverage where he or she lives or works;

O. Provide that in the event a member small employer terminates coverage purchased through the purchasing alliance, the former member small employer shall be ineligible to purchase a health benefit plan through the purchasing alliance for a period of twelve (12) months;

P. Maintain a trust account or accounts for deposit of all moneys received and collected or the operation of the purchasing alliance. A purchasing alliance, its board members, employees and agents shall have a fiduciary duty with respect to all moneys received or owed to it to assure payments of its obligations and a full accounting to its members and the commissioner;

Q. Assure the offering of the same premiums and prices on negotiated health care services to all member classes equally; and

R. Treat all members within a class equally with regard to membership and administrative fees and benefits of membership.

Section 8. Participating Carriers

A. In order to be eligible to be a participating carrier, a carrier must be able to demonstrate the following operating characteristics satisfactory to the board:

(1) Be licensed and approved as a small employer carrier, and in good standing with the commissioner;

(2) The ability to administer health benefit plans, to provide adequate service, and to comply with all contractual requirements of the purchasing alliance;

(3) The ability to provide enrollees with reasonable access to covered services;

(4) The ability to provide coverage for enrollees in any service area in which the carrier plans to participate through the purchasing alliance;

(5) The ability to arrange and pay for the appropriate quality, level and type of health care services;

(6) The ability to provide data required by the board, including information on enrollee satisfaction based on standard surveys as may be prescribed and to meet reasonable satisfaction measures as may be established;

(7) The ability to provide standard data elements in a manner prescribed by the board;

(8) The ability to meet basic quality of care standards established by the commissioner and other relevant regulators;

(9) Strong financial condition;

(10) Adequate administrative management;

(11) A procedure to address enrollee grievances and appeals;

(12) The ability to achieve satisfactory enrollment levels within the service area in which the carrier is licensed; and

(13) All other criteria established by the board.

B. Carriers that contract with or employ health care providers shall have mechanisms to accomplish all of the following in a manner satisfactory to the board, in consultation with the carrier's licensing agency:

(1) Review the quality of care covered;

(2) Review the appropriateness of care covered; and

(3) Provide accessible health care services.

C. In evaluating which carriers may participate in the purchasing alliance, the board shall consider:

(1) Minimum geographic service and participation requirements, maximum thresholds for premium rates, and standards for determining whether a carrier operates efficiently;

(2) The ability of a carrier to provide services within the purchasing alliance service area;

(3) Pricing and the competitiveness of each bid from a carrier; and

(4) The effect of contracting with additional carriers on the administrative costs of the purchasing alliance and member small employers, the efficiency of the purchasing alliance, and the competitiveness of the premiums that will be paid to participating carriers.

D. Every participating carrier shall:

(1) Meet the standards established by the board pursuant to this Act;

(2) Provide data required by the board;

(3) Comply with all rules and regulations regarding underwriting, claims handling, sales, solicitation, licensing, fair marketing, unfair trade practices, the provisions of this Act and other applicable state statutes;

(4) Comply with all rules and regulations regarding adjusted community rating as specified in Section [cite applicable section of small employer health insurance availability law], except that the purchasing alliance and a participating carrier may negotiate only the administrative expense component of the premium rates charged for coverage offered through the alliance where the carrier can demonstrate net administrative cost savings for its alliance business. For the purposes of this paragraph, administrative expenses are limited to marketing expenses, acquisition expenses, the cost of paying claims, commissions and maintenance expenses;

Drafting Note: Participating carriers should be required to use the same rating methodology inside and outside the alliance. Alliances should be permitted to negotiate with carriers only on administrative costs. Claim costs must be uniform across a carrier's entire small employer group market and not be subject to negotiation.

(5) Enroll and dis-enroll individuals as directed by the purchasing alliance or its designee; and

(6) Comply with any other requirement established by the board pursuant to this Act.

E. In contracts with participating carriers, the board may establish performance standards for specific contractual elements and penalties for failure to fulfill specific contractual obligations.

Drafting Note: This section does not specifically address the board's inherent power to cancel a contract in response to a participating carrier's breach of contract.

F. Nothing in this Act shall prohibit a participating carrier from contracting with particular health care providers or types, classes or categories of health care providers or setting reimbursement methodology.

G. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in Section [cite guaranteed renewability section of the small employer health insurance availability law], in the event the participating carrier elects to terminate its participating agreement with a purchasing alliance, the participating carrier shall:

(1) Provide advance notice of its decision to the board; and

(2) Provide notice of the decision at least 180 days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plan to the member small employers and enrollees. A participating carrier that elects not to renew a health benefit plan with a purchasing alliance shall be prohibited from writing new business through the purchasing alliance for a period of three (3) years from the date of the notice to the purchasing alliance or until the purchasing alliance, with the concurrence of the commissioner, invites the former participating carrier to renew participation, whichever is sooner.

Section 9. Contracts with Member Small Employers and Participating Carriers

A. Contracts between the board and participating carriers shall specify how all premiums will be transmitted, and penalties and grace periods for payments.

B. Contracts between purchasing alliances and member small employers shall provide:

(1) For administrative purposes, the purchasing alliance will be the policyholder or contract holder of the health benefit plan on behalf of member small employers, their eligible employees and dependents;

(2) Provide that the participating carrier will issue a certificate of coverage, or equivalent document, specifying the essential features of the health benefit plan's coverage to each enrolled eligible employee; and

(3) Provide that all eligible employees of the small employer who obtains coverage under the health benefit plan offered by the small employer must obtain coverage through the purchasing alliance.

Section 10. Marketing Health Benefit Plans

A. The board shall establish marketing standards to be used by participating carriers.

B. Any marketing, advertisement or educational material for health benefit plans sold through the purchasing alliance shall be approved by the board prior to its use. The board shall review all materials submitted to it and the materials shall be deemed approved if not disapproved within [insert number days. The board may, through its contracts with participating carriers, deem certain classes of materials to be approved.

C. This section shall not be construed to prohibit or to compel the purchasing alliance or a participating carrier from using the services of an agent or broker.

Drafting Note: States are reminded that this section is not intended to modify any existing statutes that require the licensing of individuals who provide advice on insurance coverage or who solicit sales of insurance.

D. A participating carrier, agent, broker, contractor or producer of a participating carrier, or independent insurance agent, broker, contractor or producer may not engage, directly or indirectly, in an activity or marketing practice that would encourage member small employers or eligible enrollees to:

(1) Refrain from enrolling in a health benefit plan offered through the purchasing alliance because of their health status or claims experience;

(2) Seek coverage from other participating carriers because of their health status or claim experience; or

(3) Enroll or fail to enroll in the purchasing alliance because of their health status or claims experience.

Section 11. Solvency

In the event a purchasing alliance becomes insolvent, the commissioner shall maintain jurisdiction of the alliance for purposes of protection of the interests of the alliance enrollees.

Section 12. Purchasing Alliance Evaluation

The board shall make a report not later than [insert date] to the commissioner of at least the following:

A. The progress achieved in assuring affordable health care coverage to eligible employees of member small employers;

B. The need, if any, for financial incentives or other mechanisms to increase participation in the purchasing alliance;

C. The benefits, if any, of exclusive purchasing of health insurance through the purchasing alliance for all small employers who choose to purchase health coverage; and

D. Other changes in the law or procedure that would improve the overall efficiency, further reduce costs and improve fairness.

Section 13. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date].

Drafting Note: Each state should draft to be consistent with that state's procedures for establishing an effective date.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

MODEL HEALTH PLAN FOR UNINSURABLE INDIVIDUALS ACT

Table of Contents

Statement of Principles

Each state is urged to determine, through independent study, whether a pooling mechanism is needed and whether enactment of the model would be cost effective.

Uninsurable plans may not be needed in every state, nor present the most effective answer to questions of availability of health insurance and health benefits coverage in every state. The establishment of such programs is costly and their cost effectiveness should be weighed in relation to whether there is a demonstrated need for a plan in a given state.

By definition, a plan consisting of uninsurable risks will necessitate premium rates substantially greater than applicable for standard risks. The bill establishes an initial minimum rate of 125-150 percent of applicable standard risk rates. Thereafter rates are expected to fluctuate according to experience; however, in no event shall rates exceed 200 percent of standard risk rates. A minimum rate of 125-150 percent is admittedly inadequate for the risks insured, and the 200 percent maximum will prevent the rates from becoming prohibitive. Plan losses in excess of the 200 percent maximum rate must be financed through other sources of revenue. Section 7 of the Model Act contains several alternative methods for financing plan losses. It is important to note that if plan losses are financed by assessments against insurers, the plan's cost effectiveness can be substantially impaired unless contributions from both insured and self-funded health benefit plans can be secured. Without the inclusion of self-funded plans, the financial base necessary to support the pooling mechanism may be insufficient.

For the obvious cost containment reasons, the plan coverage is the coverage of "last resort" and may not necessarily duplicate coverages from any other source, private or public. The model contains two alternative methods for establishing plan benefits. The mechanics of the plan and its operations and functions must all be established under a plan of operation approved by the commissioner. The plan is subject to the requirements of the insurance code and has the general powers and authority of an insurer licensed to provide health insurance coverage.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE STATE OF [insert state].

Section 1. Definitions

For the purposes of this act:

A. "Board" means the board of directors of the plan.

B. "Church plan" has the meaning given such term under section 3(33) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974.

C. "Commissioner" means the Insurance Commissioner.

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

D. (1) "Creditable coverage" means, with respect to an individual, coverage of the individual provided under any of the following:

(a) A group health plan;

(b) Health insurance coverage;

(c) Part A or Part B of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act;

(d) Title XIX of the Social Security Act, other than coverage consisting solely of benefits under section 1928;

(e) Chapter 55 of Title 10, United States Code;

(f) A medical care program of the Indian Health Service or of a tribal organization;

(g) A state health benefits risk pool;

(h) A health plan offered under Chapter 89 of Title 5, United States Code;

(i) A public health plan as defined in federal regulations; or

(j) A health benefit plan under Section 5(e) of the Peace Corps Act (22 U.S.C. 2504(e)).

(2) A period of creditable coverage shall not be counted, with respect to the enrollment of an individual who seeks coverage under this Act, if, after such period and before the enrollment date, the individual experiences a significant break in coverage.

E. "Department" means the Insurance Department.

F. "Dependent" means a resident spouse or resident unmarried child under the age of nineteen (19) years, a child who is a student under the age of twenty-three (23) years and who is financially dependent upon the parent, or a child of any age who is disabled and dependent upon the parent.

G. "Federally defined eligible individual" means an individual:

(1) For whom, as of the date on which the individual seeks coverage under this Act, the aggregate of the periods of creditable coverage, as defined in Subsection D, is eighteen (18) or more months;

(2) Whose most recent prior creditable coverage was under a group health plan, governmental plan, church plan or health insurance coverage offered in connection with such a plan;

(3) Who is not eligible for coverage under a group health plan, Part A or Part B of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act (Medicare), or a state plan under Title XIX of the Act (Medicaid) or any successor program, and who does not have other health insurance coverage;

(4) With respect to whom the most recent coverage within the period of aggregate creditable coverage was not terminated based on a factor relating to nonpayment of premiums or fraud;

(5) Who, if offered the option of continuation coverage under a COBRA continuation provision or under a similar state program, elected this coverage; and

(6) Who has exhausted continuation coverage under this provision or program, if the individual elected the continuation coverage described in Paragraph (5).

H. "Governmental plan" has the meaning given such term under section 3(32) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 and any federal governmental plan.

I. "Group health plan" means an employee welfare benefit plan as defined in section 3(1) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 to the extent that the plan provides medical care, as defined in Subsection N, and including items and services paid for as medical care to employees or their dependents as defined under the terms of the plan directly or through insurance, reimbursement or otherwise.

J. (1) "Health insurance coverage" means any hospital and medical expense incurred policy, nonprofit health care service plan contract, health maintenance organization subscriber contract, or any other health care plan or arrangement that pays for or furnishes medical or health care services whether by insurance or otherwise.

(2) "Health insurance coverage" shall not include one or more, or any combination of, the following:

(a) Coverage only for accident, or disability income insurance, or any combination thereof;

(b) Coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance;

(c) Liability insurance, including general liability insurance and automobile liability insurance;

(d) Workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(e) Automobile medical payment insurance;

(f) Credit-only insurance;

(g) Coverage for on-site medical clinics; and

(h) Other similar insurance coverage, specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191, under which benefits for medical care are secondary or incidental to other insurance benefits.

(3) "Health insurance coverage" shall not include the following benefits if they are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance or are otherwise not an integral part of the coverage:

(a) Limited scope dental or vision benefits;

(b) Benefits for long-term care, nursing home care, home health care, community-based care, or any combination thereof; or

(c) Other similar, limited benefits specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191.

(4) "Health insurance coverage" shall not include the following benefits if the benefits are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance, there is no coordination between the provision of the benefits and any exclusion of benefits under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor, and the benefits are paid with respect to an event without regard to whether benefits are provided with respect to such an event under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor:

(a) Coverage only for a specified disease or illness; or

(b) Hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity insurance.

(5) "Health insurance coverage" shall not include the following if offered as a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance:

(a) Medicare supplemental health insurance as defined under Section 1882(g)(1) of the Social Security Act;

(b) Coverage supplemental to the coverage provided under Chapter 55 of Title 10, United States Code (Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS); or

(c) Similar supplemental coverage provided to coverage under a group health plan.

K. "Health maintenance organization" [reference applicable state laws].

L. "Hospital" [reference applicable state laws].

Drafting Note: Definitions of "physician" and "hospital" are needed only if the benefit package is specified in the Act.

M. "Insurer" means any entity that provides health insurance coverage in this state. For the purposes of this Act, insurer includes an insurance company, [insert appropriate reference for a prepaid hospital or medical care plan], [insert appropriate reference for a fraternal benefit society], a health maintenance organization, and any other entity providing a plan of health insurance coverage or health benefits subject to state insurance regulation.

N. "Medical care" means amounts paid for:

(1) The diagnosis, care, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, or amounts paid for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body;

(2) Transportation primarily for and essential to medical care referred to in Paragraph (1); and

(3) Insurance covering medical care referred to in Paragraphs (1) and (2).

O. "Medicare" means coverage under both Parts A and B of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act, 42 USC 1395 et seq., as amended.

P. "Participating insurer" means any insurer providing health insurance coverage to residents of this state.

Q. "Physician" [reference applicable state laws].

R. "Plan" means the [State] Health Insurance Plan as created in Section 2 of the Act.

S. "Plan of operation" means the articles, bylaws, and operating rules and procedures adopted by the board pursuant to Section 2 of this Act.

T. "Resident" means an individual who has been legally domiciled in this state for a period of at least thirty (30) days, except that for a federally defined eligible individual, there shall not be a thirty-day requirement.

U. "Significant break in coverage" means a period of sixty-three (63) consecutive days during all of which the individual does not have any creditable coverage, except that neither a waiting period nor an affiliation period is taken into account in determining a significant break in coverage.

Section 2. Operation of the Plan

A. There is hereby created the [State] Health Insurance Plan.

B. The plan shall operate subject to the supervision and control of the board. The board shall consist of the commissioner or his or her designated representative, who shall serve as an ex officio member of the board and shall be its chairperson, and [insert even number] members appointed by the Governor [or elected commissioner]. At least two (2) board members shall be individuals, or the parent, spouse or child of individuals, reasonably expected to qualify for coverage by the plan. At least two (2) board members shall be representatives of insurers. A majority of the board shall be composed of individuals who are not representatives of insurers or health care providers.

Drafting Note: A state may wish to establish the plan as a public entity. Establishment as a public entity is most appropriate if public funds are used to subsidize plan losses.

C. The initial board members shall be appointed as follows: one-third of the members to serve a term of two (2) years; one-third of the members to serve a term of four (4) years; and one-third of the members to serve a term of six (6) years. Subsequent board members shall serve for a term of three (3) years. A board member's term shall continue until his or her successor is appointed.

D. Vacancies in the board shall be filled by the Governor [or elected commissioner]. Board members may be removed by the Governor [or elected commissioner] for cause.

E. Board members shall not be compensated in their capacity as board members but shall be reimbursed for reasonable expenses incurred in the necessary performance of their duties.

F. The board shall submit to the commissioner a plan of operation for the plan and any amendments thereto necessary or suitable to assure the fair, reasonable and equitable administration of the plan. The plan of operation shall become effective upon approval in writing by the commissioner consistent with the date on which the coverage under this Act must be made available. If the board fails to submit a suitable plan of operation within 180 days after the appointment of the board of directors, or at any time thereafter fails to submit suitable amendments to the plan of operation, the commissioner shall adopt and promulgate such rules as are necessary or advisable to effectuate the provisions of this section. Such rules shall continue in force until modified by the commissioner or superseded by a plan of operation submitted by the board and approved by the commissioner.

G. The plan of operation shall:

(1) Establish procedures for operation of the plan;

(2) Establish procedures for selecting an administrator in accordance with Section 6 of this Act;

(3) Establish procedures to create a fund, under management of the board, for administrative expenses;

(4) Establish procedures for the handling, accounting and auditing of assets, monies and claims of the plan and the plan administrator;

(5) Develop and implement a program to publicize the existence of the plan, the eligibility requirements, and procedures for enrollment; and to maintain public awareness of the plan;

(6) Establish procedures under which applicants and participants may have grievances reviewed by a grievance committee appointed by the board. The rievances shall be reported to the board after completion of the review. The board shall retain all written complaints regarding the plan for at least three (3) years; and

(7) Provide for other matters as may be necessary and proper for the execution of the board's powers, duties and obligations under this Act.

H. The plan shall have the general powers and authority granted under the laws of this state to health insurers and in addition thereto, the specific authority to:

(1) Enter into contracts as are necessary or proper to carry out the provisions and purposes of this Act, including the authority, with the approval of the commissioner, to enter into contracts with similar plans of other states for the joint performance of common administrative functions, or with persons or other organizations for the performance of administrative functions;

(2) Sue or be sued, including taking any legal actions necessary or proper to recover or collect assessments due the plan;

(3) Take such legal action as necessary:

(a) To avoid the payment of improper claims against the plan or the coverage provided by or through the plan;

(b) To recover any amounts erroneously or improperly paid by the plan;

(c) To recover any amounts paid by the plan as a result of mistake of fact or law; or

(d) To recover other amounts due the plan;

(4) Establish, and modify from time to time as appropriate, rates, rate schedules, rate adjustments, expense allowances, agents' referral fees, claim reserve formulas and any other actuarial function appropriate to the operation of the plan. Rates and rate schedules may be adjusted for appropriate factors such as age, sex and geographic variation in claim cost and shall take into consideration appropriate factors in accordance with established actuarial and underwriting practices;

(5) Issue policies of insurance in accordance with the requirements of this Act;

(6) Appoint appropriate legal, actuarial and other committees as necessary to provide technical assistance in the operation of the plan, policy and other contract design, and any other function within the authority of the pool;

(7) Borrow money to effect the purposes of the plan. Any notes or other evidence of indebtedness of the plan not in default shall be legal investments for insurers and may be carried as admitted assets;

(8) Establish rules, conditions and procedures for reinsuring risks of participating insurers desiring to issue plan coverages in their own name. Provision of reinsurance shall not subject the plan to any of the capital or surplus requirements, if any, otherwise applicable to reinsurers;

Drafting Note: Optional Paragraph: A state may wish to utilize the existing distribution systems of insurers for the issuance of pool coverage. If so, such a provision should authorize the establishment of specific rules under which the pool would approve and serve as a reinsurer for coverage issued by participating insurers in their own names. Paragraph (8) is designed to allow states to implement this option.

(9) Employ and fix the compensation of employees. Such employees may be paid on a warrant issued by the state treasurer pursuant to a payroll voucher certified by the board and drawn by the comptroller against appropriations or trust funds held by the state treasurer;

(10) Prepare and distribute certificate of eligibility forms and enrollment instruction forms to insurance producers and to the general public;

(11) Provide for reinsurance of risks incurred by the plan;

(12) Issue additional types of health insurance policies to provide optional coverages, including Medicare supplemental insurance coverage;

Drafting Note: Due to the inability of some individuals to obtain Medicare supplement insurance, especially individuals who are eligible for Medicare by reason of disability, a state may wish to require the plan to offer Medicare supplement insurance coverage.

(13) Provide for and employ cost containment measures and requirements including, but not limited to, preadmission screening, second surgical opinion, concurrent utilization review, and individual case management for the purpose of making the benefit plan more cost effective;

(14) Design, utilize, contract or otherwise arrange for the delivery of cost effective health care services, including establishing or contracting with preferred provider organizations, health maintenance organizations and other limited network provider arrangements; and

(15) Adopt bylaws, policies and procedures as may be necessary or convenient for the implementation of this Act and the operation of the plan.

I. The board shall make an annual report to the Governor which shall also be filed with the legislature. The report shall summarize the activities of the plan in the preceding calendar year, including the net written and earned premiums, plan enrollment, the expense of administration, and the paid and incurred losses.

J. Neither the board nor its employees shall be liable for any obligations of the plan. No member or employee of the board shall be liable, and no cause of action of any nature may arise against them, for any act or omission related to the performance of their powers and duties under this Act, unless such act or omission constitutes willful or wanton misconduct. The board may provide in its bylaws or rules for indemnification of, and legal representation for, its members and employees.

Section 3. Establishment of Rules

The commissioner may, by rule, establish additional powers and duties of the board and may adopt such rules as are necessary and proper to implement this Act.

Section 4. Eligibility

A. (1) An individual person, who is and continues to be a resident shall be eligible for plan coverage if evidence is provided:

(a) Of a notice of rejection or refusal to issue substantially similar insurance for health reasons by one insurer; or

(b) Of a refusal by an insurer to issue insurance except at a rate exceeding the plan rate.

(2) A federally defined eligible individual who has not experienced a significant break in coverage and who is and continues to be a resident shall be eligible for plan coverage.

(3) A rejection or refusal by an insurer offering only stop loss, excess of loss or reinsurance coverage with respect to an applicant under Paragraph (1) shall not be sufficient evidence under this subsection.

B. The board shall promulgate a list of medical or health conditions for which a person shall be eligible for plan coverage without applying for health insurance coverage pursuant to Subsection A(1). Persons who can demonstrate the existence or history of any medical or health conditions on the list promulgated by the board shall not be required to provide the evidence specified in Subsection A(1). The list shall be effective on the first day of the operation of the plan and may be amended from time to time as may be appropriate.

C. Each resident dependent of a person who is eligible for plan coverage shall also be eligible for plan coverage.

D. A person shall not be eligible for coverage under the plan if:

(1) The person has or obtains health insurance coverage substantially similar to or more comprehensive than a plan policy, or would be eligible to have coverage if the person elected to obtain it; except that:

(a) A person may maintain other coverage for the period of time the person is satisfying any preexisting condition waiting period under a plan policy; and

(b) A person may maintain plan coverage for the period of time the person is satisfying a preexisting condition waiting period under another health insurance policy intended to replace the plan policy;

(2) The person is determined to be eligible for health care benefits under [reference state Medicaid law];

(3) The person has previously terminated plan coverage unless twelve (12) months have lapsed since such termination, except that this paragraph shall not apply with respect to an applicant who is a federally defined eligible individual;

(4) The plan has paid out $[insert number] in benefits on behalf of the person;

(5) The person is an inmate or resident of a public institution, except that this paragraph shall not apply with respect to an applicant who is a federally defined eligible individual; or

(6) The person's premiums are paid for or reimbursed under any government sponsored program or by any government agency or health care provider, except as an otherwise qualifying full-time employee, or dependent thereof, of a government agency or health care provider.

E. Coverage shall cease:

(1) On the date a person is no longer a resident of this state;

(2) On the date a person requests coverage to end;

(3) Upon the death of the covered person;

(4) On the date state law requires cancellation of the policy; or

(5) At the option of the plan, thirty (30) days after the plan makes any inquiry concerning the person's eligibility or place of residence to which the person does not reply.

F. Except under the circumstance described in Subsection D, a person who ceases to meet the eligibility requirements of this section may be terminated at the end of the policy period for which the necessary premiums have been paid.

Drafting Note: Plans may wish to consider establishing reciprocal agreements with plans for uninsurables in other states to provide coverage to covered persons who move between states with such plans. In such cases, the plan may wish to consider counting benefits provided to the person by another plan toward the person's lifetime maximum benefits.

Drafting Note: With regard to lifetime limits on benefits referred to in Subsection D(4) of this section, HIPAA requires generally that federally defined eligible individuals have a choice of coverage available to them and that one of those choices be comprehensive coverage. State high risk pools with low lifetime limits might not qualify as an acceptable alternative mechanism under HIPAA.

Section 5. Unfair Referral to Plan

It shall constitute an unfair trade practice for the purposes of [insert reference to state's unfair trade practices act] for an insurer, insurance producer or third-party administrator to refer an individual employee to the plan, or arrange for an individual employee to apply to the plan, for the purpose of separating that employee from group health insurance coverage provided in connection with the employee's employment.

Drafting Note: This section generally prohibits insurers and agents from "carving out" the sickest members of an insured group and referring them to the plan. The intent is to reduce the plan's costs by keeping coverage for these employees in the private voluntary market.

Section 6. Plan Administrator

A. The board shall select a plan administrator through a competitive bidding process to administer the plan. The board shall evaluate bids submitted based on criteria established by the board which shall include:

(1) The plan administrator's proven ability to handle health insurance coverage to individuals;

(2) The efficiency and timeliness of the plan administrator's claim processing procedures;

(3) An estimate of total charges for administering the plan;

(4) The plan administrator's ability to apply effective cost containment programs and procedures and to administer the plan in a cost efficient manner; and

(5) The financial condition and stability of the plan administrator.

B. (1) The plan administrator shall serve for a period specified in the contract between the plan and the plan administrator subject to removal for cause and subject to any terms, conditions and limitations of the contract between the plan and the plan administrator.

(2) At least one year prior to the expiration of each period of service by a plan administrator, the board shall invite eligible entities, including the current plan administrator to submit bids to serve as the plan administrator. Selection of the plan administrator for the succeeding period shall be made at least six (6) months prior to the end of the current period.

C. The plan administrator shall perform such functions relating to the plan as may be assigned to it, including:

(1) Determination of eligibility;

(2) Payment of claims;

(3) Establishment of a premium billing procedure for collection of premium from persons covered under the plan; and

(4) Other necessary functions to assure timely payment of benefits to covered persons under the plan.

D. The plan administrator shall submit regular reports to the board regarding the operation of the plan. The frequency, content and form of the report shall be specified in the contract between the board and the plan administrator.

E. Following the close of each calendar year, the plan administrator shall determine net written and earned premiums, the expense of administration, and the paid and incurred losses for the year and report this information to the board and the Department on a form prescribed by the commissioner.

F. The plan administrator shall be paid as provided in the contract between the plan and the plan administrator.

Section 7. Funding of the Plan

A. Premiums

(1) The plan shall establish premium rates for plan coverage as provided in Paragraph (2). Separate schedules of premium rates based on age, sex and geographical location may apply for individual risks. Premium rates and schedules shall be submitted to the commissioner for approval prior to use.

(2) The plan, with the assistance of the commissioner, shall determine a standard risk rate by considering the premium rates charged by other insurers offering health insurance coverage to individuals. The standard risk rate shall be established using reasonable actuarial techniques, and shall reflect anticipated experience and expenses for such coverage. Initial rates for plan coverage shall not be less than [125-150] percent of rates established as applicable for individual standard risks. Subject to the limits provided in this paragraph, subsequent rates shall be established to provide fully for the expected costs of claims including recovery of prior losses, expenses of operation, investment income of claim reserves, and any other cost factors subject to the limitations described herein. In no event shall plan rates exceed 200 percent of rates applicable to individual standard risks.

B. Sources of Additional Revenue

Drafting Note: Health plans for uninsurables cannot be supported by premiums and must be subsidized by additional revenues. States may wish to consider one or more of the following sources for revenues to fund plan deficits. The order of the additional sources of revenue does not indicate any preference among the options. States that wish to use more than one source of additional revenue should include the bracketed language in the appropriate alternatives below and should include an additional paragraph specifying the percentage of revenue to come from each additional revenue source.

ALTERNATIVE ONE. Assessment of health insurers based upon their health insurance premiums written in the state.

(1) In addition to the powers enumerated in Section 2 of this Act, the plan shall have the authority to assess participating insurers in accordance with the provisions of this section, and to make advance interim assessments as may be reasonable and necessary for the plan's organizational and interim operating expenses. Any such interim assessments are to be credited as offsets against any regular assessments due following the close of the fiscal year.

(2) Following the close of each fiscal year, the plan administrator shall determine the net premiums (premiums less administrative expense allowances), the plan expenses of administration and the incurred losses for the year, taking into account investment income and other appropriate gains and losses. The deficit incurred by the plan shall be recouped by assessments apportioned by the board among participating insurers [and from other sources of revenue as provided by this section].

Drafting Note: In the case of plans that do not offer coverage to supplement Medicare benefits, for equity purposes the state may wish to consider exempting Medicare supplement coverage from the assessment under this section.

(3) Each participating insurer's assessment shall be determined by multiplying the total assessment of all participating insurers as determined in Paragraph (2) by a fraction, the numerator of which equals that participating insurer's premium and subscriber contract charges for health insurance coverage written in the state during the preceding calendar year and the denominator of which equals the total of all health insurance premiums by all participating insurers.

(4) If assessments exceed the plan's actual losses and administrative expenses the excess shall be held at interest and used by the board to offset future losses or to reduce future assessments. As used in this subsection, "future losses" includes reserves for incurred but not reported claims.

(5) Each participating insurer's assessment shall be determined annually by the board based on annual statements and other reports deemed necessary by the board and filed by the participating insurer with the board.

(6) A participating insurer may petition the commissioner for an abatement or deferment of all or part of an assessment imposed by the board. The commissioner may abate or defer, in whole or in part, such assessment if, in the opinion of the commissioner, payment of the assessment would endanger the ability of the participating insurer to fulfill its contractual obligations. In the event an assessment against a participating insurer is abated or deferred in whole or in part, the amount by which such assessment is abated or deferred shall be assessed against the other participating insurers in a manner consistent with the basis for assessments set forth in this subsection. The participating insurer receiving such abatement or deferment shall remain liable to the plan for the deficiency for four (4) years.

Drafting Note: A state may wish to provide for some form of offset against applicable taxes in the amount of the assessments incurred by the participating insurers of the plan. If so, such a provision should allow appropriate reductions in assessments as to participating insurers not subject to the taxes against which offsets are allowed.

ALTERNATIVE TWO. Assessment of health insurers and reinsurers based upon the number of persons they cover through primary, excess and stop loss insurance in this state.

(1) For the purposes of this subsection, "participating insurer" includes all insurers providing health insurance coverage, including excess or stop loss coverage, to residents of this state.

(2) In addition to the powers enumerated in Section 2 of this Act, the plan shall have the authority to assess participating insurers in accordance with the provisions of this section, and to make advance interim assessments as may be reasonable and necessary for the plan's organizational and interim operating expenses. Any such interim assessments are to be credited as offsets against any regular assessments due following the close of the fiscal year.

(3) Following the close of each fiscal year, the administrator shall determine the net premiums (premiums less reasonable administrative expense allowances), the plan expenses of administration, and the incurred losses for the year, taking into account investment income and other appropriate gains and losses. The deficit incurred by the plan shall be recouped by assessments apportioned under this section by the board among participating insurers [and from other sources of revenue as provided in this section].

(4) Each participating insurer's assessment shall be determined by multiplying the total assessment of all participating insurers as determined in Paragraph (3) by a fraction, the numerator of which equals the number of individuals in this state covered under health insurance policies (including by way of excess or stop loss coverage) by each participating insurer, and the denominator of which equals the total number of all individuals in this state covered under health insurance policies (including by way of excess or stop loss coverage) by all participating insurers, all determined as of the end of the prior calendar year.

(5) The board shall make reasonable efforts designed to ensure that each insured individual is counted only once with respect to any assessment. For that purpose, the board shall require each participating insurer that obtains excess or stop loss insurance to include in its count of insured individuals all individuals whose coverage is reinsured (including by way of excess or stop loss coverage) in whole or part. The board shall allow a participating insurer who is an excess or stop loss insurer to exclude from its number of insured individuals those who have been counted by the primary insurer or by the primary reinsurer or primary excess or stop loss insurer for the purpose of determining its assessment under this subsection.

(6) Each participating insurer's assessment shall be determined by the board based on annual statements and other reports deemed to be necessary by the board and filed by the participating insurer with the board. The board may use any reasonable method of estimating the number of insureds of a participating insurer if the specific number is unknown. With respect to participating insurers that are reinsurers or excess or stop loss insurers, the board may use any reasonable method of estimating the number of persons insured by each reinsurer or excess or stop loss insurer.

(7) A participating insurer may petition the commissioner for an abatement or deferment of all or part of an assessment imposed by the board. The commissioner may abate or defer, in whole or in part, the assessment if, in the opinion of the commissioner, payment of the assessment would endanger the ability of the participating insurer to fulfill its contractual obligations. In the event an assessment against a participating insurer is abated or deferred in whole or in part, the amount by which the assessment is abated or deferred may be assessed against the other participating insurers in a manner consistent with the basis for assessments set forth in this subsection. The participating insurer receiving such abatement or deferment shall remain liable to the plan for the deficiency for four (4) years.

Drafting Note: A state may wish to provide for some form of offset against applicable taxes in the amount of the assessments incurred by the participating insurers of the plan. If so, such a provision should allow appropriate reductions in assessments as to participating insurers not subject to the taxes against which offsets are allowed.

ALTERNATIVE THREE. Service Charge on Hospital and Surgical Centers

(1) The deficit incurred by the plan shall be subsidized by the state through the service charge provided for in this subsection [and from other sources of revenue as provided in this section]. The board shall operate the plan in a manner so that the estimated cost of providing health insurance coverage during any fiscal year will not exceed total income the plan expects to receive from policy premiums and service charges provided for in this subsection [and from other sources of additional revenue as provided in this section]. After determining the amount of funds available to it for a fiscal year, the board shall estimate the number of new policies it believes the plan has the financial capacity to insure during that year so that costs do not exceed income. The board shall take steps necessary to assure that plan enrollment does not exceed the number of residents it has estimated it has the financial capacity to insure.

(2) (a) Each patient, except a private pay patient, a patient covered by Medicare or a patient covered by any other public program that is directly subsidized by the federal government, who is admitted to a hospital for treatment shall be assessed a service charge of two (2) dollars for each day, or portion thereof, during which the patient is confined as an inpatient in that facility. For purposes of this section only, "hospital" does not include any hospital operated by the state or any hospital created or operated by the Department of Veteran Affairs or other agency of the United States of America. Each hospital in which a patient is confined shall calculate the total service charge due for that service charge in the bill for services rendered to the patient. The service charge shall be collected as provided in Subparagraph (c).

(b) Each patient, except a private pay patient, a patient covered by Medicare or a patient covered by any other public program that is directly subsidized by the federal government, who is admitted to an ambulatory surgical center or to a hospital for outpatient ambulatory surgical care shall be assessed a service charge of one dollar for each admission to that facility. The service charge shall be included in the bill for services or supplies, or both, rendered to the patient by the ambulatory surgical center or hospital.

(c) Each hospital and ambulatory surgical center shall collect the service charges assessed under this section. In the event that no payment is made by or on behalf of the patient for services rendered, the fee assessed under this section shall be waived. Each hospital and ambulatory surgical center shall remit to the plan for each reporting period, as established in the plan of operation, but no more frequently than [insert time period], charges collected during that reporting period in accordance with the reporting and remittance procedures established by the board. Failure to pay within sixty (60) days after the end of the reporting period shall cause the hospital or ambulatory surgical center to be liable to the plan for an amount determined by the board, not to exceed $500, plus interest. Any hospital or ambulatory surgical center found to have failed to pay according to this section on three (3) or more occasions during a six-month period shall be liable for an amount determined by the board, no less than $500 and not to exceed $1,500 per failure, together with attorney fees, interest and court costs.

(d) For the purposes of this subsection, "private pay patient" means a person whose admission to a hospital or ambulatory surgical center is not reimbursed through health or other insurance or any other health benefit plan or arrangement.

ALTERNATIVE FOUR. Appropriation of General Revenue

The deficit incurred by the plan shall be funded through amounts appropriated by the state legislature [and from other sources of revenue as provided in this section]. The board shall operate the plan in a manner so that the estimated cost of providing health insurance coverage during any fiscal year will not exceed total income the plan expects to receive from policy premiums and funds appropriated by the state legislature [and from other sources of additional revenue as provided in this section]. After determining the amount of funds appropriated to it for a fiscal year, the board shall estimate the number of new policies it believes the plan has the financial capacity to insure during that year so that costs do not exceed income. The board shall take steps necessary to assure that plan enrollment does not exceed the number of residents it has estimated it has the financial capacity to insure.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider using other sources of dedicated revenues to support state plans, including tobacco and alcohol taxes, per-person payroll taxes, income tax surcharges, or revenues from state lotteries.

Section 8. Benefits

Drafting Note: Two alternatives for Subsection A are offered for establishing covered services for the plan. Alternative One provides for the plan board to establish the covered services and exclusions, subject to the approval of the commissioner. The advantages of this alternative are that legislators can leave the benefit determinations to experts in plan design and that benefits can be easily modified from time to time to recognize changes in marketplace standards and medical technology.

Alternative Two contains a list of covered services and exclusions for states that wish to include the benefits and exclusions in the statute. The advantage of Alternative Two is that the list contains the benefits and exclusions found in some high risk plans in operation at the time the model was adopted. The list is intended to be inclusive and states may wish to add or delete benefits or exclusions to reflect the state's policy preferences. The list is an outline of the benefits and exclusions; it is not policy language.

Consideration should be given prior to enactment to the cost effectiveness of inclusion or deletion of benefit mandates or other minimum benefit standards. Consideration also should be given to providing sufficient flexibility in the plan to allow for the delivery of services through health maintenance organizations, preferred provider organizations and other managed care arrangements.

Drafting Note: HIPAA requires that federally defined eligible individuals have a choice of coverage available to them. This requirement is satisfied by the plan offering at least two different deductible options to such individuals.

ALTERNATIVE ONE

A. The plan shall offer health care coverage consistent with comprehensive coverage to every eligible person who is not eligible for Medicare. The coverage to be issued by the plan, its schedule of benefits, exclusions and other limitations shall be established by the board and subject to the approval of the commissioner.

ALTERNATIVE TWO

A. (1) Outline of Benefits. Covered expenses shall be the usual, customary and reasonable charge in the locality for the following services and articles when prescribed by a physician and determined by the plan to be medically necessary for the following areas of services, subject to provisions of Subsection B:

(a) Hospital services;

(b) Professional services for the diagnosis or treatment of injuries, illnesses or conditions, other than mental or dental, which are rendered by a physician, or by other licensed professionals at his direction;

(c) Drugs requiring a physician's prescription;

(d) Skilled nursing services of a licensed skilled nursing facility for not more than 120 days during a policy year;

(e) Services of a home health agency up to a maximum of 270 services per year;

(f) Use of radium or other radioactive materials;

(g) Oxygen;

(h) Anesthetics;

(i) Prostheses other than dental;

(j) Rental of durable medical equipment, other than eyeglasses and hearing aids, for which there is no personal use in the absence of the conditions for which is prescribed;

(k) Diagnostic X-rays and laboratory tests;

(l) Oral surgery for excision of partially or completely unerupted, impacted teeth or the gums and tissues of the mouth when not performed in connection with the extraction or repair of teeth;

(m) Services of a physical therapist;

(n) Emergency and other medically necessary transportation provided by a licensed ambulance service to the nearest facility qualified to treat a covered condition;

(o) Outpatient services for diagnosis and treatment of mental and nervous disorders provided that a covered person shall be required to make a fifty percent (50%) copayment, and that the plan's payment shall not exceed $[insert number].

(2) Exclusions. Covered expenses shall not include the following:

(a) Any charge for treatment for cosmetic purposes other than surgery for the repair or treatment of an injury or a congenital bodily defect to restore normal bodily functions;

(b) Care which is primarily for custodial or domiciliary purposes;

(c) Any charge for confinement in a private room to the extent it is in excess of the institution's charge for its most common semiprivate room, unless a private room is medically necessary;

(d) That part of any charge for services rendered or articles prescribed by a physician, dentist or other health care personnel which exceeds the prevailing charge in the locality or for any charge not medically necessary;

(e) Any charge for services or articles the provision of which is not within the scope of authorized practice of the institution or individual providing the services or articles;

(f) Any expense incurred prior to the effective date of coverage by the plan for the person on whose behalf the expense is incurred;

(g) Dental care except as provided in Subsection A(1)(l);

(h) Eyeglasses and hearing aids;

(i) Illness or injury due to acts of war;

(j) Services of blood donors and any fee for failure to replace the first three (3) pints of blood provided to an eligible person each policy year;

(k) Personal supplies or services provided by a hospital or nursing home, or any other nonmedical or nonprescribed supply or service;

(l) Routine maternity charges for a pregnancy, except where added as optional coverage with payment of additional premiums;

(m) Any expense or charge for services, drugs or supplies that are not provided in accord with generally accepted standards of current medical practice;

(n) Any expense or charge for routine physical examinations or tests;

(o) Any expense for which a charge is not made in the absence of insurance or for which there is no legal obligation on the part of the patient to pay;

(p) Any expense incurred for benefits provided under the laws of the United States and this state, including Medicare and Medicaid and other medical assistance, military service-connected disability payments, medical services provided for members of the armed forces and their dependents or employees of the armed forces of the United States, and medical services financed on behalf of all citizens by the United States;

(q) Any expense or charge for in vitro fertilization, artificial insemination, or any other artificial means used to cause pregnancy;

(r) Any expense or charge for oral contraceptives used for birth control or any other temporary birth control measures;

(s) Any expense or charge for sterilization or sterilization reversals;

(t) Any expense or charge for weight loss programs, exercise equipment or treatment of obesity, except when certified by a physician as morbid obesity (at least two (2) times normal body weight);

(u) Any expense or charge for acupuncture treatment unless used as an anesthetic agent for a covered surgery;

(v) Any expense or charge for organ or bone marrow transplants other than those performed at a hospital with a board approved organ transplant program that has been designated by the board as a preferred provider organization for that specific organ or bone marrow transplant; or

(w) Any expense or charge for procedures, treatments, equipment, or services that are provided in special settings for research purposes or in a controlled environment, are being studied for safety, efficiency, and effectiveness, and are awaiting endorsement by the appropriate national medical specialty college for general use within the medical community.

B. In establishing the plan coverage, the board shall take into consideration the levels of health insurance coverage provided in the state and medical economic factors as may be deemed appropriate; and promulgate benefit levels, deductibles, coinsurance factors, exclusions and limitations determined to be generally reflective of and commensurate with health insurance coverage provided through a representative number of large employers in the state.

C. The board may adjust any deductibles and coinsurance factors annually according to the Medical Component of the Consumer Price Index.

D. Preexisting Conditions.

(1) Plan coverage shall exclude charges or expenses incurred during the first six (6) months following the effective date of coverage as to any condition for which medical advice, care or treatment was recommended or received as to such conditions during the six-month period immediately preceding the effective date of coverage, except that no preexisting condition exclusion shall be applied to a federally defined eligible individual.

Drafting Note: In order to reduce the premiums and costs of the plan, states may wish to provide for a longer exclusion period for preexisting conditions; as noted above, however, no preexisting condition exclusion may be applied to a federally defined eligible individual. States will need to weigh the need to provide access to individuals with preexisting conditions with the increased costs associated with a shorter preexisting condition exclusion period.

(2) Subject to Paragraph (1), the preexisting condition exclusions shall be waived to the extent that similar exclusions, if any, have been satisfied under any prior health insurance coverage which was involuntarily terminated; provided, that

(a) Application for pool coverage is made not later than sixty-three (63) days following such involuntary termination and, in such case, coverage in the plan shall be effective from the date on which such prior coverage was terminated; and

(b) The applicant is not eligible for continuation or conversion rights that would provide coverage substantially similar to plan coverage.

E. Nonduplication of Benefits.

(1) The plan shall be payer of last resort of benefits whenever any other benefit or source of third-party payment is available. Benefits otherwise payable under plan coverage shall be reduced by all amounts paid or payable through any other health insurance coverage and by all hospital and medical expense benefits paid or payable under any workers' compensation coverage, automobile medical payment or liability insurance whether provided on the basis of fault or nonfault, and by any hospital or medical benefits paid or payable under or provided pursuant to any state or federal law or program.

(2) The plan shall have a cause of action against an eligible person for the recovery of the amount of benefits paid that are not for covered expenses. Benefits due from the plan may be reduced or refused as a set-off against any amount recoverable under this paragraph.

Section 9. Collective Action

Neither the participation in the plan as participating insurers, the establishment of rates, forms or procedures nor any other joint or collective action required by this Act shall be the basis of any legal action, criminal or civil liability or penalty against the plan or any participating insurer.

Section 10. Taxation

The plan established pursuant to this Act shall be exempt from any and all taxes.

Section 11. Effective Date

The provisions of this Act shall become effective [insert date].

MODEL HEALTH PLAN FOR UNINSURABLE INDIVIDUALS ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STOP LOSS INSURANCE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Purpose and Intent

This law shall be known as the Stop Loss Insurance Act. The purpose of this Act is to establish criteria for the issuance of stop loss insurance policies. Nothing in this act shall be construed as imposing any requirement or duty on any person other than an insurer or as treating any stop-loss policy as a direct policy of health insurance.

Section 2. Definitions

A. "Actuarial certification" means a written statement by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries, or other individual acceptable to the commissioner, that an insurer is in compliance with the provisions of this Act, based upon the individual's examination and including a review of the appropriate records and the actuarial assumptions and methods used by the insurer in establishing attachment points and other applicable determinations in conjunction with the provision of stop loss insurance coverage.

B. "Attachment point" means the claims amount incurred by an insured group beyond which the insurer incurs a liability for payment.

C. "Expected claims" means the amount of claims that, in the absence of a stop loss policy or other insurance, are projected to be incurred by an insured group through its health plan.

Drafting Note: This model act establishes criteria for the issuance of stop loss insurance policies. The criteria apply regardless of how the stop loss insurance carrier calculates when the aggregate attachment point has been met for the purposes of triggering payment under the policy. The model act only requires an insurer to calculate the numerical value of the aggregate attachment point pursuant to the definitions and parameters of the model; it does not preclude a stop loss carrier from using different contractual definitions of "expected claims" and other terms in order to determine how that numerical value is to be reached under the terms of its contract with the insured group.

Section 3. Stop Loss Insurance Coverage Standards

A. (1) An insurer shall not issue a stop loss insurance policy that :

(a) Has an annual attachment point for claims incurred per individual which is lower than $20,000;

(b) Has an annual aggregate attachment point, for groups of fifty (50) or fewer, that is lower than the greater of:

(i) $4,000 times the number of group members;

(ii) 120 percent of expected claims; or

(iii) $20,000;

(c) Has an annual aggregate attachment point for groups of fifty-one (51) or more that is lower than 110 percent of expected claims; or

(d) Provides direct coverage of health care expenses of an individual.

(2) An insurer shall determine the number of persons in a group, for the purposes of this subsection, on a consistent basis, at least annually.

(3) For the purposes of determining the dollar amounts set forth in Paragraph (1) above, and upon consideration of the medical components of the Consumer Price Index (CPI), the commissioner may amend these dollar amounts and shall publish any change in these dollar amounts at least six (6) months prior to their effective dates.

Drafting Note: States may wish to provide the commissioner with the authority to promulgate regulations relating to the establishment of the attachment points set forth in Paragraph (1) above. A state may wish to adjust the dollar amounts specified in Paragraph (1) to appropriately reflect medical costs in the particular state. Detailed discussions, including a statement of legislative intent, discussions concerning the actuarial assumptions underlying this model, and an actuarial study on issues relating to risk transference to stop loss insurance carriers, can be found in the minutes of the NAIC State and Federal Health Insurance Legislative Policy Task Force, and its ERISA Working Group in 1994 and 1995.

B. The commissioner may adopt rules that carry out the requirements of this act and prescribe additional standards for stop loss insurance policies.

Section 4. Actuarial Certification

An insurer shall file with the commissioner annually on or before March 15, an actuarial certification certifying that the insurer is in compliance with this Act. The certification shall be in a form and manner, and shall contain information, specified by the commissioner. A copy of the certification shall be retained by the insurer at its principal place of business.

Section 5. Effective Date

This Act shall become effective with respect to stop loss insurance policies issued or renewed six (6) months after [insert effective date].

DISCOUNT MEDICAL PLAN ORGANIZATION MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Short Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Discount Medical Plan Organization Model Act.

Drafting Note: Those states that decide to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act, as provided in Section 16 of this Act, may want to change the short title of this Act to the "Discount Medical Plan and Prescription Drug Plan Organization Model Act."

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to promote the public interest by establishing standards for discount medical plan organizations to protect consumers from unfair or deceptive marketing, sales or enrollment practices and to facilitate consumer understanding of the role and function of discount medical plan organizations in providing access to medical or ancillary services.

Drafting Note: Those states that decide to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act, as provided in Section 16 of this Act, may want to include a reference to discount prescription drug plan organizations in this section.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Affiliate" means a person that directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, or is controlled by, or is under common control with, the person specified.

B. "Ancillary services" includes, but is not limited to, audiology, dental, vision, mental health, substance abuse, chiropractic and podiatry services.

C. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

D. "Control" or "controlled by" or "under common control with" means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract other than a commercial contract for goods or nonmanagement services, or otherwise, unless the power is the result of an official position with or corporate office held by the person. Control shall be presumed to exist if any person, directly or indirectly, owns, controls, holds with the power to vote, or holds proxies representing ten percent (10%) or more of the voting securities of any other person. This presumption may be rebutted by a showing made in the manner provided by [insert reference in state law that is equivalent to Section 4K of the NAIC Insurance Holding Company System Regulatory Act] that control does not exist in fact. The commissioner may determine, after furnishing all persons in interest notice and opportunity to be heard and making specific findings of fact to support the determination that control exists in fact, notwithstanding the absence of a presumption to that effect.

E. (1) "Discount medical plan" means a business arrangement or contract in which a person, in exchange for fees, dues, charges or other consideration, offers access for its members to providers of medical or ancillary services and the right to receive discounts on medical or ancillary services provided under the discount medical plan from those providers.

(2) "Discount medical plan" does not include:

(a) A plan that does not charge a membership or other fee to use the plan's discount medical card; or

(b) Any product regulated under [insert reference to applicable state law].

F. (1) "Discount prescription drug plan" means a business arrangement or contract in which a person, in exchange for fees, dues, charges or other consideration provides access for its plan members to providers of pharmacy services and the right to receive discounts on pharmacy services provided under the discount prescription drug plan from those providers.

(2) "Discount prescription drug plan" does not include:

(a) A plan that does not charge a membership or other fee to use the plan's discount prescription drug card;

(b) A patient access program; or

(c) A Medicare prescription drug plan or any product regulated under [insert reference to applicable state law].

Drafting Note: A state should adopt Subsection F only if the state decides to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act as provided Section 16 of this Act.

G. "Discount medical plan organization" means an entity that, in exchange for fees, dues, charges or other consideration, provides access for discount medical plan members to providers of medical or ancillary services and the right to receive medical or ancillary services from those providers at a discount. It is the organization that contracts with providers, provider networks or other discount medical plan organizations to offer access to medical or ancillary services at a discount and determines the charge to discount medical plan members.

H. "Discount prescription drug plan organization" means an entity that, in exchange for fees, dues, charges or other consideration, provides access for discount prescription drug plan members to providers of pharmacy services and the right to receive pharmacy services from those providers at a discount. It is the organization that contracts with providers, pharmacy networks or other discount prescription drug plan organizations to offer access to pharmacy services at a discount and determines the charge to discount prescription drug plan members.

Drafting Note: A state should adopt Subsection H only if the state decides to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act as provided in Section 16 of this Act.

I. (1) "Facility" means an institution providing medical or ancillary services or a health care setting.

(2) "Facility" includes, but is not limited to:

(a) A hospital or other licensed inpatient center;

(b) An ambulatory surgical or treatment center;

(c) A skilled nursing center;

(d) A residential treatment center;

(e) A rehabilitation center; and

(f) A diagnostic, laboratory or imaging center.

J. "Health care professional" means a physician, pharmacist or other health care practitioner who is licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified medical or ancillary services within the scope of his or her license, accreditation, certification or other appropriate authority and consistent with state law.

K. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or medical or ancillary services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to other statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

L. "Marketer" means a person or entity that markets, promotes, sells or distributes a discount medical plan, including a private label entity that places its name on and markets or distributes a discount medical plan pursuant to a marketing agreement with a discount medical plan organization.

M. (1) "Medical services" means any maintenance care of, or preventive care for, the human body or care, service or treatment of an illness or dysfunction of, or injury to, the human body.

(2) "Medical services" includes, but is not limited to, physician care, inpatient care, hospital surgical services, emergency services, ambulance services, laboratory services and medical equipment and supplies.

(3) "Medical services" does not include pharmacy services or ancillary services.

N. "Medicare prescription drug plan" means a plan that provides a Medicare Part D prescription drug benefit in accordance with the requirements of the federal Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement and Modernization Act of 2003 (MMA).

Drafting Note: A state should adopt Subsection N only if the state decides to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act as provided in Section 16 of this Act.

O. (1) "Member" means any individual who pays fees, dues, charges or other consideration for the right to receive the benefits of a discount medical plan [or discount prescription drug plan].

(2) "Member" does not include any individual who enrolls in a patient access program.

Drafting Note: A state should include the reference to discount prescription drug plan in Subsection O (1) and the provisions of Section O (2) if the state decides to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act as provided in Section 16 of this Act.

P. "Patient access program" means a voluntary program sponsored by a pharmaceutical manufacturer, or a consortium of pharmaceutical manufacturers, that provides free or discounted health care products directly to low income or uninsured individuals either through a discount card or direct shipment.

Drafting Note: A state adopt Subsection P only if the state decides to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act as provided in Section 16 of this Act.

Q. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing.

R. "Pharmacy services" includes pharmaceutical supplies and prescription drugs.

Drafting Note: A state should adopt Subsection R only if the state decides to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act as provided in Section 16 of this Act.

S. "Provider" means any health care professional or facility that has contracted, directly or indirectly, with a discount medical plan organization to provide medical or ancillary services to members.

T. "Provider network" means an entity that negotiates directly or indirectly with a discount medical plan organization on behalf of more than one provider to provide medical or ancillary services to members.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. This Act applies to all discount medical plan organizations doing business in [or from] this state.

Drafting Note: Those states that decide to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act, as provided in Section 16 of this Act, may want to include a reference to discount prescription drug plan organizations in Subsection A.

B. A discount medical plan organization that is a health carrier licensed pursuant to [insert reference to state insurance code or other applicable state statute]:

(1) Is not required to obtain a [license] [certificate of registration] under Section 5 of this Act, except that any of its affiliates that operate as a discount medical plan organization in this state shall obtain a [license] [certificate of registration] under Section 5 of this Act and comply with all other provisions of this Act; but

(2) Is required to comply with Sections 9, 10, 11, 12, and 13 of this Act and report, in the form and manner as the commissioner may require, any of the information described in Section 15B(2) (3) or (4) of this Act that is not otherwise already reported.

Section 5. [Licensing] [Registration] Requirements

Drafting Note: This section provides two options for a state to choose from when deciding what regulatory scheme to establish for those persons wishing to operate in [or from] the state as a discount medical plan organization. Option 1 sets out the requirements that must be satisfied to obtain and maintain a license to operate as a discount medical plan organization in [or from] the state. Option 2 sets out the requirements that must be satisfied to obtain and maintain a certificate of registration to operate as a discount medical plan organization in [or from] the state. Depending on which regulatory scheme is chosen a state should use the term "license" or "certificate of registration", as appropriate, wherever the term is referenced in other sections of this Act.

Option 1. Licensing Requirements

Drafting Note: This option is for those states that want to require persons wishing to operate in [or from] the state as a discount medical plan organization to obtain a license from the commissioner before doing so.

A. Before doing business in [or from] this state as a discount medical plan organization, a person other than an individual:

(1) Shall be authorized to transact business in this state under [insert reference to applicable state law]; and

(2) Shall obtain a license from the commissioner to operate as a discount medical plan organization.

B. Except as provided in Subsection C, each application for a license to operate as a discount medical plan organization:

(1) Shall be in a form prescribed by the commissioner and verified by an officer or authorized representative of the applicant; and

(2) Shall demonstrate, set forth or be accompanied by the following, if applicable:

(a) The applicable fees required under [insert reference to appropriate section in state law];

(b) A copy of the organization documents of the applicant, such as the articles of incorporation, including all amendments;

(c) A copy of the applicant's bylaws or other enabling documents that establish organizational structure;

(d) The applicant's federal identification number, business address and mailing address;

(e) (i) A list of names, addresses, official positions and biographical information of the individuals who are responsible for conducting the applicant's affairs, including all members of the board of directors, board of trustees, executive committee or other governing board or committee, the officers, contracted management company personnel and any person or entity owning or having the right to acquire ten percent (10%) or more of the voting securities of the applicant; and

(ii) A disclosure in the listing of the extent and nature of any contracts or arrangements between any individual who is responsible for conducting the applicant's affairs and the discount medical plan organization, including any possible conflicts of interest;

(f) A complete biographical statement, on forms prescribed by the commissioner, [an independent investigation report and a set of fingerprints, as provided in [insert reference to applicable section in state law],] with respect to each individual identified under Subparagraph (e) of this paragraph;

(g) A statement generally describing the applicant, its facilities and personnel and the medical or ancillary services for which a discount will be made available under the discount medical plan;

(h) A copy of the form of all contracts made or to be made between the applicant and any providers or provider networks regarding the provision of medical or ancillary services to members;

(i) A copy of the form of any contract made or arrangement to be made between the applicant and any individual listed in Subparagraph (e) of this paragraph;

(j) A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any person, corporation, partnership or other entity for the performance on the applicant's behalf of any function, including marketing, administration, enrollment, [investment management] and subcontracting for the provision of medical or ancillary services to members;

(k) A copy of the applicant's most recent financial statements audited by an independent certified public accountant, except that, subject to the approval of the commissioner, an applicant that is an affiliate of a parent entity that is publicly traded and that prepares audited financial statements reflecting the consolidated operations of the parent entity may submit the audited financial statement of the parent entity and a written guaranty that the minimum capital requirements required under Section 6 of this Act will be met by the parent entity instead of the audited financial statement of the applicant;

Drafting Note: States should include Subparagraph (k) only if they require a discount medical plan organization to have a minimum net worth under Section 6 of this Act as a condition of licensure.

(l) A description of the proposed methods of marketing, including, but not limited to, describing the use of marketers, use of the Internet, sales by telephone, and use of salespersons to market the discount medical plan benefits;

(m) A description of the member complaint procedures to be established and maintained by the applicant;

(n) The name and address of the applicant's [insert state name] statutory agent for service of process, notice or demand, or if not domiciled in this state, a power of attorney duly executed by the applicant, appointing the commissioner and duly authorized deputies, as the true and lawful attorney of the applicant in and for this state upon whom all law process in any legal action or proceeding against the discount medical plan organization on a cause of action arising in this state may be served; and

(o) Any other information the commissioner may reasonably require.

C. (1) Upon application to and approval by the commissioner and payment of the applicable fees under [insert reference to appropriate sections in state law], a discount medical plan organization that holds a current license or other form of authority from another state to operate as a discount medical plan organization, at the commissioner's discretion, may not be required to submit the information required under Subsection B in order to obtain a license under this section if the commissioner is satisfied that the other state's requirements, at a minimum, are equivalent to those required under Subsection B or the commissioner is satisfied that the other state's requirements are sufficient to protect the interests of the residents of this state.

(2) Whenever the discount medical plan organization loses its license or other form of authority in that other state to operate as a discount medical plan organization, or is the subject of any disciplinary administrative proceeding related to the organization's operating as a discount medical plan organization in that other state, the discount medical plan organization shall immediately notify the commissioner.

D. After the receipt of an application filed pursuant to Subsection B or Subsection C, the commissioner shall review the application and notify the applicant of any deficiencies in the application.

E. Within ninety (90) days after the date of receipt of a completed application, the commissioner shall:

(1) Issue a license if the commissioner is satisfied that the applicant has met the following:

(a) The requirements of Subsection B or Subsection C have been met;

(b) The applicant has the required minimum capital in accordance with Section 6 of this Act; and

Drafting Note: States should include Subparagraph (b) only if they require a discount medical plan organization to have a minimum net worth under Section 6 of this Act as a condition of licensure.

(c) The ownership, control and management of the applicant are competent and trustworthy and possess managerial experience that would make the proposed operation of the discount medical plan organization beneficial to discount medical plan members; or Drafting Note: In making a determination under Subparagraph (c), the commissioner may want to consider, for example, whether the applicant or an officer or manager of the applicant: (1) is not financially responsible; (2) does not have adequate expertise or experience to operate a medical discount plan organization; or (3) is not of good character. Among the factors that the commissioner may consider in making the determination is whether the applicant or an affiliate or a business formerly owned or managed by the applicant or an officer or manager of the applicant has had a previous application for a license, or other authority, to operate as any entity regulated by the commissioner, denied, has had such license or other authority revoked, suspended or terminated for cause, or is under investigation for or has been found in violation of a statute or regulation in another jurisdiction within the previous 5 years.

(2) Disapprove the application and state the grounds for disapproval.

F. Prior to licensure by the commissioner, each discount medical plan organization shall establish an Internet website in order to conform to the requirements of Section 11B of this Act.

G. (1) A license is effective for one (1) year, unless prior to its expiration the license is renewed in accordance with this subsection or suspended or revoked in accordance with Subsection H.

Drafting Note: The one-year licensure term is optional. States should determine on a case-by-case basis the length of any license that is issued under this section.

(2) At least ninety (90) days before a license expires, the discount medical plan organization shall submit:

(a) A renewal application form; and

(b) The renewal fee.

(3) The commissioner shall renew the license of each holder that meets the requirements of this Act and pays the appropriate renewal fee required by [insert reference to appropriate section in state law].

H. (1) The commissioner may suspend the authority of a discount medical plan organization to enroll new members or refuse to renew or revoke a discount medical plan organization's license if the commissioner finds that any of the following conditions exist:

(a) The discount medical plan organization is not operating in compliance with this Act;

(b) The discount medical plan organization does not have the minimum net worth as required under Section 6 of this Act;

Drafting Note: States should include Subparagraph (b) only if they require a discount medical plan organization to have a minimum net worth under Section 6 of this Act as a condition of licensure.

(c) The discount medical plan organization has advertised, merchandised or attempted to merchandise its services in such a manner as to misrepresent its services or capacity for service or has engaged in deceptive, misleading or unfair practices with respect to advertising or merchandising;

(d) The discount medical plan organization is not fulfilling its obligations as a discount medical plan organization; or

(e) The continued operation of the discount medical plan organization would be hazardous to its members.

(2) If the commissioner has cause to believe that grounds for the non-renewal, suspension or revocation of a license exists, the commissioner shall notify the discount medical plan organization in writing specifically stating the grounds for the refusal to renew or suspension or revocation and may pursue a hearing on the matter in accordance with the provisions of the [insert reference to state Administrative Procedure Act].

(3) When the license of a discount medical plan organization is non-renewed, surrendered or revoked, the discount medical plan organization shall proceed, immediately following the effective date of the order of revocation or, in the case of a non-renewal, the date of expiration of the license, to wind up its affairs transacted under the license. The discount medical plan organization shall not engage in any further advertising, solicitation, collecting of fees or renewal of contracts.

(4) (a) The commissioner shall, in its order suspending the authority of the discount medical plan organization to enroll new members, specify the period during which the suspension is to be in effect and the conditions, if any, that must be met by the discount medical plan organization prior to reinstatement of its license to enroll members.

(b) The commissioner may rescind or modify the order of suspension prior to the expiration of the suspension period.

(c) The license of a discount medical plan organization shall not be reinstated unless requested by the discount medical plan organization. The commissioner shall not grant the request for reinstatement if the commissioner finds that the circumstances for which the suspension occurred still exist or are likely to recur.

I. In lieu of suspending or revoking a discount medical plan organization's license under Subsection H, whenever the discount medical plan organization has been found to have violated any provision of this Act, the commissioner may:

(1) Issue and cause to be served upon the organization charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the organization to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice that constitutes the violation; and

(2) Impose a monetary penalty of not less than $100 for each violation, but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $75,000.

J. Each licensed discount medical plan organization shall notify the commissioner immediately whenever the discount medical plan organization's license, or other form of authority, to operate as a discount medical plan organization in another state is suspended, revoked or non-renewed in that state.

K. A provider who provides discounts to his or her own patients without any cost or fee of any kind to the patient is not required to obtain and maintain a license under this Act as a discount medical plan organization.

Option 2. Registration Requirements

Drafting Note: This option is for those states that want to require persons wishing to operate in [or from] the state as a discount medical plan organization to obtain a certificate of registration from the commissioner before doing so.

A. Before doing business in [or from] this state as a discount medical plan organization, a person other than an individual:

(1) Shall be authorized to transact business in this state under [insert reference to applicable state law]; and

(2) Shall obtain a certificate of registration from the commissioner to operate as a discount medical plan organization.

B. Each application for a certificate of registration to operate as a discount medical plan organization:

(1) Shall be in a form prescribed by the commissioner and verified by an officer or authorized representative of the applicant;

(2) Shall be accompanied by the applicable fees required under [insert reference to appropriate section in state law];

(3) Shall include information on whether:

(a) A previous application for a certificate of registration has been denied, revoked, suspended or terminated for cause; and

(b) The applicant is under investigation for or the subject of any pending action or has been found in violation of a statue or regulation in any jurisdiction within the previous five (5) years; and

(4) Shall include information, as the commissioner may require, that permits the commissioner, after reviewing all of the information submitted pursuant to this subsection, to make a determination that the applicant:

(a) Is financially responsible;

(b) Has adequate expertise or experience to operate a discount medical plan organization; and

(c) Is of good character.

C. After the receipt of an application filed pursuant to Subsection B, the commissioner shall review the application and notify the applicant of any deficiencies in the application.

D. Within ninety (90) days after the date of receipt of a completed application, the commissioner shall:

(1) Issue a certificate of registration if the commissioner is satisfied that the applicant has met the following:

(a) The requirements of Subsection B have been met; and

(b) The applicant has the required minimum capital in accordance with Section 6 of this Act; or

Drafting Note: States should include Subparagraph (b) only if they require a discount medical plan organization to have a minimum net worth under Section 6 of this Act as a condition of registration.

(2) Disapprove the application and state the grounds for disapproval.

E. Prior to issuance of a certificate of registration by the commissioner, each discount medical plan organization shall establish an Internet website in order to conform to the requirements of Section 11B of this Act.

F. (1) A registration is effective for one (1) year, unless prior to its expiration it is renewed in accordance with this subsection or suspended or revoked in accordance with Subsection G.

Drafting Note: The one-year registration term is optional. States should determine on a case-by-case basis the length of any registration that is issued under this section.

(2) At least ninety (90) days before a certificate of registration expires, the discount medical plan organization shall submit:

(a) A renewal application form; and

(b) The renewal fee.

(3) The commissioner shall renew the certificate of registration of each holder that meets the requirements of this Act and pays the appropriate renewal fee required by [insert reference to appropriate section in state law].

G. (1) The commissioner may suspend the authority of a discount medical plan organization to enroll new members or refuse to renew or revoke a discount medical plan organization's certificate of registration if the commissioner finds that any of the following conditions exist:

(a) The discount medical plan organization is not operating in compliance with this Act;

(b) The discount medical plan organization does not have the minimum net worth as required under Section 6 of this Act;

Drafting Note: States should include Subparagraph (b) only if they require a discount medical plan organization to have a minimum net worth under Section 6 of this Act as a condition of registration.

(c) The discount medical plan organization has advertised, merchandised or attempted to merchandise its services in such a manner as to misrepresent its services or capacity for service or has engaged in deceptive, misleading or unfair practices with respect to advertising or merchandising;

(d) The discount medical plan organization is not fulfilling its obligations as a discount medical plan organization; or

(e) The continued operation of the discount medical plan organization would be hazardous to its members.

(2) If the commissioner has cause to believe that grounds for the non-renewal, suspension or revocation of a certificate of registration exists, the commissioner shall notify the discount medical plan organization in writing specifically stating the grounds for the refusal to renew or suspension or revocation and may pursue a hearing on the matter in accordance with the provisions of the [insert reference to state Administrative Procedure Act].

(3) When the certificate of registration of a discount medical plan organization is non-renewed, surrendered or revoked, the discount medical plan organization shall proceed, immediately following the effective date of the order of revocation or, in the case of a non-renewal, the date of expiration of the certificate of registration, to wind up its affairs transacted under the certificate of registration. The discount medical plan organization shall not engage in any further advertising, solicitation, collecting of fees or renewal of contracts.

(4) (a) The commissioner shall, in its order suspending the authority of the discount medical plan organization to enroll new members, specify the period during which the suspension is to be in effect and the conditions, if any, that must be met by the discount medical plan organization prior to reinstatement of its certificate of registration to enroll members.

(b) The commissioner may rescind or modify the order of suspension prior to the expiration of the suspension period.

(c) The certificate of registration of a discount medical plan organization shall not be reinstated unless requested by the discount medical plan organization. The commissioner shall not grant the request for reinstatement if the commissioner finds that the circumstances for which the suspension occurred still exist or are likely to recur.

H. In lieu of suspending or revoking a discount medical plan organization's certificate of registration under Subsection G, whenever the discount medical plan organization has been found to have violated any provision of this Act, the commissioner may:

(1) Issue and cause to be served upon the organization charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the organization to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice that constitutes the violation; and

(2) Impose a monetary penalty of not less than $100 for each violation, but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $75,000.

I. Each registered discount medical plan organization shall notify the commissioner immediately whenever the discount medical plan organization's certificate of registration, or other form of authority, to operate as a discount medical plan organization in another state is suspended, revoked or non-renewed in that state.

J. A provider who provides discounts to his or her own patients without any cost or fee of any kind to the patient is not required to obtain and maintain a certificate of registration under this Act as a discount medical plan organization.

Section 6. Minimum Capital Requirements [Optional]

Drafting Note: This section is optional for those states that wish to require discount medical plan organizations to have and to maintain a minimum net worth as a condition of [licensure] [registration].

A. Before the commissioner issues a [license] [certificate of registration] to any person required to obtain a license under Section 5 of this Act, the person seeking to operate a discount medical plan organization shall have a net worth of at least $150,000.

B. Each discount medical plan organization shall at all times maintain a net worth of at least $150,000.

C. At the commissioner's discretion, the amounts in Subsections A and B may be adjusted annually for inflation.

Section 7. Surety Bond or Deposit Requirements

A. Each [licensed] [registered] discount medical plan organization shall maintain in force a surety bond in its own name in an amount not less than $35,000 to be used in the discretion of the commissioner to protect the financial interest of members. The bond shall be issued by an insurance company licensed to do business in this state.

B. In lieu of the bond specified in Subsection A, a [licensed] [registered] discount medical plan organization may deposit and maintain deposited with the commissioner, or at the discretion of the commissioner, with any organization or trustee acceptable to the commissioner through which a custodial or controlled account is utilized, cash, securities or any combination of these or other measures that are acceptable to the commissioner with at all times have a market value of not less than $35,000.

C. All income from a deposit made under Subsection B shall be an asset of the discount medical plan organization.

D. Except for the commissioner, the assets or securities held in this state as a deposit under Subsection A or B shall not be subject to levy by a judgment creditor or other claimant of the discount medical plan organization.

Section 8. Examinations and Investigations

A. The commissioner may examine or investigate the business and affairs of any discount medical plan organization to protect the interests of the residents of this state based on the following reasons, including, but not limited to, complaint indices, recent complaints, information from other states, or as the commissioner deems necessary.

B. An examination or investigation conducted as provided in Subsection A shall be performed in accordance with the provisions of [insert reference to state law equivalent to the NAIC Model Law on Examinations].

C. The commissioner may:

(1) Order any discount medical plan organization or applicant that operates a discount medical plan organization to produce any records, books, files, advertising and solicitation materials or other information; and

(2) Take statements under oath to determine whether the discount medical plan organization or applicant is in violation of the law or is acting contrary to the public interest.

D. The discount medical plan organization or applicant that is the subject of the examination or investigation shall pay the expenses incurred in conducting the examination or investigation. Failure by the discount medical plan organization or applicant to pay the expenses is grounds for denial of a [license] [certificate of registration] to operate as a discount medical plan organization or revocation of a [license] [certificate of registration] to operate as a discount medical plan organization.

Section 9. Charges and Fees; Refund Requirements; Bundling of Services

A. A discount medical plan organization may charge a periodic charge as well as a reasonable one-time processing fee for a discount medical plan.

B. (1) (a) If a member cancels his or her membership in the discount medical plan organization within the first thirty (30) days after the date of receipt of the written document for the discount medical plan described in Section 13D of this Act, the member shall receive a reimbursement of all periodic charges and the amount of any one-time processing fee that exceeds [$30] upon return of the discount medical plan card to the discount medical plan organization.

Drafting Note: The maximum one-time processing fee amount of $30 in Paragraph (1)(a) is a suggested amount.

(b) (i) Cancellation occurs when notice of cancellation is given to the discount medical plan organization.

(ii) Notice of cancellation is deemed given when delivered by hand or deposited in a mailbox, properly addressed and postage prepaid to the mailing address of the discount medical plan organization or emailed to the email address of the discount medical plan organization.

(c) A discount medical plan organization shall return any periodic charge charged or collected after the member has returned the discount medical plan card or given the discount medical plan organization notice of cancellation.

(2) If the discount medical plan organization cancels a membership for any reason other than nonpayment of charges by the member, the discount medical plan organization shall make a pro rata reimbursement of all periodic charges to the member.

Drafting Note: Subsection C below has two options for states to choose from with respect to bundling of services (i.e. – when a marketer or discount medical plan organization sells the discount medical plan with any other product). Option 1 is for those states that, in accordance with Option 1 in Section 10 of this Act, want discount medical plan organizations to file charges and forms with the commissioner for prior approval. Option 2 is for those states that decide not to adopt Option 1 in Section 10 of this Act or for those states that decide not to adopt Section 10 of this Act altogether.

Option 1.

Drafting Note: A state should choose this option for this subsection if the state decides to adopt Option 1 in Section 10 of this Act.

C. When a marketer or discount medical plan organization sells a discount medical plan in conjunction with any other products, the charges for each discount medical plan shall be provided in writing to the member.

Option 2.

Drafting Note: A state should choose this option for this subsection if the state decides not adopt Option 1 in Section 10 of this Act or does not adopt Section 10 of this Act altogether.

C. When a marketer or discount medical plan organization sells a discount medical plan in conjunction with any other products, the marketer or discount medical plan organization shall:

(1) Provide the charges for each discount medical plan in writing to the member; or

(2) Reimburse the member for all periodic charges for the discount medical plan and all periodic charges for any other product if the member cancels his or her membership in accordance with Subsection B(1).

D. Any discount medical plan organization that is a health carrier licensed pursuant to [insert reference in state insurance code or other applicable state statute] that provides a discount medical plan product that is incidental to the insured product is not subject to this section.

Section 10. Charge and Form Filing Requirements

Drafting Note: For those states that want to require discount medical plan organizations to file charges and forms with the commissioner, below are two options for this section that these states can choose from to impose such a requirement. Those states that do not want to impose such a requirement should not adopt either option. Option 1 is for those states that want to establish a prior approval system with respect to charges and forms to be used by a discount medical plan organization. Option 2 is for those states that want to establish a system under which a discount medical plan organization would be required to file with the commissioner for informational purposes all charges and forms to be used by the discount medical plan organization.

Option 1.

A. (1) A discount medical plan organization shall file with the commissioner a list of all prospective member fees and charges associated with the discount medical plan.

(2) Any fee or charge to members that is greater than an amount of [$30] per month or [$360] per year shall be submitted to the commissioner for approval prior to its use.

Drafting Note: The maximum amounts for the fees or charges in Paragraph (2) that a discount medical plan organization may charge are suggested amounts. Whatever amount a state chooses to use in this section should be consistent with the amount in Section 9B(1)(a) of this Act.

(3) The discount medical plan organization has the burden of proof that a fee or charge bears a reasonable relationship to the benefits to be received by the member.

B. (1) (a) All forms, including the form for the written document described under Section 13D of this Act, to be used by a discount medical plan organization shall first be filed with and approved by the commissioner.

(b) Each form filed shall be identified in the manner as may be required by the commissioner.

(2) (a) A charge or form shall be considered approved on the 60th day after its date of filing unless it has been previously disapproved by the commissioner.

(b) The commissioner shall disapprove any charge or form that does not meet the requirements of this section or that is unreasonable, discriminatory, misleading, or unfair.

(3) If a form filed pursuant to Paragraph (1) is disapproved, the commissioner shall notify the discount medical plan organization and shall specify in the notice the reasons for disapproval.

Option 2.

A. A discount medical plan organization shall file with the commissioner a list of all prospective member fees and charges associated with the discount medical plan.

B. (1) In addition to Subsection A, a discount medical plan organization shall file all forms, including the form for the written document described under Section 13D of this Act, to be used by a discount medical plan organization with the commissioner prior to use.

(2) Each form filed shall be identified in the manner as may be required by the commissioner.

Section 11. Provider Agreements; Provider Listing Requirements

A. (1) A discount medical plan organization shall have a written provider agreement with all providers offering medical or ancillary services to its members. The written provider agreement may be entered into directly with the provider or indirectly with a provider network to which the provider belongs.

(2) A provider agreement between a discount medical plan organization and a provider shall provide the following:

(a) A list of the medical or ancillary services and products to be provided at a discount;

(b) The amount or amounts of the discounts or, alternatively, a fee schedule that reflects the provider's discounted rates; and

(c) That the provider will not charge members more than the discounted rates.

(3) A provider agreement between a discount medical plan organization and a provider network shall require that the provider network have written agreements with its providers that:

(a) Contain the provisions described in Paragraph (2);

(b) Authorize the provider network to contract with the discount medical plan organization on behalf of the provider; and

(c) Require the provider network to maintain an up-to-date list of its contracted providers and to provide the list on a monthly basis to the discount medical plan organization.

(4) A provider agreement between a discount medical plan organization and an entity that contracts with a provider network shall require that the entity, in its contract with the provider network, require the provider network to have written agreements with its providers that comply with Paragraph (3).

(5) The discount medical plan organization shall maintain a copy of each active provider agreement into which it has entered.

B. (1) Each discount medical plan organization shall maintain on an Internet website page an up-to-date list of the names and addresses of the providers with which it has contracted directly or through a provider network. The Internet website address shall be prominently displayed on all of its advertisements, marketing materials, brochures and discount medical plan cards.

(2) This subsection applies to those providers with which the discount medical plan organization has contracted with directly as well as those providers that are members of a provider network with which the discount medical plan organization has contracted.

Section 12. Marketing Requirements

A. A discount medical plan organization may market directly or contract with other marketers for the distribution of its product.

B. (1) The discount medical plan organization shall have an executed written agreement with a marketer prior to the marketer's marketing, promoting, selling or distributing the discount medical plan.

(2) The agreement between the discount medical plan organization and the marketer shall prohibit the marketer from using advertising, marketing materials, brochures and discount medical plan cards without the discount medical plan organization's approval in writing.

(3) The discount medical plan organization shall be bound by and responsible for the activities of a marketer that are within the scope of the marketer's agency relationship with the organization.

C. A discount medical plan organization shall approve in writing all advertisements, marketing materials, brochures and discount cards used by marketers to market, promote, sell or distribute the discount medical plan prior to their use.

D. Upon request, a discount medical plan organization shall submit to the commissioner all advertising, marketing materials and brochures regarding a discount medical plan.

Section 13. Marketing Restrictions and Disclosure Requirements

A. (1) All advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, discount medical plan cards and any other communications of a discount medical plan organization provided to prospective members and members shall be truthful and not misleading in fact or in implication.

(2) An advertisement, any marketing material, brochure, discount medical plan card or other communication is misleading in fact or in implication if it has a capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive based on the overall impression that it is reasonably expected to create within the segment of the public to which it is directed.

B. A discount medical plan organization shall not:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this Act or as a disclaimer of any relationship between discount medical plan benefits and insurance, or as a description of an insurance product connected with a discount medical plan, use in its advertisements, marketing material, brochures and discount medical plan cards the term "insurance";

(2) Except as otherwise provided in state law, describe or characterize the discount medical plan as being insurance whenever a discount medical plan is bundled with an insured product and the insurance benefits are incidental to the discount medical plan benefits;

(3) Use in its advertisements, marketing material, brochures and discount medical plan cards the terms "health plan," "coverage," "copay," "copayments," "deductible," "preexisting conditions," "guaranteed issue," "premium," "PPO," "preferred provider organization," or other terms in a manner that could reasonably mislead an individual into believing that the discount medical plan is health insurance;

(4) Use language in its advertisements, marketing material, brochures and discount medical plan cards with respect to being ["licensed"] ["registered"] by the state insurance department in a manner that could reasonably mislead an individual into believing that the discount medical plan is insurance or has been endorsed by the state;

(5) Make misleading, deceptive or fraudulent representations regarding the discount or range of discounts offered by the discount medical plan card or the access to any range of discounts offered by the discount medical plan card;

(6) Have restrictions on access to discount medical plan providers, including, except for hospital services, waiting periods and notification periods; or

(7) Pay providers any fees for medical or ancillary services or collect or accept money from a member to pay a provider for medical or ancillary services provided under the discount medical plan, unless the discount medical plan organization has an active certificate of authority to act as a third party administrator in accordance with [insert reference to state law equivalent to the NAIC Third Party Administrator Statute].

C. (1) Each discount medical plan organization shall make the following general disclosures:

(a) In writing in not less than twelve-point font;

(b) On the first content page of any advertisements, marketing materials or brochures made available to the public relating to a discount medical plan; and

(c) Along with any enrollment forms given to a prospective member:

(i) That the plan is a discount plan and is not insurance coverage;

(ii) That the range of discounts for medical or ancillary services provided under the plan will vary depending on the type of provider and medical or ancillary service received;

(iii) Unless the discount medical plan organization has an active certificate of authority to act as a third party administrator as described in Subsection B(7), that the plan does not make payments to providers for the medical or ancillary services received under the discount medical plan;

Drafting Note: The introductory language in Item (iii) above is intended to clarify that if a discount medical plan organization is a third party administrator, as described in Subsection B(7), then it does not have to provide this general disclosure to plan members. If the discount medical plan organization is not a third party administrator, then it must provide the general disclosure in Item (iii).

(iv) That the plan member is obligated to pay for all medical or ancillary services, but will receive a discount from those providers that have contracted with the discount medical plan organization; and

(v) The toll-free telephone number and Internet website address for the [licensed] [registered] discount medical plan organization for prospective members and members to obtain additional information about and assistance on the discount medical plan and up-to-date lists of providers participating in the discount medical plan.

(2) If the initial contact with a prospective member is by telephone, the disclosures required under Paragraph (1) shall be made orally and included in the initial written materials that describe the benefits under the discount medical plan provided to the prospective or new member.

D. (1) In addition to the general disclosures required under Subsection C, each discount medical plan organization shall provide to:

(a) Each prospective member, at the time of enrollment, information that describes the terms and conditions of the discount medical plan, including any limitations or restrictions on the refund of any processing fees or periodic charges associated with the discount medical plan; and

(b) Each new member a written document that contains the terms and conditions of the discount medical plan.

(2) The written document required under Paragraph (1)(b) shall be clear and include information on:

(a) The name of the member;

(b) The benefits to be provided under the discount medical plan;

(c) Any processing fees and periodic charges associated with the discount medical plan, including any limitations or restrictions on the refund of any processing fees and periodic charges;

(d) The mode of payment of any processing fees and periodic charges, such as monthly, quarterly, etc., and procedures for changing the mode of payment;

(e) Any limitations, exclusions or exceptions regarding the receipt of discount medical plan benefits;

(f) Any waiting periods for certain medical or ancillary services under the discount medical plan;

(g) Procedures for obtaining discounts under the discount medical plan, such as requiring members to contact the discount medical plan organization to make an appointment with a provider on the member's behalf;

(h) Cancellation procedures, including information on the member's thirty-day cancellation rights and refund requirements and procedures for obtaining refunds;

(i) Renewal, termination and cancellation terms and conditions;

(j) Procedures for adding new members to a family discount medical plan, if applicable;

(k) Procedures for filing complaints under the discount medical plan organization's complaint system and information that, if the member remains dissatisfied after completing the organization's complaint system, the plan member may contact his or her local state insurance department; and

(l) The name and mailing address of the [licensed] [registered] discount medical plan organization or other entity where the member can make inquiries about the plan, send cancellation notices and file complaints.

Section 14. Notice of Change in Name or Address

Each discount medical plan organization shall provide the commissioner at least thirty (30) day's advance notice of any change in the discount medical plan organization's name, address, principal business address or mailing address or Internet website address.

Section 15. Annual Reports

A. If the information required in Subsection B is not provided at the time of renewal of a [license] [certificate of registration] under Section 5 of this Act, a discount medical plan organization shall file an annual report with the commissioner in the form prescribed by the commissioner, within three (3) months after the end of each fiscal year.

B. The report shall include:

Drafting Note: Paragraph (1) has two options. Option 1 requires a discount medical plan organization to submit audited financial statements as part of the annual report in order for the commissioner to determine whether the organization is in compliance with the minimum capital requirements required under Section 6 of this Act. Option 2 requires a discount medical plan organization to submit a certification from one of its officers verifying that the discount medical plan organization is in compliance with the minimum capital requirements required under Section 6 of this Act. States should include Paragraph (1) only if they require a discount medical plan organizations to have a minimum net worth under Section 6 of this Act as a condition of licensure.

Option 1.

(1) Audited financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles certified by an independent certified public accountant, including the organization's balance sheet, income statement and statement of changes in cash flow for the preceding year, except that, subject to the approval of the commissioner, an organization that is an affiliate of a parent entity that is publicly traded and that prepares audited financial statements reflecting the consolidated operations of the parent entity may submit the audited financial statement of the parent entity and a written guaranty that the minimum capital requirements required under Section 6 of this Act will be met by the parent entity instead of the audited financial statement of the organization;

Option 2.

(1) A certification verified by at least one principal officer of the discount medical plan organization that the organization is in compliance with the minimum capital requirements required under Section 6 of this Act;

Drafting Note: States should adopt Paragraphs (2), (3) and (4) below regardless of which option a state chooses to adopt for Paragraph (1) above.

(2) If different from the initial application for a [license] [certificate of registration] or at the time of renewal of a [license] [certificate of registration] or the last annual report, as appropriate, a list of the names and residence addresses of all persons responsible for the conduct of the organization's affairs, together with a disclosure of the extent and nature of any contracts or arrangements with these persons and the discount medical plan organization, including any possible conflicts of interest;

(3) The number of discount medical plan members in the state; and

(4) Any other information relating to the performance of the discount medical plan organization that may be required by the commissioner.

C. Any discount medical plan organization that fails to file an annual report in the form and within the time required by this section shall:

(1) Forfeit:

(a) Up to $500 each day for the first ten (10) days during which the violation continues; and

(b) Up to $1,000 each day after the first ten (10) days during which the violation continues; and

(2) Upon notice by the commissioner, lose its authority to enroll new members or to do business in this state while the violation continues.

Section 16. Discount Prescription Drug Plan Organizations [Optional]

Drafting Note: This section is optional for those states that want to include discount prescription drug plan organizations, as that term is defined in Section 3 of this Act, within the scope of this Act.

A. Each discount prescription drug plan organization shall designate and provide the commissioner with the name, address and telephone number of a discount prescription drug plan compliance officer responsible for ensuring compliance with the provisions of this section and this Act that are applicable to discount prescription drug plans and discount prescription drug plan organizations.

B. In addition to Subsection A, a discount prescription drug plan organization shall comply with Sections 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 of this Act and shall report any of the information described in Section 15 of this Act in the form and manner as the commissioner may require. A discount prescription drug plan organization also is subject to Sections 17 and 18 of this Act.

Drafting Note: Those states that decide to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act, as provided in this section, should revise Sections 17 and 18 of this Act, as appropriate, to include discount prescription drug plan organizations.

Section 17. Penalties

A. In addition to the penalties and other enforcement provisions of this Act, any person who willfully violates this Act is subject to civil penalties of up to $[insert amount] per violation.

B. A person that willfully operates as or aids and abets another operating as a discount medical plan organization in violation of Section 5A of this Act commits insurance fraud and shall be subject to [insert classifications for misdemeanor and felony penalties in the state insurance code for insurance fraud], as if the [unlicensed] [unregistered] discount medical plan organization were an unauthorized insurer, and the fees, dues, charges or other consideration collected from the members by the [unlicensed] [unregistered] discount medical plan organization or marketer were insurance premium.

C. A person that collects fees for purported membership in a discount medical plan, but purposefully fails to provide the promised benefits commits a theft and upon conviction is subject to [insert classifications for misdemeanor and felony penalties that match provisions in the state's criminal code for theft offenses]. In addition, upon conviction, the person shall be ordered to pay restitution to persons aggrieved by the violation of this Act. Restitution shall be ordered in addition to a fine or imprisonment, but not in lieu of a fine or imprisonment.

Section 18. Injunctions

A. (1) In addition to the penalties and other enforcement provisions of this Act, the commissioner may seek both temporary and permanent injunctive relief when:

(a) A discount medical plan is being operated by a person or entity that is not [licensed] [registered] pursuant to this Act; or

(b) Any person, entity or discount medical plan organization has engaged in any activity prohibited by this Act or any regulation adopted pursuant to this Act.

(2) The venue for any proceeding brought pursuant to this section shall be in the circuit court of [insert appropriate jurisdiction].

B. The commissioner's authority to seek injunctive relief is not conditioned on having conducted any proceeding pursuant to the provisions of the [insert reference to state Administrative Procedure Act].

Section 19. Regulations

The commissioner may adopt regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 20. Severability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 21. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective [insert date]. A person doing business in [or from] this state as a discount medical plan organization on or before the effective date of this Act shall have six (6) months following [insert date that the Act is effective] to come into compliance with the requirements of this Act.

Drafting Note: Those states that decide to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of this Act, as provided in Section 16 of this Act, may want to include a reference to discount prescription drug plan organizations in this section.

DISCOUNT MEDICAL PLAN ORGANIZATION MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

DISCOUNT MEDICAL PLAN ORGANIZATION MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2006

DISCOUNT MEDICAL PLAN ORGANIZATION MODEL ACT (#98)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

This model law was drafted to address an issue of increasing concern to state departments of insurance – the rising number of consumer complaints about discount medical cards. This new model establishes a comprehensive regulatory scheme to enable regulators to track these entities and ensure that these entities are legitimate and not fraudulent; sets out uniform disclosure requirements to ensure that consumers know what they are buying; sets out uniform marketing and advertising requirements to ensure that these cards are not being marketed to consumers in a fraudulent or misleading way; and includes strict provider contracting requirements to ensure network adequacy and the actual existence of network providers to provide the promised discounts to consumers.

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model:

Health Discount Plan Working Group of the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee and the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee

States Participating:

Florida, Chair	Montana
Alaska	Nebraska
Arkansas	Nevada
Colorado	Oklahoma
District of Columbia	Ohio
Illinois	Oregon
Indiana	South Dakota
Kansas	Utah
Maryland	Vermont
Minnesota	Wisconsin

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge given in 2005:

Review issues surrounding health discount plans and draft a model law or regulation, as appropriate. Report by Winter 2005 Meeting.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The model was drafted by the Working Group. Numerous interested parties participated, including industry representatives, such as the America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP), the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (BCBSA), CIGNA, WellPoint, Pacificare, Aetna, the Consumer Health Alliance (CHA), the National Association of Health Underwriters (NAHU), the National Association of Dental Plans (NADP); the Pharmaceutical Care Management Association (PCMA); prescription drug manufacturer representatives, such as the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA), Caremark and Merck; consumer representatives, such as the American Diabetes Association and Families USA; and other interested parties, such as the Council for Affordable Health Insurance (CAHI) and the National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors (NAIFA).

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

There have been nine drafts of the proposed new model. Each draft was circulated for comment to interested parties prior to discussion at NAIC quarterly meetings and during Working Group telephone conference calls. In addition, all drafts of the proposed model were posted on the NAIC web site. Throughout the drafting process comments from various interest groups and organizations were received and discussed by the Working Group.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the due process and the group's response.

There were several significant issues that arose during the drafting of this model. The first issue considered the model's scope – whether licensed health carriers and their affiliates would be subject to the requirements of this model and, if so, which of the requirements. Over the course of several meetings and several telephone conference calls and after considerable discussion, the Working Group decided that licensed health carriers that would be considered a discount medical plan organization (DMPO), as that term is defined in the model, would only be required to comply with specific provisions in the model that related to marketing requirements, refund requirements, form filing requirements and advertising and disclosure requirements. The Working Group decided that because health carriers are already subject to the jurisdiction of the insurance commissioner, they would not be required to obtain a license or comply with other provisions of the new model, such as the examination and investigation requirements, bonding requirements and optional solvency requirements, that they are already subject to as licensed health carriers. With respect to their affiliates, the Working Group decided that these entities would be subject to all of the requirements in the model. The Working Group members were concerned that, if not regulated in this manner, affiliates could be established and used as a vehicle to circumvent the model's provisions and, as such, become a potential source of fraudulent activity.

The next significant issue concerned whether the model would include a comprehensive licensing scheme or a streamlined registration scheme. Those arguing for a comprehensive licensing scheme stated that the provisions requiring background checks and fingerprinting helped to ferret out fraudulent operators because it requires any individual involved in the DMPO's operations to be identified and to submit to a background check and fingerprinting. As such, an individual involved in operating a DMPO that violated the law previously would be flagged even if the DMPO is operating under a different name. Those supporting a streamlined registration scheme stated that this regulatory scheme was more appropriate for non-risk-bearing entities, like DMPOs. They also argued that most states that have recently enacted legislation regulating DMPOs have chosen a streamlined registration scheme that did not include background checks and fingerprinting. After extensive discussion of this issue, the Working Group decided to retain the licensing scheme with its background check and fingerprinting requirements. Some working group members were concerned that deleting these requirements altogether was not appropriate for a model law. A NAIC model law should include the strongest possible protections for consumers. As a compromise, the Working Group agreed to include some options with respect to the fingerprinting and background checks. States can decide whether to include these requirements based on their staffing and financial resources.

Another issue the working group debated concerned whether the new model should impose minimum capital requirements on DMPOs. Those arguing in favor of imposing such requirements asserted that requiring DMPOs to have a minimum net worth reinforces the legitimacy of the entity. Those arguing against including such a requirement stated that it was inappropriate for a non-risk-bearing entity. As a compromise, the Working Group decided to make the minimum net worth requirement optional. The working group also added a bonding requirement to ensure that if there was a problem with a DMPO that there would be some resources that could be used for the benefit of discount medical plan members.

Another issue debated extensively throughout the drafting process concerned "bundling". As part of their marketing and sale strategy, some DMPOs bundle (combine) the discount product with non-discount products. This combined product is sold to the consumer as package. Some working group members were concerned that this practice had the potential to confuse consumers as to the actual cost of what they were buying. To address this problem and after extensive debate, the Working Group decided to retain a provision in the model that requires DMPOs to disclose the cost of the discount product to the consumer when the discount product is sold with any other product. Also, after extensive debate, the Working Group decided to add a provision to the new model to address the situation when a licensed health carrier is a DMPO and is selling an insured product with a discount product. If the discount product is incidental to the insured product, then the health carrier is not required to disclose the cost of the discount product. In addition, the health carrier also would not be subject to the model's refund requirements. However, if the discount product is more than incidental, then the health carrier must disclose the cost of the discount product to the consumer just as other DMPOs that are not licensed health carriers are required to do and is also subject to the refund requirements.

Another issue that arose during the drafting process concerned whether to include discount prescription drug plan organizations within the scope of the model and, if so, what would be the appropriate scheme for regulating them. While acknowledging that discount prescription drug plan organizations have not been the subject of as many complaints as DMPOs, some Working Group members expressed a desire to include these entities within the scope of the model in order to be able to track and identify them in the event there was a problem. After extensive discussion, the Working Group decided to include discount prescription drug plan programs within the scope of the model as an optional section. In addition, the Working Group decided to require these entities to be subject to a similar regulatory scheme as licensed health carriers that are DMPOs. They are not required to obtain a license but must designate a compliance officer for ensuring the entity's compliance with law and provide that name to the insurance commissioner.

After the Working Group adopted the proposed model in May 2006, there was additional discussion at the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee level at the 2006 NAIC Summer National Meeting. The Committee postponed voting on the model to provide an opportunity for interested parties to submit a final round of comments to the Committee outlining their concerns and to present proposals to address those concerns. Based on the comments, the Committee held a conference call in August 2006 to consider revisions to the proposed model as presented by the Working Group. The Committee adopted revisions to the model that include giving states the option of choosing whether to require a DMPO to obtain a license or certificate of registration. The Committee also revised the bundling provision to include an option for states to choose from with respect to requirements for marketers and DMPOs to disclose the fees for each discount medical plan whenever a discount medical plan is sold together with any other product.

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE STANDARDS MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Short Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Group Health Insurance Standards Act.

Section 2. Purpose

This Act lists the permissible groups that may be issued a policy of group health insurance coverage in this state. This Act lists the circumstances under which a group health insurance policy that is issued in another state may be offered to residents of this state. This Act describes the circumstances under which dependent coverage is permitted or required to be included in a group health insurance policy. This Act also lists the standard provisions that must be included in a policy of group health insurance.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

B. "Evidence of individual insurability" means medical information, or other information that indicates health status, used to determine whether coverage of an individual within the group is to be limited or excluded.

Section 4. Permitted Groups

Except as provided in Section 5, an insurer shall not deliver a group health insurance policy in this state unless it conforms to one of the following descriptions:

A. A policy issued to an employer, or to the trustees of a fund established by an employer and maintained, directly or indirectly, by the participating employer, which employer or trustees shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure employees of the employer for the benefit of persons other than the employer, subject to the following requirements:

(1) (a) The employees eligible for coverage under the policy shall be all of the employees of the employer, or all of any class or classes thereof.

(b) The policy may define "employees" to include:

(i) The employees of one or more subsidiary corporations;

(ii) The employees, individual proprietors and partners of one or more affiliated corporations, proprietorships or partnerships if the business of the employer and of the affiliated corporations, proprietorships or partnerships is under common control;

(iii) The retired employees, former employees and directors of a corporate employer; and

(iv) For a policy issued to insure the employees of a public body, elected or appointed officials.

(2) The premium for the policy shall be paid either from the employer's fund or from funds contributed by the insured employees, or from both.

(3) Except as provided in Paragraph (4), a policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured employees must insure all eligible employees, except those who reject coverage in writing.

(4) An insurer may exclude or limit the coverage on any person as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer unless otherwise prohibited by any other applicable law or regulations adopted by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), insurers that issue or offer to issue certain policies of health insurance coverage in the group market may not exclude or limit eligibility for coverage to individuals or their dependents based on a health status-related factor. A health status-related factor, as defined under HIPAA, includes evidence of individual insurability. Section 9 of this Act provides authority for the commissioner to adopt regulations related to enrollment and eligibility for coverage consistent with HIPAA for those groups and policies subject to HIPAA requirements.

B. A policy issued to a creditor or its parent holding company or to a trustee or trustees or agent designated by two (2) or more creditors, which creditor, holding company, affiliate, trustee, trustees or agent shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure debtors of the creditor or creditors with respect to their indebtedness, subject to the following requirements:

(1) The debtors eligible for coverage under the policy shall be all of the debtors of the creditor or creditors, or all of any class or classes thereof.

(2) The policy may define "debtors" to include:

(a) Borrowers of money or purchasers or lessees of goods, services, or property for which payment is arranged through a credit transaction;

(b) The debtors of one or more subsidiary corporations; and

(c) The debtors of one or more affiliated corporations, proprietorships or partnerships if the business of the policyholder and of such affiliated corporations, proprietorships or partnerships is under common control.

(3) The premium for the policy shall be paid either from the creditor's funds, or from charges collected from the insured debtors, or from both.

(4) Except as provided in Paragraph (5), a policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by insured debtors specifically for their insurance must insure all eligible debtors.

(5) An insurer may exclude any debtors as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer.

(6) The total amount of insurance payable with respect to an indebtedness shall not exceed the greater of the scheduled or actual amount of unpaid indebtedness to the creditor. The insurer may exclude any payments that are delinquent on the date the debtor becomes disabled as defined in the policy.

(7) The insurance may be payable to the creditor or any successor to the right, title and interest of the creditor. The payment or payments shall reduce or extinguish the unpaid indebtedness of the debtor to the extent of each payment and any excess of the insurance shall be payable to the insured or the estate of the insured.

(8) Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this section, insurance on agricultural credit transaction commitments may be written up to the amount of the loan commitment. Insurance on educational credit transaction commitments may be written up to the amount of the loan commitment less the amount of any repayments made on the loan.

C. A policy issued to a labor union or similar employee organization, which shall be deemed to be the policyholder, to insure members or employees of the union or organization for the benefit of persons other than the union or organization or any of its officials, representatives or agents, subject to the following requirements:

(1) The members or employees eligible for coverage under the policy shall be all of the members or employees of the union or organization, or all of any class or classes thereof.

(2) The premium for the policy shall be paid either from funds of the union or organization, or from funds contributed by the insured members or employees specifically for their insurance, or from both.

(3) Except as provided in Paragraph (4), a policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured members or employees specifically for their insurance must insure all eligible members or employees, except those who reject coverage in writing.

(4) An insurer may exclude or limit the coverage on any person as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer unless otherwise prohibited by any other applicable law or regulations adopted by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Under HIPAA, insurers that issue or offer to issue certain policies of health insurance coverage in the group market may not exclude or limit eligibility for coverage to individuals or their dependents based on a health status-related factor. A health status-related factor, as defined under HIPAA, includes evidence of individual insurability. Section 9 of this Act provides authority for the commissioner to adopt regulations related to enrollment and eligibility for coverage consistent with HIPAA for those groups and policies subject to HIPAA requirements.

D. A policy issued to a trust, or to the trustees of a fund, established by two (2) or more employers and maintained, directly or indirectly, by those participating employers, or by one or more labor unions of similar employee organizations, or by one or more employers and one or more labor unions or similar employee organizations, which trust or trustees shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure employees of the employers or members of the unions or organizations for the benefit of persons other than the employers or the unions or organizations, subject to the following requirements:

(1) (a) The persons eligible for coverage shall be all of the employees of the employers or all of the members of the unions or organizations, or all of any class or classes thereof.

(b) The policy may define "employee" to include:

(i) The employees of one or more subsidiary corporations;

(ii) The employees, individual proprietors, and partners of one or more affiliated corporations, proprietorships or partnerships if the business of the employer and of the affiliated corporations, proprietorships or partnerships is under common control;

(iii) Retired employees, former employees and directors of a corporate employer; and

(iv) The trustees or their employees, or both, if their duties are principally connected with the trusteeship.

(2) The premium for the policy shall be paid from funds contributed by the employer or employers of the insured persons, or by the union or unions or similar employee organizations, or by both, or from funds contributed by the insured persons or from both the insured persons and the employers or unions or similar employee organizations.

(3) Except as provided in Paragraph (4), a policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured persons specifically for their insurance must insure all eligible persons, except those who reject coverage in writing.

(4) An insurer may exclude or limit the coverage under the policy on any person as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer unless otherwise prohibited by any other applicable law or regulations adopted by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Under HIPAA, insurers that issue or offer to issue certain policies of health insurance coverage in the group market may not exclude or limit eligibility for coverage to individuals or their dependents based on a health status-related factor. A health status-related factor, as defined under HIPAA, includes evidence of individual insurability. Section 9 of this Act provides authority for the commissioner to adopt regulations related to enrollment and eligibility for coverage consistent with HIPAA for those groups and policies subject to HIPAA requirements.

E. (1) A policy issued to an association or to a trust or to the trustees of a fund established by an association or associations otherwise eligible for issuance of a policy under this subsection and maintained, directly or indirectly, by the association or associations for the benefit of members of one or more associations.

(2) (a) An association shall not be controlled by an insurer as evidenced by the operation of the association.

(b) The following factors may be used as evidence to determine whether an association is an insurer-operated association; however, the presence of these factors shall not serve to limit or be dispositive of such a determination:

(i) Common board members, officers, executives or employees;

(ii) Common ownership of the insurer and the association or other eligible group; or

(iii) Common use of the same office space or equipment utilized by the insurer to transact insurance.

(3) An association may use the solicitation of insurance as one of its methods to obtain new members.

(4) The association or associations shall:

(a) Have at the outset a minimum of 100 persons;

(b) Have a shared or common purpose that is not primarily a business or customer relationship;

(c) Have been organized and maintained in good faith primarily for purposes other than that of obtaining insurance;

(d) Have been in active existence for at least one year; and

(e) Have a constitution and by-laws that provide that:

(i) The association or associations hold regular meetings not less than annually to further the purposes of the members;

(ii) Except for credit unions, the association or associations collect dues or solicit contributions from members; and

(iii) Association members have voting privileges and representation on the governing board and committees.

(5) The policy shall be subject to the following requirements:

(a) The policy may insure members of the association or associations, employees of the association or associations or employees of members, or one or more of the preceding or all of any class or classes thereof for the benefit of persons other than the employee's employer.

(b) The premium for the policy shall be paid from funds contributed by the association or associations, or by employer members, or by both, or from funds contributed by the covered persons or from both the covered persons and the association, associations or employer members.

(c) Except as provided in Subparagraph (d) of this paragraph, a policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the covered persons specifically for their insurance must insure all eligible persons, except those who reject coverage in writing.

(d) An insurer may exclude or limit the coverage on any individual as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer unless otherwise prohibited by any other applicable law or regulations adopted by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Under HIPAA, insurers that issue or offer to issue a health benefit plan through a bona fide association may not exclude or limit coverage to an individual or a dependent based on a health status-related factor. A health status-related factor, as defined under HIPAA, includes evidence of individual insurability. Section 9 of this Act provides authority for the commissioner to adopt regulations related to enrollment and eligibility for coverage consistent with HIPAA for those groups and policies subject to HIPAA requirements.

(6) (a) In determining whether an association meets the standards set forth in this subsection, the commissioner shall consider whether the association's primary method of obtaining new members is not through, or in conjunction with, the solicitation of insurance.

(b) If the commissioner determines that an association uses the solicitation of insurance as its primary method of obtaining new members, the commissioner shall not use this determination as the sole criterion for the disapproval of a group under this subsection.

(7) The provisions of Paragraphs (4)(b) and (c) and (6)(a) shall not apply to any association that made available group health insurance to any of its members prior to [insert effective date for the revisions to Paragraphs (4)(b) and (c) and (6)(a)]. However, for any such association policy that would not otherwise be eligible for issuance under this subsection, the insurer shall disclose its compensation, as required by Section 6 of this Act and shall disclose the following:

(a) All costs related to joining and maintaining membership in the association, such as the membership processing fees, the initial association membership fee and the amount of the annual association dues;

(b) That membership fees or dues are in addition to the policy premium;

(c) That the association holds the master contract;

(d) That the premium charged and the terms and conditions of coverage are determined between the association and the insurer; and

(e) That the premium and the terms and conditions of coverage may be changed by agreement of the association group policyholder and the insurer, without the consent of the individual certificate holder.

(8) If an insurer collects membership fees or dues on behalf of an association, the insurer shall disclose to the members of the association that the insurer is billing and collecting membership fees and dues on behalf of the association.

Drafting Note: Any state adopting this Act that has relaxed rate or form requirements for association group policies and such policies have been or are expected to be a significant portion of the state's health insurance market may wish to consider evening the playing field for insurers writing in the individual market by, for example, similarly relaxing the requirements for individual policies.

F. A policy issued to a credit union or to a trustee or trustees or agent designated by two (2) or more credit unions, which credit union, trustee, trustees, or agent shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure members of the credit union or credit unions for the benefit of persons other than the credit union or credit unions, trustee or trustees, or agent or any of their officials, subject to the following requirements:

(1) The members eligible for coverage shall be all of the members of the credit union or credit unions, or all of any class or classes thereof.

(2) The premium for the policy shall be paid by the policyholder from the credit union's funds and, except as provided in Paragraph (3), must insure all eligible members.

(3) An insurer may exclude or limit the coverage on any member as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer.

G. A policy issued to cover persons in a group where that group is specifically described by a law of this state as a group that may be covered for group life insurance. The provisions of the law relating to eligibility and evidence of individual insurability shall apply.

Section 5. Policies Issued Out of State or to Groups Not Meeting the Requirements of Section 4

Group health insurance coverage offered to a resident of this state or in connection with employment within this state under a group health insurance policy issued to a group other than a group described in Section 4 shall be subject to the following requirements:

A. For any such coverage to be delivered in this state the commissioner must find that:

(1) The issuance of the policy is not contrary to the best interest of the public;

(2) The issuance of the policy would result in economies of acquisition or administration; and

(3) The benefits are reasonable in relation to the premiums charged.

B. For any such coverage that is being offered in this state by an insurer under a policy issued in another state, the commissioner in this state or the state in which the policy is issued, having requirements substantially similar to those contained in Subsection A, must make a determination that the requirements of Subsection A have been met.

Drafting Note: Alternative language to Subsection B:

Alternative 1. This alternative consists of Subsection B above and Subsection C below.

B. (1) The insurer shall file with the commissioner for information purposes:

(a) A copy of the group master contract;

(b) A copy of the statute of the state where the policy is issued, authorizing the issuance of the policy under the same or similar statute;

(c) Evidence of approval in the state where the policy is issued; and

(d) Copies of all supportive material used by the insurer to secure approval of the policy in that state including the documentation in Subsection A.

(2) The commissioner, at any time subsequent to receipt of the information required under Paragraph (1), after finding that the requirements of Subsection A have not been met, may order the insurer to stop marketing the coverage in this state.

Alternative 2. Under this alternative the language in this Subsection B below may be used as a substitute for the language in Subsection B above.

B. (1) For any such coverage that is being offered in this state by an insurer under a policy issued in another state, the commissioner must make a determination that the requirements of Subsection A have been met.

(2) The insurer shall file with the commissioner:

(a) A copy of the group master contract;

(b) A copy of the statute of the state where the policy is issued, authorizing the issuance of the group policy under the same or similar statute;

(c) Evidence of approval in the state where the policy is issued; and

(d) Copies of all supportive material used by the insurer to secure approval of the policy in that state including the documentation required in Subsection A.

(3) If the commissioner has not made a determination within thirty (30) days of filing by the insurer, the requirements shall be deemed to have been met.

(4) The commissioner, at any time subsequent to receipt of the information required under Paragraph (2), after finding that the requirements of Subsection A have not been met, may order the insurer to stop marketing the coverage in this state.

Drafting Note: States should adopt Subsections C and D below regardless of which alternative a state chooses to adopt for Subsection B above.

C. The premium for the policy shall be paid either from the policyholder's funds or from funds contributed by the covered persons, or from both.

D. An insurer may exclude or limit the coverage under the policy on any person as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer unless otherwise prohibited by any other applicable law or regulations adopted by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Under HIPAA, insurers that issue or offer to issue certain policies of health insurance coverage in the group market may not exclude or limit eligibility for coverage to individuals or their dependents based on a health status-related factor. A health status-related factor, as defined under HIPAA, includes evidence of individual insurability. Section 9 of this Act provides authority for the commissioner to adopt regulations related to enrollment and eligibility for coverage consistent with HIPAA for those groups and policies subject to HIPAA requirements.

Section 6. Notice of Compensation

A. (1) With respect to an individual, blanket or franchise policy which, if issued through or in conjunction with a sponsoring or endorsing entity, would not qualify under Section 4A, B, C, D, E or F of this Act, the insurer shall distribute a written notice of compensation to prospective insureds if the insurer will or may pay compensation to a sponsoring or endorsing entity.

(2) (a) With respect to a policy issued on a group basis to a group in compliance with Section 4E of this Act, the insurer shall distribute a written notice of compensation to prospective insureds if the insurer will or may pay compensation to a policyholder or sponsoring or endorsing entity in the case of a group policy.

(b) If the compensation is solely for services performed and is not directly or indirectly for sponsoring or endorsing the insurer or any of the insurer's products, written notice of compensation is not required for:

Group Health Insurance Standards Model Act

(i) Any compensation to the insurer for services provided to the policyholder or the sponsoring or endorsing entity; or

(ii) Any compensation to the policyholder or sponsoring or endorsing entity.

B. The notice required under Subsection A shall be placed on or accompany any application or enrollment form provided to prospective insureds.

C. The notice shall be provided, whether:

(1) The compensation is direct or indirect; or

(2) The compensation is paid to or retained by:

(a) The policyholder or sponsoring or endorsing entity; or

(b) A third party at the direction of the policyholder or sponsoring or endorsing entity, or an entity affiliated by way of ownership, contract or employment.

D. For purposes of this section, "sponsoring or endorsing entity" means an organization that has arranged for the offering of a plan of insurance in a manner that communicates that eligibility for participation in the plan is dependent upon affiliation with the organization or that it encourages participation in the plan.

Section 7. Dependent Group Health Insurance

A. Except for a policy issued under Section 4B of this Act, a group health insurance policy may be extended to insure the family members and dependents of the employees or members , or any class or classes thereof, if:

(1) The premium for the insurance is paid either from funds contributed by the employer, union, association or other person to whom the policy has been issued, or from funds contributed by the covered persons, or from both.

(2) Except as provided in Subsection B, a policy on which no part of the premium for the family members or dependents coverage is to be derived from funds contributed by the covered persons shall insure all eligible employees or members with respect to their family members or dependents, or any class or classes thereof.

B. An insurer may exclude or limit the coverage under the policy on any family member or dependent as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer unless otherwise prohibited by any other applicable law or regulations adopted by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Under HIPAA, insurers that issue or offer to issue certain policies of health insurance coverage in the group market may not exclude or limit eligibility for coverage to individuals or their dependents based on a health status-related factor. A health status-related factor, as defined under HIPAA, includes evidence of individual insurability. Section 9 of this Act provides authority for the commissioner to adopt regulations related to enrollment and eligibility for coverage consistent with HIPAA for those groups and policies subject to HIPAA requirements.

Section 8. Group Health Insurance Standard Provisions

A. A group health insurance policy shall not be delivered in this state unless it contains in substance the provisions of this section, or provisions that, in the opinion of the commissioner, are more favorable to the persons insured, or at least as favorable to the persons insured and more favorable to the policyholder, provided that:

(1) Subsections F and H shall not apply to policies insuring debtors;

(2) The standard provisions required for individual health insurance policies shall not apply to group health insurance policies; and

(3) If any provision of this section is in whole or in part inapplicable to or inconsistent with the coverage provided by a particular form of policy, the insurer, with the approval of the commissioner, shall omit from the policy any inapplicable provision or part of a provision, and shall modify any inconsistent provision or part of the provision in such manner as to make the provision as contained in the policy consistent with the coverage provided by the policy.

B. A provision that the policyholder is entitled to a grace period of thirty-one (31) days for the payment of any premium due except the first. During the grace period the policy shall continue in force, unless the policyholder has given the insurer written notice of discontinuance in advance of the date of discontinuance and in accordance with the terms of the policy. The policy may provide that the policyholder shall be liable to the insurer for the payment of a pro rata premium for the time the policy was in force during the grace period.

C. A provision that the validity of the policy shall not be contested except for nonpayment of premiums, after it has been in force for two (2) years from its date of issue. Absent a showing of intentional fraud, no statement made by any person covered under the policy relating to insurability shall be used in contesting the validity of the insurance with respect to which the statement was made after the insurance has been in force prior to the contest for a period of two (2) years during the person's lifetime nor unless the statement is contained in a written instrument signed by the person making the statement. However, no such provision shall preclude the assertion at any time of defenses based upon the person's ineligibility for coverage under the policy or upon other provisions in the policy.

D. A provision that a copy of the application, if any, of the policyholder shall be attached to the policy when issued, that all statements made by the policyholder or by the persons insured shall be deemed representations and not warranties, and that no statement made by any person insured shall be used in any contest unless a copy of the instrument containing the statement is or has been furnished to the person or, in the event of the death or incapacity of the insured person, to the individual's beneficiary or personal representative.

E. A provision setting forth the conditions, if any, under which the insurer reserves the right to require a person eligible for insurance to furnish evidence of individual insurability satisfactory to the insurer as a condition to part or all of the individual's coverage.

F. (1) Except as provided in Paragraph (2), a provision specifying the additional exclusions or limitations, if any, applicable under the policy with respect to a disease or physical condition of a person, not otherwise excluded from the person's coverage by name or specific description effective on the date of the person's loss, that existed prior to the effective date of the person's coverage under the policy. Except for disability income policies, any such exclusion or limitation may only apply to a disease or physical condition for which medical advice or treatment was received by the person during the twelve (12) months prior to the effective date of the person's coverage. In no event shall the exclusion or limitation apply to loss incurred commencing after the earlier of (a) the end of a continuous period of twelve (12) months commencing on or after the effective date of the person's coverage during all of which the person has received no medical advice or treatment in connection with such disease or physical condition; and (b) the end of the two-year period commencing on the effective date of the person's coverage. For disability income policies, any such exclusion or limitation may only apply to a disease or physical condition for which medical advice or treatment was received by the person during the twenty-four (24) months prior to the effective date of the person's coverage. In no event shall the exclusion or limitation apply to a disability commencing after the end of the two-year period starting on the effective date of the person's coverage.

(2) A policy that is subject to the preexisting condition exclusion requirements in Section 2701 of the Public Health Service Act, as added by Pub. L. No. 104-191, shall have a provision specifying any preexisting condition exclusions or limitations consistent with those requirements except as otherwise provided by state law.

Drafting Note: HIPAA imposes limitations on the ability of insurers offering coverage in the group market to impose preexisting condition exclusions on plan participants and beneficiaries. Language has been added to Subsection F to carve out those group policies that are subject to those restrictions under HIPAA and any provisions of state law that may be more stringent than HIPAA with respect to preexisting condition exclusion and limitation requirements.

G. If the premiums or benefits vary by age, there shall be a provision specifying an equitable adjustment of premiums or of benefits, or both, to be made in the event the age of a covered person has been misstated. The provision shall contain a clear statement of the method of adjustment to be used.

H. A provision that the insurer will issue to the master policyholder in electronic or paper form in accordance with any communications preferences of the master policyholder for delivery to each person insured in the group an individual certificate setting forth a statement as to the insurance coverage to which that person is entitled, to whom the insurance benefits are payable, and a statement as to a family member's or dependent's coverage. If family members or dependents are included in the coverage, the insurer need only issue one certificate to each family unit.

I. If the insurer requires prior notice of a claim, a provision that written notice of a claim must be given to the insurer within twenty (20) days after the occurrence or commencement of any loss covered by the policy. Failure to give notice within that time shall not invalidate nor reduce any claim if it can be shown not to have been reasonably possible to give notice and that notice was given as soon as was reasonably possible. Any notices that may be required to be provided under this subsection may be provided in electronic or paper form in accordance with any communications preferences of the person making the claim. If the person making the claim has not made any communications preferences, then any required notices shall be provided in paper form to the person's last known address.

J. If the insurer requires prior notice of a claim, a provision that the insurer will furnish to the person making a claim, or to the policyholder for delivery to the person, such forms as are usually furnished by it for filing proof of loss. If the forms are not furnished before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the insurer received notice of a claim under the policy, the person making the claim shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of the policy as to proof of loss upon submitting within the time fixed in the policy for filing proof of loss, written proof covering the occurrence, character, and extent of the loss for which claim is made. Any forms that may be required to be furnished under this subsection may be in electronic or paper form in accordance with any communications preferences of the person making the claim or the policyholder. If the person making the claim has not made any communications preferences, then any required notices shall be provided in paper form to the person's last known address.

K. A provision that, in the case of a claim for loss of time for disability, written proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer within ninety (90) days after the commencement of the period for which the insurer is liable, and that subsequent written proofs of the continuance of disability must be furnished to the insurer at such intervals as the insurer may reasonably require, and that, in the case of claim for any other loss, written proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer within ninety (90) days after the date of loss. Failure to furnish proof within that time shall not invalidate nor reduce any claim if it was not reasonably possible to furnish proof within that time, provided the proof is furnished as soon as reasonably possible and in no event, except in the absence of legal capacity of the claimant, later than one year from the time proof is otherwise required. Any forms that may be required to be furnished under this subsection may be in electronic or paper form in accordance with any communications preferences of the person making the claim. If the person making the claim has not made any communications preferences, then any required notices shall be provided in paper form to the person's last known address.

L. A provision that all benefits payable under the policy, other than benefits for loss of time, will be payable not more than sixty (60) days after receipt of proof, and that, subject to due proof of loss, all accrued benefits payable under the policy for loss of time will be paid not less frequently than monthly during the continuance of the period for which the insurer is liable, and that any balance remaining unpaid at the termination of the period will be paid as soon as possible after receipt of proof.

M. A provision that the insurer at its own expense shall have the right and opportunity to:

(1) Examine the person of the individual for whom claim is made when and as often as it may reasonably require during the pendency of claim under the policy; and

(2) Make an autopsy in case of death where it is not prohibited by law.

N. A provision that no action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on the policy prior to the expiration of sixty (60) days after proof of loss has been filed in accordance with the requirement of the policy and that no action shall be brought at all unless brought within three (3) years from the expiration of the time within which proof of loss is required by the policy.

O. In the case of a policy insuring debtors, a provision that the insurer will furnish the policyholder for delivery to each debtor insured under the policy a certificate of insurance describing the coverage and specifying that the benefits payable shall first be applied to reduce or extinguish the indebtedness.

Section 9. Regulations

The commissioner may adopt regulations related to enrollment or eligibility for coverage under a group policy to be issued under Section 4A, C, D or E of this Act, Section 5 of this Act or Section 7 this Act with respect to an individual or dependent of an individual based on the individual's or dependent's evidence of individual insurability. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Drafting Note: Under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), insurers that issue or offer to issue certain policies of health insurance coverage in the group market, including bona fide associations, may not exclude or limit eligibility for coverage to individuals or their dependents based on a health status-related factor. A health status-related factor, as defined under HIPAA, includes evidence of individual insurability. This section provides authority for the commissioner to adopt regulations consistent with HIPAA. The commissioner may adopt the provisions of the NAIC Nondiscrimination in Health Insurance Coverage in the Group Market Model Regulation.

GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE STANDARDS MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE STANDARDS MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2007

GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE STANDARDS MODEL ACT (#100)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

This model was identified in 2004 as in need of revision as part of the NAIC model law review initiative. The revisions make the model consistent with NAIC model law drafting requirements and make other changes necessary to update the model since it was last amended in 1988 to reflect HIPAA's group nondiscrimination and preexisting condition requirements. The revised model also includes new provisions related to true group associations. These revisions tightened up the requirements to help ensure that these associations are legitimate entities.

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model and states participating:

Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force

States Participating:

Wisconsin, Chair	Montana
Arkansas	Nebraska
California	Nevada
Colorado	New Hampshire
Delaware	Ohio
Florida	Oregon
Idaho	Rhode Island
Kansas	South Dakota
Kentucky	Utah
Maine	Vermont
Missouri	Virginia

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge was first given in January 2004:

Review and revise, as necessary, NAIC model laws and regulations identified as in need of review and revision as a result of the NAIC model law review initiative. Report annually.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The revisions, and comments received on them, were reviewed and discussed by the Task Force.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

Each draft of the proposed revisions to the model was circulated to interested parties and posted on the NAIC website. Interested parties were given the opportunity to submit comments. The Task Force reviewed and considered all comments received.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the due process and the group's response.

There was one item of controversy. It concerned whether additional requirements should be added to the model with respect to permitted association groups. After considerable discussion, the Task Force agreed on a compromise. The Task Force agreed to add the additional requirements but allow a period of time for those associations that do not meet the new requirements to come into compliance. In addition, there was considerable debate about what those additional requirements should be for associations to be considered "true" groups. After several meetings, a compromise was reached.

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE MANDATORY CONVERSION PRIVILEGE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the Group Health Insurance Mandatory Conversion Privilege Act.

Drafting Note: In some states existing statutes may provide the commissioner with sufficient authority to promulgate the provisions of this Act in a regulation format. States should review existing authority and determine whether to adopt this model as an act or adapt it to promulgate as a regulation.

Section 2. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

B. "Covered person" means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee or other individual participating in a health benefit plan.

C. "Dependent" shall be defined in the same manner as in [insert reference to state insurance law defining dependent].

Drafting Note: States without a statutory definition of dependent may wish to use the definition below. If using the suggested definition, states should insert a maximum age for student dependents that is consistent with other state laws. States also may wish to include other individuals defined as dependents by state law. The term child below is not intended to be limited to natural children of the employee.

"Dependent" means a spouse, an unmarried child under the age of [nineteen (19)] years, an unmarried child who is a full-time student under the age of [insert maximum age] and who is financially dependent upon the employee or member, and an unmarried child of any age who is medically certified as disabled and dependent upon the employee or member.

D. "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

E. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a health condition, illness, injury or disease.

F. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services.

Drafting Note: States that license health maintenance organizations pursuant to statutes other than the insurance statutes and regulations, such as the public health laws, will want to reference the applicable statutes instead of, or in addition to, the insurance laws and regulations.

G. "Health maintenance organization" means a person that undertakes to provide or arrange for the delivery of health care services on a prepaid basis, except for a covered person's responsibility for copayments, coinsurance or deductibles.

H. "Medicare" means Title XVIII of the United States Social Security Act as added by the Social Security Amendments of 1965 or as later amended or superseded.

Section 3. Applicability and Scope

A. Except as provided in Subsection B, this Act shall apply to any group health benefit plan delivered or issued for delivery in this state.

B. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to a health benefit plan that provides coverage only for a specified disease, specified accident or accident-only coverage, credit, dental, disability income, hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity coverage, long-term care insurance, as defined by [insert reference in state law that defines long-term care insurance], vision care or any other supplemental benefit or to a Medicare supplement policy, coverage under a plan through Medicare, Medicaid or the federal employees health benefits program, any coverage issued under Chapter 55 of Title 10, U.S. Code and any coverage issued as supplemental to that coverage, any coverage issued as supplemental to liability insurance, workers' compensation or similar insurance, automobile medical-payment insurance or any insurance under which benefits are payable with or without regard to fault, whether written on a group blanket or individual basis.

Section 4. Conversion Privilege

A. Any health carrier providing coverage under a group health benefit plan shall provide that an employee or member whose coverage under the plan has been terminated for any reason, including discontinuance of the group health benefit plan in its entirety or with respect to an insured class, and who has been continuously covered under the group health benefit plan and under any group health benefit plan providing similar benefits which it replaces for at least three (3) months immediately prior to termination is entitled to have issued to him or her a converted policy, without evidence of insurability, subject to the provisions of this Act.

B. A health carrier shall include a notice of the right of conversion in each certificate of coverage.

C. An employee or member or a dependent of an employee or member shall not be entitled to a converted policy if termination under the group health benefit plan occurred because:

(1) The employee or member failed to pay any required premium or contribution;

(2) The employee or member or dependent performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud in connection with the coverage;

(3) The employee or member or dependent made an intentional misrepresentation of a material fact under the terms of coverage; or

(4) The terminated coverage under the group health benefit plan was replaced by similar coverage within thirty-one (31) days after the date of termination.

D. Written application for the converted policy shall be made and the first premium paid to the health carrier no later than thirty-one (31) days after the date of termination of coverage under the group health benefit plan.

E. The effective date of the converted policy shall be the day following the date of termination of coverage under the group health benefit plan.

Section 5. Conversion Premium

A. Subject to Subsection B, the initial premium for the converted policy for the first twelve (12) months and subsequent renewal premiums shall be determined in accordance with the health carrier's premium rates applicable to individually underwritten standard risks, to the age and class of risk of each individual to be covered under the converted policy and to the type and amount of coverage provided. The experience under converted policies shall not be an acceptable basis for establishing rates for converted policies.

Alternate No. 1

B. If a health carrier experiences incurred losses, for a period of two (2) years, on conversion policies that have been in force for at least one year, which exceed earned premiums by more than twenty percent (20%), the health carrier may file with the commissioner amended renewal rates for the subsequent year, that will produce a loss ratio of not less than 120%.

Drafting Note: The above subsection should be inserted in states that have rate review authority.

Alternate No. 2

B. If a health carrier experiences incurred losses, for a period of two (2) years, on conversion policies that have been in force for at least one year, which exceed earned premiums by more than twenty percent (20%), the health carrier may amend renewal rates for the subsequent year, that will produce a loss ratio of not less than 120%.

Drafting Note: The above subsection should be inserted in states that do not have rate review authority.

C. Conditions pertaining to health status shall not be an acceptable basis for classification for the purposes of this section. The frequency of premium payment shall be the frequency customarily required by the health carrier for the policy form and plan selected, provided that the health carrier shall not require premium payments less frequently than quarterly.

Drafting Note: Because converted policies generally comprise a substandard class of risk, rates based on the experience of converted policies would reflect substandard morbidity. As a result, rates for policies that provide an acceptable level of benefits may very well require premiums that would be out of reach for the average converting person. In effect, such rates are based on the assumption that the converting person is a substandard risk. Such an assumption runs counter to the intent of this model law. It serves no purpose to require issue of a converted policy without evidence of insurability if the insurer is allowed to automatically assume the converting person is substandard and charge an accordingly high premium.

It is understood that premiums based on standard morbidity assumptions will generally be inadequate as is the case in life insurance conversions. It is also understood that the rate inadequacy may be handled in much the same manner as life insurance conversions by spreading the extra cost over the group business through conversion charges to the group or through an extra charge in the group premium.

Section 6. Scope of Coverage

The converted policy shall cover the employee or member and any dependents, who were covered under the group health benefit plan on the date of termination of coverage. At the option of the health carrier, a separate converted policy may be issued to cover any dependent.

Section 7. Exceptions to Guaranteed Coverage

A. A health carrier shall not be required to issue a converted policy covering an individual if the individual:

(1) Is or could be covered by Medicare;

(2) Is covered for similar benefits by another individual health benefit plan; or

(3) Is or could be covered for similar benefits under any arrangement of coverage for individuals in a group, whether on an insured or uninsured basis or similar benefits are provided or are available to the individual in accordance with any state or federal law and together with the converted policy's benefits would result in overinsurance according to the health carrier's standards for overinsurance.

B. The health carrier's standards for overinsurance, referenced under Subsection A(3), shall bear some reasonable relationship to actual health care service costs in the area in which the individual lives at the time of conversion and shall be filed with the commissioner prior to their use in denying coverage.

Section 8. Information Requested by Health Carrier

A converted policy may include a provision permitting the health carrier to request information in advance of any premium due date of the policy of any individual covered under the policy as to whether:

A. The individual is covered for similar benefits under another health benefit plan or any other plan or program;

B. The individual is covered for similar benefits under any arrangement of coverage for individuals in a group, whether on an insured or uninsured basis; or

C. Similar benefits are provided for or available to the individual in accordance with the requirements of any state or federal law.

Section 9. Exceptions to Guaranteed Renewal

A. A converted policy may permit the health carrier to refuse to renew the policy or the coverage of any individual covered under the policy for any of the following reasons only:

(1) The individual failed to pay premiums or contributions in accordance with the terms of the converted policy, including timeliness requirements;

(2) The individual performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud in connection with coverage;

(3) The individual made an intentional misrepresentation of a material fact under the terms of coverage;

(4) For a network plan, the individual no longer lives, resides or works in the health carrier's service area or the area for which the health carrier is authorized to do business, provided coverage is terminated without regard to any health status-related factor relating to any covered individual; or

(5) Any other reason approved by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: As noted in the preamble to the interim final rules implementing the individual market provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), "a conversion policy is an individual policy, not a group policy, even though prior group coverage is a prerequisite to qualifying for the conversion policy." 62 Fed. Reg. 16987 (April 8, 1997). As such, with respect to Paragraph (5), states should be aware that Public Health Service Act (PHSA) Section 2742, as added by HIPAA, lists specific exceptions to guaranteed renewability in the individual market. States may want to review PHSA Section 2742 prior to adding other exceptions to guaranteed renewal. States also should be aware that PHSA Section 2742 does not contain an exception to guaranteed renewability in the case of an individual attaining eligibility for Medicare. However, also as noted in the preamble to the interim final rules, if permitted by state law, policies that are sold to individuals before they obtain Medicare eligibility may contain coordination of benefit clauses that exclude payment under the policy to the extent that Medicare pays. 62 Fed. Reg. at 16989 (April 8, 1997).

B. For purposes of this section:

(1) "Health status-related factor" means any of the following factors:

(a) Health status;

(b) Medical condition, including both physical and mental illness;

(c) Claims experience;

(d) Receipt of health care;

(e) Medical history;

(f) Genetic information;

(g) Evidence of insurability, including conditions arising out of acts of domestic violence; or

(h) Disability.

Drafting Note: This definition tracks language contained in PHSA Section 2702(a), as amended by HIPAA.

(2) "Network plan" means a health benefit plan issued by a health carrier under which the financing and delivery of health care services, including items and services paid for as health care services, are provided, in whole or in part, through a defined set of providers under contract with the health carrier.

Section 10. Level of Benefits to be Offered

A health carrier shall issue a converted policy that conforms to the requirements as prescribed by the commissioner.

Section 11. Excess Benefits

A health carrier shall not be required to issue a converted policy that provides benefits in excess of those provided under the group health benefit plan from which conversion is made.

Section 12. Preexisting Condition Provision

The converted policy shall not exclude a preexisting condition not excluded by the group health benefit plan. However, the converted policy may provide that any hospital, surgical or medical benefits payable under the policy may be reduced by the amount of any such benefits payable under the group health benefit plan after the termination of the individual's group coverage. The converted policy may also provide that during the first policy year the benefits payable under the converted policy, together with the benefits payable under the group health benefit plan, shall not exceed the benefits that would have been payable had the individual's coverage under the group health benefit plan remained in force and effect.

Section 13. Alternative Plans

A health carrier may offer alternative plans for group health benefit plan conversion in addition to those required by this Act.

Section 14. Other Conversion Privileges

A. If coverage would have been continued for an employee under the group health benefit plan following the employee's retirement prior to the time the employee is or could be covered by Medicare and provided that the employee would have been eligible for continuation of coverage under the group health benefit plan, the employee may elect, instead of continuing coverage under the group health benefit plan, to have the same conversion rights as would apply had the employee's coverage under the group health benefit plan terminated at retirement by reason of termination of employment or membership.

B. The conversion privilege provided in this Act shall be available to:

(1) The surviving spouse at the death of an employee or member, with respect to the spouse and any dependent children whose coverage under the group health benefit plan terminates by reason of that death or, if the group health benefit plan provides for continuation of dependent coverage following the employee's or member's death, at the end of the continuation coverage;

(2) Each surviving dependent child at the death of an employee or member whose coverage under the group health benefit plan terminates by reason of that death or, if the group health benefit plan provides for continuation of dependent coverage following the employee's death, at the end of the continuation coverage;

(3) The spouse of an employee or member upon the termination of coverage of the spouse under the group health benefit plan because the spouse becomes ineligible for coverage under that plan because of divorce, separation or otherwise, while the employee or member remains covered under the group health benefit plan, with respect to the spouse and any dependent child whose coverage under the group health benefit plan terminates at the same time; or

(4) A dependent child solely with respect to the dependent child only upon termination of the dependent child's coverage under the group health benefit plan by reason of ceasing to be eligible for coverage under the group health benefit plan, if a conversion privilege is not otherwise provided under the provisions of this Act with respect to the termination.

Section 15. Reduction of Coverage Due to Medicare

A converted policy may provide for reduction of coverage on any individual upon the individual's eligibility for coverage under Medicare or under any other state or federal law providing for benefits similar to those provided by the converted policy.

Section 16. Group Coverage Instead of Individual Coverage

A health carrier may elect to provide coverage under a group health benefit plan instead of issuing a converted policy.

Section 17. Out-of-State Conversions

A converted policy that is delivered outside this state shall be on a form which could be delivered in any other jurisdiction as a converted policy had the group health benefit plan been issued in that jurisdiction.

Section 18. Effective Date

The provisions of this Act shall take effect [insert a date not less than twelve (12) months after the date of enactment] and shall apply to group health benefit plans delivered, issued for delivery or amended on or after this date.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2005

GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE MANDATORY CONVERSION PRIVILEGE MODEL ACT (#105)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

This model was identified last year as in need of revision as part of the NAIC model law review initiative. The revisions make the model consistent with NAIC model law drafting requirements and make other changes necessary to update the model since its adoption in 1976.

2. Name of group responsible for drafting the model:

Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force

States Participating:	Wisconsin, Chair	Missouri
	Arkansas	Nebraska
	California	Nevada
	Colorado	New Hampshire
	Delaware	North Carolina
	Florida	Ohio
	Idaho	Rhode Island
	Iowa	South Dakota
	Kansas	Utah
	Kentucky	Vermont
	Maine	Virginia

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge given in January 2004:

Review and revise, as necessary, NAIC model laws and regulations identified as in need of review and revision as a result of the NAIC model law review initiative. Report annually.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The revisions, and comments received on them, were reviewed and discussed by the task force.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

Each draft of the proposed revisions to the model was circulated to interested parties and posted on the NAIC website. Interested parties were given the opportunity to submit comments. The task force reviewed and considered all comments received.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the due process and the group's response.

There were no items of controversy.

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

SMALL GROUP MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL ACT

Editor's Note: Provided for your convenience are references to the corresponding sections of the federal Public Health Service Act (PHSA). A key to the PHSA section titles appears at the end of the model. Any references to PHSA sections, including the key, are not intended to be adopted in legislation.

Section 1. Short Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as the [Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act].

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose and intent of this Act is to set out the requirements for guaranteed availability, guaranteed renewability and premium rating in the small group market and provide for the establishment of coverage and other benefit requirements in the small group market.

Drafting Note: The provisions of this Act are consistent with the provisions of the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) Public Law 111-148), as amended by the federal Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-152) (and with Title XXVII of the federal Public Health Service Act as amended by those statutes) and, as applicable, the regulations issued related to provisions of the ACA. However, states should be aware that the federal preemption standards permit states to impose more stringent, consumer protection requirements.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act:

A. "Bona fide association" means an association that meets all of the following criteria:

(1) Serves a single profession that requires a significant amount of education, training or experience, or a license or certificate from a state authority to practice that profession;

(2) Has been actively in existence for five (5) years;

(3) Has a constitution and by-laws or other analogous governing documents;

(4) Has been formed and maintained in good faith for purposes other than obtaining insurance;

(5) Is not owned or controlled by a carrier or affiliated with a carrier;

(6) Does not condition membership in the association on any health status-related factor;

(7) Has at least 1,000 members if it is a national association; 500 members if it is a state association; or 200 members if it is a local association;

(8) All members and dependents of members are eligible for coverage regardless of any health status-related factor;

(9) Does not make a health benefit plan offered through the association available other than in connection with a member of the association;

(10) Is governed by a board of directors and sponsors annual meetings of its members; and

(11) Producers only market association memberships, accept applications for membership, or sign up members in the professional association where the subject individuals are actively engaged in, or directly related to, the profession represented by the association.

Drafting Note: This definition of "bona fide association" is narrower than the definition of "bona fide association" contained in Section 2791(d)(3) of the PHSA because of the requirement of paragraph (1) above that the professional association serve a single profession. Specifically, Section 2791(d)(3) of the PHSA defines "bona fide association," as an association, which: (1) has been actively in existence for at least 5 years; (2) has been formed and maintained in good faith for purposes other than obtaining insurance; (3) does not condition membership in the association on any health status-related factor relating to an individual (including an employee of an employer or a dependent of an employee); (4) makes health insurance coverage offered through the association available to all members regardless of any health status-related factor relating to such members (or individuals eligible for coverage through a member); (5) does not make health insurance offered through the association available other than in connection with a member of the association; and (6) meets such additional requirements as may be imposed under state law. Because the definition of "bona fide association" contained in Section 2791(d)(3) explicitly permits the states to impose additional requirements, the narrower definition of "bona fide association" used in this Act does not conflict with or prevent the application of the federal law. Therefore, the states can elect to adopt either version of this definition.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the term "bona fide association" is used in this Act in connection with providing an exception to the guaranteed renewability requirements in Section 7B(7) of this Act. Section 7B(7) of this Act only permits a health carrier to non-renew health coverage for an employer whose association membership ceases if the association is a "bona fide association" the employer's membership in the association was the basis on which the coverage is provided, and the coverage is terminated uniformly for all employers leaving the association without regard to any health status-related factor relating to any covered person. Associations that are not "bona fide associations" are not eligible for this exception. The definition of "bona fide association" does not impact how states have chosen to define "associations" for other purposes. Also, Section 7F of this Act provides, with respect to modification of coverage at renewal, different treatment related to coverage that is only offered through one or more "bona fide associations."

B. "Carrier" or "health carrier" means any entity licensed, or required to be licensed, by the Department of Insurance that offers health benefit plans covering eligible employees of one or more small employers pursuant to this Act. For the purposes of this Act, carrier includes an insurance company, [insert appropriate reference for a prepaid hospital or medical care plan], [insert appropriate reference for a fraternal benefit society], a health maintenance organization, and any other entity providing a plan of health insurance or health benefits subject to state insurance regulation.

C. "COBRA continuation provision" means any of the following:

(1) Section 4980B of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (IRC), other than subsection (f)(1) of such section insofar as it relates to pediatric vaccines;

(2) Part 6 of subtitle B of title I of ERISA, other than Section 609 of such Act; or

(3) Title XXII of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA).

D. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance.

Drafting Note: Use the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "Commissioner" appears. If the jurisdiction of certain health carriers, such as health maintenance organizations, lies with some state agency other than the insurance department, or if there is dual regulation, a state should add language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

E. "Covered benefits" or "benefits" mean those health care services to which an individual is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan.

F. "Covered person" means any individual eligible to receive covered benefits under the terms of the health benefit plan.

G. "Creditable coverage" means, with respect to an individual, health benefits or coverage provided under any of the following:

(1) A group health plan;

(2) A health benefit plan;

(3) Part A or Part B of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act (Medicare);

(4) Title XIX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid), other than coverage consisting solely of benefits under Section 1928 (the program for distribution of pediatric vaccines);

(5) Chapter 55 of Title 10, United States Code (medical and dental care for members and certain former members of the uniformed services, and for their dependents. For purposes of Title 10, U.S.C. Chapter 55, "uniformed services" means the armed forces and the Commissioned Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and of the Public Health Service);

(6) A medical care program of the Indian Health Service or of a tribal organization;

(7) A state health benefits risk pool;

(8) A health plan offered under Chapter 89 of Title 5, United States Code (Federal Employees Health Benefits Program (FEHBP));

(9) A public health plan, which for purposes of this act, means a plan established or maintained by a state, the United States government or a foreign country or any political subdivision of a state, the United States government or a foreign country that provides health insurance coverage to individuals enrolled in the plan;

(10) A health benefit plan under Section 5(e) of the Peace Corps Act (22 U.S.C. 2504(e)); or

(11) Title XXI of the Social Security Act (State Children's Health Insurance Program).

H. Except as otherwise may be defined for purposes of Section 8 of this Act, "dependent" shall be defined in the same manner as in [insert reference in state law defining dependent].

I. "Eligible employee" means an employee who works on a full-time basis with a normal work week of thirty (30) or more hours under a bona fide employer-employee relationship which was not established for the purpose of obtaining small group market health insurance coverage. At the employer's sole discretion, the eligibility criterion may be broadened to include part-time employees, as long as a standard of at least seventeen and one-half (17.5) hours per normal work week is applied uniformly among all of the employer's employees, and the eligibility criterion and the employees' work schedules are not established or adjusted by the employer because of any health status-related factor. The term includes a self-employed individual, a sole proprietor, a partner of a partnership, and may include an independent contractor, if the self-employed individual, sole proprietor, partner or independent contractor is included as an employee under a health benefit plan of a small employer, but does not include an employee who works on a temporary or substitute basis.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that this definition of "eligible employee" should be used for purposes of determining eligibility to participate in the plan as determined by the small employer and should not be used for purposes of determining whether an employer is a small employer. As noted in Subsection KK(c) of this section, all employees, as the term "employee" is defined in Subsection K of this section, must be counted, including part-time employees and other employees who may not be eligible for coverage through the employer (as the employer has determined). States should also be aware that the federal rules for health insurance exchanges, as published in the Federal Register March 27, 2012, exclude, for purposes of participating in the Small Business Health Options Program (SHOP) Exchange, groups whose only covered employees are sole proprietors, partners or other working owners.

J. "Eligible small employer" means a small employer that either:

(1) Has its principal place of business in this state and seeks to purchase small group market health insurance coverage in this state that will be available to all of the employer's eligible employees; or

(2) Seeks to purchase small group market health insurance coverage in this state that is available to all the employer's eligible employees whose primary worksite is in this state.

K. "Employee" has the meaning given such term under Section 3(6) of ERISA.

L. (1) "Essential health benefits" has the meaning under Section 1302(b) of the Federal Act and applicable regulations.

(2) "Essential health benefits" include:

(a) Ambulatory patient services,

(b) Emergency services;

(c) Hospitalization;

(d) Laboratory services;

(e) Maternity and newborn care;

(f) Mental health and substance abuse disorder services, including behavioral health treatment;

(g) Pediatric services, including oral and vision care;

(h) Prescription drugs;

(i) Preventive and wellness services and chronic disease management; and

(j) Rehabilitative and habilitative services and devices.

M. "Facility" means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including but not limited to hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings.

N. "Family member" means with respect to an individual employee:

(1) A dependent of the employee; and

(2) Any other individual who is a first-degree, second-degree, third-degree or fourth-degree relative of the employee or an individual described in paragraph (1).

O. (1) "Federal Act" means the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Public Law 111-148), as amended by the federal Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-152) (ACA), and any amendments thereto, or regulations or guidance issued under, those Acts.

(2) "Federal Act" includes Title XXVII of the PHSA, as amended by the ACA.

P. (1) "Genetic information" means, with respect to any individual, information about:

(a) The individual's genetic tests;

(b) The genetic tests of the individual's family members; and

(c) The manifestation of a disease or disorder in family members of the individual.

(2) "Genetic information" includes, with respect to any individual, any request for, or receipt of, genetic services, or participation in clinical research which includes genetic services, by the individual or any family member of the individual.

(3) "Genetic information" does not include information about the sex or age of any individual.

Q. "Genetic services" means:

(1) A genetic test;

(2) Genetic counseling, including obtaining, interpreting or assessing genetic information; or

(3) Genetic education.

R. (1) "Genetic test" means an analysis of human DNA, RNA, chromosomes, proteins or metabolites that detects genotypes, mutations or chromosomal changes.

(2) "Genetic test" does not mean:

(a) An analysis of proteins or metabolites that does not detect genotypes, mutations or chromosomal changes; or

(b) An analysis of proteins or metabolites that is directly related to a manifested disease, disorder or pathological condition that could reasonably be detected by a health care professional with appropriate training and expertise in the field of medicine involved.

S. "Geographic rating area" is an area established in accordance with Section 2701(a)(2) of the PHSA, or any federal regulation adopted thereunder, for purposes of adjusting the rates for a health benefit plan.

T. "Grandfathered health plan coverage" means coverage provided to a small employer by a health carrier on March 23, 2010 for as long as it maintains that status in accordance with federal regulations.

U. "Group health insurance plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to an employer or groups of employers to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

V. "Group health plan" has the meaning given such term under Section 2791(a) of the PHSA.

W. (1) "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.

Drafting Note: The Federal Act uses the terms "health plan" and "health insurance coverage." "Health benefit plan," as defined above, is intended to be consistent with the definition of "health insurance coverage" contained in Title XXVII of the PHSA, as enacted by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) and amended by the Federal Act.

(2) "Health benefit plan" does not include:

(a) Coverage only for accident, or disability income insurance, or any combination thereof;

(b) Coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance;

(c) Liability insurance, including general liability insurance and automobile liability insurance;

(d) Workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(e) Automobile medical payment insurance;

(f) Credit-only insurance;

(g) Coverage for on-site medical clinics; or

(h) Other similar insurance coverage, specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191, under which benefits for health care services are secondary or incidental to other insurance benefits.

(3) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if they are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance or are otherwise not an integral part of the plan:

(a) Limited scope dental or vision benefits;

(b) Benefits for long-term care, nursing home care, home health care, community-based care, or any combination thereof; or

(c) Other similar, limited benefits specified in federal regulations issued pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191.

(4) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following benefits if the benefits are provided under a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance, there is no coordination between the provision of the benefits and any exclusion of benefits under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor, and the benefits are paid with respect to an event without regard to whether benefits are provided with respect to such an event under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor:

(a) Coverage only for a specified disease or illness; or

(b) Hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity insurance.

(5) "Health benefit plan" does not include the following if offered as a separate policy, certificate or contract of insurance:

(a) Medicare supplemental health insurance as defined under Section 1882(g)(1) of the Social Security Act;

(b) Coverage supplemental to the coverage provided under chapter 55 of title 10, United States Code (Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS)); or

(c) Similar supplemental coverage provided to coverage under a group health plan.

X. "Health care professional" means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, accredited or certified to perform specified health care services consistent with state law.

Drafting Note: States may wish to specify the licensed health professionals to whom this definition may apply (e.g., physicians, psychologists, nurse practitioners, etc.). This definition applies to individual health professionals, not "corporate persons."

Y. "Health care provider" or "provider" means a health care professional or facility.

Z. "Health care services" means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or relief of a medical condition, illness, injury or disease.

AA. "Health maintenance organization" means a person that undertakes to provide or arrange for the delivery of health care services to covered persons on a prepaid basis, except for a covered person's responsibility for copayments, coinsurance or deductibles.

BB. "Health status-related factor" means any of the following factors:

(1) Health status;

(2) Medical condition, including both physical and mental illnesses;

(3) Claims experience;

(4) Receipt of health care services;

(5) Medical history;

(6) Genetic information;

(7) Evidence of insurability, including conditions arising out of acts of domestic violence and participation in activities such as motorcycling, snowmobiling, all-terrain vehicle riding, horseback riding, skiing and other similar activities;

(8) Disability; or

(9) Any other health status-related factor determined appropriate by the Secretary.

CC. "Network plan" means a health benefit plan issued by a health carrier under which the financing and delivery of health care services, including items and services paid for as medical care, are provided, in whole or in part, through a defined set of providers under contract with the carrier.

DD. "Person" means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing.

EE. "Plan sponsor" has the meaning given this term under Section 3(16)(B) of ERISA.

FF. (1) "Preexisting condition exclusion" means a limitation or exclusion of benefits relating to a condition that exists prior to the enrollment date of the coverage whether or not any medical advice, diagnosis, care or treatment was recommended or received before such date.

(2) Genetic information shall not be treated as a condition under paragraph (1) for which a preexisting condition exclusion may be imposed in the absence of a diagnosis of the condition related to the information.

GG. "Premium" means all moneys paid by a small employer and its eligible employees as a condition of receiving small group market health insurance coverage from a health carrier, including any fees or other contributions associated with the health benefit plan.

HH. "Producer" means [incorporate reference to definition in state law for licensing producers].

Drafting Note: States that have not adopted the NAIC Producer Licensing Model should substitute the term "agent" or "broker" for the term "producer," as appropriate.

II. (1) "Rescission" means a cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan that has a retroactive effect.

(2) "Rescission" does not include:

(a) A cancellation or discontinuance of coverage under a health benefit plan if:

(i) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage has only a prospective effect; or

(ii) The cancellation or discontinuance of coverage is effective retroactively to the extent it is attributable to a failure to timely pay required premiums or contributions towards the cost of coverage; or

(b) When the health benefit plan covers only active employees and, if applicable, dependents and those covered under continuation coverage provisions, the employee pays no premiums for coverage after termination of employment and the cancellation or discontinuance of coverage is effective retroactively back to the date of termination of employment due to a delay in administrative record-keeping.

JJ. "Secretary" means the Secretary of the federal Department of Health and Human Services.

KK. (1) "Small employer" means an employer that employed an average of at least one but not more than 100 employees on business days during the preceding calendar year and who employs at least one employee on the first day of the plan year.

Drafting Note: The Federal Act permits states to define "small employers" as employers with one to 50 employees for plan years beginning before Jan. 1, 2016.

(2) For purposes of this subsection:

(a) All persons treated as a single employer under Subsection (b), (c), (m) or (o) of Section 414 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall be treated as a single employer;

(b) An employer and any predecessor employer shall be treated as a single employer;

(c) All employees shall be counted, including part-time employees and employees who are not eligible for coverage through the employer;

Drafting Note: This issue is discussed in U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Bulletin 99-03 (Group Size Issues Under Title XXVII of the Public Health Service Act). States with different legal standards for counting employer size should review their definitions for consistency with federal law and substitute their existing definitions when appropriate.

(d) If an employer was not in existence throughout the preceding calendar year, the determination of whether that employer is a small employer shall be based on the average number of employees that is reasonably expected that employer will employ on business days in the current calendar year; and

(e) Any reference in this subsection to an employer shall include a reference to any predecessor of such employer.

LL. "Small group market health insurance coverage" means, in connection with a group health plan, health insurance coverage offered in the small group market in connection with such plan.

MM. "Small group market" means the health insurance market under which individuals obtain health insurance coverage, directly or through any arrangement, on behalf of themselves and their dependents through a group health plan maintained by a small employer.

NN. "Underwriting purposes" means:

(1) Rules for, or determination of, eligibility including enrollment and continued eligibility for benefits under the health benefit plan;

(2) The computation of premium or contribution amounts under the health benefit plan; and

(3) Other activities related to the creation, renewal or replacement of a contract of health insurance coverage.

OO. "Waiting period" means the period of time that must pass before coverage for a covered person who is otherwise eligible to enroll under the terms of the health benefit plan can become effective.

Section 4. Applicability and Scope

A. Subject to Subsection B, this Act shall apply to health carriers offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage in this state.

B. Except for Sections 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 17, 18 and 19 of this Act and to the extent provisions of other sections in this Act were in effect pursuant to Pub. L. No. 104-191 (HIPAA) and Pub. L. No. 110-233 (GINA) prior to the effective date of the Federal Act, this Act does not apply to any grandfathered health plan coverage.

Drafting Note: Generally, Section 1251 of the ACA exempts coverage from most reforms in Subtitles A and C of Title 1 of the ACA, if the coverage was in force on March 23, 2010, the date on which the ACA was signed into law, and the terms of coverage have not materially changed. This coverage is known as "grandfathered health plan coverage." However, Section 1251 of the ACA specifically applies certain provisions of the ACA from which such coverage would otherwise be exempt. Some of these provisions apply to all grandfathered plans, while other provisions apply only to grandfathered group health insurance plans. To the extent that provisions of the PHSA, ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) do not apply as amended by the ACA to a grandfathered plan, the pre-ACA versions of those provisions will continue to apply. In general, grandfathered plans must also comply with all applicable state laws; the only express preemption provision in the ACA is the prohibition against states including grandfathered plans in the rating pool for non-grandfathered plans. The standards for grandfathered plans, including the requirements for maintaining grandfathered status, are found in the interim final regulations on grandfathered plans (26 CFR 54.9815-1251T, 29 CFR 2590.715-1251 and 45 CFR 147.140), as published in the Federal Register June 17, 2010. In particular, HIPAA portability and nondiscrimination requirements and the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008 (GINA) requirements applicable prior to the effective date of the ACA continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage. The following table lists the new health coverage reforms in part A of title XXVII of the PHSA, as amended by the ACA that apply to grandfathered health plan coverage:

List of New Health Coverage Reform ACA Provisions That Apply to Grandfathered Health Plan Coverage

PHSA Statutory Provisions	Application to Grandfathered Health Plan Coverage
§ 2704 of the PHSA—Prohibition of preexisting condition exclusion or other discrimination based on health status.	Applicable to grandfathered group health plans and group health insurance coverage. Not applicable to grandfathered individual health insurance coverage.
§ 2708 of the PHSA—Excessive waiting periods.	Applicable to grandfathered group health plan coverage.
§ 2711 of the PHSA—No lifetime or annual limits.	Lifetime limits applicable to grandfathered health plan coverage. Annual limits applicable to grandfathered group health plans and group health insurance coverage; not applicable to grandfathered individual health insurance coverage.
§ 2712 of the PHSA—Prohibition on rescissions.	Applicable to grandfathered health plan coverage.

§ 2714 of the PHSA—Extension of dependent coverage until age 26.	Applicable to grandfathered health plan coverage. For a group health plan or group health insurance coverage that is a grandfathered health plan for plan years beginning before Jan. 1, 2014, §2714 of the PHSA is applicable in the case of an adult child only if the adult child is not eligible for other employer-based health plan coverage.
§ 2715 of the PHSA—Development and utilization of uniform explanation of coverage documents and standardized definitions.	Applicable to grandfathered health plan coverage.
§ 2718 of the PHSA—Bringing down the cost of health care coverage (for insured coverage).	Applicable to insured grandfathered health plan coverage.

Drafting Note: As noted in the drafting note above, some requirements of the PHSA, ERISA and IRC that were applicable prior to the enactment of the ACA continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage. As such, HIPAA portability and nondiscrimination requirements applicable to the individual market and GINA requirements applicable to the individual market prior to the effective date of the ACA continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage. States should be aware that this Act does not include many of these provisions, such as provisions related to crediting previous coverage for purposes of applying a preexisting condition exclusion period with respect to the small group market or provisions related to determining whether an individual can be treated as an "eligible individual" (or HIPAA-eligible) for purposes of qualifying for guaranteed issued coverage without the imposition of any preexisting condition exclusions with respect to the individual market. States will have to consider how they want to address this situation in retaining some provisions that continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage and enacting new provisions consistent with the requirements of the ACA that are applicable to health benefit plans beginning Jan. 1, 2014, in the individual and small group markets.

Section 5. Restrictions Relating to Premium Rates

A. (1) With respect to the premium rates charged by a health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing small group market health insurance coverage subject to this Act, the carrier shall develop its premium rates based on the following and vary the premium rates with respect to the particular plan or coverage only by:

(a) Whether the plan or coverage covers an individual or family;

(b) Geographic rating area, established in accordance with Section 2701(a)(2) of the PHSA;

(c) Age, except that the rate shall not vary by more than 3 to 1 for adults; and

(d) Tobacco use, except that the rate shall not vary by more than 1.5 to 1.

(2) A premium rate shall not vary with respect to any particular health benefit plan or small group market health insurance coverage by any other factor not described in paragraph (1).

(3) With respect to family coverage under a health benefit plan providing small group market health insurance coverage, the rating variations permitted under paragraph (1)(c) and (d) shall be applied based on the portion of the premium that is attributable to each family member covered under the plan.

B. The premium charged with respect to any particular health benefit plan or small group market health insurance coverage shall not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium rates may be changed to reflect:

(1) Changes to the enrollment of the small employer;

(2) Changes to the family composition of an employee;

(3) Changes in tobacco use, as provided in Subsection A(1)(d);

(4) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the small employer; or

(5) Other changes required by federal law or regulations or otherwise expressly permitted by state law.

C. A health carrier shall consider all enrollees in all health benefit plans (other than grandfathered health plan coverage) offered by the carrier in the small group market, including those covered persons who do not enroll in such plans through an exchange, as established under Section 1311 of the Federal Act, to be members of a single risk pool.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that Section 1312(c)(3) of the Federal Act permits a state to merge its individual and small group health insurance markets. States should also be aware that Section 1312(c)(4) of the Federal Act prohibits states from requiring grandfathered health plan coverage to be included in the single risk pool for non-grandfathered health plan coverage.

D. The Commissioner may establish regulations to implement the provisions of this section and to assure that rating practices used by health carriers are consistent with the purposes of this Act, including regulations that assure that differences in rates charged for health benefit plans by carriers are reasonable and reflect objective differences in plan design or coverage.

E. In connection with the offering for sale of small group market health insurance coverage under this Act, a health carrier shall make a reasonable disclosure, as part of its solicitation and sales materials, of all of the following:

(1) The provisions of the coverage concerning the right to change premium rates and the factors that may affect changes in premium rates; and

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the requirement that health carriers disclose the information described in paragraph (1) above is required under Section 2709 of the PHSA. However, states may not require that this information be provided in the summary of benefits and coverage (SBC) required under Section 2715 of the PHSA and the federal regulations implementing that section.

(2) A listing of and descriptive information, including benefits and premiums, about all health insurance coverage for which the small employer is qualified.

F. (1) Each health carrier shall maintain at its principal place of business a complete and detailed description of its rating practices, including information and documentation that demonstrate that its rating methods and practices are based upon commonly accepted actuarial assumptions and are in accordance with sound actuarial principles.

(2) Each health carrier shall file with the Commissioner annually on or before March 15, an actuarial certification certifying that the carrier is in compliance with this Act and that the rating methods of the carrier are actuarially sound. The certification shall be in a form and manner, and shall contain such information, as specified by the Commissioner. A copy of the certification shall be retained by the carrier at its principal place of business.

(3) (a) A health carrier shall make the information and documentation described in paragraph (1) available to the Commissioner upon request.

(b) Except in cases of violations of this Act, the information shall be considered proprietary and trade secret information and shall not be subject to disclosure by the Commissioner to persons outside of the Department of Insurance except as agreed to by the health carrier or as ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, with respect to the information and documentation described in paragraph (1), certain provisions of the Federal Act or federal regulations or other federal law or state law or regulations may require the Department of Insurance to make public or share with other entities, such as health insurance exchanges or federal agencies.

Section 6. Guaranteed Availability of Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage

A. (1) Subject to Subsections B-G, each health carrier that offers a health benefit plan providing small group market health insurance coverage in this state shall issue any health benefit plan to any eligible small employer that applies for the plan and agrees to make the required premium payments and to satisfy the other reasonable provisions of the health benefit plan not inconsistent with this Act.

(2) A health carrier described under paragraph (1):

(a) Shall offer coverage to all of the eligible employees of the eligible small employer and their dependents who apply for enrollment during the period in which the employee first becomes eligible to enroll under the terms of the plan; and

(b) Shall not offer coverage to only certain individuals or dependents in the small group or to only part of the small group.

B. (1) A health carrier described under Subsection A may restrict enrollment in coverage described in Subsection A to open or special enrollment periods.

(2) A health carrier described under Subsection A shall, in accordance with regulations established by the Secretary, establish special enrollment periods for qualifying events and as provided in Section 9B of this Act.

C. A health carrier described in Subsection A shall not apply any waiting period, as that term is defined in Section 300 of this Act, which exceeds ninety (90) days.

D. (1) Except as provided in this subsection, requirements used by a health carrier in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer shall be applied uniformly among all small employers applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the carrier.

(2) A health carrier shall not require a minimum participation level greater than:

(a) One hundred percent (100%) of eligible employees working for groups of three (3) or fewer employees; and

(b) Seventy-five percent (75%) of eligible employees working for groups with more than three (3) employees.

(3) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a health carrier shall not consider employees or dependents of employees who have creditable coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(4) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a health carrier shall not consider individuals eligible for coverage under a COBRA continuation provision as eligible employees in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(5) A health carrier shall not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the provisions of this Subsection D related to the minimum participation requirements in paragraphs (2), (3), (4), and (5) are subject to change depending on anticipated federal regulations or guidance on the topic.

E. (1) Subject to paragraph (3), a health carrier with respect to coverage offered through a network plan shall not be required to offer small group market health insurance coverage under that plan or accept applications for that plan pursuant to Subsection A in the case of the following:

(a) In an area outside of the carrier's established geographic service area for such network plan;

(b) To an employee, when the employee does not live, work or reside within the carrier's established geographic service area for such network plan; or

(c) Within the geographic service area for such network plan where the carrier reasonably anticipates, and demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, that it will not have the capacity within its established geographic service area to deliver service adequately to the members of such groups because of its obligations to existing group certificate holders and covered persons.

(2) A health carrier that cannot offer coverage pursuant to Paragraph (1)(c) may not offer coverage in the small group market in the applicable geographic service area to new cases of small employer groups or to any small employer groups until the later of 180 days following each such refusal or the date on which the carrier notifies the Commissioner that it has regained capacity to deliver services.

(3) A health carrier shall apply the provisions of this subsection uniformly to all small employers without regard to the claims experience of a small employer and its employees and their dependents or any health status-related factor relating to such employees and their dependents.

F. (1) A health carrier described under Subsection A shall not be required to provide coverage if:

(a) For any period of time the carrier demonstrates, and the Commissioner determines, that the carrier does not have the financial reserves necessary to underwrite additional coverage; and

(b) The carrier is applying this subsection uniformly to all small employers in the small group market in this state consistent with applicable state law and without regard to the claims experience of a small employer and its employees and their dependents or any health status-related factor relating to such employees and their dependents.

(2) A health carrier that denies coverage in accordance with paragraph (1) may not offer coverage in the small group market in this state for the later of:

(a) A period of 180 days after the date the coverage is denied; or

(b) Until the carrier has demonstrated to the Commissioner that it has sufficient financial reserves to underwrite additional coverage.

Drafting Note: States may apply the provisions of paragraph (2) on a service-area-specific basis.

G. (1) A health carrier described under Subsection A shall not be required to provide small group market health insurance coverage if the carrier elects not to offer new coverage to small employers in this state.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the proposed regulations issued by HHS, Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) published in the Federal Register, Nov. 26, 2012, require health carriers to offer to any individual or small employer in the state all products that are approved for sale in the applicable market. Therefore, it appears that there will be no exception to guaranteed availability for closed blocks of business. Therefore, given this provision in the proposed regulations, states may want to consider not addressing this issue in statute and consider, instead, addressing it by regulation after final regulations are issued on the subject.

(2) A health carrier that elects not to offer new coverage under this subsection may be allowed, as determined by the Commissioner, to maintain its existing policies in this state.

(3) A health carrier that elects not to offer new coverage under paragraph (1) shall provide notice of its election to the Commissioner and shall be prohibited from writing new business in the small group market in this state for a period of five (5) years beginning on the date the carrier ceased offering new coverage in this state.

Section 7. Guaranteed Renewability of Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage

A. Except as provided in this section, a health carrier offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage in this state subject to this Act shall renew or continue in force the coverage, at the option of the small employer.

B. A health carrier may not renew or discontinue coverage under a health benefit plan subject to this Act if:

(1) The plan sponsor has failed to pay premiums or contributions in accordance with the terms of the health benefit plan or the carrier has not received timely premium payments;

(2) The plan sponsor has performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud or made an intentional misrepresentation of material fact under the terms of coverage;

(3) Noncompliance with the carrier's minimum participation requirements;

(4) Noncompliance with the carrier's employer contribution requirements;

(5) The carrier elects to cease offering small group market health insurance coverage in this state in accordance with Subsection D and other applicable state law;

(6) In the case of a health carrier that offers coverage through a network plan, there is no longer any employee living, working or residing within the carrier's established geographic service area and the carrier would deny enrollment in the plan pursuant to Section 6E(1)(b) of this Act;

(7) In the case of a health carrier that offers coverage in the small group market only through one or more bona fide associations, the membership of the small employer in the association (on the basis of which the coverage is provided) ceases, but only if such coverage is terminated uniformly under this paragraph without regard to any health status-related factor related to any covered person;

(8) The Commissioner:

(a) Finds that the continuation of the coverage would not be in the best interests of the certificate holders or would impair the carrier's ability to meet its contractual obligations; and

(b) Assists affected plan sponsors in finding replacement coverage; or

(9) The Commissioner finds that the product form is obsolete and is being replaced with comparable coverage and the carrier decides to discontinue offering that particular type of health benefit plan (obsolete product form) in this state's small group market if the carrier:

(a) Provides advance notice of its decision under this paragraph to the Commissioner in each state in which it is licensed;

(b) Provides notice of the decision not to renew coverage at least 180 days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans to:

(i) All affected plan sponsors and employees and their dependents; and

(ii) The Commissioner in each state in which an affected insured individual is known to reside, provided the notice sent to the Commissioner under this subparagraph is sent at least three (3) working days prior to the date the notice is sent to the affected plan sponsors and employees and their dependents;

(c) Provides notice to each plan sponsor issued that particular type of health benefit plan (obsolete product form) that the plan sponsor has the option to purchase all other health benefit plans currently being offered by the carrier in the small group market in this state; and

(d) In exercising this option to discontinue that particular type of health benefit plan (obsolete product form) acts uniformly without regard to the claims experience of any small employer or any health status-related factor relating to any employee or dependent of an employee or new employees and their dependents who may become eligible for coverage.

C. (1) A health carrier that elects not to renew small group market health insurance coverage under a health benefit plan pursuant to Subsection B(2) because of the plan sponsor's fraud or intentional misrepresentation of material fact under the terms of coverage may choose not to issue a health benefit plan to that plan sponsor for one (1) year after the date of nonrenewal.

(2) This paragraph shall not be construed to affect the requirements of Section 7 of this Act as to other health carriers to issue coverage under any health benefit plan to the plan sponsor.

D. In any case in which a health carrier decides to discontinue offering a particular type of health benefit plan of small group market health insurance coverage, the health carrier may discontinue coverage in accordance with applicable state law only if the carrier:

(1) Provides advance notice of its decision under this subsection to the Commissioner in each state in which it is licensed;

(2) Provides notice of the decision not to renew coverage at least 90 days prior to the nonrenewal of the health benefit plan to:

(a) All affected plan sponsors and employees and their dependents; and

(b) The Commissioner in each state in which an affected insured individual is known to reside, provided the notice to the Commissioner under this subparagraph is sent at least three (3) working days prior to the date the notice is sent to the affected plan sponsors and employees and their dependents;

(3) Provides notice to each plan sponsor issued that particular type of health benefit plan that the plan sponsor has the option to purchase all other health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage currently being offered by the carrier in this state; and

(4) In exercising this option to discontinue that particular type of health benefit plan acts uniformly without regard to the claims experience of any small employer or any health status-related factor relating to any employee or dependent of an employee or new employees and their dependents who may become eligible for coverage.

E. (1) In any case in which a health carrier elects to discontinue offering small group market health insurance coverage in the small group market, or all markets, in this state, the carrier may discontinue such coverage only in accordance with applicable state law and if:

(a) The carrier provides advance notice of its decision under this paragraph to the Commissioner in each state in which it is licensed; and

(b) Provides notice of the decision not to renew coverage at least 180 days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans to:

(i) All affected plan sponsors and employees and their dependents; and

(ii) The Commissioner in each state in which an affected insured individual is known to reside, provided the notice sent to the Commissioner under this subparagraph is sent at least three (3) working days prior to the date the notice is sent to the affected plan sponsors and employees and their dependents.

(2) In the case of a discontinuance under paragraph (1), the health carrier shall be prohibited from writing new business in the market in this state for a period of five (5) years beginning on the date the carrier ceased offering new coverage in this state.

(3) In the case of a discontinuance under paragraph (1), the health carrier, as determined by the Commissioner, may renew its existing business in the market in the state or may be required to nonrenew all of its existing business in the market in the state.

F. At the time of coverage renewal, a health carrier may modify the coverage for a product offered in the small group market if, for coverage that is available in such market other than only through one or more bona fide associations, such modification is consistent with state law and effective on a uniform basis among small group health plans with that product.

G. In the case of a health carrier doing business in one established geographic service area of the state, the provisions of this section shall apply only to the carrier's operations in that service area

Section 8. Extension of Dependent Coverage

A. A health carrier offering a health benefit plan providing small group market health insurance coverage that makes available dependent coverage of children shall make that coverage available for children until attainment of twenty-six (26) years of age.

B. (1) With respect to a child who has not attained twenty-six (26) years of age, a health carrier shall not define dependent for purposes of eligibility for dependent coverage of children other than the terms of a relationship between a child and the eligible employee.

(2) (a) A health carrier shall not deny or restrict coverage for a child who has not attained twenty-six (26) years of age based on a factor, such as the presence or absence of the child's financial dependency upon the employee or any other person, residency with the employee or with any other person, marital status, student status, employment or any combination of those factors.

(b) In addition to Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, a health carrier shall not deny or restrict coverage of a child based on eligibility for other coverage.

C. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require a health carrier to make coverage available for the child of a child receiving dependent coverage, unless the grandparent becomes the legal guardian or adoptive parent of that grandchild.

D. The terms of coverage in a health benefit plan offered by a health carrier providing dependent coverage of children cannot vary based on age except for children who are twenty-six (26) years of age or older.

Drafting Note: For purposes of this section, there is no definition of "dependent" in this section. Section 152(f)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code defines "child" as including only sons, daughters, stepchildren, adopted children, including children placed for adoption and foster children. Some states have defined "dependent" similarly, while others have not. In defining "dependent," states should keep in mind that the intent of the ACA is to require the availability of dependent coverage of children until the child reaches age 26 and that coverage cannot be conditioned based on certain dependency factors, such support, residency, student status or marital status.

Section 9. Prohibition of Preexisting Condition Exclusions; Special Enrollment Periods

A. Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage shall not impose any preexisting condition exclusion with respect to such coverage.

B. (1) A health carrier described in Subsection A shall permit an employee or a dependent of the employee, who is eligible, but not enrolled, to enroll for coverage under the terms of the health benefit plan of the small employer during a special enrollment period if:

(a) The employee or dependent was covered under a group health plan or had coverage under a health benefit plan at the time coverage was previously offered to the employee or dependent;

(b) The employee stated in writing at the time coverage was previously offered that coverage under a group health plan or other health benefit plan was the reason for declining enrollment, but only if the plan sponsor or carrier, if applicable, required such a statement at the time coverage was previously offered and provided notice to the employee of the requirement and the consequences of the requirement at that time;

(i) The employee's or dependent's coverage described under subparagraph (a):

(I) Was under a COBRA continuation provision and the coverage under this provision has been exhausted; or

(II) Was not under a COBRA continuation provision and that other coverage has been terminated as a result of loss of eligibility for coverage, including as a result of a legal separation, divorce, death, termination of employment, or reduction in the number of hours of employment or employer contributions towards that other coverage have been terminated; and

(c) Under terms of the health benefit plan, the employee requests enrollment not later than thirty (30) days after the date of exhaustion of coverage described in subparagraph (b)(i)(I) or termination of coverage or employer contribution described in subparagraph (b)(i)(II).

(2) If an employee requests enrollment pursuant to paragraph (1)(c), the enrollment is effective not later than the first day of the first calendar month beginning after the date the completed request for enrollment is received.

C. (1) A health carrier described in Subsection A that makes coverage available under a health benefit plan with respect to a dependent of an employee shall provide for a dependent special enrollment period described in paragraph (2) during which the dependent and, if not otherwise enrolled, the employee may be enrolled under the health benefit plan and, in the case of the birth or adoption of a child, the spouse of the employee may be enrolled as a dependent of the employee if the spouse is otherwise eligible for coverage if:

(a) The employee is a covered person under the health benefit plan or has met any waiting period applicable to becoming a covered person under the plan and is eligible to be enrolled under the plan; and

(b) A person becomes a dependent of the employee through marriage, birth or adoption or placement for adoption.

(2) The special enrollment period for individuals that meet the provisions of paragraph (1) shall be a period of not less than thirty (30) days and begins on the later of:

(a) The date dependent coverage is made available; or

(b) The date of the marriage, birth or adoption or placement for adoption described in paragraph (1)(b).

(3) If an employee seeks to enroll a dependent during the first thirty (30) days of the dependent special enrollment period described under paragraph (2), the coverage of the dependent shall be effective:

(a) In the case of marriage, not later than the first day of the first month beginning after the date the completed request for enrollment is received;

(b) In the case of a dependent's birth, as of the date of birth; and

(c) In the case of a dependent's adoption or placement for adoption, the date of the adoption or placement for adoption.

D. A health carrier shall permit an employee or a dependent of the employee, who is eligible, but not enrolled, to enroll for coverage under the terms of the health benefit plan of the small employer during a special enrollment period if:

(1) The employee or dependent is covered under a Medicaid plan under title XIX of the Social Security Act or under the state child health plan under title XXI of the Social Security Act and coverage of the employee or dependent under the plan is terminated as a result of loss of eligibility for such coverage and the employee requests coverage under the plan not later than sixty (60) days after the date of termination of such coverage; or

(2) The employee or dependent becomes eligible for assistance, with respect to coverage under the plan under a Medicaid plan under title XIX of the Social Security Act or under the state child health plan under title XXI of the Social Security Act, including any waiver or demonstration project conducted under or in relation to such a plan, if the employee requests coverage under the plan not later than sixty (60) days after the employee or dependent is determined to be eligible for such assistance.

Section 10. Prohibition on Discrimination Based on Health Status; Genetic Testing

A. A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing small group market insurance coverage in this state shall not establish rules for eligibility, including continuing eligibility, of any employee to enroll under the terms of coverage based on any health status-related factor in relation to the employee or dependent of the employee.

B. (1) A health carrier described in Subsection A shall not require any employee as a condition of enrollment or continued enrollment under a health benefit plan to pay a premium or contribution that is greater than such premium or contribution for a similarly situated individual enrolled in the plan on the basis of any health status-related factor in relation to the employee or to an individual enrolled under the plan as a dependent of the employee.

(2) Nothing in paragraph (1) may be construed to:

(a) Restrict the amount that a small employer may be charged for coverage under the plan except as provided in paragraph (3)(a); or

(b) Prevent the health carrier from establishing premium discounts or rebates or modifying otherwise applicable copayment amounts or deductibles in return for adherence to programs of health promotion and disease prevention, as described in Section 2705(j) of the PHSA.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that Section 2705(j) of the PHSA establishes specific requirements for health promotion and disease prevention programs ("wellness programs") employers may offer.

(3) (a) For purposes of this section, a health carrier described in subsection A shall not adjust premium or contribution amounts for employees or family members covered under the plan on the basis of genetic information.

(b) Nothing in subparagraph (a) or in Subsection C(2)(a) and (b) shall be construed to preclude a health carrier from increasing the premium for a small employer based on the manifestation of a disease or disorder of an individual who is enrolled in grandfathered health plan coverage. In such case, the manifestation of a disease or disorder in one individual cannot also be used as genetic information about other small group members covered under the plan and to further increase the premium for the small employer.

Drafting Note: This section is based on Section 2705 of the PHSA. Section 2705 of PHSA includes provisions that were enacted prior to the ACA. Some of those provisions were not specifically supplanted by the ACA. However, because of ACA provisions related to premium rating restrictions, as reflected in Section 5 of this Act and a prohibition on preexisting condition exclusion periods, as reflected in Section 9 of this Act, some of these provisions are no longer permitted beginning Jan. 1, 2014. Given this, the language in paragraph (3)(b) above permitting the use of health status as a rating factor will not be permitted beginning Jan. 1, 2014, in accordance with Section 2701 of the PHSA. As noted in Section 4 of this Act, states should be aware that this provision could continue to apply to grandfathered health plan coverage.

C. (1) (a) A health carrier described in Subsection A shall not request or require an employee or a family member of an employee to undergo a genetic test.

(b) Subparagraph (a) shall not be construed to limit the authority of a health care professional who is providing health care services to an employee to request that the employee undergo a genetic test.

(c) (i) Nothing in subparagraph (a) shall be construed to preclude a health carrier described in Subsection A from obtaining and using the results of a genetic test in making a determination regarding payment (as that term is defined for purposes of applying the regulations promulgated by the Secretary under part C of title XI of the Social Security Act and Section 264 of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), as may be revised from time to time) consistent with Subsection A.

(ii) For purposes of item (i), a carrier may request only the minimum amount of information necessary to accomplish the intended purpose.

(d) Notwithstanding subparagraph (a), a health carrier described in Subsection A may request, but not require, that a covered person undergo a genetic test if each of the following conditions is met:

(i) The request is made pursuant to research that complies with part 46 of title 45, Code of Federal Regulations or equivalent federal regulations and any applicable state or local law or regulations for the protection of human subjects in research;

(ii) The carrier clearly indicates to each covered person, or in the case of a minor child, to the legal guardian of the child, to whom the request is made that:

(I) Compliance with the request is voluntary; and

(II) Noncompliance will have no effect on enrollment status or premium or contribution amounts;

(iii) No genetic information collected or acquired under this paragraph shall be used for underwriting purposes;

(iv) The carrier notifies the Secretary in writing that the carrier is conducting activities pursuant to the exception provided in this paragraph, including a description of the activities conducted; and

(v) The carrier complies with such other conditions as the Secretary may by regulation require for activities conducted under this paragraph.

(2) (a) A health carrier described in Subsection A shall not request, require or purchase genetic information for underwriting purposes.

(b) A health carrier described in Subsection A shall not request, require or purchase genetic information with respect to any individual prior to the individual's enrollment under the health benefit plan in connection with such enrollment.

(c) If a health carrier obtains genetic information incidental to the requesting, requiring or purchasing of other information concerning any individual, such request, requirement or purchase shall not be considered a violation of subparagraph (b) if such request, requirement or purchase is not in violation of subparagraph (a).

(3) Any reference in this section to genetic information concerning an employee or family member of an employee shall:

(a) With respect to the employee or family member of an employee who is a pregnant woman, include genetic information of any fetus carried by the pregnant woman; and

(b) With respect to an employee or family member utilizing an assisted reproductive technology, include genetic information of any embryo legally held by the employee or family member.

Section 11. Prohibition on Lifetime and Annual Limits

A. (1) Except as provided in Subsection B, health carriers offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage shall not establish a lifetime limit on the dollar amount of essential health benefits for any covered person.

(2) (a) Except as provided in subparagraph (b) of this paragraph and Subsections B and C, a health carrier shall not establish any annual limit on the dollar amount of essential health benefits for any covered person.

(b) A health flexible spending arrangement (FSA), as defined in Section 106(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code, a medical savings account (MSA), as defined in Section 220 of the Internal Revenue Code, and a health savings account (HSA), as defined in Section 223 of the Internal Revenue Code are not subject to the requirements of Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph.

B. The provisions of Subsection A shall not prevent a health carrier from placing annual or lifetime dollar per covered person limits on specific covered benefits that are not essential health benefits to the extent that such limits are otherwise permitted under applicable federal or state law.

C. Nothing in this section prohibits a health carrier from excluding all benefits for a given condition, as otherwise permitted under federal or state law.

Section 12. Prohibition on Rescissions of Coverage

A. (1) A health carrier shall not rescind coverage under a health benefit plan providing small group market health insurance coverage with respect to an individual, including a group to which the individual belongs or family coverage in which the individual is included, after the individual is covered under the plan, unless:

(a) The individual or a person seeking coverage on behalf of the individual, performs an act, practice or omission that constitutes fraud; or

(b) The individual makes an intentional misrepresentation of material fact, as prohibited by the terms of the plan or coverage.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1)(a), a person seeking coverage on behalf of an individual does not include a producer or employee or authorized representative of the health carrier.

B. A health carrier shall provide at least thirty (30) days advance written notice to each covered person who would be affected by the proposed rescission of coverage before coverage under the health benefit plan may be rescinded in accordance with Subsection A regardless of whether the rescission applies to the entire small group or only to an individual within the small group.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that Sections 9 and 10 of the NAIC Utilization Review and Benefit Determination Model Act include language describing what should be included in an advance notice of a rescission that is considered an adverse determination.

C. The provisions of this section apply regardless of any applicable contestability period.

Section 13. Comprehensive Health Insurance Coverage Requirements

A. (1) Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage in this state shall ensure that such coverage includes the essential health benefits package required under Section 1302(a) of the Federal Act, as described in Paragraph (2) of this subsection.

(2) For purposes of this subsection, "essential health benefits package" means coverage that:

(a) Provides for the essential health benefits, as defined in Section 3K of this Act;

(b) Limits cost-sharing for such coverage in accordance with Section 1302(c) of the Federal Act, as described in Subsection B; and

(c) Provides bronze, silver, gold or platinum level of coverage described in Section 1302(d) of the Federal Act as follows:

(i) Bronze level. A health benefit plan in the bronze level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 60% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan;

(ii) Silver level. A health benefit plan in the silver level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 70% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan;

(iii) Gold level. A health benefit plan in the gold level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 80% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan; and

(iv) Platinum level. A health benefit plan in the platinum level shall provide a level of coverage that is designed to provide benefits that are actuarially equivalent to 90% of the full actuarial value of the benefits provided under the plan.

B. A health carrier subject to Subsection A shall ensure that any annual cost-sharing imposed under the health benefit plan does not exceed the limitations provided for under paragraphs (1) and (2) of Section 1302(c) of the Federal Act.

C. This section shall not apply to a dental plan described in Section 1311(d)(2)(B)(ii) of the Federal Act.

Section 14. Coverage of Preventive Health Services

A. (1) A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage in this state shall provide coverage for all of the following items and services, and shall not impose any cost-sharing requirements, such as a copayment, coinsurance or deductible, with respect to the following items and services:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in Subsection B, evidence-based items or services that have in effect a rating of A or B in the current recommendations of the United States Preventive Services Task Force with respect to the individual involved;

Drafting Note: The items and services referenced in subparagraph (a) above can be found at this link: http://www.healthcare.gov/news/factsheets/2010/07/preventive-services-list.html. States should be aware that these items and services could change over time.

(b) Immunizations for routine use in children, adolescents and adults that have in effect a recommendation from the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention with respect to the individual involved. For purposes of this paragraph, a recommendation from the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is considered in effect after it has been adopted by the Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and a recommendation is considered to be for routine use if it is listed on the Immunization Schedules of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention;

Drafting Note: The recommended immunizations for children, adolescents and adults referenced in subparagraph (b) above can be found at this link: http://www.healthcare.gov/news/factsheets/2010/07/preventive-services-list.html.

(c) With respect to infants, children and adolescents, evidence-informed preventive care, and screenings provided for in comprehensive guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration; and Drafting Note: The comprehensive guidelines referenced in subparagraph (c) above can be found at this link: http://www.healthcare.gov/news/factsheets/2010/07/preventive-services-list.html.

(d) With respect to women, to the extent not described in paragraph (1), evidence-informed preventive care and screenings provided for in comprehensive guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration.

Drafting Note: The comprehensive guidelines referenced in subparagraph (d) above can be found at this link: http://www.hrsa.gov/womensguidelines.

(2) (a) (i) A health carrier subject to this section is not required to provide coverage for any items or services specified in any recommendation or guideline described in paragraph (1) after the recommendation or guideline is no longer described in paragraph (1).

(ii) Other provisions of state or federal law may apply in connection with a health carrier's ceasing to provide coverage for any such items or services including Section 2715(d)(4) of the PHSA, which requires a health carrier to give sixty (60) days advance notice to covered persons before any material modification will become effective.

(b) For purposes of paragraph (1) and for purpose of any other provision of law, the United States Preventive Services Task Force recommendations regarding breast cancer screening, mammography and prevention issued in or around November 2009 are not considered to be current.

(c) A health carrier shall, for plan years that begin on or after the date that is one year after the date the recommendation or guideline is issued, revise the preventive services covered under its health benefit plans pursuant to this section consistent with the recommendations of the United States Preventive Services Task Force, the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the guidelines with respect to infants, children, adolescents and women evidence-based preventive care and screenings by the Health Resources and Services Administration in effect at the time.

Drafting Note: This website: http://www.HealthCare.gov/center/regulations/prevention.html is provided in the interim final regulations published in the Federal Register July 19, 2010, which health carriers can visit once a year to find information necessary to determine any additional items or services that must be covered without cost-sharing requirements or to determine any items or services that are no longer required to be covered.

B. (1) A health carrier may impose cost-sharing requirements with respect to an office visit if an item or service described in Subsection A is billed separately or is tracked as individual encounter data separately from the office visit.

(2) A health carrier shall not impose cost-sharing requirements with respect to an office visit if an item or service described in Subsection A is not billed separately or is not tracked as individual encounter data separately from the office visit and the primary purpose of the office visit is the delivery of the item or service.

(3) A health carrier may impose cost-sharing requirements with respect to an office visit if an item or service described in Subsection A is not billed separately or is not tracked as individual encounter data separately from the office visit and the primary purpose of the office visit is not the delivery of the item or service.

C. (1) Nothing in this section requires a health carrier that has a network of providers to provide benefits for items and services described in Subsection A that are delivered by an out-of-network provider.

(2) Nothing in Subsection A precludes a health carrier that has a network of providers from imposing cost-sharing requirements for items or services described in Subsection A that are delivered by an out-of-network provider.

D. Nothing prevents a health carrier from using reasonable medical management techniques to determine the frequency, method, treatment or setting for an item or service described in Subsection A to the extent not specified in the recommendation or guideline.

E. Nothing in this section prohibits a health carrier from providing coverage for items and services in addition to those recommended by the United States Preventive Services Task Force or the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, or provided by guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration, or from denying coverage for items and services that are not recommended by that task force or that advisory committee, or under those guidelines. A health carrier may impose cost-sharing requirements for a treatment not described in Subsection A even if the treatment results from an item or service described in Subsection A.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, under Section 2713(c) of the PHSA, the Secretary is given the discretionary authority to develop guidelines that would permit health carriers offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage to utilize value-based insurance designs. If the Secretary develops such guidelines, the language in this section may have to be revised.

Section 15. Coverage for Participation in Approved Clinical Trials

A. As used in this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Approved clinical trial" means a phase I, a phase II, a phase III or a phase IV clinical trial that is conducted in relation to the prevention, detection or treatment of cancer or a life-threatening condition and is not designed exclusively to test toxicity or disease pathophysiology and the trial must be:

(a) Conducted under an investigational new drug application reviewed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA);

(b) Exempt from obtaining an investigational new drug application; or

(c) Approved or funded by:

(i) The National Institutes of Health, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention; the Agency for Health Care Research and Quality, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services or a cooperative group or center of any of the entities described in this item;

(ii) A cooperative group or center of the U.S. Department of Defense or the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs;

(iii) A qualified nongovernmental research entity identified in the guidelines issued by the National Institutes of Health for center support grants; or

(iv) The U.S. Departments of Veterans Affairs, Defense or Energy if the trial has been reviewed or approved through a system of peer review determined by the Secretary to:

(I) Be comparable to the system of peer review of studies and investigations used by the National Institutes of Health; and

(II) Provide an unbiased scientific review by qualified individuals who have no interest in the outcome of the review.

(2) "Life-threatening condition" means a disease or condition from which the likelihood of death is probable unless the course of the disease or condition is interrupted.

(3) "Qualified individual" means an individual with small group market health insurance coverage who is eligible to participate in an approved clinical trial according to the trial protocol for the treatment of cancer or a life threatening condition because:

(a) The referring health care professional is participating in the trial and has concluded that the individual's participation in the trial would be appropriate; or

(b) The individual provides medical and scientific information establishing that the individual's participation in the trial is appropriate because the individual meets the conditions described in the trial protocol.

(4) (a) "Routine patient costs" include all items and services covered by the health benefit plan of small group market health insurance coverage when the items or services are typically covered for an enrollee who is not a qualified individual enrolled in an approved clinical trial.

(b) "Routine patient costs" do not include:

(i) An investigational item, device or service that is part of the trial;

(ii) An item or service provided solely to satisfy data collection and analysis needs for the trial if the item or services is not used in the direct clinical management of the patient;

(iii) A service that is clearly inconsistent with widely accepted and established standards of care for the individual's diagnosis; or

(iv) An item or service customarily provided and paid for by the sponsor of a trial.

B. A health carrier that offers a health benefit plan providing small group market health insurance coverage in this state may not:

(1) Deny participation by a qualified individual in an approved clinical trial;

(2) Deny, limit or impose additional conditions on the coverage of routine patient costs for items or services furnished in connection with participation in a trial; or

(3) Discriminate against an individual on the basis of the individual's participation in an approved clinical trial.

C. A network plan may require a qualified individual who wishes to participate in an approved clinical trial to participate in a trial that is offered through a health care provider who is part of the network plan if the provider is participating in the trial and the provider accepts the individual as a participant in the trial.

D. This section applies to a qualified individual residing in this state who participates in an approved clinical trial that is conducted outside of this state.

E. This section shall not be construed to require a health carrier offering small group market health insurance coverage through a network plan to provide benefits for routine patient costs if the services are provided outside of the plan's network unless the out-of-network benefits are otherwise provided under the coverage.

F. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit a health carrier's coverage with respect to clinical trials.

Section 16. Choice of Health Care Professional; Access to Pediatric and Obstetrical and Gynecological Care Requirements

A. (1) (a) If a health carrier providing small group market health insurance coverage under a health benefit plan requires or provides for the designation by a covered person of a participating primary health care professional, the health carrier shall permit each covered person to:

(i) Designate any participating primary care health care professional who is available to accept the covered person; and

(ii) For a child, designate any participating physician who specializes in pediatrics as the child's primary care health care professional and is available to accept the child.

(b) The provisions of subparagraph (a)(ii) shall not be construed to waive any exclusions of coverage under the terms and conditions of the health benefit plan with respect to coverage of pediatric care.

(2) (a) If a health carrier provides small group market health insurance coverage under a health benefit plan for obstetrical or gynecological care and requires the designation by a covered person of a participating primary care health care professional, the health carrier:

(i) Shall not require any covered person's, including a primary care health care professional's, authorization or referral in the case of a female covered person who seeks coverage for obstetrical or gynecological care provided by a participating health care professional who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology; and

(ii) Shall treat the provision of obstetrical and gynecological care, and the ordering of related obstetrical and gynecological items and services, pursuant to item (i), by a participating health care professional who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology as the authorization of the primary care health care professional.

(b) (i) The health carrier may require the health care professional to agree to otherwise adhere to the health carrier's policies and procedures, including procedures for obtaining prior authorization and provider services in accordance with a treatment plan, if any, approved by the health carrier.

(ii) For purposes of item (i), a health care professional, who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology, means any individual, including an individual other than a physician, who is authorized under state law to provide obstetrical or gynecological care.

(c) The provisions of Subparagraph (b)(i) shall not be construed to:

(i) Waive any exclusions of coverage under the terms and conditions of the health benefit plan with respect to coverage of obstetrical or gynecological care; or

(ii) Preclude the health carrier involved from requiring that the participating health care professional providing obstetrical or gynecological care notify the primary care health care professional or the health carrier of treatment decisions.

B. (1) A health carrier shall provide notice to covered persons of the terms and conditions of the health benefit plan related to the designation of a participating health care professional provided in Subsection A and of a covered person's rights with respect to those provisions.

(2) The notice described in paragraph (1) shall be included whenever the health carrier provides a covered person with a summary plan description or other similar description of benefits under the health benefit plan.

Section 17. Provision of Summary of Benefits and Coverage Explanation

A. Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage shall provide a summary of benefits and coverage explanation pursuant to the standards adopted by the Secretary under Section 2715(a) of the PHSA to:

(1) An applicant at the time of application;

(2) A covered person prior to the time of enrollment or reenrollment, as applicable; and

(3) A certificate holder at the time of issuance of the certificate.

B. A health carrier described in Subsection A shall be deemed to have complied with Subsection A if the summary of benefits and coverage described in Section 2715(a) of the PHSA is provided in paper or electronic form in accordance with the standards adopted by the Secretary under Section 2715(d) of the PHSA.

C. Except with respect to a renewal or reissuance of coverage, if a health carrier makes any material modifications in any of the terms of the coverage, as defined for purposes of Section 102 of ERISA, that is not reflected in the most recently provided summary of benefits and coverage, the carrier shall provide notice of the modification to covered persons not later than sixty (60) days prior to the date on which the modification will become effective.

Drafting Note: Under Section 2715(f) of the PHSA, a health carrier that willfully fails to provide the information required under Section 2715 of the PHSA is subject to a federal civil penalty of not more than $1,000 for each such failure. In addition, Section 2715(f) of the PHSA provides that such failure with respect to each covered person shall constitute a separate offense.

Drafting Note: The language of this section reflects the provisions of Section 2715 of the PHSA. Regulations issued by the Secretary related to Section 2715 of the PHSA provide more specific information and requirements not reflected in this section. The NAIC, through the work of the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force, anticipates developing a model regulation as a companion to this Act, which will reflect the more specific information and requirements provided in the federal regulation.

Section 18. Certification of Creditable Coverage

A. A health carrier offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage shall provide written certification of creditable coverage to individuals in accordance with Subsection B.

B. (1) The certification of creditable coverage shall be provided:

(a) At the time an individual ceases to be covered under the health benefit plan or otherwise becomes covered under a COBRA continuation provision;

(b) In the case of an individual who becomes covered under a COBRA continuation provision, at the time the individual ceases to be covered under that provision; and

(c) At the time a request is made on behalf of an individual if the request is made not later than twenty-four (24) months after the date of cessation of coverage described in subparagraph (a) or (b), whichever is later.

(2) The certification under paragraph (1) may be provided, to the extent practicable, at a time consistent with notices required under any applicable COBRA continuation provision.

C. The certification described in this subsection is a written certification of:

(1) The period of creditable coverage of the individual under the health benefit plan and the coverage, if any, under such COBRA continuation provision; and

(2) The waiting period, if any, and affiliation period, if applicable, imposed on the individual for any coverage under the health benefit plan.

Drafting Note: Federal regulations issued pursuant to Section 2704(e) of the PHSA include additional information that must be included in a certificate of creditable coverage. The NAIC, through the work of the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force, anticipates developing a model regulation as a companion to this Act, which will reflect the more specific information and requirements provided in the federal regulation.

Section 19. Standards to Assure Fair Marketing

A. Subject to Section 6A(1) of this Act, each health carrier shall actively market all health benefit plans sold by the carrier to eligible small employers in this state.

B. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), a health carrier or a producer shall not, directly or indirectly, engage in the following activities:

(a) Encourage or direct small employers to refrain from filing an application for coverage with the carrier because of any health status-related factor or because of the industry, occupation or geographic location of the small employer;

(b) Encourage or direct small employers to seek coverage from another carrier because of any health status-related factor or because of the industry, occupation or geographic location of the small employer.

(2) The provisions of paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to information provided by a health carrier or producer to a small employer regarding the established geographic service area or a restricted network provision of a health carrier.

C. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), a health carrier shall not, directly or indirectly, enter into any contract, agreement or arrangement with a producer that provides for or results in the compensation paid to a producer for the sale of a health benefit plan to be varied because of any initial or renewal health status-related factor, industry, occupation or geographic location of the small employer.

(2) Paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to a compensation arrangement that provides compensation to a producer that does not vary because of any health status-related factor, industry, occupation or geographic area of the small employer.

D. A health carrier shall not terminate, fail to renew or limit its contract or agreement of representation with a producer for any reason related to any initial or renewal health status-related factor, occupation or geographic location of the small employers placed by the producer with the carrier.

E. A health carrier or producer shall not induce or otherwise encourage a small employer to separate or otherwise exclude an employee or dependent of an employee from coverage or benefits provided in connection with the employee's employment.

F. Denial by a health carrier of an application for coverage from a small employer shall be in writing or electronically provided and shall state the reason or reasons for the denial. Nothing in this subsection allows any denial by a health carrier that is not in compliance with Sections 6 and 7 of this Act.

G. The Commissioner may establish regulations setting forth additional standards to provide for the fair marketing and broad availability of health benefit plans to small employers in this state.

H. (1) A violation of this section by a health carrier or a producer shall be an unfair trade practice under [insert appropriate reference to state law corresponding to Section 4 of the NAIC Unfair Trade Practices Act].

(2) If a health carrier enters into a contract, agreement or other arrangement with a third party administrator to provide administrative, marketing or other services related to the offering of health benefit plans to small employers in this state, the third party administrator shall be subject to this section as if it were a health carrier.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that the provisions of Section 19 of this Act are subject to change depending on whether federal regulations or guidance are issued on the topic.

Section 20. Quality of Care Reporting Requirements

A. (1) Health carriers offering health benefit plans providing small group market health insurance coverage in this state shall annually submit to the Secretary and the Commissioner in each state the carrier is licensed and to covered persons under the coverage, a report on whether the benefits under the coverage satisfy the elements described in Subsection B.

(2) The report required under paragraph (1) shall be made available to a covered person under the coverage during each open enrollment period.

B. (1) For purposes of Subsection A, using the reporting requirements developed by the Secretary, a health carrier shall report on coverage benefits and health care provider reimbursement structures that:

(a) Improve health outcomes through the implementation of activities such as quality reporting, effective case management, care coordination, chronic disease management, and medication and care compliance initiatives, including through the use of the medical homes model, as defined for purposes of Section 3602 of the Federal Act, for treatment or services under the coverage;

(b) Implement activities that prevent hospital readmissions through a comprehensive program for hospital discharge that includes patient-centered education and counseling, comprehensive discharge planning and post discharge reinforcement by an appropriate health care professional;

(c) Implement activities to improve patient safety and reduce medical errors through the appropriate use of best clinical practices, evidence based medicine and health information technology under the coverage; and

(d) Implement wellness and health promotion activities.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1)(d), wellness and health promotion activities may include personalized wellness and prevention services, which are coordinated, maintained or delivered by a health care provider, a wellness and prevention plan manager or a health, wellness or prevention services organization that conducts health risk assessments or offers ongoing face-to-face, telephonic or web-based intervention efforts for each of the program's participants, and which may include the following wellness and prevention efforts:

(a) Smoking cessation;

(b) Weight management;

(c) Stress management;

(d) Physical fitness;

(e) Nutrition;

(f) Heart disease prevention;

(g) Healthy lifestyle support; and

(h) Diabetes prevention.

Section 21. Prohibited Activities

The Commissioner may by regulation prescribe standards for determining whether a policy issued as a stop loss policy is a health benefit plan for the purposes of this Act.

Section 22. Risk Adjustment Mechanism

The Commissioner may establish an assessment and payment mechanism for health carriers providing small group market health insurance coverage to adjust for actuarial risk that is consistent with the criteria and methods developed by the Secretary in accordance with Section 1343(b) of the Federal Act.

Drafting Note: States should be aware that, in guidance issued by HHS, HHS indicated that it would operate the risk adjustment program in those states that do not establish a State-based Exchange (SBE).

Section 23. Regulations

The Commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable regulations to carry out the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with [insert statutory citation providing for administrative rulemaking and review of regulations].

Section 24. Severability

If any provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the Act and the application of its provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Section 25. Effective Date

This Act shall be effective on [insert date].

SMALL GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

SMALL GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2013

SMALL GROUP MARKET HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE MODEL ACT (#106)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

At the 2011 Spring National Meeting, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force discussed a work plan to develop one or more new NAIC models that would incorporate the 2014 market reforms under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) and its Sept. 23, 2010 immediate reform provisions. At the 2012 Spring National Meeting, the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force decided to develop two new NAIC model acts: one for the non-group market and the second for the small group market. The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force adopted the Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act Nov. 29 at the 2012 Fall National Meeting and presented it to the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee for its consideration. As part of the Task Force's report, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee adopted the Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage Model Act on Nov. 30.

Major provisions in the model act include:

Provisions reflecting the ACA's 2014 market reforms:

- Restrictions Relating to Premium Rates (Section 5)
- Guaranteed Availability of Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage (Section 6)
- Guaranteed Renewability of Small Group Market Health Insurance Coverage (Section 7)
- Prohibition of Preexisting Condition Exclusions (Section 9)
- Comprehensive Health Insurance Coverage Requirements (Section 13)
- Coverage for Participation in Approved Clinical Trials (Section 15)
- Provision of Summary of Benefits and Coverage Explanation (Section 17)
- Quality of Care Reporting Requirements (Section 20)

Provisions using the model language template language from the ACA's Sept. 23, 2010 immediate reform provisions:

- Extension of Dependent Coverage (Section 8)
- Prohibition on Lifetime and Annual Limits (Section 11)
- Prohibition on Rescissions of Coverage (Section 12)
- Coverage of Preventive Health Services (Section 14)
- Choice of Health Care Professional; Access to Pediatric and Obstetrical and Gynecological Care Requirements (Section 16)

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force drafted the model language. The members of the Task Force are: South Dakota, Chair, Idaho, Vice Chair, California, Colorado, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Regulatory Framework Task Force has a general charge to: coordinate and develop the provision of technical assistance to the states regarding state level implementation issues raised by federal health legislation and regulations. The Task Force also has a specific charge to consider the development of new NAIC model laws and regulations and the revision of existing NAIC model laws and regulations affected by federal legislation and final federal regulations promulgated pursuant to such legislation.

After the enactment of the ACA in March 2010, consistent with its charges, the Health Insurance and Managed Care (B) Committee directed the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force to review and revise existing NAIC models impacted by the ACA or, as necessary, develop new NAIC models to assist the states in implementing the ACA. This proposed new NAIC model act is consistent with that directive.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The model act was drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held in-person meetings at each of the 2012 National Meetings and at a June 26, 2012 interim meeting during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. The drafts and comments received on the drafts were also discussed during open conference calls held on Sept. 19, Oct. 24 and Nov. 19, 2012. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website. During these in-person meetings and open conference calls representatives from various stakeholder groups participated, including consumer representatives, such as Georgetown University Health Policy Institute, Consumers for Affordable Health Care, Center on Budget and Policy Priorities (CBPP), Consumers Union and Families USA; and industry representatives, such as America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP), BlueCross and BlueShield Association (BCBSA), WellPoint and Golden Rule.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The model act was drafted by the Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force. The Task Force held in-person meetings at each of the 2012 National Meetings and at a June 26, 2012 interim meeting during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. The drafts and comments received on the drafts were also discussed during open conference calls held on Sept. 19, Oct. 24 and Nov. 19, 2012. All drafts and comments were posted on the Task Force's page on the NAIC Internet website.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

There were no significant issues discussed during the drafting process for this model act.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

NONDISCRIMINATION IN HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE IN THE GROUP MARKET MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This regulation shall be known and may be cited as the Nondiscrimination in Health Insurance Coverage in the Group Market Model Regulation.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to incorporate the requirements set forth in the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) and federal regulations that prohibit carriers providing health insurance coverage under a health benefit plan in the group market from discriminating against individual participants or beneficiaries in these plans with respect to plan eligibility and in setting premium and contribution rates based on any health factor of the participants or beneficiaries.

Section 3. Definitions

As used in this regulation:

A. "Affiliation period" means a period of time that must expire before health insurance coverage provided by a carrier becomes effective, and during which the carrier is not required to provide benefits.

B. "Beneficiary" has the meaning stated in Section 3(8) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA).

C. "Carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. For the purposes of this regulation, carrier includes a sickness and accident insurance company, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, a health maintenance organization, and any other entity providing a plan of health insurance or health benefits subject to state insurance regulation.

Drafting Note: HIPAA uses the term "health insurance issuer" instead of "carrier." The definition of "health insurance issuer" contained in HIPAA is consistent with the term "carrier," as defined in Subsection C of this section.

D. "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of this state.

Drafting Note: Where the word "commissioner" appears in this regulation, the appropriate designation for the chief insurance supervisory official of the state should be substituted. Where jurisdiction of managed care organizations lies with some other state agency, or dual regulation occurs, a state should add additional language referencing that agency to ensure the appropriate coordination of responsibilities.

E. (1) "Creditable coverage" means, with respect to an individual, health benefits or coverage provided under any of the following:

(a) A group health plan;

(b) A health benefit plan;

(c) Part A or Part B of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act (Medicare);

(d) Title XIX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid), other than coverage consisting solely of benefits under Section 1928 (the program for distribution of pediatric vaccines);

(e) Chapter 55 of Title 10, United States Code (medical and dental care for members and certain former members of the uniformed services, and for their dependents). For purposes of Chapter 55 of Title 10, U.S.C., "uniformed services" means the armed forces and the Commissioned Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and of the Public Health Service);

(f) A medical care program of the Indian Health Service or of a tribal organization;

(g) A state health benefits risk pool;

(h) A health plan offered under Chapter 89 of Title 5, United States Code (Federal Employees Health Benefits Program (FEHBP));

(i) A public health plan, which for purposes of this regulation, means a plan established or maintained by a state, county, or other political subdivision of a state that provides health insurance coverage to individuals enrolled in the plan; or

(j) A health benefit plan under Section 5(e) of the Peace Corps Act (22 U.S.C. 2504(e)).

(2) A period of creditable coverage shall not be counted, with respect to enrollment of an individual under a group health plan, if, after such period and before the enrollment date, the individual experiences a significant break in coverage.

Drafting Note: States may wish to grant the commissioner rulemaking authority to further define the coverage that falls within the definition above. However, the commissioner's authority is limited by the requirements of HIPAA with respect to creditable coverage. The definition of "creditable coverage" is governed by HIPAA's preemption rule relating to state provisions addressing preexisting conditions, which is more stringent than the general preemption test under HIPAA. State provisions relating to preexisting conditions are preempted if they differ from the requirements of HIPAA, unless the state provision falls into one of seven explicit exceptions. However, one of these seven exceptions is broad and permits a state requirement to stand if the requirement "prohibits the imposition of any preexisting condition exclusion in cases not described in Section 2701(d) or expands the exceptions described in such section." PHSA Section 2723(b)(2)(v). The language of this section permits states to continue to prohibit preexisting condition exclusions in a number of situations not specifically addressed by HIPAA.

F. "Dependent" shall be defined in the same manner as [insert reference to state insurance law defining dependent].

Drafting Note: States without a statutory definition of dependent may wish to use the following definition:

> "Dependent" means a spouse, an unmarried child under the age of [nineteen (19)] years, an unmarried child who is a full-time student under the age of [insert maximum age] and who is financially dependent upon the participant, and an unmarried child of any age who is medically certified as disabled and dependent upon the participant.

Drafting Note: If using the suggested definition above, states should insert a maximum age for student dependents that is consistent with other state laws. States also may wish to include other individuals defined as dependents by state law. The term child above is not intended to be limited to natural children of the participant.

G. "Enrollment date" means the first day of coverage or, if there is a waiting period, the first day of the waiting period, whichever is earlier.

H. (1) "Genetic information" means information about genes, gene products and inherited characteristics that may derive from the individual or a family member.

(2) "Genetic information" includes information regarding an individual's carrier status and information derived from laboratory tests that identify mutations in specific genes or chromosomes, physical medical examinations, family histories and direct analysis of genes or chromosomes.

I. (1) "Group health plan" means an employee welfare benefit plan, as defined in Section 3(1) of ERISA, to the extent that the plan provides medical care and including items and services paid for as medical care to employees or their dependents as defined under the terms of the plan directly or through insurance, reimbursement, or otherwise.

(2) For purposes of this regulation:

(a) Any plan, fund or program that would not be, but for PHSA Section 2721(e), as added by Pub. L. No. 104-191, an employee welfare benefit plan and that is established or maintained by a partnership, to the extent that the plan, fund or program provides medical care, including items and services paid for as medical care, to present or former partners in the partnership, or to their dependents, as defined under the terms of the plan, fund or program, directly or through insurance, reimbursement or otherwise, shall be treated, subject to Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, as an employee welfare benefit plan that is a group health plan;

(b) In the case of a group health plan, the term "employer" also includes the partnership in relation to any partner; and

(c) In the case of a group health plan, the term "participant," as defined in Subsection P, also includes an individual who is, or may become, eligible to receive a benefit under the plan, or the individual's beneficiary who is, or may become, eligible to receive a benefit under the plan, if:

(i) In connection with a group health plan maintained by a partnership, the individual is a partner in relation to the partnership; or

(ii) In connection with a group health plan maintained by a self-employed individual, under which, one or more employees are participants, the individual is the self-employed individual.

Drafting Note: Paragraph (1) of the definition of "group health plan" tracks the federal definition of "group health plan" found in PHSA Section 2791(a)(1), as amended by HIPAA. However, the federal law's definition of "group health plan" also defines "medical care" as part of the definition of "group health plan." In this model regulation, the definition of "medical care" is separate from the definition of "group health plan" and is found in Subsection N of this section. The definition of "group health plan" in this model also differs from the federal definition in that it contains Paragraph (2), which tracks the language of PHSA Section 2721(e), as amended by HIPAA, addressing the treatment of partnerships.

J. (1) "Health benefit plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered or issued by a carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services.
