(1) Acts or omissions committed by any person who, knowingly or with intent to defraud, for the purpose of depriving another of property or for pecuniary gain, commits, or permits its employees or its agents to engage in acts including:

(a) Presenting, causing to be presented or preparing with knowledge or belief that it will be presented to or by a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker, viatical settlement purchaser, [viatical settlement investment agent,] financing entity, insurer, insurance producer or any other person, false material information, or concealing material information, as part of, in support of or concerning a fact material to one or more of the following:

(i) An application for the issuance of a viatical settlement contract or insurance policy;

(ii) The underwriting of a viatical settlement contract or insurance policy;

(iii) A claim for payment or benefit pursuant to a viatical settlement contract or insurance policy;

(iv) Premiums paid on an insurance policy[, or as a result of a viatical settlement purchase agreement];

(v) Payments and changes in ownership or beneficiary made in accordance with the terms of a viatical settlement contract, [viatical settlement purchase agreement] or insurance policy;

(vi) The reinstatement or conversion of an insurance policy;

(vii) In the solicitation, offer, effectuation or sale of a viatical settlement contract, insurance policy [or viatical settlement purchase agreement];

(viii) The issuance of written evidence of viatical settlement contract, [viatical settlement purchase agreement] or insurance; or

(ix) A financing transaction; and

(b) Employing any plan, financial structure, device, scheme, or artifice to defraud related to viaticated policies.

(2) In the furtherance of a fraud or to prevent the detection of a fraud any person commits or permits its employees or its agents to:

(a) Remove, conceal, alter, destroy or sequester from the commissioner the assets or records of a licensee or other person engaged in the business of viatical settlements;

(b) Misrepresent or conceal the financial condition of a licensee, financing entity, insurer or other person;

(c) Transact the business of viatical settlements in violation of laws requiring a license, certificate of authority or other legal authority for the transaction of the business of viatical settlements; or

(d) File with the commissioner or the equivalent chief insurance regulatory official of another jurisdiction a document containing false information or otherwise conceals information about a material fact from the commissioner;

(3) Embezzlement, theft, misappropriation or conversion of monies, funds, premiums, credits or other property of a viatical settlement provider, insurer, insured, viator, insurance policyowner or any other person engaged in the business of viatical settlements or insurance;

(4) Recklessly entering into, negotiating, brokering, otherwise dealing in a viatical settlement contract, the subject of which is a life insurance policy that was obtained by presenting false information concerning any fact material to the policy or by concealing, for the purpose of misleading another, information concerning any fact material to the policy, where the person or the persons intended to defraud the policy's issuer, the viatical settlement provider or the viator. "Recklessly" means engaging in the conduct in conscious and clearly unjustifiable disregard of a substantial likelihood of the existence of the relevant facts or risks, such disregard involving a gross deviation from acceptable standards of conduct;

(5) Facilitating the change of state of ownership of a policy or certificate or the state of residency of a viator to a state or jurisdiction that does not have a law similar to this Act for the express purposes of evading or avoiding the provisions of this Act; or

(6) Attempting to commit, assisting, aiding or abetting in the commission of, or conspiracy to commit the acts or omissions specified in this subsection.

G. "Life insurance producer" means any person licensed in this state as a resident or nonresident insurance producer who has received qualification or authority for life insurance coverage or a life line of coverage pursuant to [insert reference to applicable producer licensing statute, with specific reference to a life insurance or equivalent line of authority].

H. "Person" means a natural person or a legal entity, including, without limitation, an individual, partnership, limited liability company, association, trust, or corporation.

I. "Policy" means an individual or group policy, group certificate, contract or arrangement of life insurance owned by a resident of this state , regardless of whether delivered or issued for delivery in this state.

J. "Related provider trust" means a titling trust or other trust established by a licensed viatical settlement provider or a financing entity for the sole purpose of holding the ownership or beneficial interest in purchased policies in connection with a financing transaction. The trust shall have a written agreement with the licensed viatical settlement provider under which the licensed viatical settlementprovider is responsible for ensuring compliance with all statutory and regulatory requirements and under which the trust agrees to make all records and files related to viatical settlement transactions available to the commissioner as if those records and files were maintained directly by the licensed viatical settlement provider.

K. "Special purpose entity" means a corporation, partnership, trust, limited liability company or other similar entity formed solely to provide either directly or indirectly access to institutional capital markets:

(1) For a financing entity or licensed viatical settlement provider; or

(2) (i) In connection with a transaction in which the securities in the special purposes entity are acquired by the viator or by "qualified institutional buyers" as defined in Rule 144 promulgated under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended; or

(ii) The securities pay a fixed rate of return commensurate with established asset-backed institutional capital markets.

L. "Terminally ill" means having an illness or sickness that can reasonably be expected to result in death in twenty-four (24) months or less.

M. "Viatical settlement broker" means a person, including a life insurance producer as provided for in Section 3 of this Act, who working exclusively on behalf of a viator and for a fee, commission or other valuable consideration, offers or attempts to negotiate viatical settlement contracts between a viator and one or more viatical settlement providers or one or more viatical settlement brokers. Notwithstanding the manner in which the viatical settlement broker is compensated, a viatical settlement broker is deemed to represent only the viator, and not the insurer or the viatical settlement provider, and owes a fiduciary duty to the viator to act according to the viator's instructions and in the best interest of the viator. The term does not include an attorney, certified public accountant or a financial planner accredited by a nationally recognized accreditation agency, who is retained to represent the viator and whose compensation is not paid directly or indirectly by the viatical settlement provider or purchaser.

N. (1) "Viatical settlement contract" means a written agreement between a viator and a viatical settlement provider or any affiliate of the viatical settlement provider establishing the terms under which compensation or anything of value is or will be paid, which compensation or value is less than the expected death benefits of the policy , in return for the viator's present or future assignment, transfer, sale, devise or bequest of the death benefit or ownership of any portion of the insurance policy or certificate of insurance.

(2) "Viatical settlement contract" includes a premium finance loan made for a life insurance policy by a lender to viator on, before or after the date of issuance of the policy where:

(a) The viator or the insured receives on the date of the premium finance loan a guarantee of a future viatical settlement value of the policy; or

(b) The viator or the insured agrees on the date of the premium finance loan to sell the policy or any portion of its death benefit on any date following the issuance of the policy.

(3) "Viatical settlement contract" does not include:

(a) A policy loan or accelerated death benefit made by the insurer pursuant to the policy's terms;

(b) Loan proceeds that are used solely to pay:

(i) Premiums for the policy;

(ii) The costs of the loan, including, without limitation, interest, arrangement fees, utilization fees and similar fees, closing costs, legal fees and expenses, trustee fees and expenses, and third party collateral provider fees and expenses, including fees payable to letter of credit issuers;

(c) A loan made by a bank or other licensed financial institution in which the lender takes an interest in a life insurance policy solely to secure repayment of a loan or, if there is a default on the loan and the policy is transferred, the transfer of such a policy by the lender, provided that the default itself is not pursuant to an agreement or understanding with any other person for the purpose of evading regulation under this Act;

(d) A loan made by a lender that does not violate [insert reference to state's insurance premium finance law], provided that the premium finance loan is not described in Paragraph (2) of this subsection;

(e) An agreement where all the parties (x) are closely related to the insured by blood or law or (y) have a lawful substantial economic interest in the continued life, health and bodily safety of the person insured, or are trusts established primarily for the benefit of such parties;

(f) Any designation, consent or agreement by an insured who is an employee of an employer in connection with the purchase by the employer, or trust established by the employer, of life insurance on the life of the employee;

(g) A bona fide business succession planning arrangement:

(i) Between one or more shareholders in a corporation or between a corporation and one or more of its shareholders or one or more trust established by its shareholders;

(ii) Between one or more partners in a partnership or between a partnership and one or more of its partners or one or more trust established by its partners; or

(iii) Between one or more members in a limited liability company or between a limited liability company and one or more of its members or one or more trust established by its members;

(h) An agreement entered into by a service recipient, or a trust established by the service recipient, and a service provider, or a trust established by the service provider, who performs significant services for the service recipient's trade or business; or

(i) Any other contract, transaction or arrangement exempted from the definition of viatical settlement contract by the commissioner based on a determination that the contract, transaction or arrangement is not of the type intended to be regulated by this Act.

[O. "Viatical settlement investment agent" means a person who is an appointed or contracted agent of a licensed viatical settlement provider who solicits or arranges the funding for the purchase of a viatical settlement by a viatical settlement purchaser and who is acting on behalf of a viatical settlement provider.

(1) A viatical settlement investment agent shall not have any contact directly or indirectly with the viator or insured or have knowledge of the identity of the viator or insured.

(2) A viatical settlement investment agent is deemed to represent the viatical settlement provider of whom the viatical settlement investment agent is an appointed or contracted agent.]

P. (1) "Viatical settlement provider" means a person, other than a viator, that enters into or effectuates a viatical settlement contract with a viator resident in this state.

(2) "Viatical settlement provider" does not include:

(a) A bank, savings bank, savings and loan association, credit union or other licensed lending institution that takes an assignment of a life insurance policy solely as collateral for a loan;

(b) A premium finance company making premium finance loans and exempted by the commissioner from the licensing requirement under the premium finance laws that takes an assignment of a life insurance policy solely as collateral for a loan;

(c) The issuer of the life insurance policy;

(d) An authorized or eligible insurer that provides stop loss coverage or financial guaranty insurance to a viatical settlement provider, purchaser, financing entity, special purpose entity or related provider trust;

(e) A natural person who enters into or effectuates no more than one agreement in a calendar year for the transfer of life insurance policies for any value less than the expected death benefit;

(f) A financing entity;

(g) A special purpose entity;

(h) A related provider trust;

(i) A viatical settlement purchaser; or

(j) Any other person that the commissioner determines is not the type of person intended to be covered by the definition of viatical settlement provider.

[Q. "Viatical settlement purchase agreement" means a contract or agreement, entered into by a viatical settlement purchaser, to which the viator is not a party, to purchase a life insurance policy or an interest in a life insurance policy, that is entered into for the purpose of deriving an economic benefit.]

R. (1) "Viatical settlement purchaser" means a person who provides a sum of money as consideration for a life insurance policy or an interest in the death benefits of a life insurance policy, or a person who owns or acquires or is entitled to a beneficial interest in a trust that owns a viatical settlement contract or is the beneficiary of a life insurance policy that has been or will be the subject of a viatical settlement contract, for the purpose of deriving an economic benefit.

(2) "Viatical settlement purchaser" does not include:

(a) A licensee under this Act;

(b) An accredited investor or qualified institutional buyer as defined, respectively, in Rule 501(a) or Rule 144A promulgated under the Federal Securities Act of 1933, as amended;

(c) A financing entity;

(d) A special purpose entity; or

(e) A related provider trust.

Drafting Note: States should consider ways to encourage cooperation between the regulators of the sale of the insurance policy and the regulators of the purchase of the interest by an investor if these are regulated by different state agencies. States should also review securities laws as they might apply to transactions governed under this Act.

S. "Viaticated policy" means a life insurance policy or certificate that has been acquired by a viatical settlement provider pursuant to a viatical settlement contract.

T. (1) "Viator" means the owner of a life insurance policy or a certificate holder under a group policy who resides in this state and enters or seeks to enter into a viatical settlement contract. For the purposes of this Act, a viator shall not be limited to an owner of a life insurance policy or a certificate holder under a group policy insuring the life of an individual with a terminal or chronic illness or condition except where specifically addressed. If there is more than one viator on a single policy and the viators are residents of different states, the transaction shall be governed by the law of the state in which the viator having the largest percentage ownership resides or, if the viators hold equal ownership, the state of residence of one viator agreed upon in writing by all the viators.

(2) "Viator" does not include:

(a) A licensee under this Act, including a life insurance producer acting as a viatical settlement broker pursuant to this Act;

(b) Qualified institutional buyer as defined, respectively, in Rule 144A promulgated under the Federal Securities Act of 1933, as amended;

(c) A financing entity;

(d) A special purpose entity; or

(e) A related provider trust.

Section 3. License and Bond Requirements

A. (1) A person shall not operate as a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker without first obtaining a license from the commissioner of the state of residence of the viator.

[(2) A person shall not operate as a viatical settlement investment agent without first obtaining a license from the commissioner of the state of residence of the viatical settlement purchaser. If there is more than one purchaser of a single policy and the purchasers are residents of different states, the viatical settlement purchase agreement shall be governed by the law of the state in which the purchaser having the largest percentage ownership resides or, if the purchasers hold equal ownership, the state of residence of one purchaser agreed upon in writing by all purchasers.]

Drafting Note: Regulators should be aware of the potential for conflict between the laws governing the sale and purchase of interests in life insurance policies and consider procedures to address any conflicts.

(3) (a) A life insurance producer who has been duly licensed as a resident insurance producer with a life line of authority in this state or his or her home state for at least one year and is licensed as a nonresident producer in this state shall be deemed to meet the licensing requirements of this section and shall be permitted to operate as a viatical settlement broker.

(b) Not later than thirty (30) days from the first day of operating as a viatical settlement broker, the life insurance producer shall notify the commissioner that he or she is acting as a viatical settlement broker on a form prescribed by the commissioner, and shall pay any applicable fee to be determined by the commissioner. Notification shall include an acknowledgement by the life insurance producer that he or she will operate as a viatical settlement broker in accordance with this Act.

(c) The insurer that issued the policy being viaticated shall not be responsible for any act or omission of a viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider arising out of or in connection with the viatical settlement transaction, unless the insurer receives compensation for the placement of a viatical settlement contract from the viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker in connection with the viatical settlement contract.

Drafting Note: Section 3A(3)(a) and (b) would only apply to states that do not require the viatical settlement broker to obtain a separate license or registration. A life insurance producer operating in a state that requires a separate viatical settlement broker license or registration may be required to obtain such license or registration prior to operating as a viatical settlement broker in that state.

(4) A person licensed as an attorney, certified public accountant or financial planner accredited by a nationally recognized accreditation agency, who is retained to represent the viator, whose compensation is not paid directly or indirectly by the viatical settlement provider, may negotiate viatical settlement contracts on behalf of the viator without having to obtain a license as a viatical settlement broker.

B. Application for a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] license shall be made to the commissioner by the applicant on a form prescribed by the commissioner, and these applications shall be accompanied by the fees specified in Section [insert appropriate section].

C. Licenses may be renewed from year to year on the anniversary date upon payment of the annual renewal fees specified in Section [insert appropriate section]. Failure to pay the fees by the renewal date results in expiration of the license.

D. The applicant shall provide information on forms required by the commissioner. The commissioner shall have authority, at any time, to require the applicant to fully disclose the identity of all stockholders, partners, officers, members and employees, and the commissioner may, in the exercise of the commissioner's discretion, refuse to issue a license in the name of a legal entity if not satisfied that any officer, employee, stockholder, partner or member thereof who may materially influence the applicant's conduct meets the standards of this Act.

E. A license issued to a legal entity authorizes all partners, officers, members and designated employees to act as viatical settlement providers, viatical settlement brokers [or viatical settlement investment agents,] as applicable, under the license, and all those persons shall be named in the application and any supplements to the application.

F. Upon the filing of an application and the payment of the license fee, the commissioner shall make an investigation of each applicant and issue a license if the commissioner finds that the applicant:

(1) If a viatical settlement provider, has provided a detailed plan of operation;

(2) Is competent and trustworthy and intends to act in good faith in the capacity involved by the license applied for;

(3) Has a good business reputation and has had experience, training or education so as to be qualified in the business for which the license is applied for;

(4) (a) If a viatical settlement provider, has demonstrated evidence of financial responsibility in a format prescribed by the commissioner through either a surety bond executed and issued by an insurer authorized to issue surety bonds in this state or a deposit of cash, certificates of deposit or securities or any combination thereof in the amount of $250,000.

(b) If a viatical settlement broker, has demonstrated evidence of financial responsibility in a format prescribed by the commissioner through either a surety bond executed and issued by an insurer authorized to issue surety bonds in this state or a deposit of cash, certificates of deposit or securities or any combination thereof in the amount of $250,000.

(c) The commissioner may ask for evidence of financial responsibility at any time the commissioner deems necessary.

(d) Any surety bond issued pursuant to Paragraph (4) shall be in the favor of this state and shall specifically authorize recovery by the commissioner on behalf of any person in this state who sustained damages as the result of erroneous acts, failure to act, conviction of fraud or conviction of unfair practices by the viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker.

(e) Notwithstanding any provision of this section to contrary, the commissioner shall accept, as evidence of financial responsibility, proof that financial instruments in accordance with the requirements in this paragraph have been filed with one state where the applicant is licensed as a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker.

(5) If a legal entity, provides a certificate of good standing from the state of its domicile; and

(6) If a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker, has provided an anti-fraud plan that meets the requirements of Section 14G of this Act.

G. The commissioner shall not issue a license to a nonresident applicant, unless a written designation of an agent for service of process is filed and maintained with the commissioner or the applicant has filed with the commissioner, the applicant's written irrevocable consent that any action against the applicant may be commenced against the applicant by service of process on the commissioner.

H. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement investment agent shall provide to the commissioner new or revised information about officers, ten percent (10%) or more stockholders, partners, directors, members or designated employees within thirty (30) days of the change.

I. An individual licensed as a viatical settlement broker shall complete on a biennial basis fifteen (15) hours of training related to viatical settlements and viatical settlement transactions, as required by the commissioner; provided, however, that a life insurance producer who is operating as a viatical settlement broker pursuant to Subsection A(3) shall not be subject to the requirements of this subsection. Any person failing to meet the requirements of this subsection shall be subject to the penalties imposed by the commissioner.

Section 4. License Revocation and Denial

A. The commissioner may refuse to issue, suspend, revoke or refuse to renew the license of a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] if the commissioner finds that:

(1) There was any material misrepresentation in the application for the license;

(2) The licensee or any officer, partner, member or key management personnel has been convicted of fraudulent or dishonest practices, is subject to a final administrative action or is otherwise shown to be untrustworthy or incompetent;

(3) The viatical settlement provider demonstrates a pattern of unreasonable payments to viators;

(4) The licensee or any officer, partner, member or key management personnel has been found guilty of, or has pleaded guilty or nolo contendere to, any felony, or to a misdemeanor involving fraud or moral turpitude, regardless of whether a judgment of conviction has been entered by the court;

(5) The viatical settlement provider has entered into any viatical settlement contract that has not been approved pursuant to this Act;

(6) The viatical settlement provider has failed to honor contractual obligations set out in a viatical settlement contract [or a viatical settlement purchase agreement];

(7) The licensee no longer meets the requirements for initial licensure;

(8) The viatical settlement provider has assigned, transferred or pledged a viaticated policy to a person other than a viatical settlement provider licensed in this state, viatical settlement purchaser, an accredited investor or qualified institutional buyer as defined respectively in Rule 501(a) or Rule 144A promulgated under the Federal Securities Act of 1933, as amended, financing entity, special purpose entity, or related provider trust; or

(9) The licensee or any officer, partner, member or key management personnel has violated any provision of this Act.

B. The commissioner may suspend, revoke or refuse to renew the license of a viatical settlement broker or a life insurance producer operating as a viatical settlement broker pursuant to this Act if the commissioner finds that the viatical settlement broker or life insurance producer has violated the provisions of this Act or has otherwise engaged in of bad faith conduct with one or more viators.

C. If the commissioner denies a license application or suspends, revokes or refuses to renew the license of a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent,] or suspends, revokes, or refuses to renew a license of a life insurance producer operating as a viatical settlement broker pursuant to this Act the commissioner shall conduct a hearing in accordance with [insert reference to state's administrative procedure act].

Section 5. Approval of Viatical Settlement Contracts and Disclosure Statements

A person shall not use a viatical settlement contract form or provide to a viator a disclosure statement form in this state unless first filed with and approved by the commissioner. The commissioner shall disapprove a viatical settlement contract form or disclosure statement form if, in the commissioner's opinion, the contract or provisions contained therein fail to meet the requirements of Sections 8, 10, 13 and 14B of this Act or are unreasonable, contrary to the interests of the public, or otherwise misleading or unfair to the viator. At the commissioner's discretion, the commissioner may require the submission of advertising material.

Section 6. Reporting Requirements and Privacy

A. Each viatical settlement provider shall file with the commissioner on or before March 1 of each year an annual statement containing such information as the commissioner may prescribe by regulation. Such information shall be limited to only those transactions where the viator is a resident of this state. Individual transaction data regarding the business of viatical settlements or data that could compromise the privacy of personal, financial and health information of the viator or insured shall be filed with the commissioner on a confidential basis.

B. Except as otherwise allowed or required by law, a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker, [viatical settlement investment agent,] insurance company, insurance producer, information bureau, rating agency or company, or any other person with actual knowledge of an insured's identity, shall not disclose that identity as an insured, or the insured's financial or medical information to any other person unless the disclosure:

(1) Is necessary to effect a viatical settlement between the viator and a viatical settlement provider and the viator and insured have provided prior written consent to the disclosure;

(2) Is necessary to effect a viatical settlement purchase agreement between the viatical settlement purchaser and a viatical settlement provider and the viator and insured have provided prior written consent to the disclosure;]

(3) Is provided in response to an investigation or examination by the commissioner or any other governmental officer or agency or pursuant to the requirements of Section 14C;

(4) Is a term of or condition to the transfer of a policy by one viatical settlement provider to another viatical settlement provider;

(5) Is necessary to permit a financing entity, related provider trust or special purpose entity to finance the purchase of policies by a viatical settlement provider and the viator and insured have provided prior written consent to the disclosure;

(6) Is necessary to allow the viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker or their authorized representatives to make contacts for the purpose of determining health status; or

(7) Is required to purchase stop loss coverage or financial guaranty insurance.

Drafting Note: In implementing this section, states should keep in mind privacy considerations of insureds. However, the language needs to be broad enough to allow licensed entities to notify commissioners of unlicensed activity and for insurers to make necessary disclosures to insurers and in similar situations.

Section 7. Examination or Investigations

A. Authority, Scope and Scheduling of Examinations

(1) (a) The commissioner may conduct an examination under this Act of a licensee as often as the commissioner in his or her discretion deems appropriate after considering the factors set forth in this paragraph.

(b) In scheduling and determining the nature, scope, and frequency of the examinations, the commissioner shall consider such matters as the consumer complaints, results of financial statement analyses and ratios, changes in management or ownership, actuarial opinions, report of independent certified public accountants, and other relevant criteria as determined by the commissioner.

(2) For purposes of completing an examination of a licensee under this Act, the commissioner may examine or investigate any person, or the business of any person, in so far as the examination or investigation is, in the sole discretion of the commissioner, necessary or material to the examination of the licensee.

(3) In lieu of an examination under this Act of any foreign or alien licensee licensed in this state, the commissioner may, at the commissioner's discretion, accept an examination report on the licensee as prepared by the commissioner for the licensee's state of domicile or port-of-entry state.

(4) As far as practical, the examination of a foreign or alien licensee shall be made in cooperation with the insurance supervisory officials of other states in which the licensee transacts business.

B. Record Retention Requirements

(1) A person required to be licensed by this Act shall for five (5) years retain copies of all:

(a) Proposed, offered or executed contracts, purchase agreements, underwriting documents, policy forms, and applications from the date of the proposal, offer or execution of the contract or purchase agreement, whichever is later;

(b) All checks, drafts or other evidence and documentation related to the payment, transfer, deposit or release of funds from the date the transaction; and

(c) All other records and documents related to the requirements of this Act.

(2) This section does not relieve a person of the obligation to produce these documents to the commissioner after the retention period has expired if the person has retained the documents.

(3) Records required to be retained by this section must be legible and complete and may be retained in paper, photograph, microprocess, magnetic, mechanical, or electronic media, or by any process that accurately reproduces or forms a durable medium for the reproduction of a record.

C. Conduct of Examinations

(1) Upon determining that an examination should be conducted, the commissioner shall issue an examination warrant appointing one or more examiners to perform the examination and instructing them as to the scope of the examination. In conducting the examination, the examiner shall observe those guidelines and procedures set forth in the Examiners Handbook adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC). The commissioner may also employ such other guidelines or procedures as the commissioner may deem appropriate.

(2) Every licensee or person from whom information is sought, its officers, directors and agents shall provide to the examiners timely, convenient and free access at all reasonable hours at its offices to all books, records, accounts, papers, documents, assets and computer or other recordings relating to the property, assets, business and affairs of the licensee being examined. The officers, directors, employees and agents of the licensee or person shall facilitate the examination and aid in the examination so far as it is in their power to do so. The refusal of a licensee, by its officers, directors, employees or agents, to submit to examination or to comply with any reasonable written request of the commissioner shall be grounds for suspension or refusal of, or nonrenewal of any license or authority held by the licensee to engage in the viatical settlement business or other business subject to the commissioner's jurisdiction. Any proceedings for suspension, revocation or refusal of any license or authority shall be conducted pursuant to Section [insert reference to cease and desist statute or other law having a post-order hearing mechanism].

(3) The commissioner shall have the power to issue subpoenas, to administer oaths and to examine under oath any person as to any matter pertinent to the examination. Upon the failure or refusal of a person to obey a subpoena, the commissioner may petition a court of competent jurisdiction, and upon proper showing, the Court may enter an order compelling the witness to appear and testify or produce documentary evidence. Failure to obey the court order shall be punishable as contempt of court.

(4) When making an examination under this Act, the commissioner may retain attorneys, appraisers, independent actuaries, independent certified public accountants or other professionals and specialists as examiners, the reasonable cost of which shall be borne by the licensee that is the subject of the examination.

(5) Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to limit the commissioner's authority to terminate or suspend an examination in order to pursue other legal or regulatory action pursuant to the insurance laws of this state. Findings of fact and conclusions made pursuant to any examination shall be prima facie evidence in any legal or regulatory action.

(6) Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to limit the commissioner's authority to use and, if appropriate, to make public any final or preliminary examination report, any examiner or licensee workpapers or other documents, or any other information discovered or developed during the course of any examination in the furtherance of any legal or regulatory action which the commissioner may, in his or her sole discretion, deem appropriate.

Drafting Note: In many states examination work papers remain confidential. The previous paragraph should be adjusted to conform to state statute and practice.

D. Examination Reports

(1) Examination reports shall be comprised of only facts appearing upon the books, records or other documents of the licensee, its agents or other persons examined, or as ascertained from the testimony of its officers or agents or other persons examined concerning its affairs, and such conclusions and recommendations as the examiners find reasonably warranted from the facts.

(2) No later than sixty (60) days following completion of the examination, the examiner in charge shall file with the commissioner a verified written report of examination under oath. Upon receipt of the verified report, the commissioner shall transmit the report to the licensee examined, together with a notice that shall afford the licensee examined a reasonable opportunity of not more than thirty (30) days to make a written submission or rebuttal with respect to any matters contained in the examination report.

(3) In the event the commissioner determines that regulatory action is appropriate as a result of an examination, the commissioner may initiate any proceedings or actions provided by law.

E. Confidentiality of Examination Information

(1) Names and individual identification data for all viators shall be considered private and confidential information and shall not be disclosed by the commissioner, unless required by law.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this Act, all examination reports, working papers, recorded information, documents and copies thereof produced by, obtained by or disclosed to the commissioner or any other person in the course of an examination made under this Act, or in the course of analysis or investigation by the commissioner of the financial condition or market conduct of a licensee shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be subject to [insert open records, freedom of information, sunshine or other appropriate phrase], shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action. The commissioner is authorized to use the documents, materials or other information in the furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as part of the commissioner's official duties.

(3) Documents, materials or other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, in the possession or control of the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action if they are:

(a) Created, produced or obtained by or disclosed to the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries in the course of assisting an examination made under this Act, or assisting a commissioner in the analysis or investigation of the financial condition or market conduct of a licensee; or

(b) Disclosed to the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries under Subsection E(4) by a commissioner.

(c) For the purposes of Subsection E(2), "Act" includes the law of another state or jurisdiction that is substantially similar to this Act.

(4) Neither the commissioner nor any person that received the documents, material or other information while acting under the authority of the commissioner, including the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries, shall be permitted to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials or information subject to Subsection E(1).

(5) In order to assist in the performance of the commissioner's duties, the commissioner:

(a) May share documents, materials or other information, including the confidential and privileged documents, materials or information subject to Subsection E(1), with other state, federal and international regulatory agencies, with the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and with state, federal and international law enforcement authorities, provided that the recipient agrees to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the document, material, communication or other information;

(b) May receive documents, materials, communications or information, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials or information, from the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and from regulatory and law enforcement officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions, and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any document, material or information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material or information; and

(c) [Optional provision] May enter into agreements governing sharing and use of information consistent with this subsection.

(6) No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the documents, materials or information shall occur as a result of disclosure to the commissioner under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in Subsection E(4).

(7) A privilege established under the law of any state or jurisdiction that is substantially similar to the privilege established under this subsection shall be available and enforced in any proceeding in, and in any court of, this state.

(8) Nothing contained in this Act shall prevent or be construed as prohibiting the commissioner from disclosing the content of an examination report, preliminary examination report or results, or any matter relating thereto, to the commissioner of any other state or country, or to law enforcement officials of this or any other state or agency of the federal government at any time or to the NAIC, so long as such agency or office receiving the report or matters relating thereto agrees in writing to hold it confidential and in a manner consistent with this Act.

F. Conflict of Interest

(1) An examiner may not be appointed by the commissioner if the examiner, either directly or indirectly, has a conflict of interest or is affiliated with the management of or owns a pecuniary interest in any person subject to examination under this Act. This section shall not be construed to automatically preclude an examiner from being:

(a) A viator;

(b) An insured in a viaticated insurance policy; or

(c) A beneficiary in an insurance policy that is proposed to be viaticated.

(2) Notwithstanding the requirements of this clause, the commissioner may retain from time to time, on an individual basis, qualified actuaries, certified public accountants, or other similar individuals who are independently practicing their professions, even though these persons may from time to time be similarly employed or retained by persons subject to examination under this Act.

G. Cost of Examinations

Drafting Note: The NAIC Model State Insurance Department Funding Bill or such funding mechanism as may be currently authorized by law should be incorporated here by reference. Any funding mechanism should assure that the manner in which examinations are funded does not influence the scheduling, scope or conduct of examination.

H. Immunity from Liability

(1) No cause of action shall arise nor shall any liability be imposed against the commissioner, the commissioner's authorized representatives or any examiner appointed by the commissioner for any statements made or conduct performed in good faith while carrying out the provisions of this Act.

(2) No cause of action shall arise, nor shall any liability be imposed against any person for the act of communicating or delivering information or data to the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized representative or examiner pursuant to an examination made under this Act, if the act of communication or delivery was performed in good faith and without fraudulent intent or the intent to deceive. This paragraph does not abrogate or modify in any way any common law or statutory privilege or immunity heretofore enjoyed by any person identified in Paragraph (1).

(3) A person identified in Paragraph (1) or (2) shall be entitled to an award of attorney's fees and costs if he or she is the prevailing party in a civil cause of action for libel, slander or any other relevant tort arising out of activities in carrying out the provisions of this Act and the party bringing the action was not substantially justified in doing so. For purposes of this section a proceeding is "substantially justified" if it had a reasonable basis in law or fact at the time that it was initiated.

I. Investigative Authority of the Commissioner

The commissioner may investigate suspected fraudulent viatical settlement acts and persons engaged in the business of viatical settlements.

Section 8. Disclosure to Viator

A. With each application for a viatical settlement, a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker shall provide the viator with at least the following disclosures no later than the time the application for the viatical settlement contract is signed by all parties. The disclosures shall be provided in a separate document that is signed by the viator and the viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker, and shall provide the following information:

(1) There are possible alternatives to viatical settlement contracts including any accelerated death benefits or policy loans offered under the viator's life insurance policy.

(2) That a viatical settlement broker represents exclusively the viator, and not the insurer or the viatical settlement provider, and owes a fiduciary duty to the viator, including a duty to act according to the viator's instructions and in the best interest of the viator.

(3) Some or all of the proceeds of the viatical settlement may be taxable under federal income tax and state franchise and income taxes, and assistance should be sought from a professional tax advisor.

(4) Proceeds of the viatical settlement could be subject to the claims of creditors.

(5) Receipt of the proceeds of a viatical settlement may adversely affect the viator's eligibility for Medicaid or other government benefits or entitlements, and advice should be obtained from the appropriate government agencies.

(6) The viator has the right to rescind a viatical settlement contract before the earlier of sixty (60) calendar days after the date upon which the viatical settlement contract is executed by all parties or thirty (30) calendar days after the viatical settlement proceeds have been paid to the viator, as provided in Section 10F. Rescission, if exercised by the viator, is effective only if both notice of the rescission is given, and the viator repays all proceeds and any premiums, loans and loan interest paid on account of the viatical settlement within the rescission period. If the insured dies during the rescission period, the viatical settlement contract shall be deemed to have been rescinded, subject to repayment by the viator or the viator's estate of all viatical settlement proceeds and any premiums, loans and loan interest the viatical settlement within sixty (60) days of the insured's death.

(7) Funds will be sent to the viator within three (3) business days after the viatical settlement provider has received the insurer or group administrator's written acknowledgment that ownership of the policy or interest in the certificate has been transferred and the beneficiary has been designated.

(8) Entering into a viatical settlement contract may cause other rights or benefits, including conversion rights and waiver of premium benefits that may exist under the policy or certificate, to be forfeited by the viator. Assistance should be sought from a financial adviser.

(9) Disclosure to a viator shall include distribution of a brochure describing the process of viatical settlements. The NAIC's form for the brochure shall be used unless another form is developed or approved by the commissioner.

(10) The disclosure document shall contain the following language: "All medical, financial or personal information solicited or obtained by a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker about an insured, including the insured's identity or the identity of family members, a spouse or a significant other may be disclosed as necessary to effect the viatical settlement between the viator and the viatical settlement provider. If you are asked to provide this information, you will be asked to consent to the disclosure. The information may be provided to someone who buys the policy or provides funds for the purchase. You may be asked to renew your permission to share information every two years."

(11) Following execution of a viatical contract, the insured may be contacted for the purpose of determining the insured's health status and to confirm the insured's residential or business street address and telephone number, or as otherwise provided in this Act. This contact shall be limited to once every three (3) months if the insured has a life expectancy of more than one year, and no more than once per month if the insured has a life expectancy of one year or less. All such contracts shall be made only by a viatical settlement provider licensed in the state in which the viator resided at the time of the viatical settlement, or by the authorized representative of a duly licensed viatical settlement provider.

B. A viatical settlement provider shall provide the viator with at least the following disclosures no later than the date the viatical settlement contract is signed by all parties. The disclosures shall be conspicuously displayed in the viatical settlement contract or in a separate document signed by the viator and provide the following information:

(1) The affiliation, if any, between the viatical settlement provider and the issuer of the insurance policy to be viaticated;

(2) The document shall include the name, business address and telephone number of the viatical settlement provider;

(3) Any affiliations or contractual arrangements between the viatical settlement provider and the viatical settlement purchaser.

(4) If an insurance policy to be viaticated has been issued as a joint policy or involves family riders or any coverage of a life other than the insured under the policy to be viaticated, the viator shall be informed of the possible loss of coverage on the other lives under the policy and shall be advised to consult with his or her insurance producer or the insurer issuing the policy for advice on the proposed viatical settlement;

(5) State the dollar amount of the current death benefit payable to the viatical settlement provider under the policy or certificate. If known, the viatical settlement provider shall also disclose the availability of any additional guaranteed insurance benefits, the dollar amount of any accidental death and dismemberment benefits under the policy or certificate and the extent to which the viator's interest in those benefits will be transferred as a result of the viatical settlement contract; and

(6) State whether the funds will be escrowed with an independent third party during the transfer process, and if so, provide the name, business address, and telephone number of the independent third party escrow agent, and the fact that the viator or owner may inspect or receive copies of the relevant escrow or trust agreements or documents.

C. A viatical settlement broker shall provide the viator with at least the following disclosures no later than the date the viatical settlement contract is signed by all parties. The disclosures shall be conspicuously displayed in the viatical settlement contract or in a separate document signed by the viator and provide the following information:

(1) The name, business address and telephone number of the viatical settlement broker;

(2) A full, complete and accurate description of all offers, counter-offers, acceptances and rejections relating to the proposed viatical settlement contract;

(3) A written disclosure of any affiliations or contractual arrangements between the viatical settlement broker and any person making an offer in connection with the proposed viatical settlement contracts;

(4) The amount and method of calculating the broker's compensation, which term "compensation" includes anything of value paid or given to a viatical settlement broker for the placement of a policy; and

(5) Where any portion of the viatical settlement broker's compensation, as defined in Paragraph (3) of this subsection, is taken from a proposed viatical settlement offer, the broker shall disclose the total amount of the viatical settlement offer and the percentage of the viatical settlement offer comprised by the viatical settlement broker's compensation.

D. If the viatical settlement provider transfers ownership or changes the beneficiary of the insurance policy, the provider shall communicate in writing the change in ownership or beneficiary to the insured within twenty (20) days after the change.

E. A viatical settlement provider or its viatical settlement investment agent shall provide the viatical settlement purchaser with at least the following disclosures prior to the date the viatical settlement purchase agreement is signed by all parties. The disclosures shall be conspicuously displayed in any viatical purchase contract or in a separate document signed by the viatical settlement purchaser and viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement investment agent, and shall make the following disclosure to the viatical settlement purchaser:

(1) The purchaser will receive no returns (i.e., dividends and interest) until the insured dies and a death claim payment is made.

(2) The actual annual rate of return on a viatical settlement contract is dependent upon an accurate projection of the insured's life expectancy, and the actual date of the insured's death. An annual "guaranteed" rate of return is not determinable.

(3) The viaticated life insurance contract should not be considered a liquid purchase since it is impossible to predict the exact timing of its maturity and the funds probably are not available until the death of the insured. There is no established secondary market for resale of these products by the purchaser.

(4) The purchaser may lose all benefits or may receive substantially reduced benefits if the insurer goes out of business during the term of the viatical investment.

(5) The purchaser is responsible for payment of the insurance premium or other costs related to the policy, if required by the terms of the viatical purchase agreement. These payments may reduce the purchaser's return. If a party other than the purchaser is responsible for the payment, the name and address of that party also shall be disclosed.

(6) The purchaser is responsible for payment of the insurance premiums or other costs related to the policy if the insured returns to health. Disclose the amount of such premiums, if applicable.

(7) State the name, business address and telephone number of the independent third party providing escrow services and the relationship to the broker.

(8) The amount of any trust fees or other expenses to be charged to the viatical settlement purchaser shall be disclosed.

(9) State whether the purchaser is entitled to a refund of all or part of his or her investment under the settlement contract if the policy is later determined to be null and void.

(10) Disclose that group policies may contain limitations or caps in the conversion rights, additional premiums may have to be paid if the policy is converted, name the party responsible for the payment of the additional premiums and, if a group policy is terminated and replaced by another group policy, state that there may be no right to convert the original coverage.

(11) Disclose the risks associated with policy contestability including, but not limited to, the risk that the purchaser will have no claim or only a partial claim to death benefits should the insurer rescind the policy within the contestability period.

(12) Disclose whether the purchaser will be the owner of the policy in addition to being the beneficiary, and if the purchaser is the beneficiary only and not also the owner, the special risks associated with that status, including, but not limited to, the risk that the beneficiary may be changed or the premium may not be paid.

(13) Describe the experience and qualifications of the person who determines the life expectancy of the insured, i.e., in-house staff, independent physicians and specialty firms that weigh medical and actuarial data; the information this projection is based on; and the relationship of the projection maker to the viatical settlement provider, if any.

(14) Disclosure to an investor shall include distribution of a brochure describing the process of investment in viatical settlements. The NAIC's form for the brochure shall be used unless one is developed by the commissioner.]

F. A viatical settlement provider or its viatical settlement investment agent shall provide the viatical settlement purchaser with at least the following disclosures no later than at the time of the assignment, transfer or sale of all or a portion of an insurance policy. The disclosures shall be contained in a document signed by the viatical settlement purchaser and viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement investment agent, and shall make the following disclosures to the viatical settlement purchaser:

(1) Disclose all the life expectancy certifications obtained by the provider in the process of determining the price paid to the viator.

(2) State whether premium payments or other costs related to the policy have been escrowed. If escrowed, state the date upon which the escrowed funds will be depleted and whether the purchaser will be responsible for payment of premiums thereafter and, if so, the amount of the premiums.

(3) State whether premium payments or other costs related to the policy have been waived. If waived, disclose whether the investor will be responsible for payment of the premiums if the insurer that wrote the policy terminates the waiver after purchase and the amount of those premiums.

(4) Disclose the type of policy offered or sold, i.e., whole life, term life, universal life or a group policy certificate, any additional benefits contained in the policy, and the current status of the policy.

(5) If the policy is term insurance, disclose the special risks associated with term insurance including, but not limited to, the purchaser's responsibility for additional premiums if the viator continues the term policy at the end of the current term.

(6) State whether the policy is contestable.

(7) State whether the insurer that wrote the policy has any additional rights that could negatively affect or extinguish the purchaser's rights under the viatical settlement contract, what these rights are, and under what conditions these rights are activated.

(8) State the name and address of the person responsible for monitoring the insured's condition. Describe how often the monitoring of the insured's condition is done, how the date of death is determined, and how and when this information will be transmitted to the purchaser.]

[G. The viatical settlement purchase agreement is voidable by the purchaser at any time within three (3) days after the disclosures mandated by Subsections E and F of this section are received by the purchaser.]

Section 9. Disclosure to Insurer

Prior to the initiation of a plan, transaction or series of transactions, a viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider shall fully disclose to an insurer a plan, transaction or series of transactions, to which the viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider is a party, to originate, renew, continue or finance a life insurance policy with the insurer for the purpose of engaging in the business of viatical settlements at anytime prior to, or during the first five (5) years after, issuance of the policy.

Section 10. General Rules

A. (1) A viatical settlement provider entering into a viatical settlement contract shall first obtain:

(a) If the viator is the insured, a written statement from a licensed attending physician that the viator is of sound mind and under no constraint or undue influence to enter into a viatical settlement contract; and

(b) A document in which the insured consents to the release of his or her medical records to a licensed viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker and the insurance company that issued the life insurance policy covering the life of the insured.

(2) Within twenty (20) days after a viator executes documents necessary to transfer any rights under an insurance policy or within twenty (20) days of entering any agreement, option, promise or any other form of understanding, expressed or implied, to viaticate the policy, the viatical settlement provider shall give written notice to the insurer that issued that insurance policy that the policy has or will become a viaticated policy. The notice shall be accompanied by the documents required by Paragraph (3).

(3) The viatical provider shall deliver a copy of the medical release required under Paragraph (1)(b), a copy of the viator's application for the viatical settlement contract, the notice required under Paragraph (2) and a request for verification of coverage to the insurer that issued the life policy that is the subject of the viatical transaction. The NAIC's form for verification of coverage shall be used unless another form is developed and approved by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: The NAIC's forms are Appendices B and C of the Viatical Settlements Model Regulation.

(4) The insurer shall respond to a request for verification of coverage submitted on an approved form by a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker within thirty (30) calendar days of the date the request is received and shall indicate whether, based on the medical evidence and documents provided, the insurer intends to pursue an investigation at this time regarding the validity of the insurance contract or possible fraud. The insurer shall accept a request for verification of coverage made on an NAIC form or any other form approved by the commissioner. The insurer shall accept an original or facsimile or electronic copy of such request and any accompanying authorization signed by the viator. Failure by the insurer to meet its obligations under this subsection shall be a violation of Section 11C and Section 16 of this Act.

(5) Prior to or at the time of execution of the viatical settlement contract, the viatical settlement provider shall obtain a witnessed document in which the viator consents to the viatical settlement contract, represents that the viator has a full and complete understanding of the viatical settlement contract, that he or she has a full and complete understanding of the benefits of the life insurance policy, acknowledges that he or she is entering into the viatical settlement contract freely and voluntarily and, for persons with a terminal or chronic illness or condition, acknowledges that the insured has a terminal or chronic illness and that the terminal or chronic illness or condition was diagnosed after the life insurance policy was issued.

(6) If a viatical settlement broker performs any of these activities required of the viatical settlement provider, the provider is deemed to have fulfilled the requirements of this section.

B. All medical information solicited or obtained by any licensee shall be subject to the applicable provisions of state law relating to confidentiality of medical information.

Drafting Note: A state may wish to make specific reference to the privacy provisions adopted in response to the requirements of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, such as the state equivalent to the NAIC's Privacy of Consumer Financial and Health Information Regulation. Consider whether the state's privacy provision allows continual sharing of medical information or whether permission must be renewed.

C. All viatical settlement contracts entered into in this state shall provide the viator with an absolute right to rescind the contract before the earlier of sixty (60) calendar days after the date upon which the viatical settlement contract is executed by all parties or thirty (30) calendar days after the viatical settlement proceeds have been send to the viator as provided in Section 10F. Rescission by the viator may be conditioned upon the viator both giving notice and repaying to the viatical settlement provider within the rescission period all proceeds of the settlement and any premiums, loans and loan interest paid by or on behalf of the viatical settlement provider in connection with or as a consequence of the viatical settlement. If the insured dies during the rescission period, the viatical settlement contract shall be deemed to have been rescinded, subject to repayment to the viatical settlement provider or purchaser of all viatical settlement proceeds, and any premiums, loans and loan interest that have been paid by the viatical settlement provider or purchaser, which shall be paid within sixty (60) calendar days of the death of the insured. In the event of any rescission, if the viatical settlement provider has paid commissions or other compensation to a viatical settlement broker in connection with the rescinded transaction, the viatical settlement broker shall refund all such commissions and compensation to the viatical settlement provider within five business days following receipt of written demand from the viatical settlement provider, which demand shall be accompanied by either the viator's notice of rescission if rescinded at the election of the viator, or notice of the death of the insured if rescinded by reason of the death of the insured within the applicable rescission period.

[D. The purchaser shall have the right to rescind a viatical settlement contract within three (3) days after the disclosures mandated by Section 8D and 8E are received by the purchaser.]

E. The viatical settlement provider shall instruct the viator to send the executed documents required to effect the change in ownership, assignment or change in beneficiary directly to the independent escrow agent. Within three (3) business days after the date the escrow agent receives the document (or from the date the viatical settlement provider receives the documents, if the viator erroneously provides the documents directly to the provider), the provider shall pay or transfer the proceeds of the viatical settlement into an escrow or trust account maintained in a state or federally-chartered financial institution whose deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). Upon payment of the settlement proceeds into the escrow account, the escrow agent shall deliver the original change in ownership, assignment or change in beneficiary forms to the viatical settlement provider or related provider trust or other designated representative of the viatical settlement provider. Upon the escrow agent's receipt of the acknowledgment of the properly completed transfer of ownership, assignment or designation of beneficiary from the insurance company, the escrow agent shall pay the settlement proceeds to the viator.

F. Failure to tender consideration to the viator for the viatical settlement contract within the time set forth in the disclosure pursuant to Section 8A(7) renders the viatical settlement contract voidable by the viator for lack of consideration until the time consideration is tendered to and accepted by the viator. Funds shall be deemed sent by a viatical settlement provider to a viator as of the date that the escrow agent either releases funds for wire transfer to the viator or places a check for delivery to the viator via United States Postal Service or other nationally recognized delivery service.

G. Contacts with the insured for the purpose of determining the health status of the insured by the viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker after the viatical settlement has occurred shall only be made by the viatical settlement provider or broker licensed in this state or its authorized representatives and shall be limited to once every three (3) months for insureds with a life expectancy of more than one year, and to no more than once per month for insureds with a life expectancy of one year or less. The provider or broker shall explain the procedure for these contacts at the time the viatical settlement contract is entered into. The limitations set forth in this subsection shall not apply to any contacts with an insured for reasons other than determining the insured's health status. Viatical settlement providers and viatical settlement brokers shall be responsible for the actions of their authorized representatives.

Section 11. Prohibited Practices

A. It is a violation of this Act for any person to enter into a viatical settlement contract at any time prior to the application or issuance of a policy which is the subject of viatical settlement contract or within a five-year period commencing with the date of issuance of the insurance policy or certificate unless the viator certifies to the viatical settlement provider that one or more of the following conditions have been met within the five-year period:

(1) The policy was issued upon the viator's exercise of conversion rights arising out of a group or individual policy, provided the total of the time covered under the conversion policy plus the time covered under the prior policy is at least sixty (60) months. The time covered under a group policy shall be calculated without regard to any change in insurance carriers, provided the coverage has been continuous and under the same group sponsorship;

(2) The viator submits independent evidence to the viatical settlement provider that one or more of the following conditions have been met within the five-year period:

(a) The viator or insured is terminally or chronically ill;

(b) The viator's spouse dies;

(c) The viator divorces his or her spouse;

(d) The viator retires from full-time employment;

(e) The viator becomes physically or mentally disabled and a physician determines that the disability prevents the viator from maintaining full-time employment; or

(f) A final order, judgment or decree is entered by a court of competent jurisdiction, on the application of a creditor of the viator, adjudicating the viator bankrupt or insolvent, or approving a petition seeking reorganization of the viator or appointing a receiver, trustee or liquidator to all or a substantial part of the viator's assets; or

(3) The viator enters into a viatical settlement contract more than two (2) years after the date of issuance of a policy and, with respect to the policy, at all times prior to the date that is two (2) years after policy issuance, the following conditions are met:

(a) Policy premiums have been funded exclusively with unencumbered assets, including an interest in the life insurance policy being financed only to the extent of its net cash surrender value, provided by, or fully recourse liability incurred by, the insured or a person described in Section 2N(3)(e);

(b) There is no agreement or understanding with any other person to guarantee any such liability or to purchase, or stand ready to purchase, the policy, including through an assumption or forgiveness of the loan; and

(c) Neither the insured nor the policy has been evaluated for settlement.

B. Copies of the independent evidence described in Subsection A(2) and documents required by Section 10A shall be submitted to the insurer when the viatical settlement provider or other party entering into a viatical settlement contract with a viator submits a request to the insurer for verification of coverage. The copies shall be accompanied by a letter of attestation from the viatical settlement provider that the copies are true and correct copies of the documents received by the viatical settlement provider.

C. If the viatical settlement provider submits to the insurer a copy of the owner or insured's certification described in and the independent evidence required by Subsection A(2) when the provider submits a request to the insurer to effect the transfer of the policy or certificate to the viatical settlement provider, the copy shall be deemed to conclusively establish that the viatical settlement contract satisfies the requirements of this section and the insurer shall timely respond to the request.

D. No insurer may, as a condition of responding to a request for verification of coverage or effecting the transfer of a policy pursuant to a viatical settlement contract, require that the viator, insured, viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker sign any forms, disclosures, consent or waiver form that has not been expressly approved by the commissioner for use in connection with viatical settlement contracts in this state.

E. Upon receipt of a properly completed request for change of ownership or beneficiary of a policy, the insurer shall respond in writing within thirty (30) calendar days with written acknowledgement confirming that the change has been effected or specifying the reasons why the requested change cannot be processed. The insurer shall not unreasonably delay effecting change of ownership or beneficiary and shall not otherwise seek to interfere with any viatical settlement contract lawfully entered into in this state.

Section 12. Prohibited Practices and Conflicts of Interest

A. With respect to any viatical settlement contract or insurance policy, no viatical settlement broker knowingly shall solicit an offer from, effectuate a viatical settlement with or make a sale to any viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement purchaser, [viatical settlement investment agent], financing entity or related provider trust that is controlling, controlled by, or under common control with such viatical settlement broker.

B. With respect to any viatical settlement contract or insurance policy, no viatical settlement provider knowingly may enter into a viatical settlement contract with a viator, if, in connection with such viatical settlement contract, anything of value will be paid to a viatical settlement broker that is controlling, controlled by, or under common control with such viatical settlement provider or the viatical settlement purchaser, [viatical settlement investment agent], financing entity or related provider trust that is involved in such viatical settlement contract.

C. A violation of Subsection A or Subsection B shall be deemed a fraudulent viatical settlement act.

D. No viatical settlement provider shall enter into a viatical settlement contract unless the viatical settlement promotional, advertising and marketing materials, as may be prescribed by regulation, have been filed with the commissioner. In no event shall any marketing materials expressly reference that the insurance is "free" for any period of time. The inclusion of any reference in the marketing materials that would cause a viator to reasonably believe that the insurance is free for any period of time shall be considered a violation of this Act.

E. No life insurance producer, insurance company, viatical settlement broker, viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement investment agent shall make any statement or representation to the applicant or policyholder in connection with the sale or financing of a life insurance policy to the effect that the insurance is free or without cost to the policyholder for any period of time unless provided in the policy.

Section 13. Advertising for Viatical Settlements [and Viatical Settlements Purchase Agreements]

The purpose of this section is to provide prospective viators [and viatical settlement purchasers] with clear and unambiguous statements in the advertisement of viatical settlements and to assure the clear, truthful and adequate disclosure of the benefits, risks, limitations and exclusions of any viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement bought or sold]. This purpose is intended to be accomplished by the establishment of guidelines and standards of permissible and impermissible conduct in the advertising of viatical settlements to assure that product descriptions are presented in a manner that prevents unfair, deceptive or misleading advertising and is conducive to accurate presentation and description of viatical settlements through the advertising media and material used by viatical settlement licensees.

A. This section shall apply to any advertising of viatical settlement contracts, [viatical purchase agreements] or related products or services intended for dissemination in this state, including Internet advertising viewed by persons located in this state. Where disclosure requirements are established pursuant to federal regulation, this section shall be interpreted so as to minimize or eliminate conflict with federal regulation wherever possible.

B. Every viatical settlement licensee shall establish and at all times maintain a system of control over the content, form and method of dissemination of all advertisements of its contracts, products and services. All advertisements, regardless of by whom written, created, designed or presented, shall be the responsibility of the viatical settlement licensees, as well as the individual who created or presented the advertisement. A system of control shall include regular routine notification, at least once a year, to agents and others authorized by the viatical settlement licensee who disseminate advertisements of the requirements and procedures for approval prior to the use of any advertisements not furnished by the viatical settlement licensee.

C. Advertisements shall be truthful and not misleading in fact or by implication. The form and content of an advertisement of a viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement, product or service] shall be sufficiently complete and clear so as to avoid deception. It shall not have the capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive. Whether an advertisement has the capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive shall be determined by the commissioner from the overall impression that the advertisement may be reasonably expected to create upon a person of average education or intelligence within the segment of the public to which it is directed.

[D. Certain viatical settlement advertisements are deemed false and misleading on their face and are prohibited. False and misleading viatical settlement advertisements include, but are not limited to, the following representations:

(1) "Guaranteed," "fully secured," "100 percent secured," "fully insured," "secure," "safe," "backed by rated insurance companies," "backed by federal law," "backed by state law," or "state guaranty funds," or similar representations;

(2) "No risk," "minimal risk," "low risk," "no speculation," "no fluctuation," or similar representations;

(3) "Qualified or approved for individual retirement accounts (IRAs), Roth IRAs, 401(k) plans, simplified employee pensions (SEP), 403(b), Keogh plans, TSA, other retirement account rollovers," "tax deferred," or similar representations;

(4) Utilization of the word "guaranteed" to describe the fixed return, annual return, principal, earnings, profits, investment, or similar representations;

(5) "No sales charges or fees" or similar representations;

(6) "High yield," "superior return," "excellent return," "high return," "quick profit," or similar representations; and

(7) Purported favorable representations or testimonials about the benefits of viatical settlement contracts or viatical settlement purchase agreements as an investment, taken out of context from newspapers, trade papers, journals, radio and television programs, and all other forms of print and electronic media.]

E. The information required to be disclosed under this section shall not be minimized, rendered obscure, or presented in an ambiguous fashion or intermingled with the text of the advertisement so as to be confusing or misleading.

(1) An advertisement shall not omit material information or use words, phrases, statements, references or illustrations if the omission or use has the capacity, tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving viators, [purchasers or prospective purchasers] as to the nature or extent of any benefit, loss covered, premium payable, or state or federal tax consequence. The fact that the viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement] offered is made available for inspection prior to consummation of the sale, or an offer is made to refund the payment if the viator is not satisfied or that the viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement] includes a "free look" period that satisfies or exceeds legal requirements, does not remedy misleading statements.

(2) An advertisement shall not use the name or title of a life insurance company or a life insurance policy unless the advertisement has been approved by the insurer.

[(3) An advertisement shall not represent that premium payments will not be required to be paid on the life insurance policy that is the subject of a viatical settlement contract or viatical settlement purchase agreement in order to maintain that policy, unless that is the fact.]

(4) An advertisement shall not state or imply that interest charged on an accelerated death benefit or a policy loan is unfair, inequitable or in any manner an incorrect or improper practice.

(5) The words "free," "no cost," "without cost," "no additional cost," at no extra cost," or words of similar import shall not be used with respect to any benefit or service unless true. An advertisement may specify the charge for a benefit or a service or may state that a charge is included in the payment or use other appropriate language.

(6) Testimonials, appraisals or analysis used in advertisements must be genuine; represent the current opinion of the author; be applicable to the viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement,] product or service advertised, if any; and be accurately reproduced with sufficient completeness to avoid misleading or deceiving prospective viators [or purchasers] as to the nature or scope of the testimonials, appraisal, analysis or endorsement. In using testimonials, appraisals or analysis, a licensee under this Act makes as its own all the statements contained therein, and the statements are subject to all the provisions of this section.

(a) If the individual making a testimonial, appraisal, analysis or an endorsement has a financial interest in the party making use of the testimonial, appraisal, analysis or endorsement, either directly or through a related entity as a stockholder, director, officer, employee or otherwise, or receives any benefit directly or indirectly other than required union scale wages, that fact shall be prominently disclosed in the advertisement.

(b) An advertisement shall not state or imply that a viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement,] benefit or service has been approved or endorsed by a group of individuals, society, association or other organization unless that is the fact and unless any relationship between an organization and the viatical settlement licensee is disclosed. If the entity making the endorsement or testimonial is owned, controlled or managed by the viatical settlement licensee, or receives any payment or other consideration from the viatical settlement licensee for making an endorsement or testimonial, that fact shall be disclosed in the advertisement.

(c) When an endorsement refers to benefits received under a viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement] all pertinent information shall be retained for a period of five (5) years after its use.

F. An advertisement shall not contain statistical information unless it accurately reflects recent and relevant facts. The source of all statistics used in an advertisement shall be identified.

G. An advertisement shall not disparage insurers, viatical settlement providers, viatical settlement brokers, viatical settlement investment agents, insurance producers, policies, services or methods of marketing.

H. The name of the viatical settlement licensee shall be clearly identified in all advertisements about the licensee or its viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreements], products or services, and if any specific viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement] is advertised, the viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement] shall be identified either by form number or some other appropriate description. If an application is part of the advertisement, the name of the viatical settlement provider shall be shown on the application.

I. An advertisement shall not use a trade name, group designation, name of the parent company of a viatical settlement licensee, name of a particular division of the viatical settlement licensee, service mark, slogan, symbol or other device or reference without disclosing the name of the viatical settlement licensee, if the advertisement would have the capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive as to the true identity of the viatical settlement licensee, or to create the impression that a company other than the viatical settlement licensee would have any responsibility for the financial obligation under a viatical settlement contract [or viatical settlement purchase agreement].

J. An advertisement shall not use any combination of words, symbols or physical materials that by their content, phraseology, shape, color or other characteristics are so similar to a combination of words, symbols or physical materials used by a government program or agency or otherwise appear to be of such a nature that they tend to mislead prospective viators [or purchasers] into believing that the solicitation is in some manner connected with a government program or agency.

K. An advertisement may state that a viatical settlement licensee is licensed in the state where the advertisement appears, provided it does not exaggerate that fact or suggest or imply that competing viatical settlement licensee may not be so licensed. The advertisement may ask the audience to consult the licensee's web site or contact the department of insurance to find out if the state requires licensing and, if so, whether the viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] is licensed.

L. An advertisement shall not create the impression that the viatical settlement provider, its financial condition or status, the payment of its claims or the merits, desirability, or advisability of its viatical settlement contracts [or viatical settlement purchase agreement forms] are recommended or endorsed by any government entity.

M. The name of the actual licensee shall be stated in all of its advertisements. An advertisement shall not use a trade name, any group designation, name of any affiliate or controlling entity of the licensee, service mark, slogan, symbol or other device in a manner that would have the capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive as to the true identity of the actual licensee or create the false impression that an affiliate or controlling entity would have any responsibility for the financial obligation of the licensee.

N. An advertisement shall not directly or indirectly create the impression that any division or agency of the state or of the U. S. government endorses, approves or favors:

(1) Any viatical settlement licensee or its business practices or methods of operation;

(2) The merits, desirability or advisability of any viatical settlement contract or [viatical settlement purchase agreement];

(3) Any viatical settlement contract or [viatical settlement purchase agreement]; or

(4) Any life insurance policy or life insurance company.

O. If the advertiser emphasizes the speed with which the viatication will occur, the advertising must disclose the average time frame from completed application to the date of offer and from acceptance of the offer to receipt of the funds by the viator.

P. If the advertising emphasizes the dollar amounts available to viators, the advertising shall disclose the average purchase price as a percent of face value obtained by viators contracting with the licensee during the past six (6) months.

Section 14. Fraud Prevention and Control

A. Fraudulent Viatical Settlement Acts, Interference and Participation of Convicted Felons Prohibited.

(1) A person shall not commit a fraudulent viatical settlement act.

(2) A person shall not knowingly or intentionally interfere with the enforcement of the provisions of this Act or investigations of suspected or actual violations of this Act.

(3) A person in the business of viatical settlements shall not knowingly or intentionally permit any person convicted of a felony involving dishonesty or breach of trust to participate in the business of viatical settlements.

B. Fraud Warning Required.

(1) Viatical settlements contracts [and purchase agreement forms] and applications for viatical settlements, regardless of the form of transmission, shall contain the following statement or a substantially similar statement:

"Any person who knowingly presents false information in [an application for insurance or viatical settlement contract][a viatical settlement purchase agreement] is guilty of a crime and may be subject to fines and confinement in prison."

Drafting Note: The preceding will be tailored to whether the form is related to a viatical settlement contract or purchase agreement.

(2) The lack of a statement as required in Paragraph (1) of this subsection does not constitute a defense in any prosecution for a fraudulent viatical settlement act.

C. Mandatory Reporting of Fraudulent Viatical Settlement Acts.

(1) Any person engaged in the business of viatical settlements having knowledge or a reasonable suspicion that a fraudulent viatical settlement act is being, will be or has been committed shall provide to the commissioner such information as required by, and in a manner prescribed by, the commissioner.

(2) Any other person having knowledge or a reasonable belief that a fraudulent viatical settlement act is being, will be or has been committed may provide to the commissioner the information required by, and in a manner prescribed by, the commissioner.

D. Immunity from Liability.

(1) No civil liability shall be imposed on and no cause of action shall arise from a person's furnishing information concerning suspected, anticipated or completed fraudulent viatical settlement acts or suspected or completed fraudulent insurance acts, if the information is provided to or received from:

(a) The commissioner or the commissioner's employees, agents or representatives;

(b) Federal, state or local law enforcement or regulatory officials or their employees, agents or representatives;

(c) A person involved in the prevention and detection of fraudulent viatical settlement acts or that person's agents, employees or representatives;

(d) The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC), National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD), the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA), or their employees, agents or representatives, or other regulatory body overseeing life insurance, viatical settlements, securities or investment fraud; or

(e) The life insurer that issued the life insurance policy covering the life of the insured.

(2) Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall not apply to statements made with actual malice. In an action brought against a person for filing a report or furnishing other information concerning a fraudulent viatical settlement act, the party bringing the action shall plead specifically any allegation that Paragraph (1) does not apply because the person filing the report or furnishing the information did so with actual malice.

(3) A person furnishing information as identified in Paragraph (1) shall be entitled to an award of attorney's fees and costs if he or she is the prevailing party in a civil cause of action for libel, slander or any other relevant tort arising out of activities in carrying out the provisions of this Act and the party bringing the action was not substantially justified in doing so. For purposes of this section a proceeding is "substantially justified" if it had a reasonable basis in law or fact at the time that it was initiated. However, such an award does not apply to any person furnishing information concerning his or her own fraudulent viatical settlement acts.

(4) This section does not abrogate or modify common law or statutory privileges or immunities enjoyed by a person described in Paragraph (1).

E. Confidentiality.

(1) The documents and evidence provided pursuant to Subsection D or obtained by the commissioner in an investigation of suspected or actual fraudulent viatical settlement acts shall be privileged and confidential and shall not be a public record and shall not be subject to discovery or subpoena in a civil or criminal action.

(2) Paragraph (1) does not prohibit release by the commissioner of documents and evidence obtained in an investigation of suspected or actual fraudulent viatical settlement acts:

(a) In administrative or judicial proceedings to enforce laws administered by the commissioner;

(b) To federal, state or local law enforcement or regulatory agencies, to an organization established for the purpose of detecting and preventing fraudulent viatical settlement acts or to the NAIC; or

(c) At the discretion of the commissioner, to a person in the business of viatical settlements that is aggrieved by a fraudulent viatical settlement act.

(3) Release of documents and evidence under Paragraph (2) does not abrogate or modify the privilege granted in Paragraph (1).

F. Other Law Enforcement or Regulatory Authority.

This Act shall not:

(1) Preempt the authority or relieve the duty of other law enforcement or regulatory agencies to investigate, examine and prosecute suspected violations of law;

(2) Prevent or prohibit a person from disclosing voluntarily information concerning viatical settlement fraud to a law enforcement or regulatory agency other than the insurance department; or

(3) Limit the powers granted elsewhere by the laws of this state to the commissioner or an insurance fraud unit to investigate and examine possible violations of law and to take appropriate action against wrongdoers.

G. Viatical Settlement Antifraud Initiatives.

(1) Viatical settlement providers and viatical settlement brokers shall have in place antifraud initiatives reasonably calculated to detect, prosecute and prevent fraudulent viatical settlement acts. At the discretion of the commissioner, the commissioner may order, or a licensee may request and the commissioner may grant, such modifications of the following required initiatives as necessary to ensure an effective antifraud program. The modifications may be more or less restrictive than the required initiatives so long as the modifications may reasonably be expected to accomplish the purpose of this section.

(2) Antifraud initiatives shall include:

(a) Fraud investigators, who may be viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker employees or independent contractors; and

(b) An antifraud plan, which shall be submitted to the commissioner. The antifraud plan shall include, but not be limited to:

(i) A description of the procedures for detecting and investigating possible fraudulent viatical settlement acts and procedures for resolving material inconsistencies between medical records and insurance applications;

(ii) A description of the procedures for reporting possible fraudulent viatical settlement acts to the commissioner;

(iii) A description of the plan for antifraud education and training of underwriters and other personnel; and

(iv) A description or chart outlining the organizational arrangement of the antifraud personnel who are responsible for the investigation and reporting of possible fraudulent viatical settlement acts and investigating unresolved material inconsistencies between medical records and insurance applications.

(3) Antifraud plans submitted to the commissioner shall be privileged and confidential and shall not be a public record and shall not be subject to discovery or subpoena in a civil or criminal action.

Section 15. Injunctions; Civil Remedies; Cease and Desist

A. In addition to the penalties and other enforcement provisions of this Act, if any person violates this Act or any regulation implementing this Act, the commissioner may seek an injunction in a court of competent jurisdiction and may apply for temporary and permanent orders that the commissioner determines are necessary to restrain the person from committing the violation.

B. Any person damaged by the acts of a person in violation of this Act may bring a civil action against the person committing the violation in a court of competent jurisdiction.

[C. A violation of this Act attendant to the execution of a viatical settlement purchase agreement renders the viatical settlement purchase agreement voidable and subject to rescission by the viatical settlement purchaser, upon return of the policy received to the viatical settlement provider. Suit for rescission may be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction or where the alleged violator resides or has a principal place of business or where the alleged violation occurred.]

D. The commissioner may issue, in accordance with [cite the state administrative procedure act], a cease and desist order upon a person that violates any provision of this Act, any regulation or order adopted by the commissioner, or any written agreement entered into with the commissioner.

E. When the commissioner finds that an activity in violation of this Act presents an immediate danger to the public that requires an immediate final order, the commissioner may issue an emergency cease and desist order reciting with particularity the facts underlying the findings. The emergency cease and desist order is effective immediately upon service of a copy of the order on the respondent and remains effective for ninety (90) days. If the commissioner begins non-emergency cease and desist proceedings, the emergency cease and desist order remains effective, absent an order by a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to [cite the state administrative procedure act].

Drafting Note: States should review their laws to see if the provisions of Subsections D and E are already in state law.

F. In addition to the penalties and other enforcement provisions of this Act, any person who violates this Act is subject to civil penalties of up to $[insert amount] per violation. Imposition of civil penalties shall be pursuant to an order of the commissioner issued under [insert reference to statutes relating to hearings conducted by the commissioner]. The commissioner's order may require a person found to be in violation of this Act to make restitution to persons aggrieved by violations of this Act.

G. A person convicted of a violation of this Act by a court of competent jurisdiction [insert classifications for misdemeanor and felony penalties that match provisions in state's penal codes for theft offenses]. A person convicted of a violation of this Act shall be ordered to pay restitution to persons aggrieved by the violation of this Act. Restitution shall be ordered in addition to a fine or imprisonment, but not in lieu of a fine or imprisonment.

H. Except for a fraudulent viatical settlement act committed by a viator, the enforcement provisions and penalties of this section shall not apply to a viator.

Drafting Note: The following is an example of a graded sentencing requirement and a stay of the statute of limitations.

A person convicted of a violation of this Act by a court of competent jurisdiction may be sentenced in accordance with Paragraphs (1), (2), (3) or (4) based on the greater of (i) the value of property, services, or other benefit wrongfully obtained or attempted to obtain, or (ii) the aggregate economic loss suffered by any person as a result of the violation. A person convicted of a fraudulent viatical settlement act must be ordered to pay restitution to persons aggrieved by the fraudulent viatical settlement act. Restitution must be ordered in addition to a fine or imprisonment but not in lieu of a fine or imprisonment.

(1) To imprisonment for not more than 20 years or to payment of a fine of not more than $100,000, or both, if the value of viatical settlement contract is more than $35,000;

(2) To imprisonment for not more than ten years or to payment of a fine of not more than $20,000, or both, if the value of viatical settlement contract is more than $2,500 but not more than $35,000;

(3) To imprisonment for not more than five years or to payment of a fine of not more than $10,000, or both, if the value of viatical settlement contract is more than $500 but not more than $2,500; or

(4) To imprisonment for not more than one year or to payment of a fine of not more than $3,000, or both, if the value of viatical settlement contract is $500 or less.

In any prosecution under this section under Paragraphs (1), (2), (3) and (4) the value of the viatical settlement contracts within any six-month period may be aggregated and the defendant charged accordingly in applying the provisions of this section; provided that when two or more offenses are committed by the same person in two or more counties, the accused may be prosecuted in any county in which one of the offenses was committed for all of the offenses aggregated under this section. The applicable statute of limitations provision under [states should insert here the applicable statute of limitations provision cite] shall not begin to run until the insurance company or law enforcement agency is aware of the fraud, but in no event may the prosecution be commenced later than seven years after the act has occurred.

Section 16. Unfair Trade Practices

A violation of this Act, including the commission of a fraudulent viatical settlement act, shall be considered an unfair trade practice under Sections [insert reference to state's Unfair Trade Practices Act] subject to the penalties contained in that Act.

Section 17. Authority to Promulgate Regulations

The commissioner shall have the authority to:

A. Promulgate regulations implementing this Act;

B. Establish standards for evaluating reasonableness of payments under viatical settlement contracts for persons who are terminally or chronically ill. This authority includes, but is not limited to, regulation of discount rates used to determine the amount paid in exchange for assignment, transfer, sale, devise or bequest of a benefit under a life insurance policy insuring the life of a person that is chronically or terminally ill;

C. Establish appropriate licensing requirements, fees and standards for continued licensure for viatical settlement providers, brokers [and viatical settlement investment agents];

Drafting Note: Fees need not be mentioned if the fee is set by statute.

D. Require a bond or other mechanism for financial accountability for viatical settlement providers and brokers; and

E. Adopt rules governing the relationship and responsibilities of both insurers and viatical settlement providers, viatical settlement brokers [and viatical settlement investment agents] during the viatication of a life insurance policy or certificate.

Section 18. Severability

If any portion of this Act or any amendments thereto, or its applicability to any person or circumstance is held invalid by a court, the remainder of this Act or its applicability to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected.

Section 19. Effective Date

This Act shall take effect on [insert date]. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] transacting business in this state may continue to do so pending approval or disapproval of the provider, broker [or investment agent's] application for a license as long as the application is filed with the commissioner by [insert date].

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2007

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL ACT (#697)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

The revisions propose a number of significant changes to the Viatical Settlements Model Act to address the issue of stranger-originated life insurance and regulatory issues in the life settlement industry, including the following:

- Enhanced Disclosure Requirements for Viatical Settlement Brokers and Providers

Viatical settlement brokers must disclose to sellers all offers, counteroffers, acceptances and rejections relating to a proposed viatical settlement contract. Brokers must also disclose any affiliations or contractual arrangements between the broker and any person making an offer in connection with the proposed viatical settlement contract. In addition, brokers must disclose the total amount of a viatical settlement contract offer and the percentage of the offer comprised by the broker's compensation in the situation where any portion of the broker's compensation is taken from the proposed viatical settlement contract offer. Viatical settlement brokers must also clearly disclose to policy owners that the broker represents the policy owner, not the viatical settlement provider. Brokers must clearly disclose that they owe a fiduciary duty to the policy owner and must act in the policy owner's best interest.

Viatical settlement providers must also disclose any affiliations or contractual arrangements between the provider and the viatical settlement purchaser.

- New Bonding Requirements for Viatical Settlement Brokers and Providers

In order to receive and maintain a license, the proposed revisions require a viatical settlement provider or broker to demonstrate evidence of financial responsibility through either a surety bond or a deposit of cash, certificates of deposit or securities or any combination thereof in the amount of $250,000. The surety bond must be issued in the favor of the state and must specifically authorize recovery by the commissioner on behalf of any person in this state who sustained damages as the result of erroneous acts, failure to act, conviction of fraud or conviction of unfair practices by the provider or broker. The commissioner may ask for evidence of financial responsibility at any time the commissioner deems necessary. The revisions make clear that a provider or broker that is licensed in more than one state is not required to file multiple bonds in each state.

- New Continuing Education Requirements for Viatical Settlement Brokers

The proposed revisions require an individual licensed as a viatical settlement broker to complete on a biennial basis 15 hours of training related to viatical settlements and viatical settlement transactions. A life insurance producer who is operating as a viatical settlement broker is not subject to this requirement.

- Longer Time Frame for Rescinding Viatical Settlement Contract

The proposed revisions extend the time within which a viator has the right to rescind a viatical settlement contract from 15 calendar days to the earlier of: (1) 60 calendar days after the date on which the viatical settlement contract was executed; or (2) 30 days after the viatical settlement proceeds have been paid to the viator.

- Five-Year Ban on Life Settlements

Under the proposed revisions, a life insurance policy may not be sold within 5 years after its date of issuance unless one of the exceptions below is met:

- The policy was issued upon the viator's exercise of conversion rights;
- The viator or the insured is terminally or chronically ill;
- The viator's spouse dies;
- The viator divorces his or her spouse;
- The viator retires from full-time employment;
- The viator becomes physically or mentally disabled; or
- The viator enters into a viatical settlement contract more than 2 years after the date of the policy is issued and, with respect to the policy, at all times prior to the date that is 2 years after policy issuance, the following conditions are met:

- Policy premiums have been funded exclusively with unencumbered assets, including an interest in the policy that is financed only to the extent of its net cash surrender value, provided by, or fully recourse liability incurred by the insured or a person described in Section 2N(3)(d) of the Act;
- There is no agreement or understanding with any other person to guarantee any such liability or to purchase, or stand ready to purchase, the policy, including through an assumption or forgiveness of the loan; and
- Neither the insured nor the policy has been evaluated for settlement.

- Key Definition Revisions

  - "Fraudulent viatical settlement act" – the proposed revisions expand the scope of this definition to include facilitating the change of state of ownership of a policy or certificate or the state of residency of a viator to a state or jurisdiction that does not have a law similar to this Act for the express purpose of evading or avoiding the provisions of this Act.
  - "Viatical settlement contract" – the proposed revisions expand this definition to include premium finance loans made for a life insurance policy by a lender to a viator on, before or after the date of policy issuance where: (a) the viator or the insured receives on the date of the loan a guarantee of a future viatical settlement value of the policy; or (b) the viator or the insured agrees on the date of the loan to sell the policy or any portion of its death benefit on any date following the date of policy issuance. The proposed revisions, however, carve out specific exceptions under the definition, including: (a) loan proceeds that are used solely to pay: (i) premiums for the policy; and (ii) the costs of the loan, including, without limitation, interest, arrangement fees, utilization fees and similar fees, closing costs, legal fees and expenses, trustee fees and expenses, and third party collateral provider fees and expenses, including fees payable to letter of credit issuers; (b) a loan made by a bank or other licensed financial institution in which the lender takes an interest in a life insurance policy solely to secure repayment of a loan or, if there is a default on such loan and the policy is transferred, the transfer of such a policy by the lender, provided that the default itself is not pursuant to an agreement or understanding with any other person for the purpose of evading regulation under this Act; further assignment of such policy by the lender; or (c) an agreement where all of the parties are closely related to the insured by blood or law or have a lawful substantial economic interest in the continued life, health and bodily safety of the person insured, or are trusts established primarily for the benefit of such parties.

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model:

Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee

States Participating:

North Dakota, Chair	Kansas
Kentucky, Vice Chair	Louisiana
Alabama	Nebraska
Arkansas	New York
California	Ohio
Florida	Pennsylvania
Iowa

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge was given to the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee in 2006:
Consider changes to Viatical Settlements Model Act in response to concerns about investor initiated life insurance.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The amendments to the model act were drafted by the Committee.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

Beginning with the NAIC 2006 Summer National Meeting, drafts of the proposed revisions were reviewed and discussed at each National Meeting and during Committee conference calls. Comments were requested and were received and considered throughout the drafting process. In addition, all of the drafts of the proposed revisions and comments received on those drafts were posted on the NAIC web site and distributed by email to over 200 interested parties. Comments were received by numerous groups, including industry groups such as the American Council of Life Insurance (ACLI), National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors (NAIFA), Association for Advanced Life Underwriting (AALU); National Association of Independent Life Brokerage Agencies (NAILBA); Life Settlement Institute (LSI), Life Insurance Finance Association (LIFA), Life Insurance Settlement Association (LISA), and American Bankers Insurance Association (ABIA); and consumer groups, such as Center for Economic Justice (CEJ) and University of Georgia.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the drafting process and the group's response.

The most significant controversial issue raised during the drafting process was the proposed 5-year ban on life settlements. Those opposed to this proposal asserted that the 5-year prohibition was overly onerous, would hurt consumers, and was not well designed to address the STOLI issue. It also would not protect the consumer; it would not prevent STOLI arrangements; and would deprive consumers of a legal property right. Some of those interested parties not directly opposed to the 5-year ban expressed a belief that the proposed 5-year ban could make STOLI arrangements less appealing. They also countered the argument that the 5-year ban adversely impacted a consumer's legal property right by stating that there is no inherent property right in STOLI arrangements. These were contrived transactions that attempt to circumvent state insurable interest laws. As a matter of public policy, the Committee voted to adopt the revisions related to the 5-year ban as a means to address STOLI.

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is adopted by the commissioner pursuant to the authority in Section [insert reference to state statute equivalent to Section 15 of the Viatical Settlements Model Act].

Drafting Note: States considering adoption of this version of the regulation should be sure the corresponding elements contained in the current Viatical Settlements Model Act have been put in place.

Section 2. Definitions

In addition to the definitions in Section [insert reference to equivalent to Section 2 of the Viatical Settlements Model Act], the following definitions apply to this regulation:

A. "Insured" means the person covered under the policy being considered for viatication.

B. "Life expectancy" means the mean of the number of months the individual insured under the life insurance policy to be viaticated can be expected to live as determined by the viatical settlement provider considering medical records and appropriate experiential data.

C. "Net death benefit" means the amount of the life insurance policy or certificate to be viaticated less any outstanding debts or liens.

D. "Patient identifying information" means an insured's address, telephone number, facsimile number, electronic mail address, photograph or likeness, employer, employment status, social security number, or any other information that is likely to lead to the identification of the insured.

Section 3. License Requirements

A. (1) (a) An applicant for a viatical settlement broker's license or an individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity shall pass the Viatical Settlements Brokers Examination designated by the department.

(b) An applicant or an individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity who holds or has held a life insurance producer's license for more than one year and is in good standing with the insurance department shall be exempt from the life insurance portion of the examination.

(2) (a) No existing viatical settlement broker's license shall be renewed or reissued until the licensee or individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity has passed the Viatical Settlement Brokers Examination.

(b) A viatical settlement broker or an individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity who holds or has held a life insurance producer's license for more than one year and is in good standing with the insurance department shall be exempt from the life insurance portion of the examination.

Drafting Note: Paragraphs (1)(b) and (2)(b) are intended to exempt life insurance producers in good standing with the department from taking the life insurance portion of the examination. They would be subject to all other licensing requirements in Section 3. Individuals licensed only with a limited lines license associated with life insurance are not exempt from the examination procedure.

(3) A passing score for the Viatical Settlements Brokers Examination shall be a minimum score of seventy percent (70%).

(4) If the individual passes the Viatical Settlement Brokers Examination that is administered by another state that is a participant in the Viatical Settlement Brokers Examination process, then the individual has satisfied the testing requirements of this state.

B. In addition to the information required in Section [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 3 of the Viatical Settlements Model Act], the commissioner may ask for other information necessary to determine whether the applicant for a license as a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] complies with the requirements of Section [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 3 of Viatical Settlements Model Act].

Drafting Note: Throughout this document text related to investments in viatical settlements is in brackets. It should be considered for inclusion in states where securities regulators do not regulate the investment side of the transaction or adapted for inclusion in the securities code.

C. The application shall be accompanied by a fee of $[insert amount]. The license may be renewed yearly by payment of $[insert amount] and a current copy of a letter of good standing obtained from the filing officer of the applicant's state of domicile. If a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] fails to pay the renewal fee within the time prescribed, or a viatical settlement provider or broker fails to submit the reports required in Section 6 of this regulation, the nonpayment or failure to submit the required reports shall result in lapse of the license. If a viatical settlement provider has, at the time of renewal, viatical settlements where the insured has not died, it shall do one of the following:

Drafting Note: States should consider whether they intend to seek a certification from the secretary of state of the domicile that the corporation is in good standing, or whether they intend to seek assurance from the domicile insurance department before non-resident licensing. The wording should be adjusted to reflect the procedures the state wishes to follow. If the state of residence of the applicant does not license viatical settlement providers or brokers, a state should consider what type of documentation to require.

Drafting Note: States should consider using a license renewal period that matches license renewals for insurance producers.

(1) Renew or maintain its current license status until the earlier of the following events:

(a) The date the viatical settlement provider properly assigns, sells or otherwise transfers the viatical settlements where the insured has not died; or

(b) The date that the last insured covered by viatical settlement transaction has died.

(2) Appoint, in writing, either the viatical settlement provider that entered into the viatical settlement, the broker who received commissions from the viatical settlement, if applicable, or any other viatical settlement provider or broker licensed in this state to make all inquiries to the viator, or the viator's designee, regarding health status of the insured or any other matters.

Drafting Note: If fees are covered in state law or a comprehensive fee regulation, delete reference to fees in Subsection C.

D. (1) An individual licensed as a viatical settlement broker or authorized to act under a license issued to a licensed entity as a viatical settlement broker shall complete [insert number] hours of department-approved continuing education during each continuing education biennium.

(2) The required continuing education hours shall include a minimum of:

(a) [Insert number] hours in life insurance;

(b) [Insert number] hours in viaticals; and

(c) [Insert hours] hours in ethics.

(3) The same hours may be credited towards the individual's continuing education requirements for the viatical settlement broker license and the applicable producer license, if any.

(4) Each continuing education biennium shall begin on [insert time frame to begin] and end two (2) years later.

Drafting Note: States should insert numbers in Subsection D consistent with those required for insurance producers.

(5) The license of an individual who fails to comply with this continuing education requirement and who has not been granted an extension of time to comply in accordance with Section [insert citation for continuing education laws] shall terminate and shall be promptly surrendered to the commissioner without demand.

E. (1) A viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider shall file with the commissioner, and thereafter for as long as the license remains in effect shall keep in force, evidence of financial responsibility in the sum of not less than $[insert number] per occurrence, and the sum of $[insert number] in the aggregate, for all occurrences within one year. This evidence shall be in the form of an errors and omissions insurance policy issued in accordance with the [cite state law for financial responsibility], a bond issued by an authorized corporate surety, a deposit, or any combination of these evidences of financial responsibility. The policy, bond, deposit or combination thereof shall not be terminated without thirty (30) days prior written notice to the licensee and the commissioner.

(2) The commissioner may also accept as evidence of financial responsibility proof that a financial instrument in accordance with the requirements in Paragraph (1) has been filed with the commissioner of any other state where the viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider is licensed as a viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider.

F. The license issued to a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker or [viatical settlement investment agent] shall be a limited license that allows it to operate only within the scope of its license.

[G. An individual licensed as a viatical settlement investment agent shall be licensed by the appropriate regulatory agencies to engage in the business of securities in this state.]

Drafting Note: A state should identify which securities license will be required in the state and insert it in Subsection G.

H. A person shall be deemed to meet the licensing requirements of this section and of Section 3 of the Act and shall be permitted to operate as a viatical settlement broker, as defined in Section 2K of the Act, if that person is licensed as a resident or nonresident insurance producer with a life insurance line of authority pursuant to [cite state producer licensing laws] for at least one year. Not later than thirty (30) days from the first day of operating as a viatical settlement broker, the producer shall notify the department that he or she is acting as a viatical settlement broker on a form or in a manner that may be prescribed by the department, and shall pay any applicable fees to be determined by the department. The notification shall include an acknowledgment by the producer that he or she will operate as a viatical settlement broker in accordance with the Act and this regulation.

[Section 4. Appointments

A. A viatical investment agent shall not act as an agent of a viatical settlement provider unless the investment agent becomes an appointed agent of that provider.

B. To appoint an investment agent as its agent, the appointing provider shall file, in a format approved by the insurance commissioner, a notice of appointment within fifteen (15) days from the date the agency contract is executed or the first contact with an investor on behalf of the provider.

C. Upon receipt of the notice of appointment, the insurance commissioner shall verify within a reasonable time not to exceed thirty (30) days that the investment agent is determined to be eligible for appointment. If the investment agent is determined to be ineligible for appointment, the insurance commissioner shall notify the provider within five (5) days of its determination.

D. A provider shall pay an appointment fee, in the amount and method of payment set forth in [the appropriate state law or regulation], for each investment agent appointed by the provider.

E. A provider shall remit, in a manner prescribed by the insurance commissioner, a renewal fee in the amount set forth in [insert the appropriate state law or regulation].]

Section 5. Standards for Evaluation of Reasonable Payments for Terminally or Chronically Ill Insureds

Alternative I

[In order to assure that viators receive a reasonable return for viaticating an insurance policy, the return for viaticating a policy shall be no less than the following payouts for insureds who are terminally or chronically ill:

Insured's Life Expectancy	Minimum Percentage of Face Value Less Outstanding Loans Received by Viator
Less than 6 months	[80%]
At least 6 but less than 12 months	[70%]
At least 12 but less than 18 months	[65%]
At least 18 but less than 25 months	[60%]
Twenty- five months or more	Viator must receive at least the greater of the cash surrender value or accelerated death benefit in the policy

Drafting Note: The cash surrender value or accelerated death benefit is that which would actually be available to the seller at the time of the transaction.

Except where the cash surrender value is paid, the percentage may be reduced by [5%] for viaticating a policy written by an insurer rated less than the highest [4] categories by A.M. Best, or a comparable rating by another rating agency.

Alternative II

In order to assure that viators receive a reasonable return for viaticating an insurance policy, the viatical settlement contract shall not provide a payment to the viator for a terminally or chronically ill insured that is unreasonable or unjust. In determining whether a payment is unreasonable or unjust, the commissioner's consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the following factors:

A. The face amount being purchased;

B. Any policy loan in effect on the policy being purchased;

C. The life expectancy of the insured at the time of purchase;

D. The age of the insured at the time of purchase;

E. The future premiums that must be paid to minimally keep this policy in force;

F. The cash surrender value or accelerated death benefit available from the policy;

G. An allocation of internal costs relating directly to the acquisition of this policy;

H. The payment of any commission, fee and any other expense paid to a viatical settlement broker or any other external party;

I. Any future interest payments for any borrowing of the funds needed to purchase this policy;

J. The applicable rating at the time of purchase of the insurance company that issued the subject policy by a rating service generally recognized by the insurance industry, regulators and consumer groups;

K. The prevailing discount rates in the viatical settlement market in [insert state], or if insufficient data is available for [insert state], the prevailing rates nationally or in other states that maintain this data;

L. Whether the policy is within the contestable period; and

M. Other charges not explicitly noted in the above list.

Section 6. Reporting Requirement

A. On or before March 1 of each calendar year, the licensed viatical settlement provider shall submit the following related to the licensee's activities for the previous calendar year:

(1) A report of the viatical settlement transactions in all states and territories, which shall be submitted on Form VSP 001;

(2) A report of the viatical settlement transactions related to [state] viators, which shall be submitted on Form VSP 002;

(3) A report of the individual mortality of [state] insureds, which shall be submitted on Form VSP 003; and

(4) A certification of the information contained in the reports, which shall be submitted on Form VSPB 001 and shall be filed with the reports.

B. On or before March 1 of each calendar year, the licensed viatical settlement broker shall submit the following related to the licensee's activities for the previous calendar year:

(1) A report of the viatical settlement transactions in all states and territories, which shall be submitted on Form VSB 001; and

(2) A report of the viatical settlement transactions related to [state] viators, which shall be submitted on Form VSB 002;

(3) A certification of the information contained in the reports, which shall be submitted on Form VSPB 001 and shall be filed with the reports.

C. The following material is incorporated by reference:

(1) Form VSP 001, "Viatical Settlement Provider Report-All States and Territories";

(2) Form VSP 002, "Viatical Settlement Provider Report-[State] Insureds Only";

(3) Form VSP 003, "Individual Mortality Report-[State] Insureds Only";

(4) Form VSB 001, "Viatical Settlement Broker Report-All States and Territories"; and

(5) Form VSB 002, "Viatical Settlement Broker Report-[State] Insureds Only";

(6) Form VSPB 001, "Viatical Settlement Provider/Broker Certification Form."

Section 7. General Rules

A. With respect to policies containing a provision for double or additional indemnity for accidental death, the additional payment shall remain payable to the beneficiary last named by the viator prior to entering into the viatical settlement contract, or to such other beneficiary, other than the viatical settlement provider, as the viator may thereafter designate, or in the absence of a beneficiary, to the estate of the viator.

B. Payment of the proceeds of a viatical settlement pursuant to [insert citation for Section 9E of Viatical Settlements Model Act] shall be by means of wire transfer to an account designated by the viator or by certified check or cashier's check.

C. Payment of the proceeds to the viator pursuant to a viatical settlement shall be made in a lump sum except where the viatical settlement provider has purchased an annuity or similar financial instrument issued by a licensed insurance company or bank, or an affiliate of either. Retention of a portion of the proceeds not disclosed or described in the viatical settlement contract by the viatical settlement provider or escrow agent is not permissible without written consent of the viator.

D. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] shall not discriminate in the making or soliciting of viatical settlements as provided by [insert reference to state law prohibiting discrimination], or discriminate between viators with dependents and without.

E. A viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker shall not pay or offer to pay any finder's fee, commission or other compensation to any insured's physician, or to an attorney, accountant or other person providing medical, legal or financial planning services to the viator, or to any other person acting as an agent of the viator, other than a viatical settlement broker, with respect to the viatical settlement.

F. A viatical settlement provider [or viatical settlement investment agent] shall not knowingly solicit purchasers who have treated or have been asked to treat the illness of the insured whose coverage would be the subject of the investment.

G. If a viatical settlement provider enters into a viatical settlement that allows the viator to retain an interest in the policy, the viatical settlement contract shall contain the following provisions;

(1) A provision that the viatical settlement provider will effect the transfer of the amount of the death benefit only to the extent or portion of the amount viaticated. Benefits in excess of the amount viaticated shall be paid directly to the viator's beneficiary by the insurance company;

(2) A provision that the viatical settlement provider will, upon acknowledgment of the perfection of the transfer, either;

(a) Advise the insured, in writing, that the insurance company has confirmed the viator's interest in the policy; or

(b) Send a copy of the instrument sent from the insurance company to the viatical settlement provider that acknowledges the viator's interest in the policy; and

(3) A provision that apportions the premiums to be paid by the viatical settlement provider and the viator, provided that the contract provides premium payment terms and nonforfeiture options no less favorable, on a proportional basis, than those included in the policy.

H. In all cases where the insured is a minor child, disclosures to and permission of a parent or legal guardian satisfy the requirements of [insert reference to the Viatical Settlements Model Act] and this regulation.

Section 8. Prohibited Practices

A. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] shall obtain from a person that is provided with patient identifying information a signed affirmation that the person or entity will not further divulge the information without procuring the express, written consent of the insured for the disclosure. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] is served with a subpoena and, therefore, compelled to produce records containing patient identifying information, it shall notify the viator and the insured in writing at their last known addresses within five (5) business days after receiving notice of the subpoena.

B. A viatical settlement provider shall not act also as a viatical settlement broker, whether entitled to collect a fee directly or indirectly, in the same viatical settlement.

C. A viatical settlement broker shall not, without the written agreement of the viator obtained prior to performing any services in connection with a viatical settlement, seek or obtain any compensation from the viator.

Section 9. Insurance Company Practices

A. Life insurance companies authorized to do business in this state shall respond to a request for verification of coverage from a viatical settlement provider or a viatical settlement broker within thirty (30) calendar days of the date a request is received, subject to the following conditions:

(1) A current authorization consistent with applicable law, signed by the policy owner or certificate holder, accompanies the request;

(2) In the case of an individual policy or group insurance coverage where details with respect to the certificate holder's coverage are maintained by the insurer, submission of a form substantially similar to Appendix B, which has been completed by the viatical settlement provider or the viatical settlement broker in accordance with the instructions on the form.

B. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a life insurance company and a viatical settlement provider or a viatical settlement broker from using another verification of coverage form that has been mutually agreed upon in writing in advance of submission of the request.

C. A life insurance company may not charge a fee for responding to a request for information from a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker in compliance with this section in excess of any usual and customary charges to contract holders, certificate holders or insureds for similar services.

D. The life insurance company may send an acknowledgment of receipt of the request for verification of coverage to the policy owner or certificate holder and, where the policy owner or certificate owner is other than the insured, to the insured. The acknowledgment may contain a general description of any accelerated death benefit that is available under a provision of or rider to the life insurance contract.

E. A life insurance company shall not require the viator or insured to sign any request for change in a policy or a group certificate from a viatical settlement provider that is the owner or assignee of the insured's insurance coverage, unless the viator or insured has ownership, assignment or irrevocable beneficiary rights under the policy. In such a situation, the viatical settlement provider shall provide timely notice to the insured that a settlement transaction on the policy has occurred. Timely notice shall be provided within fifteen (15) calendar days of the change in a policy or group certificate.

Section 10. Effective Date

A. This regulation is effective [insert date]. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker or [viatical settlement investment agent] transacting business in this state may continue to do so pending approval of the provider, broker or [investment agent's] application for a license as long as the application is filed with the commissioner by [insert date].

B. Providers, brokers or [investment agents] that have applied to the commissioner for a license by no later than the effective date of this regulation and that are using forms subject to [insert statute requiring filing and approval of forms] may continue to use forms in use prior to licensure for up to ninety (90) days following the effective date of this regulation.

APPENDIX A

Questions to Ask

- Is the principal and return on my investment guaranteed?
- How is the return on my investment calculated?
- When is the principal and return on my investment paid?
- What fees or other cost am I required to pay?
- Will I ever be required to pay the premiums on the insurance policy?
- What happens if the insured outlives me?

Your state insurance department and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners want you to have the facts about viatical settlements before you invest. This pamphlet provides some of that information, but it's only a starting point. Consult your own professional financial advisor, attorney, or accountant to help you decide if this is the most suitable investment for you.

Always Check with Your State

- Your state may have a list of viatical settlement providers and brokers licensed to do business in the state. Make sure yours are on the list.
- Ask for a copy of regulations related to viatical settlements for your financial advisors to review.

Viatical Settlements

Buying Viaticals as Investments

Before You Decide

Viatical settlements allow life insurance policyholders to sell their policies to investors for an immediate cash benefit. In return, the buyer of the viatical settlement becomes the new owner of the life insurance policy, pays future premiums and collects the death benefit when the insured dies.

At one time, most viatical settlements were from people with a life-threatening illness. Now, individuals who are not facing a health crisis may sell their life insurance policies to get cash.

If you are asked to put your money into this type of investment, it is critical that you understand the risks involved, know how your investment will be used and know what the likely return will be. Contact your state insurance department if you need more information.

Be an Informed Investor

- A viatical settlement is not a liquid investment. You can't "cash in" your principal if you change your mind. There is no return on your investment until the insured dies and the death benefit is paid.
- There is no guaranteed annual rate of return. The rate of return depends on when the insured dies and no one can perfectly predict a person's life expectancy. You should find out the life expectancy of the insured and how that determination was made. Remember that individuals who sell their policies in a viatical settlement may not have a life-threatening illness. They may be selling the policy because they can't afford it or no longer need it.

Need to pick an appropriate graphic

- You are investing in a life insurance policy and premiums must be paid until the insured dies. Find out who is responsible for paying the premiums. Could you ever be responsible for paying the premiums? For example, if the insured lives longer than expected, will you have to pay the premiums? If so, this could decrease your rate of return.

Watch for These Special Risks

- Group Insurance: The main risk under an employer provided group policy is that the employer or the insurance company could terminate the group policy. If that happens, the insured may have the right to change to an individual policy but the premium will usually be higher. You will want to ask if there are any special rules about changing from the group policy and who will be responsible for paying any additional premiums.
- Incontestable Clause: Insurance companies may refuse to pay death claims for policies less than two years old. In the first two years, the death benefit could be denied for various reasons including suicide or false medical information.
- Term Insurance: Term life insurance is issued for a certain number of years. An insurance company won't pay the death benefit if the insured outlives the term of the policy. Find out if it is possible to change the policy to a whole life policy.
- Retirement Funds: If you will be using money from retirement funds such as a 401(k), IRA, Keogh, or another qualified retirement plan, check with your tax advisor first to make sure you won't lose any tax advantages.

Questions to Ask

- Do I still need life insurance protection?
- If I sell my policy, how do they decide how much cash I get?
- Is this an employer or other group policy? If so, do I need permission to sell it?
- If I sell my policy, who will be the legal owner?
- Do I need the advice of a tax or estate planning advisor before I decide to sell my policy?
- Who will have specific information about me, my family or my health status?
- After I sell my policy, can it be resold by the buyer?

Your state insurance department may have a list of viatical settlement providers and brokers that are licensed to do business in the state. Contact them to make sure yours are on the list.

Always Check with Your State

Contact your state insurance or securities departments to learn about the issues and risks of viatical settlements if:

- you're considering selling your life insurance policy;
- you're asked to sell your life insurance policy and your health hasn't changed since you bought the policy;
- you're asked to buy a new life insurance policy and immediately sell it for cash.

Buying a Life Insurance Policy?

If you're interested in buying a life insurance policy as an investment, contact your state insurance department before you make a decision.

Selling Your Life Insurance Policy

Understanding Viatical Settlements

Viatical Settlements Model Regulation

What is a Viatical Settlement?

A viatical settlement is the sale of a life insurance policy to a third party. The owner (viator) of the life insurance policy sells the policy for an immediate cash benefit.

The buyer (the viatical settlement provider) becomes the new owner of the life insurance policy, pays future premiums, and collects the death benefit when the insured dies.

At one time, most viatical settlements were from people with a life-threatening illness. Now, individuals who are not facing a health crisis may sell their life insurance policies to get cash.

Your state insurance department and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners want you to have the facts before you sell your life insurance policy. This brochure provides some of that information, but it is only a starting point. Consult your own professional financial advisor, attorney, or accountant to help you decide if this is the most suitable arrangement for you.

Need to pick an appropriate graphic

Consider Your Options

If you're selling your policy to get cash to pay expenses, check all of your options. You may find a way to get more cash from your life insurance policy.

1. Ask your insurance agent or company if you have any cash value in your life insurance policy. You may be able to use some of the cash value to meet your immediate needs and keep your policy in force for your beneficiaries. You may also be able to use the cash value as security for a loan from a financial institution.

2. Find out if your life insurance policy has an accelerated death benefit. An accelerated death benefit typically pays some of the policy's death benefit before the insured dies. It may be a way for you to get cash from a policy without selling it to a third party.

Consumer tips

- Comparison shop. Get quotes from several companies to make sure you have a competitive offer.
- Find out the tax implications. Not all proceeds received from the sale of your life insurance policy are tax free.
- It's important to know that any of your creditors could claim your cash settlement.
- Find out if you will lose any public assistance benefits such as food stamps or Medicaid if you get a cash settlement.
- The buyer of your policy can periodically ask you about your health status. The buyer is required to give you a privacy notice outlining who will get this personal information. Be sure to read it.
- Check all application forms for accuracy, especially your medical history. All questions must be answered truthfully and completely.
- Make sure the viatical settlement provider agrees to put your settlement proceeds into an independent escrow account to protect your funds during the transfer.
- Find out if you have the right to change your mind about the settlement AFTER you get the money. If so, how many days do you have to reconsider and return the money?

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL REGULATION

The NAIC amended this model during the 2013 Summer National Meeting. These amendments were adopted as guidelines under the NAIC's model laws process. The 2013 3rd Quarter Guideline Amendments are highlighted in grey.

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is adopted by the commissioner pursuant to the authority in Section [insert reference to state statute equivalent to Section 15 of the Viatical Settlements Model Act].

Drafting Note: States considering adoption of this version of the regulation should be sure the corresponding elements contained in the current Viatical Settlements Model Act have been put in place.

Section 2. Definitions

In addition to the definitions in Section [insert reference to equivalent to Section 2 of the Viatical Settlements Model Act], the following definitions apply to this regulation:

A. "Insured" means the person covered under the policy being considered for viatication.

B. "Life expectancy" means the mean of the number of months the individual insured under the life insurance policy to be viaticated can be expected to live as determined by the viatical settlement provider considering medical records and appropriate experiential data.

C. "Net death benefit" means the amount of the life insurance policy or certificate to be viaticated less any outstanding debts or liens.

D. "Patient identifying information" means an insured's address, telephone number, facsimile number, electronic mail address, photograph or likeness, employer, employment status, social security number, or any other information that is likely to lead to the identification of the insured.

Section 3. License Requirements

A. (1) (a) An applicant for a viatical settlement broker's license or an individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity shall pass the Viatical Settlements Brokers Examination designated by the department.

(b) An applicant or an individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity who holds or has held a life insurance producer's license for more than one year and is in good standing with the insurance department shall be exempt from the life insurance portion of the examination.

(2) (a) No existing viatical settlement broker's license shall be renewed or reissued until the licensee or individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity has passed the Viatical Settlement Brokers Examination.

(b) A viatical settlement broker or an individual authorized to act as a viatical settlement broker under a license issued to a legal entity who holds or has held a life insurance producer's license for more than one year and is in good standing with the insurance department shall be exempt from the life insurance portion of the examination.

Drafting Note: Paragraphs (1)(b) and (2)(b) are intended to exempt life insurance producers in good standing with the department from taking the life insurance portion of the examination. They would be subject to all other licensing requirements in Section 3. Individuals licensed only with a limited lines license associated with life insurance are not exempt from the examination procedure.

(3) A passing score for the Viatical Settlements Brokers Examination shall be a minimum score of seventy percent (70%).

(4) If the individual passes the Viatical Settlement Brokers Examination that is administered by another state that is a participant in the Viatical Settlement Brokers Examination process, then the individual has satisfied the testing requirements of this state.

B. In addition to the information required in Section [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 3 of the Viatical Settlements Model Act], the commissioner may ask for other information necessary to determine whether the applicant for a license as a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] complies with the requirements of Section [insert reference to state law equivalent to Section 3 of Viatical Settlements Model Act].

Drafting Note: Throughout this document text related to investments in viatical settlements is in brackets. It should be considered for inclusion in states where securities regulators do not regulate the investment side of the transaction or adapted for inclusion in the securities code.

C. The application shall be accompanied by a fee of $[insert amount]. The license may be renewed yearly by payment of $[insert amount] and a current copy of a letter of good standing obtained from the filing officer of the applicant's state of domicile. If a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] fails to pay the renewal fee within the time prescribed, or a viatical settlement provider or broker fails to submit the reports required in Section 6 of this regulation, the nonpayment or failure to submit the required reports shall result in lapse of the license. If a viatical settlement provider has, at the time of renewal, viatical settlements where the insured has not died, it shall do one of the following:

Drafting Note: States should consider whether they intend to seek a certification from the secretary of state of the domicile that the corporation is in good standing, or whether they intend to seek assurance from the domicile insurance department before non-resident licensing. The wording should be adjusted to reflect the procedures the state wishes to follow. If the state of residence of the applicant does not license viatical settlement providers or brokers, a state should consider what type of documentation to require.

Drafting Note: States should consider using a license renewal period that matches license renewals for insurance producers.

(1) Renew or maintain its current license status until the earlier of the following events:

(a) The date the viatical settlement provider properly assigns, sells or otherwise transfers the viatical settlements where the insured has not died; or

(b) The date that the last insured covered by viatical settlement transaction has died.

(2) Appoint, in writing, either the viatical settlement provider that entered into the viatical settlement, the broker who received commissions from the viatical settlement, if applicable, or any other viatical settlement provider or broker licensed in this state to make all inquiries to the viator, or the viator's designee, regarding health status of the insured or any other matters.

Drafting Note: If fees are covered in state law or a comprehensive fee regulation, delete reference to fees in Subsection C.

D. (1) An individual licensed as a viatical settlement broker or authorized to act under a license issued to a licensed entity as a viatical settlement broker shall complete [insert number] hours of department-approved continuing education during each continuing education biennium.

(2) The required continuing education hours shall include a minimum of:

(a) [Insert number] hours in life insurance;

(b) [Insert number] hours in viaticals; and

(c) [Insert hours] hours in ethics.

(3) The same hours may be credited towards the individual's continuing education requirements for the viatical settlement broker license and the applicable producer license, if any.

(4) Each continuing education biennium shall begin on [insert time frame to begin] and end two (2) years later.

Drafting Note: States should insert numbers in Subsection D consistent with those required for insurance producers.

(5) The license of an individual who fails to comply with this continuing education requirement and who has not been granted an extension of time to comply in accordance with Section [insert citation for continuing education laws] shall terminate and shall be promptly surrendered to the commissioner without demand.

E. (1) A viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider shall file with the commissioner, and thereafter for as long as the license remains in effect shall keep in force, evidence of financial responsibility in the sum of not less than $[insert number] per occurrence, and the sum of $[insert number] in the aggregate, for all occurrences within one year. This evidence shall be in the form of an errors and omissions insurance policy issued in accordance with the [cite state law for financial responsibility], a bond issued by an authorized corporate surety, a deposit, or any combination of these evidences of financial responsibility. The policy, bond, deposit or combination thereof shall not be terminated without thirty (30) days prior written notice to the licensee and the commissioner.

(2) The commissioner may also accept as evidence of financial responsibility proof that a financial instrument in accordance with the requirements in Paragraph (1) has been filed with the commissioner of any other state where the viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider is licensed as a viatical settlement broker or viatical settlement provider.

F. The license issued to a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker or [viatical settlement investment agent] shall be a limited license that allows it to operate only within the scope of its license.

[G. An individual licensed as a viatical settlement investment agent shall be licensed by the appropriate regulatory agencies to engage in the business of securities in this state.]

Drafting Note: A state should identify which securities license will be required in the state and insert it in Subsection G.

H. A person shall be deemed to meet the licensing requirements of this section and of Section 3 of the Act and shall be permitted to operate as a viatical settlement broker, as defined in Section 2K of the Act, if that person is licensed as a resident or nonresident insurance producer with a life insurance line of authority pursuant to [cite state producer licensing laws] for at least one year. Not later than thirty (30) days from the first day of operating as a viatical settlement broker, the producer shall notify the department that he or she is acting as a viatical settlement broker on a form or in a manner that may be prescribed by the department, and shall pay any applicable fees to be determined by the department. The notification shall include an acknowledgment by the producer that he or she will operate as a viatical settlement broker in accordance with the Act and this regulation.

[Section 4. Appointments

A. A viatical investment agent shall not act as an agent of a viatical settlement provider unless the investment agent becomes an appointed agent of that provider.

B. To appoint an investment agent as its agent, the appointing provider shall file, in a format approved by the insurance commissioner, a notice of appointment within fifteen (15) days from the date the agency contract is executed or the first contact with an investor on behalf of the provider.

C. Upon receipt of the notice of appointment, the insurance commissioner shall verify within a reasonable time not to exceed thirty (30) days that the investment agent is determined to be eligible for appointment. If the investment agent is determined to be ineligible for appointment, the insurance commissioner shall notify the provider within five (5) days of its determination.

D. A provider shall pay an appointment fee, in the amount and method of payment set forth in [the appropriate state law or regulation], for each investment agent appointed by the provider.

E. A provider shall remit, in a manner prescribed by the insurance commissioner, a renewal fee in the amount set forth in [insert the appropriate state law or regulation].]

Section 5. Standards for Evaluation of Reasonable Payments for Terminally or Chronically Ill Insureds

Alternative I

[In order to assure that viators receive a reasonable return for viaticating an insurance policy, the return for viaticating a policy shall be no less than the following payouts for insureds who are terminally or chronically ill:

Insured's Life Expectancy	Minimum Percentage of Face Value Less Outstanding Loans Received by Viator
Less than 6 months	[80%]
At least 6 but less than 12 months	[70%]
At least 12 but less than 18 months	[65%]
At least 18 but less than 25 months	[60%]
Twenty- five months or more	Viator must receive at least the greater of the cash surrender value or accelerated death benefit in the policy

Drafting Note: The cash surrender value or accelerated death benefit is that which would actually be available to the seller at the time of the transaction.

Except where the cash surrender value is paid, the percentage may be reduced by [5%] for viaticating a policy written by an insurer rated less than the highest [4] categories by A.M. Best, or a comparable rating by another rating agency.

Alternative II

In order to assure that viators receive a reasonable return for viaticating an insurance policy, the viatical settlement contract shall not provide a payment to the viator for a terminally or chronically ill insured that is unreasonable or unjust. In determining whether a payment is unreasonable or unjust, the commissioner's consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the following factors:

A. The face amount being purchased;

B. Any policy loan in effect on the policy being purchased;

C. The life expectancy of the insured at the time of purchase;

D. The age of the insured at the time of purchase;

E. The future premiums that must be paid to minimally keep this policy in force;

F. The cash surrender value or accelerated death benefit available from the policy;

G. An allocation of internal costs relating directly to the acquisition of this policy;

H. The payment of any commission, fee and any other expense paid to a viatical settlement broker or any other external party;

I. Any future interest payments for any borrowing of the funds needed to purchase this policy;

J. The applicable rating at the time of purchase of the insurance company that issued the subject policy by a rating service generally recognized by the insurance industry, regulators and consumer groups;

K. The prevailing discount rates in the viatical settlement market in [insert state], or if insufficient data is available for [insert state], the prevailing rates nationally or in other states that maintain this data;

L. Whether the policy is within the contestable period; and

M. Other charges not explicitly noted in the above list.

Section 6. Reporting Requirement

On or before March 1 of each calendar year, the licensed viatical settlement provider shall submit the following related to the licensee's activities for the previous calendar year:

A. A report of the viatical settlement transactions related to [state] viators, which shall be submitted on Form VSP 001;

B. A report of the individual mortality of [state] insureds, which shall be submitted on Form VSP 002; and

C. A certification of the information contained in the reports, which shall be submitted on Form VSP 003 and shall be filed with the reports.

Section 7. General Rules

A. With respect to policies containing a provision for double or additional indemnity for accidental death, the additional payment shall remain payable to the beneficiary last named by the viator prior to entering into the viatical settlement contract, or to such other beneficiary, other than the viatical settlement provider, as the viator may thereafter designate, or in the absence of a beneficiary, to the estate of the viator.

B. Payment of the proceeds of a viatical settlement pursuant to [insert citation for Section 9E of Viatical Settlements Model Act] shall be by means of wire transfer to an account designated by the viator or by certified check or cashier's check.

C. Payment of the proceeds to the viator pursuant to a viatical settlement shall be made in a lump sum except where the viatical settlement provider has purchased an annuity or similar financial instrument issued by a licensed insurance company or bank, or an affiliate of either. Retention of a portion of the proceeds not disclosed or described in the viatical settlement contract by the viatical settlement provider or escrow agent is not permissible without written consent of the viator.

D. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] shall not discriminate in the making or soliciting of viatical settlements as provided by [insert reference to state law prohibiting discrimination], or discriminate between viators with dependents and without.

E. A viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker shall not pay or offer to pay any finder's fee, commission or other compensation to any insured's physician, or to an attorney, accountant or other person providing medical, legal or financial planning services to the viator, or to any other person acting as an agent of the viator, other than a viatical settlement broker, with respect to the viatical settlement.

F. A viatical settlement provider [or viatical settlement investment agent] shall not knowingly solicit purchasers who have treated or have been asked to treat the illness of the insured whose coverage would be the subject of the investment.

G. If a viatical settlement provider enters into a viatical settlement that allows the viator to retain an interest in the policy, the viatical settlement contract shall contain the following provisions;

(1) A provision that the viatical settlement provider will effect the transfer of the amount of the death benefit only to the extent or portion of the amount viaticated. Benefits in excess of the amount viaticated shall be paid directly to the viator's beneficiary by the insurance company;

(2) A provision that the viatical settlement provider will, upon acknowledgment of the perfection of the transfer, either;

(a) Advise the insured, in writing, that the insurance company has confirmed the viator's interest in the policy; or

(b) Send a copy of the instrument sent from the insurance company to the viatical settlement provider that acknowledges the viator's interest in the policy; and

(3) A provision that apportions the premiums to be paid by the viatical settlement provider and the viator, provided that the contract provides premium payment terms and nonforfeiture options no less favorable, on a proportional basis, than those included in the policy.

H. In all cases where the insured is a minor child, disclosures to and permission of a parent or legal guardian satisfy the requirements of [insert reference to the Viatical Settlements Model Act] and this regulation.

I. No later than the time the application for the viatical settlement contract is signed by all parties, a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker shall provide the viator information describing the process of a viatical settlement. At a minimum, the informational brochure in Appendix A shall be used unless another form is developed or approved by the commissioner.

Section 8. Prohibited Practices

A. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] shall obtain from a person that is provided with patient identifying information a signed affirmation that the person or entity will not further divulge the information without procuring the express, written consent of the insured for the disclosure. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if a viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker [or viatical settlement investment agent] is served with a subpoena and, therefore, compelled to produce records containing patient identifying information, it shall notify the viator and the insured in writing at their last known addresses within five (5) business days after receiving notice of the subpoena.

B. A viatical settlement provider shall not act also as a viatical settlement broker, whether entitled to collect a fee directly or indirectly, in the same viatical settlement.

C. A viatical settlement broker shall not, without the written agreement of the viator obtained prior to performing any services in connection with a viatical settlement, seek or obtain any compensation from the viator.

Section 9. Insurance Company Practices

A. Life insurance companies authorized to do business in this state shall respond to a request for verification of coverage from the viatical settlement provider or the viatical settlement broker within thirty (30) calendar days of the date a request is received, subject to the following conditions:

(1) A current authorization consistent with applicable law, signed by the policy owner or certificate holder, accompanies the request;

(2) In the case of an individual policy or group insurance coverage where details with respect to the certificate holder's coverage are maintained by the insurer, submission of a form substantially similar to Appendix B, which has been completed by the viatical settlement provider or the viatical settlement broker in accordance with the instructions on the form.

B. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a life insurance company and a viatical settlement provider or a viatical settlement broker from using another verification of coverage form that has been mutually agreed upon in writing in advance of submission of the request.

C. Nothing in this section shall limit a policy owner's right to request information, consistent with applicable law, before or after completion of the viatical settlement contract about the policy from a life insurance company at any time.

D. A life insurance company may not charge a fee for responding to a request for information from a viatical settlement provider or viatical settlement broker in compliance with this section in excess of any usual and customary charges to contract holders, certificate holders or insureds for similar services.

E. The life insurance company may send an acknowledgment of receipt of the request for verification of coverage to the policy owner or certificate holder and, where the policy owner or certificate owner is other than the insured, to the insured. The acknowledgment may contain a general description of any accelerated death benefit that is available under a provision of or rider to the life insurance contract.

F. A life insurance company shall not require the viator or insured to sign any request for change in a policy or a group certificate from a viatical settlement provider that is the owner or assignee of the insured's insurance coverage, unless the viator or insured has ownership, assignment or irrevocable beneficiary rights under the policy. In such a situation, the viatical settlement provider shall provide timely notice to the insured that a settlement transaction on the policy has occurred. Timely notice shall be provided within fifteen (15) calendar days of the change in a policy or group certificate.

G. The format for the company report is demonstrated in Appendix B, i.e., Verification of Coverage.

Section 10. Effective Date

A. This regulation is effective [insert date]. A viatical settlement provider, viatical settlement broker or [viatical settlement investment agent] transacting business in this state may continue to do so pending approval of the provider, broker or [investment agent's] application for a license as long as the application is filed with the commissioner by [insert date].

B. Providers, brokers or [investment agents] that have applied to the commissioner for a license by no later than the effective date of this regulation and that are using forms subject to [insert statute requiring filing and approval of forms] may continue to use forms in use prior to licensure for up to ninety (90) days following the effective date of this regulation.

APPENDIX A

Selling Your Life Insurance Policy:
Life and Viatical Settlements

Important Terms to Know
The viator is the policy owner.
The provider buys the policy.
The broker finds providers to make offers on the policy.

What is a Life Settlement?

A life settlement (also known as a viatical settlement) is the sale of a life insurance policy by you, the policy owner, to a life settlement provider. The provider buys your life insurance policy for cash. Once you sign a contract to sell your policy, the provider asks the life insurance company to transfer ownership of the policy from you to the new owner. You will then be known as the "viator." The new owner then pays future premiums and collects the death benefit when the insured person dies.

You may choose to use the services of a life settlement broker to help you sell your insurance policy. The broker works for you and not for the provider or for the insurance company. You can expect the broker to search the market and find providers to make offers to buy your policy.

Your Rights and Responsibilities.

State laws protect you if you sell a life insurance policy.

- All providers and brokers must be licensed by your state insurance department. The insurance department also must approve all life settlement contract forms.
- Providers and brokers must give you certain information before you sign a life settlement contract. This information includes the amount your beneficiary would have received when you die, and the amount the broker will be paid.
- The amount a provider pays you for your policy must be greater than either the cash surrender value of the policy or, if available, the accelerated death benefit.

- The money paid for your policy will be put in an escrow account, and held by an independent third party while the life settlement is finalized.
- You have the right to change your mind about the settlement for a short period of time after you sign the contract. Be sure you understand how to cancel the sale.

Before You Sign a Contract, Be Sure You Can Answer These Questions.

Talk with your insurance agent and company and your other advisors such as an attorney, accountant or financial planner.

- How long have you had your policy? State law generally requires that you must have owned the life insurance policy for a certain period of time before you can sell it to a provider. Ask your broker if your policy qualifies.
- Can you get cash from your policy without selling it? Ask about the cash value of your policy. Find out if you can get a policy loan.
- If the insured person is ill, can you get accelerated death benefits under your policy?
- Can your beneficiaries still receive any life insurance benefit after you sell the policy?
- How much money will you get from the sale? When and how will you receive the money?
- How much is the broker's compensation?
- How many providers did the broker contact? How many offers were received?

Important Things to Know Before You Sell Your Policy.

- Creditors may claim some or all of the money you receive.
- The money you receive from the sale may be taxable.
- Once you receive the money, you may not be eligible for public assistance benefits such as food stamps or Medicaid.

- You may have to pay back loans you've taken against the insurance policy.
- If your policy is issued through an employer plan or other group policy, you may need permission from the employer or group to sell your policy.
- The provider can ask about the insured person's health from time to time. The provider must give notice explaining who will get personal information.
- If you give inaccurate information to a provider when selling your policy, you could be accused of fraud and the sale of your policy could be cancelled.

Always Check With Your State Insurance Department.

- To be sure the provider and broker are licensed to do business in the state.
- If someone asks you to buy a new life insurance policy and to immediately sell it for cash.
- If you are asked to buy a new life insurance policy and the insurance agent or some other person offers to pay the premiums for you.

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL REGULATION

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2013

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL REGULATION (#698)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The guideline revisions to the Viatical Settlements Model Regulation (#698) were made to update the model for consistency with the 2007 revisions to the Viatical Settlements Model Act (#697). Specifically, the guideline revisions eliminate several reports that are no longer required as a result of the 2007 revisions to Model #697. The guideline revisions add a specific provision requiring viatical settlement providers and brokers to provide information about viatical settlements to a viator, and provide that, at a minimum, unless another form is developed or approved by the commissioner, the viatical settlement provider or broker must provide the consumer with a copy of the Viatical Settlement Informational Brochure in Appendix A to satisfy this requirement. The guideline revisions also clarify the policy owner's right to receive information about the insurance policy from the insurer either before or after completion of the viatical settlement contract. The guideline revisions also update the Viatical Settlement Informational Brochure in Appendix A.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating.

The Viatical Settlements (A) Working Group was responsible for drafting the guideline revisions. The members of the Working Group were: Iowa, Chair; New Hampshire, Vice Chair; Florida; Georgia; Kansas; Louisiana; Nebraska; and Tennessee.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group.

The Viatical Settlements (A) Working Group was given an existing Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee charge in 2011 to review and consider revisions to the Viatical Settlements Model Regulation (#698) for consistency with the 2007 revisions made to the Viatical Settlements Model Act (#697), including reviewing and considering revisions to or replacement of, as appropriate, the Informational Brochure in Appendix A. Important

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The guideline revisions were drafted by the Viatical Settlements (A) Working Group, which developed four drafts of the proposed guideline revisions to Model #698 prior to its adoption. The Working Group discussed the drafts and the comments received on the drafts at in-person meetings during the 2012 Spring National Meeting, 2012 Summer National Meeting and 2012 Fall National Meeting. The Working Group also held conference calls Sept. 18, Nov. 7 and Dec. 18, 2012, during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. The guideline revisions were adopted by the Working Group during the Dec. 18, 2012, conference call and adopted by the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee at the 2013 Spring National Meeting. All drafts and comments were posted on the Working Group's Web page. Numerous interested parties participated in the drafting process, including consumer representatives and industry representatives.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited).

The Regulatory Framework (B) Task Force discussed the drafts and comments received on them during in-person meetings during the 2012 Spring National Meeting, 2012 Summer National Meeting and 2012 Fall National Meeting. The Working Group also held conference calls Sept. 18, Nov. 7 and Dec. 18, 2012, during which the drafts and comments received on the drafts were discussed. The guideline revisions were adopted by the Working Group during the Dec. 18, 2012, conference call and adopted by the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee at the 2013 Spring National Meeting. All drafts and comments were posted on the Working Group's Web page.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response).

There were no significant issues or items of controversy. However, there were some issues raised and resolved by the Working Group related to the guideline revisions clarifying the timeframe within which an insurer must provide a verification of coverage (VOC) and who may request the VOC. The Working Group decided to add a new provision that affirms that a policy owner has the right to request information about the policy at any time both before and after completion of the viatical settlement contract. In addition, the section in Model #698 related to the requirements for requesting a VOC was amended to specify that the parties involved in the initial viatical settlement transaction may request a VOC from the insurer and the insurer must respond to the request within 30 days under specified circumstances.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

PROJECT HISTORY - 2004

VIATICAL SETTLEMENTS MODEL REGULATION (# 698)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The viatical settlement industry has changed a great deal over the ten years since development of the initial model act by the NAIC. Revisions to the Viatical Settlements Model Act were prepared in 1998 and 2001 to reflect the new business model. The latest amendments broadened the scope of the model to cover sales of life insurance policies by those who were not terminally or chronically ill. The model regulation has been revised to match the scope of the model act.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

This model was developed by the Viatical Settlements Working Group, chaired by Lester Dunlap of Louisiana. Members of the working group are: Michael Bownes, Alabama; Rich Robleto, Florida; Bill McAndrew, Illinois; Roger Strauss, Iowa; Marlyn Burch, Kansas; Brian Staples, Kentucky; Paul Hanson, Minnesota; Anne Marie Narcini, New Jersey; Dennis Stapleton, Ohio; Dalora Schafer, Oklahoma; Carl Lundberg/David Ball, Oregon; Gwen Fuller, South Carolina; Maliaka EssamelDin, Tennessee; and Bob Wright, Virginia.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

Revisions to the Viatical Settlements Model Act were adopted in March 2001. As soon as those changes were adopted, the working group began work on revisions to the regulation to bring it into line with the amendments to the model act. The 2001 charge was: "Revise the Viatical Settlements Model Regulation to coordinate with the revised model act, including requirements regarding sales of the policies of healthy individuals and investor protections, to be completed by the Winter National Meeting."

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The drafting process was open to comments and participation by all interested parties. Representatives from the life insurance industry, the viatical settlement industry and financial investors participated fully in the discussion. Comments were received on each draft of the model and considered by the working group in open meetings. Consumer representatives were also welcome and participated to a limited degree.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Copies of every draft were posted on the NAIC website and ample time provided for comments on each draft. Comment letters were posted on the NAIC website. NAIC staff also maintains a list of interested parties, who received notice of each conference call and copies of drafts and comments by e-mail. After the working group adopted the model, a hearing was held at the A Committee.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

A number of issues were raised that required extensive discussion to resolve.

(1) Licensing issues related to brokers and providers: Several interested parties suggested that any licensed life insurance agent should be allowed to serve as a viatical settlement broker without additional licensing. The working group did not agree with this reasoning because of concerns about the conflict of interest that could arise when a person got a commission for selling a policy to an individual and another commission for viaticating the policy. In addition, the working group added educational and testing requirements for viatical brokers to be sure they were knowledgeable about the business they were undertaking. The A Committee decided to amend the model to allow any licensed life insurance producer to serve as a viatical settlement broker without additional licensing, with a requirement that the producer notify the department and agree to comply with the requirements in the model.

(2) Standards for evaluation of reasonable payments: This issue has been controversial since the first model regulation was adopted in 1994. The model includes minimum payouts for those who are terminally or chronically ill. Segments of the viatical industry have urged the deletion of this section with the argument that it reduces the availability of offers by requiring a minimum payment. At the time of the last revision, an alternative was added to require "reasonable" payments, and this was revised to list specific factors for measuring reasonableness. Just before adoption of the model, the group voted to request a charge to develop guidelines with more detail to assist in administration.

(3) Requests for information: The viatical industry and the life insurance industry have been in conflict for many years in regard to the requests made by viatical providers and brokers for information in the possession of the insurer. During the last revision of the regulation, the two sets of interests sat down together and drafted a verification of coverage form. The use of the form has not helped the situation as much as hoped. Providers ask for more than is on the form and insurers note that some information is not available. The working group totally revamped the form to require significantly less information and to require that viatical settlement providers and brokers fill out some of the form prior to submitting it to the insurer. The working group decided that a provider should not be prepared to make an offer or express interest in a life insurance contract without gathering at least some basic information.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

Congress has expressed interest in uniformity of state laws and has held hearings on the issue. Updates on state activity are requested frequently.

INSURANCE STATUTE ATOMIC ENERGY EXCLUSION

Whereas, the standard policy as set forth in Section [insert applicable section] is not intended to cover loss or damage caused by nuclear reaction, or nuclear radiation or radioactive contamination, all whether directly or indirectly resulting from an insured peril under said policy; and

Whereas, it is desirable in the public interest that written notice of such intention be given to persons insured under such a standard policy;

Now therefore, be it enacted, that

Insurers issuing the standard policy pursuant to Section [insert applicable section] are hereby authorized to affix thereto or include therein a written statement that the policy does not cover loss or damage caused by nuclear reaction or nuclear radiation or radioactive contamination, all whether directly or indirectly resulting from an insured peril under said policy; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the attachment to any such policy of an endorsement or endorsements specifically assuming coverage for loss or damage caused by nuclear reaction or nuclear radiation or radioactive contamination.

NATIONWIDE INLAND MARINE DEFINITION

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this instrument is to describe the kinds of risks and coverages which may be classified or identified under state insurance laws as marine, inland marine or transportation insurance, but does not include all of the kinds of risks and coverages which may be written, classified or identified under marine, inland marine or transportation insuring powers, nor shall it be construed to mean that the kinds of risks and coverages are solely marine, inland marine or transportation insurance in all instances.

This instrument shall not be construed to restrict or limit in any way the exercise of any insuring powers granted under charters and license whether used separately, in combination or otherwise.

Section 2. Applicability

Marine or transportation policies may cover under the following conditions:

A. Imports

Imports may be covered wherever the property may be and without restriction as to time, provided the coverage of the issuing companies includes hazards of transportation.

An import, as a proper subject, or marine or transportation insurance, shall be deemed to maintain its character as such, so long as the property remains segregated in such a way that it can be identified and has not become incorporated and mixed with the general mass of property in the United States, and shall be deemed to have been completed when the property has been:

(1) Sold and delivered by the importer, factor or consignee; or

(2) Removed from place of storage and placed on sale as part of importer's stock in trade at a point of sale-distribution; or

(3) Delivered for manufacture, processing or change in form to premises of the importer or of another used for any such purposes.

B. Exports

Exports may be covered wherever the property may be without restriction as to time, provided the coverage of the issuing companies includes hazards of transportation.

An export, as a proper subject of marine or transportation insurance, shall be deemed to acquire its character as such when designated or while being prepared for export and retain that character unless diverted for domestic trade, and when so diverted, the provisions of this ruling respecting domestic shipments shall apply. However, this provision shall not apply to long established methods of insuring certain commodities (e.g., cotton).

C. Domestic Shipments

(1) Domestic shipments on consignment, for sale or distribution, exhibit, trial, approval or auction, while in transit, while in the custody of others and while being returned, provided that in no event shall the policy cover on premises owned, leased or operated by the consignor.

(2) Domestic shipments not on consignment, provided the coverage of the issuing companies includes hazards of transportation, beginning and ending within the United States, provided that the shipments shall not be covered at manufacturing premises nor after arrival at premises owned, leased or operated by assured or purchaser.

D. Bridges, Tunnels and Other Instrumentalities of Transportation and Communication (excluding buildings, their improvements and betterments, furniture and furnishings, fixed contents and supplies held in storage)

The foregoing includes:

(1) Bridges, tunnels, other similar instrumentalities, including auxiliary facilities and equipment attendant thereto;

(2) Piers, wharves, docks, slips, dry docks and marine railways;

(3) Pipelines, including on-line propulsion, regulating and other equipment appurtenant to the pipelines, but excluding all property at manufacturing, producing, refining, converting, treating or conditioning plants;

(4) Power transmission and telephone and telegraph lines, excluding all property at generating, converting or transforming stations, substations and exchanges;

(5) Radio and television communication equipment in use as such including towers and antennae with auxiliary equipment, and appurtenant electrical operating and control apparatus;

(6) Outdoor cranes, loading bridges and similar equipment used to load, unload and transport.

E. Personal Property Floater Risk covering individuals and/or generally

(1) Personal Effects Floater Policies;

(2) The Personal Property Floater;

(3) Government Service Floaters;

(4) Personal Fur Floaters;

(5) Personal Jewelry Floaters;

(6) Wedding Present Floaters for not exceeding ninety (90) days after the date of the wedding;

(7) Silverware Floaters;

(8) Fine Arts Floaters covering paintings, etchings, pictures, tapestries, art glass windows, and other bona fide works of art of rarity, historical value or artistic merit;

(9) Stamp and Coin Floaters;

(10) Musical Instrument Floaters (Radios, televisions, record players and combinations thereof are not deemed musical instruments);

(11) Mobile Articles, Machinery and Equipment Floaters (excluding motor vehicles designed for highway use and auto homes, trailers and semi-trailers except when hauled by tractors not designed for highway use) covering identified property of a mobile or floating nature pertaining to or usual to a household. The policies shall not cover furniture and fixtures not customarily used away from premises where the property is usually kept;

(12) Installment Sales and Leased Property Policies covering property pertaining to a household and sold under conditional contract of sale, partial payment contract or installment sales contract or lease, but excluding motor vehicles designed for highway use. The policies must cover in transit but shall not extend beyond the termination of the seller's or lessor's interest; and

(13) Live Animal Floaters.

F. Commercial Property Floater Risks covering property pertaining to a business, profession or occupation

(1) Radium Floaters;

(2) Physician's and Surgeons' Instrument Floaters. The policies may include coverage of furniture, fixtures and tenant Assured's interest in improvements and betterments of buildings located in that portion of the premises occupied by the assured in the practice of his or her profession;

(3) Pattern and Die Floaters;

(4) Theatrical Floaters, excluding buildings and their improvements and betterments, and furniture and fixtures that do not travel about with theatrical troupes;

(5) Film Floaters, including builders' risk during the production and coverage on completed negatives and positives and sound records;

(6) Salesmen's Samples Floaters;

(7) Exhibition Policies on property while on exhibition and in transit to or from exhibitions;

(8) Live Animal Floaters;

(9) Builders Risks or Installation Risks covering interest of owner, seller or contractor, against loss or damage to machinery, equipment, building materials or supplies, being used with and during the course of installation, testing, building, renovating or repairing. The policies may cover at points or places where work is being performed, while in transit and during temporary storage or deposit, of property designated for and awaiting specific installation, building, renovating or repairing.

Coverage shall be limited to Builders Risks or Installation Risks where perils in addition to Fire and Extended Coverage are to be insured.

If written for account of owner, the coverage shall cease upon completion and acceptance thereof; or if written for account of a seller or contractor the coverage shall terminate when the interest of the seller or contractor ceases.

(10) Mobile Articles, Machinery and Equipment Floaters (excluding motor vehicles designed for highway use and auto homes, trailers and semi-trailers except when hauled by tractors not designed for highway use and snow plows constructed exclusively for highway use), covering identified property of a mobile or floating nature, not on sale or consignment, or in course of manufacture, which has come into custody or control of parties who intend to use such property for which it was manufactured or created. The policies shall not cover furniture and fixtures not customarily used away from premises where the property is usually kept.

(11) Property in transit to or from and in the custody of bailees (not owned, controlled or operated by the bailor). The policies shall not cover bailee's property at his or her premises.

(12) Installment Sales and Leased Property. Policies covering property sold under conditional contract of sale, partial payment contract, installment sales contract, or leased but excluding motor vehicles designed for highway use. The policies must cover in transit but shall not extend beyond the termination of the seller's or lessor's interest. This section is not intended to include machinery and equipment under certain "lease-back" contracts.

(13) Garment Contractors Floaters.

(14) Furriers or Fur Storers Customers Policies (i.e., policies under which certificates or receipts are issued by furriers or fur storers) covering specified articles the property of customers.

(15) Accounts Receivable Policies, Valuable Papers and Records Policies.

(16) Floor Plan Policies, covering property for sale while in possession of dealers under a Floor Plan or any similar plan under which the dealer borrows money from a bank or lending institution with which to pay the manufacturer, provided:

(a) The merchandise is specifically identifiable as encumbered to the bank or lending institution;

(b) The dealer's right to sell or otherwise dispose of the merchandise is conditioned upon its being released from encumbrance by the bank or lending institution;

(c) That the policies cover in transit and do not extend beyond the termination of the dealer's interest.

These policies shall not cover automobiles or motor vehicles; merchandise for which the dealer's collateral is the stock or inventory as distinguished from merchandise specifically identifiable as encumbered to the lending institution.

(17) Sign and Street Clock Policies, including neon signs, automatic or mechanical signs, street clocks, while in use as such.

(18) Fine Arts Policies covering paintings, etchings, pictures, tapestries, art glass windows, and other bona fide works of art of rarity, historical value or artistic merit, for account of museums, galleries, universities, businesses, municipalities and other similar interests.

(19) Policies covering personal property which, when sold to the ultimate purchaser, may be covered specifically by the owner under Inland Marine Policies including:

(a) Musical Instrument Dealers Policies, covering property consisting principally of musical instruments and their accessories. Radios, televisions, record players and combinations thereof are not deemed musical instruments.

(b) Camera Dealers Policies, covering property consisting principally of cameras and their accessories.

(c) Furriers Dealers Policies, covering property consisting principally of furs and fur garments.

(d) Equipment Dealers Policies, covering mobile equipment consisting of binders, reapers, tractors, harvesters, harrows, tedders and other similar agricultural equipment and accessories therefore; construction equipment consisting of bulldozers, road scrapers, tractors, compressors, pneumatic tools and similar equipment and accessories therefor; but excluding motor vehicles designed for highway use.

(e) Stamp and Coin Dealers covering property of philatelic and numismatic nature.

(f) Jewelers Block Policies.

(g) Fine Arts Dealers.

Policies may include coverage of money in locked safes or vaults on the assured's premises. The policies also may include coverage of furniture, fixtures, tools, machinery, patterns, molds, dies and tenant insureds' interest in improvements of buildings.

Drafting Note: This would allow the same limited "money coverage" privilege currently available under Jewelers Block policies to be granted under other block or dealers policies.

(20) Wool Growers Floaters.

(21) Domestic Bulk Liquids Policies, covering tanks and domestic bulk liquids stored therein.

(22) Difference in Conditions Coverage excluding fire and extended coverage perils.

(23) Electronic Data Processing policies.

Drafting Note: Items 22 and 23 authorize these coverages as Inland Marine to meet market demand for such protection.

Section 3. Exceptions

Unless otherwise permitted, nothing in the foregoing shall be construed to permit marine or transportation policies to cover:

A. Storage of assured's merchandise, except as hereinbefore provided.

B. Merchandise in course of manufacture, the property of and on the premises of the manufacturer.

C. Furniture and fixtures and improvements and betterments to buildings.

D. Monies or securities in safes, vaults, safety deposit vaults, bank or assured's premises, except while in the course of transportation.

MODEL RISK RETENTION ACT

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to regulate the formation and/or operation of risk retention groups and purchasing groups in this State formed pursuant to the provisions of the federal Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986 ("RRA 1986"), to the extent permitted by such law.

Section 2. Definitions

As used in this Act

A. "Commissioner" [director, superintendent] means the insurance commissioner [director, superintendent] of [insert name of state] or the commissioner, director or superintendent of insurance in any other state;

B. "Completed operations liability" means liability arising out of the installation, maintenance or repair of any product at a site which is not owned or controlled by

(1) Any person who performs that work; or

(2) Any person who hires an independent contractor to perform that work; but shall include liability for activities which are completed or abandoned before the date of the occurrence giving rise to the liability;

Drafting Note: The definition of "completed operations liability" is taken from the definition in the Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 (Product Liability RRA 1981) Section 2(a)(1). A purpose of RRA 1986 was to expand the permissible coverage offered by risk retention groups from product liability and completed operations to general liability insurance, as further defined in RRA 1986. Some risk retention groups that were chartered under the Product Liability RRA 1981 are "grandfathered" by RRA 1986 to the extent that they can continue to provide product liability and completed operations coverage if they meet the criteria established by RRA 1986. The definitions relating to product liability and completed operations coverage, therefore, are relevant to any such groups which may continue to so operate.

C. "Domicile", for purposes of determining the state in which a purchasing group is domiciled, means

(1) For a corporation, the state in which the purchasing group is incorporated; and

(2) For an unincorporated entity, the state of its principal place of business;

D. "Hazardous financial condition" means that, based on its present or reasonably anticipated financial condition, a risk retention group, although not yet financially impaired or insolvent, is unlikely to be able

(1) To meet obligations to policyholders with respect to known claims and reasonably anticipated claims; or

(2) To pay other obligations in the normal course of business;

Drafting Note: The definition of "hazardous financial condition" stipulates that a regulator, in looking at the financial condition of a risk retention group, can base his conclusions on reasonable expectations of future performance. In determining the present or reasonably anticipated financial condition of a risk retention group, the commissioner may utilize all relevant financial tests, ratios and other factors used in determining the financial condition of authorized insurers, including an analysis of actuarial soundness of rates charged.

E. "Insurance" means primary insurance, excess insurance, reinsurance, surplus lines insurance, and any other arrangement for shifting and distributing risk which is determined to be insurance under the laws of this state;

Drafting Note: Definition taken from RRA 1986 Section 2(a)(1).

F. "Liability"

(1) Means legal liability for damages (including costs of defense, legal costs and fees, and other claims expenses) because of injuries to other persons, damage to their property, or other damage or loss to such other persons resulting from or arising out of

(a) Any business (whether profit or nonprofit), trade, product, services (including professional services), premises or operations; or

(b) Any activity of any state or local government, or any agency or political subdivision thereof; and

Drafting Note: A state may specify acceptable means for managing the liability of the state or its local governments, or any agency or political subdivision thereof, by including or excluding insurance coverage obtained from an admitted insurance company, an excess lines company, a risk retention group, or any other source; or through a broker, agent, purchasing group, or any other person. Similarly, a state may specify acceptable means of demonstrating financial responsibility as a condition for obtaining a license or permit to undertake specified activities pursuant to Section 6(d), RRA 1986.

(2) Does not include personal risk liability and an employer's liability with respect to its employees other than legal liability under the Federal Employers' Liability Act (45 U.S.C. 51 et seq.);

G. "Personal risk liability" means liability for damages because of injury to any person, damage to property, or other loss or damage resulting from any personal, familial, or household responsibilities or activities, rather than from responsibilities or activities referred to in Subsection F;

H. "Plan of operation" or "feasibility study" means an analysis which presents the expected activities and results of a risk retention group including, at a minimum;

(1) Information sufficient to verify that its members are engaged in businesses or activities similar or related with respect to the liability to which such members are exposed by virtue of any related, similar or common business, trade, product, services, premises or operations;

(2) For each state in which it intends to operate, the coverages, deductibles, coverage limits, rates and rating classification systems for each line of insurance the group intends to offer;

(3) Historical and expected loss experience of the proposed members and national experience of similar exposures to the extent that this experience is reasonably available;

(4) Pro forma financial statements and projections;

(5) Appropriate opinions by a qualified, independent casualty actuary, including a determination of minimum premium or participation levels required to commence operations and to prevent a hazardous financial condition;

(6) Identification of management, underwriting and claims procedures, marketing methods, managerial oversight methods, investment policies and reinsurance agreements;

(7) Identification of each state in which the risk retention group has obtained, or sought to obtain, a charter and license, and a description of its status in each such state; and

(8) Such other matters as may be prescribed by the commissioner of the state in which the risk retention group is chartered for liability insurance companies authorized by the insurance laws of that state;

I. "Product liability" means liability for damages because of any personal injury, death, emotional harm, consequential economic damage, or property damage (including damages resulting from the loss of use of property) arising out of the manufacture, design, importation, distribution, packaging, labeling, lease, or sale of a product, but does not include the liability of any person for those damages if the product involved was in the possession of such a person when the incident giving rise to the claim occurred;

Drafting Note: The definition of "product liability" is identical to that contained in Product Liability RRA 1981, Section 2(a)(3), for a "grandfathered" risk retention group. See Drafting Note following Subsection 2B of this Act.

J. "Purchasing group" means any group which

(1) Has as one of its purposes the purchase of liability insurance on a group basis;

(2) Purchases such insurance only for its group members and only to cover their similar or related liability exposure, as described in Paragraph (3);

(3) Is composed of members whose businesses or activities are similar or related with respect to the liability to which members are exposed by virtue of any related, similar, or common business, trade, product, services, premises, or operations; and

(4) Is domiciled in any state;

Drafting Note: The Product Liability RRA 1981 contained a very loose definition of "purchasing group." RRA 1986 offers a more restrictive definition of those groups that can qualify as "purchasing groups." A purchasing group must only offer liability insurance to its group members, and the insurance must cover their similar or related liability exposure. Further, the group members must have businesses or activities that are similar or related with respect to the liability to which group members are exposed. Finally, the purchasing group must be domiciled in one of the states of the United States, i.e., it cannot be domiciled offshore.

K. "Risk retention group" means any corporation or other limited liability association:

(1) Whose primary activity consists of assuming and spreading all, or any portion, of the liability exposure of its group members;

(2) Which is organized for the primary purpose of conducting the activity described under Paragraph (1);

(3) Which

(a) Is chartered and licensed as a liability insurance company and authorized to engage in the business of insurance under the laws of any state; or

(b) Before January 1, 1985 was chartered or licensed and authorized to engage in the business of insurance under the laws of Bermuda or the Cayman Islands and, before such date, had certified to the insurance commissioner of at least one state that it satisfied the capitalization requirements of such state, except that any such group shall be considered to be a risk retention group only if it has been engaged in business continuously since that date and only for the purpose of continuing to provide insurance to cover product liability or completed operations liability (as such terms were defined in the Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 before the date of the enactment of the Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986);

(4) Which does not exclude any person from membership in the group solely to provide for members of such a group a competitive advantage over such a person;

(5) Which

(a) Has as its owners only persons who comprise the membership of the risk retention group and who are provided insurance by such group; or

(b) Has as its sole owner an organization which has as

(i) Its members only persons who comprise the membership of the risk retention group; and

(ii) Its owners only persons who comprise the membership of the risk retention group and who are provided insurance by such group;

(6) Whose members are engaged in businesses or activities similar or related with respect to the liability of which such members are exposed by virtue of any related, similar or common business trade, product, services, premises or operations;

(7) Whose activities do not include the provision of insurance other than

(a) Liability insurance for assuming and spreading all or any portion of the liability of its group members; and

(b) Reinsurance with respect to the liability of any other risk retention group (or any members of such other group) which is engaged in businesses or activities so that the group or member meets the requirement described in Paragraph 6 from membership in the risk retention group which provides such reinsurance; and

(8) The name of which includes the phrase "Risk Retention Group;"

Drafting Note: RRA 1986 changes the definition of "risk retention group" by further restricting the permissible membership and its activities. A risk retention group must be chartered and licensed as a liability insurance company and authorized to engage in the business of insurance under the laws of one of the fifty states unless it qualifies under the "grandfather" provision of Subsection K(3)(b). In that event, it may only continue to provide product liability or completed operation coverage.

Each of the members of the group must have an "ownership interest" in the group. In addition, all owners must be provided insurance by the group. One purpose of this requirement is to prevent participation by third parties which may not be interested in the specific insurance problems of group members but merely may be interested in making a profit. The single exception to this requirement is when the sole member and sole owner of the organization is an entity consisting of persons, each of whom is a member of the risk retention group and is provided insurance by the group.

The members "who are also the owners" are required to be engaged in businesses or activities "similar or related with respect to the liability to which they are exposed by virtue of any related, similar, or common business, trade, product, services, premises or operation." This restriction is for the purpose of requiring substantial identity among the members (who are also the owners and insureds) in regard to the nature of the risks faced.

A risk retention group may not provide insurance other than liability insurance. Further, it can only provide reinsurance to another risk retention group if all of that group's members would qualify for membership in the risk retention group offering the reinsurance. This provision was designed to restrict a risk retention group to only reinsuring its own risks or the similar risks of similarly situated businesses. For example, a risk retention group whose membership consists of grocery store owners, could not reinsure a risk retention group whose membership consists of hazardous waste transporters.

The risk retention group must be chartered and licensed as a liability insurance company and authorized to engage in the business of insurance under the laws of one of the fifty states unless it qualifies under the "grandfather" provision of Subsection K(3)(b).

L. "State" means any state of the United States or the District of Columbia.

Section 3. Risk Retention Groups Chartered in this State

A. (1) A risk retention group shall, pursuant to the provisions of Section [insert appropriate reference to Insurance Law], be chartered and licensed to write only liability insurance pursuant to this Act and, except as provided elsewhere in this Act, must comply with all of the laws, rules, regulations and requirements applicable to insurers chartered and licensed in this state and with Section 4 of this Act to the extent such requirements are not a limitation on laws, rules, regulations or requirements of this state.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision to the contrary, all risk retention groups chartered in this state shall file with the department and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC), an annual statement in a form prescribed by the NAIC and in diskette form, if required by the Commissioner and completed in accordance with its instructions and the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual.

B. Before it may offer insurance in any state, each risk retention group shall also submit for approval to the insurance commissioner of this state a plan of operation or feasibility study. The risk retention group shall submit an appropriate revision in the event of any subsequent material change in any item of the plan of operation or feasibility study, within ten (10) days of any such change. The group shall not offer any additional kinds of liability insurance, in this state or in any other state, until a revision of the plan or study is approved by the commissioner.

C. At the time of filing its application for charter, the risk retention group shall provide to the commissioner in summary form the following information: the identity of the initial members of the group, the identity of those individuals who organized the group or who will provide administrative services or otherwise influence or control the activities of the group, the amount and nature of initial capitalization, the coverages to be afforded, and the states in which the group intends to operate. Upon receipt of this information, the commissioner shall forward the information to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Providing notification to the NAIC is in addition to and shall not be sufficient to satisfy the requirements of Section 4 or any other sections of this Act.

D. Governance Standards For Risk Retention Groups - Within a year of the effective date of this Act, existing risk retention groups shall be in compliance with the following Governance Standards. New risk retention groups shall be in compliance with the standards at the time of licensure.

(1) Board of Directors. The "board of directors" or "board" as used in this section, means the governing body of the risk retention group elected by the shareholders or members to establish policy, elect or appoint officers and committees, and make other governing decisions. "Director" as used in this section, means a natural person designated in the articles of the risk retention group, or designated, elected or appointed by any other manner, name or title to act as a director.

(a) Independent Directors. The board of directors of the risk retention group shall have a majority of independent directors. If the risk retention group is a reciprocal, then the attorney-in-fact would be required to adhere to the same standards regarding independence of operation and governance as imposed on the risk retention group's board of directors/subscribers advisory committee under these standards; and, to the extent permissible under state law, service providers of a reciprocal risk retention group should contract with the risk retention group and not the attorney-in-fact.

(i) No director qualifies as "independent" unless the board of directors affirmatively determines that the director has no "material relationship" with the risk retention group. Each risk retention group shall disclose these determinations to its domestic regulator, at least annually. For this purpose, any person that is a direct or indirect owner of or subscriber in the risk retention group (or is an officer, director and/or employee of such an owner and insured, unless some other position of such officer, director and/or employee constitutes a "material relationship"), as contemplated by Section 3901(a)(4)(E)(ii) of the Liability Risk Retention Act, is considered to be "independent."

(b) "Material relationship" of a person with the risk retention group includes, but is not limited to:

(ii) The receipt in any one 12-month period of compensation or payment of any other item of value by such person, a member of such person's immediate family or any business with which such person is affiliated from the risk retention group or a consultant or service provider to the risk retention group is greater than or equal to five percent (5%) of the risk retention group's gross written premium for such 12-month period or two percent (2%) of its surplus, whichever is greater, as measured at the end of any fiscal quarter falling in such a 12-month period. Such person or immediate family member of such person is not independent until one year after his/her compensation from the risk retention group falls below the threshold.

(iii) A relationship with an auditor as follows: a director or an immediate family member of a director who is affiliated with or employed in a professional capacity by a present or former internal or external auditor of the risk retention group is not independent until one year after the end of the affiliation, employment or auditing relationship.

(iv) A relationship with a related entity as follows: a director or immediate family member of a director who is employed as an executive officer of another company where any of the risk retention group's present executives serve on that other company's board of directors is not independent until one year after the end of such service or the employment relationship.

(2) Service Provider Contracts. The term of any material service provider contract with the risk retention group shall not exceed five (5) years. Any such contract, or its renewal, shall require the approval of the majority of the risk retention group's independent directors. The risk retention group's board of directors shall have the right to terminate any service provider, audit or actuarial contracts at any time for cause after providing adequate notice as defined in the contract. The service provider contract is deemed material if the amount to be paid for such contract is greater than or equal to five percent (5%) of the risk retention group's annual gross written premium or two percent (2%) of its surplus, whichever is greater.

(a) For purposes of this standard, "service providers" shall include captive managers, auditors, accountants, actuaries, investment advisors, lawyers, managing general underwriters or other party responsible for underwriting, determination of rates, collection of premium, adjusting and settling claims and/or the preparation of financial statements. Any reference to 'lawyers' in the prior sentences does not include defense counsel retained by the risk retention group to defend claims, unless the amount of fees paid to such lawyers are 'material' as referenced in Section (1)(B) above.

(b) No service provider contract meeting the definition of "material relationship" contained in Section (1)(B) shall be entered into unless the risk retention group has notified the Commissioner in writing of its intention to enter into such transaction at least 30 days prior thereto and the Commissioner has not disapproved it within such period.

Drafting note: For the sake of clarity, the domestic Commissioner's authority is included in this subpart. Some states may prefer the Commissioner's authority as included in this subpart be enacted in Section 11 "Administrative and Procedural Authority Regarding Risk Retention Groups and Purchasing Groups."

(3) Written Policy. The risk retention group's board of directors shall adopt a written policy in the plan of operation as approved by the board that requires the board to:

(a) Assure that all owner/insureds of the risk retention group receive evidence of ownership interest;

(b) Develop a set of governance standards applicable to the risk retention group;

(c) Oversee the evaluation of the risk retention group's management including but not limited to the performance of the captive manager, managing general underwriter or other party or parties responsible for underwriting, determination of rates, collection of premium, adjusting or settling claims or the preparation of financial statements;

(d) Review and approve the amount to be paid for all material service providers; and

(e) Review and approve, at least annually:

(i) Risk retention group's goals and objectives relevant to the compensation of officers and service providers;

(ii) The officers' and service providers' performance in light of those goals the and objectives; and,

(iii) The continued engagement of the officers and material service providers.

(4) Audit Committee The risk retention group shall have an audit committee composed of at least three independent board members as defined in Section (1). A non-independent board member may participate in the activities of the audit committee, if invited by the members, but cannot be a member of such committee.

(a) The audit committee shall have a written charter that defines the committee's purpose, which, at a minimum, must be to:

(i) Assist board oversight of (1) the integrity of the financial statements, (2) the compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, and (3) the qualifications, independence and performance of the independent auditor and actuary;

(ii) Discuss the annual audited financial statements and quarterly financial statements with management;

(iii) Discuss the annual audited financial statements with its independent auditor and, if advisable, discuss its quarterly financial statements with its independent auditor;

(iv) Discuss policies with respect to risk assessment and risk management;

(v) Meet separately and periodically, either directly or through a designated representative of the committee, with management and independent auditors;

(vi) Review with the independent auditor any audit problems or difficulties and management's response;

(vii) Set clear hiring policies of the risk retention group as to the hiring of employees or former employees of the independent auditor;

(viii) Require the external auditor to rotate the lead (or coordinating) audit partner having primary responsibility for the risk retention group's audit as well as the audit partner responsible for reviewing that audit so that neither individual performs audit services for more than five (5) consecutive fiscal years; and

(ix) Report regularly to the board of directors.

(b) The domestic regulator may waive the requirement to establish an audit committee composed of independent board members if the risk retention group is able to demonstrate to the domestic regulator that it is impracticable to do so and the risk retention group's board of directors itself is otherwise able to accomplish the purposes of an audit committee, as described in Section (4)(a).

Drafting Note: As an alternative to subsection four "Audit Committee", the state may substitute the NAIC audit provisions applicable to traditional insurers.

Drafting Note: As an alternative to Section 4(b), the state may substitute "If an audit committee is not designated by the insurer, the insurer's entire board of directors shall constitute the audit committee."

(5) Governance Standards The board of directors shall adopt and disclose governance standards, where "disclose" means making such information available through electronic (e.g., posting such information on the risk retention group's website) or other means, and providing such information to members/insureds upon request, which shall include:

(a) A process by which the directors are elected by the owner/insureds;

(b) Director qualification standards;

(c) Director responsibilities;

(d) Director access to management and, as necessary and appropriate, independent advisors;

(e) Director compensation;

(f) Director orientation and continuing education;

(g) The policies and procedures that are followed for management succession; and

(h) The policies and procedures that are followed for annual performance evaluation of the board.

(6) Business Conduct and Ethics The board of directors shall adopt and disclose a code of business conduct and ethics for directors, officers and employees and promptly disclose to the board of directors any waivers of the code for directors or executive officers, which should include the following topics:

(a) Conflicts of interest;

(b) Matters covered under the corporate opportunities doctrine under the state of domicile;

(c) Confidentiality;

(d) Fair dealing;

(e) Protection and proper use of risk retention group assets;

(f) Compliance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations; and

(g) Requiring the reporting of any illegal or unethical behavior which affects the operation of the risk retention group.

(7) Reporting Non-Compliance The captive manager, president or chief executive officer of the risk retention group shall promptly notify the domestic regulator in writing if either becomes aware of any material non-compliance with any of these governance standards.

Drafting Note: RRA 1986 allows for the chartering state to apply the full range of its insurance laws to a risk retention group wishing to charter in that state, except for requiring participation in the guaranty fund. The language of this section is derived from Product Liability RRA 1981 Section 3(a)(1) (which was not amended by RRA 1986 as it relates to this issue). The function of the office of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners shall be solely to provide administrative services for its member states and territories. Although RRA 1986 specifically requires that the phrase "Risk Retention Group" be included in the name, the chartering state is not precluded from prohibiting the use of deceptive or misleading words, designations or phrases in the name. Further, a state may require a risk retention group it charters and licenses to locate books and records or administrative functions within that state to the same extent it imposes those requirements on its domestic insurers.

Section 4. Risk Retention Groups Not Chartered in this State

Risk retention groups chartered and licensed in states other than this state and seeking to do business as a risk retention group in this state shall comply with the laws of this state as follows:

Drafting Note: RRA of 1986 exempts a risk retention group from any state law regarding its operation in a state in which it is not domiciled except those laws referred to in RRA 1986. The state of domicile, however, retains under that section the full authority to regulate the formation and operation of the group.

However, if a risk retention group fails to qualify under the definitional requirement of RRA 1986, it will not benefit from this exemption from state law. The commissioner, therefore, would be authorized to apply any of the laws that may be preempted by RRA 1986 because the group will not qualify for the preemption.

A. Notice of Operations and Designation of Commissioner as Agent.

(1) Before offering insurance in this state, a risk retention group shall submit to the commissioner on a form prescribed by the NAIC:

(a) A statement identifying the state or states in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed as a liability insurance company, charter date, its principal place of business, and such other information, including information on its membership, as the commissioner of this state may require to verify that the risk retention group is qualified under Section 2K of this Act;

Drafting Note: The commissioner may need to take appropriate action in order to preserve the confidentiality of any proprietary or other confidential information, such as lists identifying the specific members of the group and their location.

(b) A copy of its plan of operations or feasibility study and revisions of such plan or study submitted to the state in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed; provided, however, that the provision relating to the submission of a plan of operation or feasibility study shall not apply with respect to any line or classification of liability insurance which:

(i) Was defined in the Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 before October 27, 1986; and

(ii) Was offered before that date by any risk retention group which had been chartered and operating for not less than three (3) years before that date; and

(2) The risk retention group shall submit a copy of any material revision to its plan of operation or feasibility study required by Section 3B of this Act within 30 days of the date of the approval of such revision by the commissioner of its chartering state, or if no such approval is required, within 30 days of filing.

Drafting Note: The plan of operations or feasibility study required under this provision is that submitted to and accepted by the chartering state.

(3) The risk retention group shall submit a statement of registration, for which a filing fee shall be determined by the commissioner, which designates the commissioner as its agent for the purpose of receiving service of legal documents or process.

B. Financial Condition. Any risk retention group doing business in this state shall submit to the commissioner:

(1) A copy of the group's financial statement submitted to the state in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed which shall be certified by an independent public accountant and contain a statement of opinion on loss and loss adjustment expense reserves made by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries or a qualified loss reserve specialist (under criteria established by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners);

(2) A copy of each examination of the risk retention group as certified by the commissioner or public official conducting the examination;

(3) Upon request by the commissioner, a copy of any information or document pertaining to any outside audit performed with respect to the risk retention group; and

(4) Such information as may be required to verify its continuing qualification as a risk retention group under Section 2K.

Drafting Note: RRA 1986 also added the opportunity for a state to require that a risk retention group submit a notice of operations and financial condition. The purpose of this provision is to require a risk retention group to give the commissioner of any state in which it intends to operate adequate notice of its intended activity and financial condition so that the commissioner can take appropriate action if the possibility of a potential insolvency or commercial abuse exists.

C. Taxation.

(1) Each risk retention group shall be liable for the payment of premium taxes and taxes on premiums of direct business for risks resident or located within this state, and shall report to the commissioner the net premiums written for risks resident or located within this state. The risk retention group shall be subject to taxation, and any applicable fines and penalties related thereto, on the same basis as a foreign admitted insurer.

(2) To the extent licensed agents or brokers are utilized pursuant to Section 12 of this Act, they shall report to the commissioner the premiums for direct business for risks resident or located within this state which the licensees have placed with or on behalf of a risk retention group not chartered in this state.

(3) To the extent that insurance agents or brokers are utilized pursuant to Section 12 of this Act, each agent or broker shall keep a complete and separate record of all policies procured from each risk retention group, which record shall be open to examination by the commissioner, as provided in [insert appropriate reference to Insurance Law]. These records shall, for each policy and each kind of insurance provided thereunder, include the following:

(a) The limit of liability;

(b) The time period covered;

(c) The effective date;

(d) The name of the risk retention group which issued the policy;

(e) The gross premium charged; and

(f) The amount of return premiums, if any.

Drafting Note: RRA 1986 does not specify which premium tax rate will be applied. The NAIC has recommended applying the rate for foreign admitted insurers; some states, however, may apply the surplus lines rate.

D. Compliance with Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Law. Any risk retention group, its agents and representatives shall comply with the Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Act of this state, [insert section of the Insurance Code].

Drafting Note: The provisions regarding the liability of risk retention groups to state taxation, compliance with the unfair claims settlement practices law, and registration and designation of the commissioner as agent for purpose of service of process were included in the Product Liability RRA 1981 and continued in RRA 1986.

E. Deceptive, False, or Fraudulent Practices. Any risk retention group shall comply with the laws of this state, [insert sections of the Insurance Code], regarding deceptive, false or fraudulent acts or practices. However, if the commissioner seeks an injunction regarding such conduct, the injunction must be obtained from a court of competent jurisdiction.

Drafting Note: The provision regarding compliance with state laws regarding deceptive, false or fraudulent practices was added by RRA 1986. The chartering state retains all of its authority to deal with an unfair trade practice under all its laws generally, including its insurance law. However, the 1986 Act preempts those portions of non-chartering states' Unfair Trade Practices Acts contained in their insurance laws that relate to methods of competition and acts or practices that are unfair, if such methods, acts or practices are not also deceptive. Nonetheless, state antitrust and state unfair practice laws which apply to commerce generally are applicable and are not preempted by the federal law.

F. Examination Regarding Financial Condition. Any risk retention group must submit to an examination by the commissioner to determine its financial condition if the commissioner of the jurisdiction in which the group is chartered and licensed has not initiated an examination or does not initiate an examination within sixty (60) days after a request by the commissioner of this state. Any such examination shall be coordinated to avoid unjustified repetition and conducted in an expeditious manner and in accordance with the NAIC's Examiner Handbook.

Drafting Note: A provision regarding submission to examination by the nondomiciliary state was included in the Product Liability RRA 1981. However, it was modified to eliminate the requirement that the commissioner had "reason to believe" the risk retention group was in a financially impaired condition. This deletion gives the commissioner greater latitude in requiring the group to submit to an examination.

G. Notice to Purchasers. Every application form for insurance from a risk retention group, and every policy (on its front and declaration pages) issued by a risk retention group, shall contain in ten (10) point type the following notice:

NOTICE

This policy is issued by your risk retention group. Your risk retention group may not be subject to all of the insurance laws and regulations of your state. State insurance insolvency guaranty funds are not available for your risk retention group.

Drafting Note: A provision regarding the notice to purchasers concerning the limitation of regulatory oversight of risk retention groups and the lack of insolvency guaranty fund protection was added by RRA 1986. The purpose is to allow the states to require minimal disclosure to consumers.

H. Prohibited Acts Regarding Solicitation or Sale. The following acts by a risk retention group are hereby prohibited:

(1) The solicitation or sale of insurance by a risk retention group to any person who is not eligible for membership in such group; and

(2) The solicitation or sale of insurance by, or operation of, a risk retention group that is in hazardous financial condition or financially impaired.

Drafting Note: The provision regarding the prohibition of solicitation or sale of insurance by the risk retention group to any person who is not eligible for membership or by a group that is in hazardous financial condition or financially impaired was included in RRA 1986 for the purpose of enhancing state regulatory authority. These provisions have not been included in state insurance codes due to the limitation on the coverages permissibly offered under the Product Liability RRA 1981. This provision is not intended to limit those acts against which a commissioner can take action but rather to expand those acts by identifying acts that would not have been violations of the law prior to the passage of RRA 1986.

I. Prohibition on Ownership by an Insurance Company. No risk retention group shall be allowed to do business in this state if an insurance company is directly or indirectly a member or owner of such risk retention group, other than in the case of a risk retention group all of whose members are insurance companies.

Drafting Note: The prohibition on ownership by an insurance company of a risk retention group was added by RRA 1986 for the purpose of limiting the involvement of fully regulated insurance companies in risk retention groups. The states should also amend the appropriate licensing law applying to authorized insurers to include a similar prohibition. The Congress believed that this was a method to avoid the possibility that fully regulated companies would choose the Risk Retention Act as a vehicle to avoid full regulation.

J. Prohibited Coverage. The terms of any insurance policy issued by any risk retention group shall not provide, or be construed to provide, coverage prohibited generally by statute of this state or declared unlawful by the highest court of this state whose law applies to such policy.

Drafting Note: The provision regarding prohibited coverages was added by RRA 1986 for the purpose of enabling a state to regulate the coverages that could be offered within its borders. The Congress believed that this was a matter of public policy to be determined by each state.

K. Delinquency Proceedings. A risk retention group not chartered in this state and doing business in this state shall comply with a lawful order issued in a voluntary dissolution proceeding or in a delinquency proceeding commenced by a state insurance commissioner if there has been a finding of financial impairment after an examination under Section 4F of this Act.

L. Penalties. A risk retention group that violates any provision of this Act will be subject to fines and penalties including revocation of its right to do business in this state, applicable to licensed insurers generally.

M. Operation Prior to Enactment of this Act. In addition to complying with the requirements of this section, any risk retention group operating in this state prior to enactment of this Act shall, within thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Act, comply with the provision of Subsection A(1) of this section.

Drafting Note: A risk retention group which qualifies under the grandfather provision contained in Section 2K(3)(b) is exempt from Subsection M above, so long as it only offers product liability or completed operations coverage.

Section 5. Compulsory Associations

A. No risk retention group shall be required or permitted to join or contribute financially to any insurance insolvency guaranty fund, or similar mechanism, in this state, nor shall any risk retention group, or its insureds or claimants against its insureds, receive any benefit from any such fund for claims arising under the insurance policies issued by a risk retention group.

B. When a purchasing group obtains insurance covering its members' risks from an insurer not authorized in this state or a risk retention group, no such risks, wherever resident or located, shall be covered by any insurance guaranty fund or similar mechanism in this state.

C. When a purchasing group obtains insurance covering its members' risks from an authorized insurer, only risks resident or located in this state shall be covered by the state guaranty fund subject to [insert appropriate reference to Insurance Law].

D. (OPTIONAL) Notwithstanding [insert appropriate references to JUA provisions], the commissioner may require or exempt a risk retention group from participation in any mechanism established or authorized under the law of this state for the equitable apportionment among insurers of liability insurance losses and expenses incurred on policies written through such mechanism, and such risk retention group shall submit sufficient information to the commissioner to enable the commissioner to apportion on a nondiscriminatory basis the risk retention group's proportionate share of such losses and expenses.

Drafting Note: Product Liability RRA Section 3(a)(2) specifically exempts risk retention groups from participation in the state guaranty fund. Section 3(a)(1)(C) of RRA 1986 permits a state to require that a risk retention group participate in JUAs or similar mechanisms on a nondiscriminatory basis. In making such a determination, each state should take into account the different considerations which are applicable to JUAs and to assignments under assigned risk plans, respectively, as well as to the impact on the financial condition of risk retention groups.

Section 6. Countersignatures not Required

A policy of insurance issued to a risk retention group or any member of that group shall not be required to be countersigned as otherwise provided in Section [insert reference] of the Insurance Code.

Drafting Note: Product Liability RRA Section 3(a)(3) preempts the states from requiring policies to be countersigned by resident agent or brokers. This section is optional depending on states' existing countersignature laws.

Section 7. Purchasing Groups—Exemption from Certain Laws

A purchasing group and its insurer or insurers shall be subject to all applicable laws of this state, except that a purchasing group and its insurer or insurers shall be exempt, in regard to liability insurance for the purchasing group, from any law that would:

A. Prohibit the establishment of a purchasing group;

B. Make it unlawful for an insurer to provide or offer to provide insurance on a basis providing, to a purchasing group or its members, advantages based on their loss and expense experience not afforded to other persons with respect to rates, policy forms, coverages or other matters;

C. Prohibit a purchasing group or its members from purchasing insurance on a group basis described in Subsection B of this section;

D. Prohibit a purchasing group from obtaining insurance on a group basis because the group has not been in existence for a minimum period of time or because any member has not belonged to the group for a minimum period of time;

E. Require that a purchasing group must have a minimum number of members, common ownership or affiliation, or certain legal form;

F. Require that a certain percentage of a purchasing group must obtain insurance on a group basis;

G. Otherwise discriminate against a purchasing group or any of its members; or

H. Require that any insurance policy issued to a purchasing group or any of its members be countersigned by an insurance agent or broker residing in this state.

Drafting Note: RRA 1986 establishes that the scope of the exemption from state law for risk retention groups is greater than that for purchasing groups. RRA 1986 in Section 3 states that a risk retention group is exempt from the laws of non-chartering states and then specifies those powers which are retained by those states. In regard to purchasing groups, however, Section 4 of RRA 1986 specifically lists those laws from which a purchasing group is exempt and which are in the nature of prohibiting or otherwise discriminating against purchasing groups. Therefore, a state can apply all other provisions of its laws to purchasing groups and persons dealing with purchasing groups. As noted in regard to risk retention groups, if a purchasing group does not meet any of the criteria specified to define it as a purchasing group, it does not benefit from any federal preemption of state law and all state laws apply.

Section 8. Notice and Registration Requirements of Purchasing Groups

A. A purchasing group which intends to do business in this state shall, prior to doing business, furnish notice to the commissioner which shall, on forms prescribed by the NAIC:

(1) Identify the state in which the group is domiciled;

(2) Identify all other states in which the group intends to do business;

(3) Specify the lines and classifications of liability insurance which the purchasing group intends to purchase;

(4) Identify the insurance company or companies from which the group intends to purchase its insurance and the domicile of such company;

(5) Specify the method by which, and the person or persons, if any, through whom insurance will be offered to its members whose risks are resident or located in this state;

(6) Identify the principal place of business of the group; and

(7) Provide such other information as may be required by the commissioner to verify that the purchasing group is qualified under Section 2J of this Act.

B. A purchasing group shall, within ten (10) days, notify the commissioner of any changes in any of the items set forth in Subsection A of this section.

Drafting Note: The notice provisions regarding purchasing groups are designed to require that purchasing groups provide adequate information to the commissioner so that an evaluation can be made as to whether a purchasing group is (a) bona fide and (b) is likely to operate in a manner and to purchase insurance coverage that is consistent with the laws of the state.

C. The purchasing group shall register with and designate the commissioner (or other appropriate authority) as its agent solely for the purpose of receiving service of legal documents or process, for which a filing fee shall be determined by the commissioner, except that such requirements shall not apply in the case of a purchasing group which only purchases insurance that was authorized under the federal Products Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981, and:

(1) Which in any state of the United States

(a) Was domiciled before April 1, 1986; and

(b) Is domiciled on and after October 27, 1986;

(2) Which

(a) Before October 27, 1986 purchased insurance from an insurance carrier licensed in any state; and

(b) Since October 27, 1986 purchased its insurance from an insurance carrier licensed in any state; or

(3) Which was a purchasing group under the requirements of the Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 before October 27, 1986.

D. Each purchasing group that is required to give notice pursuant to Subsection A of this section shall also furnish such information as may be required by the commissioner to:

(1) Verify that the entity qualifies as a purchasing group;

(2) Determine where the purchasing group is located; and

(3) Determine appropriate tax treatment.

E. Any purchasing group which was doing business in this state prior to the enactment of this Act shall, within thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Act, furnish notice to the commissioner pursuant to the provisions of Subsection A of this section and furnish such information as may be required pursuant to Subsections B and C of this section.

Drafting Note: The provision regarding registering with and designating the commissioner as legal agent is designed to allow the commissioner to take prompt legal action against the purchasing group by facilitating proper legal service of process. The purchasing groups "grandfathered" out of this registration requirement are only those that were prior to April 1986, and continue to be, domiciled in one of the United States, that purchase insurance only from U.S. carriers, that qualified as a purchasing group under the Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981, and that do not currently purchase insurance other than that authorized under the Product Liability RRA 1981.

Section 9. Restrictions on Insurance Purchased by Purchasing Groups

A. A purchasing group may not purchase insurance from a risk retention group that is not chartered in a state or from an insurer not admitted in the state in which the purchasing group is located, unless the purchase is effected through a licensed agent or broker acting pursuant to the surplus lines laws and regulations of such state.

Drafting Note: Although Section 4(f) of RRA was one of the most significant provisions dealing with regulation of insurance purchased by purchasing groups, the term "located" was not defined in the federal act.

B. A purchasing group which obtains liability insurance from an insurer not admitted in this state or a risk retention group shall inform each of the members of the group which have a risk resident or located in this state that the risk is not protected by an insurance insolvency guaranty fund in this state, and that the risk retention group or insurer may not be subject to all insurance laws and regulations of this state.

Drafting Note: This provision, with respect to non-admitted insurers, applies only if a state requires this notice to policyholders in the state with respect to other insurers not covered by insurance insolvency guaranty funds.

C. No purchasing group may purchase insurance providing for a deductible or self-insured retention applicable to the group as a whole; however, coverage may provide for a deductible or self-insured retention applicable to individual members.

D. Purchases of insurance by purchasing groups are subject to the same standards regarding aggregate limits which are applicable to all purchases of group insurance.

Drafting Note: A state may prescribe limitations with respect to aggregate limits to all purchases of group insurance, as long as such limitations are not applied in a manner which discriminates against purchasing groups.

Section 10. Purchasing Group Taxation

Premium taxes and taxes on premiums paid for coverage of risks resident or located in this state by a purchasing group or any members of the purchasing groups shall be:

A. Imposed at the same rate and subject to the same interest, fines and penalties as that applicable to premium taxes and taxes on premiums paid for similar coverage from a similar insurance source by other insureds; and

B. Paid first by such insurance source, and if not by such source by the agent or broker for the purchasing group, and if not by such agent or broker then by the purchasing group, and if not by such purchasing group then by each of its members.

Drafting Note: The term "insurance source" refers to admitted, licensed and authorized carriers on the one hand and non-admitted, surplus line carriers on the others. The enacting states may wish to include applicable taxing provisions of its Code.

Section 11. Administrative and Procedural Authority Regarding Risk Retention Groups and Purchasing Groups

The commissioner is authorized to make use of any of the powers established under the Insurance Code of this state to enforce the laws of this state not specifically preempted by the Risk Retention Act of 1986 including the commissioner's administrative authority to investigate, issue subpoena, conduct depositions and hearings, issue orders, impose penalties and seek injunctive relief. With regard to any investigation, administrative proceedings or litigation, the commissioner can rely on the procedural laws of this state. The injunctive authority of the commissioner, in regard to risk retention groups, is restricted by the requirement that any injunction be issued by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Drafting Note: This provision regarding the administrative and procedural authority retained by the states under Sections 3(f) and 4(g) of RRA 1986 is designed to permit the commissioner to investigate for potential hazardous financial condition or market conduct abuses and to take appropriate action where necessary. It clarifies that no federal preemption takes place regarding the procedural and administrative authority of the commissioner.

However, RRA 1986 requires that any injunction sought by the commissioner must be obtained from a court of competent jurisdiction. See RRA 1986 Section 3(a)(1)(G), Section 3(e), and Section 3(f). However, this restriction on the injunctive authority of the commissioner does not carry over to any action that the commissioner may take under its state administrative procedural law regarding purchasing groups. Section 4 of RRA 1986, which addresses the limited preemption from state law provided to purchasing groups, does not refer to any restriction on the commissioner's injunctive authority. More specifically, the "savings clause" regarding state authority, RRA Section 4(g), makes no mention of such requirement.

Section 12. Duty of Agents or Brokers to Obtain License

A. Risk retention groups.

(1) No person, firm, association or corporation shall act or aid in any manner in soliciting, negotiating or procuring liability insurance in this state from a risk retention group unless such person, firm, association or corporation is licensed as an insurance agent or broker in accordance with Section [insert appropriate reference to Insurance Law].

B. Purchasing groups.

(1) No person, firm, association or corporation shall act or aid in any manner in soliciting, negotiating or procuring liability insurance in this state for a purchasing group from an authorized insurer or a risk retention group chartered in a state unless such person, firm, association or corporation is licensed as an insurance agent or broker in accordance with Section [insert appropriate reference to Insurance Law].

(2) No person, firm, association or corporation shall act or aid in any manner in soliciting, negotiating or procuring liability insurance coverage in this state for any member of a purchasing group under a purchasing group's policy unless such person, firm, association or corporation is licensed as an insurance agent or broker in accordance with Section [insert appropriate reference to Insurance Law].

(3) No person, firm, association or corporation shall act or aid in any manner in soliciting, negotiating or procuring liability insurance from an insurer not authorized to do business in this state on behalf of a purchasing group located in this state unless such person, firm, association or corporation is licensed as a surplus lines agent or excess line broker in accordance with [insert appropriate reference to Insurance Law].

Drafting Note: The RRA (1986) does not preempt state law with respect to licensing and regulation of agents and brokers, with the exception of the elimination of the residence requirement and of countersignature laws, as provided in Subsection C of this section, and Sections 6 and 7H of this Act.

C. For purposes of acting as an agent or broker for a risk retention group or purchasing group pursuant to Subsections A and B of this section, the requirement of residence in this state shall not apply.

D. Every person, firm, association or corporation licensed pursuant to the provisions of [insert appropriate references to Insurance Law], on business placed with risk retention groups or written through a purchasing group, shall inform each prospective insured of the provisions of the notice required by Subsection G of Section 4 of this Act in the case of a risk retention group and Subsection C of Section 9 of this Act in the case of a purchasing group.

Section 13. Binding Effect of Orders Issued in U.S. District Court

An order issued by any district court of the United States enjoining a risk retention group from soliciting or selling insurance, or operating in any state (or in all states or in any territory or possession of the United States) upon a finding that such a group is in hazardous financial or financially impaired condition shall be enforceable in the courts of the state.

Section 14. Rules and Regulations

The commissioner may establish and from time to time amend such rules relating to risk retention groups as may be necessary or desirable to carry out the provisions of the Act.

Section 15. Severability

If any clause, sentence, paragraph, section or part of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances, shall, for any reason, be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgement shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this act, and the application thereof to other persons or circumstance, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, section or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgement shall have been rendered and to the person or circumstances involved.

Section 16. Effective Date

This Act will be effective on [insert date].

MODEL RISK RETENTION ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

MODEL RISK RETENTION ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2011

MODEL RISK RETENTION ACT (#705)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

A request to amend the Model Risk Retention Act (#705) was adopted by the Executive (EX) Committee at the 2010 Fall National Meeting. The request was developed based upon the the Risk Retention (C) Working Group's consideration of developing corporate governance standards to respond to accreditation and corporate governance issues. The corporate governance standards were adopted by the Property and Casualty (C) Committee in June 2007 and referred to the Financial Condition (E) Committee for consideration to include the standards in the Property/Casualty Annual Statement Instructions. The Risk Retention (E) Task Force found that the Annual Statement Instructions were not the proper place for this guidance, but instead, should be incorporated into a model law or regulation so that a state insurance department could compel the RRG to comply with these requirements.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Risk Retention Handbook and Model Law Amendment Subgroup of the Risk Retention (C) Working Group drafted most of the changes to the Act. Members of the Subgroup include: California (Chair), Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Hawaii, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont and Washington.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

A request to amend the Model Risk Retention Act (#705) was adopted by the Executive (EX) Committee at the 2010 Fall National Meeting.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The Risk Retention Handbook and Model Law Amendment Subgroup made most of the edits to the Act. All conference calls were open to interested parties who participated in the development of the amendments throughout the process. Interested parties participating via conference call and written comments include: Vermont Captive Insurance Association, OMS National Insurance Company, National Risk Retention Association, New Home Warranty Insurance Company Risk Retention Group, RAA and NAMIC.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The Risk Retention Handbook and Model Law Amendment Subgroup held six conference calls discussing the edits to the Model Act. The Subgroup held one formal written comment period and heard from numerous interested parties on the conference calls. The Risk Retention (C) Working Group held two separate 30-day comment periods and sent comments back to the Subgroup for review. No comments were received during the second comment period. A further clarification on the Act was requested during a Sept. 16 conference call of the Property and Casualty Insurance (C) Committee. This technical change was made during an Oct. 3 conference call of the Risk Retention (C) Working Group.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

There was discussion on when risk retention groups would need to comply with the corporate governance provisions within the Act. Some parties wanted six months, but it was decided that one year would be the most reasonable requirement. It was also decided that new risk retention groups need to be in compliance with the standards at the time of licensure.

A paragraph on enforcement stating that the "risk retention group's domestic regulator may take appropriate regulatory action against any director or officer of the risk retention group or its captive manager, pursuant to its laws and regulations, if the risk retention group or captive manager violates these governance standards" was included within the original corporate governance standards. It was decided that this paragraph should be deleted because states already have full authority to enforce compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

Discussion was held whether to delete a section requiring the captive manager, president, or chief executive officer of the risk retention group to notify the domestic regulator in writing of any material non-compliance. Ultimately, the group decided to leave the section in.

Several drafting notes were added to the Act for the sake of clarity. There was general agreement among all parties to include the notes.

As stated above, a change to the Act that did not involve the corporate governance standards was made during an Oct. 3 conference call of the Risk Retention (C) Working Group. The Model previously read that that a risk retention group must submit a copy of a revision to its plan of operation to a non-chartering state at the same time that the revision is submitted to the commissioner of the chartering state. A change was made to require that a revision be submitted after the chartering state has approved the revision. All parties agreed that this change made sense because the nondomestic state should not be burdened with proposed plans that are not approved.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

The revisions to the Act were made in order to incorporate corporate governance standards into the Act with the expectation that they will be accreditation standards. The Property and Casualty Insurance (C) Committee and the Risk Retention (C) Working Group recommend that the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee consider the corporate governance standards within the Act as an accreditation standard.

MASS MARKETING OF PROPERTY AND LIABILITY INSURANCE MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

[Insert statement of authority to issue this regulation]

Section 1. Introduction

The purpose of this regulation is to prescribe rules to prevent abuses in connection with the sale of property-liability insurance in this state pursuant to mass marketing plans, while preserving for consumers the potential benefits of this form of marketing.

Section 2. Definitions

As used in this regulation:

A. "Mass marketing plan" means a method of selling property-liability insurance wherein (i) such insurance is offered to employees of particular employers or to members of particular associations or organizations or to persons grouped in other ways and (ii) the employer, association or organization, if any, has agreed to or otherwise affiliated itself with the sale of such insurance to its employees or members; and

B. "Property-liability insurance" means insurance to which Sections [insert applicable section] of the Insurance Law applies.

Drafting Note: The term "property-liability insurance" may not be appropriate in every state. It may be necessary, for instance, to make it "property casualty insurance" or to add a specific reference to automobile insurance.

Section 3. Applicability

This regulation shall be applicable only to insurance policies issued or renewed in this state after [insert date], and is in addition to, and not in substitution for, other applicable requirements of the insurance law and department regulations. The requirements of this regulation are not applicable to methods of marketing other than mass marketing plans.

Section 4. Fictitious Arrangement Prohibited

No insurer shall, without the approval of the commissioner, sell insurance pursuant to a mass marketing plan to members of any association or organization formed principally for the purpose of obtaining such insurance.

Section 5. Premium Rates

Premium rates under a mass marketing plan shall comply with the standards in the insurance law, including the standards that rates not be excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory. Rates shall not be deemed to be unfairly discriminatory because different premiums result for policyholders with like loss exposures but different expense factors, or like expense factors but different loss exposures, so long as the rates reflect the differences with reasonable accuracy. Rates shall not be deemed to be unfairly discriminatory if they are averaged broadly among persons insured under a mass marketing plan.

Section 6. Statistics

An insurer selling insurance pursuant to mass marketing plans shall maintain separate statistics as to loss and expense experience pertinent thereto.

Section 7. Producers

No person shall act as an insurance agent or an insurance broker in connection with a mass marketing plan for any kind of insurance unless such person is duly licensed under Section [insert applicable section] of the Insurance Law as an agent or broker for such kind of insurance.

Section 8. Compulsory Participation Prohibited

No insurer shall sell insurance pursuant to a mass marketing plan if it is a condition of employment or of membership in an association, organization or other group that any employee or member purchase insurance pursuant to such plan, or if any employee or member shall be subject to any penalty by reason of his non-participation.

Section 9. Tie-in Sales Prohibited

No insurer shall sell insurance pursuant to a mass marketing plan if (i) the purchase of insurance available under such plan is contingent upon the purchase of any other insurance, product or service; or (ii) the purchase or price of any other insurance, product or service is contingent upon the purchase of insurance available under such plan. This provision shall not be deemed to prohibit the reasonable requirement of safety devices, such as heat detectors, lightning rods, theft prevention equipment and the like.

Section 10. Disclosure Required

Every insurer, agent or broker selling insurance pursuant to a mass marketing plan shall, prior to sale, make full and fair disclosure to prospective insureds of all features of such plan, whether favorable or unfavorable, including but not limited to premium rates, benefits, duration of coverage, policyholder services, conversion privileges available, and the financial interests in the plan, if any, of the sponsoring employer, association, organization or the group.

Section 11. Underwriting Standards

No insurer shall use underwriting standards for individual risk selection in a mass marketing plan which are, on the whole, more restrictive than the standards used by such insurer for individual risk selection in the sale of the same kind of insurance in this state other than pursuant to mass marketing plans. In the event the insurer does not sell such kind of insurance in this state other than pursuant to mass marketing plans, its underwriting standards for individual risk selection in such plans shall, on the whole, be no more restrictive than the standards used by its principal affiliate, if any, for individual risk selection in the sale of such kind of insurance in this state other than pursuant to mass marketing plans.

Section 12. Cancellation and Nonrenewal

A. For purposes of Sections [insert applicable section] and [insert applicable section] of the Insurance Law, limiting the cancellation and nonrenewal of insurance policies, the failure of an employer, association, organization or other group to remit premiums when due for any reason (including, but not limited to, interruption or termination of employment or membership) shall not be regarded as "nonpayment of premium" by any insured under any such plan providing for remittance of premium by such employer, association, organization or other group, unless such insured shall have been given written notice of such failure to remit and shall not himself have paid such premium by the later of (i) twenty days after such notice or (ii) the due date of such premium remittance under the mass marketing plan.

B. All mass marketing plans shall provide that upon termination of employment or membership or upon the discontinuance of the mass marketing plan, the insured employee or member may maintain his policy in force for sixty (60) days in the same amount, upon payment of the premium applicable to the class of risk to which he belongs on an individual basis. The option to maintain the insurance in force shall be exercised within thirty (30) days following the date of termination. Any notice of cancellation or nonrenewal of any policy of an employee or member insured under a mass marketing plan shall be accompanied by a notice to the employee or member that, at his request, the insurer will afford the employer, association, organization or other group a reasonable opportunity to consult with the insurer and to present facts in opposition to cancellation or nonrenewal.

Section 13. Compulsory Facilities

An insurer, agent or broker selling insurance pursuant to a mass marketing plan shall, with respect to any employees or members who apply for but are denied insurance under such plan, assist such persons in obtaining insurance through any other appropriate voluntary or mandatory insurance plan, such as the [assigned risk plan] or the [FAIR Plan].

THE MASS MARKETING OF PROPERTY AND LIABILITY INSURANCE MODEL REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

NAIC AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE DECLINATION, TERMINATION, AND DISCLOSURE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

PREAMBLE: The purpose of this Act shall be to regulate declinations, cancellations and refusals to renew certain policies of automobile insurance and to require specific reasons for such actions.

Section 1. Scope

This Act shall apply to applications for and to automobile insurance policies delivered, issued for delivery or renewed in this state after the effective date of this Act. This Act shall not apply to:

A. Policies of automobile insurance issued under the [insert state] Automobile Insurance Plan; or

B. A policy insuring more than four (4) motor vehicles; or

C. A policy covering garage, automobile sales agency, repair shop, service station or public parking place operation hazards.

Drafting Note: Automobile policies issued under a state Automobile Insurance Plan (AIP) or other residual market mechanism are excluded from this Act because of the special underwriting considerations and regulatory treatment afforded such policies under state law. While the application of many of the substantive principles of this Act to such policies would be desirable and should be encouraged, the mechanism for implementing these principles should be the plan of operation of the AIP or residual market mechanism, not a state law governing automobile insurance declinations and terminations in the voluntary market.

Section 2. Definitions

A. "Automobile insurance policy" means a policy delivered or issued for delivery in this state, insuring a natural person as named insured, or one or more related individuals resident of the same household, and under which the insured vehicles therein designated are of the following types only:

(1) A four-wheel private passenger motor vehicle that is not used as a public or livery conveyance for passengers, nor rented to others; or

(2) Any other four-wheel motor vehicle with a load capacity of 1500 pounds or less that is not rated by the insurer as a commercial motor vehicle whether or not used in the occupation, profession or business of the insured.

B. "Declination" means either the refusal of an insurer to issue an automobile insurance policy upon receipt of a written nonbinding application or written request for coverage from its agent or an applicant, or the refusal of an agent or broker to transmit to an insurer a written nonbinding application or written request for coverage received from an applicant. For the purposes of this Act, the offering of insurance coverage with a company within an insurance group that is different from the company requested on the nonbinding application or written request for coverage, or the offering of policy coverage or rates substantially less favorable than requested in the nonbinding application or written request for coverage, shall be considered a declination.

C. "Nonpayment of premium" means the failure of the named insured to discharge an obligation in connection with the payment of premiums on policies of automobile insurance subject to this Act, whether the payments are directly payable to the insurer or its agent or indirectly payable under a premium finance plan or extension of credit.

D. "Renewal" or "to renew" means the issuance and delivery by an insurer at the end of a policy period of a policy superseding a policy previously issued and delivered by the same insurer, or the issuance and delivery of a certificate or notice extending the term of an existing policy beyond its policy period or term. For the purposes of this Act, any policy written for a period or term of less than six (6) months or any policy with no fixed expiration date shall be considered as if written for a policy period or term of six (6) months.

E. "Termination" means either a cancellation or nonrenewal of automobile insurance coverage in whole or in part. A cancellation occurs during the policy term. A nonrenewal occurs at the end of the policy term as set forth in Subsection A. An insurer's substitution of insurance upon renewal which results in substantially equivalent coverage shall not be considered a termination.

Drafting Note: Depending on whether the term "insurer" is normally understood to mean an individual licensed company or an affiliated group of companies, states may wish to add the following sentence in order to permit certain transfers of policyholders between companies in the same group without requiring a formal notice of nonrenewal accompanied by an offer to issue a substantially similar policy in another company in the group: "For purposes of this Act, the transfer of a policyholder between companies within the same insurance group shall be considered a termination only if the transfer results in policy coverage or rates substantially less favorable to the insured."

Section 3. Notifications and Reasons for a Declination or Termination

A. (1) Except as provided in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, upon declining an application or written request for an automobile insurance policy subject to this Act, the insurer, agent or broker making the declination shall either provide the insurance applicant with the specific reasons in writing for the declination at the time of the declination or advise the applicant in writing that specific written reasons for the declination will be provided within twenty-one (21) days of the timely receipt by the insurer, agent or broker making the declination of the applicant's written request for the reasons. An applicant's written request shall be timely under this subsection if received within ninety (90) days of the date of that notice to the applicant.

(2) In the event of a declination by an insurer of a risk submitted by an agent or broker on behalf of the applicant, the insurer shall provide the agent or broker with specific written reasons for the declination. In the event the agent or broker is unable to effect insurance for the applicant through an admitted insurer other than a residual market mechanism, the agent or broker shall submit specific written reasons to the applicant for all such declinations.

(3) No agent or broker, or an insurer not represented by an agent or broker, shall refuse to provide an insurance application form or other means of making a written request for insurance to a prospective applicant who requests insurance coverage from the agent, broker or insurer.

B. No insurer shall cancel an automobile insurance policy unless a written notice of cancellation is mailed or delivered to the last known mailing address of the named insured as shown in the records of the insurer at least twenty (20) days prior to the effective date of cancellation, except that when cancellation is for nonpayment of premium, notice shall be mailed or delivered to the named insured at the last known mailing address as shown in the records of the insurer at least ten (10) days prior to the effective date of cancellation. Such notice shall be accompanied by a written explanation of the specific reasons for the cancellation.

C. No insurer shall refuse to renew an automobile insurance policy unless at least thirty (30) days before the end of a policy period, as described in Section 2D of this Act, the insurer shall deliver or mail to the named insured, at the last known mailing address of the named insured as shown in the records of the insurer, written notice of the insurer's intention not to renew the policy upon expiration of the current policy period. The notice of intention not to renew shall include or be accompanied by a written explanation of the insurer's specific reason or reasons for the nonrenewal. No notice of intention not to renew shall be required where the named insured is given written notice of the insurer's willingness to renew the policy by the mailing or delivering of a renewal notice, bill, certificate or policy. If notice as required by this subsection is not provided, coverage shall be deemed to be renewed under the same terms and conditions for the ensuing policy period, for which the appropriate premium shall be payable, and subject to the provisions of Section 4 of this Act, until the named insured has accepted replacement coverage with another insurer or until the named insured has agreed to the nonrenewal.

D. Proof of mailing a notice of cancellation or a notice of an intention not to renew, or business records of the notice of the insurer's willingness to renew, shall be retained for a period of one year by the insurer or agent or broker giving notice.

Section 4. Permissible Cancellation

A. No notice of cancellation of a policy of automobile insurance shall be effective unless it is based upon at least one of the following reasons:

(1) Nonpayment of premium;

(2) Fraud or material misrepresentation made by or with the knowledge of an insured in obtaining the policy, continuing the policy, or in presenting a claim under the policy;

(3) The failure of the named insured, or any operator who resides in the same household or customarily operates an automobile insured under the policy, to make available upon written request from the insurer the insured's driving experience record for the preceding thirty-six (36) months;

(4) The named insured or an operator who resides in the same household or customarily operates an automobile insured under the policy has within the policy term or, if the policy is a renewal, during its term or the 180 days immediately preceding its effective date:

(a) Had his or her driver's license suspended or revoked; or

(b) Has been convicted of or forfeited bail for any action arising out of or in connection with the operation of a motor vehicle, conviction for which is a ground for suspension or revocation of license.

Drafting Note: Insurers should not be required to provide coverage for an operator whose driver's license has been suspended or revoked during the policy term or within six (6) months immediately preceding the effective date of the policy. In some states, insurers are permitted to offer a named driver exclusion which excludes coverage when the insured vehicle is operated by the problem driver but keeps the coverage in effect for other drivers in the household. As a matter of public policy, other states prohibit the use of named driver exclusions, and still other states require the exclusion to be offered whenever an insurer's decision is based on the driving record of some, but not all, of the drivers in a household. The drafting of this permitted reason for cancellation should be consistent with the individual state's policy position concerning named driver exclusions.

(5) The insured motor vehicle is:

(a) So mechanically defective that its operation might endanger public safety;

(b) Used in carrying passengers for hire or compensation; however, the use of an automobile for a car pool shall not be considered use of an automobile for hire or compensation;

(c) Used in the transportation of flammables or explosives or for an illegal purpose;

(d) An authorized emergency vehicle; or

(e) Altered by an insured during the policy period so as to substantially increase the risk;

(6) The named insured moves to a state where the insurer is not licensed to do business;

(7) Failure to pay dues or fees where payment of dues or fees is a prerequisite to obtaining or continuing automobile insurance coverage;

(8) A determination by the commissioner of insurance that the continuation of the policy would place the insurer in violation of the law or would be hazardous to the interests of policyholders, creditors or the public.

B. This section shall not apply to a policy of automobile insurance that has been in effect less than sixty (60) days at the time notice of cancellation is mailed or delivered by the insurer unless the policy has been renewed.

Section 5. Terminations/Declinations: Prohibited Reasons

The declination of an application for, or the termination of, a policy of automobile insurance subject to this Act by an insurer, agent or broker is prohibited if the declination or termination is:

A. Based upon the race, religion, nationality or ethnic group of the applicant or named insured;

B. Based solely upon the lawful occupation or profession of the applicant or named insured, except that this provision shall not apply to an insurer, agent or broker that limits its market to one lawful occupation or profession or to several related lawful occupations or professions;

C. Based upon the principal location of the insured motor vehicle unless the decision is for a business purpose that is not a mere pretext for unfair discrimination;

D. Based upon the age, sex or marital status of an applicant or an insured, except that this subsection shall not prohibit rating differentials based on age, sex or marital status;

E. Based upon the fact that the applicant or named insured previously obtained insurance coverage through a residual market insurance mechanism; or

F. Based upon the fact that another insurer previously declined to insure the applicant or terminated an existing policy in which the applicant was the named insured.

Drafting Note: While insurers shall not decline an application or terminate a policy simply because of a previous adverse underwriting decision by another insurer, insurers should not be prohibited from inquiring as to the existence of any previous adverse underwriting decision so long as they also inquire as to the reasons given for these decisions. An insurer may decline an application or terminate a policy based on further information as to the reasons for the previous declination, termination or placement in a residual market mechanism.

Section 6. Enforcement Provisions

A. Complaint and Hearing. Upon a complaint of a person filed within ninety (90) days of a violation of this Act, the commissioner shall determine whether the complaint is reasonably founded. If the commissioner determines that the complaint is reasonably founded, or if the commissioner otherwise has reason to believe that an insurer, agent or broker has engaged in practices that violate this Act and that a proceeding in respect thereto would be in the public interest, the commissioner shall set a date for a public hearing to determine whether a violation of this Act has in fact occurred. The hearing shall be held upon no less than ten (10) days' notice to the person charged and the complainant, if any. The notice shall set forth the specific grounds upon which the complaint is based. If a hearing is based upon a complaint, the hearing shall be set no later than thirty (30) days from the date the complaint was filed. The hearing shall take place before a hearing examiner who shall make a record of the evidence and set forth findings and conclusions.

Once a prima facie violation of this Act has been established, the person charged in the complaint shall have the burden of showing that the termination was based on a reason not prohibited by this Act. The findings of fact determined by the hearing examiner shall be reviewed by the commissioner who shall issue a final order. A petition for rehearing may be filed within thirty (30) days of the final order of the commissioner.

B. Sanctions. If the commissioner determines in a final order that:

(1) An insurer has violated Sections 4 or 5 of this Act, the commissioner may require the insurer to:

(a) Accept the application or written request for insurance coverage at a rate and on the same terms and conditions as are available to its other risks with similar characteristics;

(b) Reinstate insurance coverage to the end of the policy period; or

(c) Continue insurance coverage at a rate and on the same terms and conditions as are available to its other risks with similar characteristics.

(2) A person has violated any provisions of this Act, the commissioner may:

(a) Issue a cease and desist order to restrain the person from engaging in practices that violate this Act;

(b) Assess a penalty against the person of up to $500 for each violation of this Act; or

(c) Assess a penalty against the person of up to $5,000 for each willful and knowing violation of this Act.

C. Judicial Review. Any person aggrieved by a determination or order of the commissioner under this Act may seek judicial review in the [insert applicable court] Court. Failure of the commissioner to act upon a complaint under this Act within thirty (30) days of the filing of the complaint shall constitute a determination that the complaint was not reasonably founded.

Section 7. Immunity

A. There shall be no liability on the part of and no cause of action shall arise against:

(1) The commissioner of insurance;

(2) An insurer or its authorized representatives, agents or employees;

PROPERTY AND CASUALTY ACTUARIAL OPINION MODEL LAW

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known as the Property and Casualty Actuarial Opinion Law.

Section 2. Actuarial Opinion of Reserves and Supporting Documentation

This section shall become operative at the end of the first full calendar year following the year of enactment.

A. Statement of Actuarial Opinion

Every property and casualty insurance company doing business in this state, unless otherwise exempted by the domiciliary commissioner, shall annually submit the opinion of an Appointed Actuary entitled "Statement of Actuarial Opinion." This opinion shall be filed in accordance with the appropriate NAIC Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions.

B. Actuarial Opinion Summary

(1) Every property and casualty insurance company domiciled in this state that is required to submit a Statement of Actuarial Opinion shall annually submit an Actuarial Opinion Summary, written by the company's Appointed Actuary. This Actuarial Opinion Summary shall be filed in accordance with the appropriate NAIC Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions and shall be considered as a document supporting the Actuarial Opinion required in Subsection A.

(2) A company licensed but not domiciled in this state shall provide the Actuarial Opinion Summary upon request.

C. Actuarial Report and Workpapers

(1) An Actuarial Report and underlying workpapers as required by the appropriate NAIC Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions shall be prepared to support each Actuarial Opinion.

(2) If the insurance company fails to provide a supporting Actuarial Report and/or workpapers at the request of the commissioner or the commissioner determines that the supporting Actuarial Report or workpapers provided by the insurance company is otherwise unacceptable to the commissioner, the commissioner may engage a qualified actuary at the expense of the company to review the opinion and the basis for the opinion and prepare the supporting Actuarial Report or workpapers.

Drafting Note: Even though the regulator as part of an exam or target exam usually has the authority to do this; this section reinforces the authority of the commissioner. The commissioner can also fine or require the company to have the workpapers redone with proper documentation.

D. The Appointed Actuary shall not be liable for damages to any person (other than the insurance company and the commissioner) for any act, error, omission, decision or conduct with respect to the actuary's opinion, except in cases of fraud or willful misconduct on the part of the Appointed Actuary.

Section 3. Confidentiality

A. The Statement of Actuarial Opinion shall be provided with the Annual Statement in accordance with the appropriate NAIC Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions and shall be treated as a public document.

B. (1) Documents, materials or other information in the possession or control of the Department of Insurance that are considered an Actuarial Report, workpapers or Actuarial Opinion Summary provided in support of the opinion, and any other material provided by the company to the commissioner in connection with the Actuarial Report, workpapers or Actuarial Opinion Summary, shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be subject to [insert open records, freedom of information, sunshine or other appropriate phrase], shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action.

(2) This provision shall not be construed to limit the commissioner's authority to release the documents to the Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline (ABCD) so long as the material is required for the purpose of professional disciplinary proceedings and that the ABCD establishes procedures satisfactory to the commissioner for preserving the confidentiality of the documents, nor shall this section be construed to limit the commissioner's authority to use the documents, materials or other information in furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as part of the commissioner's official duties.

C. Neither the commissioner nor any person who received documents, materials or other information while acting under the authority of the commissioner shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials or information subject to Subsection B.

D. In order to assist in the performance of the commissioner's duties, the commissioner:

(1) May share documents, materials or other information, including the confidential and privileged documents, materials or information subject to Subsection B with other state, federal and international regulatory agencies, with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and with state, federal and international law enforcement authorities, provided that the recipient agrees to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the document, material or other information and has the legal authority to maintain confidentiality;

(2) May receive documents, materials or information, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials or information, from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and from regulatory and law enforcement officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions, and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any document, material or information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material or information; and

(3) [Optional provision] May enter into agreements governing sharing and use of information consistent with Subsections B to D.

E. No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the documents, materials or information shall occur as a result of disclosure to the commissioner under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in Subsection D.

Section 4. Effective Date

This Act shall take effect [insert date].

PROJECT HISTORY - 2003

PROPERTY AND CASUALTY ACTUARIAL OPINION MODEL LAW (#745)

1. Project Description

A property and casualty insurer's Annual Financial Statement is required to be filed with an insurance department on March 1. The insurer is also required to submit an Actuarial Opinion on loss and loss adjustment expense reserves. The Actuarial Opinion is a public document. A detailed Actuarial Report including all work papers supporting the Actuarial Opinion is then required to be available for examination by May 1.

The model law was created to require insurers to annually submit to regulators an "Actuarial Opinion Summary" of the Actuarial Report, and to provide confidential treatment to the Summary and to the Report. The summary must provide information on the opining actuary's point estimate and/or range of reasonable estimates and include additional information as required by the Annual Statement Instructions. The summary is due shortly after the time the Actuarial Opinion and Financial Statement are filed so regulators can detect companies in need of further investigation in a more timely manner.

2. Group Responsible for Drafting Model and States Participating

The Actuarial Opinions Instruction Working Group of the Casualty Actuarial (C) Task Force was responsible for drafting the model. Richard Marcks of Connecticut chaired the working group. The following states were members: California, Connecticut, Illinois; Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas, The concept of the Actuarial Opinion Summary Model Law was first proposed to the Actuarial Opinion Instructions Working Group by Texas in May of 2002.

3. Charge Authorizing Project

The Casualty Actuarial Task Force was charged in 2003 to re-appoint an Actuarial Opinion Instructions Working Group to consider, among other issues, the development of a model law to address confidential disclosure to regulators of an "Actuarial Opinion Summary" of the Actuarial Report. The summary was to include such items as point estimate and/or range of reasonable reserve estimates.

4. General Description of Drafting Process

The Standard Valuation Law contains the requirement that valuation of reserve liabilities for life insurers be provided in the Actuarial Opinion submitted with the Life Annual Statement. The Actuarial Opinions Instructions Working Group used this law as a basis for developing a similar requirement for property and casualty reserves. Annual Statement instructions for the P/C Actuarial Opinion were drafted to provide guidance to actuaries and companies as to the information that should be included in the Summary.

Throughout the drafting process input was solicited from all interested parties, including the American Academy of Actuaries and representatives from the insurance industry. To ensure that all aspects of confidentiality were considered, the group sought assistance from the NAIC Information Sharing Working Group and obtained legal advice from insurance department attorneys, and the NAIC Legal Division. Working group meetings regarding development of the model law were open to all interested parties. All revised drafts of the model were posted on the NAIC Website and circulated for public comment.

5. Significant Issues Raised

The significant issues raised involved the specific requirement for disclosure of a point estimate and/or a range of reserve estimates; the reasonableness of the proposed due date for such information given the numerous financial information already requested; and whether regulatory authority could ensure confidentiality of the information under all circumstances, including federal requests for information. Whether indemnification for the opining actuary was appropriate and whether summary information should be released to the American Academy of Actuaries' Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline were also discussed.

MODEL REGULATION TO REQUIRE REPORTING OF STATISTICAL DATA BY PROPERTY AND CASUALTY INSURANCE COMPANIES

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated pursuant to sections [insert reference to sections authorizing the adoption of rules and regulations and the section in the statutes relating to statistical reporting] regarding the reporting of statistical data by insurance companies.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to set forth the manner of reporting data by insurers to statistical agents, to prescribe reports to be submitted by statistical agents to the commissioner, and to prescribe certain conduct in connection therewith. This regulation does not apply to data reported directly by insurers to the commissioner.

Section 3. Definitions

A. "NAIC Statistical Handbook or Handbook" is a publication of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) that explains insurance statistical data and provides reporting requirements and report formats to be regularly furnished by statistical agents.

B. "Statistical agent" is an entity that has been designated by the commissioner to collect statistics from insurers and provide reports developed from these statistics to the commissioner for the purpose of fulfilling the statistical reporting obligations of those insurers.

C. "Statistical plan" is a statistical agent's system for collecting information from reporting insurers, including exposure, coverage, classification, territory, premium, loss and other information.

Section 4. Lines of Insurance

This regulation applies to all lines of insurance except life insurance, variable annuities, sickness and accident insurance, title insurance, reinsurance, ocean marine insurance and aviation insurance.

Drafting Note: The intent is to capture all P & C lines of insurance except those which fall outside of rating and statistical laws. This section should be adjusted to conform to other exceptions (i.e., assessment companies or the like) that individual states may have or may choose to make. Many states will find that the intent of this section can be accomplished by referencing specific P & C lines of insurance as defined by state law, rather than by using an exception-type statement.

Section 5. Examination of Statistical Agents

To be designated to collect statistics from insurers for purposes of fulfilling the statistical reporting requirements of this rule, an entity other than a licensed advisory organization shall be subject to the same examination provisions as licensed advisory organizations.

Drafting Note: The laws of many states do not recognize "statistical agents." In these states, statistical collection is one of the authorized activities for advisory organizations. The laws in most such states provide that the commissioner may utilize an advisory organization "or other agencies" for the collection of statistics. These laws customarily stipulate that advisory organizations may be examined and may also stipulate that they must file statistical plans. Therefore, the purpose of this and the following section is to ensure that statistical agents that are not licensed advisory organizations will also be subject to examination and be required to file statistical plans.

Section 6. Filing of Statistical Plans by Statistical Agents

Every statistical agent shall file with the commissioner every statistical plan and every modification that it proposes to use to collect statistics to meet the requirements of this regulation. Such statistical plan filings shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this rule unless disapproved by the commissioner within thirty (30) days after filing.

Drafting Note: Some state's rating laws already contain provisions for the filing of statistical plans.

Section 7. Statistical Plans and Reporting by Insurers

Every insurance company licensed in this state shall report its insurance statistical experience for lines of insurance covered by this regulation to a statistical agent designated by the commissioner. This data shall be submitted in accordance with statistical plans approved in accordance with Section 6 of this rule.

Drafting Note: States that choose to collect raw statistical data directly from insurers will need to amend this section. It is suggested that states choosing to have significant and lasting exceptions to the Statistical Handbook place these exceptions in the regulation at this point or in the next section. This section provides requirements for insurers; the next section provides requirements for statistical agents.

Section 8. Statistical Agents' Compliance with the Statistical Handbook

For every line of insurance that it collects statistics in this state, every statistical agent shall, at a minimum, collect statistics and file reports and compilations in the form and detail provided in the NAIC Statistical Handbook, edition date [insert edition date], unless otherwise specified by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Adoption of this regulation in a state will establish the Statistical Handbook as the standard for statistical reporting in that state.

Section 9. Multiple Statistical Agents for the Same Line of Insurance

For lines of insurance where more than one statistical agent has been designated and collects statistics in this state, the statistical agents shall, if so directed by the commissioner, arrange to file combined reports for all statistical agents collecting data for the affected lines of insurance. The statistical agents may make arrangements among themselves for the equitable sharing of the costs to produce combined reports.

Drafting Note: The state should first confirm which lines are combinable, and then decide if there are lines where the state would prefer to receive separate reports from multiple statistical agents. At this writing, the combinability of reports from different statistical agents has been verified for the personal lines only. Because combined reports are more meaningful to work with, it is expected that most states would want to operate in this fashion. It should be noted, however, that combined reports can only be provided as quickly as the slowest statistical agent provides its data to the statistical agent that is combining the data.

Section 10. Edit and Control Procedures for Statistical Agents

Statistical agents shall adopt edit and control procedures to screen and check data for reasonableness, apparent accuracy and completeness. These procedures shall, at a minimum, conform to the specifications provided in the NAIC Statistical Handbook, edition date [insert edition date], unless otherwise specified by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: The Handbook's data quality provisions are subdivided into private passenger auto, homeowners, workers' compensation and all other lines (primary commercial lines). A state may select to apply these requirements to some of these lines, but not to others. If so, exceptions should be stated for Sections 10 and 11 in this regulation.

Section 11. Insurer Edit and Audit Procedures

Insurers shall adopt edit and audit procedures to screen and check data required by this rule to be reported to see that such data meets the standards for reasonableness and accuracy provided in the NAIC Statistical Handbook, edition date [insert edition date], unless otherwise specified by the commissioner.

Section 12. Adoption of Changes to the Statistical Handbook

Revisions to the Statistical Handbook shall apply upon the commissioner's notification to insurers or statistical agents of the adoption of the revisions and their effective dates. Statistical agents shall notify insurers that report to them of any changes that affect data collection or the reporting activities of insurers.

Drafting Note: States that cannot adopt statistical reporting updates without recourse to a rulemaking process should omit this section. Such states, when they choose to adopt changes, would initiate a rulemaking proceeding to change the edition dates specified in various sections of this rule. States should also be aware of the lead time necessary for insurers and statistical agents to implement revised data reporting requirements.

Section 13. Disclosure of Complying and Non-Complying Insurers

Statistical reports shall each contain a listing of insurers whose data are included. In addition, if data from an insurer or insurers that had agreed to have data included are, in fact, not included, then a listing of these insurers shall also be made with the statistical report as specified in the NAIC Statistical Handbook. For any insurer that is listed as not included in a statistical report, the statistical agent shall, upon the request of the commissioner, provide reasons for the exclusion.

Section 14. Access to Data

The commissioner shall have access to all statistical data that have been collected by statistical agents for the purpose of fulfilling the requirements of this rule. Upon request by the commissioner, the statistical agent shall provide a copy of any report that it produces from data that the commissioner has required to be collected.

Section 15. Disclosure of Data

When data submitted to the insurance department by a statistical agent identify individual insurers, appear likely to identify individual claimants or insureds, or are asserted by the statistical agent or a reporting insurer to be subject to protection from disclosure, such data shall not be publicly disclosed unless, prior to such disclosure:

A. The department notifies the statistical agent and any insurer which has asserted the data to be subject to protection from disclosure of the request for disclosure;

B. The department then provides a thirty (30) day period for any insurer that reported data to the statistical agent to assert that its data are trade secret or are otherwise protected from disclosure. The thirty (30) day period shall run from the time that the statistical agent receives notification from the department.

C. The department then provides insurers which have asserted their data to be trade secret or otherwise protected from disclosure with the opportunity to support their positions, which shall be governed by the [insert reference to the applicable administrative procedures and/or other statutes], and

D. After the applicable adjudicative process is complete, there is a final decision that the data are not a trade secret and are not otherwise subject to protection from disclosure.

Drafting Note: These provisions were drafted based on a review of state and federal trade secret and open records/freedom of information laws and prior NAIC policy determinations on trade secret protection. Essentially, the provisions give insurers the opportunity under applicable law to attempt to prevent disclosure to competitors of data asserted to be trade secrets, and to protect data from disclosure that is otherwise subject to restrictions on disclosure because of privacy laws or other protections.

The NAIC Statistical Handbook and NAIC Market Conduct Examiners Handbook both alert regulators to the need to permit insurers the opportunity to attempt to protect their trade secret data from being disclosed to competitors. Providing the submitter of data to a governmental agency the opportunity to argue against disclosure is consistent with the federal Freedom of Information Act, corresponding Executive Order 12,600 and federal and state laws protecting trade secrets.

This section should be modified to reflect the appropriate rules of administrative, civil and appellate procedures of the state. The intent is that any disclosure of submitted data will not occur until the insurer has had the available opportunities under state law to seek judicial and/or administrative review.

Section 16. Exemption

Upon application by a statistical agent or an individual insurer, the commissioner may allow the submission of a report or statistical data at a specified later date if the submission of the report or data on the date required by this regulation would create a substantial hardship on the statistical agent or insurer.

In considering whether to grant such an exemption, the commissioner shall consider whether the delay is necessitated by an unusual or a one-time situation, or whether the delay is necessitated by a situation that is likely to reoccur. When the delay is necessitated by a situation that is likely to reoccur, the commissioner may condition the granting of an exemption on whether the insurer or statistical agent has a plan of action to address the situation in the future.

Section 17. Lines of Insurance without a Statistical Agent

Any licensed insurer writing any line of insurance not exempted in Section 4 of this regulation that finds or believes to have found that it is writing a line or type of insurance for which no statistical agent will accept data shall notify the commissioner of this fact as soon as practicable.

Section 18. Penalty

Failure to file the information required under this regulation in accordance with a statistical plan adopted by the commissioner shall result in a penalty of $[insert amount].

Drafting Note: In many states, the penalty provisions of the laws authorizing this rule may also provide penalties. In these cases, this section may be unnecessary.

Section 19. Separability

If any provision of this regulation, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the regulation, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances, other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 20. Effective Date

This regulation shall become effective on [insert date].

Drafting Note: Many of the reporting requirements and data quality checks contained in this regulation and in the Statistical Handbook will already be in place owing to prior regulations or requirements of the Insurance Department that have been stated less formally. As such, a relatively short lead-time (i.e., 3 months) will customarily be reasonable for most parts of this regulation. However, when a state has not required the same data quality checking or statistical elements as the Handbook, and chooses to newly adopt these additional elements by adoption of this regulation, then a lead-time of at least 12 months until the beginning of a calendar year is suggested. Greater lead times (i.e., 18 months or more) are suggested when the state is among the very first to adopt a new data element that is not being collected in other states by all statistical agents.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2004

MODEL REGULATION TO REQUIRE REPORTING OF STATISTICAL DATA BY PROPERTY AND CASUALTY INSURANCE COMPANIES (#751)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The Model Regulation to Require Reporting of Statistical Data was amended to establish the NAIC Statistical Handbook of Data Available to Insurance Regulators (Handbook) as the standard for statistical reporting of property and casualty data in states. By adopting the model, a state also adopts the Handbook's data quality standards and statistical report formats.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

Changes to the model regulation to designate the Handbook as the statistical data reporting standard were first drafted by the Statistical Handbook Working Group, chaired by Alan Wickman (NE) in 1997. Before they were considered for adoption, however, the working group needed to draft the new data quality standards for the Handbook. They also added Handbook chapters that prescribe formats for customized data requests including a special call format for catastrophe data and they updated the personal auto and the homeowners' chapters.

The model regulation changes and the revised Handbook chapters were moved up to the Statistical Information (C) Task Force at the 2002 Spring National Meeting. The task force deferred the adoption of the model regulation changes until additional changes to the Data Quality chapter and the other modified chapters of the Handbook were made. The task force adopted all the new and revised handbook chapters by December 2003. The model regulation changes were reviewed and adopted in the early part of 2004 and reported up the Property and Casualty (C) Committee at the 2004 Spring National Meeting.

Peg Ising (OH) chaired the task force throughout the handbook chapter revision effort and during the subsequent review of the model regulation. Rae Taylor (OR) became the task force chair in 2004. The following states were task force members throughout the handbook and model regulation revision process: California, the District of Columbia, Ohio, New Jersey, New York, Missouri, Oregon, and Texas. Other members of either the working group or the task force at some point during the revision period were Alaska, Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Puerto Rico, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia. Members that participated in the vote to adopt the model regulation amendments by include Ohio, Missouri, Oregon, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

In 1996 the (Ex) Special Committee On Statistical Information initiated a project to study and recommend improvements to the system for collecting and disseminating statistical information relating to property/casualty insurance. The charge to this committee was to oversee the development of a strategic plan for the system that would encompass, but not be confined to the following areas:

a. types of data that should be collected;
b. timeliness of data;
c. methods of data collection and processing;
d. quality control;
e. access to information;
f. responsiveness of system to public and regulatory needs;
g. ownership and control structures of statistical agents; and
h. role of regulators and the NAIC.

In December 1996, the Special Committee adopted the NAIC Statistical Strategic Plan and charged the task force to update the Statistical Handbook according to its recommendations. A Statistical Handbook Working Group was designated to focus on these charges. The working group drafted revisions to the model regulation and the Handbook and developed formal procedures for making changes to Handbook. Upon completing these charges in 2002, the working group disbanded. The review and appropriate modifications to the Handbook and the model regulation are now standing charges to the Statistical Information (C) Task Force.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

Changes to the model regulation itself were primarily technical in nature, drafted to make its provisions consistent with an enhanced Handbook. The goal was to enable any state that adopts the model regulation to rely on the Handbook for the collection of statistical data and the development of data calls that are informative and of good quality. Sections in the model regulation directly reference sections of the Handbook that were still being revised when the model regulation changes were made so action on the model regulation was deferred until after the drafting process for the Handbook chapters was complete.

Revising the Handbook was a considerably lengthy process, primarily due to the development of statistical data quality standards. A self-certification system that would enable statistical agents and companies to attest to the effectiveness of their data reporting systems was initially proposed but, after years of discussion, not adopted. A sampling and verification method for data quality assurance was developed, first, as a requirement for insurers, then—following a poll of states—as an option for states to consider in light of the potential costs associated with obtaining and reviewing the samples.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

From 1997 through 2002 the Statistical Handbook Working Group members worked diligently with statistical agent representatives, insurance company members, trade associations, funded consumer representatives and many other interested entities to revise the Handbook. In addition to the data quality standards, they also added handbook chapters that prescribe formats for customized data requests including catastrophe data calls and updated the personal auto and homeowners' insurance chapters. Dozens of drafts of the chapters were circulated for comment and volumes of comments were collected, discussed and incorporated into new drafts.

In March 2002, the working group sent its final recommendations for changes to the Handbook chapters and the model regulation to the renamed Statistical Information (C) Task Force. The task force implemented an aggressive review schedule that initially called for bi-weekly conference calls solely to review the proposed Handbook chapters. These intense deliberations continued over the next two years and resulted in major changes to the working group drafts. These final drafts were adopted at the 2003 Winter National Meeting. Minor changes were then made to the model regulation to reflect the new drafts of the Handbook chapters.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

The significant issues raised throughout the handbook revision process related primarily to the cost of capturing new data elements, compiling new statistical reports and implementing new quality standards versus the benefit to regulators to have it. Several states and many consumer group representatives expressed the need to add data elements to that would provide more information to regulators, in greater detail, and to include model formats in the Handbook for states to use in developing new reports using these data.

As new statistical reports were proposed, the industry questioned whether all states would need or use the data and urged members to weigh the benefits of having the information against the significant costs to insurers and statistical agents to report it on a regular basis. Some states also expressed concerns about the need for the proposed new data and considered their own costs to store and review new reports. As a result, many compromises were made.

Some data reporting requirements were made optional so that states could chose to implement them if desired. Several proposals to collect new data elements, require new reporting formats or develop brand new statistical reports were considered good ideas that could be placed on hold until system changes necessary to accomplish them were more cost beneficial or until five or more states required insurers to start collecting it. Efforts to make special data call requirements more consistent among states reduce the industry costs to report these data to regulators. Once these issues were resolved, no significant issues were raised during the review and adoption of the model regulation changes.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

None.

PROPERTY AND CASUALTY COMMERCIAL RATE AND POLICY FORM MODEL LAW (Condensed)

Drafting Note: This model law is not intended to be a stand-alone model. Its provisions are intended to replace comparable provisions in current state rate and policy form regulatory laws. Regulatory laws relating to definitions, rate and form standards, disapprovals, advisory organizations, etc. are to be preserved.

Section 1. Scope of Act

This Act applies to all forms of casualty insurance, including fidelity, surety and guaranty bond, to all forms of fire, marine and inland marine insurance, and to any combination of any of the foregoing, on commercial risks or operations located in this state. Inland marine insurance shall be deemed to include insurance now or hereafter defined by statute, or by interpretation thereof, or if not so defined or interpreted, by ruling of the commissioner, or as established by general custom of the business, as inland marine insurance. In determining whether new types of inland marine insurance fall under this exemption, the commissioner shall consider the similarity of the new insurance to existing types of insurance and classes of risk and whether it would be reasonably practical to create and file rating systems prior to use.

This Act shall not apply to:

A. Reinsurance, other than statutorily authorized joint reinsurance mechanisms to the extent stated in (insert specific state law);

B. Accident and health insurance;

C. Insurance of vessels or craft, their cargoes, marine builders' risks, marine protection and indemnity, or other risks commonly insured under marine, excluding inland marine insurance as determined by the commissioner;

D. Insurance of hulls of aircraft, including their accessories an equipment, or against liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of aircraft.

E. Insurance on personal risks.

F. Insurance

Drafting Note—Types of Insurance: Here should be listed (a) other kinds of insurance, if any, and (b) particular types of insurers, if any, to which this Act is not to apply in the state or jurisdiction adopting the Act.

Section 2. Competitive Market

A competitive market is presumed to exist unless the commissioner, after hearing, determines that a reasonable degree of competition does not exist in the market and the commissioner issues a ruling to that effect. Such a rule shall expire no later than one year after issue unless the commissioner renews the rule after hearings and a finding as to the continued lack of a reasonable degree of competition. In determining whether a reasonable degree of competition exists, the commissioner shall consider relevant tests of workable competition pertaining to market structure, market performance and market conduct and the practical opportunities available to consumers in the market to acquire pricing and other consumer information and to compare and obtain insurance from competing insurers.

Section 3. Rate and Policy Form Filings

A. Section 3 shall not apply to:

(1) Financial Guaranty;

(2) Employment Practices Liability;

(3) Commercial Inland Marine that is not written according to manual rates or rating plans;

(4) Directors and Officers Liability;

(5) Boiler and Machinery;

(6) Nuclear Insurance Products; or

(7) Commercial Credit Insurance Products.

B. (1) Every insurer shall file with the commissioner every policy form, endorsement, and other contract language and related attachment rules, manual, minimum premium, class rate, rating schedule or rating plan and every other rating rule, and every modification of any of the foregoing that it proposes to use. The filing shall include underwriting rules to the extent necessary to determine the applicable rate. An insurer may file its rates by either filing its final rates or by filing a multiplier and, if applicable, an expense constant adjustment to be applied to prospective loss costs that have been filed by an advisory organization on behalf of the insurer as permitted by [insert section of state law]. The filing shall state the effective date, and shall indicate the character and extent of the coverage contemplated.

(2) Insurers utilizing the services of an advisory organization shall provide with their rate filing, at the request of the commissioner, a description of the rationale for such use, including its own information and method of utilization of the advisory organization's information.

(3) In a competitive market except as provided in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, the rates and supplementary rating information that will be used in this state shall be filed within thirty (30) days of the effective date. In a competitive market, if the commissioner finds, after a hearing, that an insurer's rates require closer supervision because of the insurer's financial condition or unfairly discriminatory rating practices, the insurer shall file with the commissioner at least [insert number of days] before the effective date, all rates and supplementary rating information and supporting information as prescribed by the commissioner. Upon application by the filer, the commissioner may authorize an earlier effective date.

Drafting Note: Some states may wish to regulate workers' compensation rates under a file and use system based on a number of public policy considerations.

(4) In a competitive market, every insurer and advisory organizations shall file commercial policy forms, endorsements and other contract language and related attachment rules and for mortgage guaranty insurance and advisory organizations the rates and supplementary rating information [insert number of days] before the effective date. In a competitive market, if the commissioner finds, after a hearing, that an insurer's rates and policy forms require closer supervision because of the insurer's financial condition or unfairly discriminatory practices, the insurer shall file with the commissioner at least [insert number of days] before the effective date, all such rates and supplementary rating information and supporting information and policy forms as prescribed by the commissioner. Upon application by the filer, the commissioner may authorize an earlier effective date.

Drafting Note: The number of days inserted should be no more than thirty calendar days.

Drafting Note: Some states may wish to regulate workers' compensation forms and mortgage guaranty and advisory organization rates and forms under a prior approval system.

(5) An insurer may authorize an advisory organization to file policy forms, endorsements and other contract language and related attachment rules on its behalf.

(6) In a competitive market, Paragraphs (3) and (4) not withstanding, the commissioner may, after a hearing, determine that the filing for review of rates and supplementary and supporting information by insurers is not necessary for all or for portions of one or more commercial lines of insurance. In these cases, the commissioner instead may require, on a purely advisory or informational basis, the filing of rates and such other information as he or she needs to monitor competition and to provide consumer information. Any determination by the commissioner to waive filing requirements may be revoked at any time and the commissioner may order that rates in effect at the time of revocation shall be filed within a reasonable period of time as specified in the order.

C. (1) In a noncompetitive market, and for title insurance, subject to the exception specified in Subsection H of this section, commercial policy forms, endorsements and other contract language and related attachment rules, rates, supplementary rating information and supporting information shall be on file for a waiting period of thirty (30) days before it becomes effective, which period may be extended by the commissioner or the insurer or advisory organization for an additional period not to exceed thirty (30) days if written or electronic notice is given within the waiting period that additional time is needed for the consideration of the filing. Upon written or electronic application by the insurer, the commissioner may authorize a filing that has been reviewed to become effective before the expiration of the waiting period or any extension thereof. A filing shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this Act unless disapproved by the commissioner within the waiting period or any extension thereof. Failure of the insurer or advisory organization to provide the requested information within the waiting period or the extension thereof shall be deemed a request to withdraw the filing from further consideration. Failure of the commissioner to act within the waiting period or the extension thereof shall result in the filing being deemed to meet the requirements of the Act. Neither the insurer nor the commissioner may waive the timeliness requirements of the deemer provisions in this section.

(2) In a noncompetitive market, notwithstanding Paragraph (1), the commissioner may, subject to Section 2, determine that commercial policy forms, endorsements and other contract language and related attachment rules, rates, supplementary rating information and supporting information be filed in accordance with Subsection B(4) of this section.

D. (1) Every insurer and advisory organization making filings specified in Subsection B(4) and C(1) of this section shall file or incorporate by reference to material that has been filed with or approved by the commissioner, at the same time as the filing of the rate, all supplementary rating and supporting information to be used in support of or in conjunction with a rate. The information furnished in support of a filing may include or consist of a reference to:

(a) The experience or judgment of the insurer or information filed by the advisory organization on behalf of the insurer as permitted by [insert section of state law];

(b) Its interpretation of any statistical data it relies upon;

(c) The experience of other insurers or advisory organizations; or

(d) Any other relevant factors.

(2) When a filing is not accompanied by the information upon which the insurer supports the filing, the commissioner may require the insurer to furnish the information upon which it supports the filing.

(3) After reviewing an insurer's filing, the commissioner may require that the insurer's rates be based upon the insurer's own loss, special assessment and expense information. If the insurer's loss or allocated loss adjustment expense information is not actuarially credible, as determined by the commissioner, the insurer may use or supplement its experience with information filed with the commissioner by an advisory organization or statistical agent.

E. The commissioner shall review filings as soon as reasonably possible after they have been made in order to determine whether they meet the requirements of this Act.

F. A filing and any supporting information shall be open to public inspection upon receipt of the filing.

G. Under such rules and regulations as may be adopted, the commissioner may, by written or electronic order, suspend or modify the requirement of filing as to any kind of insurance, subdivision or combination thereof, or as to classes of risks, for which the rates, rating systems or policy forms cannot practicably be filed before they are used. The commissioner may make such examination as deemed advisable to ascertain whether any rates affected by such order meet the standards set forth in [insert rates standards sections of state law] and any forms affected by the order meet the standards set forth in [insert form standards sections of state law].

H. A rate in excess of that provided by a filing otherwise applicable or a rate with respect to any individual or special risks whose size, classification, degree of exposure to loss, previous loss experience or other relevant factors call for the exercise of sound underwriting judgment in the promulgation of rates may be used on any specific risk and shall be exempt from filing. The commissioner may examine the books and records of the insurer to determine if a pattern or practice of business exists that would indicate that the insurer is avoiding the filing requirements of this Act by extensive use of this section to issue its policies.

I. Policy forms, endorsements and other contract language unique in character and designed for and used with regard to a particular risk shall be exempt from filing, except that the commissioner may by regulation or order make specific restrictions relating to this exemption. In making a determination, the commissioner shall consider whether the policy forms, endorsements and other contract language otherwise exempt would be likely to meet the requirements of [insert form standards sections of state law] and the extent to which it would be practical to file the forms prior to their use for specific risks.

J. The commissioner may, by regulation, allow commercial policy forms, endorsements and other contract language that is more expansive, and in no respect more restrictive, than that provided by a filing otherwise applicable, to be used without being filed prior to its use. Any such commercial policy forms, endorsements, and other contract language shall, by regulation, be filed within thirty (30) days of its effective date.

K. Policy forms, endorsements and other contract language that is identical to another insurers' filing in this state may be used and shall be filed within thirty (30) days of the effective date. The filing shall be accompanied by a certification that the policy form, endorsement and other contract language is identical to the referenced insurers filing. If the filing is not identical or is not accompanied by the certification, the provisions of the policy forms, endorsements and other contract language of the referenced insurers' filing is automatically incorporated.

L. No insurer shall make or issue a contract or policy except in accordance with the filings that are in effect for the insurer as provided in this Act.

M. A rate for a residual market in which insurers are mandated by law to participate shall not become effective until approved by the commissioner.

Section 4. Form Approval Requirements Applying to Multistate Commercial Risks

The commissioner shall adopt reasonable regulations to provide that this state's policy form requirements shall apply only to insurance written for individual commercial risks that are primarily located in this state.

A. In the development of practical requirements for insurers to use in determining whether a risk is primarily located in this state, the commissioner shall consider whether the headquarters of the risk is located in this state and whether contracts of insurance are purchased by officers or employees that are primarily located in this state. For purposes of this section, the location of the headquarters shall be primarily determined by the location where the officers and senior management are physically located.

B. The regulations shall provide that the requirements of [insert appropriate statutory references] shall not apply when in conflict with a policy written for a commercial risk primarily located in another state.

C. Regulations adopted pursuant to this section may not allow the alteration of mandatory coverage provisions in workers' compensation policies [or mandatory coverage provisions required by the state's automobile insurance law].

Section 5. Monitoring Competition

A. In determining whether or not a competitive market exists pursuant to Section 2, the commissioner shall hold a public hearing and issue a tentative report detailing the state of competition in for the following property or casualty lines of insurance [insert reference to applicable lines of insurance]. The report shall be based on relevant economic tests, including but not limited to those in Subsection C of this section. The findings in the report shall not be based on any single measure of competition, but appropriate weight shall be given to all measures of competition. The report shall include a certification of whether or not competition exists in each form of insurance.

B. Not later than [insert date] and every other year thereafter, the commissioner shall issue a final report that shall include a final certification of whether or not competition exists in each form of insurance. The final report and certification shall be supported by substantial evidence.

C. All of the following may be considered by the commissioner for purposes of Subsections A and B:

(1) The extent to which the largest insurer groups control the insurance marketplace. A specific insurance market shall be considered competitive, from the standpoint of market concentration, so long as, measured by premium volume, the cumulative share of the market controlled by the four (4) largest insurer groups in the specific market does not exceed fifty percent (50%). If the fifty percent (50%) threshold is surpassed, other measures of concentration, such as the Herfindahl-Hirshman Concentration Index, should also be considered, on the basis of both premium volume and policy counts, in determining the extent to which market concentration may be limiting market competition;

(2) Whether the total number of companies writing the form of insurance in this state is sufficient to provide multiple options to the public;

(3) The extent to which insurer entries and exits, considered over several years, suggest the presence or lack of entry or exit barriers or both;

(4) The degree to which the insurance products offered to consumers are homogenous in nature and, thus, comparable;

(5) The availability of insurance coverage in all geographic areas. A review of changes in residual market shares, if applicable, may be used as an indication of availability;

(6) The overall rate level which is not excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory;

(7) The profitability of each form of insurance over a period of several years;

(8) The level of knowledge of market participants and the extent to which comparative pricing information has been made readily available to consumers;

(9) The extent to which the market for each type of insurance is growing;

(10) The presence of conditions indicating reverse competition; and

(11) Any other factors the commissioner considers relevant.

D. The reports and certifications required under Subsections A and B shall be forwarded to the governor and all relevant members of the state legislature and shall be available to the public.

E. It is rebuttably presumed that competitive markets exist. However, if the commissioner certifies that a reasonable degree of competition does not exist with respect to a form of insurance on a statewide basis or any geographic areas, or that insurance is unavailable to a segment of the market who are, in good faith, entitled to obtain insurance through ordinary means, the commissioner shall take steps to enhance competition or availability where it does not exist. A plan for enhancing competition or availability adopted pursuant to this section shall be included in a final certification of noncompetition. The plan shall only relate to those geographic areas, classifications or kinds of risks where adequate competition has been certified not to exist. The plan may include methods designed to enhance competition or availability that the commissioner considers necessary, and may provide for the commissioner to do one or more of the following:

(1) Authorize, by order, joint underwriting activities in a manner specified in the commissioner's order; and

(2) Modify the rate approval process in a manner to increase competition or availability, while at the same time providing for reasonably timely rate approvals, including reverting to prior approval of all filings.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL LAW

Table of Contents

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to protect the interest of insureds, claimants, ceding insurers, assuming insurers and the public generally. The legislature hereby declares its intent is to ensure adequate regulation of insurers and reinsurers and adequate protection for those to whom they owe obligations. In furtherance of that state interest, the legislature hereby provides a mandate that upon the insolvency of a non-U.S. insurer or reinsurer that provides security to fund its U.S. obligations in accordance with this Act, the assets representing the security shall be maintained in the United States and claims shall be filed with and valued by the state insurance commissioner with regulatory oversight, and the assets shall be distributed, in accordance with the insurance laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled that are applicable to the liquidation of domestic U.S. insurance companies. The legislature declares that the matters contained in this Act are fundamental to the business of insurance in accordance with 15 U.S.C. §§ 1011-1012.

Section 2. Credit Allowed a Domestic Ceding Insurer

Credit for reinsurance shall be allowed a domestic ceding insurer as either an asset or a reduction from liability on account of reinsurance ceded only when the reinsurer meets the requirements of Subsections A, B, C, D, E, F or G of this section; provided further, that the commissioner may adopt by regulation pursuant to Section 5B specific additional requirements relating to or setting forth: (1) the valuation of assets or reserve credits; (2) the amount and forms of security supporting reinsurance arrangements described in Section 5B; and/or (3) the circumstances pursuant to which credit will be reduced or eliminated.

Drafting Note: This new regulatory authority is being added in response to reinsurance arrangements entered into, directly or indirectly, with life/health insurer-affiliated captives, special purpose vehicles or similar entities that may not have the same statutory accounting requirements or solvency requirements as US-based multi-state life/health insurers. To assist in achieving national uniformity, commissioners are asked to strongly consider adopting regulations that are substantially similar in all material respects to NAIC adopted model regulations in the handling and treatment of such reinsurance arrangements.

Credit shall be allowed under Subsections A, B or C of this section only as respects cessions of those kinds or classes of business which the assuming insurer is licensed or otherwise permitted to write or assume in its state of domicile or, in the case of a U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer, in the state through which it is entered and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance. Credit shall be allowed under Subsections C or D of this section only if the applicable requirements of Subsection H have been satisfied.

A. Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer that is licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in this state.

Drafting Note: A state that provides for licensing of reinsurance by line, for consistency should adopt an amended version of Subsection A requiring the assuming insurer to be "licensed to transact reinsurance in this state."

B. Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer that is accredited by the commissioner as a reinsurer in this state. In order to be eligible for accreditation, a reinsurer must:

(1) File with the commissioner evidence of its submission to this state's jurisdiction;

(2) Submit to this state's authority to examine its books and records;

(3) Be licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state, or in the case of a U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer, be entered through and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state;

(4) File annually with the commissioner a copy of its annual statement filed with the insurance department of its state of domicile and a copy of its most recent audited financial statement; and

(5) Demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commissioner that it has adequate financial capacity to meet its reinsurance obligations and is otherwise qualified to assume reinsurance from domestic insurers. An assuming insurer is deemed to meet this requirement as of the time of its application if it maintains a surplus as regards policyholders in an amount not less than $20,000,000 and its accreditation has not been denied by the commissioner within ninety (90) days after submission of its application.

Drafting Note: To qualify as an accredited reinsurer, an assuming insurer must meet all of the requirements and the standards set forth in Subsection B. If the commissioner of insurance determines that the assuming insurer has failed to continue to meet any of these qualifications, the commissioner may, upon written notice and hearing, revoke accreditation.

C. (1) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer that is domiciled in, or in the case of a U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer is entered through, a state that employs standards regarding credit for reinsurance substantially similar to those applicable under this statute and the assuming insurer or U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer:

(a) Maintains a surplus as regards policyholders in an amount not less than $20,000,000; and

(b) Submits to the authority of this state to examine its books and records.

(2) The requirement of Section 2C(1)(a) does not apply to reinsurance ceded and assumed pursuant to pooling arrangements among insurers in the same holding company system.

Drafting Note: The term "substantially similar" means standards that equal or exceed the standards of the enacting state, as determined by the commissioner of the enacting state. It is expected that the NAIC will maintain a list of states whose laws establish standards that equal or exceed the standards of this model act.

D. (1) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer that maintains a trust fund in a qualified U.S. financial institution, as defined in Section 4B, for the payment of the valid claims of its U.S. ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest. To enable the commissioner to determine the sufficiency of the trust fund, the assuming insurer shall report annually to the commissioner information substantially the same as that required to be reported on the NAIC Annual Statement form by licensed insurers. The assuming insurer shall submit to examination of its books and records by the commissioner and bear the expense of examination.

(2) (a) Credit for reinsurance shall not be granted under this subsection unless the form of the trust and any amendments to the trust have been approved by:

(i) The commissioner of the state where the trust is domiciled; or

(ii) The commissioner of another state who, pursuant to the terms of the trust instrument, has accepted principal regulatory oversight of the trust.

(b) The form of the trust and any trust amendments also shall be filed with the commissioner of every state in which the ceding insurer beneficiaries of the trust are domiciled. The trust instrument shall provide that contested claims shall be valid and enforceable upon the final order of any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States. The trust shall vest legal title to its assets in its trustees for the benefit of the assuming insurer's U.S. ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest. The trust and the assuming insurer shall be subject to examination as determined by the commissioner.

(c) The trust shall remain in effect for as long as the assuming insurer has outstanding obligations due under the reinsurance agreements subject to the trust. No later than February 28 of each year the trustee of the trust shall report to the commissioner in writing the balance of the trust and listing the trust's investments at the preceding year-end and shall certify the date of termination of the trust, if so planned, or certify that the trust will not expire prior to the following December 31.

(3) The following requirements apply to the following categories of assuming insurer:

(a) The trust fund for a single assuming insurer shall consist of funds in trust in an amount not less than the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers, and, in addition, the assuming insurer shall maintain a trusteed surplus of not less than $20,000,000, except as provided in Paragraph 3(b) of this subsection.

(b) At any time after the assuming insurer has permanently discontinued underwriting new business secured by the trust for at least three full years, the commissioner with principal regulatory oversight of the trust may authorize a reduction in the required trusteed surplus, but only after a finding, based on an assessment of the risk, that the new required surplus level is adequate for the protection of U.S. ceding insurers, policyholders and claimants in light of reasonably foreseeable adverse loss development. The risk assessment may involve an actuarial review, including an independent analysis of reserves and cash flows, and shall consider all material risk factors, including when applicable the lines of business involved, the stability of the incurred loss estimates and the effect of the surplus requirements on the assuming insurer's liquidity or solvency. The minimum required trusteed surplus may not be reduced to an amount less than thirty percent (30%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers covered by the trust.

(c) (i) In the case of a group including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters:

(I) For reinsurance ceded under reinsurance agreements with an inception, amendment or renewal date on or after January 1, 1993, the trust shall consist of a trusteed account in an amount not less than the respective underwriters' several liabilities attributable to business ceded by U.S. domiciled ceding insurers to any underwriter of the group;

(II) For reinsurance ceded under reinsurance agreements with an inception date on or before December 31, 1992, and not amended or renewed after that date, not-withstanding the other provisions of this Act, the trust shall consist of a trusteed account in an amount not less than the respective underwriters' several insurance and reinsurance liabilities attributable to business written in the United States; and

(III) In addition to these trusts, the group shall maintain in trust a trusteed surplus of which $100,000,000 shall be held jointly for the benefit of the U.S. domiciled ceding insurers of any member of the group for all years of account; and

(ii) The incorporated members of the group shall not be engaged in any business other than underwriting as a member of the group and shall be subject to the same level of regulation and solvency control by the group's domiciliary regulator as are the unincorporated members.

(iii) Within ninety (90) days after its financial statements are due to be filed with the group's domiciliary regulator, the group shall provide to the commissioner an annual certification by the group's domiciliary regulator of the solvency of each underwriter member; or if a certification is unavailable, financial statements, prepared by independent public accountants, of each underwriter member of the group.

(d) In the case of a group of incorporated underwriters under common administration, the group shall:

(i) Have continuously transacted an insurance business outside the United States for at least three (3) years immediately prior to making application for accreditation;

(ii) Maintain aggregate policyholders' surplus of at least $10,000,000,000;

(iii) Maintain a trust fund in an amount not less than the group's several liabilities attributable to business ceded by U.S. domiciled ceding insurers to any member of the group pursuant to reinsurance contracts issued in the name of the group;

(iv) In addition, maintain a joint trusteed surplus of which $100,000,000 shall be held jointly for the benefit of U.S. domiciled ceding insurers of any member of the group as additional security for these liabilities; and

(v) Within ninety (90) days after its financial statements are due to be filed with the group's domiciliary regulator, make available to the commissioner an annual certification of each underwriter member's solvency by the member's domiciliary regulator and financial statements of each underwriter member of the group prepared by its independent public accountant.

Drafting Note: Unless otherwise stated, "commissioner" refers to the commissioner of insurance in the state where credit or a reduction from liability is taken.

Drafting Note: Consideration was given to deferring to state capital and surplus requirements as a threshold for the trusteed surplus, but it was concluded that, on the basis of risk exposure and current industry security practices, the standards for credit should be higher under Subsection D. The $100,000,000 trusteed surplus requirement for a group including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters reflects the higher financial standards currently found among the states for a group of this type. The $20,000,000 trusteed surplus requirement is an option available to assuming insurers that do not satisfy both the licensing and financial standards of Subsection B or C.

E. Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer that has been certified by the commissioner as a reinsurer in this state and secures its obligations in accordance with the requirements of this subsection.

(1) In order to be eligible for certification, the assuming insurer shall meet the following requirements:

(a) The assuming insurer must be domiciled and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in a qualified jurisdiction, as determined by the commissioner pursuant to Paragraph (3) of this subsection;

(b) The assuming insurer must maintain minimum capital and surplus, or its equivalent, in an amount to be determined by the commissioner pursuant to regulation;

(c) The assuming insurer must maintain financial strength ratings from two or more rating agencies deemed acceptable by the commissioner pursuant to regulation;

(d) The assuming insurer must agree to submit to the jurisdiction of this state, appoint the commissioner as its agent for service of process in this state, and agree to provide security for 100 percent of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers if it resists enforcement of a final U.S. judgment;

(e) The assuming insurer must agree to meet applicable information filing requirements as determined by the commissioner, both with respect to an initial application for certification and on an ongoing basis; and

(f) The assuming insurer must satisfy any other requirements for certification deemed relevant by the commissioner.

(2) An association including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters may be a certified reinsurer. In order to be eligible for certification, in addition to satisfying requirements of Paragraph (1):

(a) The association shall satisfy its minimum capital and surplus requirements through the capital and surplus equivalents (net of liabilities) of the association and its members, which shall include a joint central fund that may be applied to any unsatisfied obligation of the association or any of its members, in an amount determined by the commissioner to provide adequate protection;

(b) The incorporated members of the association shall not be engaged in any business other than underwriting as a member of the association and shall be subject to the same level of regulation and solvency control by the association's domiciliary regulator as are the unincorporated members; and

(c) Within ninety (90) days after its financial statements are due to be filed with the association's domiciliary regulator, the association shall provide to the commissioner an annual certification by the association's domiciliary regulator of the solvency of each underwriter member; or if a certification is unavailable, financial statements, prepared by independent public accountants, of each underwriter member of the association.

(3) The commissioner shall create and publish a list of qualified jurisdictions, under which an assuming insurer licensed and domiciled in such jurisdiction is eligible to be considered for certification by the commissioner as a certified reinsurer.

(a) In order to determine whether the domiciliary jurisdiction of a non-U.S. assuming insurer is eligible to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the commissioner shall evaluate the appropriateness and effectiveness of the reinsurance supervisory system of the jurisdiction, both initially and on an ongoing basis, and consider the rights, benefits and the extent of reciprocal recognition afforded by the non-U.S. jurisdiction to reinsurers licensed and domiciled in the U.S. A qualified jurisdiction must agree to share information and cooperate with the commissioner with respect to all certified reinsurers domiciled within that jurisdiction. A jurisdiction may not be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction if the commissioner has determined that the jurisdiction does not adequately and promptly enforce final U.S. judgments and arbitration awards. Additional factors may be considered in the discretion of the commissioner.

(b) A list of qualified jurisdictions shall be published through the NAIC Committee Process. The commissioner shall consider this list in determining qualified jurisdictions. If the commissioner approves a jurisdiction as qualified that does not appear on the list of qualified jurisdictions, the commissioner shall provide thoroughly documented justification in accordance with criteria to be developed under regulations.

(c) U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirement for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program shall be recognized as qualified jurisdictions.

(d) If a certified reinsurer's domiciliary jurisdiction ceases to be a qualified jurisdiction, the commissioner has the discretion to suspend the reinsurer's certification indefinitely, in lieu of revocation.

(4) The commissioner shall assign a rating to each certified reinsurer, giving due consideration to the financial strength ratings that have been assigned by rating agencies deemed acceptable to the commissioner pursuant to regulation. The commissioner shall publish a list of all certified reinsurers and their ratings.

(5) A certified reinsurer shall secure obligations assumed from U.S. ceding insurers under this subsection at a level consistent with its rating, as specified in regulations promulgated by the commissioner.

(a) In order for a domestic ceding insurer to qualify for full financial statement credit for reinsurance ceded to a certified reinsurer, the certified reinsurer shall maintain security in a form acceptable to the commissioner and consistent with the provisions of Section 3, or in a multibeneficiary trust in accordance with Subsection D of this section, except as otherwise provided in this subsection.

(b) If a certified reinsurer maintains a trust to fully secure its obligations subject to Subsection D of this section, and chooses to secure its obligations incurred as a certified reinsurer in the form of a multibeneficiary trust, the certified reinsurer shall maintain separate trust accounts for its obligations incurred under reinsurance agreements issued or renewed as a certified reinsurer with reduced security as permitted by this subsection or comparable laws of other U.S. jurisdictions and for its obligations subject to Subsection D of this section. It shall be a condition to the grant of certification under Subsection E of this section that the certified reinsurer shall have bound itself, by the language of the trust and agreement with the commissioner with principal regulatory oversight of each such trust account, to fund, upon termination of any such trust account, out of the remaining surplus of such trust any deficiency of any other such trust account.

(c) The minimum trusteed surplus requirements provided in Subsection D are not applicable with respect to a multibeneficiary trust maintained by a certified reinsurer for the purpose of securing obligations incurred under this subsection, except that such trust shall maintain a minimum trusteed surplus of $10,000,000.

(d) With respect to obligations incurred by a certified reinsurer under this subsection, if the security is insufficient, the commissioner shall reduce the allowable credit by an amount proportionate to the deficiency, and has the discretion to impose further reductions in allowable credit upon finding that there is a material risk that the certified reinsurer's obligations will not be paid in full when due.

(e) For purposes of this subsection, a certified reinsurer whose certification has been terminated for any reason shall be treated as a certified reinsurer required to secure 100 percent of its obligations.

(i) As used in this subsection, the term "terminated" refers to revocation, suspension, voluntary surrender and inactive status.

(ii) If the commissioner continues to assign a higher rating as permitted by other provisions of this section, this requirement does not apply to a certified reinsurer in inactive status or to a reinsurer whose certification has been suspended.

(6) If an applicant for certification has been certified as a reinsurer in an NAIC accredited jurisdiction, the commissioner has the discretion to defer to that jurisdiction's certification, and has the discretion to defer to the rating assigned by that jurisdiction, and such assuming insurer shall be considered to be a certified reinsurer in this state.

(7) A certified reinsurer that ceases to assume new business in this state may request to maintain its certification in inactive status in order to continue to qualify for a reduction in security for its in-force business. An inactive certified reinsurer shall continue to comply with all applicable requirements of this subsection, and the commissioner shall assign a rating that takes into account, if relevant, the reasons why the reinsurer is not assuming new business.

F. (1) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer meeting each of the conditions set forth below.

(a) The assuming insurer must have its head office or be domiciled in, as applicable, and be licensed in a Reciprocal Jurisdiction. A "Reciprocal Jurisdiction" is a jurisdiction that meets one of the following:

(i) A non-U.S. jurisdiction that is subject to an in-force covered agreement with the United States, each within its legal authority, or, in the case of a covered agreement between the United States and European Union, is a member state of the European Union. For purposes of this subsection, a "covered agreement" is an agreement entered into pursuant to Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, 31 U.S.C. §§ 313 and 314, that is currently in effect or in a period of provisional application and addresses the elimination, under specified conditions, of collateral requirements as a condition for entering into any reinsurance agreement with a ceding insurer domiciled in this state or for allowing the ceding insurer to recognize credit for reinsurance;

(ii) A U.S. jurisdiction that meets the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program; or

(iii) A qualified jurisdiction, as determined by the commissioner pursuant to [Subsection 2E(3) of Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], which is not otherwise described in Subparagraphs (a)(i) or (a)(ii) above and which meets certain additional requirements, consistent with the terms and conditions of in-force covered agreements, as specified by the commissioner in regulation.

(b) The assuming insurer must have and maintain, on an ongoing basis, minimum capital and surplus, or its equivalent, calculated according to the methodology of its domiciliary jurisdiction, in an amount to be set forth in regulation. If the assuming insurer is an association, including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters, it must have and maintain, on an ongoing basis, minimum capital and surplus equivalents (net of liabilities), calculated according to the methodology applicable in its domiciliary jurisdiction, and a central fund containing a balance in amounts to be set forth in regulation.

(c) The assuming insurer must have and maintain, on an ongoing basis, a minimum solvency or capital ratio, as applicable, which will be set forth in regulation. If the assuming insurer is an association, including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters, it must have and maintain, on an ongoing basis, a minimum solvency or capital ratio in the Reciprocal Jurisdiction where the assuming insurer has its head office or is domiciled, as applicable, and is also licensed.

(d) The assuming insurer must agree and provide adequate assurance to the commissioner, in a form specified by the commissioner pursuant to regulation, as follows:

(i) The assuming insurer must provide prompt written notice and explanation to the commissioner if it falls below the minimum requirements set forth in Subparagraphs (b) or (c), or if any regulatory action is taken against it for serious noncompliance with applicable law;

(ii) The assuming insurer must consent in writing to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and to the appointment of the commissioner as agent for service of process. The commissioner may require that consent for service of process be provided to the commissioner and included in each reinsurance agreement. Nothing in this provision shall limit, or in any way alter, the capacity of parties to a reinsurance agreement to agree to alternative dispute resolution mechanisms, except to the extent such agreements are unenforceable under applicable insolvency or delinquency laws;

(iii) The assuming insurer must consent in writing to pay all final judgments, wherever enforcement is sought, obtained by a ceding insurer or its legal successor, that have been declared enforceable in the jurisdiction where the judgment was obtained;

(iv) Each reinsurance agreement must include a provision requiring the assuming insurer to provide security in an amount equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded pursuant to that agreement if the assuming insurer resists enforcement of a final judgment that is enforceable under the law of the jurisdiction in which it was obtained or a properly enforceable arbitration award, whether obtained by the ceding insurer or by its legal successor on behalf of its resolution estate; and

(v) The assuming insurer must confirm that it is not presently participating in any solvent scheme of arrangement which involves this state's ceding insurers, and agree to notify the ceding insurer and the commissioner and to provide security in an amount equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities to the ceding insurer, should the assuming insurer enter into such a solvent scheme of arrangement. Such security shall be in a form consistent with the provisions of Section 2E and Section 3 and as specified by the commissioner in regulation.

Drafting Note: Section 9C(4)(e) of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) sets forth the acceptable forms of security under this subparagraph by specifically referencing Sections 12, 13 and 14 of Model #786.

(e) The assuming insurer or its legal successor must provide, if requested by the commissioner, on behalf of itself and any legal predecessors, certain documentation to the commissioner, as specified by the commissioner in regulation.

(f) The assuming insurer must maintain a practice of prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements, pursuant to criteria set forth in regulation.

(g) The assuming insurer's supervisory authority must confirm to the commissioner on an annual basis, as of the preceding December 31 or at the annual date otherwise statutorily reported to the Reciprocal Jurisdiction, that the assuming insurer complies with the requirements set forth in Subparagraphs (b) and (c).

(h) Nothing in this provision precludes an assuming insurer from providing the commissioner with information on a voluntary basis.

(2) The commissioner shall timely create and publish a list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions.

(a) A list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions is published through the NAIC Committee Process. The commissioner's list shall include any Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined under Section 2F(1)(a)(i) and (ii), and shall consider any other Reciprocal Jurisdiction included on the NAIC list. The commissioner may approve a jurisdiction that does not appear on the NAIC list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions in accordance with criteria to be developed under regulations issued by the commissioner.

(b) The commissioner may remove a jurisdiction from the list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions upon a determination that the jurisdiction no longer meets the requirements of a Reciprocal Jurisdiction, in accordance with a process set forth in regulations issued by the commissioner, except that the commissioner shall not remove from the list a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined under Section 2F(1)(a)(i) and (ii). Upon removal of a Reciprocal Jurisdiction from this list credit for reinsurance ceded to an assuming insurer which has its home office or is domiciled in that jurisdiction shall be allowed, if otherwise allowed pursuant to [cite to state law equivalent to Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)].

(3) The commissioner shall timely create and publish a list of assuming insurers that have satisfied the conditions set forth in this subsection and to which cessions shall be granted credit in accordance with this subsection. The commissioner may add an assuming insurer to such list if an NAIC accredited jurisdiction has added such assuming insurer to a list of such assuming insurers or if, upon initial eligibility, the assuming insurer submits the information to the commissioner as required under Paragraph (1)(d) of this subsection and complies with any additional requirements that the commissioner may impose by regulation, except to the extent that they conflict with an applicable covered agreement.

(4) If the commissioner determines that an assuming insurer no longer meets one or more of the requirements under this subsection, the commissioner may revoke or suspend the eligibility of the assuming insurer for recognition under this subsection in accordance with procedures set forth in regulation.

(a) While an assuming insurer's eligibility is suspended, no reinsurance agreement issued, amended or renewed after the effective date of the suspension qualifies for credit except to the extent that the assuming insurer's obligations under the contract are secured in accordance with Section 3.

(b) If an assuming insurer's eligibility is revoked, no credit for reinsurance may be granted after the effective date of the revocation with respect to any reinsurance agreements entered into by the assuming insurer, including reinsurance agreements entered into prior to the date of revocation, except to the extent that the assuming insurer's obligations under the contract are secured in a form acceptable to the commissioner and consistent with the provisions of Section 3.

(5) If subject to a legal process of rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation, as applicable, the ceding insurer, or its representative, may seek and, if determined appropriate by the court in which the proceedings are pending, may obtain an order requiring that the assuming insurer post security for all outstanding ceded liabilities.

(6) Nothing in this subsection shall limit or in any way alter the capacity of parties to a reinsurance agreement to agree on requirements for security or other terms in that reinsurance agreement, except as expressly prohibited by this [cite to state law equivalent to Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] or other applicable law or regulation.

(7) Credit may be taken under this subsection only for reinsurance agreements entered into, amended, or renewed on or after the effective date of the statute adding this subsection, and only with respect to losses incurred and reserves reported on or after the later of (i) the date on which the assuming insurer has met all eligibility requirements pursuant to Section 2F(1) herein, and (ii) the effective date of the new reinsurance agreement, amendment, or renewal.

(a) This paragraph does not alter or impair a ceding insurer's right to take credit for reinsurance, to the extent that credit is not available under this subsection, as long as the reinsurance qualifies for credit under any other applicable provision of [cite to state law equivalent to Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)].

(b) Nothing in this subsection shall authorize an assuming insurer to withdraw or reduce the security provided under any reinsurance agreement except as permitted by the terms of the agreement.

(c) Nothing in this subsection shall limit, or in any way alter, the capacity of parties to any reinsurance agreement to renegotiate the agreement.

G. Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Subsections A, B, C, D, E or F of this section, but only as to the insurance of risks located in jurisdictions where the reinsurance is required by applicable law or regulation of that jurisdiction.

Drafting Note: For purposes of this subsection, "jurisdiction" refers to those jurisdictions other than the United States and also to any state, district or territory of the United States. Subsection E allows credit to ceding insurers that are mandated by these jurisdictions to cede to state-owned or controlled insurance or reinsurance companies or to participate in pools, guaranty associations or residual market mechanisms.

H. If the assuming insurer is not licensed, accredited or certified to transact insurance or reinsurance in this state, the credit permitted by Subsections C and D of this section shall not be allowed unless the assuming insurer agrees in the reinsurance agreements:

(1) (a) That in the event of the failure of the assuming insurer to perform its obligations under the terms of the reinsurance agreement, the assuming insurer, at the request of the ceding insurer, shall submit to the jurisdiction of any court of competent jurisdiction in any state of the United States, will comply with all requirements necessary to give the court jurisdiction, and will abide by the final decision of the court or of any appellate court in the event of an appeal; and

(b) To designate the commissioner or a designated attorney as its true and lawful attorney upon whom may be served any lawful process in any action, suit or proceeding instituted by or on behalf of the ceding insurer.

(2) This subsection is not intended to conflict with or override the obligation of the parties to a reinsurance agreement to arbitrate their disputes, if this obligation is created in the agreement.

I. If the assuming insurer does not meet the requirements of Subsections A, B, C or F, the credit permitted by Subsection D or E of this section shall not be allowed unless the assuming insurer agrees in the trust agreements to the following conditions:

(1) Notwithstanding any other provisions in the trust instrument, if the trust fund is inadequate because it contains an amount less than the amount required by Subsection D(3) of this section, or if the grantor of the trust has been declared insolvent or placed into receivership, rehabilitation, liquidation or similar proceedings under the laws of its state or country of domicile, the trustee shall comply with an order of the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or with an order of a court of competent jurisdiction directing the trustee to transfer to the commissioner with regulatory oversight all of the assets of the trust fund.

(2) The assets shall be distributed by and claims shall be filed with and valued by the commissioner with regulatory oversight in accordance with the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled that are applicable to the liquidation of domestic insurance companies.

(3) If the commissioner with regulatory oversight determines that the assets of the trust fund or any part thereof are not necessary to satisfy the claims of the U.S. ceding insurers of the grantor of the trust, the assets or part thereof shall be returned by the commissioner with regulatory oversight to the trustee for distribution in accordance with the trust agreement.

(4) The grantor shall waive any right otherwise available to it under U.S. law that is inconsistent with this provision.

J. If an accredited or certified reinsurer ceases to meet the requirements for accreditation or certification, the commissioner may suspend or revoke the reinsurer's accreditation or certification.

(1) The commissioner must give the reinsurer notice and opportunity for hearing. The suspension or revocation may not take effect until after the commissioner's order on hearing, unless:

(a) The reinsurer waives its right to hearing;

(b) The commissioner's order is based on regulatory action by the reinsurer's domiciliary jurisdiction or the voluntary surrender or termination of the reinsurer's eligibility to transact insurance or reinsurance business in its domiciliary jurisdiction or in the primary certifying state of the reinsurer under Subparagraph E(6) of this section; or

(c) The commissioner finds that an emergency requires immediate action and a court of competent jurisdiction has not stayed the commissioner's action.

(2) While a reinsurer's accreditation or certification is suspended, no reinsurance contract issued or renewed after the effective date of the suspension qualifies for credit except to the extent that the reinsurer's obligations under the contract are secured in accordance with Section 3. If a reinsurer's accreditation or certification is revoked, no credit for reinsurance may be granted after the effective date of the revocation except to the extent that the reinsurer's obligations under the contract are secured in accordance with Subsection E(5) or Section 3.

K. Concentration Risk.

(1) A ceding insurer shall take steps to manage its reinsurance recoverables proportionate to its own book of business. A domestic ceding insurer shall notify the commissioner within thirty (30) days after reinsurance recoverables from any single assuming insurer, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the domestic ceding insurer's last reported surplus to policyholders, or after it is determined that reinsurance recoverables from any single assuming insurer, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, is likely to exceed this limit. The notification shall demonstrate that the exposure is safely managed by the domestic ceding insurer.

(2) A ceding insurer shall take steps to diversify its reinsurance program. A domestic ceding insurer shall notify the commissioner within thirty (30) days after ceding to any single assuming insurer, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, more than twenty percent (20%) of the ceding insurer's gross written premium in the prior calendar year, or after it has determined that the reinsurance ceded to any single assuming insurer, or group of affiliated assuming insurers, is likely to exceed this limit. The notification shall demonstrate that the exposure is safely managed by the domestic ceding insurer.

Section 3. Asset or Reduction from Liability for Reinsurance Ceded by a Domestic Insurer to an Assuming Insurer not Meeting the Requirements of Section 2

An asset or a reduction from liability for the reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Section 2 shall be allowed in an amount not exceeding the liabilities carried by the ceding insurer; provided further, that the commissioner may adopt by regulation pursuant to Section 5B specific additional requirements relating to or setting forth: (1) the valuation of assets or reserve credits; (2) the amount and forms of security supporting reinsurance arrangements described in Section 5B; and/or (3) the circumstances pursuant to which credit will be reduced or eliminated.

Drafting Note: This new regulatory authority is being added in response to reinsurance arrangements entered into, directly or indirectly, with life/health insurer-affiliated captives, special purpose vehicles or similar entities that may not have the same statutory accounting requirements or solvency requirements as US-based multi-state life/health insurers. To assist in achieving national uniformity, commissioners are asked to strongly consider adopting regulations that are substantially similar in all material respects to NAIC adopted model regulations in the handling and treatment of such reinsurance arrangements.

The reduction shall be in the amount of funds held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, including funds held in trust for the ceding insurer, under a reinsurance contract with the assuming insurer as security for the payment of obligations thereunder, if the security is held in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by, and under the exclusive control of, the ceding insurer; or, in the case of a trust, held in a qualified U.S. financial institution, as defined in Section 4B. This security may be in the form of:

A. Cash;

B. Securities listed by the Securities Valuation Office of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, including those deemed exempt from filing as defined by the Purposes and Procedures Manual of the Securities Valuation Office, and qualifying as admitted assets;

C. (1) Clean, irrevocable, unconditional letters of credit, issued or confirmed by a qualified U.S. financial institution, as defined in Section 4A, effective no later than December 31 of the year for which the filing is being made, and in the possession of, or in trust for, the ceding insurer on or before the filing date of its annual statement;

(2) Letters of credit meeting applicable standards of issuer acceptability as of the dates of their issuance (or confirmation) shall, notwithstanding the issuing (or confirming) institution's subsequent failure to meet applicable standards of issuer acceptability, continue to be acceptable as security until their expiration, extension, renewal, modification or amendment, whichever first occurs; or

Drafting Note: Providing for the continuing acceptability of letters of credit whose issuers were acceptable when the credit support facility was first obtained is intended to avoid abrupt interruptions in the acceptability of credit support arrangements that run for specific periods of time, and thus unnecessary disruptions in the marketplace, on account of the issuing (or confirming) institution's subsequent failure to meet applicable standards of issuer acceptability (whether by virtue of a change in the issuing institution's ability to qualify under the original standards or as a result of revisions to the applicable standards). The provision stipulates that letters of credit acceptable when first obtained will, in the event of the subsequent nonqualification of the issuing (or confirming) institution, continue to be acceptable as security until the account party and beneficiary would first have, in the normal course of business, an opportunity to replace the credit support facility.

D. Any other form of security acceptable to the commissioner.

Drafting Note: There is no implication in the requirement that the security for the payment of obligations must be held under the exclusive control of the ceding insurer that either the reserve liability or the assets held in relation to the reserve liability have not been transferred for the purposes of statutory accounting by the ceding insurer to the reinsurer.

Section 4. Qualified U.S. Financial Institutions

A. For purposes of Section 3C, a "qualified U.S. financial institution" means an institution that:

(1) Is organized or (in the case of a U.S. office of a foreign banking organization) licensed, under the laws of the United States or any state thereof;

(2) Is regulated, supervised and examined by U.S. federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies; and

(3) Has been determined by either the commissioner or the Securities Valuation Office of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners to meet such standards of financial condition and standing as are considered necessary and appropriate to regulate the quality of financial institutions whose letters of credit will be acceptable to the commissioner.

Drafting Note: The NAIC's Securities Valuation Office (SVO) maintains, on a current basis, a list of all U.S. financial institutions that have, upon application to the SVO, been determined to meet the eligibility standards of its Purposes and Procedures Manual. These standards, developed by the NAIC's Letter of Credit (EX4) Study Group, make use of nationally recognized ratings services, and are more rigorous in the case of foreign banking organizations (whose standby letters of credit must be issued or confirmed by a qualified U.S. financial institution) than those that are applicable to domestic financial institutions whose standby letters of credit would be considered acceptable.

B. A "qualified U.S. financial institution" means, for purposes of those provisions of this law specifying those institutions that are eligible to act as a fiduciary of a trust, an institution that:

(1) Is organized, or, in the case of a U.S. branch or agency office of a foreign banking organization, licensed, under the laws of the United States or any state thereof and has been granted authority to operate with fiduciary powers; and

(2) Is regulated, supervised and examined by federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies.

Drafting Note: Because assets held in a fiduciary capacity are not subject to the claims of the trustee's creditors, and because the trust departments of all U.S. financial institutions (including U.S. branch or agency offices of foreign banking organizations having fiduciary powers in the U.S.) are regulated, supervised and examined by the institution's primary U.S. bank regulatory authority (federal or state), there is no need to apply additional standards measuring the financial condition or standing of the institution, as in the case of determining those institutions whose standby letter of credit obligations will be considered acceptable.

Section 5. Rules and Regulations

A. The commissioner may adopt rules and regulations implementing the provisions of this law.

Drafting Note: It is recognized that credit for reinsurance also can be affected by other sections of the enacting state's code, e.g., a statutory insolvency clause or an intermediary clause. It is recommended that states that do not have a statutory insolvency clause or an intermediary clause consider incorporating such clauses in their legislation.

B. The commissioner is further authorized to adopt rules and regulations applicable to reinsurance arrangements described in Paragraph (1) of this Section 5B.

Drafting Note: This new regulatory authority is being added in response to reinsurance arrangements entered into, directly or indirectly, with life/health insurer-affiliated captives, special purpose vehicles or similar entities that may not have the same statutory accounting requirements or solvency requirements as US-based multi-state life/health insurers. To assist in achieving national uniformity, commissioners are asked to strongly consider adopting regulations that are substantially similar in all material respects to NAIC adopted model regulations in the handling and treatment of such policies and reinsurance arrangements.

(1) A regulation adopted pursuant to this Section 5B, may apply only to reinsurance relating to:

(a) Life insurance policies with guaranteed nonlevel gross premiums or guaranteed nonlevel benefits;

(b) Universal life insurance policies with provisions resulting in the ability of a policyholder to keep a policy in force over a secondary guarantee period;

(c) Variable annuities with guaranteed death or living benefits;

(d) Long-term care insurance policies; or

(e) Such other life and health insurance and annuity products as to which the NAIC adopts model regulatory requirements with respect to credit for reinsurance.

(2) A regulation adopted pursuant to Paragraph 1(a) or 1(b) of this Section 5B, may apply to any treaty containing (i) policies issued on or after January 1, 2015, and/or (ii) policies issued prior to January 1, 2015, if risk pertaining to such pre-2015 policies is ceded in connection with the treaty, in whole or in part, on or after January 1, 2015.

Drafting Note: The NAIC's Actuarial Guideline XLVIII (AG 48) became effective January 1, 2015, and covers policies ceded on or after this date unless they were ceded as part of a reserve financing arrangement as of December 31, 2014. One regulation contemplated by this revision to the NAIC Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) is intended to substantially replicate the requirements for the amounts and forms of security held under the rules provided in AG 48. AG 48 was written to sunset upon a state's adoption (pursuant to the enabling authority of the preceding paragraph) of a regulation with terms substantially similar to AG 48. The preceding paragraph is intended to provide continuity of rules applicable to those policies and reinsurance arrangements, including continuity as to the policies covered by such rules. The preceding paragraph is not intended to change the scope of, or collateral requirements for policies and treaties covered under AG 48.

(3) A regulation adopted pursuant to this Section 5B may require the ceding insurer, in calculating the amounts or forms of security required to be held under regulations promulgated under this authority, to use the Valuation Manual adopted by the NAIC under Section 11B(1) of the NAIC Standard Valuation Law, including all amendments adopted by the NAIC and in effect on the date as of which the calculation is made, to the extent applicable.

(4) A regulation adopted pursuant to this Section 5B shall not apply to cessions to an assuming insurer that:

(a) Meets the conditions set forth in Section 2F of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) in this state or, if this state has not adopted provisions substantially equivalent to Section 2F of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785), the assuming insurer is operating in accordance with provisions substantially equivalent to Section 2F of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) in a minimum of five (5) other states; or

(b) Is certified in this state or, if this state has not adopted provisions substantially equivalent to Section 2E of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785), certified in a minimum of five (5) other states; or

(c) Maintains at least $250 million in capital and surplus when determined in accordance with the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual, including all amendments thereto adopted by the NAIC, excluding the impact of any permitted or prescribed practices; and is

(i) licensed in at least 26 states; or

(ii) licensed in at least 10 states, and licensed or accredited in a total of at least 35 states.

(5) The authority to adopt regulations pursuant to this Section 5B does not limit the commissioner's general authority to adopt regulations pursuant to Section 5A of this law.

Section 6. Reinsurance Agreements Affected

This Act shall apply to all cessions after the effective date of this Act under reinsurance agreements that have an inception, anniversary or renewal date not less than six (6) months after the effective date of this Act.

Drafting Note: The enacting state may wish to provide a delay in the applicability greater than six (6) months to allow time for the insurance commissioner to promulgate regulations and to allow reinsurers to prepare and submit qualifying data.

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL LAW

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY – 2019

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL LAW (#785)

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL REGULATION (#786)
(Bilateral Agreement Between the United States of America and the European Union on Prudential Measures Regarding Insurance and Reinsurance)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

On Sept. 22, 2017, the U.S. Department of the Treasury (Treasury Department) and the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR) signed the "Bilateral Agreement Between the United States of America and the European Union on Prudential Measures Regarding Insurance and Reinsurance" (EU Covered Agreement). The EU Covered Agreement includes requirements on group capital, group supervision and reinsurance collateral. The EU Covered Agreement would eliminate reinsurance collateral requirements for European Union (EU) reinsurers that maintain a minimum amount of own funds equivalent to $250 million and a solvency capital requirement (SCR) of 100% under Solvency II. Conversely, U.S. reinsurers that maintain capital and surplus equivalent to 226 million euros with a risk-based capital (RBC) of 300% of authorized control level would not be required to maintain a local presence in order to do business in the EU or post collateral in any EU jurisdiction.

On Dec. 11, 2018, the Treasury Department and the USTR announced that the U.S. and the United Kingdom (UK) had reached a final agreement on reinsurance collateral and other insurance regulatory measures outlined in the "Bilateral Agreement Between the United States Of America and the United Kingdom on Prudential Measures Regarding Insurance and Reinsurance" (UK Covered Agreement). A separate Covered Agreement for the UK was necessary due to plans by the UK to exit the EU. The UK Covered Agreement mirrors the language in the prior Covered Agreement between the U.S. and the EU, and, for the purposes of this project history, they will be referred to collectively as the "Covered Agreement."

While the group capital and group supervision provisions of the Covered Agreement are not expected to require changes to state laws, the Covered Agreement will require the states to take action with respect to the reinsurance collateral provisions within 60 months (five years) of signing or face potential federal preemption by the Federal Insurance Office (FIO) under the federal Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act. Specifically, in 2011, the NAIC membership adopted revisions to Section 2E of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Section 8 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) which will be affected by the Covered Agreement. These revisions served to reduce reinsurance collateral requirements for certified non-U.S. licensed reinsurers that are licensed and domiciled in qualified jurisdictions. Prior to these amendments, in order for domestic U.S. ceding companies to receive reinsurance credit, the reinsurance must either have been ceded to U.S. licensed reinsurers or secured by collateral representing 100% of liabilities for which the credit was recorded.

On Feb. 20, 2018, the NAIC and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force held a Public Hearing in New York to address the reinsurance collateral provisions of the Covered Agreement. On April 17, 2018, based on public comments and testimony received at the Public Hearing, the Executive (EX) Committee agreed to the following actions with respect to the Covered Agreement:

> Adopted a Request for NAIC Model Law Development with respect to Model #785 and Model #786. The motion adopted was that these models be revised to: 1) conform to the requirements in the covered agreement with respect to EU reinsurers; and 2) provide reinsurers domiciled in NAIC-qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU (currently, Bermuda, Japan, Switzerland and, after Brexit, the United Kingdom) with similar reinsurance collateral reductions as those to be implemented to comply with the covered agreement, with provisions regarding group supervision, group capital, information-sharing and enforcement.

On May 15, 2019, the Task Force adopted revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 consistent with these charges during a public conference call, which were then approved by the Financial Condition (E) Committee on May 28, 2019. The revisions would eliminate reinsurance collateral requirements for "reciprocal" reinsurers that have their head office or are domiciled in any of the following:

1. An EU-member country (or any other non-U.S. jurisdiction) that is subject to an in-force covered agreement addressing the elimination of reinsurance collateral requirements with U.S. ceding insurers (Covered Agreement Reciprocal Jurisdictions).
2. A U.S. jurisdiction that meets the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program (Accredited State Reciprocal Jurisdictions).

3. A non-U.S. jurisdiction recognized as a qualified jurisdiction that meets certain additional requirements consistent with the terms of a covered agreement (Qualified Jurisdiction Reciprocal Jurisdictions).

The requirements for reciprocal reinsurers under the revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 mirror the requirements for reinsurers under the Covered Agreement, and they would place the following additional requirements with respect to reciprocal reinsurers:

- Maintain minimum capital and surplus of no less than $250 million.
- Maintain a minimum solvency or capital ratio, as applicable, of 100% of the SCR or a risk-based capital (RBC) ratio of 300% of the authorized control level, or such other solvency or capital ratio that the commissioner determines is an effective measure of solvency.
- Provide certain assurances to the state insurance commissioner on a new form (Form RJ-1), which includes providing prompt notice to the state insurance commissioner in the event of noncompliance with the minimum capital and surplus and minimum solvency requirements; or serious noncompliance with applicable law, consent to service of process, consent to payment of final judgments, nonparticipation in solvent schemes; and other assurances.
- Provide annual audited financial statements and other specified financial information for the two years preceding entry into the reinsurance agreement, and file annual audited financial statements and other specified financial information on a semi-annual basis.
- Maintain a practice of prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force of the Financial Condition (E) Committee was responsible for drafting the revisions to the Model #785 and Model #786:

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted the following charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force and a Request for NAIC Model Law Development with respect to these charges, which were reapproved by the Committee for 2019:

- The Task Force is directed to develop revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to conform to the terms of the Covered Agreement.
- The Task Force is directed to develop revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to allow reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU to realize reinsurance collateral requirements similar to those provided under the Covered Agreement under specified circumstances. In order for an insurer domiciled in a qualified jurisdiction outside of the EU to receive the same collateral requirement treatment as provided to EU-domiciled reinsurers, that non-EU qualified jurisdiction must agree to adhere to all other standards imposed upon the EU in the Covered Agreement, including the requirement that the qualified jurisdiction must agree to recognize the states' approach to group supervision, including group capital. As part of its deliberations, the Task Force should consult with international regulators, in addition to all other interested parties.

- The Task Force is directed to develop revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to address the effect of a breach of the Covered Agreement (as determined pursuant to its terms) on a reinsurer's collateral obligations and the effect of a failure of a non-EU qualified jurisdiction to meet the standards imposed by its agreement or acknowledgment to adhere to the terms of the Covered Agreement and/or the model law and regulation.

- In conjunction with any revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786), the Qualified Jurisdiction (E) Working Group is directed to consider changes to the Process for Developing and Maintaining the NAIC List of Qualified Jurisdictions to require that qualified jurisdictions recognize key NAIC solvency initiatives, including group supervision, group capital standards, and as well as require strengthening of the information-sharing requirements between the states and qualified jurisdictions, in order for reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions to receive similar treatment to EU reinsurers under the Covered Agreement, and processes of removal of qualified jurisdiction status in the event of a breach.

- The Reinsurance Financial Analysis (E) Working Group is directed to consider changes in its current methods of monitoring certified reinsurers domiciled in Qualified Jurisdictions to incorporate changes to state reinsurance collateral requirements caused by the EU Covered Agreement and any changes to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to provide similar treatment to reinsurers domiciled in Qualified Jurisdictions.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc.). Include any parties outside the members that participated

At the 2017 Fall National Meeting, the NAIC membership tasked a leadership group of commissioners to develop a strategy for proceeding forward with revisions to Model #785 and Model #786. This included the 2018 NAIC officers: President Julie Mix McPeak (TN); President-Elect Eric A. Cioppa (ME); Vice President Raymond G. Farmer (SC); and Secretary-Treasurer Gordon I. Ito (HI). It also included Commissioner David Altmaier (FL), chair of the Financial Condition (E) Committee; then-Superintendent Maria T. Vullo (NY), then-chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force; and then-Director Peter L. Hartt (NJ), the state insurance commissioner representative on the Financial Stability Oversight Council (FSOC).

On Feb. 20, 2018, the NAIC and Reinsurance (E) Task Force held a public hearing in New York City to address the reinsurance collateral provisions of the Covered Agreement. The public hearing was presided over by Commissioner Mix McPeak, Commissioner Altmaier and then-Superintendent Vullo. Also in attendance at the public hearing were: then-Commissioner Katharine L. Wade (CT); Superintendent Cioppa; Director Chlora Lindley-Myers represented by John Rehagen (MO); then-Acting Commissioner Marlene Caride and then-Director Hartt (NJ); Superintendent Elizabeth Kelleher Dwyer (RI); Director Farmer; then-Commissioner Ted Nickel (WI); and Commissioner Tom Glause (WY). During the public hearing, the NAIC and the Task Force heard from 18 speakers, including a representative of the Treasury Department, as well as U.S. domestic insurers, U.S. trade associations, international reinsurers and international trade associations. The NAIC also received 20 comment letters from a wide variety of stakeholders and interested parties. There were approximately 160 people in attendance at the public hearing, with another 181 participating via conference call.

On March 14, 2018, a memorandum titled, "Covered Agreement: Proposed Next Steps," was sent to the Financial Condition (E) Committee by Commissioner Mix McPeak; Commissioner Altmaier, chair of the Committee; and then-Superintendent Vullo, then-chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force. This memorandum recommended that the Committee take the following actions with respect to the Covered Agreement, based on public comments and testimony received at the public hearing:

- Adopt a Request for NAIC Model Law Development with respect to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786). Specifically, these models should be revised to (a) conform to the requirements in the Covered Agreement with respect to EU reinsurers, and (b) provide reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU (currently, Bermuda, Japan, Switzerland and, after Brexit, the United Kingdom) with similar reinsurance collateral reductions as those to be implemented to comply with the Covered Agreement, with provisions regarding group supervision, group capital, information sharing and enforcement.

- Adopt charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, and its Qualified Jurisdiction (E) Working Group and Reinsurance Financial Analysis (E) Working Group to make certain revisions to Model #785 and Model #786, and to develop processes to implement the changes to the models.

- Adopt charges to the Capital Adequacy (E) Task Force and the Statutory Accounting Principles (E) Working Group to address related reinsurance collateral issues raised at the Public Hearing.

The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the Request for NAIC Model Law Development at the 2018 Spring National Meeting. The Executive (EX) Committee adopted the Request for NAIC Model Law Development for amendments to Model #785 and Model #786, as well as the proposed related charges for various Financial Condition (E) Committee groups, during its April 17, 2018, conference call. These charges were renewed for the 2019 calendar year.

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force adopted draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 at the 2018 Fall National Meeting. The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the revised models as adopted by the Task Force, but with direction to NAIC staff and the drafting group to consider if any further technical changes were needed that were consistent with the issues raised at the Task Force meeting. The Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary were prepared to consider the draft revisions for adoption during its Dec. 19, 2018, conference call; however, the vote was delayed due to feedback received from the Treasury Department and the USTR. In a memorandum to the Financial Condition (E) Committee dated Feb. 11, 2019, the NAIC leadership group on reinsurance made a recommendation that the Task Force and its drafting group consider making additional revisions to resolve the following issues:

- Recognition of Reciprocal Jurisdictions. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to a state insurance commissioner's discretion to make a determination as to whether an EU jurisdiction should be recognized as a Reciprocal Jurisdiction.

- Determination of Compliance with the Covered Agreement. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to a state insurance commissioner's discretion to determine whether each EU member state is in compliance with the Covered Agreement.

- Commissioner Discretion to Impose Additional Requirements. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to any additional requirements being imposed on EU reinsurers.

- Effective Date. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to the effective date provision in the model revisions regarding which reinsurance agreements and policies are covered.

- Service of Process. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to requiring assuming reinsurers to submit the confirmation of consent to service of process to each state in which the reinsurer intends to operate.

- Other Covered Agreement Issues. Whether any additional technical revisions are necessary to make the draft models more consistent with the Covered Agreement.

- Additional Requirements for Qualified Jurisdictions. Whether any additional revisions are necessary and appropriate with respect to requirements that are applicable to Qualified Jurisdictions but are not applicable to EU jurisdictions.

- Recognition of U.S. State Regulatory System by Qualified Jurisdictions. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to the requirement for Qualified Jurisdictions to recognize aspects of the U.S. state regulatory system in order to be considered a Reciprocal Jurisdiction.

- Recognition of NAIC Accredited Jurisdictions as Reciprocal Jurisdictions. Whether U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Standards and Accreditation Program should be recognized as Reciprocal Jurisdictions.

The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted these recommendations during its Feb. 19, 2019, conference call. At the direction of Director Lindley-Myers, current chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 were released May 1, 2019, which were then approved by the Task Force during its May 15, 2019, conference call. The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 during its May 28, 2019, conference call, with the following revision to Section 2F(7) of Model #785:

Credit may be taken under this subsection only for reinsurance agreements entered into, amended, or renewed ~~on or after the date on which the assuming insurer has satisfied the requirements to assume reinsurance under this subsection~~ on or after the effective date of the statute adding this subsection, and only with respect to losses incurred and reserves reported on or after the later of (i) the date on which the assuming insurer has met all eligibility requirements pursuant to Section 2F(1) herein, and (ii) the effective date of the new reinsurance agreement, amendment, or renewal.

Drafting Group. At the 2018 Summer National Meeting, then-Superintendent Vullo (NY), then-chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, directed NAIC staff to create an informal drafting group composed of members of the Task Force tasked with developing the initial draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 incorporating the provisions of the Covered Agreement for discussion and consideration by the Task Force. The members of the drafting group were composed of state insurance regulators from the following states: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Maine, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York and Texas. The drafting group met Aug. 16, Aug. 23, Sept. 5, Sept. 7, Oct. 22, Nov. 2 and Nov. 29, 2018, via conference call in regulator-to-regulator session. The drafting group also met Feb. 20, Feb. 22, Feb. 27, April 16 and April 30, 2019, via conference call in regulator-to-regulator session. The drafting group discussed and drafted multiple proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786, which were presented to the Task Force for consideration of adoption.

Federal and International Regulators. NAIC staff met via conference call with representatives of the European Commission on Oct. 29, 2018 and May 13, 2019, and received comment letters from the European Commission—dated Oct. 16, Nov. 16 and Dec. 18, 2018; and March 28 and May 13, 2019—in which the European Commission expressed concerns about the consistency of the draft revisions with the EU Covered Agreement. State insurance regulators and NAIC staff also met via conference call with representatives of the Treasury Department and the USTR on Nov. 16, Nov. 30 and Dec. 4, 2018, and on March 8, April 25 and May 23, 2019, to discuss their concerns regarding the consistency of the draft revisions with the Covered Agreement. During these conference calls, Director Steven Seitz (FIO) advised that any past or future discussion of Model #785 and Model #786 would be without prejudice to any future preemption analysis of state law the FIO may conduct. The Task Force and its drafting group took into account the concerns expressed by both the European Commission and the U.S. federal regulators, and the Task Force and its drafting group are of the opinion that the final revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 are entirely consistent with the provisions of the Covered Agreement.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Feb. 20, 2018, Public Hearing. On Feb. 20, 2018, the NAIC held a public hearing in New York City to address the reinsurance collateral provisions of the Covered Agreement. A detailed discussion of the public hearing and the actions taken by the Financial Condition (E) Committee and Executive (EX) Committee with respect to the results of the public hearing can be found under Section 4—General Description of the Drafting Process of this project history.

June 21, 2018, Exposure. On June 13, 2018, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force met in regulator-to-regulator session pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) and paragraph 8 (consideration of strategic planning issues) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings. During the conference call, the Task Force agreed to expose proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 dated June 21, 2018, for a public comment period ending July 23, 2018. The Task Force received 18 comment letters, which included 16 from international and domestic insurance companies and industry groups, as well as two from state insurance regulators. The Task Force discussed the comment letters at the 2018 Summer National Meeting and directed a newly formed drafting group to work with NAIC staff to consider the comments and determine whether to incorporate them into the models and create updated drafts.

Sept. 25, 2018, Exposure. The drafting group considered the comment letters received at the 2018 Summer National Meeting and prepared draft revisions for the consideration of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, which met Sept. 25, 2018, in regulator-to-regulator session pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) and paragraph 8 (consideration of strategic planning issues) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings. The Task Force agreed to expose the proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for a 21-day public comment period ending Oct. 16, 2018. The Task Force received 14 comment letters on the Sept. 25, 2018, exposure documents, which were posted to the Task Force's page on the NAIC website for public viewing.

Nov. 9, 2018, Exposure. The drafting group considered the comment letters received on the Sept. 25, 2018, exposure and again prepared draft revisions for the consideration of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force. The Task Force met Nov. 9, 2018, in regulator-to-regulator session, pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) and paragraph 8 (consideration of strategic planning issues) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings, and agreed to release proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for discussion by the Task Force at the 2018 Fall National Meeting. The Task Force received 16 comment letters, which were discussed during its Nov. 17, 2018, meeting. At that meeting, the Task Force adopted the draft revisions to Model

#785 and Model #786, and the Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the revised models as adopted by the Task Force, but with direction to NAIC staff and the drafting group to consider if any further technical changes were needed consistent with the issues raised by the Task Force. A detailed discussion of the action taken by the Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary and the Financial Condition (E) Committee with respect to these draft revisions can be found under Section 4—General Description of the Drafting Process of this project history.

March 7, 2019, Exposure. The drafting group again considered the comment letters and public discussion, as well as recommendations made by the Financial Condition (E) Committee in its memorandum dated Feb. 11, 2019. The drafting group again prepared draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for discussion by the Task Force. The Task Force met March 7, 2019, in regulator-to-regulator session, pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings, and agreed to release proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 on March 7, 2019, for a 25-day public comment period ending April 1, 2019. The Task Force received 10 comment letters on the March 7, 2019, exposure, which were discussed by the Task Force at the 2019 Spring National Meeting. The Task Force did not take a vote on the proposed revisions at this meeting, but it directed the drafting group to consider the comments heard and the comment letters received to update the draft revisions, which will not require a separate formal exposure period.

May 1, 2019, Exposure. The drafting group again considered the comment letters and public discussion, and it prepared draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 dated May 1, 2019, for discussion by the Reinsurance (E) Task Force during its May 15, 2019, conference call. During this conference call, the Task Force adopted the revisions and agreed to refer the proposed revisions to the Financial Condition (E) Committee for consideration of adoption.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

The following significant issues were discussed extensively with state insurance regulators and interested parties during the drafting process:

- NAIC Compliance with the Covered Agreement. The NAIC initially opposed the EU Covered Agreement, primarily for failing to provide for formal recognition of the U.S. by the EU as a fully "equivalent" regulatory jurisdiction for Solvency II purposes. Following the signing of the EU Covered Agreement, the NAIC released a statement that it was pleased that the Treasury Department and the USTR clarified its interpretation in key areas and appreciated their affirmation of the primacy of state-based insurance regulation. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force to develop revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 to conform to the terms of the Covered Agreement.

- Similar Treatment for Qualified Jurisdictions. In the NAIC "Notice of Public Hearing and Request for Comments," the Reinsurance (E) Task Force requested specific comments on providing reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions with similar reinsurance collateral requirements as those provided under the Covered Agreement. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Task Force to develop revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 to allow reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU to realize reinsurance collateral requirements similar to those provided under the Covered Agreement under specified circumstances. In order for an insurer domiciled in a qualified jurisdiction outside of the EU to receive the same collateral requirement treatment as provided to EU-domiciled reinsurers, the non-EU qualified jurisdiction must agree to adhere to all other standards imposed under the Covered Agreement, including the requirement that the qualified jurisdiction must agree to recognize the states' approach to group supervision, including group capital.

- Breach of the Covered Agreement. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force to develop revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 to address the effect of a breach of the Covered Agreement on a reinsurer's collateral obligations and the effect of a failure of a non-EU qualified jurisdiction to meet the standards imposed by its agreement or acknowledgment to adhere to the terms of the Covered Agreement and/or Model #785 and Model #786. The Sept. 25, 2018, exposure draft of Model #785 contained a requirement that the reciprocal jurisdiction "is a member state of the European Union, and has been determined by the Commissioner to be in compliance with all material terms of the agreement." In its comment letters, the European Commission argued that this section provides the commissioner with the power to determine if each individual EU member state complies with the terms of the Covered Agreement, which appears to be inconsistent with the terms of the Covered Agreement. The drafting group deleted this provision from the May 1, 2019, draft of Model #785, and substituted "is subject to an in-force covered agreement."

- Recognition of Qualified Jurisdictions. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Qualified Jurisdiction (E) Working Group to consider changes to the Process for Developing and Maintaining the NAIC List of Qualified Jurisdictions to require that qualified jurisdictions recognize key NAIC solvency initiatives, including group supervision and group capital standards, as well as require the strengthening of the information-sharing requirements between the states and qualified jurisdictions, in order for reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions to receive similar treatment to EU reinsurers under the Covered Agreement, and processes of removal of qualified jurisdiction status in the event of a breach. The Nov. 9, 2018, exposure draft of Model #786 contained a provision that it "[r]ecognizes the U.S. state regulatory system, including its approach to group supervision and group capital, by providing through statute, regulation or the equivalent, including but not limited to confirmation by a competent regulatory authority, in such qualified jurisdiction…." Interested parties requested clarification on the process of recognition, and Section 9B(3)(c) of the March 7, 2019, exposure draft of Model #786 was revised to provide, as follows: "Recognizes the U.S. state regulatory approach to group supervision and group capital, by providing written confirmation by a competent regulatory authority, in such qualified jurisdiction…."

- Recognition of Group-wide Supervision. Due to concerns expressed by interested parties that Section 9B(3)(c) of Model #786 might act to change the group supervisor of a U.S.-domiciled affiliate, the drafting group clarified in a drafting note in the March 7, 2019, exposure that nothing in this provision is intended to enhance or limit the authority of U.S. state insurance regulation with respect to the group-wide supervision of insurance holding company systems pursuant to state law.

- Recognition of NAIC-Accredited Jurisdictions as Reciprocal Jurisdictions. The initial June 21, 2018, exposure drafts did not include U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program as reciprocal jurisdictions. Interested parties commented that this was not consistent with the current qualified jurisdiction provisions of Model #785 and Model #786, noting that U.S. reinsurers domiciled in accredited states should receive similar treatment to EU reinsurers and other reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force added U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program as reciprocal jurisdictions in the March 7, 2019, exposure drafts.

- Memorandum of Understanding. At the suggestion of interested parties, the memorandum of understanding required for qualified jurisdictions and reciprocal jurisdictions under Section 9B of Model #786 was clarified to include the International Association of Insurance Supervisors' (IAIS) Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding (MMoU) or other multilateral memoranda of understanding coordinated by the NAIC in the Sept. 25, 2018, exposure.

- Annual Reduction in Collateral by 20%. Article 9(3)(a) of the Covered Agreement provides that "the United States shall encourage each U.S. State to promptly adopt the following measures: (a) the reduction, in each year following the date of entry into force or provisional application of this Agreement, of the amount of collateral required by each State to allow full credit for reinsurance by 20 percent of the collateral that the U.S. State required as of the January 1 before signature of this Agreement." The Task Force determined that it was not consistent with the current Model #785 and Model #786 to meet this requirement. Instead, the Task Force determined that the best course of action was to work in an expeditious manner to amend Model #785 and Model #786 for enactment by the states to eliminate collateral for assuming insurers domiciled in Covered Agreement jurisdictions.

- Commissioner Discretion: EU Jurisdictions. The European Commission's comment letters argued that the draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 contained additional requirements on EU reinsurers that were not provided in the Covered Agreement. For example, the European Commission argued that a state insurance commissioner does not have the discretion to determine whether an individual EU jurisdiction is in compliance with the Covered Agreement, and Section 9C(8) of Model #786 provided in its initial drafts that "the assuming insurer must satisfy any other requirements deemed relevant by the commissioner." The May 1, 2019, exposure drafts removed all elements of commissioner discretion with respect to reinsurers domiciled in Covered Agreement reciprocal jurisdictions.

- Commissioner Discretion: Qualified Jurisdictions. The original draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 contained additional requirements that were applicable to assuming insurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions, but they were not applicable to those reinsurers domiciled in jurisdictions subject to a Covered Agreement. For example, Section 2F(1)(h) of Model #785 required the assuming insurer to "satisfy any other requirement deemed relevant by the commissioner" for its cedant to receive the benefit of the credit for reinsurance provisions. In addition, the definition of "reciprocal jurisdiction" in Model #786 included "[s]uch additional factors as may be considered in the discretion of the commissioner." Interested parties representing qualified jurisdictions argued that the NAIC should work toward a framework that treats EU and non-EU jurisdictions equivalently and provide additional clarity regarding the standards imposed on non-EU jurisdictions. The May 1, 2019, exposure drafts have removed the remaining distinctions between EU and non-EU jurisdictions, and they treat qualified jurisdictions similarly to EU jurisdictions.

- Effective Date. The original June 21, 2018, draft of Section 2F(7) of Model #785 contains the following provision: "This subsection shall not apply to reinsurance agreements entered into before the subsection's application, or to losses incurred or to reserves posted before the subsection's application." This was to clarify that these revisions would not eliminate reinsurance collateral that is currently in place, similar to the current certified reinsurer provisions of Model #785 and Model #786. This provision was included in the Statement of the United States on the Covered Agreement with the European Union issued Sept. 22, 2017. There were concerns expressed by interested parties, including the European Commission, that this sentence was not consistent with Article 3(8) of the Covered Agreement. The Task Force removed this provision in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft.

  In its comment letter dated March 28, 2019, the European Commission also argued that Section 2F(7) was not consistent with Article 3(8) of the Covered Agreement, which provides that the Covered Agreement takes effect "only to reinsurance agreements entered into, amended, or renewed on or after the date on which a measure that reduces collateral pursuant to this Article takes effect…" The Task Force disagreed with this interpretation, noting that there are additional requirements contained in Article 3 of the Covered Agreement that also must be met before an EU reinsurer is permitted to eliminate reinsurance collateral, including meeting minimum capital and surplus requirements of $250 million, 100% SCR, consent to the jurisdiction of the courts, service of process requirements, filing of audited financial statements, actuarial opinions, list of all disputed and overdue claims, information on prompt payment of claims, etc. Therefore, the Task Force made the determination that Section 2F(7) should remain, as follows: "Credit may be taken under this subsection only for reinsurance agreements entered into, amended, or renewed on or after the date on which the assuming insurer has satisfied the requirements to assume reinsurance under this subsection, and only with respect to losses incurred and reserves reported on or after the later of (i) the date on which the assuming insurer has met all eligibility requirements pursuant to Section 2F(1) herein [emphasis added], and (ii) the effective date of the new reinsurance agreement, amendment, or renewal."

- Foreign Currency Exchange. Section 9C(2)(c), Section 9C(6)(b) and Section 9C(6)(c) of Model #786 in the initial June 21, 2018, exposure draft contained a reference to foreign currency exchange rates to calculate the $250 million capital and surplus requirement for EU reinsurers under Article 3(4)(a) of the Covered Agreement. The European Commission commented that a reference to foreign currency exchange rates was not necessary with respect to EU reinsurers, because the Covered Agreement made 226 million euros equivalent to $250 million for these purposes. The drafting group disagreed with this interpretation, but it removed the reference in the May 1, 2019, exposure draft of Model #786, because commissioners are already utilizing foreign currency exchange rates in the calculation of minimum capital and surplus with respect to certified reinsurers licensed and domiciled in qualified jurisdictions.

- Service of Process. Section 2F(1)(d)(ii) of the Sept. 25, 2018, draft to Model #785 provided: "The assuming insurer must consent in writing to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and to the appointment of the commissioner as agent for service of process. Either by law, regulation or request of the commissioner, such consent shall be included in each reinsurance agreement." The European Commission commented that Article 3(4)(e) of the Covered Agreement provides that "where applicable for 'service of process' purposes, the assuming reinsurer provides written confirmation to the Host supervisory authority of consent to the appointment of that supervisory authority as agent for service of process. The Host supervisory authority may require that such consent be provided to it and included in each reinsurance agreement under its jurisdiction." This section was amended in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft to be consistent with the Covered Agreement: "The assuming insurer must consent in writing to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and to the appointment of the commissioner as agent for service of process. The commissioner may require that consent for service of process be provided to the commissioner and included in each reinsurance agreement."

- Insolvency of U.S. Ceding Insurer. The June 21, 2018, exposure of Model #785 contained the following provision: "The commissioner shall require [emphasis added] an assuming insurer under this subsection to post one hundred percent (100%) security, for the benefit of the ceding insurer or its estate, upon the entry of an order of rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation against the ceding insurer." Interested parties noted that Article 3(4)(k) of the Covered Agreement instead provides: "if subject to a legal process of resolution, receivership, or winding-up proceedings as applicable, the ceding insurer, or its representative, [emphasis added] may seek and, if determined appropriate by the court in which the resolution, receivership, or winding-up proceedings is pending, may obtain an order [emphasis added] requiring that the assuming reinsurer post collateral for all outstanding ceded liabilities." The Task Force agreed that the Covered Agreement required the ceding insurer or its representative to seek such an order from the court, not the insurance commissioner, and amended Section 9H of Model #786 in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft accordingly.

- Audited Financial Statements for Certified Reinsurers. At the request of the European Commission, the drafting group and Reinsurance (E) Task Force amended Section 8B(4)(h) and Section 8B(7)(d) of Model #786 to require the filing of annual financial statements for certified reinsurers consistent with the requirements of Article 3(4)(h) of the Covered Agreement; i.e., two years of audited financial statements filed with the assuming insurer's supervisor. This makes the certified reinsurer provisions consistent with Article 3(4)(h)(i) of the Covered Agreement.

- Passporting Process. Section 9C(5) of the June 21, 2018, draft of Model #786 provided that the assuming insurer "must provide the following documentation to the commissioner." The European Commission noted that Article 3(4)(h) of the Covered Agreement provides that this information must only be provided "if requested by that supervisory authority." The Task Force amended Section 9C(5) in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft to be consistent with the language of the Covered Agreement, but it added a drafting note encouraging the states to utilize the "passporting" process under which the commissioner has the discretion to defer to another state's determination with respect to compliance. In order to facilitate the passporting process, the states will uniformly require assuming insurers to provide the documentation described in Section 9C(5) so that other states may rely on the lead state's determination.

- Serious Noncompliance. Section 9C(4)(a) of the Sept. 25, 2018, draft of Model #786 provided a definition for "serious noncompliance with applicable law" in order to promote uniformity among the states and provide guidance to reciprocal jurisdiction reinsurers. Interested parties noted that Article 3(4)(c)(ii) of the Covered Agreement does not contain a definition of "serious noncompliance," and, as such, the drafting group and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force deleted this definition in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft due to perceived inconsistency with the Covered Agreement.

- Solvent Schemes of Arrangement. The Nov. 9, 2018, exposure draft of Model #785 deleted the definition of "solvent scheme of arrangement" from Section 2F(1)(d)(v), but it retained it in Section 9C(4)(e) of Model #786. Interested parties recommended that the Reinsurance (E) Task Force should clarify that the requirements with respect to solvent schemes also apply to Part VII-like transfers under UK law, and U.S. state insurance regulators should treat Part VII transfers the same as solvent schemes of arrangement. Interested parties argued that Part VII transfers should not be treated differently than a solvent scheme for the purposes of triggering the posting of 100% collateral because a Part VII transfer typically produces the same result to ceding insurers as a commutation in that a Part VII transfer typically involves a transfer of assumed business by an assuming reinsurer to another reinsurer that: 1) does not write new business; 2) does not have access to additional capital; and 3) does not have the intent or ability to raise additional capital, if necessary, to satisfy all remaining assumed obligations. The drafting group and the Task Force determined not to make this clarification, and Part VII-like transfers are not intended to be solvent schemes of arrangement for the purposes of this provision.

- Reciprocal Jurisdiction Process. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force added a drafting note after Section 9D of Model #786 at the request of interested parties to address the process with respect to the revocation or suspension of the status of a reciprocal jurisdiction. Interested parties requested that the process specifically be included in either Model #785 or Model #786, but the drafting group determined that this process should be developed after adoption of the revisions to the models. The drafting group also added a provision to the drafting note in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft that "such process would not conflict with the terms of an in-force covered agreement" to clarify that such jurisdictions are automatically included on the NAIC List of Reciprocal Jurisdictions.

- Other Inconsistencies with the Covered Agreement. Throughout the exposure process, interested parties made numerous comments about perceived inconsistencies between the language of the Covered Agreement and the exposure drafts of Model #785 and Model #786. The drafting group and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force have made every attempt to conform the language of Model #785 and Model #786 to the specific language utilized by the Covered Agreement.

- Material Adverse Development Coverage. Interested parties commented that Section 2F(7) of Model #785 (Effective Date) does not account for certain agreements entered into in contemplation of some long-tail losses, such as adverse development covers that are signed after losses occur, but before the reserves have developed to be within the limits of the adverse development cover. This could have the unintended consequence of excluding adverse development coverage contracts from application of the reciprocal jurisdiction provisions. Tying the application of reciprocal status requirements to only those "losses incurred" after reciprocal status may negatively impact loss portfolio transfers and adverse development covers. The drafting group recognized the value of such reinsurance as a useful regulatory and commercial tool to facilitate the transfer of blocks of business and rehabilitate financially distressed companies, and discussed various options in addressing this issue, but ultimately it was unable to agree upon specific language satisfactory to everyone. In addition, there were some concerns expressed with providing the commissioner additional discretion in this area. Therefore, the Task Force does not take a position on whether material adverse development coverage agreements are or should be subject to reduced collateral authorized by the changes to the model law.

- Kroll Bond Rating Agency. On Dec. 3, 2017, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force adopted the recommendation that the states may consider Kroll Bond Rating Agency as an acceptable rating agency for certified reinsurer purposes, and the Task Force adopted the Uniform Application Checklist for Certified Reinsurers with the additional language, stating that it be "recognized by the SEC to provide financial strength ratings on insurance companies" and included the proposed matrix of ratings and collateral levels for use with Kroll Bond Rating Agency. However, the Task Force could not agree on language to amend the ratings matrix found in Section 8B of Model #786 to include Kroll Bond Rating Agency.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force has not had formal discussions with respect to whether the current Reinsurance Ceded accreditation standard under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program should be amended to include the current revisions to Model #785 and/or Model #786. However, these revisions would have the effect of eliminating reinsurance collateral with respect to reinsurers domiciled in reciprocal jurisdictions, so, at a minimum, it will be necessary to amend the accreditation standards to reflect these revisions with respect to Reinsurance Ceded to Certified Reinsurers, which reduce but do not completely eliminate reinsurance collateral. In addition, it is further the recommendation of the Task Force that it is necessary to expeditiously modify these standards in accordance with the Procedure for the Adoption of Additional Model Laws, Regulations or Standards for Accreditation. This waiver in procedure is necessary because the states are expected to immediately begin considering these revisions for enactment into state law and regulation due to the 60-month (five-year) period in which the states are required to enact the revisions to in order to be consistent with the Covered Agreement or face potential federal preemption.

The Task Force has not determined whether these revisions should result in an "optional" accreditation standard or a "uniform" accreditation standard. The NAIC originally adopted the significant elements of the 2011 revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 as an "optional" accreditation standard. Specifically, under this optional standard, a state was not required to enact the certified reinsurer revisions to the models, but if it chose to reduce its reinsurance collateral requirements, the state's laws and regulations must be substantially similar to the key elements of the revisions. Upon further review and consultation with state insurance regulators and interested parties, the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee determined that the certified reinsurer provisions result in increased financial solvency regulation and increased consumer protection to policyholders, and they should be adopted as a "uniform" standard applicable to all NAIC-accredited jurisdictions under the "substantially similar" definition. The 2019 revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 could be considered under either an "optional" or a "uniform" accreditation standard.

Finally, the Task Force should consider whether to make the "passporting" process subject to the Part B: Regulatory Practices and Procedures accreditation standards. Generally, models are incorporated into the Part A: Laws and Regulations accreditation standards, but the NAIC's passporting process is not specifically required in Model #785 and/or Model #786. Model #786 does contain the following drafting note found after Section 9C(5):

> Drafting Note: In order to facilitate multi-state recognition of assuming insurers and to encourage uniformity among the states, the NAIC has initiated a process called "passporting" under which the commissioner has the discretion to defer to another state's determination with respect to compliance with this Section. Passporting is based upon individual state regulatory authority, and states are encouraged to act in a uniform manner in order to facilitate the passporting process. States are also encouraged to utilize the passporting process to reduce the amount of documentation filed with the states and reduce duplicate filings. It is anticipated that "lead" states will uniformly require assuming insurers to provide the documentation described in Section 9C(5) of this regulation, so that other states may rely upon the lead state's determination.

The Task Force should consider whether the passporting process should become part of the Part B accreditation requirements and require states to participate in passporting consistent with the guidance provided in the drafting note.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2016

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL LAW (#785)

This memorandum will discuss the background and history of the changes proposed to the NAIC Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785). To provide a more complete picture as to why changes to Model #785 are needed, this memorandum will also provide an overview of the captive reinsurance finance issues that prompted a regulatory response, the framework adopted by the NAIC to respond to those issues, the development and adoption of Actuarial Guideline XLVIII (AG 48) to implement the framework, and the status of a new NAIC regulation being developed to replace AG 48. In summary, the revisions to Model #785 are designed to provide commissioners with the specific authority to adopt the new model regulation being developed to replace AG 48.

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The NAIC Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force serves as the coordinating body for all NAIC technical groups involved with projects related to the Principle-Based Reserves (PBR) initiative for life and health policies. This Task Force was also charged with further assessing, and making recommendations regarding, the solvency implications of life insurance reserve financing mechanisms addressed in the June 6, 2013 NAIC White Paper of the Captives and Special Purpose Vehicle Use (E) Subgroup of the Financial Condition (E) Committee. On its June 30, 2014 conference call, this Task Force adopted the recommendations in the report of Rector & Associates, Inc. dated June 4, 2014, regarding a proposal for an XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework (Framework). This Framework sought to address concerns regarding reserve financing transactions and to do so without encouraging them to move off-shore. The changes would be prospective and apply only to the XXX term life insurance business and AXXX universal life with secondary guarantees (ULSG) business; i.e., the Framework applies only to reinsurance involving XXX and AXXX policies required to be valued under Sections 6 or 7 of the NAIC Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation (#830). The Framework would not change the statutory reserve requirements applicable to a ceding insurer; rather, the Framework addresses the types of security that can back those reserves in connection with reserve financing transactions.

The Framework does not materially change the ability of insurers to obtain credit for reinsurance ceded to "certified" reinsurers or to obtain credit for reinsurance ceded to "licensed" or "accredited" reinsurers that follow statutory accounting and RBC rules. As a practical matter, the Framework requirements apply to reinsurance ceded to captive insurers, special purpose vehicles, reinsurers that are not eligible to become "certified" reinsurers, or reinsurers that materially deviate from statutory accounting and/or RBC rules. In those situations, the ceding insurer may receive credit for reinsurance if:

- The ceding insurer establishes gross reserves, in full, using applicable reserving guidance (currently, the "formulaic" approach under the Standard Valuation Law);
- Funds consisting of Primary Security, in an amount at least equal to the Required Level of Primary Security, are held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, as security under the reinsurance contract, on a funds withheld, trust, or modified coinsurance basis;
- Funds consisting of Other Security, in an amount at least equal to any portion of the statutory reserves as to which Primary Security is not held are held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer as security under the reinsurance contract;
- At least one party to the financing transaction holds an appropriate RBC "cushion;" and
- The reinsurance arrangement is approved by the ceding insurer's domestic regulator.

The NAIC Executive (EX) Committee adopted the Framework (in concept) on August 17, 2014. As an interim step to implementing the Framework, the NAIC adopted Actuarial Guideline XLVIII Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Requirements for the Reinsurance of Policies Required to be Valued under Sections 6 and 7 of the NAIC Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation (Model 830) (AG 48) on December 16, 2014. Expectation was that AG 48 would eventually be replaced by effective codification through the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and creation of a new model regulation to establish requirements regarding the reinsurance of XXX/AXXX policies. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force and Financial Condition (E) Committee will meet on a joint conference call on January 6, 2016, and will consider adoption of revisions to Model #785 to give the Commissioner authority to issue regulations codifying AG 48 and the XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework. At some future date, both the revisions to Model #785 and new model regulation (once approved by the NAIC) are intended to be adopted by the NAIC as a new accreditation standard.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

Reinsurance (E) Task Force: Missouri (Chair), California (Vice Chair), Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Puerto Rico, Rhode Island, Utah, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

On June 30, 2014, the Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force adopted the XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework in concept, and adopted draft charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force with respect to implementation of the Framework. On August 17, 2014, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted the following charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force and a request for model law development with respect to these charges:

- Request permission from the Executive (EX) Committee to create a new model regulation to establish requirements regarding the reinsurance of XXX/AXXX policies. The Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force's XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework Exhibit 4 should be considered for this model regulation, modified as deemed appropriate by the Task Force.—Essential

- Request permission from the Executive (EX) Committee to amend the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and draft the amendments to reference the new model regulation drafted in accordance with the previous charge.—Essential

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

On a conference call on October 29, 2014, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force created the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation Drafting Group, which is an informal drafting group composed of members of the Task Force tasked with developing an initial draft of a model regulation incorporating the provisions of proposed AG 48 for discussion and consideration by the Task Force. The members of the Drafting Group were Doug Stolte (VA), Chair; John Finston and Monica Macaluso (CA); Kathy Belfi (CT); Linda Sizemore, David Lonchar and Steve Kinion (DE); Robert Wake (ME); John Rehagen (MO); Justin C. Schrader (NE); Richard Schlesinger (NJ); Mike Maffei (NY); and David Provost (VT). On that call, Director Huff directed the Drafting Group to refrain from beginning any drafting on the model regulation until the Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force had finished its work on AG 48. Once this Task Force has completed its work on AG 48, the Drafting Group could determine whether it believes that any changes to the AG 48 approach should be made in the model regulation. If the Drafting Group is of the opinion that any substantive modifications should to be made to the AG 48 approach as it finalizes the model regulation, it should submit these proposed changes back to the Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force for further guidance. The overall objective is to implement the AG 48 approach unless there are significant issues with respect to this implementation.

The Drafting Group met via conference call in regulator-to-regulator session on Oct. 14, 2014, and then again on March 10, March 23, April 21, May 11, June 23, June 24, July 14, and Oct. 23, 2015. The Drafting Group, with assistance from Rector and Associates and NAIC staff, reviewed, discussed and drafted a proposed draft XXX/AXXX Model Regulation and proposed revisions to Model #785, which were presented to the Task Force at the 2015 Summer National Meeting.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

As previously noted, AG 48 will be the basis for the new regulation currently being drafted, and provides the detail for what will ultimately be included in the new regulation. AG 48 went through its own separate public drafting process, with multiple exposure periods, public hearings and opportunities for the NAIC to receive public comment from industry, consumers, legislators and regulators. A general description of this due process will be found in the Project History for AG 48. The revisions to Model #785 will provide commissioners with the authority to adopt the new regulation that is based on AG 48.

At the 2015 Summer National Meeting, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force exposed a draft XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, revisions to Model #785 (Options 1 & 2), and a July 28 memorandum from NAIC staff listing key discussion topics that were identified during the drafting process for a 45-day public comment period ending Sept. 30, 2015. The Task Force received 17 comment letters, and a note from NAIC staff on the applicability of regulation on policies issued prior to adoption of Model #830. The Task Force met again via conference call on Oct. 26 to discuss the comment letters received, and agreed to expose a new Option 3 of the proposed revisions to Model #785 for a comment period ending Nov. 11, 2015. The Task Force received 7 comment letters from regulators and interested parties.

At the Fall National Meeting, the Task Force discussed Options 1, 2 & 3 to Model #785, and voted to expose five options of the proposed revisions to Model #785 for a public comment period ending Dec. 6, 2015. These five options can be summarized, as follows: 1) Option 1, which would limit the scope of commissioner authority to adopt regulations with respect to XXX/AXXX transactions; 2) Option 2, which would provide commissioner authority to adopt regulations with respect to variable annuities, long-term care and XXX/AXXX captive reinsurance transactions; 3) Option 3, which incorporates language suggested and comments received from New York Life and the American Insurance Association (AIA) and is broader in scope than either Option 1 or Option 2, as it would provide the commissioner with the authority to adopt regulations in connection with particular types of reinsurance arrangements, or may specify by regulation that credit will be reduced or eliminated in connection with particular types of reinsurance arrangements. In addition, Option 3 clarifies that these revisions were not intended to impact P/C reinsurers; 4) New York Life's modified Option 2, which covers the same types of policies as Option 2 (i.e., XXX/AXXX, long term care and variable annuities), and in addition covers any other product for which the NAIC develops a model regulation related to Model #785; and 5) the American Council of Life Insurer's (ACLI) modified Option 2 that incorporates an exemption for professional reinsurers if they meet specific requirements, which includes maintaining, at minimum, $250 million in capital and surplus determined in accordance with statutory accounting principles, without deviation, and is licensed in at least 26 states, or licensed and accredited in at least 35 states with a minimum of 10 licenses.

The Task Force received 7 comment letters, and discussed these along with the 5 proposed options for revisions to Model #785 on its conference call on Dec. 9, 2015. The Task Force directed NAIC to re-expose the revisions to Model #785 with comments due by Dec. 31. The Task Force further directed NAIC staff to draft these revisions made in accordance with the following determinations made on the call: 1) Option 4, which was New York Life's modified Option 2; 2) correct the "flaw" issue identified by the ACLI, that in specifically referencing Model #830, Actuarial Guideline 43, and the Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation (#10) to define the scope of the policies covered, these changes to Model #785 would cease to have any effect after Principle-Based Reserving goes into effect, because those reserving requirements sunset for new business after the PBR Valuation Manual becomes operative; 3) professional reinsurer exemption should be included in Model #785, and not just in the new XXX/AXXX model regulation; and 4) AG 48 "grandfather" provision should also be included in Model #785, and not just the model regulation. Two updated revisions containing these changes were exposed for public comment on Dec. 15, 2015, the first document containing these revisions in Section 2 & 3 of Model #785, with the second document containing these revisions in Sections 2, 3 & 5 (Rules and Regulations) of Model #785. The Task Force has scheduled a joint conference call with the Financial Condition (E) Committee on January 6, 2016, to consider the exposed revisions to Model #785 for adoption, with the Executive (EX) Committee and NAIC Plenary to consider the revisions for final approval on a conference call scheduled for January 8, 2016.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

The following significant issues were discussed extensively with regulators and interested parties during the process:

- Consequence Options for Non-Compliance with the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation. The Drafting Group members proposed several potential credit for reinsurance "consequences" for ceding insurers that have a shortfall in either Primary Security or Other Security. These options include: 1) All or Nothing; 2) Dollar for Dollar Reduction in Credit for Reinsurance for any shortfall; 3) Percentage reduction in Credit for Reinsurance for any shortfall and 4) Primary Security limitation, which would allow credit for reinsurance up to the amount of Primary Security held. At the 2015 Summer National Meeting, the Drafting Group advised the Reinsurance (E) Task Force that it decided to draft Sections 7(A)(3) and 7(A)(4) of the Model Regulation under the all or nothing option, but the Task Force encouraged regulators and interested parties to review the four consequence options with respect to the Model Regulation and provide any comments or suggested language.

- Scope of Authority. The scope of the authority to be provided to the commissioner to adopt model regulations under Model 785, whether it is limited in nature to specific types of policies, or whether it is broad enough to permit regulation of other types of policies. These are exposure documents Options 1—5 described above. The Task Force decided upon Option 4, New York Life's modified Option 2, which covers the same types of policies as Option 2 (i.e., XXX/AXXX, long term care and variable annuities), and in addition covers any other product for which the NAIC develops a model regulation related to Model #785.

- ACLI Issue. In specifically referencing Model #830, Actuarial Guideline 43, and the Health Insurance Reserves Model Regulation (#10) to define the scope of the policies covered, these changes to Model #785 would cease to have any effect after Principle-Based Reserving goes into effect, because those reserving requirements sunset for new business after the PBR Valuation Manual becomes operative. Specifically, the ACLI recommended referencing these types of policies, as follows: "in connection with reinsurance arrangements pertaining to certain term insurance policies, universal life insurance policies with secondary guarantees, variable annuities with guaranteed death and/or living benefits, and long term care insurance policies." The Task Force agreed with this recommendation, in modified form.

- Professional Reinsurer Exemption. The draft XXX/AXXX Model Regulation currently provides for exemptions for certain reinsurers under Section 4, which includes an exemption for reinsurers that do not have a permitted practice under the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual. The ACLI proposed alternative language for either the model that would permit an exemption for reinsurers that 1) maintain at least $250 million in capital and surplus determined in accordance with statutory accounting principles, without deviation; and 2) is licensed in at least 26 states; or Licensed or accredited in at least 35 states with a minimum of ten licenses. The Task Force agreed with this recommendation, in modified form.

- AG 48 Grandfathering Provision. The ACLI recommended that a "grandfathering" provision similar to that found in AG 48 be included in the model law, because they believe that it is necessary to give the commissioner specific authority to adopt a regulation that contains some limited retroactive application. Currently, AG 48 does not apply to XXX/AXXX policies "that were both (1) issued prior to 1/1/2015 and (2) ceded so that they were part of a reinsurance arrangement, as of 12/31/2014, that would not qualify for exemption as described in Section 3 of this Actuarial Guideline." In addition, AG 48 has a Sunset provision to the effect that AG 48 "shall cease to apply as to ceding insurers domiciled in a jurisdiction that has in effect, as of January 1st of the calendar year immediately preceding the year in which the actuarial opinion is to be filed, a law and regulation substantially similar to the amendment to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law and new Model Regulation adopted by the NAIC pursuant to Recommendation #5 of the June 2014 Rector Report." The Task Force agreed with this recommendation, in modified form.

- Objections by Delaware and Captive Insurance Industry. Delaware and many interested parties in the captive insurance industry opposed Option 3 with respect to the scope of authority, stating that the captive insurance industry is concerned with the impact these revisions will have not only on life insurance captives, but also all kinds of captives that the commissioner may deem to be classified as a particular type of reinsurance arrangement. In addition, Delaware has consistently asked for consideration to be given to the impact these actions have on consumers, specifically the impact to the cost of insurance.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

The revisions to Model #785, if adopted, would be considered by the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee as an amendment to the existing standard for Reinsurance Ceded. In addition, it is intended under the XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework that these revisions, in addition to the proposed XX/AXXX model regulation, would become an accreditation standard.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2011

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL LAW (#785)

CREDIT OF REINSURANCE MODEL REGULATION (#786)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

Under the current NAIC Credit for Reinsurance Model Law & Regulation, in order for U.S. ceding companies to receive reinsurance credit, the reinsurance must either be ceded to U.S. licensed reinsurers or secured by collateral representing 100% of U.S. liabilities for which the credit is recorded. The collateral requirements for non-U.S. licensed reinsurers have been a frequent subject of debate over the past decade, with various groups calling for the elimination of the collateral requirement for reinsurers licensed in well-regulated jurisdictions. On September 19, 2011, both the Reinsurance (E) Task Force and Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Regulation (#786) at a meeting held in Jersey City, New Jersey. These amendments will act to reduce reinsurance collateral requirements for non-U.S. reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions, and will be up for consideration by NAIC Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary at the Fall National Meeting in Washington, D.C.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Reinsurance Task Force of the Financial Condition (E) Committee was responsible for drafting the revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Models:

Thomas B. Considine, Chair	New Jersey	John M. Huff	Missouri
James J. Wrynn, Vice Chair	New York	Bruce R. Ramge	Nebraska
Jim L. Ridling	Alabama	Amy Parks	Nevada
Christina Urias	Arizona	Roger A. Sevigny	New Hampshire
Jay Bradford	Arkansas	John G. Franchini	New Mexico
Dave Jones	California	John D. Doak	Oklahoma
Thomas B. Leonardi	Connecticut	Michael F. Consedine	Pennsylvania
Karen Weldin Stewart	Delaware	Ramón Cruz-Colón	Puerto Rico
Kevin M. McCarty	Florida	Joseph Torti III	Rhode Island
Gordon I. Ito	Hawaii	David Black	South Carolina
Jack Messmore	Illinois	Neal T. Gooch	Utah
Stephen W. Robertson	Indiana	Stephen W. Kimbell	Vermont
James J. Donelon	Louisiana	Jacqueline K. Cunningham	Virginia
Eric A. Cioppa	Maine	Mike Kreidler	Washington
Mike Rothman	Minnesota	Ted Nickel	Wisconsin

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

This Project History supplements the Project History for the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework, which is attached hereto and incorporated by reference. The Task Force received charges in both 2009 and 2010 to "promote and facilitate the implementation of the adopted Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework." The project was specifically authorized in 2011 when the Task Force received the following charge: "Consider amendments to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to incorporate key elements of the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework." The Executive (EX) Committee approved the model law request for revising the Model #785 and Model #786 at the 2010 Fall National Meeting.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The NAIC adopted the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework ("Framework") at its Winter 2008 National Meeting as the first step in an effort to facilitate cross-border reinsurance transactions and enhance competition within the U.S. market, while ensuring that U.S. insurers and policyholders are adequately protected against the risk of insolvency. The Framework recommended implementation through federal legislation in order to best preserve and improve state-based regulation of reinsurance, ensure timely and uniform implementation of this legislation throughout all NAIC member jurisdictions, and as a more comprehensive alternative to related federal legislation.

On September 15, 2009, the Reinsurance Task Force adopted the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Act of 2009, which was approved on September 23, 2009, by the NAIC Government Relations Leadership Council. This proposed federal legislation was based on the Framework, and underwent an extensive review process. The Task Force released drafts of the proposed federal legislation to the public on March 24, July 27 & September 3, 2009, and the legislation was extensively revised based upon comments received from regulators and interested parties. The Task Force also held an open forum in New York on May 6-7, 2009, to receive public comments on the legislation, in addition to the numerous opportunities for public comment that were afforded during the drafting of the Framework.

The NAIC was unable to find a sponsor for the federal legislation in Congress, and it did not receive passage. Instead, Congress enacted the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010, which was signed into law on July 21, 2010. This act includes the Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act ("NRRA"), as well as creates the Federal Insurance Office ("FIO"). The NRRA prohibits a state from denying credit for reinsurance if the domiciliary state of the ceding insurer recognizes such credit and is either (1) an NAIC-accredited state; or (2) has financial solvency requirements substantially similar to NAIC accreditation requirements. This permitted the NAIC to move forward with individual state-based reinsurance collateral reduction reforms.

The revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Models were drafted by the Task Force through a deliberate process that included two exposure periods and consideration of voluminous comments submitted by interested parties representing U.S. ceding insurers, non-U.S. reinsurers and regulators. Much of the actual drafting of the language within the proposal was undertaken during regulator-to-regulator sessions due to discussion of company specific information and consultation with NAIC staff. The Task Force considered comments from interested parties related to each of these exposure drafts in order to further develop and refine the revisions. In many cases, specific concepts or specific language recommended by interested parties has been included within the revisions, as deemed appropriate by the Task Force. In addition, the Task Force considered information that it received from various international regulators.

The Reinsurance Task Force further adopted a Preface to the Credit for Reinsurance Models on September 19, 2011. The Preface is a statement by the Task Force of the next steps to be taken after the adoption of the revised models, including (1) a proposal to form a new group to provide high quality review of reinsurance collateral reduction applications and assistance to the states; (2) consider reinsurance diversification and notification requirements for ceding insurers; (3) requirements for NAIC review and approval of qualified jurisdiction; and (4) a re-examination of the collateral requirements within two years after the effective date of the revised Credit for Reinsurance Models.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

On February 22, 2011, the Task Force released exposure drafts of revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for a 30-day comment period. The Task Force received several comment letters from interested parties and discussed these drafts on March 26 during the Spring National Meeting in Austin, Texas. The Task Force then held an interim meeting in Jersey City, New Jersey on July 11 and took public testimony from interested parties on the proposed amendments. On July 26, the Task Force released a second set of proposed amendments to the Credit for Reinsurance Models, which were exposed for a 30-day public comment period ending on August 24. The Task Force and Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted these drafts at a meeting in Jersey City, New Jersey on September 19, with additional amendments made during each meeting (discussion following). Some of the major revisions to the models include:

- Each state will have the authority to certify reinsurers, or a commissioner has the authority to recognize the certification issued by another NAIC-accredited state. This eliminates the need for a reinsurer to be evaluated by each and every state, but preserves a commissioner's right to do so.

- Reinsurers are subject to certain criteria in order to be eligible for certification, as well as ongoing requirements in order to maintain certification. Examples of evaluation criteria include, but are not limited to, financial strength, timely claims payment history, and the requirement that a reinsurer be domiciled and licensed in a "qualified jurisdiction."

- Each state may evaluate a non-U.S. jurisdiction in order to determine if it is a "qualified jurisdiction." The state may also defer to an NAIC list of recommended qualified jurisdictions.

- A certified reinsurer will be eligible for collateral reduction with respect to contracts entered into or renewed subsequent to certification [Note: clarification added in September 19 amendments]. A state will evaluate a reinsurer that applies for certification, and will assign a rating based on the evaluation. A certified reinsurer will be required to post collateral in an amount that corresponds with its assigned rating (0%, 10%, 20%, 50%, 75% or 100%), in order for a U.S. ceding insurer to be allowed full credit for the reinsurance ceded. Note: in the July 26 revisions, the collateral/rating matrix was changed with regard to companies with A- financial strength ratings, and a new Secure 4 tier was added for A- rating at 50% collateral.

- A certified reinsurer is allowed to utilize a multiple-beneficiary trust account for the purposes of securing its obligations to U.S. ceding insurers, but it must be separate from any existing multiple-beneficiary trust account.

- Proportional credit will still be permitted if there is insufficient security provided by a certified reinsurer. Specific provisions are also included to address a change in, or revocation of, the certified reinsurer's status.

- Contracts entered into by certified reinsurers are subject to certain mandatory contract clauses in order for a U.S. ceding insurer to be allowed credit for the reinsurance ceded.

- Certified reinsurers are subject to additional filing requirements, including but not limited to new forms CR-1, CR-F and CR-S.

- The revised models also include proposed changes with respect to the trusteed surplus requirement for a multiple-beneficiary trust account maintained by an assuming insurer in run-off (Tawa proposal).

- Finally, technical amendments were incorporated into the models revising language that had grown outdated and needed updating.

On September 19, 2011, both the Task Force and Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted additional revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Models, but the amendments made during this meeting were not exposed for a public comment period. However, each of the revisions addressed issues that had been substantively debated by both the Task Force and interested parties over the previous years during discussions regarding the Framework and proposed federal legislation, as well as the revisions to the models. These revisions can be summarized as follows:

- Prospective Application. The Task Force adopted an amendment intended for clarification and to close a perceived loophole with respect to the effective date of the revised reinsurance collateral requirements, and to confirm that any potential collateral reductions would be phased-in as any future reductions would be done on a prospective basis and any prior liabilities would remain secured at 100% collateral.

- PCI/RAA Compromise. The Task Force adopted amendments related to a compromise proposal submitted by the Property Casualty Insurers Association of America ("PCI") and the Reinsurance Association of America ("RAA") regarding 4 important issues: (1) 30-day comment period on application for certified reinsurer status; (2) slow payment analysis of reinsurers; (3) financial statement reporting requirements for certified reinsurers and applicants for certification; and (4) disclosure of reinsurance counterparty information on new forms CR-S and CR-F. The specific amendments adopted as part of the PCI/RAA compromise include.

    1. Information will be provided with respect to how interested parties may specifically respond/comment on applications for certified reinsurers during a 30-day notice period. However, this should not trigger any Administrative Procedures Act requirements;

    2. The reputation of the certified reinsurer for prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements will now be based specifically on an analysis of cedents' Schedule F reporting of overdue reinsurance recoverables, and may increase collateral requirements in certain specified situations;

3. Certified Reinsurers must submit audited financial statements, and, with the permission of the state insurance commissioner, audited IFRS statements with reconciliation to U.S. GAAP certified by an officer of the company are acceptable;

4. Certified reinsurers must submit Forms CR-S or CR-F, at a level of detail in accordance with instructions to be developed by the NAIC.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

- Federal v. State Implementation. The Framework recommended implementation through federal legislation in order to best preserve and improve state-based regulation of reinsurance, ensure timely and uniform implementation of this legislation throughout all NAIC member jurisdictions, and as a more comprehensive alternative to related federal legislation. The NAIC was unable to find congressional sponsorship for this proposed federal legislation. The Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act, which became effective July 21, 2011, preempts the extraterritorial application of state credit for reinsurance law, and now permits states to proceed forward with reinsurance collateral reforms on an individual basis if they are accredited.

- Federal Insurance Office. The Dodd-Frank Act established the FIO to receive information on the insurance sector from the NAIC and enter into binding "covered agreements" with international bodies. It is widely understood that reinsurance collateral may be an initial subject of these agreements. The Dodd Frank Act allows the office in Treasury to preempt a state insurance measure to the extent that it (1) results in less favorable treatment of a non-U.S. insurer domiciled in a foreign jurisdiction that is subject to a covered agreement than a U.S. insurer domiciled, licensed, admitted, or otherwise authorized in that state; and (2) is inconsistent with such covered agreement.

- Individual State Initiatives. Some states have begun moving forward with individual state-based reinsurance collateral reforms. Florida adopted changes to its credit for reinsurance laws and regulations in 2007 and 2008 respectively, New York adopted similar changes in November 2010, and New Jersey and Indiana recently enacted similar legislation as well. In addition, bills have been discussed in Illinois, Texas and Louisiana, as well as other states. In response, the NAIC Plenary approved the Recommendations Regarding Key Elements of the Reinsurance Framework for Accreditation Purposes in December 2010.

- Requirements for Certified Reinsurers. The Task Force addressed what requirements an assuming insurer must meet in order to be approved as a certified reinsurer, and the specific information that certified reinsurers should be required to file, including questions regarding proposed schedules CR-F and CR-S as well as financial statements.

- Reciprocity. The NAIC Reinsurance Supervision Review Department (RSRD) Proposal in 2007 proposed a mutual recognition framework that would take into consideration the reciprocal treatment of non-U.S. jurisdictions. At the request of interested parties, the NAIC Legal Division issued a memorandum addressing the constitutional issues of the mutual recognition framework on July 15, 2008. The Framework adopted in December of 2008 provided that the reciprocal treatment of non-U.S. reinsurers would be a factor to be considered in the review of non-U.S. jurisdictions. The model regulation considers mutual recognition to be a factor in reviewing non-U.S. jurisdictions.

- Concentration of Risk. The Task Force considered restrictions to limit concentration risk by a ceding insurer to any reinsurer or group of reinsurers. The Task Force will make a referral to E Committee to address this issue.

- Life Reinsurance & Other Long Tail Contracts. The Task Force considered whether special limitations should be placed on life insurance and other longer tail-types of reinsurance agreements. The Reinsurance Framework Proposal originally included a 2-year moratorium on collateral reduction to life contracts, but the revised models no longer include this distinction.

- Reconciliation to U.S. GAAP. The Task Force considered the accounting and reporting basis that would be applicable to financial statements filed by certified reinsurers. Earlier versions of the models required financial statements to be filed on an audited U.S. GAAP basis, or on an IFRS basis with an audited reconciliation to U.S. GAAP for equity and net income. At the September 19 meetings, an amendment was adopted to allow audited IFRS statements with reconciliation to U.S. GAAP certified by an officer of the company, with the permission of the state insurance commissioner.

- Prospective Application of Revisions. During the course of drafting the Framework and model revisions, the Task Force has consistently taken the position that any potential collateral reductions would be phased-in as any future reductions would be done on a prospective basis and any prior liabilities would remain secured at 100% collateral. Property and Casualty ceding insurers were strongly opposed to permitting reinsurance collateral under existing reinsurance agreements to be reduced or eliminated. Reinsurers and some ceding insurers would like to be able to amend existing agreements to reduce collateral requirements. At the September 19, 2011 meetings the Task Force adopted an amendment intended for clarification and to close a perceived loophole with respect to the effective date of the revised reinsurance collateral requirements.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

In December 2010, the NAIC Plenary approved the Recommendations Regarding Key Elements of the Reinsurance Framework for Accreditation Purposes (Accreditation Recommendations), which are the key elements of the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework that should be considered in reviewing any individual state initiatives with respect to reinsurance collateral reduction reforms. The Accreditation Recommendations were intended as an interim solution to guide the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee and the NAIC during the transition period between adoption of the Framework and proposed revisions to the reinsurance models.

The revisions, if adopted, would become part of the Credit for Reinsurance Models, and would be considered by the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee as an amendment to the existing standard for Reinsurance Ceded. It should also be noted that the proposed revisions to the models would not require a state to reduce its reinsurance collateral requirements. It is further the recommendation of the Task Force that it is necessary to expeditiously modify these standards in accordance with the Procedure for the Adoption of Additional Model Laws, Regulations or Standards for Accreditation.

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated pursuant to the authority granted by Sections [insert applicable section number] and [insert applicable section number] of the Insurance Code.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to set forth rules and procedural requirements that the commissioner deems necessary to carry out the provisions of the [cite state law equivalent to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] (the Act). The actions and information required by this regulation are declared to be necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of the ceding insurers in this state.

Section 3. Severability

If any provision of this regulation, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the remainder of the regulation, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected.

Section 4. Credit for Reinsurance—Reinsurer Licensed in this State

Pursuant to Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 2A of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] the commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that was licensed in this state as of any date on which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed.

Drafting Note: "Statutory financial statement" means quarterly, annual or other financial statements required by state law. The drafters conditioned the recognition of credit on matters reported, existing or occurring "as of any date on which" statutory financial statement credit is claimed or a financial statement is filed to ensure that requisite conditions for credit exist at the time the credit is claimed or reported and that the conditions remained satisfied at all times thereafter until information reported in one statement was replaced by information reported in a subsequently filed statement. Insurers are to satisfy requisite conditions at the time credit is first taken and shall maintain compliance at all times thereafter in which the credit is taken. The drafters believe the requirements to be perpetual, not periodic.

Section 5. Credit for Reinsurance—Accredited Reinsurers

A. Pursuant to Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 2B of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] the commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that is accredited as a reinsurer in this state as of the date on which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed. An accredited reinsurer must:

(1) File a properly executed Form AR-1 (attached as an exhibit to this regulation) as evidence of its submission to this state's jurisdiction and to this state's authority to examine its books and records;

(2) File with the commissioner a certified copy of a certificate of authority or other acceptable evidence that it is licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state, or, in the case of a U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer, is entered through and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state;

(3) File annually with the commissioner a copy of its annual statement filed with the insurance department of its state of domicile or, in the case of an alien assuming insurer, with the state through which it is entered and in which it is licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance, and a copy of its most recent audited financial statement; and

(4) Maintain a surplus as regards policyholders in an amount not less than $20,000,000, or obtain the affirmative approval of the commissioner upon a finding that it has adequate financial capacity to meet its reinsurance obligations and is otherwise qualified to assume reinsurance from domestic insurers.

B. If the commissioner determines that the assuming insurer has failed to meet or maintain any of these qualifications, the commissioner may upon written notice and opportunity for hearing, suspend or revoke the accreditation. Credit shall not be allowed a domestic ceding insurer under this section if the assuming insurer's accreditation has been revoked by the commissioner, or if the reinsurance was ceded while the assuming insurer's accreditation was under suspension by the commissioner.

Section 6. Credit for Reinsurance—Reinsurer Domiciled in Another State

A. Pursuant to Section [cite state law equivalent to Section 2C of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] the commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that as of any date on which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed:

(1) Is domiciled in (or, in the case of a U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer, is entered through) a state that employs standards regarding credit for reinsurance substantially similar to those applicable under the Act and this regulation;

Drafting Note: This subsection is intended to apply to an assuming insurer domiciled in (or, in the case of the U.S. branch of an alien assuming insurer, entered through) another state only if the assuming insurer also is licensed in that state and is therefore subject to the application of the state's credit for reinsurance standards as the result of the imposition of licensure requirements and also regulatory oversight and examination as a domiciliary company.

(2) Maintains a surplus as regards policyholders in an amount not less than $20,000,000; and

(3) Files a properly executed Form AR-1 with the commissioner as evidence of its submission to this state's authority to examine its books and records.

B. The provisions of this section relating to surplus as regards policyholders shall not apply to reinsurance ceded and assumed pursuant to pooling arrangements among insurers in the same holding company system. As used in this section, "substantially similar" standards means credit for reinsurance standards that the commissioner determines equal or exceed the standards of the Act and this regulation.

Section 7. Credit for Reinsurance—Reinsurers Maintaining Trust Funds

A. Pursuant to Section [cite state law equivalent to Section 2D of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] the commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer which, as of any date on which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed, and thereafter for so long as credit for reinsurance is claimed, maintains a trust fund in an amount prescribed below in a qualified U.S. financial institution as defined in Section [cite state law equivalent to Section 4B of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] of the Act, for the payment of the valid claims of its U.S. domiciled ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest. The assuming insurer shall report annually to the commissioner substantially the same information as that required to be reported on the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) annual statement form by licensed insurers, to enable the commissioner to determine the sufficiency of the trust fund.

B. The following requirements apply to the following categories of assuming insurer:

(1) The trust fund for a single assuming insurer shall consist of funds in trust in an amount not less than the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. domiciled insurers, and in addition, the assuming insurer shall maintain a trusteed surplus of not less than $20,000,000, except as provided in Paragraph (2) of this subsection.

(2) At any time after the assuming insurer has permanently discontinued underwriting new business secured by the trust for at least three full years, the commissioner with principal regulatory oversight of the trust may authorize a reduction in the required trusteed surplus, but only after a finding, based on an assessment of the risk, that the new required surplus level is adequate for the protection of U.S. ceding insurers, policyholders and claimants in light of reasonably foreseeable adverse loss development. The risk assessment may involve an actuarial review, including an independent analysis of reserves and cash flows, and shall consider all material risk factors, including when applicable the lines of business involved, the stability of the incurred loss estimates and the effect of the surplus requirements on the assuming insurer's liquidity or solvency. The minimum required trusteed surplus may not be reduced to an amount less than thirty percent (30%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers covered by the trust.

(3) (a) The trust fund for a group including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters shall consist of:

(ii) For reinsurance ceded under reinsurance agreements with an inception date on or before December 31, 1992, and not amended or renewed after that date, notwithstanding the other provisions of this regulation, funds in trust in an amount not less than the respective underwriters' several insurance and reinsurance liabilities attributable to business written in the United States; and

(iii) In addition to these trusts, the group shall maintain a trusteed surplus of which $100,000,000 shall be held jointly for the benefit of the U.S. domiciled ceding insurers of any member of the group for all the years of account.

(b) The incorporated members of the group shall not be engaged in any business other than underwriting as a member of the group and shall be subject to the same level of regulation and solvency control by the group's domiciliary regulator as are the unincorporated members. The group shall, within ninety (90) days after its financial statements are due to be filed with the group's domiciliary regulator, provide to the commissioner:

(i) An annual certification by the group's domiciliary regulator of the solvency of each underwriter member of the group; or

(ii) If a certification is unavailable, a financial statement, prepared by independent public accountants, of each underwriter member of the group.

(4) (a) The trust fund for a group of incorporated insurers under common administration, whose members possess aggregate policyholders surplus of $10,000,000,000 (calculated and reported in substantially the same manner as prescribed by the annual statement instructions and Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual of the NAIC) and which has continuously transacted an insurance business outside the United States for at least three (3) years immediately prior to making application for accreditation, shall:

(i) Consist of funds in trust in an amount not less than the assuming insurers' several liabilities attributable to business ceded by U.S. domiciled ceding insurers to any members of the group pursuant to reinsurance contracts issued in the name of such group;

(ii) Maintain a joint trusteed surplus of which $100,000,000 shall be held jointly for the benefit of U.S. domiciled ceding insurers of any member of the group; and

(iii) File a properly executed Form AR-1 as evidence of the submission to this state's authority to examine the books and records of any of its members and shall certify that any member examined will bear the expense of any such examination.

(b) Within ninety (90) days after the statements are due to be filed with the group's domiciliary regulator, the group shall file with the commissioner an annual certification of each underwriter member's solvency by the member's domiciliary regulators, and financial statements, prepared by independent public accountants, of each underwriter member of the group.

C. (1) Credit for reinsurance shall not be granted unless the form of the trust and any amendments to the trust have been approved by either the commissioner of the state where the trust is domiciled or the commissioner of another state who, pursuant to the terms of the trust instrument, has accepted responsibility for regulatory oversight of the trust. The form of the trust and any trust amendments also shall be filed with the commissioner of every state in which the ceding insurer beneficiaries of the trust are domiciled. The trust instrument shall provide that:

(a) Contested claims shall be valid and enforceable out of funds in trust to the extent remaining unsatisfied thirty (30) days after entry of the final order of any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States;

(b) Legal title to the assets of the trust shall be vested in the trustee for the benefit of the grantor's U.S. ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest;

(c) The trust shall be subject to examination as determined by the commissioner;

(d) The trust shall remain in effect for as long as the assuming insurer, or any member or former member of a group of insurers, shall have outstanding obligations under reinsurance agreements subject to the trust; and

(e) No later than February 28 of each year the trustee of the trust shall report to the commissioner in writing setting forth the balance in the trust and listing the trust's investments at the preceding year-end, and shall certify the date of termination of the trust, if so planned, or certify that the trust shall not expire prior to the following December 31.

(2) (a) Notwithstanding any other provisions in the trust instrument, if the trust fund is inadequate because it contains an amount less than the amount required by this subsection or if the grantor of the trust has been declared insolvent or placed into receivership, rehabilitation, liquidation or similar proceedings under the laws of its state or country of domicile, the trustee shall comply with an order of the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or with an order of a court of competent jurisdiction directing the trustee to transfer to the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust or other designated receiver all of the assets of the trust fund.

(b) The assets shall be distributed by and claims shall be filed with and valued by the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust in accordance with the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled applicable to the liquidation of domestic insurance companies.

(c) If the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust determines that the assets of the trust fund or any part thereof are not necessary to satisfy the claims of the U.S. beneficiaries of the trust, the commissioner with regulatory oversight over the trust shall return the assets, or any part thereof, to the trustee for distribution in accordance with the trust agreement.

(d) The grantor shall waive any right otherwise available to it under U.S. law that is inconsistent with this provision.

D. For purposes of this section, the term "liabilities" shall mean the assuming insurer's gross liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. domiciled insurers excluding liabilities that are otherwise secured by acceptable means, and, shall include:

(1) For business ceded by domestic insurers authorized to write accident and health, and property and casualty insurance:

(a) Losses and allocated loss expenses paid by the ceding insurer, recoverable from the assuming insurer;

(b) Reserves for losses reported and outstanding;

(c) Reserves for losses incurred but not reported;

(d) Reserves for allocated loss expenses; and

(e) Unearned premiums.

(2) For business ceded by domestic insurers authorized to write life, health and annuity insurance:

(a) Aggregate reserves for life policies and contracts net of policy loans and net due and deferred premiums;

(b) Aggregate reserves for accident and health policies;

(c) Deposit funds and other liabilities without life or disability contingencies; and

(d) Liabilities for policy and contract claims.

E. Assets deposited in trusts established pursuant to [cite state law equivalent to Section 2 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] and this section shall be valued according to their current fair market value and shall consist only of cash in U.S. dollars, certificates of deposit issued by a U.S. financial institution as defined in [cite state law equivalent of Section 4A of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], clean, irrevocable, unconditional and "evergreen" letters of credit issued or confirmed by a qualified U.S. financial institution, as defined in [cite state law equivalent of Section 4A of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], and investments of the type specified in this subsection, but investments in or issued by an entity controlling, controlled by or under common control with either the grantor or beneficiary of the trust shall not exceed five percent (5%) of total investments. No more than twenty percent (20%) of the total of the investments in the trust may be foreign investments authorized under Paragraphs (1)(e), (3), (6)(b) or (7) of this subsection, and no more than ten percent (10%) of the total of the investments in the trust may be securities denominated in foreign currencies. For purposes of applying the preceding sentence, a depository receipt denominated in U.S. dollars and representing rights conferred by a foreign security shall be classified as a foreign investment denominated in a foreign currency. The assets of a trust established to satisfy the requirements of Section [cite state law equivalent to Section 2 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] shall be invested only as follows:

(1) Government obligations that are not in default as to principal or interest, that are valid and legally authorized and that are issued, assumed or guaranteed by:

(a) The United States or by any agency or instrumentality of the United States;

(b) A state of the United States;

(c) A territory, possession or other governmental unit of the United States;

(d) An agency or instrumentality of a governmental unit referred to in Subparagraphs (b) and (c) of this paragraph if the obligations shall be by law (statutory or otherwise) payable, as to both principal and interest, from taxes levied or by law required to be levied or from adequate special revenues pledged or otherwise appropriated or by law required to be provided for making these payments, but shall not be obligations eligible for investment under this paragraph if payable solely out of special assessments on properties benefited by local improvements; or

(e) The government of any other country that is a member of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and whose government obligations are rated A or higher, or the equivalent, by a rating agency recognized by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC;

(2) Obligations that are issued in the United States, or that are dollar denominated and issued in a non-U.S. market, by a solvent U.S. institution (other than an insurance company) or that are assumed or guaranteed by a solvent U.S. institution (other than an insurance company) and that are not in default as to principal or interest if the obligations:

(a) Are rated A or higher (or the equivalent) by a securities rating agency recognized by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC, or if not so rated, are similar in structure and other material respects to other obligations of the same institution that are so rated;

(b) Are insured by at least one authorized insurer (other than the investing insurer or a parent, subsidiary or affiliate of the investing insurer) licensed to insure obligations in this state and, after considering the insurance, are rated AAA (or the equivalent) by a securities rating agency recognized by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC; or

(c) Have been designated as Class One or Class Two by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC;

(3) Obligations issued, assumed or guaranteed by a solvent non-U.S. institution chartered in a country that is a member of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development or obligations of U.S. corporations issued in a non-U.S. currency, provided that in either case the obligations are rated A or higher, or the equivalent, by a rating agency recognized by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC;

(4) An investment made pursuant to the provisions of Paragraph (1), (2) or (3) of this subsection shall be subject to the following additional limitations:

(a) An investment in or loan upon the obligations of an institution other than an institution that issues mortgage-related securities shall not exceed five percent (5%) of the assets of the trust;

(b) An investment in any one mortgage-related security shall not exceed five percent (5%) of the assets of the trust;

(c) The aggregate total investment in mortgage-related securities shall not exceed twenty-five percent (25%) of the assets of the trust; and

(d) Preferred or guaranteed shares issued or guaranteed by a solvent U.S. institution are permissible investments if all of the institution's obligations are eligible as investments under Paragraphs (2)(a) and (2)(c) of this subsection, but shall not exceed two percent (2%) of the assets of the trust.

(5) As used in this regulation:

(a) "Mortgage-related security" means an obligation that is rated AA or higher (or the equivalent) by a securities rating agency recognized by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC and that either:

(i) Represents ownership of one or more promissory notes or certificates of interest or participation in the notes (including any rights designed to assure servicing of, or the receipt or timeliness of receipt by the holders of the notes, certificates, or participation of amounts payable under, the notes, certificates or participation), that:

(I) Are directly secured by a first lien on a single parcel of real estate, including stock allocated to a dwelling unit in a residential cooperative housing corporation, upon which is located a dwelling or mixed residential and commercial structure, or on a residential manufactured home as defined in 42 U.S.C. Section 5402(6), whether the manufactured home is considered real or personal property under the laws of the state in which it is located; and

(II) Were originated by a savings and loan association, savings bank, commercial bank, credit union, insurance company, or similar institution that is supervised and examined by a federal or state housing authority, or by a mortgagee approved by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development pursuant to 12 U.S.C. Sections 1709 and 1715b, or, where the notes involve a lien on the manufactured home, by an institution or by a financial institution approved for insurance by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development pursuant to 12 U.S.C. Section 1703; or

(ii) Is secured by one or more promissory notes or certificates of deposit or participations in the notes (with or without recourse to the insurer of the notes) and, by its terms, provides for payments of principal in relation to payments, or reasonable projections of payments, or notes meeting the requirements of Items (i)(I) and (i)(II) of this subsection;

(b) "Promissory note," when used in connection with a manufactured home, shall also include a loan, advance or credit sale as evidenced by a retail installment sales contract or other instrument.

(6) Equity interests

(a) Investments in common shares or partnership interests of a solvent U.S. institution are permissible if:

(i) Its obligations and preferred shares, if any, are eligible as investments under this subsection; and

(ii) The equity interests of the institution (except an insurance company) are registered on a national securities exchange as provided in the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. §§ 78a to 78kk or otherwise registered pursuant to that Act, and if otherwise registered, price quotations for them are furnished through a nationwide automated quotations system approved by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, or successor organization. A trust shall not invest in equity interests under this paragraph an amount exceeding one percent (1%) of the assets of the trust even though the equity interests are not so registered and are not issued by an insurance company;

(b) Investments in common shares of a solvent institution organized under the laws of a country that is a member of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, if:

(i) All its obligations are rated A or higher, or the equivalent, by a rating agency recognized by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC; and

(ii) The equity interests of the institution are registered on a securities exchange regulated by the government of a country that is a member of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development;

(c) An investment in or loan upon any one institution's outstanding equity interests shall not exceed one percent (1%) of the assets of the trust. The cost of an investment in equity interests made pursuant to this paragraph, when added to the aggregate cost of other investments in equity interests then held pursuant to this paragraph, shall not exceed ten percent (10%) of the assets in the trust;

(7) Obligations issued, assumed or guaranteed by a multinational development bank, provided the obligations are rated A or higher, or the equivalent, by a rating agency recognized by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC.

Drafting Note: Banks such as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, Inter-American Development Bank, Asian Development Bank, African Development Bank, International Finance Corporation are intended to qualify under this section.

(8) Investment companies

(a) Securities of an investment company registered pursuant to the Investment Company Act of 1940, 15 U.S.C. § 80a, are permissible investments if the investment company:

(i) Invests at least ninety percent (90%) of its assets in the types of securities that qualify as an investment under Paragraph (1), (2) or (3) of this subsection or invests in securities that are determined by the commissioner to be substantively similar to the types of securities set forth in Paragraph (1), (2) or (3) of this subsection; or

(ii) Invests at least ninety percent (90%) of its assets in the types of equity interests that qualify as an investment under Paragraph (6)(a) of this subsection;

(b) Investments made by a trust in investment companies under this paragraph shall not exceed the following limitations:

(i) An investment in an investment company qualifying under Subparagraph (a)(i) of this paragraph shall not exceed ten percent (10%) of the assets in the trust and the aggregate amount of investment in qualifying investment companies shall not exceed twenty-five percent (25%) of the assets in the trust; and

(ii) Investments in an investment company qualifying under Subparagraph (a)(ii) of this paragraph shall not exceed five percent (5%) of the assets in the trust and the aggregate amount of investment in qualifying investment companies shall be included when calculating the permissible aggregate value of equity interests pursuant to Paragraph (6)(a) of this subsection.

(9) Letters of Credit

(a) In order for a letter of credit to qualify as an asset of the trust, the trustee shall have the right and the obligation pursuant to the deed of trust or some other binding agreement (as duly approved by the commissioner), to immediately draw down the full amount of the letter of credit and hold the proceeds in trust for the beneficiaries of the trust if the letter of credit will otherwise expire without being renewed or replaced.

(b) The trust agreement shall provide that the trustee shall be liable for its negligence, willful misconduct or lack of good faith. The failure of the trustee to draw against the letter of credit in circumstances where such draw would be required shall be deemed to be negligence and/or willful misconduct.

F. A specific security provided to a ceding insurer by an assuming insurer pursuant to Section 11 of this regulation shall be applied, until exhausted, to the payment of liabilities of the assuming insurer to the ceding insurer holding the specific security prior to, and as a condition precedent for, presentation of a claim by the ceding insurer for payment by a trustee of a trust established by the assuming insurer pursuant to this section.

Section 8. Credit for Reinsurance—Certified Reinsurers

A. Pursuant to [cite state law equivalent of Section 2E of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], the commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that has been certified as a reinsurer in this state at all times for which statutory financial statement credit for reinsurance is claimed under this section. The credit allowed shall be based upon the security held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer in accordance with a rating assigned to the certified reinsurer by the commissioner. The security shall be in a form consistent with the provisions of [cite state law equivalent of Section 2E and Section 3 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] and 12, 13 or 14 of this regulation. The amount of security required in order for full credit to be allowed shall correspond with the following requirements:

Ratings	Security Required
Secure – 1	0%
Secure – 2	10%
Secure – 3	20%
Secure – 4	50%
Secure – 5	75%
Vulnerable – 6	100%

(2) Affiliated reinsurance transactions shall receive the same opportunity for reduced security requirements as all other reinsurance transactions.

(3) The commissioner shall require the certified reinsurer to post one hundred percent (100%), for the benefit of the ceding insurer or its estate, security upon the entry of an order of rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation against the ceding insurer.

(4) In order to facilitate the prompt payment of claims, a certified reinsurer shall not be required to post security for catastrophe recoverables for a period of one year from the date of the first instance of a liability reserve entry by the ceding company as a result of a loss from a catastrophic occurrence as recognized by the commissioner. The one year deferral period is contingent upon the certified reinsurer continuing to pay claims in a timely manner. Reinsurance recoverables for only the following lines of business as reported on the NAIC annual financial statement related specifically to the catastrophic occurrence will be included in the deferral:

(a) Line 1: Fire
(b) Line 2: Allied Lines
(c) Line 3: Farmowners multiple peril
(d) Line 4: Homeowners multiple peril
(e) Line 5: Commercial multiple peril
(f) Line 9: Inland Marine
(g) Line 12: Earthquake
(h) Line 21: Auto physical damage

(5) Credit for reinsurance under this section shall apply only to reinsurance contracts entered into or renewed on or after the effective date of the certification of the assuming insurer. Any reinsurance contract entered into prior to the effective date of the certification of the assuming insurer that is subsequently amended after the effective date of the certification of the assuming insurer, or a new reinsurance contract, covering any risk for which collateral was provided previously, shall only be subject to this section with respect to losses incurred and reserves reported from and after the effective date of the amendment or new contract.

(6) Nothing in this section shall prohibit the parties to a reinsurance agreement from agreeing to provisions establishing security requirements that exceed the minimum security requirements established for certified reinsurers under this section.

B. Certification Procedure.

(1) The commissioner shall post notice on the insurance department's website promptly upon receipt of any application for certification, including instructions on how members of the public may respond to the application. The commissioner may not take final action on the application until at least thirty (30) days after posting the notice required by this paragraph.

Drafting Note: States that do not wish to make the internet the required mechanism for providing public notice should modify this provision accordingly. This provision was intended to provide a less formal notice requirement than is typically called for under state Administrative Procedure Acts.

(2) The commissioner shall issue written notice to an assuming insurer that has made application and been approved as a certified reinsurer. Included in such notice shall be the rating assigned the certified reinsurer in accordance with Subsection A of this section. The commissioner shall publish a list of all certified reinsurers and their ratings.

(3) In order to be eligible for certification, the assuming insurer shall meet the following requirements:

(a) The assuming insurer must be domiciled and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in a Qualified Jurisdiction, as determined by the commissioner pursuant to Subsection C of this section.

(b) The assuming insurer must maintain capital and surplus, or its equivalent, of no less than $250,000,000 calculated in accordance with Subparagraph (4)(h) of this subsection. This requirement may also be satisfied by an association including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters having minimum capital and surplus equivalents (net of liabilities) of at least $250,000,000 and a central fund containing a balance of at least $250,000,000.

(c) The assuming insurer must maintain financial strength ratings from two or more rating agencies deemed acceptable by the commissioner. These ratings shall be based on interactive communication between the rating agency and the assuming insurer and shall not be based solely on publicly available information. These financial strength ratings will be one factor used by the commissioner in determining the rating that is assigned to the assuming insurer. Acceptable rating agencies include the following:

(i) Standard & Poor's;
(ii) Moody's Investors Service;
(iii) Fitch Ratings;
(iv) A.M. Best Company; or
(v) Any other Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organization.

(d) The certified reinsurer must comply with any other requirements reasonably imposed by the commissioner.

(4) Each certified reinsurer shall be rated on a legal entity basis, with due consideration being given to the group rating where appropriate, except that an association including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters that has been approved to do business as a single certified reinsurer may be evaluated on the basis of its group rating. Factors that may be considered as part of the evaluation process include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) The certified reinsurer's financial strength rating from an acceptable rating agency. The maximum rating that a certified reinsurer may be assigned will correspond to its financial strength rating as outlined in the table below. The commissioner shall use the lowest financial strength rating received from an approved rating agency in establishing the maximum rating of a certified reinsurer. A failure to obtain or maintain at least two financial strength ratings from acceptable rating agencies will result in loss of eligibility for certification:

Ratings	Best	S&P	Moody's	Fitch
Secure – 1	A++	AAA	Aaa	AAA
Secure – 2	A+	AA+, AA, AA-	Aa1, Aa2, Aa3	AA+, AA, AA-
Secure – 3	A	A+, A	A1, A2	A+, A
Secure – 4	A-	A-	A3	A-
Secure – 5	B++, B+	BBB+, BBB, BBB-	Baa1, Baa2, Baa3	BBB+, BBB, BBB-
Vulnerable – 6	B, B-C++, C+, C, C-, D, E, F	BB+, BB, BB-, B+, B, B-, CCC, CC, C, D, R	Ba1, Ba2, Ba3, B1, B2, B3, Caa, Ca, C	BB+, BB, BB-, B+, B, B-, CCC+, CC, CCC-, DD

(b) The business practices of the certified reinsurer in dealing with its ceding insurers, including its record of compliance with reinsurance contractual terms and obligations;

(c) For certified reinsurers domiciled in the U.S., a review of the most recent applicable NAIC Annual Statement Blank, either Schedule F (for property/casualty reinsurers) or Schedule S (for life and health reinsurers);

(d) For certified reinsurers not domiciled in the U.S., a review annually of Form CR-F (for property/casualty reinsurers) or Form CR-S (for life and health reinsurers) (attached as exhibits to this regulation);

(e) The reputation of the certified reinsurer for prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements, based on an analysis of ceding insurers' Schedule F reporting of overdue reinsurance recoverables, including the proportion of obligations that are more than ninety (90) days past due or are in dispute, with specific attention given to obligations payable to companies that are in administrative supervision or receivership;

(f) Regulatory actions against the certified reinsurer;

(g) The report of the independent auditor on the financial statements of the insurance enterprise, on the basis described in Subparagraph (h) below;

(h) For certified reinsurers not domiciled in the U.S., audited financial statements, regulatory filings, and actuarial opinion (as filed with the non-U.S. jurisdiction supervisor, with a translation into English). Upon the initial application for certification, the commissioner will consider audited financial statements for the last two (2) years filed with its non-U.S. jurisdiction supervisor;

(i) The liquidation priority of obligations to a ceding insurer in the certified reinsurer's domiciliary jurisdiction in the context of an insolvency proceeding;

(j) A certified reinsurer's participation in any solvent scheme of arrangement, or similar procedure, which involves U.S. ceding insurers. The commissioner shall receive prior notice from a certified reinsurer that proposes participation by the certified reinsurer in a solvent scheme of arrangement; and

(k) Any other information deemed relevant by the commissioner.

(5) Based on the analysis conducted under Subparagraph (4)(e) of a certified reinsurer's reputation for prompt payment of claims, the commissioner may make appropriate adjustments in the security the certified reinsurer is required to post to protect its liabilities to U.S. ceding insurers, provided that the commissioner shall, at a minimum, increase the security the certified reinsurer is required to post by one rating level under Subparagraph (4)(a) if the commissioner finds that:

(a) More than fifteen percent (15%) of the certified reinsurer's ceding insurance clients have overdue reinsurance recoverables on paid losses of ninety (90) days or more which are not in dispute and which exceed $100,000 for each cedent; or

(b) The aggregate amount of reinsurance recoverables on paid losses which are not in dispute that are overdue by ninety (90) days or more exceeds $50,000,000.

(6) The assuming insurer must submit a properly executed Form CR-1 (attached as an exhibit to this regulation) as evidence of its submission to the jurisdiction of this state, appointment of the commissioner as an agent for service of process in this state, and agreement to provide security for one hundred percent (100%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded by U.S. ceding insurers if it resists enforcement of a final U.S. judgment. The commissioner shall not certify any assuming insurer that is domiciled in a jurisdiction that the commissioner has determined does not adequately and promptly enforce final U.S. judgments or arbitration awards.

(7) The certified reinsurer must agree to meet applicable information filing requirements as determined by the commissioner, both with respect to an initial application for certification and on an ongoing basis. All information submitted by certified reinsurers which are not otherwise public information subject to disclosure shall be exempted from disclosure under [cite state law equivalent of Freedom of Information Act] and shall be withheld from public disclosure. The applicable information filing requirements are, as follows:

(a) Notification within ten (10) days of any regulatory actions taken against the certified reinsurer, any change in the provisions of its domiciliary license or any change in rating by an approved rating agency, including a statement describing such changes and the reasons therefore;

(b) Annually, Form CR-F or CR-S, as applicable [per the instructions to be developed as an exhibit to this model];

(c) Annually, the report of the independent auditor on the financial statements of the insurance enterprise, on the basis described in Subsection (d) below;

(d) Annually, the most recent audited financial statements, regulatory filings, and actuarial opinion (as filed with the certified reinsurer's supervisor, with a translation into English). Upon the initial certification, audited financial statements for the last two (2) years filed with the certified reinsurer's supervisor;

(e) At least annually, an updated list of all disputed and overdue reinsurance claims regarding reinsurance assumed from U.S. domestic ceding insurers;

(f) A certification from the certified reinsurer's domestic regulator that the certified reinsurer is in good standing and maintains capital in excess of the jurisdiction's highest regulatory action level; and

(g) Any other information that the commissioner may reasonably require.

(8) Change in Rating or Revocation of Certification.

(a) In the case of a downgrade by a rating agency or other disqualifying circumstance, the commissioner shall upon written notice assign a new rating to the certified reinsurer in accordance with the requirements of Subparagraph (4)(a).

(b) The commissioner shall have the authority to suspend, revoke, or otherwise modify a certified reinsurer's certification at any time if the certified reinsurer fails to meet its obligations or security requirements under this section, or if other financial or operating results of the certified reinsurer, or documented significant delays in payment by the certified reinsurer, lead the commissioner to reconsider the certified reinsurer's ability or willingness to meet its contractual obligations.

(c) If the rating of a certified reinsurer is upgraded by the commissioner, the certified reinsurer may meet the security requirements applicable to its new rating on a prospective basis, but the commissioner shall require the certified reinsurer to post security under the previously applicable security requirements as to all contracts in force on or before the effective date of the upgraded rating. If the rating of a certified reinsurer is downgraded by the commissioner, the commissioner shall require the certified reinsurer to meet the security requirements applicable to its new rating for all business it has assumed as a certified reinsurer.

(d) Upon revocation of the certification of a certified reinsurer by the commissioner, the assuming insurer shall be required to post security in accordance with Section 11 in order for the ceding insurer to continue to take credit for reinsurance ceded to the assuming insurer. If funds continue to be held in trust in accordance with Section 7, the commissioner may allow additional credit equal to the ceding insurer's pro rata share of such funds, discounted to reflect the risk of uncollectibility and anticipated expenses of trust administration. Notwithstanding the change of a certified reinsurer's rating or revocation of its certification, a domestic insurer that has ceded reinsurance to that certified reinsurer may not be denied credit for reinsurance for a period of three (3) months for all reinsurance ceded to that certified reinsurer, unless the reinsurance is found by the commissioner to be at high risk of uncollectibility.

C. Qualified Jurisdictions.

(1) If, upon conducting an evaluation under this section with respect to the reinsurance supervisory system of any non-U.S. assuming insurer, the commissioner determines that the jurisdiction qualifies to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the commissioner shall publish notice and evidence of such recognition in an appropriate manner. The commissioner may establish a procedure to withdraw recognition of those jurisdictions that are no longer qualified.

(2) In order to determine whether the domiciliary jurisdiction of a non-U.S. assuming insurer is eligible to be recognized as a qualified jurisdiction, the commissioner shall evaluate the reinsurance supervisory system of the non-U.S. jurisdiction, both initially and on an ongoing basis, and consider the rights, benefits and the extent of reciprocal recognition afforded by the non-U.S. jurisdiction to reinsurers licensed and domiciled in the U.S. The commissioner shall determine the appropriate approach for evaluating the qualifications of such jurisdictions, and create and publish a list of jurisdictions whose reinsurers may be approved by the commissioner as eligible for certification. A qualified jurisdiction must agree to share information and cooperate with the commissioner with respect to all certified reinsurers domiciled within that jurisdiction. Additional factors to be considered in determining whether to recognize a qualified jurisdiction, in the discretion of the commissioner, include but are not limited to the following:

(a) The framework under which the assuming insurer is regulated.

(b) The structure and authority of the domiciliary regulator with regard to solvency regulation requirements and financial surveillance.

(c) The substance of financial and operating standards for assuming insurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction.

(d) The form and substance of financial reports required to be filed or made publicly available by reinsurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction and the accounting principles used.

(e) The domiciliary regulator's willingness to cooperate with U.S. regulators in general and the commissioner in particular.

(f) The history of performance by assuming insurers in the domiciliary jurisdiction.

(g) Any documented evidence of substantial problems with the enforcement of final U.S. judgments in the domiciliary jurisdiction. A jurisdiction will not be considered to be a qualified jurisdiction if the commissioner has determined that it does not adequately and promptly enforce final U.S. judgments or arbitration awards.

(h) Any relevant international standards or guidance with respect to mutual recognition of reinsurance supervision adopted by the International Association of Insurance Supervisors or successor organization.

(i) Any other matters deemed relevant by the commissioner.

(3) A list of qualified jurisdictions shall be published through the NAIC Committee Process. The commissioner shall consider this list in determining qualified jurisdictions. If the commissioner approves a jurisdiction as qualified that does not appear on the list of qualified jurisdictions, the commissioner shall provide thoroughly documented justification with respect to the criteria provided under Subsection 8C(2)(a) to (i).

(4) U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program shall be recognized as qualified jurisdictions.

D. Recognition of Certification Issued by an NAIC Accredited Jurisdiction.

(1) If an applicant for certification has been certified as a reinsurer in an NAIC accredited jurisdiction, the commissioner has the discretion to defer to that jurisdiction's certification, and to defer to the rating assigned by that jurisdiction, if the assuming insurer submits a properly executed Form CR-1 and such additional information as the commissioner requires. The assuming insurer shall be considered to be a certified reinsurer in this state.

(2) Any change in the certified reinsurer's status or rating in the other jurisdiction shall apply automatically in this state as of the date it takes effect in the other jurisdiction. The certified reinsurer shall notify the commissioner of any change in its status or rating within 10 days after receiving notice of the change.

(3) The commissioner may withdraw recognition of the other jurisdiction's rating at any time and assign a new rating in accordance with Subsection B(8) of this section.

(4) The commissioner may withdraw recognition of the other jurisdiction's certification at any time, with written notice to the certified reinsurer. Unless the commissioner suspends or revokes the certified reinsurer's certification in accordance with Subsection B(8) of this section, the certified reinsurer's certification shall remain in good standing in this state for a period of three (3) months, which shall be extended if additional time is necessary to consider the assuming insurer's application for certification in this state.

E. Mandatory Funding Clause. In addition to the clauses required under Section 15, reinsurance contracts entered into or renewed under this section shall include a proper funding clause, which requires the certified reinsurer to provide and maintain security in an amount sufficient to avoid the imposition of any financial statement penalty on the ceding insurer under this section for reinsurance ceded to the certified reinsurer.

F. The commissioner shall comply with all reporting and notification requirements that may be established by the NAIC with respect to certified reinsurers and qualified jurisdictions.

Section 9. Credit for Reinsurance—Reciprocal Jurisdictions

A. Pursuant to [cite state law equivalent of Section 2F of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], the commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer that is licensed to write reinsurance by, and has its head office or is domiciled in, a Reciprocal Jurisdiction, and which meets the other requirements of this regulation.

B. A "Reciprocal Jurisdiction" is a jurisdiction, as designated by the commissioner pursuant to Subsection D, that meets one of the following:

(1) A non-U.S. jurisdiction that is subject to an in-force covered agreement with the United States, each within its legal authority, or, in the case of a covered agreement between the United States and the European Union, is a member state of the European Union. For purposes of this subsection, a "covered agreement" is an agreement entered into pursuant to the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, 31 U.S.C. §§ 313 and 314, that is currently in effect or in a period of provisional application and addresses the elimination, under specified conditions, of collateral requirements as a condition for entering into any reinsurance agreement with a ceding insurer domiciled in this state or for allowing the ceding insurer to recognize credit for reinsurance;

(2) A U.S. jurisdiction that meets the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program; or

(3) A qualified jurisdiction, as determined by the commissioner pursuant to [cite state law equivalent of Section 2E(3) of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Section 8C of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786)], which is not otherwise described in Paragraph (1) or (2) above and which the commissioner determines meets all of the following additional requirements:

(a) Provides that an insurer which has its head office or is domiciled in such qualified jurisdiction shall receive credit for reinsurance ceded to a U.S.-domiciled assuming insurer in the same manner as credit for reinsurance is received for reinsurance assumed by insurers domiciled in such qualified jurisdiction;

(b) Does not require a U.S.-domiciled assuming insurer to establish or maintain a local presence as a condition for entering into a reinsurance agreement with any ceding insurer subject to regulation by the non-U.S. jurisdiction or as a condition to allow the ceding insurer to recognize credit for such reinsurance;

(c) Recognizes the U.S. state regulatory approach to group supervision and group capital, by providing written confirmation by a competent regulatory authority, in such qualified jurisdiction, that insurers and insurance groups that are domiciled or maintain their headquarters in this state or another jurisdiction accredited by the NAIC shall be subject only to worldwide prudential insurance group supervision including worldwide group governance, solvency and capital, and reporting, as applicable, by the commissioner or the commissioner of the domiciliary state and will not be subject to group supervision at the level of the worldwide parent undertaking of the insurance or reinsurance group by the qualified jurisdiction; and Drafting Note: Nothing in this subparagraph is intended to enhance or limit the authority of U.S. state insurance regulation with respect to the group-wide supervision of insurance holding company systems pursuant to the state law equivalent of the NAIC Insurance Holding Company System Regulatory Act (#440) and Insurance Holding Company System Model Regulation (#450), or other applicable state law.

(d) Provides written confirmation by a competent regulatory authority in such qualified jurisdiction that information regarding insurers and their parent, subsidiary, or affiliated entities, if applicable, shall be provided to the commissioner in accordance with a memorandum of understanding or similar document between the commissioner and such qualified jurisdiction, including but not limited to the International Association of Insurance Supervisors Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding or other multilateral memoranda of understanding coordinated by the NAIC.

C. Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded from an insurer domiciled in this state to an assuming insurer meeting each of the conditions set forth below.

(1) The assuming insurer must be licensed to transact reinsurance by, and have its head office or be domiciled in, a Reciprocal Jurisdiction.

(2) The assuming insurer must have and maintain on an ongoing basis minimum capital and surplus, or its equivalent, calculated on at least an annual basis as of the preceding December 31 or at the annual date otherwise statutorily reported to the Reciprocal Jurisdiction, and confirmed as set forth in Subsection C(7) according to the methodology of its domiciliary jurisdiction, in the following amounts:

(a) No less than $250,000,000; or

(b) If the assuming insurer is an association, including incorporated and individual unincorporated underwriters:

(i) Minimum capital and surplus equivalents (net of liabilities) or own funds of the equivalent of at least $250,000,000; and

(ii) A central fund containing a balance of the equivalent of at least $250,000,000.

(3) The assuming insurer must have and maintain on an ongoing basis a minimum solvency or capital ratio, as applicable, as follows:

(a) If the assuming insurer has its head office or is domiciled in a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined in Section 9B(1), the ratio specified in the applicable covered agreement;

Drafting Note: The United States has entered into bilateral agreements with both the European Union and United Kingdom, signed on September 22, 2017, and December 18, 2018, respectively, which specify a solvency ratio of one hundred percent (100%) of the solvency capital requirement (SCR) as calculated under the Solvency II Directive issued by the European Union with respect to assuming insurers which have their head office or are domiciled in those jurisdictions.

(b) If the assuming insurer is domiciled in a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined in Section 9B(2), a risk-based capital (RBC) ratio of three hundred percent (300%) of the authorized control level, calculated in accordance with the formula developed by the NAIC; or

(c) If the assuming insurer is domiciled in a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined in Section 9B(3), after consultation with the Reciprocal Jurisdiction and considering any recommendations published through the NAIC Committee Process, such solvency or capital ratio as the commissioner determines to be an effective measure of solvency.

(4) The assuming insurer must agree to and provide adequate assurance, in the form of a properly executed Form RJ-1 (attached as an exhibit to this regulation), of its agreement to the following:

(a) The assuming insurer must agree to provide prompt written notice and explanation to the commissioner if it falls below the minimum requirements set forth in Paragraphs (2) or (3) of this subsection, or if any regulatory action is taken against it for serious noncompliance with applicable law.

(b) The assuming insurer must consent in writing to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and to the appointment of the commissioner as agent for service of process.

(i) The commissioner may also require that such consent be provided and included in each reinsurance agreement under the commissioner's jurisdiction.

(ii) Nothing in this provision shall limit or in any way alter the capacity of parties to a reinsurance agreement to agree to alternative dispute resolution mechanisms, except to the extent such agreements are unenforceable under applicable insolvency or delinquency laws.

(c) The assuming insurer must consent in writing to pay all final judgments, wherever enforcement is sought, obtained by a ceding insurer, that have been declared enforceable in the territory where the judgment was obtained.

(d) Each reinsurance agreement must include a provision requiring the assuming insurer to provide security in an amount equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded pursuant to that agreement if the assuming insurer resists enforcement of a final judgment that is enforceable under the law of the jurisdiction in which it was obtained or a properly enforceable arbitration award, whether obtained by the ceding insurer or by its legal successor on behalf of its estate, if applicable.

(e) The assuming insurer must confirm that it is not presently participating in any solvent scheme of arrangement, which involves this state's ceding insurers, and agrees to notify the ceding insurer and the commissioner and to provide one hundred percent (100%) security to the ceding insurer consistent with the terms of the scheme, should the assuming insurer enter into such a solvent scheme of arrangement. Such security shall be in a form consistent with the provisions of [cite state law equivalent of Section 2E and Section 3 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] and Section 12, 13 or 14 of this regulation. For purposes of this regulation, the term "solvent scheme of arrangement" means a foreign or alien statutory or regulatory compromise procedure subject to requisite majority creditor approval and judicial sanction in the assuming insurer's home jurisdiction either to finally commute liabilities of duly noticed classed members or creditors of a solvent debtor, or to reorganize or restructure the debts and obligations of a solvent debtor on a final basis, and which may be subject to judicial recognition and enforcement of the arrangement by a governing authority outside the ceding insurer's home jurisdiction.

(f) The assuming insurer must agree in writing to meet the applicable information filing requirements as set forth in Paragraph (5) of this subsection.

(5) The assuming insurer or its legal successor must provide, if requested by the commissioner, on behalf of itself and any legal predecessors, the following documentation to the commissioner:

(a) For the two years preceding entry into the reinsurance agreement and on an annual basis thereafter, the assuming insurer's annual audited financial statements, in accordance with the applicable law of the jurisdiction of its head office or domiciliary jurisdiction, as applicable, including the external audit report;

(b) For the two years preceding entry into the reinsurance agreement, the solvency and financial condition report or actuarial opinion, if filed with the assuming insurer's supervisor;

(c) Prior to entry into the reinsurance agreement and not more than semi-annually thereafter, an updated list of all disputed and overdue reinsurance claims outstanding for 90 days or more, regarding reinsurance assumed from ceding insurers domiciled in the United States; and

(d) Prior to entry into the reinsurance agreement and not more than semi-annually thereafter, information regarding the assuming insurer's assumed reinsurance by ceding insurer, ceded reinsurance by the assuming insurer, and reinsurance recoverable on paid and unpaid losses by the assuming insurer to allow for the evaluation of the criteria set forth in Paragraph (6) of this subsection.

Drafting Note: In order to facilitate multi-state recognition of assuming insurers and to encourage uniformity among the states, the NAIC has initiated a process called "passporting" under which the commissioner has the discretion to defer to another state's determination with respect to compliance with this section. Passporting is based upon individual state regulatory authority, and states are encouraged to act in a uniform manner in order to facilitate the passporting process. States are also encouraged to utilize the passporting process to reduce the amount of documentation filed with the states and reduce duplicate filings. It is anticipated that "lead" states will uniformly require assuming insurers to provide the documentation described in Section 9C(5) of this regulation, so that other states may rely upon the lead state's determination.

(6) The assuming insurer must maintain a practice of prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements. The lack of prompt payment will be evidenced if any of the following criteria is met:

(a) More than fifteen percent (15%) of the reinsurance recoverables from the assuming insurer are overdue and in dispute as reported to the commissioner;

(b) More than fifteen percent (15%) of the assuming insurer's ceding insurers or reinsurers have overdue reinsurance recoverable on paid losses of 90 days or more which are not in dispute and which exceed for each ceding insurer $100,000, or as otherwise specified in a covered agreement; or

(c) The aggregate amount of reinsurance recoverable on paid losses which are not in dispute, but are overdue by 90 days or more, exceeds $50,000,000, or as otherwise specified in a covered agreement.

(7) The assuming insurer's supervisory authority must confirm to the commissioner on an annual basis that the assuming insurer complies with the requirements set forth in Paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection.

(8) Nothing in this provision precludes an assuming insurer from providing the commissioner with information on a voluntary basis.

D. The commissioner shall timely create and publish a list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions.

(1) A list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions is published through the NAIC Committee Process. The commissioner's list shall include any Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined under Section 9B(1) and (2), and shall consider any other Reciprocal Jurisdiction included on the NAIC list. The commissioner may approve a jurisdiction that does not appear on the NAIC list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions as provided by applicable law, regulation, or in accordance with criteria published through the NAIC Committee Process.

(2) The commissioner may remove a jurisdiction from the list of Reciprocal Jurisdictions upon a determination that the jurisdiction no longer meets one or more of the requirements of a Reciprocal Jurisdiction, as provided by applicable law, regulation, or in accordance with a process published through the NAIC Committee Process, except that the commissioner shall not remove from the list a Reciprocal Jurisdiction as defined under Section 9B(1) and (2). Upon removal of a Reciprocal Jurisdiction from this list credit for reinsurance ceded to an assuming insurer domiciled in that jurisdiction shall be allowed, if otherwise allowed pursuant to [cite to state law equivalent of Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) or Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786)].

Drafting Note: It is anticipated that the NAIC will develop criteria and a process with respect to Reciprocal Jurisdictions that is similar to the NAIC Process for Developing and Maintaining the NAIC List of Qualified Jurisdictions. Included will be processes for revocation or suspension of the status as a Reciprocal Jurisdiction, provided that such process would not conflict with the terms of an in-force covered agreement. The NAIC and the states intend to communicate and coordinate with the U.S. Department of Treasury and United States Trade Representative and other relevant federal authorities with respect to the evaluation of Reciprocal Jurisdictions, as appropriate.

E. The commissioner shall timely create and publish a list of assuming insurers that have satisfied the conditions set forth in this section and to which cessions shall be granted credit in accordance with this section.

(1) If an NAIC accredited jurisdiction has determined that the conditions set forth in Subsection C have been met, the commissioner has the discretion to defer to that jurisdiction's determination, and add such assuming insurer to the list of assuming insurers to which cessions shall be granted credit in accordance with this subsection. The commissioner may accept financial documentation filed with another NAIC accredited jurisdiction or with the NAIC in satisfaction of the requirements of Subsection C.

(2) When requesting that the commissioner defer to another NAIC accredited jurisdiction's determination, an assuming insurer must submit a properly executed Form RJ-1 and additional information as the commissioner may require. A state that has received such a request will notify other states through the NAIC Committee Process and provide relevant information with respect to the determination of eligibility.

F. If the commissioner determines that an assuming insurer no longer meets one or more of the requirements under this section, the commissioner may revoke or suspend the eligibility of the assuming insurer for recognition under this section.

(1) While an assuming insurer's eligibility is suspended, no reinsurance agreement issued, amended or renewed after the effective date of the suspension qualifies for credit except to the extent that the assuming insurer's obligations under the contract are secured in accordance with Section 11.

(2) If an assuming insurer's eligibility is revoked, no credit for reinsurance may be granted after the effective date of the revocation with respect to any reinsurance agreements entered into by the assuming insurer, including reinsurance agreements entered into prior to the date of revocation, except to the extent that the assuming insurer's obligations under the contract are secured in a form acceptable to the commissioner and consistent with the provisions of Section 11.

G. Before denying statement credit or imposing a requirement to post security with respect to Section 9F of this regulation or adopting any similar requirement that will have substantially the same regulatory impact as security, the commissioner shall:

(1) Communicate with the ceding insurer, the assuming insurer, and the assuming insurer's supervisory authority that the assuming insurer no longer satisfies one of the conditions listed in Subsection C of this section;

(2) Provide the assuming insurer with 30 days from the initial communication to submit a plan to remedy the defect, and 90 days from the initial communication to remedy the defect, except in exceptional circumstances in which a shorter period is necessary for policyholder and other consumer protection;

(3) After the expiration of 90 days or less, as set out in Paragraph (2), if the commissioner determines that no or insufficient action was taken by the assuming insurer, the commissioner may impose any of the requirements as set out in this subsection; and

(4) Provide a written explanation to the assuming insurer of any of the requirements set out in this subsection.

H. If subject to a legal process of rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation, as applicable, the ceding insurer, or its representative, may seek and, if determined appropriate by the court in which the proceedings are pending, may obtain an order requiring that the assuming insurer post security for all outstanding liabilities.

Section 10. Credit for Reinsurance Required by Law

Pursuant to Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 2G of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], the commissioner shall allow credit for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Section [cite state law equivalent of Sections 2A, B, C, D, E, F or other appropriate section of the of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] but only as to the insurance of risks located in jurisdictions where the reinsurance is required by the applicable law or regulation of that jurisdiction. As used in this section, "jurisdiction" means state, district or territory of the United States and any lawful national government.

Drafting Note: Examples of assuming insurers for which credit may be allowed under this section include state owned or controlled insurance or reinsurance companies or ceding company participation in pools, guaranty associations or residual market mechanisms required by statute, regulation or administrative order.

Section 11. Asset or Reduction from Liability for Reinsurance Ceded to an Unauthorized Assuming Insurer not Meeting the Requirements of Sections 4 through 10

A. Pursuant to Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 3 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], the commissioner shall allow a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 2 or other appropriate section of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] in an amount not exceeding the liabilities carried by the ceding insurer. The reduction shall be in the amount of funds held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, including funds held in trust for the exclusive benefit of the ceding insurer, under a reinsurance contract with such assuming insurer as security for the payment of obligations under the reinsurance contract. The security shall be held in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by, and under the exclusive control of, the ceding insurer or, in the case of a trust, held in a qualified United States financial institution as defined in Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 4B of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)]. This security may be in the form of any of the following:

(1) Cash;

(2) Securities listed by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC, including those deemed exempt from filing as defined by the Purposes and Procedures Manual of the Securities Valuation Office, and qualifying as admitted assets;

(3) Clean, irrevocable, unconditional and "evergreen" letters of credit issued or confirmed by a qualified United States institution, as defined in Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 4A of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)], effective no later than December 31 of the year for which filing is being made, and in the possession of, or in trust for, the ceding insurer on or before the filing date of its annual statement. Letters of credit meeting applicable standards of issuer acceptability as of the dates of their issuance (or confirmation) shall, notwithstanding the issuing (or confirming) institution's subsequent failure to meet applicable standards of issuer acceptability, continue to be acceptable as security until their expiration, extension, renewal, modification or amendment, whichever first occurs; or

(4) Any other form of security acceptable to the commissioner.

B. An admitted asset or a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded to an unauthorized assuming insurer pursuant to this section shall be allowed only when the requirements of Section 15 and the applicable portions of Sections 12, 13 or 14 of this regulation have been satisfied.

Section 12. Trust Agreements Qualified under Section 11

A. As used in this section:

(1) "Beneficiary" means the entity for whose sole benefit the trust has been established and any successor of the beneficiary by operation of law. If a court of law appoints a successor in interest to the named beneficiary, then the named beneficiary includes and is limited to the court appointed domiciliary receiver (including conservator, rehabilitator or liquidator).

Drafting Note: The NAIC has adopted the above definition as part of the "Uniform Letter of Credit." However, the state may choose to utilize the following definition: "Beneficiary" includes any successor by operation of law of the named beneficiary, including without limitation any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator.

(2) "Grantor" means the entity that has established a trust for the sole benefit of the beneficiary. When established in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement, the grantor is the unlicensed, unaccredited assuming insurer.

(3) "Obligations," as used in Subsection B(11) of this section means:

(a) Reinsured losses and allocated loss expenses paid by the ceding company, but not recovered from the assuming insurer;

(b) Reserves for reinsured losses reported and outstanding;

(c) Reserves for reinsured losses incurred but not reported; and

(d) Reserves for allocated reinsured loss expenses and unearned premiums.

B. Required conditions.

(1) The trust agreement shall be entered into between the beneficiary, the grantor and a trustee, which shall be a qualified United States financial institution as defined in Section [insert citation to state law equivalent to Section 4B of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)].

(2) The trust agreement shall create a trust account into which assets shall be deposited.

(3) All assets in the trust account shall be held by the trustee at the trustee's office in the United States.

(4) The trust agreement shall provide that:

(a) The beneficiary shall have the right to withdraw assets from the trust account at any time, without notice to the grantor, subject only to written notice from the beneficiary to the trustee;

(b) No other statement or document is required to be presented to withdraw assets, except that the beneficiary may be required to acknowledge receipt of withdrawn assets;

(c) It is not subject to any conditions or qualifications outside of the trust agreement; and

(d) It shall not contain references to any other agreements or documents except as provided for in Paragraphs (11) and (12) of this subsection.

(5) The trust agreement shall be established for the sole benefit of the beneficiary.

(6) The trust agreement shall require the trustee to:

(a) Receive assets and hold all assets in a safe place;

(b) Determine that all assets are in such form that the beneficiary, or the trustee upon direction by the beneficiary, may whenever necessary negotiate any such assets, without consent or signature from the grantor or any other person or entity;

(c) Furnish to the grantor and the beneficiary a statement of all assets in the trust account upon its inception and at intervals no less frequent than the end of each calendar quarter;

(d) Notify the grantor and the beneficiary within ten (10) days, of any deposits to or withdrawals from the trust account;

(e) Upon written demand of the beneficiary, immediately take any and all steps necessary to transfer absolutely and unequivocally all right, title and interest in the assets held in the trust account to the beneficiary and deliver physical custody of the assets to the beneficiary; and

(f) Allow no substitutions or withdrawals of assets from the trust account, except on written instructions from the beneficiary, except that the trustee may, without the consent of but with notice to the beneficiary, upon call or maturity of any trust asset, withdraw such asset upon condition that the proceeds are paid into the trust account.

(7) The trust agreement shall provide that at least thirty (30) days, but not more than forty-five (45) days, prior to termination of the trust account, written notification of termination shall be delivered by the trustee to the beneficiary.

(8) The trust agreement shall be made subject to and governed by the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled.

(9) The trust agreement shall prohibit invasion of the trust corpus for the purpose of paying commission to, or reimbursing the expenses of, the trustee. In order for a letter of credit to qualify as an asset of the trust, the trustee shall have the right and the obligation pursuant to the deed of trust or some other binding agreement (as duly approved by the commissioner), to immediately draw down the full amount of the letter of credit and hold the proceeds in trust for the beneficiaries of the trust if the letter of credit will otherwise expire without being renewed or replaced.

(10) The trust agreement shall provide that the trustee shall be liable for its negligence, willful misconduct or lack of good faith. The failure of the trustee to draw against the letter of credit in circumstances where such draw would be required shall be deemed to be negligence and/or willful misconduct.

(11) Notwithstanding other provisions of this regulation, when a trust agreement is established in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement covering risks other than life, annuities and accident and health, where it is customary practice to provide a trust agreement for a specific purpose, the trust agreement may provide that the ceding insurer shall undertake to use and apply amounts drawn upon the trust account, without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

(a) To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for the assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement regarding any losses and allocated loss expenses paid by the ceding insurer, but not recovered from the assuming insurer, or for unearned premiums due to the ceding insurer if not otherwise paid by the assuming insurer;

(b) To make payment to the assuming insurer of any amounts held in the trust account that exceed 102 percent of the actual amount required to fund the assuming insurer's obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement; or

(c) Where the ceding insurer has received notification of termination of the trust account and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten (10) days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the obligations and deposit those amounts in a separate account, in the name of the ceding insurer in any qualified U.S. financial institution as defined in Section [insert citation to state law equivalent of Section 4B of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] apart from its general assets, in trust for such uses and purposes specified in Subparagraphs (a) and (b) above as may remain executory after such withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

(12) Notwithstanding other provisions of this regulation, when a trust agreement is established to meet the requirements of Section 11 in conjunction with a reinsurance agreement covering life, annuities or accident and health risks, where it is customary to provide a trust agreement for a specific purpose, the trust agreement may provide that the ceding insurer shall undertake to use and apply amounts drawn upon the trust account, without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

(a) To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for:

(i) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement on account of cancellations of the policies; and

(ii) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, under the terms and provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement;

(b) To pay to the assuming insurer amounts held in the trust account in excess of the amount necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer; or

(c) Where the ceding insurer has received notification of termination of the trust and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the specific reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten (10) days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the assuming insurer's share of liabilities, to the extent that the liabilities have not yet been funded by the assuming insurer, and deposit those amounts in a separate account, in the name of the ceding insurer in any qualified U.S. financial institution apart from its general assets, in trust for the uses and purposes specified in Subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this paragraph as may remain executory after withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

(13) Either the reinsurance agreement or the trust agreement must stipulate that assets deposited in the trust account shall be valued according to their current fair market value and shall consist only of cash in United States dollars, certificates of deposit issued by a United States bank and payable in United States dollars, and investments permitted by the Insurance Code or any combination of the above, provided investments in or issued by an entity controlling, controlled by or under common control with either the grantor or the beneficiary of the trust shall not exceed five percent (5%) of total investments. The agreement may further specify the types of investments to be deposited. If the reinsurance agreement covers life, annuities or accident and health risks, then the provisions required by this paragraph must be included in the reinsurance agreement.

C. Permitted conditions.

(1) The trust agreement may provide that the trustee may resign upon delivery of a written notice of resignation, effective not less than ninety (90) days after the beneficiary and grantor receive the notice and that the trustee may be removed by the grantor by delivery to the trustee and the beneficiary of a written notice of removal, effective not less than ninety (90) days after the trustee and the beneficiary receive the notice, provided that no such resignation or removal shall be effective until a successor trustee has been duly appointed and approved by the beneficiary and the grantor and all assets in the trust have been duly transferred to the new trustee.

(2) The grantor may have the full and unqualified right to vote any shares of stock in the trust account and to receive from time to time payments of any dividends or interest upon any shares of stock or obligations included in the trust account. Any interest or dividends shall be either forwarded promptly upon receipt to the grantor or deposited in a separate account established in the grantor's name.

(3) The trustee may be given authority to invest, and accept substitutions of, any funds in the account, provided that no investment or substitution shall be made without prior approval of the beneficiary, unless the trust agreement specifies categories of investments acceptable to the beneficiary and authorizes the trustee to invest funds and to accept substitutions that the trustee determines are at least equal in current fair market value to the assets withdrawn and that are consistent with the restrictions in Subsection D(1)(b) of this section.

(4) The trust agreement may provide that the beneficiary may at any time designate a party to which all or part of the trust assets are to be transferred. Transfer may be conditioned upon the trustee receiving, prior to or simultaneously, other specified assets.

(5) The trust agreement may provide that, upon termination of the trust account, all assets not previously withdrawn by the beneficiary shall, with written approval by the beneficiary, be delivered over to the grantor.

D. Additional conditions applicable to reinsurance agreements:

(1) A reinsurance agreement may contain provisions that:

(a) Require the assuming insurer to enter into a trust agreement and to establish a trust account for the benefit of the ceding insurer, and specifying what the agreement is to cover;

(b) Require the assuming insurer, prior to depositing assets with the trustee, to execute assignments or endorsements in blank, or to transfer legal title to the trustee of all shares, obligations or any other assets requiring assignments, in order that the ceding insurer, or the trustee upon the direction of the ceding insurer, may whenever necessary negotiate these assets without consent or signature from the assuming insurer or any other entity;

(c) Require that all settlements of account between the ceding insurer and the assuming insurer be made in cash or its equivalent; and

(d) Stipulate that the assuming insurer and the ceding insurer agree that the assets in the trust account, established pursuant to the provisions of the reinsurance agreement, may be withdrawn by the ceding insurer at any time, notwithstanding any other provisions in the reinsurance agreement, and shall be utilized and applied by the ceding insurer or its successors in interest by operation of law, including without limitation any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator of such company, without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the ceding insurer or the assuming insurer, only for the following purposes:

(i) To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for:

(I) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurer, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement because of cancellations of such policies;

(II) The assuming insurer's share of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer pursuant to the provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement; and

(III) Any other amounts necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer;

(ii) To make payment to the assuming insurer of amounts held in the trust account in excess of the amount necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer.

(2) The reinsurance agreement also may contain provisions that:

(a) Give the assuming insurer the right to seek approval from the ceding insurer, which shall not be unreasonably or arbitrarily withheld, to withdraw from the trust account all or any part of the trust assets and transfer those assets to the assuming insurer, provided:

(i) The assuming insurer shall, at the time of withdrawal, replace the withdrawn assets with other qualified assets having a current fair market value equal to the market value of the assets withdrawn so as to maintain at all times the deposit in the required amount; or

(ii) After withdrawal and transfer, the current fair market value of the trust account is no less than 102 percent of the required amount.

(b) Provide for the return of any amount withdrawn in excess of the actual amounts required for Paragraph (1)(d) of this subsection, and for interest payments at a rate not in excess of the prime rate of interest on such amounts;

(c) Permit the award by any arbitration panel or court of competent jurisdiction of:

(i) Interest at a rate different from that provided in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph;

(ii) Court or arbitration costs;

(iii) Attorney's fees; and

(iv) Any other reasonable expenses.

E. Financial reporting. A trust agreement may be used to reduce any liability for reinsurance ceded to an unauthorized assuming insurer in financial statements required to be filed with this department in compliance with the provisions of this regulation when established on or before the date of filing of the financial statement of the ceding insurer. Further, the reduction for the existence of an acceptable trust account may be up to the current fair market value of acceptable assets available to be withdrawn from the trust account at that time, but such reduction shall be no greater than the specific obligations under the reinsurance agreement that the trust account was established to secure.

F. Existing agreements. Notwithstanding the effective date of this regulation, any trust agreement or underlying reinsurance agreement in existence prior to [insert date] will continue to be acceptable until [insert date], at which time the agreements will have to fully comply with this regulation for the trust agreement to be acceptable.

G. The failure of any trust agreement to specifically identify the beneficiary as defined in Subsection A of this section shall not be construed to affect any actions or rights that the commissioner may take or possess pursuant to the provisions of the laws of this state.

Section 13. Letters of Credit Qualified under Section 11

A. The letter of credit must be clean, irrevocable, unconditional and issued or confirmed by a qualified United States financial institution as defined in Section [insert citation to state law equivalent of Section 4A of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)]. The letter of credit shall contain an issue date and expiration date and shall stipulate that the beneficiary need only draw a sight draft under the letter of credit and present it to obtain funds and that no other document need be presented. The letter of credit also shall indicate that it is not subject to any condition or qualifications outside of the letter of credit. In addition, the letter of credit itself shall not contain reference to any other agreements, documents or entities, except as provided in Subsection H(1) of this section. As used in this section, "beneficiary" means the domestic insurer for whose benefit the letter of credit has been established and any successor of the beneficiary by operation of law. If a court of law appoints a successor in interest to the named beneficiary, then the named beneficiary includes and is limited to the court appointed domiciliary receiver (including conservator, rehabilitator or liquidator).

Drafting Note: The NAIC has adopted the above definition as part of the "Uniform Letter of Credit." However, the state may choose to utilize the following definition: "Beneficiary" includes any successor by operation of law of the named beneficiary, including without limitation any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator.

B. The heading of the letter of credit may include a boxed section containing the name of the applicant and other appropriate notations to provide a reference for the letter of credit. The boxed section shall be clearly marked to indicate that such information is for internal identification purposes only.

C. The letter of credit shall contain a statement to the effect that the obligation of the qualified United States financial institution under the letter of credit is in no way contingent upon reimbursement with respect thereto.

D. The term of the letter of credit shall be for at least one year and shall contain an "evergreen clause" that prevents the expiration of the letter of credit without due notice from the issuer. The "evergreen clause" shall provide for a period of no less than thirty (30) days notice prior to expiration date or nonrenewal.

E. The letter of credit shall state whether it is subject to and governed by the laws of this state or the Uniform Customs and Practice for Documentary Credits of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 600 (UCP 600) or International Standby Practices of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 590 (ISP98), or any successor publication, and all drafts drawn thereunder shall be presentable at an office in the United States of a qualified United States financial institution.

F. If the letter of credit is made subject to the Uniform Customs and Practice for Documentary Credits of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 600 (UCP 600) or International Standby Practices of the International Chamber of Commerce Publication 590 (ISP98), or any successor publication, then the letter of credit shall specifically address and provide for an extension of time to draw against the letter of credit in the event that one or more of the occurrences specified in Article 36 of Publication 600 or any other successor publication, occur.

G. If the letter of credit is issued by a financial institution authorized to issue letters of credit, other than a qualified United States financial institution as described in Subsection A of this section, then the following additional requirements shall be met:

(1) The issuing financial institution shall formally designate the confirming qualified United States financial institution as its agent for the receipt and payment of the drafts; and

(2) The "evergreen clause" shall provide for thirty (30) days notice prior to expiration date for nonrenewal.

H. Reinsurance agreement provisions.

(1) The reinsurance agreement in conjunction with which the letter of credit is obtained may contain provisions that:

(a) Require the assuming insurer to provide letters of credit to the ceding insurer and specify what they are to cover;

(b) Stipulate that the assuming insurer and ceding insurer agree that the letter of credit provided by the assuming insurer pursuant to the provisions of the reinsurance agreement may be drawn upon at any time, notwithstanding any other provisions in the agreement, and shall be utilized by the ceding insurer or its successors in interest only for one or more of the following reasons:

(i) To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer for:

(I) The assuming insurer's share under the specific reinsurance agreement of premiums returned, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurers, to the owners of policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement on account of cancellations of such policies;

(II) The assuming insurer's share, under the specific reinsurance agreement, of surrenders and benefits or losses paid by the ceding insurer, but not yet recovered from the assuming insurers, under the terms and provisions of the policies reinsured under the reinsurance agreement; and

(III) Any other amounts necessary to secure the credit or reduction from liability for reinsurance taken by the ceding insurer;

(ii) Where the letter of credit will expire without renewal or be reduced or replaced by a letter of credit for a reduced amount and where the assuming insurer's entire obligations under the reinsurance agreement remain unliquidated and undischarged ten (10) days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the assuming insurer's share of the liabilities, to the extent that the liabilities have not yet been funded by the assuming insurer and exceed the amount of any reduced or replacement letter of credit, and deposit those amounts in a separate account in the name of the ceding insurer in a qualified U.S. financial institution apart from its general assets, in trust for such uses and purposes specified in Subsection H(1)(b)(i) of this section as may remain after withdrawal and for any period after the termination date.

(c) All of the provisions of Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be applied without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the ceding insurer or assuming insurer.

(2) Nothing contained in Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall preclude the ceding insurer and assuming insurer from providing for:

(a) An interest payment, at a rate not in excess of the prime rate of interest, on the amounts held pursuant to Subparagraph (1)(b) of this subsection; or

(b) The return of any amounts drawn down on the letters of credit in excess of the actual amounts required for the above or any amounts that are subsequently determined not to be due.

Section 14. Other Security

A ceding insurer may take credit for unencumbered funds withheld by the ceding insurer in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by the ceding insurer and under its exclusive control.

Section 15. Reinsurance Contract

Credit will not be granted, nor an asset or reduction from liability allowed, to a ceding insurer for reinsurance effected with assuming insurers meeting the requirements of Sections 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 or 11 of this regulation or otherwise in compliance with Section [cite state law equivalent of Section 2 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] after the adoption of this regulation unless the reinsurance agreement:

A. Includes a proper insolvency clause, which stipulates that reinsurance is payable directly to the liquidator or successor without diminution regardless of the status of the ceding company, pursuant to Section [insert appropriate number] of the Insurance Code;

B. Includes a provision pursuant to Section [cite state law equivalent to Section 2 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785)] whereby the assuming insurer, if an unauthorized assuming insurer, has submitted to the jurisdiction of an alternative dispute resolution panel or court of competent jurisdiction within the United States, has agreed to comply with all requirements necessary to give the court or panel jurisdiction, has designated an agent upon whom service of process may be effected, and has agreed to abide by the final decision of the court or panel; and

C. Includes a proper reinsurance intermediary clause, if applicable, which stipulates that the credit risk for the intermediary is carried by the assuming insurer.

Drafting Note: It is recognized that credit for reinsurance may be affected by other sections of the adopting state's code, e.g., the statutory insolvency or intermediary clauses. It is recommended that states that have statutory insolvency or intermediary clauses consider incorporating those clauses into this regulation.

Section 16. Contracts Affected

All new and renewal reinsurance transactions entered into after [insert date] shall conform to the requirements of the Act and this regulation if credit is to be given to the ceding insurer for such reinsurance.

CERTIFICATE OF REINSURER DOMICILED IN RECIPROCAL JURISDICTION

I, _____, _____
(name of officer) (title of officer) of _____, the assuming insurer

(name of assuming insurer)

under a reinsurance agreement with one or more insurers domiciled in _____, in order to be considered for approval in this state, hereby certify that _____ ("Assuming Insurer"):
(name of state)

(name of assuming insurer)

1. Submits to the jurisdiction of any court of competent jurisdiction in [Name of State] for the adjudication of any issues arising out of the reinsurance agreement, agrees to comply with all requirements necessary to give such court jurisdiction, and will abide by the final decision of such court or any appellate court in the event of an appeal. The assuming insurer agrees that it will include such consent in each reinsurance agreement, if requested by the commissioner. Nothing in this paragraph constitutes or should be understood to constitute a waiver of assuming insurer's rights to commence an action in any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States, to remove an action to a United States District Court, or to seek a transfer of a case to another court as permitted by the laws of the United States or of any state in the United States. This paragraph is not intended to conflict with or override the obligation of the parties to the reinsurance agreement to arbitrate their disputes if such an obligation is created in the agreement, except to the extent such agreements are unenforceable under applicable insolvency or delinquency laws.

2. Designates the Insurance Commissioner of [Name of State] as its lawful attorney in and for the [Name of State] upon whom may be served any lawful process in any action, suit or proceeding in this state arising out of the reinsurance agreement instituted by or on behalf of the ceding insurer.

3. Agrees to pay all final judgments, wherever enforcement is sought, obtained by a ceding insurer, that have been declared enforceable in the territory where the judgment was obtained.

4. Agrees to provide prompt written notice and explanation if it falls below the minimum capital and surplus or capital or surplus ratio, or if any regulatory action is taken against it for serious noncompliance with applicable law.

5. Confirms that it is not presently participating in any solvent scheme of arrangement, which involves insurers domiciled in [Name of State]. If the assuming insurer enters into such an arrangement, the assuming insurer agrees to notify the ceding insurer and the commissioner, and to provide 100% security to the ceding insurer consistent with the terms of the scheme.

6. Agrees that in each reinsurance agreement it will provide security in an amount equal to 100% of the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to reinsurance ceded pursuant to that agreement if the assuming insurer resists enforcement of a final U.S. judgment, that is enforceable under the law of the territory in which it was obtained, or a properly enforceable arbitration award whether obtained by the ceding insurer or by its resolution estate, if applicable.

7. Agrees to provide the documentation in accordance with [cite relevant provision of the state equivalent of Section 9C(5) of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786)], if requested by the commissioner.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL REGULATION (#786)
(Bilateral Agreement Between the United States of America and the European Union on Prudential Measures Regarding Insurance and Reinsurance)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

On Sept. 22, 2017, the U.S. Department of the Treasury (Treasury Department) and the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR) signed the "Bilateral Agreement Between the United States of America and the European Union on Prudential Measures Regarding Insurance and Reinsurance" (EU Covered Agreement). The EU Covered Agreement includes requirements on group capital, group supervision and reinsurance collateral. The EU Covered Agreement would eliminate reinsurance collateral requirements for European Union (EU) reinsurers that maintain a minimum amount of own funds equivalent to $250 million and a solvency capital requirement (SCR) of 100% under Solvency II. Conversely, U.S. reinsurers that maintain capital and surplus equivalent to 226 million euros with a risk-based capital (RBC) of 300% of authorized control level would not be required to maintain a local presence in order to do business in the EU or post collateral in any EU jurisdiction.

On Dec. 11, 2018, the Treasury Department and the USTR announced that the U.S. and the United Kingdom (UK) had reached a final agreement on reinsurance collateral and other insurance regulatory measures outlined in the "Bilateral Agreement Between the United States Of America and the United Kingdom on Prudential Measures Regarding Insurance and Reinsurance" (UK Covered Agreement). A separate Covered Agreement for the UK was necessary due to plans by the UK to exit the EU. The UK Covered Agreement mirrors the language in the prior Covered Agreement between the U.S. and the EU, and, for the purposes of this project history, they will be referred to collectively as the "Covered Agreement."

While the group capital and group supervision provisions of the Covered Agreement are not expected to require changes to state laws, the Covered Agreement will require the states to take action with respect to the reinsurance collateral provisions within 60 months (five years) of signing or face potential federal preemption by the Federal Insurance Office (FIO) under the federal Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act. Specifically, in 2011, the NAIC membership adopted revisions to Section 2E of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Section 8 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) which will be affected by the Covered Agreement. These revisions served to reduce reinsurance collateral requirements for certified non-U.S. licensed reinsurers that are licensed and domiciled in qualified jurisdictions. Prior to these amendments, in order for domestic U.S. ceding companies to receive reinsurance credit, the reinsurance must either have been ceded to U.S. licensed reinsurers or secured by collateral representing 100% of liabilities for which the credit was recorded.

On Feb. 20, 2018, the NAIC and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force held a Public Hearing in New York to address the reinsurance collateral provisions of the Covered Agreement. On April 17, 2018, based on public comments and testimony received at the Public Hearing, the Executive (EX) Committee agreed to the following actions with respect to the Covered Agreement:

> Adopted a Request for NAIC Model Law Development with respect to Model #785 and Model #786. The motion adopted was that these models be revised to: 1) conform to the requirements in the covered agreement with respect to EU reinsurers; and 2) provide reinsurers domiciled in NAIC-qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU (currently, Bermuda, Japan, Switzerland and, after Brexit, the United Kingdom) with similar reinsurance collateral reductions as those to be implemented to comply with the covered agreement, with provisions regarding group supervision, group capital, information-sharing and enforcement.

On May 15, 2019, the Task Force adopted revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 consistent with these charges during a public conference call, which were then approved by the Financial Condition (E) Committee on May 28, 2019. The revisions would eliminate reinsurance collateral requirements for "reciprocal" reinsurers that have their head office or are domiciled in any of the following:

1. An EU-member country (or any other non-U.S. jurisdiction) that is subject to an in-force covered agreement addressing the elimination of reinsurance collateral requirements with U.S. ceding insurers (Covered Agreement Reciprocal Jurisdictions).
2. A U.S. jurisdiction that meets the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program (Accredited State Reciprocal Jurisdictions).

3. A non-U.S. jurisdiction recognized as a qualified jurisdiction that meets certain additional requirements consistent with the terms of a covered agreement (Qualified Jurisdiction Reciprocal Jurisdictions).

The requirements for reciprocal reinsurers under the revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 mirror the requirements for reinsurers under the Covered Agreement, and they would place the following additional requirements with respect to reciprocal reinsurers:

- Maintain minimum capital and surplus of no less than $250 million.
- Maintain a minimum solvency or capital ratio, as applicable, of 100% of the SCR or a risk-based capital (RBC) ratio of 300% of the authorized control level, or such other solvency or capital ratio that the commissioner determines is an effective measure of solvency.
- Provide certain assurances to the state insurance commissioner on a new form (Form RJ-1), which includes providing prompt notice to the state insurance commissioner in the event of noncompliance with the minimum capital and surplus and minimum solvency requirements; or serious noncompliance with applicable law, consent to service of process, consent to payment of final judgments, nonparticipation in solvent schemes; and other assurances.
- Provide annual audited financial statements and other specified financial information for the two years preceding entry into the reinsurance agreement, and file annual audited financial statements and other specified financial information on a semi-annual basis.
- Maintain a practice of prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force of the Financial Condition (E) Committee was responsible for drafting the revisions to the Model #785 and Model #786:

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted the following charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force and a Request for NAIC Model Law Development with respect to these charges, which were reapproved by the Committee for 2019:

- The Task Force is directed to develop revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to conform to the terms of the Covered Agreement.
- The Task Force is directed to develop revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to allow reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU to realize reinsurance collateral requirements similar to those provided under the Covered Agreement under specified circumstances. In order for an insurer domiciled in a qualified jurisdiction outside of the EU to receive the same collateral requirement treatment as provided to EU-domiciled reinsurers, that non-EU qualified jurisdiction must agree to adhere to all other standards imposed upon the EU in the Covered Agreement, including the requirement that the qualified jurisdiction must agree to recognize the states' approach to group supervision, including group capital. As part of its deliberations, the Task Force should consult with international regulators, in addition to all other interested parties.

- The Task Force is directed to develop revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to address the effect of a breach of the Covered Agreement (as determined pursuant to its terms) on a reinsurer's collateral obligations and the effect of a failure of a non-EU qualified jurisdiction to meet the standards imposed by its agreement or acknowledgment to adhere to the terms of the Covered Agreement and/or the model law and regulation.

- In conjunction with any revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786), the Qualified Jurisdiction (E) Working Group is directed to consider changes to the Process for Developing and Maintaining the NAIC List of Qualified Jurisdictions to require that qualified jurisdictions recognize key NAIC solvency initiatives, including group supervision, group capital standards, and as well as require strengthening of the information-sharing requirements between the states and qualified jurisdictions, in order for reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions to receive similar treatment to EU reinsurers under the Covered Agreement, and processes of removal of qualified jurisdiction status in the event of a breach.

- The Reinsurance Financial Analysis (E) Working Group is directed to consider changes in its current methods of monitoring certified reinsurers domiciled in Qualified Jurisdictions to incorporate changes to state reinsurance collateral requirements caused by the EU Covered Agreement and any changes to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to provide similar treatment to reinsurers domiciled in Qualified Jurisdictions.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc.). Include any parties outside the members that participated

At the 2017 Fall National Meeting, the NAIC membership tasked a leadership group of commissioners to develop a strategy for proceeding forward with revisions to Model #785 and Model #786. This included the 2018 NAIC officers: President Julie Mix McPeak (TN); President-Elect Eric A. Cioppa (ME); Vice President Raymond G. Farmer (SC); and Secretary-Treasurer Gordon I. Ito (HI). It also included Commissioner David Altmaier (FL), chair of the Financial Condition (E) Committee; then-Superintendent Maria T. Vullo (NY), then-chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force; and then-Director Peter L. Hartt (NJ), the state insurance commissioner representative on the Financial Stability Oversight Council (FSOC).

On Feb. 20, 2018, the NAIC and Reinsurance (E) Task Force held a public hearing in New York City to address the reinsurance collateral provisions of the Covered Agreement. The public hearing was presided over by Commissioner Mix McPeak, Commissioner Altmaier and then-Superintendent Vullo. Also in attendance at the public hearing were: then-Commissioner Katharine L. Wade (CT); Superintendent Cioppa; Director Chlora Lindley-Myers represented by John Rehagen (MO); then-Acting Commissioner Marlene Caride and then-Director Hartt (NJ); Superintendent Elizabeth Kelleher Dwyer (RI); Director Farmer; then-Commissioner Ted Nickel (WI); and Commissioner Tom Glause (WY). During the public hearing, the NAIC and the Task Force heard from 18 speakers, including a representative of the Treasury Department, as well as U.S. domestic insurers, U.S. trade associations, international reinsurers and international trade associations. The NAIC also received 20 comment letters from a wide variety of stakeholders and interested parties. There were approximately 160 people in attendance at the public hearing, with another 181 participating via conference call.

On March 14, 2018, a memorandum titled, "Covered Agreement: Proposed Next Steps," was sent to the Financial Condition (E) Committee by Commissioner Mix McPeak; Commissioner Altmaier, chair of the Committee; and then-Superintendent Vullo, then-chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force. This memorandum recommended that the Committee take the following actions with respect to the Covered Agreement, based on public comments and testimony received at the public hearing:

- Adopt a Request for NAIC Model Law Development with respect to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786). Specifically, these models should be revised to (a) conform to the requirements in the Covered Agreement with respect to EU reinsurers, and (b) provide reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU (currently, Bermuda, Japan, Switzerland and, after Brexit, the United Kingdom) with similar reinsurance collateral reductions as those to be implemented to comply with the Covered Agreement, with provisions regarding group supervision, group capital, information sharing and enforcement.

- Adopt charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, and its Qualified Jurisdiction (E) Working Group and Reinsurance Financial Analysis (E) Working Group to make certain revisions to Model #785 and Model #786, and to develop processes to implement the changes to the models.

- Adopt charges to the Capital Adequacy (E) Task Force and the Statutory Accounting Principles (E) Working Group to address related reinsurance collateral issues raised at the Public Hearing.

The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the Request for NAIC Model Law Development at the 2018 Spring National Meeting. The Executive (EX) Committee adopted the Request for NAIC Model Law Development for amendments to Model #785 and Model #786, as well as the proposed related charges for various Financial Condition (E) Committee groups, during its April 17, 2018, conference call. These charges were renewed for the 2019 calendar year.

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force adopted draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 at the 2018 Fall National Meeting. The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the revised models as adopted by the Task Force, but with direction to NAIC staff and the drafting group to consider if any further technical changes were needed that were consistent with the issues raised at the Task Force meeting. The Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary were prepared to consider the draft revisions for adoption during its Dec. 19, 2018, conference call; however, the vote was delayed due to feedback received from the Treasury Department and the USTR. In a memorandum to the Financial Condition (E) Committee dated Feb. 11, 2019, the NAIC leadership group on reinsurance made a recommendation that the Task Force and its drafting group consider making additional revisions to resolve the following issues:

- Recognition of Reciprocal Jurisdictions. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to a state insurance commissioner's discretion to make a determination as to whether an EU jurisdiction should be recognized as a Reciprocal Jurisdiction.

- Determination of Compliance with the Covered Agreement. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to a state insurance commissioner's discretion to determine whether each EU member state is in compliance with the Covered Agreement.

- Commissioner Discretion to Impose Additional Requirements. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to any additional requirements being imposed on EU reinsurers.

- Effective Date. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to the effective date provision in the model revisions regarding which reinsurance agreements and policies are covered.

- Service of Process. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to requiring assuming reinsurers to submit the confirmation of consent to service of process to each state in which the reinsurer intends to operate.

- Other Covered Agreement Issues. Whether any additional technical revisions are necessary to make the draft models more consistent with the Covered Agreement.

- Additional Requirements for Qualified Jurisdictions. Whether any additional revisions are necessary and appropriate with respect to requirements that are applicable to Qualified Jurisdictions but are not applicable to EU jurisdictions.

- Recognition of U.S. State Regulatory System by Qualified Jurisdictions. Whether any additional revisions are necessary with respect to the requirement for Qualified Jurisdictions to recognize aspects of the U.S. state regulatory system in order to be considered a Reciprocal Jurisdiction.

- Recognition of NAIC Accredited Jurisdictions as Reciprocal Jurisdictions. Whether U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Standards and Accreditation Program should be recognized as Reciprocal Jurisdictions.

The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted these recommendations during its Feb. 19, 2019, conference call. At the direction of Director Lindley-Myers, current chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 were released May 1, 2019, which were then approved by the Task Force during its May 15, 2019, conference call. The Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 during its May 28, 2019, conference call, with the following revision to Section 2F(7) of Model #785:

Credit may be taken under this subsection only for reinsurance agreements entered into, amended, or renewed ~~on or after the date on which the assuming insurer has satisfied the requirements to assume reinsurance under this subsection~~ on or after the effective date of the statute adding this subsection, and only with respect to losses incurred and reserves reported on or after the later of (i) the date on which the assuming insurer has met all eligibility requirements pursuant to Section 2F(1) herein, and (ii) the effective date of the new reinsurance agreement, amendment, or renewal.

Drafting Group. At the 2018 Summer National Meeting, then-Superintendent Vullo (NY), then-chair of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, directed NAIC staff to create an informal drafting group composed of members of the Task Force tasked with developing the initial draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 incorporating the provisions of the Covered Agreement for discussion and consideration by the Task Force. The members of the drafting group were composed of state insurance regulators from the following states: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Maine, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York and Texas. The drafting group met Aug. 16, Aug. 23, Sept. 5, Sept. 7, Oct. 22, Nov. 2 and Nov. 29, 2018, via conference call in regulator-to-regulator session. The drafting group also met Feb. 20, Feb. 22, Feb. 27, April 16 and April 30, 2019, via conference call in regulator-to-regulator session. The drafting group discussed and drafted multiple proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786, which were presented to the Task Force for consideration of adoption.

Federal and International Regulators. NAIC staff met via conference call with representatives of the European Commission on Oct. 29, 2018 and May 13, 2019, and received comment letters from the European Commission—dated Oct. 16, Nov. 16 and Dec. 18, 2018; and March 28 and May 13, 2019—in which the European Commission expressed concerns about the consistency of the draft revisions with the EU Covered Agreement. State insurance regulators and NAIC staff also met via conference call with representatives of the Treasury Department and the USTR on Nov. 16, Nov. 30 and Dec. 4, 2018, and on March 8, April 25 and May 23, 2019, to discuss their concerns regarding the consistency of the draft revisions with the Covered Agreement. During these conference calls, Director Steven Seitz (FIO) advised that any past or future discussion of Model #785 and Model #786 would be without prejudice to any future preemption analysis of state law the FIO may conduct. The Task Force and its drafting group took into account the concerns expressed by both the European Commission and the U.S. federal regulators, and the Task Force and its drafting group are of the opinion that the final revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 are entirely consistent with the provisions of the Covered Agreement.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Feb. 20, 2018, Public Hearing. On Feb. 20, 2018, the NAIC held a public hearing in New York City to address the reinsurance collateral provisions of the Covered Agreement. A detailed discussion of the public hearing and the actions taken by the Financial Condition (E) Committee and Executive (EX) Committee with respect to the results of the public hearing can be found under Section 4—General Description of the Drafting Process of this project history.

June 21, 2018, Exposure. On June 13, 2018, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force met in regulator-to-regulator session pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) and paragraph 8 (consideration of strategic planning issues) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings. During the conference call, the Task Force agreed to expose proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 dated June 21, 2018, for a public comment period ending July 23, 2018. The Task Force received 18 comment letters, which included 16 from international and domestic insurance companies and industry groups, as well as two from state insurance regulators. The Task Force discussed the comment letters at the 2018 Summer National Meeting and directed a newly formed drafting group to work with NAIC staff to consider the comments and determine whether to incorporate them into the models and create updated drafts.

Sept. 25, 2018, Exposure. The drafting group considered the comment letters received at the 2018 Summer National Meeting and prepared draft revisions for the consideration of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force, which met Sept. 25, 2018, in regulator-to-regulator session pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) and paragraph 8 (consideration of strategic planning issues) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings. The Task Force agreed to expose the proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for a 21-day public comment period ending Oct. 16, 2018. The Task Force received 14 comment letters on the Sept. 25, 2018, exposure documents, which were posted to the Task Force's page on the NAIC website for public viewing.

Nov. 9, 2018, Exposure. The drafting group considered the comment letters received on the Sept. 25, 2018, exposure and again prepared draft revisions for the consideration of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force. The Task Force met Nov. 9, 2018, in regulator-to-regulator session, pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) and paragraph 8 (consideration of strategic planning issues) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings, and agreed to release proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for discussion by the Task Force at the 2018 Fall National Meeting. The Task Force received 16 comment letters, which were discussed during its Nov. 17, 2018, meeting. At that meeting, the Task Force adopted the draft revisions to Model

#785 and Model #786, and the Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the revised models as adopted by the Task Force, but with direction to NAIC staff and the drafting group to consider if any further technical changes were needed consistent with the issues raised by the Task Force. A detailed discussion of the action taken by the Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary and the Financial Condition (E) Committee with respect to these draft revisions can be found under Section 4—General Description of the Drafting Process of this project history.

March 7, 2019, Exposure. The drafting group again considered the comment letters and public discussion, as well as recommendations made by the Financial Condition (E) Committee in its memorandum dated Feb. 11, 2019. The drafting group again prepared draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for discussion by the Task Force. The Task Force met March 7, 2019, in regulator-to-regulator session, pursuant to paragraph 6 (consultations with NAIC staff) of the NAIC Policy Statement on Open Meetings, and agreed to release proposed revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 on March 7, 2019, for a 25-day public comment period ending April 1, 2019. The Task Force received 10 comment letters on the March 7, 2019, exposure, which were discussed by the Task Force at the 2019 Spring National Meeting. The Task Force did not take a vote on the proposed revisions at this meeting, but it directed the drafting group to consider the comments heard and the comment letters received to update the draft revisions, which will not require a separate formal exposure period.

May 1, 2019, Exposure. The drafting group again considered the comment letters and public discussion, and it prepared draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 dated May 1, 2019, for discussion by the Reinsurance (E) Task Force during its May 15, 2019, conference call. During this conference call, the Task Force adopted the revisions and agreed to refer the proposed revisions to the Financial Condition (E) Committee for consideration of adoption.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

The following significant issues were discussed extensively with state insurance regulators and interested parties during the drafting process:

- NAIC Compliance with the Covered Agreement. The NAIC initially opposed the EU Covered Agreement, primarily for failing to provide for formal recognition of the U.S. by the EU as a fully "equivalent" regulatory jurisdiction for Solvency II purposes. Following the signing of the EU Covered Agreement, the NAIC released a statement that it was pleased that the Treasury Department and the USTR clarified its interpretation in key areas and appreciated their affirmation of the primacy of state-based insurance regulation. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force to develop revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 to conform to the terms of the Covered Agreement.

- Similar Treatment for Qualified Jurisdictions. In the NAIC "Notice of Public Hearing and Request for Comments," the Reinsurance (E) Task Force requested specific comments on providing reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions with similar reinsurance collateral requirements as those provided under the Covered Agreement. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Task Force to develop revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 to allow reinsurers domiciled in NAIC qualified jurisdictions other than within the EU to realize reinsurance collateral requirements similar to those provided under the Covered Agreement under specified circumstances. In order for an insurer domiciled in a qualified jurisdiction outside of the EU to receive the same collateral requirement treatment as provided to EU-domiciled reinsurers, the non-EU qualified jurisdiction must agree to adhere to all other standards imposed under the Covered Agreement, including the requirement that the qualified jurisdiction must agree to recognize the states' approach to group supervision, including group capital.

- Breach of the Covered Agreement. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force to develop revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 to address the effect of a breach of the Covered Agreement on a reinsurer's collateral obligations and the effect of a failure of a non-EU qualified jurisdiction to meet the standards imposed by its agreement or acknowledgment to adhere to the terms of the Covered Agreement and/or Model #785 and Model #786. The Sept. 25, 2018, exposure draft of Model #785 contained a requirement that the reciprocal jurisdiction "is a member state of the European Union, and has been determined by the Commissioner to be in compliance with all material terms of the agreement." In its comment letters, the European Commission argued that this section provides the commissioner with the power to determine if each individual EU member state complies with the terms of the Covered Agreement, which appears to be inconsistent with the terms of the Covered Agreement. The drafting group deleted this provision from the May 1, 2019, draft of Model #785, and substituted "is subject to an in-force covered agreement."

- Recognition of Qualified Jurisdictions. On April 17, 2018, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted a charge to the Qualified Jurisdiction (E) Working Group to consider changes to the Process for Developing and Maintaining the NAIC List of Qualified Jurisdictions to require that qualified jurisdictions recognize key NAIC solvency initiatives, including group supervision and group capital standards, as well as require the strengthening of the information-sharing requirements between the states and qualified jurisdictions, in order for reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions to receive similar treatment to EU reinsurers under the Covered Agreement, and processes of removal of qualified jurisdiction status in the event of a breach. The Nov. 9, 2018, exposure draft of Model #786 contained a provision that it "[r]ecognizes the U.S. state regulatory system, including its approach to group supervision and group capital, by providing through statute, regulation or the equivalent, including but not limited to confirmation by a competent regulatory authority, in such qualified jurisdiction…." Interested parties requested clarification on the process of recognition, and Section 9B(3)(c) of the March 7, 2019, exposure draft of Model #786 was revised to provide, as follows: "Recognizes the U.S. state regulatory approach to group supervision and group capital, by providing written confirmation by a competent regulatory authority, in such qualified jurisdiction…."

- Recognition of Group-wide Supervision. Due to concerns expressed by interested parties that Section 9B(3)(c) of Model #786 might act to change the group supervisor of a U.S.-domiciled affiliate, the drafting group clarified in a drafting note in the March 7, 2019, exposure that nothing in this provision is intended to enhance or limit the authority of U.S. state insurance regulation with respect to the group-wide supervision of insurance holding company systems pursuant to state law.

- Recognition of NAIC-Accredited Jurisdictions as Reciprocal Jurisdictions. The initial June 21, 2018, exposure drafts did not include U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program as reciprocal jurisdictions. Interested parties commented that this was not consistent with the current qualified jurisdiction provisions of Model #785 and Model #786, noting that U.S. reinsurers domiciled in accredited states should receive similar treatment to EU reinsurers and other reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force added U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirements for accreditation under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program as reciprocal jurisdictions in the March 7, 2019, exposure drafts.

- Memorandum of Understanding. At the suggestion of interested parties, the memorandum of understanding required for qualified jurisdictions and reciprocal jurisdictions under Section 9B of Model #786 was clarified to include the International Association of Insurance Supervisors' (IAIS) Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding (MMoU) or other multilateral memoranda of understanding coordinated by the NAIC in the Sept. 25, 2018, exposure.

- Annual Reduction in Collateral by 20%. Article 9(3)(a) of the Covered Agreement provides that "the United States shall encourage each U.S. State to promptly adopt the following measures: (a) the reduction, in each year following the date of entry into force or provisional application of this Agreement, of the amount of collateral required by each State to allow full credit for reinsurance by 20 percent of the collateral that the U.S. State required as of the January 1 before signature of this Agreement." The Task Force determined that it was not consistent with the current Model #785 and Model #786 to meet this requirement. Instead, the Task Force determined that the best course of action was to work in an expeditious manner to amend Model #785 and Model #786 for enactment by the states to eliminate collateral for assuming insurers domiciled in Covered Agreement jurisdictions.

- Commissioner Discretion: EU Jurisdictions. The European Commission's comment letters argued that the draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 contained additional requirements on EU reinsurers that were not provided in the Covered Agreement. For example, the European Commission argued that a state insurance commissioner does not have the discretion to determine whether an individual EU jurisdiction is in compliance with the Covered Agreement, and Section 9C(8) of Model #786 provided in its initial drafts that "the assuming insurer must satisfy any other requirements deemed relevant by the commissioner." The May 1, 2019, exposure drafts removed all elements of commissioner discretion with respect to reinsurers domiciled in Covered Agreement reciprocal jurisdictions.

- Commissioner Discretion: Qualified Jurisdictions. The original draft revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 contained additional requirements that were applicable to assuming insurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions, but they were not applicable to those reinsurers domiciled in jurisdictions subject to a Covered Agreement. For example, Section 2F(1)(h) of Model #785 required the assuming insurer to "satisfy any other requirement deemed relevant by the commissioner" for its cedant to receive the benefit of the credit for reinsurance provisions. In addition, the definition of "reciprocal jurisdiction" in Model #786 included "[s]uch additional factors as may be considered in the discretion of the commissioner." Interested parties representing qualified jurisdictions argued that the NAIC should work toward a framework that treats EU and non-EU jurisdictions equivalently and provide additional clarity regarding the standards imposed on non-EU jurisdictions. The May 1, 2019, exposure drafts have removed the remaining distinctions between EU and non-EU jurisdictions, and they treat qualified jurisdictions similarly to EU jurisdictions.

- Effective Date. The original June 21, 2018, draft of Section 2F(7) of Model #785 contains the following provision: "This subsection shall not apply to reinsurance agreements entered into before the subsection's application, or to losses incurred or to reserves posted before the subsection's application." This was to clarify that these revisions would not eliminate reinsurance collateral that is currently in place, similar to the current certified reinsurer provisions of Model #785 and Model #786. This provision was included in the Statement of the United States on the Covered Agreement with the European Union issued Sept. 22, 2017. There were concerns expressed by interested parties, including the European Commission, that this sentence was not consistent with Article 3(8) of the Covered Agreement. The Task Force removed this provision in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft.

  In its comment letter dated March 28, 2019, the European Commission also argued that Section 2F(7) was not consistent with Article 3(8) of the Covered Agreement, which provides that the Covered Agreement takes effect "only to reinsurance agreements entered into, amended, or renewed on or after the date on which a measure that reduces collateral pursuant to this Article takes effect…" The Task Force disagreed with this interpretation, noting that there are additional requirements contained in Article 3 of the Covered Agreement that also must be met before an EU reinsurer is permitted to eliminate reinsurance collateral, including meeting minimum capital and surplus requirements of $250 million, 100% SCR, consent to the jurisdiction of the courts, service of process requirements, filing of audited financial statements, actuarial opinions, list of all disputed and overdue claims, information on prompt payment of claims, etc. Therefore, the Task Force made the determination that Section 2F(7) should remain, as follows: "Credit may be taken under this subsection only for reinsurance agreements entered into, amended, or renewed on or after the date on which the assuming insurer has satisfied the requirements to assume reinsurance under this subsection, and only with respect to losses incurred and reserves reported on or after the later of (i) the date on which the assuming insurer has met all eligibility requirements pursuant to Section 2F(1) herein [emphasis added], and (ii) the effective date of the new reinsurance agreement, amendment, or renewal."

- Foreign Currency Exchange. Section 9C(2)(c), Section 9C(6)(b) and Section 9C(6)(c) of Model #786 in the initial June 21, 2018, exposure draft contained a reference to foreign currency exchange rates to calculate the $250 million capital and surplus requirement for EU reinsurers under Article 3(4)(a) of the Covered Agreement. The European Commission commented that a reference to foreign currency exchange rates was not necessary with respect to EU reinsurers, because the Covered Agreement made 226 million euros equivalent to $250 million for these purposes. The drafting group disagreed with this interpretation, but it removed the reference in the May 1, 2019, exposure draft of Model #786, because commissioners are already utilizing foreign currency exchange rates in the calculation of minimum capital and surplus with respect to certified reinsurers licensed and domiciled in qualified jurisdictions.

- Service of Process. Section 2F(1)(d)(ii) of the Sept. 25, 2018, draft to Model #785 provided: "The assuming insurer must consent in writing to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and to the appointment of the commissioner as agent for service of process. Either by law, regulation or request of the commissioner, such consent shall be included in each reinsurance agreement." The European Commission commented that Article 3(4)(e) of the Covered Agreement provides that "where applicable for 'service of process' purposes, the assuming reinsurer provides written confirmation to the Host supervisory authority of consent to the appointment of that supervisory authority as agent for service of process. The Host supervisory authority may require that such consent be provided to it and included in each reinsurance agreement under its jurisdiction." This section was amended in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft to be consistent with the Covered Agreement: "The assuming insurer must consent in writing to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and to the appointment of the commissioner as agent for service of process. The commissioner may require that consent for service of process be provided to the commissioner and included in each reinsurance agreement."

- Insolvency of U.S. Ceding Insurer. The June 21, 2018, exposure of Model #785 contained the following provision: "The commissioner shall require [emphasis added] an assuming insurer under this subsection to post one hundred percent (100%) security, for the benefit of the ceding insurer or its estate, upon the entry of an order of rehabilitation, liquidation or conservation against the ceding insurer." Interested parties noted that Article 3(4)(k) of the Covered Agreement instead provides: "if subject to a legal process of resolution, receivership, or winding-up proceedings as applicable, the ceding insurer, or its representative, [emphasis added] may seek and, if determined appropriate by the court in which the resolution, receivership, or winding-up proceedings is pending, may obtain an order [emphasis added] requiring that the assuming reinsurer post collateral for all outstanding ceded liabilities." The Task Force agreed that the Covered Agreement required the ceding insurer or its representative to seek such an order from the court, not the insurance commissioner, and amended Section 9H of Model #786 in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft accordingly.

- Audited Financial Statements for Certified Reinsurers. At the request of the European Commission, the drafting group and Reinsurance (E) Task Force amended Section 8B(4)(h) and Section 8B(7)(d) of Model #786 to require the filing of annual financial statements for certified reinsurers consistent with the requirements of Article 3(4)(h) of the Covered Agreement; i.e., two years of audited financial statements filed with the assuming insurer's supervisor. This makes the certified reinsurer provisions consistent with Article 3(4)(h)(i) of the Covered Agreement.

- Passporting Process. Section 9C(5) of the June 21, 2018, draft of Model #786 provided that the assuming insurer "must provide the following documentation to the commissioner." The European Commission noted that Article 3(4)(h) of the Covered Agreement provides that this information must only be provided "if requested by that supervisory authority." The Task Force amended Section 9C(5) in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft to be consistent with the language of the Covered Agreement, but it added a drafting note encouraging the states to utilize the "passporting" process under which the commissioner has the discretion to defer to another state's determination with respect to compliance. In order to facilitate the passporting process, the states will uniformly require assuming insurers to provide the documentation described in Section 9C(5) so that other states may rely on the lead state's determination.

- Serious Noncompliance. Section 9C(4)(a) of the Sept. 25, 2018, draft of Model #786 provided a definition for "serious noncompliance with applicable law" in order to promote uniformity among the states and provide guidance to reciprocal jurisdiction reinsurers. Interested parties noted that Article 3(4)(c)(ii) of the Covered Agreement does not contain a definition of "serious noncompliance," and, as such, the drafting group and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force deleted this definition in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft due to perceived inconsistency with the Covered Agreement.

- Solvent Schemes of Arrangement. The Nov. 9, 2018, exposure draft of Model #785 deleted the definition of "solvent scheme of arrangement" from Section 2F(1)(d)(v), but it retained it in Section 9C(4)(e) of Model #786. Interested parties recommended that the Reinsurance (E) Task Force should clarify that the requirements with respect to solvent schemes also apply to Part VII-like transfers under UK law, and U.S. state insurance regulators should treat Part VII transfers the same as solvent schemes of arrangement. Interested parties argued that Part VII transfers should not be treated differently than a solvent scheme for the purposes of triggering the posting of 100% collateral because a Part VII transfer typically produces the same result to ceding insurers as a commutation in that a Part VII transfer typically involves a transfer of assumed business by an assuming reinsurer to another reinsurer that: 1) does not write new business; 2) does not have access to additional capital; and 3) does not have the intent or ability to raise additional capital, if necessary, to satisfy all remaining assumed obligations. The drafting group and the Task Force determined not to make this clarification, and Part VII-like transfers are not intended to be solvent schemes of arrangement for the purposes of this provision.

- Reciprocal Jurisdiction Process. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force added a drafting note after Section 9D of Model #786 at the request of interested parties to address the process with respect to the revocation or suspension of the status of a reciprocal jurisdiction. Interested parties requested that the process specifically be included in either Model #785 or Model #786, but the drafting group determined that this process should be developed after adoption of the revisions to the models. The drafting group also added a provision to the drafting note in the March 7, 2019, exposure draft that "such process would not conflict with the terms of an in-force covered agreement" to clarify that such jurisdictions are automatically included on the NAIC List of Reciprocal Jurisdictions.

- Other Inconsistencies with the Covered Agreement. Throughout the exposure process, interested parties made numerous comments about perceived inconsistencies between the language of the Covered Agreement and the exposure drafts of Model #785 and Model #786. The drafting group and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force have made every attempt to conform the language of Model #785 and Model #786 to the specific language utilized by the Covered Agreement.

- Material Adverse Development Coverage. Interested parties commented that Section 2F(7) of Model #785 (Effective Date) does not account for certain agreements entered into in contemplation of some long-tail losses, such as adverse development covers that are signed after losses occur, but before the reserves have developed to be within the limits of the adverse development cover. This could have the unintended consequence of excluding adverse development coverage contracts from application of the reciprocal jurisdiction provisions. Tying the application of reciprocal status requirements to only those "losses incurred" after reciprocal status may negatively impact loss portfolio transfers and adverse development covers. The drafting group recognized the value of such reinsurance as a useful regulatory and commercial tool to facilitate the transfer of blocks of business and rehabilitate financially distressed companies, and discussed various options in addressing this issue, but ultimately it was unable to agree upon specific language satisfactory to everyone. In addition, there were some concerns expressed with providing the commissioner additional discretion in this area. Therefore, the Task Force does not take a position on whether material adverse development coverage agreements are or should be subject to reduced collateral authorized by the changes to the model law.

- Kroll Bond Rating Agency. On Dec. 3, 2017, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force adopted the recommendation that the states may consider Kroll Bond Rating Agency as an acceptable rating agency for certified reinsurer purposes, and the Task Force adopted the Uniform Application Checklist for Certified Reinsurers with the additional language, stating that it be "recognized by the SEC to provide financial strength ratings on insurance companies" and included the proposed matrix of ratings and collateral levels for use with Kroll Bond Rating Agency. However, the Task Force could not agree on language to amend the ratings matrix found in Section 8B of Model #786 to include Kroll Bond Rating Agency.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force has not had formal discussions with respect to whether the current Reinsurance Ceded accreditation standard under the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program should be amended to include the current revisions to Model #785 and/or Model #786. However, these revisions would have the effect of eliminating reinsurance collateral with respect to reinsurers domiciled in reciprocal jurisdictions, so, at a minimum, it will be necessary to amend the accreditation standards to reflect these revisions with respect to Reinsurance Ceded to Certified Reinsurers, which reduce but do not completely eliminate reinsurance collateral. In addition, it is further the recommendation of the Task Force that it is necessary to expeditiously modify these standards in accordance with the Procedure for the Adoption of Additional Model Laws, Regulations or Standards for Accreditation. This waiver in procedure is necessary because the states are expected to immediately begin considering these revisions for enactment into state law and regulation due to the 60-month (five-year) period in which the states are required to enact the revisions to in order to be consistent with the Covered Agreement or face potential federal preemption.

The Task Force has not determined whether these revisions should result in an "optional" accreditation standard or a "uniform" accreditation standard. The NAIC originally adopted the significant elements of the 2011 revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 as an "optional" accreditation standard. Specifically, under this optional standard, a state was not required to enact the certified reinsurer revisions to the models, but if it chose to reduce its reinsurance collateral requirements, the state's laws and regulations must be substantially similar to the key elements of the revisions. Upon further review and consultation with state insurance regulators and interested parties, the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee determined that the certified reinsurer provisions result in increased financial solvency regulation and increased consumer protection to policyholders, and they should be adopted as a "uniform" standard applicable to all NAIC-accredited jurisdictions under the "substantially similar" definition. The 2019 revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 could be considered under either an "optional" or a "uniform" accreditation standard.

Finally, the Task Force should consider whether to make the "passporting" process subject to the Part B: Regulatory Practices and Procedures accreditation standards. Generally, models are incorporated into the Part A: Laws and Regulations accreditation standards, but the NAIC's passporting process is not specifically required in Model #785 and/or Model #786. Model #786 does contain the following drafting note found after Section 9C(5):

> Drafting Note: In order to facilitate multi-state recognition of assuming insurers and to encourage uniformity among the states, the NAIC has initiated a process called "passporting" under which the commissioner has the discretion to defer to another state's determination with respect to compliance with this Section. Passporting is based upon individual state regulatory authority, and states are encouraged to act in a uniform manner in order to facilitate the passporting process. States are also encouraged to utilize the passporting process to reduce the amount of documentation filed with the states and reduce duplicate filings. It is anticipated that "lead" states will uniformly require assuming insurers to provide the documentation described in Section 9C(5) of this regulation, so that other states may rely upon the lead state's determination.

The Task Force should consider whether the passporting process should become part of the Part B accreditation requirements and require states to participate in passporting consistent with the guidance provided in the drafting note.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2011

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL LAW (#785)

CREDIT OF REINSURANCE MODEL REGULATION (#786)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

Under the current NAIC Credit for Reinsurance Model Law & Regulation, in order for U.S. ceding companies to receive reinsurance credit, the reinsurance must either be ceded to U.S. licensed reinsurers or secured by collateral representing 100% of U.S. liabilities for which the credit is recorded. The collateral requirements for non-U.S. licensed reinsurers have been a frequent subject of debate over the past decade, with various groups calling for the elimination of the collateral requirement for reinsurers licensed in well-regulated jurisdictions. On September 19, 2011, both the Reinsurance (E) Task Force and Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Regulation (#786) at a meeting held in Jersey City, New Jersey. These amendments will act to reduce reinsurance collateral requirements for non-U.S. reinsurers domiciled in qualified jurisdictions, and will be up for consideration by NAIC Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary at the Fall National Meeting in Washington, D.C.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Reinsurance Task Force of the Financial Condition (E) Committee was responsible for drafting the revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Models:

Thomas B. Considine, Chair	New Jersey	John M. Huff	Missouri
James J. Wrynn, Vice Chair	New York	Bruce R. Ramge	Nebraska
Jim L. Ridling	Alabama	Amy Parks	Nevada
Christina Urias	Arizona	Roger A. Sevigny	New Hampshire
Jay Bradford	Arkansas	John G. Franchini	New Mexico
Dave Jones	California	John D. Doak	Oklahoma
Thomas B. Leonardi	Connecticut	Michael F. Consedine	Pennsylvania
Karen Weldin Stewart	Delaware	Ramón Cruz-Colón	Puerto Rico
Kevin M. McCarty	Florida	Joseph Torti III	Rhode Island
Gordon I. Ito	Hawaii	David Black	South Carolina
Jack Messmore	Illinois	Neal T. Gooch	Utah
Stephen W. Robertson	Indiana	Stephen W. Kimbell	Vermont
James J. Donelon	Louisiana	Jacqueline K. Cunningham	Virginia
Eric A. Cioppa	Maine	Mike Kreidler	Washington
Mike Rothman	Minnesota	Ted Nickel	Wisconsin

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

This Project History supplements the Project History for the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework, which is attached hereto and incorporated by reference. The Task Force received charges in both 2009 and 2010 to "promote and facilitate the implementation of the adopted Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework." The project was specifically authorized in 2011 when the Task Force received the following charge: "Consider amendments to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation (#786) to incorporate key elements of the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework." The Executive (EX) Committee approved the model law request for revising the Model #785 and Model #786 at the 2010 Fall National Meeting.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The NAIC adopted the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework ("Framework") at its Winter 2008 National Meeting as the first step in an effort to facilitate cross-border reinsurance transactions and enhance competition within the U.S. market, while ensuring that U.S. insurers and policyholders are adequately protected against the risk of insolvency. The Framework recommended implementation through federal legislation in order to best preserve and improve state-based regulation of reinsurance, ensure timely and uniform implementation of this legislation throughout all NAIC member jurisdictions, and as a more comprehensive alternative to related federal legislation.

On September 15, 2009, the Reinsurance Task Force adopted the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Act of 2009, which was approved on September 23, 2009, by the NAIC Government Relations Leadership Council. This proposed federal legislation was based on the Framework, and underwent an extensive review process. The Task Force released drafts of the proposed federal legislation to the public on March 24, July 27 & September 3, 2009, and the legislation was extensively revised based upon comments received from regulators and interested parties. The Task Force also held an open forum in New York on May 6-7, 2009, to receive public comments on the legislation, in addition to the numerous opportunities for public comment that were afforded during the drafting of the Framework.

The NAIC was unable to find a sponsor for the federal legislation in Congress, and it did not receive passage. Instead, Congress enacted the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010, which was signed into law on July 21, 2010. This act includes the Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act ("NRRA"), as well as creates the Federal Insurance Office ("FIO"). The NRRA prohibits a state from denying credit for reinsurance if the domiciliary state of the ceding insurer recognizes such credit and is either (1) an NAIC-accredited state; or (2) has financial solvency requirements substantially similar to NAIC accreditation requirements. This permitted the NAIC to move forward with individual state-based reinsurance collateral reduction reforms.

The revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Models were drafted by the Task Force through a deliberate process that included two exposure periods and consideration of voluminous comments submitted by interested parties representing U.S. ceding insurers, non-U.S. reinsurers and regulators. Much of the actual drafting of the language within the proposal was undertaken during regulator-to-regulator sessions due to discussion of company specific information and consultation with NAIC staff. The Task Force considered comments from interested parties related to each of these exposure drafts in order to further develop and refine the revisions. In many cases, specific concepts or specific language recommended by interested parties has been included within the revisions, as deemed appropriate by the Task Force. In addition, the Task Force considered information that it received from various international regulators.

The Reinsurance Task Force further adopted a Preface to the Credit for Reinsurance Models on September 19, 2011. The Preface is a statement by the Task Force of the next steps to be taken after the adoption of the revised models, including (1) a proposal to form a new group to provide high quality review of reinsurance collateral reduction applications and assistance to the states; (2) consider reinsurance diversification and notification requirements for ceding insurers; (3) requirements for NAIC review and approval of qualified jurisdiction; and (4) a re-examination of the collateral requirements within two years after the effective date of the revised Credit for Reinsurance Models.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

On February 22, 2011, the Task Force released exposure drafts of revisions to Model #785 and Model #786 for a 30-day comment period. The Task Force received several comment letters from interested parties and discussed these drafts on March 26 during the Spring National Meeting in Austin, Texas. The Task Force then held an interim meeting in Jersey City, New Jersey on July 11 and took public testimony from interested parties on the proposed amendments. On July 26, the Task Force released a second set of proposed amendments to the Credit for Reinsurance Models, which were exposed for a 30-day public comment period ending on August 24. The Task Force and Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted these drafts at a meeting in Jersey City, New Jersey on September 19, with additional amendments made during each meeting (discussion following). Some of the major revisions to the models include:

- Each state will have the authority to certify reinsurers, or a commissioner has the authority to recognize the certification issued by another NAIC-accredited state. This eliminates the need for a reinsurer to be evaluated by each and every state, but preserves a commissioner's right to do so.

- Reinsurers are subject to certain criteria in order to be eligible for certification, as well as ongoing requirements in order to maintain certification. Examples of evaluation criteria include, but are not limited to, financial strength, timely claims payment history, and the requirement that a reinsurer be domiciled and licensed in a "qualified jurisdiction."

- Each state may evaluate a non-U.S. jurisdiction in order to determine if it is a "qualified jurisdiction." The state may also defer to an NAIC list of recommended qualified jurisdictions.

- A certified reinsurer will be eligible for collateral reduction with respect to contracts entered into or renewed subsequent to certification [Note: clarification added in September 19 amendments]. A state will evaluate a reinsurer that applies for certification, and will assign a rating based on the evaluation. A certified reinsurer will be required to post collateral in an amount that corresponds with its assigned rating (0%, 10%, 20%, 50%, 75% or 100%), in order for a U.S. ceding insurer to be allowed full credit for the reinsurance ceded. Note: in the July 26 revisions, the collateral/rating matrix was changed with regard to companies with A- financial strength ratings, and a new Secure 4 tier was added for A- rating at 50% collateral.

- A certified reinsurer is allowed to utilize a multiple-beneficiary trust account for the purposes of securing its obligations to U.S. ceding insurers, but it must be separate from any existing multiple-beneficiary trust account.

- Proportional credit will still be permitted if there is insufficient security provided by a certified reinsurer. Specific provisions are also included to address a change in, or revocation of, the certified reinsurer's status.

- Contracts entered into by certified reinsurers are subject to certain mandatory contract clauses in order for a U.S. ceding insurer to be allowed credit for the reinsurance ceded.

- Certified reinsurers are subject to additional filing requirements, including but not limited to new forms CR-1, CR-F and CR-S.

- The revised models also include proposed changes with respect to the trusteed surplus requirement for a multiple-beneficiary trust account maintained by an assuming insurer in run-off (Tawa proposal).

- Finally, technical amendments were incorporated into the models revising language that had grown outdated and needed updating.

On September 19, 2011, both the Task Force and Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted additional revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Models, but the amendments made during this meeting were not exposed for a public comment period. However, each of the revisions addressed issues that had been substantively debated by both the Task Force and interested parties over the previous years during discussions regarding the Framework and proposed federal legislation, as well as the revisions to the models. These revisions can be summarized as follows:

- Prospective Application. The Task Force adopted an amendment intended for clarification and to close a perceived loophole with respect to the effective date of the revised reinsurance collateral requirements, and to confirm that any potential collateral reductions would be phased-in as any future reductions would be done on a prospective basis and any prior liabilities would remain secured at 100% collateral.

- PCI/RAA Compromise. The Task Force adopted amendments related to a compromise proposal submitted by the Property Casualty Insurers Association of America ("PCI") and the Reinsurance Association of America ("RAA") regarding 4 important issues: (1) 30-day comment period on application for certified reinsurer status; (2) slow payment analysis of reinsurers; (3) financial statement reporting requirements for certified reinsurers and applicants for certification; and (4) disclosure of reinsurance counterparty information on new forms CR-S and CR-F. The specific amendments adopted as part of the PCI/RAA compromise include.

    1. Information will be provided with respect to how interested parties may specifically respond/comment on applications for certified reinsurers during a 30-day notice period. However, this should not trigger any Administrative Procedures Act requirements;

    2. The reputation of the certified reinsurer for prompt payment of claims under reinsurance agreements will now be based specifically on an analysis of cedents' Schedule F reporting of overdue reinsurance recoverables, and may increase collateral requirements in certain specified situations;

3. Certified Reinsurers must submit audited financial statements, and, with the permission of the state insurance commissioner, audited IFRS statements with reconciliation to U.S. GAAP certified by an officer of the company are acceptable;

4. Certified reinsurers must submit Forms CR-S or CR-F, at a level of detail in accordance with instructions to be developed by the NAIC.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

- Federal v. State Implementation. The Framework recommended implementation through federal legislation in order to best preserve and improve state-based regulation of reinsurance, ensure timely and uniform implementation of this legislation throughout all NAIC member jurisdictions, and as a more comprehensive alternative to related federal legislation. The NAIC was unable to find congressional sponsorship for this proposed federal legislation. The Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act, which became effective July 21, 2011, preempts the extraterritorial application of state credit for reinsurance law, and now permits states to proceed forward with reinsurance collateral reforms on an individual basis if they are accredited.

- Federal Insurance Office. The Dodd-Frank Act established the FIO to receive information on the insurance sector from the NAIC and enter into binding "covered agreements" with international bodies. It is widely understood that reinsurance collateral may be an initial subject of these agreements. The Dodd Frank Act allows the office in Treasury to preempt a state insurance measure to the extent that it (1) results in less favorable treatment of a non-U.S. insurer domiciled in a foreign jurisdiction that is subject to a covered agreement than a U.S. insurer domiciled, licensed, admitted, or otherwise authorized in that state; and (2) is inconsistent with such covered agreement.

- Individual State Initiatives. Some states have begun moving forward with individual state-based reinsurance collateral reforms. Florida adopted changes to its credit for reinsurance laws and regulations in 2007 and 2008 respectively, New York adopted similar changes in November 2010, and New Jersey and Indiana recently enacted similar legislation as well. In addition, bills have been discussed in Illinois, Texas and Louisiana, as well as other states. In response, the NAIC Plenary approved the Recommendations Regarding Key Elements of the Reinsurance Framework for Accreditation Purposes in December 2010.

- Requirements for Certified Reinsurers. The Task Force addressed what requirements an assuming insurer must meet in order to be approved as a certified reinsurer, and the specific information that certified reinsurers should be required to file, including questions regarding proposed schedules CR-F and CR-S as well as financial statements.

- Reciprocity. The NAIC Reinsurance Supervision Review Department (RSRD) Proposal in 2007 proposed a mutual recognition framework that would take into consideration the reciprocal treatment of non-U.S. jurisdictions. At the request of interested parties, the NAIC Legal Division issued a memorandum addressing the constitutional issues of the mutual recognition framework on July 15, 2008. The Framework adopted in December of 2008 provided that the reciprocal treatment of non-U.S. reinsurers would be a factor to be considered in the review of non-U.S. jurisdictions. The model regulation considers mutual recognition to be a factor in reviewing non-U.S. jurisdictions.

- Concentration of Risk. The Task Force considered restrictions to limit concentration risk by a ceding insurer to any reinsurer or group of reinsurers. The Task Force will make a referral to E Committee to address this issue.

- Life Reinsurance & Other Long Tail Contracts. The Task Force considered whether special limitations should be placed on life insurance and other longer tail-types of reinsurance agreements. The Reinsurance Framework Proposal originally included a 2-year moratorium on collateral reduction to life contracts, but the revised models no longer include this distinction.

- Reconciliation to U.S. GAAP. The Task Force considered the accounting and reporting basis that would be applicable to financial statements filed by certified reinsurers. Earlier versions of the models required financial statements to be filed on an audited U.S. GAAP basis, or on an IFRS basis with an audited reconciliation to U.S. GAAP for equity and net income. At the September 19 meetings, an amendment was adopted to allow audited IFRS statements with reconciliation to U.S. GAAP certified by an officer of the company, with the permission of the state insurance commissioner.

- Prospective Application of Revisions. During the course of drafting the Framework and model revisions, the Task Force has consistently taken the position that any potential collateral reductions would be phased-in as any future reductions would be done on a prospective basis and any prior liabilities would remain secured at 100% collateral. Property and Casualty ceding insurers were strongly opposed to permitting reinsurance collateral under existing reinsurance agreements to be reduced or eliminated. Reinsurers and some ceding insurers would like to be able to amend existing agreements to reduce collateral requirements. At the September 19, 2011 meetings the Task Force adopted an amendment intended for clarification and to close a perceived loophole with respect to the effective date of the revised reinsurance collateral requirements.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

In December 2010, the NAIC Plenary approved the Recommendations Regarding Key Elements of the Reinsurance Framework for Accreditation Purposes (Accreditation Recommendations), which are the key elements of the Reinsurance Regulatory Modernization Framework that should be considered in reviewing any individual state initiatives with respect to reinsurance collateral reduction reforms. The Accreditation Recommendations were intended as an interim solution to guide the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee and the NAIC during the transition period between adoption of the Framework and proposed revisions to the reinsurance models.

The revisions, if adopted, would become part of the Credit for Reinsurance Models, and would be considered by the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee as an amendment to the existing standard for Reinsurance Ceded. It should also be noted that the proposed revisions to the models would not require a state to reduce its reinsurance collateral requirements. It is further the recommendation of the Task Force that it is necessary to expeditiously modify these standards in accordance with the Procedure for the Adoption of Additional Model Laws, Regulations or Standards for Accreditation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2006

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL REGULATION (#786)

1. Project Description

Prior to changes made to the U.S. Bankruptcy Code §304, there existed a tension between McCarran-Ferguson and the Bankruptcy Code, and which would prevail in the event of a direct challenge on point.

The Task Force adopted certain revisions to the model regulation, which was considered unnecessary and potentially inconsistent with Section 304 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code. The revision relates to Section 10(b)(14), which governs the procedure for administering the assets of a single beneficiary trust.

In the 1990's, amendments were made to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Act and Regulation aimed at addressing concerns adopting parallel language for single beneficiary trusts (SBTs) versus multiple beneficiary trusts (MBTs). However, with the following amendment to the Bankruptcy code, that language is no longer required.

Bankruptcy Code Amendments

Congress recently adopted amendments to the Bankruptcy Code, including the following which can be found in a new Chapter 15 to U.S.C. Title II, §1501(d):

> The court may not grant relief under this chapter with respect to any deposit, escrow, trust fund, or other security required or permitted under any applicable State insurance law or regulation for the benefit of claim holders in the United States.

This language is broad enough to apply to all security devices, whether MBTs or SBTs. This section makes clear and summarizes the treatment of trusts, the requirement that they be maintained in the U.S. and that assets be distributed in accordance with the laws of the state in which the trust is domiciled.

The Task Force also referred the issue to the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee so that for accreditation purposes, both the current model law and regulation as well as any amended version(s) arising from changes relating to this issue, be considered acceptable.

2. Group Responsible for the Report

The project was assigned to the Reinsurance (G) Task Force. The members of the task force at the time were: Julie Bowler (MA), Chair; John Oxendine (GA), Vice-Chair; Walter Bell (AL); John Garamendi (CA); Susan Cogswell (CT); Matthew Denn (DE); Thomas Hampton (DC); Kevin McCarty (FL); Michael McRaith (IL); Martin Koetters (KY); Alessandro Iuppa (ME); Glenn Wilson (MN); Alice Molasky-Arman (NV); Roger Sevigny (NH); Steven Goldman (NJ); Howard Mills (NY); Jim Poolman (ND); Diane Koken (PA); Dorelisse Juarbe Jimenez (PR); Mike Geeslin (TX); Alfred Gross (VA); Mike Kriedler (WA) and Jorge Gomez (WI).

3. Charge Authorizing the Project

As part of the NAIC 2006 Model Law Review, changes were proposed to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation.

4. General Description of the Drafting Process and Discussion of Key Issues

The issue was proposed while changes to the U.S. bankruptcy code were in the process of being amended. After the changes were reviewed, it was determined that Section 10(b)(14) was unnecessary. The proposed amendment to the Model Regulation was exposed for a 60-day comment period where no opposition came from either interested parties or regulators. Receiving no additional comments or disagreement with the proposal, the task force adopted amendments during the NAIC 2006 Spring National Meeting.

PROJECT HISTORY – 2001

CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE MODEL REGULATION (#786)

1. Project Description

The Reinsurance (G) Task Force was charged with reviewing the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation to allow multi-beneficiary trust funds to be funded, in whole or in part, with clean, irrevocable, unconditional "evergreen" letters of credit. The charge was proposed by the Task Force at the NAIC 2000 Spring National Meeting.

2. Group Responsible for the Report

The project was assigned to the Reinsurance (G) Task Force. The members of the task force at that time were: John Oxendine (GA), Chair; Alessandro Iuppa (ME), Harry Low (CA), Donna Lee Williams (DE), Nathaniel Shapo (IL), Neil Levin (NY), Diane Koken (PA), and Jose Montemayor (TX). New members of the Task Force during the NAIC 2001 Spring National Meeting were Elisara Togiai (AS) and David Parsons (AL) replacing Pennsylvania.

3. Charge Authorizing the Project

The following charge was given to the Reinsurance (G) Task Force on March 12, 2000:

> The Reinsurance (G) Task Force shall consider the adequacy and appropriateness of currently applicable collateralization requirement regarding alien insurers.

4. General Description of the Drafting Process and Discussion of Key Issues

A draft of revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation was prepared in November 2000 by the task force, with input from interested parties. The task force accepted these amendments and proposed additional revisions from a January 25, 2001 conference call. The new additions give the trustee the right and the obligation to immediately draw down the full amount of the letter of credit and hold the proceeds in trust for the beneficiaries of the trust if the letter of credit will otherwise expire before being renewed or replaced. Also, the failure of the trustee to draw against the letter of credit in circumstances where such draw would be required shall be deemed to be negligence and/or willful misconduct. The Regulation was presented and adopted by the Task Force and the Special Insurance Issues (G) Committee at the NAIC 2001 Spring National Meeting.

TERM AND UNIVERSAL LIFE INSURANCE RESERVE FINANCING MODEL REGULATION

TABLE OF CONTENTS:

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is adopted and promulgated by [title of supervisory authority] pursuant to [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 5 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law] of the [name of state] Insurance Code.

Section 2. Purpose and Intent

The purpose and intent of this regulation is to establish uniform, national standards governing reserve financing arrangements pertaining to life insurance policies containing guaranteed nonlevel gross premiums, guaranteed nonlevel benefits and universal life insurance policies with secondary guarantees; and to ensure that, with respect to each such financing arrangement, funds consisting of Primary Security and Other Security, as defined in Section 5, are held by or on behalf of ceding insurers in the forms and amounts required herein. In general, reinsurance ceded for reserve financing purposes has one or more of the following characteristics: some or all of the assets used to secure the reinsurance treaty or to capitalize the reinsurer (1) are issued by the ceding insurer or its affiliates; or (2) are not unconditionally available to satisfy the general account obligations of the ceding insurer; or (3) create a reimbursement, indemnification or other similar obligation on the part of the ceding insurer or any if its affiliates (other than a payment obligation under a derivative contract acquired in the normal course and used to support and hedge liabilities pertaining to the actual risks in the policies ceded pursuant to the reinsurance treaty).

Section 3. Applicability

This regulation shall apply to reinsurance treaties that cede liabilities pertaining to Covered Policies, as that term is defined in Section 5B, issued by any life insurance company domiciled in this state. This regulation and [insert provision of state law equivalent to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation] shall both apply to such reinsurance treaties; provided, that in the event of a direct conflict between the provisions of this regulation and [insert provision of state law equivalent to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation], the provisions of this regulation shall apply, but only to the extent of the conflict.

Section 4. Exemptions from this Regulation

This regulation does not apply to the situations described in Subsections A through F.

A. Reinsurance of:

(1) Policies that satisfy the criteria for exemption set forth in [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 6F of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] or [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 6G of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation]; and which are issued before the later of:

(a) The effective date of this regulation, and

(b) The date on which the ceding insurer begins to apply the provisions of VM-20 to establish the ceded policies' statutory reserves, but in no event later than Jan 1, 2020;

(2) Portions of policies that satisfy the criteria for exemption set forth in [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 6E of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] and which are issued before the later of:

(a) The effective date of this regulation, and

(b) The date on which the ceding insurer begins to apply the provisions of VM-20 to establish the ceded policies' statutory reserves, but in no event later than Jan. 1, 2020;

(3) Any universal life policy that meets all of the following requirements:

(a) Secondary guarantee period, if any, is five (5) years or less;

(b) Specified premium for the secondary guarantee period is not less than the net level reserve premium for the secondary guarantee period based on the Commissioners Standard Ordinary (CSO) valuation tables and valuation interest rate applicable to the issue year of the policy; and

(c) The initial surrender charge is not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the first year annualized specified premium for the secondary guarantee period;

(4) Credit life insurance;

(5) Any variable life insurance policy that provides for life insurance, the amount or duration of which varies according to the investment experience of any separate account or accounts; or

(6) Any group life insurance certificate unless the certificate provides for a stated or implied schedule of maximum gross premiums required in order to continue coverage in force for a period in excess of one year.

B. Reinsurance ceded to an assuming insurer that meets the applicable requirements of [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 2D of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law]; or

C. Reinsurance ceded to an assuming insurer that meets the applicable requirements of [insert provisions of state law equivalent to Sections 2A, 2B or 2C, of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law], and that, in addition:

(1) Prepares statutory financial statements in compliance with the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual, without any departures from NAIC statutory accounting practices and procedures pertaining to the admissibility or valuation of assets or liabilities that increase the assuming insurer's reported surplus and are material enough that they need to be disclosed in the financial statement of the assuming insurer pursuant to Statement of Statutory Accounting Principles No. 1 ("SSAP 1"); and

(2) Is not in a Company Action Level Event, Regulatory Action Level Event, Authorized Control Level Event, or Mandatory Control Level Event as those terms are defined in [insert provision of state law equivalent to the Risk-Based Capital (RBC) for Insurers Model Act] when its RBC is calculated in accordance with the life risk-based capital report including overview and instructions for companies, as the same may be amended by the NAIC from time to time, without deviation; or

D. Reinsurance ceded to an assuming insurer that meets the applicable requirements of [insert provisions of state law equivalent to Sections 2A, 2B or 2C, of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law], and that, in addition:

(1) Is not an affiliate, as that term is defined in [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 1A of the Insurance Holding Company System Regulatory Model Act], of:

(a) The insurer ceding the business to the assuming insurer; or

(b) Any insurer that directly or indirectly ceded the business to that ceding insurer;

(2) Prepares statutory financial statements in compliance with the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual;

(3) Is both:

(a) Licensed or accredited in at least 10 states (including its state of domicile), and

(b) Not licensed in any state as a captive, special purpose vehicle, special purpose financial captive, special purpose life reinsurance company, limited purpose subsidiary, or any other similar licensing regime; and

(4) Is not, or would not be, below 500% of the Authorized Control Level RBC as that term is defined in [insert provision of state law equivalent to the Risk-Based Capital (RBC) for Insurers Model Act] when its Risk-Based Capital (RBC) is calculated in accordance with the life risk-based capital report including overview and instructions for companies, as the same may be amended by the NAIC from time to time, without deviation, and without recognition of any departures from NAIC statutory accounting practices and procedures pertaining to the admission or valuation of assets or liabilities that increase the assuming insurer's reported surplus; or

E. Reinsurance ceded to an assuming insurer that meets the requirements of [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 5B(4) of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law]; or Drafting Note: A state may satisfy the requirements of Section 4E above by either adopting Section 5B(4) of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785), or it may include the specific provisions of Section 5B(4) of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) directly into its adoption of this regulation, Term and Universal Life Insurance Reserve Financing Model Regulation (#787).

F. Reinsurance not otherwise exempt under Subsections A through E if the commissioner, after consulting with the NAIC Financial Analysis Working Group (FAWG) or other group of regulators designated by the NAIC, as applicable, determines under all the facts and circumstances that all of the following apply:

(1) The risks are clearly outside of the intent and purpose of this regulation (as described in Section 2 above);

(2) The risks are included within the scope of this regulation only as a technicality; and

(3) The application of this regulation to those risks is not necessary to provide appropriate protection to policyholders. The commissioner shall publicly disclose any decision made pursuant to this Section 4F to exempt a reinsurance treaty from this regulation, as well as the general basis therefor (including a summary description of the treaty).

Drafting Note: The exemption set forth in Section 4F was added to address the possibility of unforeseen or unique transactions. This exemption exists because the NAIC recognizes that foreseeing every conceivable type of reinsurance transaction is impossible; that in rare instances unanticipated transactions might get caught up in this regulation purely as a technicality; and that regulatory relief in those instances may be appropriate. The example that was given at the time this exemption was developed pertained to bulk reinsurance treaties where the ceding insurer was exiting the type of business ceded. The exemption should not be used with respect to so-called "normal course" reinsurance transactions; rather, such transactions should either fit within one of the standard exemptions set forth in Sections 4A, B, C, D, or E or meet the substantive requirements of this regulation.

Section 5. Definitions

A. "Actuarial Method" means the methodology used to determine the Required Level of Primary Security, as described in Section 6.

B. "Covered Policies" means the following: Subject to the exemptions described in Section 4, Covered Policies are those policies, other than Grandfathered Policies, of the following policy types:

(1) Life insurance policies with guaranteed nonlevel gross premiums and/or guaranteed nonlevel benefits, except for flexible premium universal life insurance policies; or,

(2) Flexible premium universal life insurance policies with provisions resulting in the ability of a policyholder to keep a policy in force over a secondary guarantee period.

C. "Grandfathered Policies" means policies of the types described in Subsections B1 and B2 above that were:

(1) Issued prior to January 1, 2015; and

(2) Ceded, as of December 31, 2014, as part of a reinsurance treaty that would not have met one of the exemptions set forth in Section 4 had that section then been in effect.

D. "Non-Covered Policies" means any policy that does not meet the definition of Covered Policies, including Grandfathered Policies.

E. "Required Level of Primary Security" means the dollar amount determined by applying the Actuarial Method to the risks ceded with respect to Covered Policies, but not more than the total reserve ceded.

F. "Primary Security" means the following forms of security:

(1) Cash meeting the requirements of [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 3A of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law];

(2) Securities listed by the Securities Valuation Office meeting the requirements of [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 3B of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law], but excluding any synthetic letter of credit, contingent note, credit-linked note or other similar security that operates in a manner similar to a letter of credit, and excluding any securities issued by the ceding insurer or any of its affiliates; and

(3) For security held in connection with funds-withheld and modified coinsurance reinsurance treaties:

(a) Commercial loans in good standing of CM3 quality and higher;

(b) Policy Loans; and

(c) Derivatives acquired in the normal course and used to support and hedge liabilities pertaining to the actual risks in the policies ceded pursuant to the reinsurance treaty.

G. "Other Security" means any security acceptable to the commissioner other than security meeting the definition of Primary Security.

H. "Valuation Manual" means the valuation manual adopted by the NAIC as described in Section 11B(1) of the Standard Valuation Law, with all amendments adopted by the NAIC that are effective for the financial statement date on which credit for reinsurance is claimed.

Drafting Note: Section 5H presumes that each state is permitted under its state laws to directly reference the Valuation Manual adopted by the NAIC. If a state is required by its state laws to reference a state law or regulation, it should modify Section 5H as appropriate to do so.

I. "VM-20" means "Requirements for Principle-Based Reserves for Life Products," including all relevant definitions, from the Valuation Manual.

Drafting Note: Sections 5H and I presume that each state is permitted under its state laws to "adopt" the Valuation Manual in a manner similar to how the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual becomes effective in many states, without a separate regulatory process such as adoption by regulation. It is desirable that all states adopt the Valuation Manual requirements and that such adoption be achieved without a separate state regulatory process in order to achieve uniformity of reserve standards in all states. However, to the extent that a state may need to adopt the valuation manual through a formal state regulatory process, these sections may be amended to reflect any state's need to adopt the Valuation Manual through regulation or otherwise.

Section 6. The Actuarial Method

A. Actuarial Method

The Actuarial Method to establish the Required Level of Primary Security for each reinsurance treaty subject to this regulation shall be VM-20, applied on a treaty-by-treaty basis, including all relevant definitions, from the Valuation Manual as then in effect, applied as follows:

(1) For Covered Policies described in Section 5B(1) above, the Actuarial Method is the greater of the Deterministic Reserve or the Net Premium Reserve (NPR) regardless of whether the criteria for exemption testing can be met. However, if the Covered Policies do not meet the requirements of the Stochastic Reserve exclusion test in the Valuation Manual, then the Actuarial Method is the greatest of the Deterministic Reserve, the Stochastic Reserve, or the NPR. In addition, if such Covered Policies are reinsured in a reinsurance treaty that also contains Covered Policies described in Section 5B(2) above, the ceding insurer may elect to instead use paragraph 2 below as the Actuarial Method for the entire reinsurance agreement. Whether Paragraph 1 or 2 are used, the Actuarial Method must comply with any requirements or restrictions that the Valuation Manual imposes when aggregating these policy types for purposes of principle-based reserve calculations.

(2) For Covered Policies described in Section 5B(2) above, the Actuarial Method is the greatest of the Deterministic Reserve, the Stochastic Reserve, or the NPR regardless of whether the criteria for exemption testing can be met.

(3) Except as provided in Paragraph (4) below, the Actuarial Method is to be applied on a gross basis to all risks with respect to the Covered Policies as originally issued or assumed by the ceding insurer.

(4) If the reinsurance treaty cedes less than one hundred percent (100%) of the risk with respect to the Covered Policies then the Required Level of Primary Security may be reduced as follows:

(a) If a reinsurance treaty cedes only a quota share of some or all of the risks pertaining to the Covered Policies, the Required Level of Primary Security, as well as any adjustment under Subparagraph (c) below, may be reduced to a pro rata portion in accordance with the percentage of the risk ceded;

(b) If the reinsurance treaty in a non-exempt arrangement cedes only the risks pertaining to a secondary guarantee, the Required Level of Primary Security may be reduced by an amount determined by applying the Actuarial Method on a gross basis to all risks, other than risks related to the secondary guarantee, pertaining to the Covered Policies, except that for Covered Policies for which the ceding insurer did not elect to apply the provisions of VM-20 to establish statutory reserves, the Required Level of Primary Security may be reduced by the statutory reserve retained by the ceding insurer on those Covered Policies, where the retained reserve of those Covered Policies should be reflective of any reduction pursuant to the cession of mortality risk on a yearly renewable term basis in an exempt arrangement;

(c) If a portion of the Covered Policy risk is ceded to another reinsurer on a yearly renewable term basis in an exempt arrangement, the Required Level of Primary Security may be reduced by the amount resulting by applying the Actuarial Method including the reinsurance section of VM-20 to the portion of the Covered Policy risks ceded in the exempt arrangement, except that for Covered Policies issued prior to Jan 1, 2017, this adjustment is not to exceed [c_x/ (2 * number of reinsurance premiums per year)] where c_x is calculated using the same mortality table used in calculating the Net Premium Reserve; and

(d) For any other treaty ceding a portion of risk to a different reinsurer, including but not limited to stop loss, excess of loss and other non-proportional reinsurance treaties, there will be no reduction in the Required Level of Primary Security.

It is possible for any combination of Subparagraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) above to apply. Such adjustments to the Required Level of Primary Security will be done in the sequence that accurately reflects the portion of the risk ceded via the treaty. The ceding insurer should document the rationale and steps taken to accomplish the adjustments to the Required Level of Primary Security due to the cession of less than one hundred percent (100%) of the risk.

The Adjustments for other reinsurance will be made only with respect to reinsurance treaties entered into directly by the ceding insurer. The ceding insurer will make no adjustment as a result of a retrocession treaty entered into by the assuming insurers.

(5) In no event will the Required Level of Primary Security resulting from application of the Actuarial Method exceed the amount of statutory reserves ceded.

(6) If the ceding insurer cedes risks with respect to Covered Policies, including any riders, in more than one reinsurance treaty subject to this Regulation, in no event will the aggregate Required Level of Primary Security for those reinsurance treaties be less than the Required Level of Primary Security calculated using the Actuarial Method as if all risks ceded in those treaties were ceded in a single treaty subject to this Regulation;

(7) If a reinsurance treaty subject to this Regulation cedes risk on both Covered and Non-Covered Policies, credit for the ceded reserves shall be determined as follows:

(a) The Actuarial Method shall be used to determine the Required Level of Primary Security for the Covered Policies, and Section 7 shall be used to determine the reinsurance credit for the Covered Policy reserves; and

(b) Credit for the Non-Covered Policy reserves shall be granted only to the extent that security, in addition to the security held to satisfy the requirements of Subparagraph (a), is held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer in accordance with [cite the state's version of Sections 2 and 3 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law]. Any Primary Security used to meet the requirements of this Subparagraph may not be used to satisfy the Required Level of Primary Security for the Covered Policies.

B. Valuation used for Purposes of Calculations

For the purposes of both calculating the Required Level of Primary Security pursuant to the Actuarial Method and determining the amount of Primary Security and Other Security, as applicable, held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, the following shall apply:

(1) For assets, including any such assets held in trust, that would be admitted under the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual if they were held by the ceding insurer, the valuations are to be determined according to statutory accounting procedures as if such assets were held in the ceding insurer's general account and without taking into consideration the effect of any prescribed or permitted practices; and

(2) For all other assets, the valuations are to be those that were assigned to the assets for the purpose of determining the amount of reserve credit taken. In addition, the asset spread tables and asset default cost tables required by VM-20 shall be included in the Actuarial Method if adopted by the NAIC's Life Actuarial (A) Task Force no later than the Dec. 31st on or immediately preceding the valuation date for which the Required Level of Primary Security is being calculated. The tables of asset spreads and asset default costs shall be incorporated into the Actuarial Method in the manner specified in VM-20.

Section 7. Requirements Applicable to Covered Policies to Obtain Credit for Reinsurance; Opportunity for Remediation

A. Requirements

Subject to the exemptions described in Section 4 and the provisions of Section 7B, credit for reinsurance shall be allowed with respect to ceded liabilities pertaining to Covered Policies pursuant to [insert provisions of state law equivalent to Sections 2 or 3 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law] if, and only if, in addition to all other requirements imposed by law or regulation, the following requirements are met on a treaty-by-treaty basis:

(1) The ceding insurer's statutory policy reserves with respect to the Covered Policies are established in full and in accordance with the applicable requirements of [insert provisions of state law equivalent to the Standard Valuation Law] and related regulations and actuarial guidelines, and credit claimed for any reinsurance treaty subject to this regulation does not exceed the proportionate share of those reserves ceded under the contract; and

(2) The ceding insurer determines the Required Level of Primary Security with respect to each reinsurance treaty subject to this regulation and provides support for its calculation as determined to be acceptable to the commissioner; and

(3) Funds consisting of Primary Security, in an amount at least equal to the Required Level of Primary Security, are held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, as security under the reinsurance treaty within the meaning of [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 3 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law], on a funds withheld, trust, or modified coinsurance basis; and

(4) Funds consisting of Other Security, in an amount at least equal to any portion of the statutory reserves as to which Primary Security is not held pursuant to Paragraph (3) above, are held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer as security under the reinsurance treaty within the meaning of [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 3 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law]; and

(5) Any trust used to satisfy the requirements of this Section 7 shall comply with all of the conditions and qualifications of [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 12 of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation], except that:

(a) Funds consisting of Primary Security or Other Security held in trust, shall for the purposes identified in Section 6B, be valued according to the valuation rules set forth in Section 6B, as applicable; and

(b) There are no affiliate investment limitations with respect to any security held in such trust if such security is not needed to satisfy the requirements of Section 7A(3); and

(c) The reinsurance treaty must prohibit withdrawals or substitutions of trust assets that would leave the fair market value of the Primary Security within the trust (when aggregated with Primary Security outside the trust that is held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer in the manner required by Section 7A(3)) below 102% of the level required by Section 7A(3) at the time of the withdrawal or substitution; and

(d) The determination of reserve credit under [insert provision of state law equivalent to Section 12E of the Credit for Reinsurance Model Regulation] shall be determined according to the valuation rules set forth in Section 6B, as applicable; and

(6) The reinsurance treaty has been approved by the commissioner.

B. Requirements at Inception Date and on an On-going Basis; Remediation

(1) The requirements of Section 7A must be satisfied as of the date that risks under Covered Policies are ceded (if such date is on or after the effective date of this regulation) and on an ongoing basis thereafter. Under no circumstances shall a ceding insurer take or consent to any action or series of actions that would result in a deficiency under Section 7A(3) or 7A(4) with respect to any reinsurance treaty under which Covered Policies have been ceded, and in the event that a ceding insurer becomes aware at any time that such a deficiency exists, it shall use its best efforts to arrange for the deficiency to be eliminated as expeditiously as possible.

(2) Prior to the due date of each Quarterly or Annual Statement, each life insurance company that has ceded reinsurance within the scope of Section 3 shall perform an analysis, on a treaty-by-treaty basis, to determine, as to each reinsurance treaty under which Covered Policies have been ceded, whether as of the end of the immediately preceding calendar quarter (the valuation date) the requirements of Sections 7A(3) and 7A(4) were satisfied. The ceding insurer shall establish a liability equal to the excess of the credit for reinsurance taken over the amount of Primary Security actually held pursuant to Section 7A(3), unless either:

(a) The requirements of Section 7A(3) and 7A(4) were fully satisfied as of the valuation date as to such reinsurance treaty; or

(b) Any deficiency has been eliminated before the due date of the Quarterly or Annual Statement to which the valuation date relates through the addition of Primary Security and/or Other Security, as the case may be, in such amount and in such form as would have caused the requirements of Section 7A(3) and 7A(4) to be fully satisfied as of the valuation date.

(3) Nothing in Section 7B(2) shall be construed to allow a ceding company to maintain any deficiency under Section 7A(3) or 7A(4) for any period of time longer than is reasonably necessary to eliminate it.

Section 8. Severability

If any provision of this regulation is held invalid, the remainder shall not be affected.

Section 9. Prohibition against Avoidance

No insurer that has Covered Policies as to which this regulation applies (as set forth in Section 3) shall take any action or series of actions, or enter into any transaction or arrangement or series of transactions or arrangements if the purpose of such action, transaction or arrangement or series thereof is to avoid the requirements of this regulation, or to circumvent its purpose and intent, as set forth in Section 2.

Section 10. Effective Date

This regulation shall become effective [insert date] and shall pertain to all Covered Policies in force as of and after that date.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2016

TERM AND UNIVERSAL LIFE INSURANCE RESERVE FINANCING MODEL REGULATION (#787)

This memorandum will discuss the background and history of the proposed Term and Universal Life Insurance Reserve Financing Model Regulation (#___) (XXX/AXXX Model Regulation). To provide a more complete picture with respect to the background behind this model regulation, this memorandum will provide an overview of the captive reinsurance financing issues that prompted a regulatory response, the framework adopted by the NAIC to respond to those issues, the development and adoption of Actuarial Guideline XLVIII— Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Requirements for the Reinsurance of Policies Required to be Valued under Sections 6 and 7 of the NAIC Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation (AG 48) to implement the framework, and the revisions to the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) adopted by the NAIC on Jan. 8, 2016, which were designed to provide commissioners with the specific authority to adopt the new model regulation developed to codify AG 48.

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force serves as the coordinating body for all NAIC technical groups involved with projects related to the principle-based reserving (PBR) initiative for life and health policies. This Task Force was also charged with further assessing and making recommendations regarding the solvency implications of life insurance reserve financing mechanisms addressed in the June 2013 Captives and Special Purpose Vehicles: An NAIC White Paper, which was drafted by the Captives and Special Purpose Vehicle (SPV) Use (E) Subgroup of the Financial Condition (E) Committee.

On its June 30, 2014, conference call, the Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force adopted the recommendations in the report of Rector & Associates, Inc. (Consultants) dated June 4, 2014, regarding a proposal for the XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework (Framework). The Framework sought to address concerns regarding reserve financing transactions and to do so without encouraging them to move offshore. The changes would be prospective and apply only to the XXX term life insurance business and AXXX universal life with secondary guarantees (ULSG) business; i.e., the Framework applies only to reinsurance involving XXX and AXXX policies currently required to be valued under Section 6 or Section 7 of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation (#830). The Framework would not change the statutory reserve requirements applicable to a ceding insurer; rather, it addresses the types of security that can back those reserves in connection with reserve financing transactions.

The Framework does not materially change the ability of insurers to obtain credit for reinsurance ceded to "certified" reinsurers or to obtain credit for reinsurance ceded to "licensed" or "accredited" reinsurers that follow statutory accounting and risk-based capital (RBC) rules. As a practical matter, the Framework requirements apply to reinsurance ceded to captive insurers, SPVs, reinsurers that are not eligible to become "certified" reinsurers, or reinsurers that materially deviate from statutory accounting and/or RBC rules. In those situations, the ceding insurer may receive credit for reinsurance if:

- The ceding insurer establishes gross reserves, in full, using applicable reserving guidance (currently, the "formulaic" approach under the Standard Valuation Law (#820), then later PBR reserves);

- Funds consisting of Primary Security, in an amount at least equal to the Required Level of Primary Security, are held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, as security under the reinsurance contract, on a funds withheld, trust, or modified coinsurance basis;

- Funds consisting of Other Security, in an amount at least equal to any portion of the statutory reserves as to which Primary Security is not held are held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer as security under the reinsurance contract;

- At least one party to the financing transaction holds an appropriate RBC "cushion"; and

- The reinsurance arrangement is approved by the ceding insurer's domestic regulator.

The Executive (EX) Committee adopted the Framework (in concept) on Aug. 17, 2014. As an interim step to implementing the Framework, the NAIC adopted AG 48 on Dec. 16, 2014. The expectation is that AG 48 would eventually be replaced by effective codification through revisions to Model #785 and creation of a new model regulation to establish requirements regarding the reinsurance of XXX/AXXX policies. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force and the Financial Condition (E) Committee adopted the revisions to Model #785 on a joint conference call on Jan. 6, 2016; these revisions were later adopted by the Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary on Jan. 8, 2016.

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force adopted the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation at the Summer National Meeting on Aug. 27, 2016, and it was adopted by the Financial Condition (E) Committee via conference call on Sept. 30, 2016. Both the revisions to Model #785 and the proposed XXX/AXXX Model Regulation (once adopted by the Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary) are intended to be adopted by the NAIC as a new accreditation standard.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

Reinsurance (E) Task Force: California (Chair), Nebraska (Vice Chair) Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Puerto Rico, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

On June 30, 2014, the Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force adopted the XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework in concept, and adopted draft charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force with respect to implementation of the Framework. On Aug. 17, 2014, the Executive (EX) Committee adopted the following charges to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force and a request for model law development with respect to these charges:

- Request permission from the Executive (EX) Committee to create a new model regulation to establish requirements regarding the reinsurance of XXX/AXXX policies. The Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force's XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework Exhibit 4 should be considered for this model regulation, modified as deemed appropriate by the Task Force.—Essential

- Request permission from the Executive (EX) Committee to amend the Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785) and draft the amendments to reference the new model regulation drafted in accordance with the previous charge.—Essential

On Nov. 20, 2015, April 4, 2016, and Aug. 27, 2016, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force requested extensions from the Financial Condition (E) Committee in order to continue working on the proposed XXX/AXXX Model Regulation.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc.); Include any parties outside the members that participated approach should be made in the model regulation. If the Drafting Group was of the opinion that any substantive modifications should be made to the AG 48 approach as it finalized the model regulation, it was to have submitted those proposed changes to the Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force for further guidance. The overall objective was to implement the AG 48 approach, unless there were significant issues with respect to this implementation.

On Oct. 29, 2014, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force appointed the XXX/AXXX Captive Reinsurance Regulation Drafting Group (Drafting Group), an informal drafting group composed of members of the Task Force, which was tasked with developing an initial draft of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation incorporating the provisions of proposed AG 48. The members of the Drafting Group were: Doug Stolte (VA), Chair; John Finston and Monica Macaluso (CA); Kathy Belfi (CT); Linda Sizemore, Dave Lonchar and Steve Kinion (DE); Robert Wake (ME); John Rehagen (MO); Justin C. Schrader (NE); Richard Schlesinger (NJ); Mike Maffei (NY); and David Provost (VT). The Task Force directed the Drafting Group to refrain from beginning any drafting on the model regulation until the Principle-Based Reserving Implementation (EX) Task Force had finished its work on AG 48. Once this Task Force completed its work on AG 48, the Drafting Group could determine whether any changes to the AG 48

The Drafting Group met via conference call in regulator-to-regulator session on the following dates: Oct. 14, 2014; March 10, 2015; March 23, 2015; April 21, 2015; May 11, 2015; June 23, 2015; June 24, 2015; July 14, 2015; Oct. 23, 2015; and June 1, 2016. The Drafting Group, with assistance from Consultants and NAIC staff, reviewed, discussed and drafted a proposed XXX/AXXX Model Regulation and proposed revisions to Model #785, which were presented to the Reinsurance (E) Task Force at the 2015 Summer National Meeting. The Drafting Group continued to work on the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation at the direction of the Task Force. Principal interested parties involved in the drafting process were: the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI); the Reinsurance Association of America (RAA); New York Life and Northwestern Mutual; and members of the captive insurance industry.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Revisions to Model # 785

As previously noted, AG 48 is the basis for the new regulation, and provides the detail for what was included in the new regulation. AG 48 went through a separate public drafting process, with multiple exposure periods, public hearings and opportunities for the NAIC to receive public comment from the industry, consumers, legislators and regulators. A general description of this due process is found in the Project History for AG 48. The revisions to Model #785 will provide commissioners with the authority to adopt the new regulation that is based on AG 48. A more detailed description of the due process involved in drafting the revisions to Model #785 can be found in the Project History for the XXX/AXXX Framework.

On Aug. 16, 2015, at the Summer National Meeting, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force exposed a draft of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation—along with revisions to Model #785 and a July 28, 2015, memorandum from NAIC staff listing key discussion topics that were identified during the drafting process—for a 45-day public comment period ending Sept. 30, 2015. The Task Force received 17 comment letters and a note from NAIC staff on the applicability of the regulation on policies issued prior to adoption of Model #830. The Task Force met again via conference call on Oct. 26, 2015, to discuss the comment letters received, and agreed to expose new proposed revisions to Model #785 for a comment period ending Nov. 11, 2015. The Task Force received seven comment letters from regulators and interested parties.

On Nov. 20, 2015, at the Fall National Meeting, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force voted to expose proposed revisions to Model #785 for a public comment period ending Dec. 6, 2015. The Task Force received seven comment letters, and discussed these, along with the proposed revisions to Model #785, on its Dec. 9, 2015, conference call. The Task Force directed NAIC staff to re-expose the revisions to Model #785 for a public comment period ending Dec. 31, 2015. Two updated versions containing these changes were exposed for public comment on Dec. 15, 2015: 1) a version containing revisions to Section 2 and Section 3 of Model #785; and 2) a version containing these similar revisions in Section 2, Section 3 and Section 5 (Rules and Regulations) of Model #785. The Task Force adopted the exposed revisions to Section 2, Section 3 and Section 5 of Model #785 on a joint conference call with the Financial Condition (E) Committee on Jan. 6, 2016.

On Jan. 8, 2016, the Executive (EX) and Plenary adopted these revisions to Model #785, which provide the commissioner authority to adopt regulations with respect to: 1) life insurance policies with guaranteed nonlevel gross premiums or guaranteed nonlevel benefits; 2) universal life insurance policies with provisions resulting in the ability of a policyholder to keep a policy in force over a secondary guarantee period; 3) variable annuities with guaranteed death or living benefits; 4) long-term care insurance policies; and 5) other life and health insurance and annuity products as to which the NAIC adopts model regulatory requirements with respect to credit for reinsurance. They also provide for a "professional reinsurer" exemption to the regulation.

XXX/AXXX Model Regulation

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force next directed NAIC staff and Consultants to consider the comments received from the 2015 Summer National Meeting with respect to the Aug. 16, 2015, exposure of the proposed XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, as well as the discussion and actions taken by the Task Force since that time, and proceed with making changes to a revised draft of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation. On its Oct. 26, 2015, conference call, the Task Force, through a majority vote, elected to proceed in drafting the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation using the consequence option which provides that if there is a shortfall in the required level of Primary or Other Security after the remediation period provided in the regulation, then no credit for reinsurance is allowed. Also discussed was an additional exemption for smaller reinsurers that meet a minimum RBC ratio. On Feb. 26, 2016, NAIC staff exposed the revised draft of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation and the accompanying NAIC staff memorandum, which details the revisions made from the prior exposure draft, for a 30-day public comment period ending March 27, 2016. The Task Force received six comment letters and discussed these on April 4, 2016, at the Spring National Meeting, including the following issues: 1) affiliated reinsurance transactions; 2) a small professional reinsurer exemption; 3) remediation of a shortfall under the consequence option, including additional time to remediate; and 4) changes to the Actuarial Method used under AG 48 recommended by the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force directed NAIC staff and Consultants to work with the Drafting Group on drafting a revised XXX/AXXX Model Regulation that considers the comments received and discussion held during the meeting.

On June 17, 2016, the Drafting Group completed its work on a revised XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force exposed it for a public comment period ending July 20. The key considerations and topics discussed and actions taken by the Drafting Group in development of the revised XXX/AXXX Model Regulation included: 1) modification to the consequence option to allow the reporting entity to take reinsurance credit for the amount of Primary Security held if any shortfall in Primary Security or Other Security is not remediated by the March 1 annual statement filing date; 2) an additional exemption for reinsurers that have material permitted practices, but that have more than 500% RBC after the permitted practices are removed; 3) removal of the Section 2 drafting note and creation of a new Section 9; 4) maintaining the current list of assets allowed as Primary Security, thereby not incorporating real estate as an allowable Primary Security asset; 5) discussion on whether the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation should contain references to "before the operative date of the Valuation Manual," given the improbability that a state would adopt both the January 2016 revisions to Model #785 and the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation prior to the operative date of the Valuation Manual, which the NAIC has recommended to be Jan. 1, 2017; and 6) recommended language by the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force AG 48 Drafting Group (LATF Drafting Group) for Section 4A and Section 6 of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation. The Reinsurance (E) Task Force received six comment letters, in which a common theme focused on the commissioner's discretion under the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation to allow recapture as a form of remediation, allow for additional time to remediate any shortfall in Primary or Other Security and allow for a stronger consequence option for non-compliance.

On July 28, 2016, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force met via conference call to discuss the most recent draft of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation. The Task Force agreed to remove recapture as an acceptable form of remediation in the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, clarifying that if commissioner discretion is used, then this information would be captured as a prescribed or permitted practice under the provisions of statutory accounting prescribed in the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual (AP&P Manual), and to develop a drafting note to capture the discussion on commissioner discretion and permitted practices. The Task Force further voted to remove the references to "before the operative date of the Valuation Manual" from the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, and directed NAIC staff and Consultants to work with members of the Drafting Group and the LATF Drafting Group on reviewing the comments received and developing a single option for Section 4A and Section 6 of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation.

On Aug. 4, 2016, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force exposed the revised XXX/AXXX Model Regulation and the Summary of Changes Memorandum for a public comment period ending Aug. 22, 2016. The Task Force received four comment letters on the proposed revisions. The following information on Section 4A and Section 6 of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation was provided by the LATF Drafting Group:

> There are two types of policies that are exempt from the scope of AG 48 that the LATF Drafting Group believes should not be exempt from the scope of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation: 1) attained-age-based yearly renewable term (YRT) life insurance policies (subject to Section 6F of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation (# 830); and 2) Certain n-year renewable term life insurance policies (subject to Section 6G of Model #830). Additionally, while YRT reinsurance is currently exempt from the scope of AG 48 (subject to Section 6E of Model #830), the LATF Drafting Group believes that it should not be exempt from the scope of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation.

On Aug. 27, 2016, at the Summer National Meeting, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force unanimously adopted the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation as exposed, with the technical edits agreed upon by the Task Force and interested parties. As part of this motion, the Task Force agreed to send the adopted XXX/AXXX Model Regulation to the NAIC Legal Division for a review to include reference checks and grammatical correctness, and to ensure consistency with the NAIC model law style. On Sept. 23, 2016, the adopted XXX/AXXX Model Regulation and a project history document were referred for consideration to the Financial Condition (E) Committee, which subsequently distributed the items as materials for its Sept. 30, 2016, conference call.

On Sept. 30, 2016, the Financial Condition (E) Committee discussed the proposed XXX/AXXX Model Regulation as adopted by the Reinsurance (E) Task Force. A concern raised by a member of the Committee related to the drafting note for remediation using a disclosed permitted practice. After discussion of this concern, and recognition of existing tools that commissioners currently possess, the Committee unanimously adopted a motion to remove the drafting note and subsequently unanimously adopted the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

The following significant issues were discussed extensively with regulators and interested parties during the process.

Consequence Options for Non-Compliance with the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation

AG 48 provides that the consequence for a shortfall of Primary Security in accordance with the XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework is a qualified actuarial opinion, unless the ceding insurer remediates the shortfall in the time frame and manner provided for in AG 48. In Section 6A(3) of AG 48, there are two ways to remediate this shortfall: 1) by adding additional Primary Security on or before March 1 of the year in which the actuarial opinion is being filed in an amount that would have caused the Primary Security held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, as security under the reinsurance contract, on a funds withheld, Trust, or modified coinsurance basis, to equal or exceed the Required Level of Primary Security on the valuation date; or 2) by establishing a liability equal to the difference between the Primary Security and the Required Level of Primary Security. AG 48 also provides a similar remediation process for shortfalls in Other Security.

Consistent with the Framework, the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation provides that the consequence for a shortfall is the loss of credit for reinsurance, unless the ceding insurer remediates the shortfall in the time frame and manner provided for in the regulation. The process and time frame for remediation, as well as the extent of loss of credit (total or partial), were the subject of extensive discussion. The Drafting Group members proposed several potential credit for reinsurance "consequences" for ceding insurers that have a shortfall in either Primary Security or Other Security. These options include: 1) complete loss of credit unless the shortfall is remediated in full; 2) dollar-for-dollar reduction in credit for reinsurance for any shortfall; 3) percentage reduction in credit for reinsurance for any shortfall and 4) Primary Security limitation, which would allow credit for reinsurance up to the amount of Primary Security held.

At the 2015 Summer National Meeting, the Drafting Group advised the Reinsurance (E) Task Force that it decided to draft the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation under the first option (complete loss of credit unless the shortfall is remediated in full by the annual statement filing date), but the Task Force encouraged state insurance regulators and interested parties to review the four consequence options with respect to the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation and to provide any comments or suggested language. On its Oct. 26, 2015, conference call, the Task Force, through a majority vote, elected to proceed in drafting the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation using the first consequence option. At the Task Force meeting on April 4, 2016, there was discussion that state insurance regulators need flexibility to work with a company on the remediation process, specifically noting that 15 days (the period between the valuation date of Feb. 15 and the remediation date of March 1) may not be a sufficient amount of time for remediation. It was also noted that the consequence option under AG 48 was different than the consequence option agreed upon by the Task Force.

After consideration of these issues, on June 17, 2016, the Drafting Group recommended: 1) adoption of consequence option 4 above (the Primary Security limitation, under which, in the case of an unremediated shortfall of Primary Security or Other Security, credit is permitted only up to the amount of Primary Security held; 2) that the remediation process occur quarterly rather than annually; and 3) that the annual remediation process deadline remain March 1. This approach was adopted by the Reinsurance (E) Task Force at the 2016 Summer National Meeting.

On its July 28, 2016, conference call, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force opposed including recapture as an acceptable form of remediation in the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, and provided that it should not be an automatic option for remediation and should only occur if the reinsurance treaty allows for the ceded reinsurance to be recaptured.

Drafting Note to Remediation on Commissioner Discretion

On its July 28, 2016, conference call, the Reinsurance (E) Task Force discussed whether the commissioner should have the discretion to lengthen the remediation period beyond the current March 1 and/or provide a different form of remediation in the event of non-compliance with the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation. With respect to the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation's consequence option and remediation provisions, a common theme expressed in the comment letters was commissioner discretion under the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation to allow for additional time to remediate any shortfall in Primary or Other Security and to allow for a different form of remediation for non-compliance. One reason for developing the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation was the inconsistencies experienced as a result of commissioner discretion. The Task Force directed NAIC staff and Consultants to prepare a drafting note to the remediation section clarifying that commissioner discretion is limited to the authority existing under applicable state law, should be exercised only in extraordinary circumstances, and would be captured as a prescribed or permitted practice under the provisions of statutory accounting prescribed in the AP&P Manual. The following drafting note was included in the final version of the regulation:

> Drafting Note: Nothing in this Regulation should be construed to prohibit the commissioner, under limited and extraordinary circumstances and for good cause shown, from granting a disclosed permitted practice by extending the period of time to remediate or by permitting recapture of the ceded business as an alternative form of remediation to any company to the extent that the commissioner has such authority under applicable state law and provided the permitted practice complies with the procedures outlined in the NAIC Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual, and any extension of the time deadline complies with NAIC annual and quarterly statement filing requirements.

On a Sept. 30, 2016, conference call of the Financial Condition (E) Committee, a concern was raised by a member of the Committee related to the drafting note. The primary concern raised was that because the remediation requirement was not an accounting practice or principle, but rather a requirement of a regulation derived from state law, there was uncertainty regarding how a disclosed permitted practice would comply with the procedures outlined in the AP&P Manual, and, moreover, a commissioner should not be allowed to exceed his or her legislative authority. In considering this issue, the Committee agreed that under unusual circumstances, for example, if markets froze similar to the 2008 financial crisis, the commissioner could work with the company to remedy the shortfall, even if it is beyond the date the annual financial statement is filed. Also considered in this issue was that, similar to the 2008 financial crisis, it would be reasonable for systemic problems such as this unusual circumstance to be considered on a national coordinated basis. Considering these points, the Committee unanimously agreed to remove the drafting note.

Section 4A and Section 6

Throughout the drafting of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, there were several discussions and comments received on the scope of the regulation and on the provisions of Section 6—The Actuarial Method. Subsequent to the 2016 Spring National Meeting, the Drafting Group requested input from the LATF Drafting Group on the language within Section 4A and Section 6 of the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation. Various versions of Section 4A and Section 6 were exposed and discussed. The final versions of Section 4A and Section 6 are very similar to their counterparts in AG 48, with a few exceptions. For additional information, see the Aug. 27 and July 28 minutes of the Reinsurance (E) Task Force.

The Reinsurance (E) Task Force also directed NAIC staff to develop a referral to the Financial Analysis Handbook (E) Working Group, requesting it consider adding guidance advising analysts of the need for additional scrutiny during review of security for reinsurance of grandfathered policies.

Small Reinsurer Exemption

The 2016 revisions to Model #785 created a new exemption (sometimes referred to as the "professional reinsurer exemption") that would apply to business ceded to a reinsurer that: 1) maintains at least $250 million in capital and surplus determined in accordance with statutory accounting principles, without deviation; and 2) either a) is licensed in at least 26 states or b) is licensed or accredited in at least 35 states with a minimum of 10 licenses. The ACLI requested an additional exemption to be placed in the regulation that would exempt reinsurance ceded to reinsurers that, while not captives engaged in financing transactions, could not meet the size and licensing requirements of the so-called professional reinsurer exemption. After extensive discussion, the Drafting Group recommended, and the Reinsurance (E) Task Force approved, a new "small reinsurer exemption" available for business ceded to a reinsurer that: 1) is not an affiliate of the ceding company; 2) is not licensed as a captive or similar entity in any state; 3) is licensed or accredited in at least 10 states; and 4) has an RBC of at least 500% after ignoring the financial impact of any permitted accounting practices. Thus, the XXX/AXXX Model Regulation now has at least three exemption provisions that can be used in connection with reinsurance ceded to professional reinsurers: 1) Section 4C, which pertains to professional reinsurers (and others) that do not have material permitted practices; 2) Section 4D, which pertains to professional reinsurers (and others) that have material permitted practices, but that have more than 500% RBC after those permitted practices are removed; and 3) Section 4E, which pertains to professional reinsurers (and others) that meet the criteria in Model #785.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

The revisions to Model #785 will be considered by the Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee as an amendment to the existing standard for Reinsurance Ceded. In addition, it is intended under the XXX/AXXX Reinsurance Framework that these revisions, in addition to the proposed XXX/AXXX Model Regulation, would become a new accreditation standard.

SPECIAL PURPOSE REINSURANCE VEHICLE MODEL ACT

Section 1. Purpose

This Act provides for the creation of Special Purpose Reinsurance Vehicles ("SPRVs") exclusively to facilitate the securitization of one or more ceding insurers' risk as a means of accessing alternative sources of capital and achieving the benefits of securitization. Investors in fully funded insurance securitization transactions provide funds that are available to the SPRV to secure the aggregate limit under an SPRV contract that provides coverage against the occurrence of a triggering event. The creation of SPRVs is intended to achieve greater efficiencies in conducting insurance securitizations, to diversify and broaden insurers' access to sources of risk bearing capital and to make insurance securitization generally available on reasonable terms to as many U.S. insurers as possible.

Drafting Note: Under the terms of the typical securities underlying an insurance securitization transaction, proceeds from the issuance of securities are repaid to the investor on a specified maturity date with interest or dividends unless a triggering event occurs. The insurance securitization proceeds are available to pay the SPRV's obligations to the ceding insurer if a triggering event occurs, as well as being available to satisfy the SPRV's obligation to repay the insurance securitization investors if a triggering event does not occur. Insurance securitization transactions have been performed by alien companies to utilize efficiencies available to alien companies that are not currently available to domestic companies. This Act allows more efficiency in conducting insurance securitizations, allows domestic ceding insurers easier access to alternative sources of risk bearing capital, and promotes the benefits of insurance securitization to U.S. insurers.

Section 2. Exemption from Insurance Laws within Limitations

A. An SPRV is subject to the following sections of [insert state's insurance code]: [insert sections of code providing commissioner's general powers, including power to investigate insurance law violations, subpoena and examine documents and witnesses, conduct hearings, institute other legal action to enforce laws or orders, issue cease and desist orders, impose fines, handle documents and records, suspend or revoke licenses or certificates of authority, impose fees and other charges; and reference state's examination law for enforcement of the act].

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

B. No other provisions of this [insert state's insurance code] shall be applicable to a SPRV organized under this Act, except as provided in this Act.

Section 3. Definitions

For purposes of this Act, the following terms have the indicated meanings:

A. "Aggregate limit" means the maximum sum payable to the ceding insurer under an SPRV contract.

B. "Ceding insurer" means one or more insurers or reinsurers under common control that enters into an SPRV contract with an SPRV.

C. "Control" (including the terms "controlling," "controlled by" and "under common control with") means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract other than a commercial contract for goods or non-management services, or otherwise, unless the power is the result of an official position with or corporate office held by the person. Control shall be presumed to exist if any person, directly or indirectly, owns, controls, holds with the power to vote, or holds proxies representing, ten percent (10%) or more of the voting securities of any other person. This presumption may be rebutted by a showing that control does not, in fact, exist. Notwithstanding the foregoing, for purposes of this Act, the fact that an SPRV exclusively provides reinsurance to a ceding insurer under an SPRV contract shall not by itself be sufficient grounds for a finding that the SPRV or the SPRV Organizer or owner is controlled by or under common control with the ceding insurer.

D. "Fair value" means:

(1) As to cash, the amount thereof; and

(2) As to an asset other than cash:

(a) The amount at which that asset could be bought or sold in a current transaction between arms-length, willing parties;

(b) The quoted market price for the asset in active markets should be used if available; and

(c) If quoted market prices are not available, a value determined using the best information available considering values of like assets and other valuation methods, such as present value of future cash flows, historical value of the same or similar assets or comparison to values of other asset classes the value of which have been historically related to the subject asset.

E. "Fully funded" means that, with respect to an SPRV contract, the fair value of the assets held in trust by or on behalf of the SPRV under the SPRV contract on the date on which the SPRV contract is effected, equals or exceeds the aggregate limit as defined in this Act.

F. "Indemnity trigger" means a transaction term by which the SPRV's obligation to pay the ceding insurer for losses covered by an SPRV contract is triggered by the ceding insurer incurring a specified level of losses.

G. "Insolvency" or "insolvent" means that the SPRV is unable to pay its obligations when they are due, unless the obligations are the subject of a bona fide dispute.

H. "Non-indemnity trigger" means a transaction term by which the SPRV's obligation to pay the ceding insurer under an SPRV contract arises from the occurrence or existence of some event or condition other than the ceding insurer incurring a specified level of losses under its insurance or reinsurance contracts.

I. "Permitted investments" means those investments that meet the qualifications set forth in Section 17 of this Act.

J. "Qualified U.S. financial institution" means, for purposes of meeting the requirements of a trustee as specified in Section 6, a financial institution that is eligible to act as a fiduciary of a trust, and:

(1) Is organized, or, in the case of a U.S. branch or agency office of a foreign banking organization, is licensed, under the laws of the United States or any state thereof, and

(2) Is regulated, supervised and examined by federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies.

Drafting Note: Because assets held in a fiduciary capacity are not subject to the claims of the trustee's creditors, and because the trust departments of all U.S. financial institutions (including U.S. branch or agency offices of foreign banking organizations having fiduciary powers in the U.S.) are regulated, supervised and examined by the institution's primary U.S. bank regulatory authority (federal or state), there is no need to apply additional standards measuring the financial condition or standing of the institution.

K. "Special Purpose Reinsurance Vehicle" or "SPRV" means an entity domiciled in and organized under the laws of this state, which has received a Limited Certificate of Authority from the commissioner under this Act exclusively for the limited purpose of entering into and effectuating SPRV insurance securitizations, SPRV contracts and other related transactions permitted by this Act.

L. "SPRV contract" means a contract between the SPRV and the ceding insurer pursuant to which the SPRV agrees to pay the ceding insurer an agreed amount upon the occurrence of a triggering event.

M. "SPRV insurance securitization" means a package of related risk transfer instruments and facilitating administrative agreements by which proceeds are obtained by an SPRV through the issuance of securities, which proceeds are held in trust pursuant to the requirements of this Act to secure the obligations of the SPRV under an SPRV contract with one or more ceding insurers, wherein the SPRV's obligation to return the full initial investment to the holders of such securities, pursuant to the transaction terms, is contingent upon the funds not being used to pay the obligations of the SPRV to the ceding insurers under the SPRV contract.

N. "SPRV organizer" means one or more persons that have organized or intend to organize an SPRV, under authority obtained as specified in this Act.

O. "SPRV securities" means the securities issued by an SPRV.

P. "Triggering event" means an event or condition that, if and when it occurs or exists, obligates the SPRV to make a payment to the ceding insurer under the provisions of an SPRV contract.

Section 4. Limited Certificate of Authority Required

A. In order to securitize one or more ceding insurers' risks, an SPRV shall obtain a limited certificate of authority from the commissioner according to the provisions of this section.

B. An SPRV organizer seeking to obtain a limited certificate of authority for a SPRV shall file an application with the commissioner. A complete application shall include the following:

(1) An affidavit verifying that each prospective SPRV organizer meets the requirements of this Act;

(2) A representation that the prospective SPRV organizer intends to form an SPRV that shall operate in accordance with the requirements set forth in this Act;

(3) The proposed name of the SPRV;

(4) Biographical affidavits of all SPRV organizers setting forth their legal names, any names under which they have or are conducting their affairs, and any affiliations with other persons as defined in [insert a citation to the state insurance holding company system act], together with such other biographical information as the commissioner may request;

(5) The source and form of the minimum capital to be contributed to the SPRV;

(6) Any persons with which the SPRV is or upon formation will be affiliated as defined in [insert the state's insurance holding company system act];

(7) The names and biographical affidavits of the proposed members of the board of directors and principal officers of the SPRV, setting forth their legal names, any names under which they have or are conducting their affairs and any affiliations with other persons as defined in [insert the name of the state insurance holding company system act], together with such other biographical information as the commissioner may request;

(8) A plan of operation, consisting of a description of the contemplated insurance securitization, the SPRV contract and related transactions, which shall include:

(a) Draft documentation or, at the discretion of the commissioner, a written summary, of all material agreements that will be entered into to effectuate the insurance securitization and the related SPRV contract, to include the names of the ceding insurers, the nature of the risks being assumed, and the maximum amounts, purpose and nature and the interrelationships of the various transactions required to effectuate the insurance securitization;

(b) The investment strategy of the SPRV and a representation that the investment strategy complies with the investment requirements set forth in this Act and that the strategy will include investment practices or other provisions to preserve asset values, which will facilitate attainment of full funding during the term of the securitization with assets that can be monetized in response to a triggering event without a substantial loss in value; and

(c) A description of the method by which losses covered by the SPRV contract that may develop after the termination of the contract period are to be addressed under the provisions of the SPRV contract; and

(d) A representation that the trust agreement and the trusts holding assets that secure the obligations of the SPRV under the SPRV contract and the SPRV contract with the ceding insurers in connection with the contemplated insurance securitization will be structured in accordance with the requirements set forth in this act.

C. The commissioner shall approve the application and issue a limited certificate of authority upon a finding that (1) the proposed plan of operation provides a reasonable expectation of a successful operation, (2) the terms of the SPRV contract and related transactions comply with this Act, (3) the proposed plan of operation is not hazardous to any ceding insurer or to policyholders and (4) the commissioner of the state of domicile of each ceding insurer has notified the commissioner in writing that it has not disapproved the transaction. In evaluating the expectation of a successful operation, the commissioner shall consider, among other factors, whether the proposed SPRV organizer, directors and officers are of known good character and not reasonably believed to be affiliated, directly or indirectly, through ownership, control, management, reinsurance transactions or other insurance or business relations, with any person known to have been involved in the improper manipulation of assets, accounts or reinsurance. If the commissioner denies the application, he or she shall grant the prospective SPRV organizer a hearing upon request.

Drafting Note: Each state should review its legislative authority to ensure that its commissioner has the necessary jurisdiction to review and approve or disapprove proposed SPRV transactions by its domestic ceding insurers to non-domestic SPRVs.

D. Upon approval by the commissioner of the application and the issuance of a limited certificate of authority, the SPRV may be acquired or formed and, in accordance with the approved plan of operation, the SPRV may enter into contracts and conduct other activities within the scope of the filed plan of operation.

E. The limited certificate of authority shall state that the SPRV's authorization to be involved in the business of reinsurance shall be limited only to the reinsurance activities that the SPRV is allowed to conduct pursuant to this Act.

F. The SPRV organizer shall provide a complete set of the documentation of the insurance securitization to the commissioner upon closing of the transactions, including an opinion of legal counsel with respect to compliance with this Act and any other applicable laws as of the effective date of the transaction. Any material change of the SPRV's plan of operation described in Subsection B of this section, including but not limited to the issuance of new securities to continue the securitization activities of the SPRV pursuant to this Act after expiration and full satisfaction of the initial securitization transactions, shall require prior approval of the commissioner, provided that a change in the counterparty to swap transactions for an existing securitization as allowed under this Act shall not be deemed a material change.

Section 5. Limited Purpose of SPRV

SPRVs authorized under this Act are created for the limited purpose of entering into insurance securitization transactions with investors and related agreements to pay one or more ceding insurers agreed upon amounts under a SPRV contract upon the occurrence of triggering events related to the insurance business of the ceding insurer. A SPRV may not issue a contract for assumption of risk or indemnification of loss other than a SPRV contract.

Drafting Note: States may consider either authorizing, either directly by statute, or by providing rule-making authority, specific lines of business that may be ceded to a SPRV or restricting specific lines of business from being ceded to a SPRV.

Section 6. Approved Transactions and Operation of SPRVs

A. SPRVs authorized under this Act may at any given time enter into and effectuate SPRV contracts with one or more ceding insurers, provided that the SPRV contracts obligate the SPRV to indemnify the ceding insurer for losses and that contingent obligations of the SPRV under the SPRV contracts are securitized in full through a single SPRV insurance securitization and are fully funded and secured with assets held in trust in accordance with the requirements included herein pursuant to agreements contemplated by this Act and invested in a manner that meets the criteria set forth in Section 17.

Drafting Note: The requirement that a SPRV indemnify the ceding insurer against losses may be expanded to allow an SPRV to enter into non-indemnity transactions with ceding insurers pursuant to regulations issued by the commissioner addressing the treatment of the portion of the risk that is not indemnity based, accounting, disclosure, risk based capital treatment, and assessing risks associated with such SPRV contract governing credit for these transactions.

B. An SPRV may enter into agreements with third parties and conduct business necessary to fulfill its obligations and administrative duties incident to the insurance securitization and the SPRV contract. The agreements may include entering into swap agreements or other transactions that have the objective of leveling timing differences in funding up-front or ongoing transaction expenses or managing credit or interest rate risk of the investments in trust to assure that the assets held in trust will be sufficient to satisfy payment or repayment of the securities issued pursuant to an insurance securitization transaction or the obligations of the SPRV under the SPRV contract. In fulfilling its function, the SPRV shall adhere to the following requirements and shall, to the extent of its powers, ensure that contracts obligating other parties to perform certain functions incident to its operations are substantively and materially consistent with the following requirements and guidelines:

(1) An SPRV shall have a distinct name, which shall include the designation "SPRV." The name of the SPRV shall not be deceptively similar to, or likely to be confused with or mistaken for, any other existing business name registered in this state.

(2) Unless otherwise provided in the plan of operation, the principal place of business and office of any SPRV organized under this Act shall be located in this state.

(3) The assets of an SPRV shall be preserved and administered by or on behalf of the SPRV to satisfy the liabilities and obligations of the SPRV incident to the insurance securitization and other related agreements, including the SPRV contract.

(4) Assets of the SPRV that are pledged to secure obligations of the SPRV to a ceding insurer under an SPRV contract shall be held in trust and administered by a qualified U.S. financial institution. The qualified U.S. financial institution shall not control, be controlled by, or be under common control with, the SPRV or the ceding insurers.

(5) The agreement governing any such trust shall create one or more trust accounts into which all pledged assets shall be deposited and held until distributed in accordance with the trust agreement. The pledged assets shall be held by the trustee at the trustee's office in the United States and may be held in certificated or electronic form.

(6) The provisions for withdrawal by ceding insurers of assets from the trust shall be clean and unconditional, subject only to the following requirements:

(a) The ceding insurer shall have the right to withdraw assets from the trust account at any time, without notice to the SPRV, subject only to written notice to the trustee from the ceding insurer that funds in the amount requested are due and payable by the SPRV;

(b) No other statement or document need be presented in order to withdraw assets, except the ceding insurer may be required to acknowledge receipt of withdrawn assets;

(c) The trust agreement shall indicate that it is not subject to any conditions or qualifications outside of the trust agreement;

(d) The trust agreement shall not contain references to any other agreements or documents; and

(e) No reference shall be made to the fact that these funds may represent reinsurance premiums or that the funds have been deposited for any specific purpose.

(7) The trust agreement shall be established for the sole use and benefit of the ceding insurer at least to the full extent of the SPRV's obligations to the ceding insurer under the SPRV contract. In the case of more than one ceding insurer, a separate trust agreement shall be entered into with each ceding insurer and a separate trust account shall be maintained for each ceding insurer.

(8) The trust agreement shall provide for the trustee to:

(a) Receive assets and hold all assets in a safe place;

(b) Determine that all assets are in a form that the ceding insurer or the trustee, upon direction by the ceding insurer may, whenever necessary, negotiate the assets, without consent or signature from the SPRV or any other person or entity;

(c) Furnish to the SPRV, the commissioner and the ceding insurer a statement of all assets in the trust account reported at fair value upon its inception and at intervals no less frequent than the end of each calendar quarter;

(d) Notify the SPRV and the ceding insurer, within ten (10) days, of any deposits to or withdrawals from the trust account;

(e) Upon written demand of the ceding insurer, immediately take any and all steps necessary to transfer absolutely and unequivocally all right, title and interest in the assets held in the trust account to the ceding insurer and deliver physical custody of the assets to the ceding insurer; and

(f) Allow no substitutions or withdrawals of assets from the trust account, except on written instructions from the ceding insurer.

(9) The trust agreement shall provide that at least thirty (30) days, but not more than forty-five (45) days, prior to termination of the trust account, written notification of termination shall be delivered by the trustee to the ceding insurer.

(10) The trust agreement may be made subject to and governed by the laws of any state, in addition to the requirements for the trust as provided in this Act, provided that the state is disclosed in the plan of operation filed with and approved, or deemed approved, by the commissioner.

(11) The trust agreement shall prohibit invasion of the trust corpus for the purpose of paying compensation to, or reimbursing the expenses of, the trustee.

(12) The trust agreement shall provide that the trustee shall be liable for its own negligence, willful misconduct or lack of good faith.

(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of Subsection B(6)(c), (d) and (e) or B(14)(e) of this section, when a trust agreement is established in conjunction with an SPRV contract, then the trust agreement may provide that the ceding insurer shall undertake to use and apply any amounts drawn upon the trust account, without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer or the SPRV, for the following purposes:

(i) To pay or reimburse the ceding insurer amounts due to the ceding insurer under the specific SPRV contract, including but not limited to unearned premiums due to the ceding insurer, if not otherwise paid by the SPRV in accordance with the terms of such agreement; or

(ii) Where the ceding insurer has received notification of termination of the trust account, and where the SPRV's entire "obligations" under the specific SPRV contract remain unliquidated and undischarged ten (10) days prior to the termination date, to withdraw amounts equal to the obligations and deposit the amounts in a separate account, in the name of the ceding insurer, in any qualified U.S. financial institution, apart from its general assets, in trust for uses and purposes specified in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph as may remain executory after the withdrawal and for any period after the termination date. "Obligations" within the meaning of this subparagraph may, without duplication, include:

(I) Losses and loss expenses paid by the ceding insurer, but not recovered from the SPRV;

(II) Reserves for losses reported and outstanding;

(III) Reserves for losses incurred but not reported;

(IV) Reserves for loss expenses;

(V) Reserves for unearned premiums;

(VI) Any other amounts that, together with Items (I) to (V) of this subparagraph, represent the aggregate limit remaining under the SPRV contract if the period of coverage or the agreed upon period of loss development has yet to expire.

(b) The provisions to be included in the trust agreement pursuant to this paragraph may instead be included in the underlying SPRV contract.

(13) An SPRV contract shall contain provisions that:

(a) Require the SPRV to enter into a trust agreement and to establish a trust account for the benefit of the ceding insurer, and specifying what recoverables or reserves, or both, the agreement is to cover;

(b) Stipulate that assets deposited in the trust account shall be valued according to their current fair value, and shall consist only of permitted investments;

(c) Require the SPRV, prior to depositing assets with the trustee, to execute assignments, endorsements in blank, or to transfer legal title to the trustee of all shares, obligations or any other assets requiring assignments, in order that the ceding insurer, or the trustee upon the direction of the ceding insurer, may whenever necessary negotiate any such assets without consent or signature from the SPRV or any other entity;

(d) Require that all settlements of account between the ceding insurer and the SPRV be made in cash or its equivalent; and

(e) Stipulate that the SPRV and the ceding insurer agree that the assets in the trust account, established pursuant to the provisions of the SPRV contract, may be withdrawn by the ceding insurer at any time, notwithstanding any other provisions in the SPRV contract, and shall be utilized and applied by the ceding insurer or any successor by operation of law of the ceding insurer, including (subject to the provisions of Section 16), but without further limitation, any liquidator, rehabilitator, receiver or conservator of the ceding insurer, without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the ceding insurer or the SPRV, only for the following purposes:

(i) To transfer all such assets into one or more trust accounts for the benefit of the ceding insurer pursuant to the terms of the SPRV contract and in compliance with this Act; and

(ii) To pay any other amounts that the ceding insurer claims are due under the SPRV contract.

(14) The SPRV contract entered into by the SPRV may contain provisions that give the SPRV the right to seek approval from the ceding insurer to withdraw from the trust all or part of the assets contained in the trust and to transfer the assets to the SPRV, provided:

(a) The SPRV shall, at the time of the withdrawal, replace the withdrawn assets with other qualified assets having a fair value equal to the fair value of the assets withdrawn and that meet the requirements of Section 17; and

(b) After the withdrawals and transfer, the fair value of the assets in trust securing the obligations of the SPRV under the SPRV contract is no less than an amount needed to satisfy the fully funded requirement of the SPRV contract. The ceding insurer shall be the sole judge as to the application of these provisions, but shall not unreasonably nor arbitrarily withhold its approval.

(15) The contract shall provide that investors in the SPRV agree that any obligation to repay principal, interest or dividends on the securities issued by the SPRV shall be reduced upon the occurrence of a triggering event, to the extent that the assets of the SPRV held in trust for the benefit of the ceding insurer are remitted to the ceding insurer in fulfillment of the obligations of the SPRV under the SPRV contract.

(16) Assets held by an SPRV in trust shall be valued at their fair value.

(17) The proceeds from the sale of securities by the SPRV to investors shall be deposited with the trustee as contemplated by this Act, and shall be held or invested by the trustee in accordance with the requirements of Section 17.

(18) An SPRV organized under this Act shall engage only in fully funded indemnity triggered SPRV contracts to support in full the ceding insurers' exposures assumed by the SPRV. However, an SPRV may engage in an SPRV contract that is non-indemnity triggered only after the commissioner, in accordance with the authority granted under Section 20 of this Act, adopts regulations addressing the treatment of the portion of the risk that is not indemnity based, to include accounting, disclosure, risk based capital treatment, and the manner in which risks associated with a non-indemnity based SPRV contract may be evaluated and managed. At no time may an SPRV enter into an SPRV contract that is not fully funded, whether indemnity triggered or non-indemnity triggered. Assets of the SPRV may be used to pay interest or other consideration on any outstanding debt or other obligation of the SPRV, and nothing in this paragraph shall be construed or interpreted to prevent an SPRV from entering into a swap agreement or other transaction that has the effect of guaranteeing interest or other consideration.

(19) In the SPRV insurance securitization, the contracts or other relating documentation shall contain provisions identifying the SPRV that will enter into the special purpose reinsurance securitization and the contracts or other documentation shall clearly disclose that the assets of the SPRV, and only those assets, are available to pay the obligations of that SPRV. Notwithstanding the foregoing, and subject to the provisions of this Act and any other applicable law or regulation, the failure to include such language in the contracts or other documentation shall not be used as the sole basis by creditors, reinsurers or other claimants to circumvent the provisions of this Act.

(20) Under no circumstances shall an SPRV be authorized to:

(a) Issue or otherwise administer primary insurance policies;

(b) Have any obligation to the policyholders or reinsureds of the ceding insurer;

(c) Enter into an SPRV contract with a person that is not licensed or otherwise authorized to conduct the business of insurance or reinsurance in at least its state or country of domicile; or

(d) Assume or retain exposure to insurance or reinsurance losses for its own account that is not initially fully funded by proceeds from an SPRV securitization that meets the requirements of this Act.

(21) At the cessation of business of an SPRV, the limited certificate of authority granted by the commissioner shall expire and the SPRV shall no longer be authorized to conduct activities pursuant to this Act unless and until a new certificate of authority is issued pursuant to a new filing in accordance with Section 4.

(22) It shall be unlawful for an SPRV to loan or otherwise invest, or place in custody, trust or under management any of its assets with, or to borrow money or receive a loan from (other than by issuance of the securities pursuant to an insurance securitization), or advance from, anyone convicted of a felony, anyone who is untrustworthy or of known bad character or anyone convicted of a criminal offense involving the conversion or misappropriation of fiduciary funds or insurance accounts, theft, deceit, fraud, misrepresentation or corruption.

Section 7. Powers

A. An SPRV authorized under this Act shall have the necessary powers to enter into contracts and to conduct other commercial activities necessary to fulfill the purposes of this Act. These activities may include, but are not limited to, entering into SPRV contracts, issuing securities of the SPRV and complying with the terms thereof, entering into trust, swap and other agreements necessary to effectuate an insurance securitization in compliance with the limitations and pursuant to the authorities granted to the SPRV under this Act or the plan of operation approved or deemed approved by the commissioner.

B. An SPRV organized or doing business under this Act shall be capable of suing or being sued, and may make or enforce contracts in relation to the business of the SPRV; may have and use a common seal, and in the name of the SPRV or by a trustee chosen by the board of directors, shall be capable of taking, purchasing, holding and disposing of real and personal property for carrying into effect the purposes of its organization; and may by its board of directors, trustees, officers or managers, make bylaws and amendments thereto not inconsistent with the laws or the constitution of this state or of the United States. The bylaws shall define the manner of electing directors, trustees or managers and officers of the SPRV, together with their qualifications and duties and fixing the term of office.

Section 8. Affiliation

Notwithstanding the provisions of the [insert citation to insurance holding company system act] the SPRV, the SPRV organizer, or subsequent debt or equity investors in SPRV securities shall not be deemed affiliates of the ceding insurer by virtue of the SPRV contract between the ceding insurer and the SPRV, the securities of the SPRV or related agreements necessary to implement the SPRV insurance securitization. The SPRV may not be controlled by, may not control, or may not be under common control with, any ceding insurer that is a party to an SPRV contract.

Section 9. Capitalization

An SPRV shall have minimum initial capital of not less than $5,000. All of the initial capital shall be received by the SPRV in cash. The minimum initial capital required and all other funds of the SPRV in excess of its minimum initial capital, including funds held in trust to secure the obligations of the SPRV pursuant to its obligations under the SPRV contracts, shall be invested as provided in Section 17.

Section 10. Dividends

The SPRV may not declare or pay dividends in any form to its owners unless the dividends do not decrease the capital of the SPRV below $5,000 and, after giving effect to the dividends, the assets of the SPRV, including assets held in trust pursuant to the terms of the insurance securitization, shall be sufficient to meet its obligations. The dividends may be declared by the board of directors of the SPRV if the dividends would not violate the provisions of this Act or jeopardize the fulfillment of the obligations of the SPRV or the trustee pursuant to the SPRV insurance securitization, the SPRV contract or any related transaction. The provisions of [insert reference to the insurance holding company system act of the state of the SPRV's domicile] pertaining to dividends do not apply to such dividends.

Section 11. Records and Financial Reports

A. The records of the SPRV shall be maintained in this state and shall be available for examination by the commissioner at any time. No later than five (5) months after the fiscal year end of the SPRV, the SPRV shall file with the commissioner an audit by a certified public accounting firm of the financial statements of the SPRV and the trust accounts.

B. Each SPRV organized under this Act shall file with the commissioner not later than March 1 a statement of operations, to include a statement of income, a balance sheet and a detailed listing of invested assets, including identification of assets held in trust to secure the SPRV's obligations under the SPRV contract, for the year ending the prior December 31. The statements shall be prepared in accordance with [insert reference to applicable statutory accounting guidance for reinsurers adopted by this state] on forms required by the commissioner.

C. The SPRV shall keep its books and records in such manner that its financial condition, affairs and operations can be ascertained and so that its financial statements filed with the commissioner can be readily verified and its compliance with the provisions of this Act determined. The books or records may be photographed, reproduced on film or stored and reproduced electronically.

D. All books, records, documents, accounts and vouchers shall be preserved and kept available in this state for the purpose of examination and until authority to destroy or otherwise dispose of the records is secured from the commissioner. The original records may, however, be kept and maintained outside this state if, according to a plan adopted by the SPRV's board of directors and approved by the commissioner, it maintains suitable records in lieu thereof.

Section 12. Officers and Directors

The directors of an SPRV shall elect officers that they deem necessary to carry out the purposes of the SPRV pursuant to this Act. The provisions of [insert the insurance code or relevant business corporation act, limited liability corporation act, limited partnership act, etc.] relating to the indemnification of officers and directors apply to and govern SPRVs organized under this Act.

A. Each SPRV authorized to do business in this state shall notify the commissioner within thirty (30) days of the appointment or election of any new officers or directors.

B. In cases where the commissioner deems that an officer or director does not meet the standards set forth in this section, he shall, after notice and hearing afforded to the officer or director, and after a finding that the officer or director is incompetent or untrustworthy or of known bad character, order the removal of the person. If the SPRV does not comply with a removal order within thirty (30) days, the commissioner may suspend that SPRV's limited certificate of authority until such time as the order is complied with.

C. The SPRV shall make no loans to any SPRV organizer, owner, director, officer, manager or affiliate of the SPRV.

Section 13. Fees and Taxes

The commissioner may charge fees to reimburse the commissioner for expenses and costs incurred by the department of insurance incident to the examination of financial statements, review of the plan of operation and to reimburse other such activities of the commissioner related to the formation and ongoing operation of the SPRV. The SPRV shall not be subject to state premium or other taxes incidental to the operation of its business as long as the business remains within the limitations of this Act.

Section 14. Dissolution

An SPRV operating under this Act may be dissolved at any time by a vote of its board of directors, and after the action has been approved by the commissioner. No voluntary dissolution shall be effected or allowed until and unless all of the obligations of the SPRV pursuant to the insurance securitization have been fully and finally satisfied pursuant to their terms. In the case of voluntary dissolution, the disposition of the affairs of the SPRV (including the settlement of all outstanding obligations), shall be made by the officers or directors of the SPRV and when the liquidation has been completed and a final statement, in acceptable form, filed with and approved, or deemed approved, by the commissioner, the provisions for voluntary dissolution under the [insert reference to section of the state's insurance code or general business law that provides for and governs dissolution of insurers or other entities as appropriate] shall be followed to dissolve the SPRV.

Section 15. Conservation, Rehabilitation or Liquidation

A. The provisions of [insert reference to the conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation statute] apply to an SPRV, except to the extent modified below.

B. (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of [insert reference to the state's conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation act that is consistent with Section 16 of the NAIC Insurers Rehabilitation and Liquidation Model Act], the commissioner may apply by petition to the [insert reference to appropriate court of jurisdiction] for an order authorizing the commissioner to conserve, rehabilitate or liquidate an SPRV domiciled in this state solely on one or more of the following grounds:

(a) There has been embezzlement, wrongful sequestration, dissipation, or diversion of the assets of the SPRV intended to be used to pay amounts owed to the ceding insurer or the holders of SPRV securities; or

(b) The SPRV is insolvent and the holders of a majority in outstanding principal amount of each class of SPRV securities request or consent to conservation, rehabilitation or liquidation under this Act.

(2) The court shall not grant relief under Paragraph (1)(a) of this subsection unless, after notice and a hearing, the commissioner, who shall have the burden of proof, establishes by clear and convincing evidence that relief should be granted.

C. Notwithstanding any contrary provision in the insurance code of this state, the regulations promulgated under the insurance code of this state, or any other applicable law or regulation, upon any order of conservation, rehabilitation or liquidation of the SPRV, the receiver shall be bound to deal with the SPRV's assets and liabilities, in accordance with the requirements set forth in this Act.

D. With respect to amounts recoverable under an SPRV contract, the amount recoverable by the receiver shall not be reduced or diminished as a result of the entry of an order of conservation, rehabilitation or liquidation with respect to the ceding insurer, notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in the contracts or other documentation governing the SPRV insurance securitization.

(1) Notwithstanding the provisions of [insert reference to the conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation act consistent with Section 5 of the NAIC Rehabilitation and Liquidation Model Act] or any other Section of the [insert reference to the conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation act], an application or petition under Section [insert conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation act provisions consistent with Sections 10, 11, 17, 20, 55, 58 or 59 of the NAIC Insurers Rehabilitation and Liquidation Model Act], or any temporary restraining order or injunction issued under any such section, with respect to a ceding insurer shall not prohibit the transaction of any business by an SPRV, including any payment by an SPRV made pursuant to an SPRV security, or any action or proceeding against an SPRV or its assets.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of [insert reference to the section of the conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation act that is consistent with Section 10 of the NAIC Insurers Rehabilitation and Liquidation Model Act], the commencement of a summary proceeding or other interim proceeding commenced prior to a formal delinquency proceeding with respect to an SPRV, and any order issued by the court thereunder, shall not prohibit the payment by an SPRV made pursuant to an SPRV security or SPRV contract or the SPRV from taking any action required to make the payment.

E. Notwithstanding any other provision of [insert reference to the state's conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation act] or other state law:

(1) A receiver of a ceding insurer may not avoid a non-fraudulent transfer by a ceding insurer to an SPRV of money or other property made pursuant to an SPRV contract; and

(2) A receiver of an SPRV may not void a non-fraudulent transfer by the SPRV of money or other property made to a ceding insurer pursuant to an SPRV contract or made to or for the benefit of any holder of an SPRV security on account of the SPRV security.

F. With the exception of the fulfillment of the obligations under an SPRV contract, and notwithstanding any other provisions of this Act or other law of this state to the contrary, the assets of an SPRV, including assets held in trust, shall not be consolidated with or included in the estate of a ceding insurer in any delinquency proceeding against the ceding insurer under this Act for any purpose, including, without limitation, distribution to creditors of the ceding insurer.

G. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act:

(1) The domiciliary receiver of an SPRV domiciled in another state shall be vested by operation of law with the title to all of the assets, property, contracts and rights of action, and all of the books, accounts and other records of the SPRV located in this state. The domiciliary receiver shall have the immediate right to recover all such vested property, assets, and causes of action of the SPRV located in this state.

(2) No ancillary proceeding may be commenced or prosecuted in this state against an SPRV domiciled in another state.

Drafting Note: The state should amend its conservation, rehabilitation and liquidation law to include an SPRV as a "person covered" as defined in the Section 2 of the NAIC Insurers Rehabilitation and Liquidation Model Act].

Drafting Note: A number of states require a liquidator to cancel policies within a pre-specified time period in the event of a liquidation. While reviewing the Plan of Operation, commissioners should consider the termination provisions, if any, of the securitization instruments in the event of the cancellation of all of the insurance policies underlying the securitization in order to assess whether any portion of the risk premium relating to those underlying policies should equitably be returned to the ceding insurer.

Section 16. Not Subject to Guaranty Funds, Residual Market or Similar Arrangements

A. The SPRV or the activities, assets and obligations relating to the SPRV are not subject to the provisions of [insert reference to sections of the insurance code addressing life and health and property and casualty guaranty or insolvency funds], and an SPRV shall not be assessed by or otherwise be required to contribute to any guaranty fund or guaranty association in this state with respect to the activities, assets or obligations of an SPRV or the ceding insurer.

B. The SPRV shall not be required to participate in residual market, FAIR plan or other similar plans to provide insurance coverage, take out policies, assume risks, make capital contributions, pay or be otherwise obligated for assessments, surcharges or fees, or otherwise support or participate in such plans or arrangements.

Section 17. Asset and Investment Limitations

A. Assets of the SPRV held in trust to secure obligations under the SPRV contract shall at all times be held in:

(1) Cash; and cash equivalents;

(2) Securities listed by the Securities Valuation Office of the NAIC and qualifying as admitted assets under statutory accounting convention in its state of domicile; or

(3) Any other form of security acceptable to the commissioner.

B. In addition, the SPRV may enter into swap agreements or other transactions that have the objective of leveling timing differences in funding of up-front or ongoing transaction expenses or managing credit or interest rate risk of the investments in the trust to ensure that the investments are sufficient to assure payment or repayment of the securities (and related interest or principal payments) issued pursuant to an SPRV insurance securitization transaction or the SPRV's obligations under the SPRV contract.

Section 18. Credit for Reinsurance for the SPRV Contract

An SPRV contract meeting the requirements under this Act shall be granted credit for reinsurance treatment or shall otherwise qualify as an asset or a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to an assuming insurer under the (insert reference to the state's equivalent of Section 3 of the NAIC Credit for Reinsurance Model Act) for the benefit of the ceding insurer, provided and only to the extent that:

A. The fair value of the assets held in trust for the benefit of the ceding insurer equal or exceed the obligations due and payable to the ceding insurer by the SPRV under the SPRV contract;

B. The assets are held in trust in accordance with the requirements set forth in this Act;

C. The assets are administered in the manner and pursuant to arrangements as set forth in this Act; and

D. The assets are held or invested in one or more of the forms allowed in Section 17.

Section 19. No Transaction of an Insurance Business by Investors in Securities

The securities issued by the SPRV pursuant to an SPRV insurance securitization shall not be deemed to be insurance or reinsurance contracts. An investor in such securities issued pursuant to an SPRV insurance securitization or any holder of such securities shall not, by sole means of this investment or holding, be deemed to be transacting an insurance business in this state. The underwriters or selling agents (and their partners, directors, officers, members, managers, employees, agents, representatives and advisors) involved in an SPRV insurance securitization shall not be deemed to be conducting an insurance or reinsurance agency, brokerage, intermediary, advisory or consulting business by virtue of their activities in connection therewith.

Section 20. Authority to Adopt Regulations

The commissioner may adopt regulations necessary to effectuate the purposes of this Act. Any regulations so adopted will not affect a SPRV insurance securitization in effect at the time of adoption.

Section 21. Effective Date

This Act shall become effective on [insert date].

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2001

SPECIAL PURPOSE REINSURANCE VEHICLE MODEL ACT (#789)

1. Project Description

This model provides a basis for the creation of Special Purpose Reinsurance Vehicles ("SPRVs") exclusively to facilitate the securitization of one or more ceding insurers' risk. At present, insurers have been using offshore SPRVs to effectuate securitizations, often using Bermuda or Cayman Island domiciles. Domestic insurers cede reinsurance to the offshore SPRV, which then securitizes the risk and thereby retains none of it. These SPRVs are sometimes referred to as 'transformers' because they transform a reinsurance transaction into a capital markets transaction. The purpose of the SPRV model is to enable those transactions to take place onshore.

2. Group Responsible for Drafting the Act

The project was assigned to the Insurance Securitization Working Group of the Financial Condition (E) Committee. The members of the working group were: Arnie Dutcher (IL), Chair, Greg Serio (NY), Vice-Chair, Woody Girion (CA), Al Franz (DE), Kevin McCarty (FL), Don Roof (GA), Craig Gardner (LA), Alessandro Iuppa (ME), Steve Johnson (PA), Joe Torti (RI), Ernst Csiszar (SC), and Jose Montemayor (TX).

3. Charge Authorizing the Project

Extract: "The Insurance Securitization Working Group will investigate whether there needs to be a regulatory response to continuing developments in insurance securitization, including the use of non-U.S. special purpose vehicles…". This charge was first given to the group in 1998. The response decided upon at the October 22, 1998, meeting by the group was to facilitate onshore as opposed to offshore SPRVs.

4. General Description of the Drafting Process and Due Process

Interested parties performed much of the original drafting of the act, with representatives of USAA, a current user of offshore SPRVs, providing much input. The act was extensively modified in a series of meetings spanning from October 1999 through July 2001.

The first significant discussion of a SPRV model was at the Atlanta National Meeting on October 4, 1999, where the first industry interested parties' draft of a model was presented to the group. The model was extensively discussed and revised on November 10, 1999, and a new draft was received by the working group and discussed further on December 6, 1999. There was then a significant amount of discussion regarding the public policy issues surrounding SPRVs at a two-day public hearing in May 2000 with position papers presented by industry interested parties in support of and opposed to SPRVs. Subsequent to this, an academic paper was presented to the working group in June 2000 and considered in more detail at an interim meeting on August 30, 2000, where a new draft of the model act was also presented. The academic paper was then modified in March 2001 by its authors. The draft act was modified again and discussed at an interim meeting on November 15, 2000, and a further draft was prepared for a full day interim meeting on February 6, 2001, at which regulators found compromise solutions for numerous areas, and voted 11-0 to adopt the act. Changes were discussed at a conference call on March 16, 2001, to consider the final drafting from the February meeting, but none were agreed upon. Some minor changes were agreed at its March 24, 2001, meeting and all twelve working group members voted unanimously to adopt the model.

Following the adoption of the model by the Insurance Securitization Working Group on March 24, 2001, the Financial Condition (E) Committee requested additional comment from regulators and interested parties for discussion during a June 9, 2001, public hearing in New Orleans. At the June 9, 2001, hearing, oral and written comments were considered, and the draft act was modified and released once again for public comment. The Committee considered comments received during a July 26, 2001, conference call and agreed to additional revisions. Finally, the Committee voted 10-2 to adopt the act.

5. Discussion of Key Issues

Tax: Although the income statement of an SPRV would be a wash, its viability does depend critically on being able to deduct the interest payments to securitization investors as interest. There is some concern that there could be reclassification of the interest to dividends under some IRS interpretations, and hence the proponents of onshore SPRVs would intend to ask Congress to provide the same certainty that pass-through tax treatment would be allowed as Congress has done with mortgage securitizations. This would of course require an act in Congress. The Reinsurance Association of America (RAA) is very opposed to such potential legislation claiming that it provides a tax advantage and that it is inherently unfair. The proponents' viewpoint is that it provides no advantage, merely guarantees against a disadvantage. In fact, they say that were a domestic reinsurer to do exactly what an SPRV is expected to do, the reinsurer would already receive the tax treatment that the SPRVs want to receive. The academic paper regarding onshore SPRVs concluded, inter alia, that "the issues involved with the proposed federal tax treatment of onshore SPRVs should not be used to impede the development and use of these vehicles" and that the authors did "not believe that proposed tax treatment of onshore SPRV transactions would have a detrimental impact on other forms of and vehicles for risk transfer."

Competition: Major industry associations of direct and primary insurers are firmly supportive of the act, while the RAA is opposed, presumably mostly from a competitive standpoint. Together with the tax issue mentioned above, the RAA would prefer that SPRVs be limited to catastrophic risk only and that any multiple cedent situation only apply to small companies. The RAA's position is that the SPRV program creates incentives that promote on-shore securitizations while doing nothing to promote utilization of on-shore reinsurance.

REINSURANCE INTERMEDIARY MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Short Title

This Act may be cited as the Reinsurance Intermediary Act.

Section 2. Definitions

As used in this Act:

A. "Actuary" means a person who is a member in good standing of the American Academy of Actuaries.

B. "Controlling person" means a person, firm, association or corporation who directly or indirectly has the power to direct or cause to be directed, the management, control or activities of the reinsurance intermediary.

C. "Insurer" means a person, firm, association or corporation duly licensed in this state pursuant to the applicable provisions of the insurance law as an insurer.

D. "Licensed producer" means a person licensed under [insert reference to state producer licensing law] to sell, solicit or negotiate insurance.

E. "Reinsurance intermediary" means a reinsurance intermediary-broker or a reinsurance intermediary-manager as these terms are defined in Subsections F and G of this section.

F. "Reinsurance intermediary-broker" (RB) means a person, other than an officer or employee of the ceding insurer, firm, association or corporation who solicits, negotiates or places reinsurance cessions or retrocessions on behalf of a ceding insurer without acting as a RM on behalf of the insurer.

G. "Reinsurance intermediary-manager" (RM) means a person, firm, association or corporation, whether known as a RM, manager or other similar term, who has authority to bind or manages all or part of the assumed reinsurance business of a reinsurer (including the management of a separate division, department or underwriting office) and acts as an agent for the reinsurer except the following:

(1) An employee of the reinsurer;

(2) A U.S. manager of the U. S. branch of an alien reinsurer;

(3) An underwriting manager that, pursuant to contract, manages all or part of the reinsurance operations of the reinsurer, is under common control with the reinsurer, subject to the Holding Company Act, and that is not compensated based on the volume of premiums written.

(4) The manager of a group, association, pool or organization of insurers which engage in joint underwriting or joint reinsurance but only if the group association, pool or organization of insurers (as distinguished from its members) is subject to examination by the [Insurance Commissioner] of the state in which the manager's principal business office is located.

H. "Reinsurer" means a person, firm, association or corporation duly licensed in this state pursuant to the applicable provisions of the insurance law as an insurer with the authority to assume reinsurance.

I. "To be in violation" means that the reinsurance intermediary, insurer or reinsurer for whom the reinsurance intermediary was acting failed to substantially comply with the provisions of this Act.

J. Qualified U. S. financial institutions:

For purposes of this Act, a "qualified U. S. financial institution" means an institution that:

(1) Is organized or (in the case of a U.S. office of a foreign banking organization) licensed, under the laws of the United States or any state thereof;

(2) Is regulated, supervised and examined by U.S. federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies; and

(3) Has been determined by either the commissioner, or the Securities Valuation Office of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, to meet such standards of financial condition and standing as are considered necessary and appropriate to regulate the quality of financial institutions whose letters of credit will be acceptable to the commissioner.

Section 3. Licensure

A. No person, firm, association or corporation shall act as a RB in this state if the RB maintains an office either directly or as a member or employee of a firm or association, or an officer, director or employee of a corporation:

(1) In this state, unless the RB is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state; or

(2) In another state, unless the RB is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state or another state having a law substantially similar to this law.

B. No person, firm, association or corporation shall act as a RM:

(1) For a reinsurer domiciled in this state, unless the RM is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state;

(2) In this state, if the RM maintains an office either directly or as a member or employee of a firm or association, or an officer, director or employee of a corporation in this state, unless the RM is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state.

C. The commissioner may require a resident RM subject to Subsection B to:

(1) File a bond in an amount from an insurer acceptable to the commissioner for the protection of the reinsurer; and Drafting Note: It is contemplated that one bond per reinsurer represented would be required.

(2) Maintain an errors and omissions policy in an amount acceptable to the commissioner.

D. (1) The commissioner may issue a reinsurance intermediary license to any person, firm, association or corporation that has complied with the requirements of this Act. A license issued to a firm or association will authorize all the members of the firm or association and any designated employees to act as reinsurance intermediaries under the license, and all such persons shall be named in the application and any supplements thereto. A license issued to a corporation shall authorize all of the officers, and any designated employees and directors thereof to act as reinsurance intermediaries on behalf of the corporation, and all such persons shall be named in the application and any supplements thereto.

(2) The commissioner shall issue a nonresident reinsurance intermediary license if:

(a) The person is currently licensed as a resident reinsurance intermediary or insurance producer and in good standing in his or her home state;

(b) The person has submitted the proper request for licensure and has paid the fees required by [insert appropriate reference to state law or regulation];

(c) The person has submitted or transmitted to the insurance commissioner the application for licensure that the person submitted to his or her home state, or in lieu of that application, a completed application deemed appropriate by the commissioner; and

(d) The person's home state awards nonresident licenses to residents of this state on the same basis.

Drafting Note: In accordance with Public Law No. 106-102 (the "Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act"), states should not require an applicant for a non-resident license to satisfy any additional requirements for a license except as allowed by the Act. Incorporation into this model law of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act provisions with respect to non-resident administrative licensing procedures should not be read to imply that corrective action was required to bring this model law into compliance with the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act. The changes were made solely to ensure and to clarify that the licensing provisions of this model law are consistent with the language of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act.

E. The commissioner may refuse to issue a reinsurance intermediary license if, in his or her judgment, the applicant, any one named on the application, or any member, principal, officer or director of the applicant, is not trustworthy, or that any controlling person of such applicant is not trustworthy to act as a reinsurance intermediary, or that any of the foregoing has given cause for revocation or suspension of such license, or has failed to comply with any prerequisite for the issuance of such license. Upon written request therefor, the commissioner will furnish a summary of the basis for refusal to issue a license, which document shall be privileged and not subject to [cite applicable freedom of information law].

F. Licensed attorneys at law of this state when acting in their professional capacity as such shall be exempt from this section.

Section 4. Required Contract Provisions—Reinsurance Intermediary—Brokers

Transactions between a RB and the insurer it represents in such capacity shall only be entered into pursuant to a written authorization, specifying the responsibilities of each party. The authorization shall, at a minimum, provide that:

A. The insurer may terminate the RB's authority at any time.

B. The RB will render accounts to the insurer accurately detailing all material transactions, including information necessary to support all commissions, charges and other fees received by, or owing, to the RB, and remit all funds due to the insurer within thirty (30) days of receipt.

C. All funds collected for the insurer's account will be held by the RB in a fiduciary capacity in a bank that is a qualified U.S. financial institution as defined herein.

D. The RB will comply with Section 5 of this Act.

E. The RB will comply with the written standards established by the insurer for the cession or retrocession of all risks.

F. The RB will disclose to the insurer any relationship with any reinsurer to which business will be ceded or retroceded.

Section 5. Books and Records—Reinsurance Intermediary Brokers

A. For at least ten (10) years after expiration of each contract of reinsurance transacted by the RB, the RB will keep a complete record for each transaction showing:

(1) The type of contract, limits, underwriting restrictions, classes or risks and territory;

(2) Period of coverage, including effective and expiration dates, cancellation provisions and notice required of cancellation;

(3) Reporting and settlement requirements of balances;

(4) Rate used to compute the reinsurance premium;

(5) Names and addresses of assuming reinsurers;

(6) Rates of all reinsurance commissions, including the commissions on any retrocessions handled by the RB;

(7) Related correspondence and memoranda;

(8) Proof of placement;

(9) Details regarding retrocessions handled by the RB including the identity of retrocessionaires and percentage of each contract assumed or ceded;

(10) Financial records, including but not limited to, premium and loss accounts; and

(11) When the RB procures a reinsurance contract on behalf of a licensed ceding insurer:

(a) Directly from any assuming reinsurer, written evidence that the assuming reinsurer has agreed to assume the risk; or

(b) If placed through a representative of the assuming reinsurer, other than an employee, written evidence that the reinsurer has delegated binding authority to the representative.

Drafting Note: States may wish to bifurcate this subsection, shortening the required retention period for contracts limited to first-party property coverages and lengthening the period for certain third-party liability coverages (e.g., medical malpractice).

B. The insurer will have access and the right to copy and audit all accounts and records maintained by the RB related to its business in a form usable by the insurer.

Section 6. Duties of Insurers Utilizing the Services of a Reinsurance Intermediary—Broker

A. An insurer shall not engage the services of any person, firm, association or corporation to act as a RB on its behalf unless the person is licensed as required by Section 3A of this Act.

B. An insurer may not employ an individual who is employed by a RB with which it transacts business, unless the RB is under common control with the insurer and subject to the [insert citation to the Holding Company Act].

C. The insurer shall annually obtain a copy of statements of the financial condition of each RB with which it transacts business.

Section 7. Required Contract Provisions—Reinsurance Intermediary—Managers

Transactions between a RM and the reinsurer it represents in such capacity shall only be entered into pursuant to a written contract, specifying the responsibilities of each party, which shall be approved by the reinsurer's Board of Directors. At least thirty (30) days before the reinsurer assumes or cedes business through the producer, a true copy of the approved contract shall be filed with the commissioner for approval. The contract shall, at a minimum, provide that:

A. The reinsurer may terminate the contract for cause upon written notice to the RM. The reinsurer may immediately suspend the authority of the RM to assume or cede business during the pendency of any dispute regarding the cause for termination.

B. The RM will render accounts to the reinsurer accurately detailing all material transactions, including information necessary to support all commissions, charges and other fees received by, or owing to the RM, and remit all funds due under the contract to the reinsurer on not less than a monthly basis.

C. All funds collected for the reinsurer's account will be held by the RM in a fiduciary capacity in a bank that is a qualified U.S. financial institution as defined herein. The RM may retain no more than three (3) months estimated claims payments and allocated loss adjustment expenses. The RM shall maintain a separate bank account for each reinsurer that it represents.

D. For at least ten (10) years after expiration of each contract of reinsurance transacted by the RM, the RM will keep a complete record for each transactions showing:

(1) The type of contract, limits, underwriting restrictions, classes or risks and territory;

(2) Period of coverage, including effective and expiration dates, cancellation provisions and notice required of cancellation, and disposition of outstanding reserves on covered risks;

(3) Reporting and settlement requirements of balances;

(4) Rate used to compute the reinsurance premium;

(5) Names and addresses of reinsurers;

(6) Rates of all reinsurance commissions, including the commissions on any retrocessions handled by the RM;

(7) Related correspondence and memoranda;

(8) Proof of placement;

(9) Details regarding retrocessions handled by the RM, as permitted by Section 9D of this Act, including the identity of retrocessionaires and percentage of each contract assumed or ceded;

(10) Financial records, including but not limited to, premium and loss accounts; and

(11) When the RM places a reinsurance contract on behalf of a ceding insurer:

(a) Directly from any assuming reinsurer, written evidence that the assuming reinsurer has agreed to assume the risk; or

(b) If placed through a representative of the assuming reinsurer, other than an employee, written evidence that such reinsurer has delegated binding authority to the representative.

Drafting Note: States may wish to bifurcate this subsection, shortening the required retention period for contracts limited to first-party property coverages and lengthening the period for certain third-party liability coverages (e.g., medical malpractice).

E. The reinsurer will have access and the right to copy all accounts and records maintained by the RM related to its business in a form usable by the reinsurer.

F. The contract cannot be assigned in whole or in part by the RM.

G. The RM will comply with the written underwriting and rating standards established by the insurer for the acceptance, rejection or cession of all risks.

H. Rates, terms and purposes of commissions, charges and other fees which the RM may levy against the reinsurer are set forth.

I. If the contract permits the RM to settle claims on behalf of the reinsurer:

(1) All claims will be reported to the reinsurer in a timely manner;

(2) A copy of the claim file will be sent to the reinsurer at its request or as soon as it becomes known that the claim:

(a) Has the potential to exceed the lesser of an amount determined by the commissioner or the limit set by the reinsurer;

(b) Involves a coverage dispute;

(c) May exceed the RM's claims settlement authority;

(d) Is open for more than six (6) months; or

(e) Is closed by payment of the lesser of an amount set by the commissioner or an amount set by the reinsurer;

(3) All claim files will be the joint property of the reinsurer and RM. However, upon an order of liquidation of the reinsurer the files shall become the sole property of the reinsurer or its estate; the RM shall have reasonable access to and the right to copy the files on a timely basis;

(4) Any settlement authority granted to the RM may be terminated for cause upon the reinsurer's written notice to the RM or upon the termination of the contract. The reinsurer may suspend the settlement authority during the pendency of the dispute regarding the cause of termination.

J. If the contract provides for a sharing of interim profits by the RM, interim profits will not be paid until one year after the end of each underwriting period for property business and five (5) years after the end of each underwriting period for casualty business (or a later period set by the commissioner for specified lines of insurance) and not until the adequacy of reserves on remaining claims has been verified pursuant to Section 9C of this Act.

K. The RM will annually provide the reinsurer with a statement of its financial condition prepared by an independent certified accountant.

L. The reinsurer shall periodically (at least semi-annually) conduct an on-site review of the underwriting and claims processing operations of the RM.

M. The RM will disclose to the reinsurer any relationship it has with any insurer prior to ceding or assuming any business with such insurer pursuant to this contract.

N. Within the scope of its actual or apparent authority the acts of the RM shall be deemed to be the acts of the reinsurer on whose behalf it is acting.

Section 8. Prohibited Acts

The RM shall not:

A. Cede retrocessions on behalf of the reinsurer, except that the RM may cede facultative retrocessions pursuant to obligatory facultative agreements if the contract with the reinsurer contains reinsurance underwriting guidelines for such retrocessions. The guidelines shall include a list of reinsurers with which automatic agreements are in effect, and for each such reinsurer, the coverages and amounts or percentages that may be reinsured, and commission schedules;

B. Commit the reinsurer to participate in reinsurance syndicates;

C. Appoint any producer without assuring that the producer is lawfully licensed to transact the type of reinsurance for which he is appointed;

D. Without prior approval of the reinsurer, pay or commit the reinsurer to pay a claim, net of retrocessions, that exceeds the lesser of an amount specified by the reinsurer or one percent of the reinsurer's policyholder's surplus as of December 31 of the last complete calendar year;

E. Collect any payment from a retrocessionaire or commit the reinsurer to any claim settlement with a retrocessionaire, without prior approval of the reinsurer. If prior approval is given, a report must be promptly forwarded to the reinsurer;

F. Jointly employ an individual who is employed by the reinsurer unless such RM is under common control with the reinsurer subject to the [insert citation for Holding Company Act]; or

G. Appoint a sub-RM.

Section 9. Duties of Reinsurers Utilizing the Services of a Reinsurance Intermediary—Manager

A. A reinsurer shall not engage the services of any person, firm, association or corporation to act as a RM on its behalf unless the person is licensed as required by Section 3B of this Act.

B. The reinsurer shall annually obtain a copy of statements of the financial condition of each RM which the reinsurer has engaged prepared by an independent certified accountant in a form acceptable to the commissioner.

C. If a RM establishes loss reserves, the reinsurer shall annually obtain the opinion of an actuary attesting to the adequacy of loss reserves established for losses incurred and outstanding on business produced by the RM. This opinion shall be in addition to any other required loss reserve certification.

D. Binding authority for all retrocessional contracts or participation in reinsurance syndicates shall rest with an officer of the reinsurer who shall not be affiliated with the RM.

E. Within thirty (30) days of termination of a contract with a RM, the reinsurer shall provide written notification of termination to the commissioner.

F. A reinsurer shall not appoint to its board of directors, any officer, director, employee, controlling shareholder or subproducer of its RM. This subsection shall not apply to relationships governed by the [insert citation to Holding Company Act] or, if applicable, [insert citation to state law equivalent to the Broker Controlled Insurer Act].

Section 10. Examination Authority

A. A reinsurance intermediary shall be subject to examination by the commissioner. The commissioner shall have access to all books, bank accounts and records of the reinsurance intermediary in a form usable to the commissioner.

B. A RM may be examined as if it were the reinsurer.

Section 11. Compliance with Orders

A. A RB or RM shall comply with any order of a court of competent jurisdiction or a duly constituted arbitration panel requiring the production of non-privileged documents by the RB or RM, or the testimony of an employee or other individual otherwise under the control of the RB or RM with respect to any reinsurance transaction for which it acted as a RB or RM.

B. Compliance shall be subject to the right of the RB or RM, and the parties to the reinsurance transaction, to object to the court or arbitration panel concerning the nature or scope of the documents or testimony or the time within which it must comply with the order. Failure to comply with the order shall be deemed to be a material non-compliance with this Act. However, in no event shall this section be construed to require more than one appearance by the same witness in a single action or arbitration.

Section 12. Penalties and Liabilities

A. If the commissioner determines that the reinsurance intermediary or any other person has not materially complied with this Act, or any regulation or order promulgated thereunder, after notice and opportunity to be heard, the commissioner may order:

(1) For each separate violation, a penalty in an amount not exceeding $5,000;

(2) Revocation or suspension of the reinsurance intermediary's license; and

(3) If it was found that because of such material non-compliance that the insurer or reinsurer has suffered any loss or damage, the commissioner may maintain a civil action brought by or on behalf of the reinsurer or insurer and its policyholders and creditors for recovery of compensatory damages for the benefit of the reinsurer or insurer and its policyholders and creditors or seek other appropriate relief.

B. If an order of rehabilitation or liquidation of the insurer has been entered pursuant to [insert state's rehabilitation or liquidation statute], and the receiver appointed under that order determines that the reinsurance intermediary or any other person has not materially complied with this Act, or any regulation or order promulgated thereunder, and the insurer suffered any loss or damage therefrom, the receiver may maintain a civil action for recovery of damages or other appropriate sanctions for the benefit of the insurer.

Drafting Note: If state law does not otherwise provide, amend the bracketed citation in the preceding paragraph to include the rehabilitation or liquidation statute of any reciprocal state. This is intended to codify the standing of a receiver to maintain a civil action in a reciprocal state.

C. Nothing contained in this section shall affect the right of the commissioner to impose any other penalties provided for in the insurance law.

D. Nothing contained in this Act is intended to or shall in any manner limit or restrict the rights of policyholders, claimants, creditors or other third parties or confer any rights to such persons.

Section 13. Reciprocity

A. The insurance commissioner shall waive any requirements for a nonresident license applicant with a valid license from the applicant's home state, except the requirements imposed by Section 3 of this Act, if the applicant's home state awards nonresident licenses to residents of this state on the same basis.

B. A nonresident reinsurance intermediary's satisfaction of any applicable home state continuing education requirements, if any, for licenses insurance producers or reinsurance intermediaries shall constitute satisfaction of this state's continuing education requirements if the nonresident producer's home state recognizes the satisfaction of its continuing education requirements imposed upon producers or reinsurance intermediaries from this state on the same basis.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to eliminate any licensing and appointment retaliatory fees. In accordance with Public Law No. 106-102 (the "Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act"), states should not require nonresident fees that are so disparate from the resident fees that they impose a barrier to entry. Such fees would be prohibited under Public Law 106-102.

Section 14. Service of Process

A reinsurance intermediary, by accepting licensure in this state, is deemed to have consented to the jurisdiction of the commissioner and of the courts of this state with respect to all activities conducted under the license, and to have designated the commissioner as its agent for service of process. Each licensed reinsurance intermediary shall furnish the commissioner with the name and address of a designated contact resident of this state to whom notices or orders of the commissioner or process affecting the reinsurance intermediary may be forwarded. The licensee shall promptly notify the commissioner in writing of every change in its designated contact for services of process, and such changes shall not become effective until acknowledged by the commissioner.

Section 15. Rules and Regulations

The commissioner may adopt reasonable rules and regulations for the implementation and administration of the provisions of this Act.

Drafting Note: This section may be omitted if state's insurance law contains general rule-making provision.

Section 16. Effective Date

This Act shall take effect on [insert date]. No insurer or reinsurer may continue to utilize the services of a reinsurance intermediary on and after [insert date] unless utilization is in compliance with this Act.

REINSURANCE INTERMEDIARY MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

REINSURANCE INTERMEDIARY MODEL ACT

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2006

REINSURANCE INTERMEDIARY MODEL ACT (#790)

1. Project Description

The Reinsurance (G) Task Force was charged with reviewing the Reinsurance Intermediary Model Act. The purpose of these amendments is to ensure that a reinsurance broker or manager be required to comply with the order of a court or arbitration panel requiring the production of non-privileged documents or the testimony of an employee or other individual otherwise under the control of the intermediary with respect to reinsurance transactions for which the intermediary provided services. The language provides for safeguards with respect to the nature or scope of the requested documents or testimony, penalties in the event of a violation, and safeguards with respect to multiple appearances by the same witness.

2. Group Responsible for the Report

The project was assigned to the Reinsurance (G) Task Force. The members of the task force at the time were: Julie Bowler (MA), Chair; John Oxendine (GA), Vice-Chair; Walter Bell (AL); John Garamendi (CA); Susan Cogswell (CT); Matthew Denn (DE); Thomas Hampton (DC); Kevin McCarty (FL); Michael McRaith (IL); Martin Koetters (KY); Alessandro Iuppa (ME); Glenn Wilson (MN); Alice Molasky-Arman (NV); Roger Sevigny (NH); Steven Goldman (NJ); Howard Mills (NY); Jim Poolman (ND); Diane Koken (PA); Dorelisse Juarbe Jimenez (PR); Mike Geeslin (TX); Alfred Gross (VA); Mike Kriedler (WA) and Jorge Gomez (WI).

3. Charge Authorizing the Project

As part of the NAIC 2006 Model Law Review, changes were proposed to the Reinsurance Intermediary Model Act.

4. General Description of the Drafting Process and Discussion of Key Issues

Most reinsurance contracts are conceived, negotiated and drafted by reinsurance intermediaries and that most such contracts contain arbitration clauses. When disputes arise between the parties to the reinsurance contract, arbitrators often look to intermediaries for background documentation and testimony concerning the intentions of the parties, representations made and the course of conduct during the operation of contract. All too often, however, intermediaries refuse to provide this information leaving the arbitrators to evaluate the transaction created and documented by intermediaries without their assistance.

Due to a gap in the Federal Arbitration Act, an arbitration panel lacks the authority to order a pre-hearing deposition or production of documents. The issue is not just one of facilitating the conflict resolution method of choice between insurers and reinsurers. The issue is also whether an intermediary is "fit and proper" from a regulatory standpoint, if it refuses to cooperate with efforts to resolve problems growing out of the contracts it conceived, negotiated and drafted.

During an August 17, 2005, conference call, the Interested Persons reviewed the recommended amendments to the Intermediary Act that reflected agreed language worked out between several interested parties. The task force then exposed those amendments for comment from interested parties and regulators. Receiving no additional comments or disagreement with the proposal, the task force adopted amendments during the NAIC 2006 Spring National Meeting.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2001

REINSURANCE INTERMEDIARY MODEL ACT (#790)

1. Project Description

The Reinsurance (G) Task Force was charged with reviewing the Reinsurance Intermediary Model Act to clarify non-resident reciprocity provisions for reinsurance intermediaries consistent with the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act. The charge was proposed by the NARAB Working Group after the NAIC 2000 Winter National Meeting.

2. Group Responsible for the Report

The project was assigned to the Reinsurance (G) Task Force. The members of the task force at that time were: John Oxendine (GA), Chair; Alessandro Iuppa (ME), David Parsons (AL); Elisara Togiai (AS); Harry Low (CA), Donna Lee Williams (DE), Nathaniel Shapo (IL), Greg Serio (NY), and Jose Montemayor (TX).

3. Charge Authorizing the Project

At the NAIC 2000 Winter National Meeting, Nicole Allen, Council of Insurance Agents and Brokers, alerted the task force of an issue surrounding the possible applicability of the NARAB reciprocity standards to non-resident licensure for reinsurance intermediaries. Ms. Allen recommended that the task force review the NAIC Reinsurance Intermediary Model Act to ensure that appropriate reciprocity requirements are in place for reinsurance intermediaries.

4. General Description of the Drafting Process and Discussion of Key Issues

A draft of revisions to the Reinsurance Intermediary Model Act was prepared on January 16, 2001, by NAIC Staff. The task force then exposed those amendments for comment from interested parties after a January 25, 2001, conference call. The task force adopted amendments during the NAIC 2001 Spring National Meeting, which were finalized during a May 22, 2001, conference call. The adopted amendments redefine licensed producers as persons required to be licensed under the laws to sell, solicit or negotiate insurance. The Model Act was further revised to include new language concerning non-resident reinsurance intermediaries, which advise that a license shall be granted if: 1) the person is currently licensed as a resident reinsurance intermediary or insurance producer and in good standing in his or her home state; 2) the person has submitted the proper request for licensure and has paid the fees required; 3) the person has submitted or transmitted to the insurance commissioner the application for licensure that the person submitted to his or her home state, or in lieu of that application, a completed application deemed appropriate by the commissioner; and 4) the person's home state awards nonresident licenses to residents of this state on the same basis. The existing service of process provision was amended to preclude any condition precedent being established before the Commissioner would be designated as agent for service of process. Language was also included at the request of the Underwriting and Reinsurance Pools Working Group to clarify the scope of the "Pool Manager" exemption from licensure.

The Regulation was presented and adopted by the Task Force at the NAIC 2001 Summer National Meeting.

LIFE AND HEALTH REINSURANCE AGREEMENTS MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents:

Section 1. Authority [Optional]

This regulation is adopted and promulgated by the commissioner pursuant to Section [applicable section] of the [name of state] Insurance Law [or Code].

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the word "commissioner" appears.

Section 2. Preamble

A. The [name of state] Insurance Department recognizes that licensed insurers routinely enter into reinsurance agreements that yield legitimate relief to the ceding insurer from strain to surplus.

B. However, it is improper for a licensed insurer, in the capacity of ceding insurer, to enter into reinsurance agreements for the principal purpose of producing significant surplus aid for the ceding insurer, typically on a temporary basis, while not transferring all of the significant risks inherent in the business being reinsured. In substance or effect, the expected potential liability to the ceding insurer remains basically unchanged by the reinsurance transaction, notwithstanding certain risk elements in the reinsurance agreement, such as catastrophic mortality or extraordinary survival. The terms of such agreements referred to herein and described in Section 4 violate:

(1) Section [insert applicable section] relating to financial statements which do not properly reflect the financial condition of the ceding insurer;

(2) Section [insert applicable section] relating to reinsurance reserve credits, thus resulting in a ceding insurer improperly reducing liabilities or establishing assets for reinsurance ceded; and

(3) Section [insert applicable section] relating to creating a situation that may be hazardous to policyholders and the people of this State.

Section 3. Scope

This regulation shall apply to all domestic life and accident and health insurers and to all other licensed life and accident and health insurers which are not subject to a substantially similar regulation in their domiciliary state. This regulation shall also similarly apply to licensed property and casualty insurers with respect to their accident and health business. This regulation shall not apply to assumption reinsurance, yearly renewable term reinsurance or certain nonproportional reinsurance such as stop loss or catastrophe reinsurance.

Section 4. Accounting Requirements

A. No insurer subject to this regulation shall, for reinsurance ceded, reduce any liability or establish any asset in any financial statement filed with the Department if, by the terms of the reinsurance agreement, in substance or effect, any of the following conditions exist:

(1) Renewal expense allowances provided or to be provided to the ceding insurer by the reinsurer in any accounting period, are not sufficient to cover anticipated allocable renewal expenses of the ceding insurer on the portion of the business reinsured, unless a liability is established for the present value of the shortfall (using assumptions equal to the applicable statutory reserve basis on the business reinsured). Those expenses include commissions, premium taxes and direct expenses including, but not limited to, billing, valuation, claims and maintenance expected by the company at the time the business is reinsured;

(2) The ceding insurer can be deprived of surplus or assets at the reinsurer's option or automatically upon the occurrence of some event, such as the insolvency of the ceding insurer, except that termination of the reinsurance agreement by the reinsurer for nonpayment of reinsurance premiums or other amounts due, such as modified coinsurance reserve adjustments, interest and adjustments on funds withheld, and tax reimbursements, shall not be considered to be such a deprivation of surplus or assets;

(3) The ceding insurer is required to reimburse the reinsurer for negative experience under the reinsurance agreement, except that neither offsetting experience refunds against current and prior years' losses under the agreement nor payment by the ceding insurer of an amount equal to the current and prior years' losses under the agreement upon voluntary termination of in force reinsurance by the ceding insurer shall be considered such a reimbursement to the reinsurer for negative experience. Voluntary termination does not include situations where termination occurs because of unreasonable provisions which allow the reinsurer to reduce its risk under the agreement. An example of such a provision is the right of the reinsurer to increase reinsurance premiums or risk and expense charges to excessive levels forcing the ceding company to prematurely terminate the reinsurance treaty;

(4) The ceding insurer must, at specific points in time scheduled in the agreement, terminate or automatically recapture all or part of the reinsurance ceded;

(5) The reinsurance agreement involves the possible payment by the ceding insurer to the reinsurer of amounts other than from income realized from the reinsured policies. For example, it is improper for a ceding company to pay reinsurance premiums, or other fees or charges to a reinsurer which are greater than the direct premiums collected by the ceding company;

(6) The treaty does not transfer all of the significant risk inherent in the business being reinsured. The following table identifies for a representative sampling of products or type of business, the risks which are considered to be significant. For products not specifically included, the risks determined to be significant shall be consistent with this table.

Risk categories:

(a) Morbidity

(b) Mortality

(c) Lapse

This is the risk that a policy will voluntarily terminate prior to the recoupment of a statutory surplus strain experienced at issue of the policy.

(d) Credit Quality (C1)

This is the risk that invested assets supporting the reinsured business will decrease in value. The main hazards are that assets will default or that there will be a decrease in earning power. It excludes market value declines due to changes in interest rate.

(e) Reinvestment (C3)

This is the risk that interest rates will fall and funds reinvested (coupon payments or monies received upon asset maturity or call) will therefore earn less than expected. If asset durations are less than liability durations, the mismatch will increase.

(f) Disintermediation (C3)

This is the risk that interest rates rise and policy loans and surrenders increase or maturing contracts do not renew at anticipated rates of renewal. If asset durations are greater than the liability durations, the mismatch will increase. Policyholders will move their funds into new products offering higher rates. The company may have to sell assets at a loss to provide for these withdrawals.

(7) (a) The credit quality, reinvestment, or disintermediation risk is significant for the business reinsured and the ceding company does not (other than for the classes of business excepted in Paragraph (7)(b)) either transfer the underlying assets to the reinsurer or legally segregate such assets in a trust or escrow account or otherwise establish a mechanism satisfactory to the commissioner which legally segregates, by contract or contract provision, the underlying assets.

(b) Notwithstanding the requirements of Paragraph (7)(a), the assets supporting the reserves for the following classes of business and any classes of business which do not have a significant credit quality, reinvestment or disintermediation risk may be held by the ceding company without segregation of such assets:

- Health Insurance - LTC/LTD
- Traditional Non-Par Permanent
- Traditional Par Permanent
- Adjustable Premium Permanent
- Indeterminate Premium Permanent
- Universal Life Fixed Premium
  (no dump-in premiums allowed)

The associated formula for determining the reserve interest rate adjustment must use a formula which reflects the ceding company's investment earnings and incorporates all realized and unrealized gains and losses reflected in the statutory statement. The following is an acceptable formula:

$$\text{Rate} = \frac{2\,(I + CG)}{X + Y - I - CG}$$

Where: I is the net investment income (Exhibit 2, Line 16, Column 7)

CG is capital gains less capital losses (Exhibit 4, Line 10, Column 6)

Y is the same as X but for the prior year

Drafting Note: Line references are for the 1992 annual statement. Line references may be deleted or should be updated if regulation is adopted after calendar year 1992. Be aware that annual statement line references may change from year to year.

(8) Settlements are made less frequently than quarterly or payments due from the reinsurer are not made in cash within ninety (90) days of the settlement date.

(9) The ceding insurer is required to make representations or warranties not reasonably related to the business being reinsured.

(10) The ceding insurer is required to make representations or warranties about future performance of the business being reinsured.

(11) The reinsurance agreement is entered into for the principal purpose of producing significant surplus aid for the ceding insurer, typically on a temporary basis, while not transferring all of the significant risks inherent in the business reinsured and, in substance or effect, the expected potential liability to the ceding insurer remains basically unchanged.

B. Notwithstanding Subsection A, an insurer subject to this regulation may, with the prior approval of the commissioner, take such reserve credit or establish such asset as the commissioner may deem consistent with the Insurance Law [or Code], Rules or Regulations, including actuarial interpretations or standards adopted by the Department.

C. (1) Agreements entered into after the effective date of this regulation which involve the reinsurance of business issued prior to the effective date of the agreements, along with any subsequent amendments thereto, shall be filed by the ceding company with the commissioner within thirty (30) days from its date of execution. Each filing shall include data detailing the financial impact of the transaction. The ceding insurer's actuary who signs the financial statement actuarial opinion with respect to valuation of reserves shall consider this regulation and any applicable actuarial standards of practice when determining the proper credit in financial statements filed with this department. The actuary should maintain adequate documentation and be prepared upon request to describe the actuarial work performed for inclusion in the financial statements and to demonstrate that such work conforms to this regulation.

(2) Any increase in surplus net of federal income tax resulting from arrangements described in Subsection C(1) shall be identified separately on the insurer's statutory financial statement as a surplus item (aggregate write-ins for gains and losses in surplus in the Capital and Surplus Account, page 4 of the Annual Statement) and recognition of the surplus increase as income shall be reflected on a net of tax basis in the "Reinsurance ceded" line, page 4 of the Annual Statement as earnings emerge from the business reinsured.

{For example, on the last day of calendar year N, company XYZ pays a $20 million initial commission and expense allowance to company ABC for reinsuring an existing block of business. Assuming a 34% tax rate, the net increase in surplus at inception is $13.2 million ($20 million - $6.8 million) which is reported on the "Aggregate write-ins for gains and losses in surplus" line in the Capital and Surplus account. $6.8 million (34% of $20 million) is reported as income on the "Commissions and expense allowances on reinsurance ceded" line of the Summary of Operations.

At the end of year N+1 the business has earned $4 million. ABC has paid $.5 million in profit and risk charges in arrears for the year and has received a $1 million experience refund. Company ABC's annual statement would report $1.65 million (66% of ($4 million - $1 million - $.5 million) up to a maximum of $13.2 million) on the "Commissions and expense allowance on reinsurance ceded" line of the Summary of Operations, and -$1.65 million on the "Aggregate write-ins for gains and losses in surplus" line of the Capital and Surplus account. The experience refund would be reported separately as a miscellaneous income item in the Summary of Operations.}

Section 5. Written Agreements

A. No reinsurance agreement or amendment to any agreement may be used to reduce any liability or to establish any asset in any financial statement filed with the Department, unless the agreement, amendment or a binding letter of intent has been duly executed by both parties no later than the "as of date" of the financial statement.

B. In the case of a letter of intent, a reinsurance agreement or an amendment to a reinsurance agreement must be executed within a reasonable period of time, not exceeding ninety (90) days from the execution date of the letter of intent, in order for credit to be granted for the reinsurance ceded.

C. The reinsurance agreement shall contain provisions which provide that:

(1) The agreement shall constitute the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the business being reinsured thereunder and that there are no understandings between the parties other than as expressed in the agreement; and

(2) Any change or modification to the agreement shall be null and void unless made by amendment to the agreement and signed by both parties.

Section 6. Existing Agreements

Insurers subject to this regulation shall reduce to zero by December 31, 19[ ] any reserve credits or assets established with respect to reinsurance agreements entered into prior to the effective date of this regulation which, under the provisions of this regulation would not be entitled to recognition of the reserve credits or assets; provided, however, that the reinsurance agreements shall have been in compliance with laws or regulations in existence immediately preceding the effective date of this regulation.

Drafting Note: While each jurisdiction has short time period discretion, the latest date to be inserted must be no later than three (3) years from the date this amended model regulation was adopted by the NAIC.

Section 7. Effective Date

This regulation shall become effective [date].

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

ASSUMPTION REINSURANCE MODEL ACT

Section 1. Purpose

This Act provides for the regulation of the transfer and novation of contracts of insurance by way of assumption reinsurance. It defines assumption reinsurance and establishes notice and disclosure requirements which protect and define the rights and obligations of policyholders, regulators and the parties to assumption reinsurance agreements.

Section 2. Scope

A. This Act applies to any insurer authorized in this state which either assumes or transfers the obligations or risks, or both, on contracts of insurance pursuant to an assumption reinsurance agreement.

Drafting Note: Certain other transactions may result in a substantive assumption or transfer of obligations or risks, or both, under contracts of insurance. For example, some state statutes permit transactions in which affiliated insurers isolate certain obligations under existing insurance policies, in whole or in part, from other insurance operations (so-called "division statutes"). States desiring to assure their jurisdiction over assumptions of this type should consider including the following in their statutes:

1. Add "or other agreement, plan or arrangement whose effect on policyholder rights is substantially similar to an assumption reinsurance agreement" after "assumption reinsurance agreement" in Section 2A.

2. Insert ", or other agreement, plan or arrangement" after "contract" in Section 3B.

3. Insert ", or" after "extinguished" in Section 3B(2).

4. Insert a new Paragraph (3) in Section 3B that would read as follows: "Whose effect on policyholder rights is substantially similar to transactions meeting the conditions set forth in Paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection and that have not been specifically excluded from the application of this Act by Section 2B."

B. This Act does not apply to:

(1) Any reinsurance agreement or transaction in which the ceding insurer continues to remain directly liable for its insurance obligations or risks, or both, under the contracts of insurance subject to the reinsurance agreement;

(2) The substitution of one insurer for another upon the expiration of insurance coverage pursuant to statutory or contractual requirements and the issuance of a new contract of insurance by another insurer;

(3) The transfer of contracts of insurance pursuant to mergers or consolidations of two (2) or more insurers to the extent that those transactions are regulated by statute;

(4) Any insurer subject to a judicial order of liquidation or rehabilitation;

Drafting Note: This section is intended to apply to any similar proceedings under court order.

(5) Any reinsurance agreement or transaction to which a state insurance guaranty association is a party, provided that policyholders do not lose any rights or claims afforded under their original policies pursuant to [cite applicable state guaranty fund laws]; or

(6) The transfer of liabilities from one insurer to another under a single group policy upon the request of the group policyholder.

Section 3. Definitions

A. "Assuming insurer" means the insurer that acquires an insurance obligation or risk, or both, from the transferring insurer pursuant to an assumption reinsurance agreement.

B. "Assumption reinsurance agreement" means any contract that both:

Drafting Note: See notes after Section 2A for suggested additional language.

(1) Transfers insurance obligations or risks, or both, of existing or in-force contracts of insurance from a transferring insurer to an assuming insurer; and

(2) Is intended to effect a novation of the transferred contract of insurance with the result that the assuming insurer becomes directly liable to the policyholders of the transferring insurer and the transferring insurer's insurance obligations or risks, or both, under the contracts are extinguished.

C. "Contract of insurance" means any written agreement between an insurer and policyholder pursuant to which the insurer, in exchange for premium or other consideration, agrees to assume an obligation or risk, or both, of the policyholder or to make payments on behalf of, or to, the policyholder or its beneficiaries; it shall include all property, casualty, life, health, accident, surety, title and annuity business authorized to be written pursuant to the insurance laws of this state.

Drafting Note: Individual states may cite specific sections of their insurance laws regarding lines, classes or types of insurance to which this Act is applicable. If a state has a statutory definition of contract of insurance which is inconsistent with this definition, the state may want to consider using the statutory definition.

D. "Home service business" means insurance business on which premiums are collected on a weekly or monthly basis by an agent of the insurer.

E. "Notice of transfer" means the written notice to policyholders required by Section 4A.

F. "Policyholder" means any individual or entity which has the right to terminate or otherwise alter the terms of a contract of insurance. It includes any certificateholder whose certificate is in force on the proposed effective date of the assumption, if the certificateholder has the right to keep the certificate in force without change in benefit following termination of the group policy.

The right to keep the certificate in force referred to in this section shall not include the right to elect individual coverage under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act, ("COBRA") Section 601, et seq., of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (29 U.S.C. 1161 et seq.).

G. "Transferring insurer" means the insurer which transfers an insurance obligation or risk, or both, to an assuming insurer pursuant to an assumption reinsurance agreement.

Section 4. Notice Requirements

A. Notice to Policyholders, Agents and Brokers

(1) The transferring insurer shall provide or cause to be provided to each policyholder a notice of transfer by first-class mail, addressed to the policyholder's last known address or to the address to which premium notices or other policy documents are sent or, with respect to home service business, by personal delivery with acknowledged receipt. A notice of transfer shall also be sent to the transferring insurer's agents or brokers of record on the affected policies.

(2) The notice of transfer shall state or provide:

(a) The date the transfer and novation of the policyholder's contract of insurance is proposed to take place;

(b) The name, address and telephone number of the assuming and transferring insurer;

(c) That the policyholder has the right to either consent to or reject the transfer and novation;

(d) The procedures and time limit for consenting to or rejecting the transfer and novation;

(e) A summary of any effect that consenting to or rejecting the transfer and novation will have on the policyholder's rights;

(f) A statement that the assuming insurer is licensed to write the type of business being assumed in the state where the policyholder resides, or is otherwise authorized, as provided herein, to assume such business;

(g) The name and address of the person at the transferring insurer to whom the policyholder should send its written statement of acceptance or rejection of the transfer and novation; and

(h) The address and phone number of the insurance department where the policyholder resides so that the policyholder may write or call the insurance department for further information regarding the financial condition of the assuming insurer.

(i) The following financial data for both companies:

(i) Ratings for the last five (5) years if available or for such lesser period as is available from two (2) nationally recognized insurance rating services acceptable to the commissioner including the rating service's explanation of the meaning of the ratings. If ratings are unavailable for any year of the five-year period, this shall also be disclosed;

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

(ii) A balance sheet as of December 31 for the previous three (3) years if available or for such lesser period as is available and as of the date of the most recent quarterly statement;

(iii) A copy of the Management's Discussion and Analysis that was filed as a supplement to the previous year's annual statement; and

(iv) An explanation of the reason for the transfer.

(3) Notice in a form identical or substantially similar to Appendix A attached shall be deemed to comply with the requirements of Section 4A(2).

(4) The notice of transfer shall include a pre-addressed, postage-paid response card which a policyholder may return as its written statement of acceptance or rejection of the transfer and novation.

(5) The notice of transfer shall be filed as part of the prior approval requirement set forth in Section 4B(1).

B. Notification and Prior Approval Requirements

(1) Prior approval by the commissioner is required for any transaction where an insurer domiciled in this state assumes or transfers obligations and/or risks on contracts of insurance under an assumption reinsurance agreement. No insurer licensed in this state shall transfer obligations and/or risks on contracts of insurance issued to or owned by residents of this state to any insurer that is not licensed in this state. An insurer domiciled in this state shall not assume obligations or risks, or both, on contracts of insurance issued to or owned by policyholders residing in any other state unless it is licensed in the other state, or the insurance regulatory official of that state has approved the assumption.

(2) Any licensed foreign insurer that enters into an assumption reinsurance agreement which transfers the obligations or risks, or both, on contracts of insurance issued to or owned by residents of this state, shall file or cause to be filed with the commissioner of insurance of this state the assumption certificate, a copy of the notice of transfer and an affidavit that the transaction is subject to substantially similar requirements in the state of domicile of both the transferring and assuming insurer. If no such requirements exist in the domicile of either the transferring or assuming insurers, then the requirements of Section 4B(3) shall apply.

Drafting Note: It is anticipated that the insurance department will review the filing in a manner consistent with the policy form review process applicable for the state which could include either prior approval or file and use.

(3) Any licensed foreign insurer that enters into an assumption reinsurance agreement which transfers the obligations or risks, or both, on contracts of insurance issued to or owned by residents of this state, shall obtain prior approval of the commissioner of insurance of this state and be subject to all other requirements of this Act with respect to residents of this state, unless the transferring and assuming insurers are subject to assumption reinsurance requirements adopted by statute or regulation in the jurisdiction of their domicile which are substantially similar to those contained herein.

(4) The following factors, along with such other factors as the commissioner deems appropriate under the circumstances, shall be considered by the commissioner in reviewing a request for approval:

(a) The financial condition of the transferring and assuming insurers and the effect the transaction will have on the financial condition of each company;

(b) The competence, experience and integrity of those persons who control the operation of the assuming insurer;

(c) The plans or proposals the assuming party has with respect to the administration of the policies subject to the proposed transfer;

(d) Whether the transfer is fair and reasonable to the policyholders of both companies; and

(e) Whether the notice of transfer to be provided by the insurer is fair, adequate and not misleading.

Section 5. Policyholder Rights

A. Policyholders shall have the right to reject the transfer and novation of their contracts of insurance. Policyholders electing to reject the assumption transaction shall return to the transferring insurer the pre-addressed, postage-paid response card or other written notice and indicate thereon that the assumption is rejected (collectively referred to as the "Response Card").

B. Payment of any premium to the assuming company during the twenty-four-month period after notice is received shall be deemed to indicate the policyholder's acceptance of the transfer to the assuming insurer and a novation shall be deemed to have been effected, provided that the premium notice clearly states that payment of the premium to the assuming insurer shall constitute acceptance of the transfer. However, the premium notice shall also provide a method for the policyholder to pay the premium while reserving the right to reject the transfer. With respect to any home service business or any other business not using premium notices, the disclosures and procedural requirements of this subsection are to be set forth in the Notice of Transfer required by Section 4 and in the assumption certificate.

C. After no fewer than twenty-four (24) months from the mailing of the initial notice of transfer required under section 4A, if positive consent to, or rejection of, the transfer and assumption has not been received or consent has not been deemed to have occurred under Subsection B of this section, the transferring company shall send to the policyholder a second and final notice of transfer as specified in Section 4A. If the policyholder does not accept or reject the transfer during the one month period immediately following the date on which the transferring insurer mails the second and final notice of transfer, the policyholder's consent will be deemed to have occurred and novation of the contract will be effected. With respect to the home service business, or any other business not using premium notices, the twenty-four and one month periods shall be measured from the date of delivery of the Notice of Transfer pursuant to Section 4A(1).

D. The transferring insurer will be deemed to have received the Response Card on the date it is postmarked. A policyholder may also send its Response Card by facsimile or other electronic transmission or by registered mail, express delivery or courier service, in which case the Response Card shall be deemed to have been received by the assuming insurer on the date of actual receipt by the transferring insurer.

Section 6. Effect of Consent

If a policyholder consents to the transfer pursuant to Section 5 or if the transfer is effected under Section 7, there shall be a novation of the contract of insurance subject to the assumption reinsurance agreement with the result that the transferring insurer shall thereby be relieved of all insurance obligations or risks, or both, transferred under the assumption reinsurance agreement and the assuming insurer shall become directly and solely liable to the policyholder for those insurance obligations or risks, or both.

Section 7. Commissioner's Discretion

If an insurer domiciled in this state or in a jurisdiction having a substantially similar law is deemed by the domiciliary commissioner to be in hazardous financial condition or an administrative proceeding has been instituted against it for the purpose of reorganizing or conserving the insurer, and the transfer of the contracts of insurance is in the best interest of the policyholders, as determined by the domiciliary commissioner, a transfer and novation may be effected notwithstanding the provisions of this Act. This may include a form of implied consent and adequate notification to the policyholder of the circumstances requiring the transfer as approved by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States must amend their guaranty association law to specify that residents whose policies are transferred to an unlicensed insurer pursuant to this section are entitled to continued guaranty association protection.

Section 8. Effective Date

This Act shall take effect six (6) months after the date it is enacted and shall apply to all assumption reinsurance agreements entered into on or after that effective date.

NOTICE OF TRANSFER

IMPORTANT: THIS NOTICE AFFECTS YOUR CONTRACT RIGHTS. PLEASE READ IT CAREFULLY.

Transfer of Policy

The [ABC Insurance Company] has agreed to replace us as your insurer under [insert policy/certificate name and number] effective [insert date]. The [ABC Insurance Company's] principal place of business is [insert address] and certain financial information concerning both companies is attached, including (1) ratings for the last five years, if available, or for such lesser period as is available from two nationally recognized insurance rating services; (2) balance sheets for the previous three years, if available, or for such lesser period as is available and as of the date of the most recent quarterly statement; (3) a copy of the Management's Discussion and Analysis that was filed as a supplement to the previous year's annual statement; and (4) an explanation of the reason for the transfer. You may obtain additional information concerning [ABC Insurance Company] from reference materials in your local library or by contacting your Insurance Commissioner at [insert address and phone number].

The [ABC Insurance Company] is licensed to write this coverage in your state. The Commissioner of Insurance in your state has reviewed the potential effect of the proposed transaction, and has approved the transaction.

Your Rights

You may choose to consent to or reject the transfer of your policy to [ABC Insurance Company]. If you want your policy transferred, you may notify us in writing by signing and returning the enclosed pre-addressed, postage-paid card or by writing to us at:

[Insert name, address and facsimile number of contact person.]

Payment of your premium to the assuming company will also constitute acceptance of the transaction. However, a method will be provided to allow you to pay the premium while reserving the right to reject the transfer.

If you reject the transfer, you may keep your policy with us or exercise any option under your policy. If we do not receive a written rejection you will, as a matter of law, have consented to the transfer. However, before this consent is final you will be provided a second notice of the transfer twenty-four months from now. After the second notice is provided, you will have one month to reply. If you have paid your premium to the [ABC Insurance Company], without reserving your right to reject the transfer, you will not receive a second notice.

Drafting Note: The second and final notice to the policyholders should include a date by which the policyholder should respond. The date should be one month after the date on which the notice was mailed to the policyholder.

Effect of Transfer

If you accept this transfer, [ABC Insurance Company] will be your insurer. It will have direct responsibility to you for the payment of all claims, benefits and for all other policy obligations. We will no longer have any obligations to you.

If you accept this transfer, you should make all premium payments and claims submissions to [ABC Insurance Company] and direct all questions to [ABC Insurance Company].

If you have any further questions about this agreement, you may contact [XYZ Insurance] or [ABC Insurance].

Sincerely,

ASSUMPTION REINSURANCE MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR INDIVIDUAL DEFERRED ANNUITIES

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known as the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities.

Section 2. Applicability

A. This Act shall not apply to any reinsurance, group annuity purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended, premium deposit fund, variable annuity, investment annuity, immediate annuity, any deferred annuity contract after annuity payments have commenced, or reversionary annuity, nor to any contract which shall be delivered outside this state through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the contract.

B Sections 3 through 8 shall not apply to contingent deferred annuities.

C. Notwithstanding Subsection B, the commissioner shall have the authority to prescribe, by regulation, nonforfeiture benefits for contingent deferred annuities that are, in the opinion of the commissioner, equitable to the policyholder, appropriate given the risks insured, and to the extent possible, consistent with general intent of this law.

Drafting Note: It is expected that any regulation prescribing specific nonforfeiture requirements for the CDAs and promulgated by the commissioner under Subsection C above would apply only to the CDA contracts issued subsequent to the effective date of such regulation.

Section 3. Nonforfeiture Requirements

A. In the case of contracts issued on or after the operative date of this Act as defined in Section 13, no contract of annuity, except as stated in Section 2, shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this state unless it contains in substance the following provisions, or corresponding provisions which in the opinion of the commissioner are at least as favorable to the contractholder, upon cessation of payment of considerations under the contract:

(1) That upon cessation of payment of considerations under a contract, or upon the written request of the contract owner, the company shall grant a paid-up annuity benefit on a plan stipulated in the contract of such value as is specified in Sections 5, 6, 7, 8 and 10;

(2) If a contract provides for a lump sum settlement at maturity, or at any other time, that upon surrender of the contract at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments, the company shall pay in lieu of a paid-up annuity benefit a cash surrender benefit of such amount as is specified in Sections 5, 6, 8 and 10. The company may reserve the right to defer the payment of the cash surrender benefit for a period not to exceed six (6) months after demand therefor with surrender of the contract after making written request and receiving written approval of the commissioner. The request shall address the necessity and equitability to all policyholders of the deferral;

(3) A statement of the mortality table, if any, and interest rates used in calculating any minimum paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits that are guaranteed under the contract, together with sufficient information to determine the amounts of the benefits; and

(4) A statement that any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits that may be available under the contract are not less than the minimum benefits required by any statute of the state in which the contract is delivered and an explanation of the manner in which the benefits are altered by the existence of any additional amounts credited by the company to the contract, any indebtedness to the company on the contract or any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract.

B. Notwithstanding the requirements of this section, a deferred annuity contract may provide that if no considerations have been received under a contract for a period of two (2) full years and the portion of the paid-up annuity benefit at maturity on the plan stipulated in the contract arising from prior considerations paid would be less than $20 monthly, the company may at its option terminate the contract by payment in cash of the then present value of the portion of the paid-up annuity benefit, calculated on the basis on the mortality table, if any, and interest rate specified in the contract for determining the paid-up annuity benefit, and by this payment shall be relieved of any further obligation under the contract.

Section 4. Minimum Values

The minimum values as specified in Sections 5, 6, 7, 8 and 10 of any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits available under an annuity contract shall be based upon minimum nonforfeiture amounts as defined in this section.

A. (1) The minimum nonforfeiture amount at any time at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall be equal to an accumulation up to such time at rates of interest as indicated in Subsection B of the net considerations (as hereinafter defined) paid prior to such time, decreased by the sum of Paragraphs (a) through (d) below:

(a) Any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract accumulated at rates of interest as indicated in Subsection B;

(b) An annual contract charge of $50, accumulated at rates of interest as indicated in Subsection B;

(c) Any premium tax paid by the company for the contract, accumulated at rates of interest as indicated in Subsection B; and Drafting Note: The premium tax credit is only permitted if the tax is actually paid by the company. If the tax is paid and subsequently credited back to the company, such as upon early termination of the contract, the tax credit may not be taken.

(d) The amount of any indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued.

(2) The net considerations for a given contract year used to define the minimum nonforfeiture amount shall be an amount equal to eighty-seven and one-half percent (87.5%) of the gross considerations credited to the contract during that contract year.

B. The interest rate used in determining minimum nonforfeiture amounts shall be an annual rate of interest determined as the lesser of three percent (3%) per annum and the following, which shall be specified in the contract if the interest rate will be reset:

(1) The five-year Constant Maturity Treasury Rate reported by the Federal Reserve as of a date, or average over a period, rounded to the nearest 1/20th of one percent, specified in the contract no longer than fifteen (15) months prior to the contract issue date or redetermination date under Section 4B(4);

(2) Reduced by 125 basis points;

(3) Where the resulting interest rate is not less than 15 basis points (0.15%); and

(4) The interest rate shall apply for an initial period and may be redetermined for additional periods. The redetermination date, basis and period, if any, shall be stated in the contract. The basis is the date or average over a specified period that produces the value of the five-year Constant Maturity Treasury Rate to be used at each redetermination date.

C. During the period or term that a contract provides substantive participation in an equity indexed benefit, it may increase the reduction described in Subsection B(2) above by up to an additional 100 basis points to reflect the value of the equity index benefit. The present value at the contract issue date, and at each redetermination date thereafter, of the additional reduction shall not exceed the market value of the benefit. The commissioner may require a demonstration that the present value of the additional reduction does not exceed the market value of the benefit. Lacking such a demonstration that is acceptable to the commissioner, the commissioner may disallow or limit the additional reduction.

D. The commissioner may adopt rules to implement the provisions of Section 4C and to provide for further adjustments to the calculation of minimum nonforfeiture amounts for contracts that provide substantive participation in an equity index benefit and for other contracts that the commissioner determines adjustments are justified.

Section 5. Computation of Present Value

Any paid-up annuity benefit available under a contract shall be such that its present value on the date annuity payments are to commence is at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount on that date. Present value shall be computed using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rates specified in the contract for determining the minimum paid-up annuity benefits guaranteed in the contract.

Section 6. Calculation of Cash Surrender Value

For contracts that provide cash surrender benefits, the cash surrender benefits available prior to maturity shall not be less than the present value as of the date of surrender of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit that would be provided under the contract at maturity arising from considerations paid prior to the time of cash surrender reduced by the amount appropriate to reflect any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract, such present value being calculated on the basis of an interest rate not more than one percent (1%) higher than the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine maturity value, decreased by the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued, and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. In no event shall any cash surrender benefit be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time. The death benefit under such contracts shall be at least equal to the cash surrender benefit.

Section 7. Calculation of Paid-up Annuity Benefits

For contracts that do not provide cash surrender benefits, the present value of any paid-up annuity benefit available as a nonforfeiture option at any time prior to maturity shall not be less than the present value of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit provided under the contract arising from considerations paid prior to the time the contract is surrendered in exchange for, or changed to, a deferred paid-up annuity, such present value being calculated for the period prior to the maturity date on the basis of the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine maturity value, and increased by any additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. For contracts that do not provide any death benefits prior to the commencement of any annuity payments, present values shall be calculated on the basis of such interest rate and the mortality table specified in the contract for determining the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit. However, in no event shall the present value of a paid-up annuity benefit be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time.

Section 8. Maturity Date

For the purpose of determining the benefits calculated under Sections 6 and 7, in the case of annuity contracts under which an election may be made to have annuity payments commence at optional maturity dates, the maturity date shall be deemed to be the latest date for which election shall be permitted by the contract, but shall not be deemed to be later than the anniversary of the contract next following the annuitant's seventieth birthday or the tenth anniversary of the contract, whichever is later.

Section 9. Disclosure of Limited Death Benefits

A contract that does not provide cash surrender benefits or does not provide death benefits at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall include a statement in a prominent place in the contract that such benefits are not provided.

Section 10. Inclusion of Lapse of Time Considerations

Any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits available at any time, other than on the contract anniversary under any contract with fixed scheduled considerations, shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of any scheduled considerations beyond the beginning of the contract year in which cessation of payment of considerations under the contract occurs.

Section 11. Proration of Values; Additional Benefits

For a contract which provides, within the same contract by rider or supplemental contract provision, both annuity benefits and life insurance benefits that are in excess of the greater of cash surrender benefits or a return of the gross considerations with interest, the minimum nonforfeiture benefits shall be equal to the sum of the minimum nonforfeiture benefits for the annuity portion and the minimum nonforfeiture benefits, if any, for the life insurance portion computed as if each portion were a separate contract. Notwithstanding the provisions of Sections 5, 6, 7, 8 and 10, additional benefits payable in the event of total and permanent disability, as reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits, or as other policy benefits additional to life insurance, endowment and annuity benefits, and considerations for all such additional benefits, shall be disregarded in ascertaining the minimum nonforfeiture amounts, paid-up annuity, cash surrender and death benefits that may be required by this Act. The inclusion of such benefits shall not be required in any paid-up benefits, unless the additional benefits separately would require minimum nonforfeiture amounts, paid-up annuity, cash surrender and death benefits.

Section 12. Rules

The commissioner may adopt rules to implement the provisions of this Act.

Section 13. Effective Date

After the effective date of this Act, a company may elect to apply its provisions to annuity contracts on a contract form-by-contract form basis before the second anniversary of the effective date of this Act. In all other instances, this Act shall become operative with respect to annuity contracts issued by the company after the second anniversary of this Act.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2020

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR INDIVIDUAL DEFERRED ANNUITIES (#805)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

In late 2012, the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee charged the Contingent Deferred Annuity (A) Working Group with evaluating the adequacy of existing laws and regulations as applied to contingent deferred annuities (CDAs) and whether additional solvency and consumer protection standards are required. The Working Group submitted its report, findings and recommendations to the Committee at the 2013 Spring National Meeting. Among its findings, the Working Group found that: 1) CDAs do not easily fit into the category of fixed or variable annuity; 2) review of solvency and consumer protection standards are necessary; and 3) tools to assist states in reviewing CDA product filings and solvency oversight of CDAs should be established. The Working Group also identified issues that would be more appropriately addressed by other existing NAIC groups with the specific subject-matter expertise.

At the 2013 Fall National Meeting, the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee gave the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force a charge to recommend a manner to specifically exempt CDAs from the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities (#805). The Executive (EX) Committee approved the Request for NAIC Model Law Development to Model #805 at the 2016 Summer National Meeting.

At the 2016 Fall National Meeting, the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee adopted amendments to Model #805 recommended by the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force to exempt CDAs from certain sections of Model #805, with which, due to their structure, they cannot comply. The revisions to Model #805 exempt CDAs from the sections of the Model #805 that prescribe computational methods and minimum nonforfeiture values for deferred annuities, but would allow the insurance commissioner to specify separate nonforfeiture standards, if needed, at a later time.

In November 2020, the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee adopted an amendment to Model #805 recommended by the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force to reduce the nonforfeiture interest rate floor from 1% to 15 basis points (bps) (0.15%) in response to the historic low interest rate environment.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating.

The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force. The following states participated: Doug Slape, Chair, represented by Mike Boerner and Rachel Hemphill (TX); Tynesia Dorsey, Vice Chair, represented by Peter Weber (OH); Ricardo Lara represented by Ben Bock and Perry Kupferman (CA); Michael Conway represented by Eric Unger (CO); Andrew N. Mais represented by Wanchin Chou (CT); Doug Ommen represented by Mike Yanacheak (IA); Robert H. Muriel represented by Vincent Tsang (IL); Stephen W. Robertson represented by Karl Knable (IN); Vicki Schmidt represented by Nicole Boyd (KS); Grace Arnold represented by Fred Andersen and John Robinson (MN); Chlora Lindley-Myers represented by William Leung (MO); Bruce R. Ramge represented by Rhonda Ahrens (NE); Marlene Caride represented by Kevin Clarkson (NJ); Russell Toal (NM); Linda A. Lacewell represented by Bill Carmello and Mona Bhalla (NY); Glen Mulready represented by Andrew Schallhorn (OK); Todd E. Kiser represented by Tomasz Serbinowski (UT); and Scott A. White represented by Craig Chupp (VA).

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group.

The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force charges require the group to provide recommendations and changes, as appropriate, to other reserve and nonforfeiture requirements to address issues. The recommendation to reduce the minimum nonforfeiture interest rate floor was provide in response to the low interest rates for five-year constant maturity treasuries, which was as low as 25 bps during the period of Task Force deliberations. The Executive (EX) Committee approved the Request for NAIC Model Law Development to Model #805 at the 2020 Summer National Meeting.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force, chaired by Mr. Boerner, drafted the change to Model #805.

The following interested parties participated: American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI); American Academy of Actuaries (Academy); Allianz Life Insurance Company of North America (Allianz); and the Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission (Compact).

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited).

The Task Force began working on the charge during open meetings beginning in the summer of 2020. The initial Request for NAIC Model Law Development submitted to the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee recommended reduction of the minimum nonforfeiture interest rate floor from 1% to 0%. When approving the request, the Committee asked the Task Force to consider rates between 0% and 50 bps, inclusive. At the Summer National Meeting, the Task Force voted to expose a revision to the model for public comment. The revision asked stakeholders to provide comments on potential rates of 0.15%, 0.25%, 0.35% and 0.50%, in addition to the originally proposed 0% with approved the request The Task Force held public discussions on the potential revision on Oct. 8, Oct. 1 and Sept. 24. The Task Force adopted the proposed revision, which recommended reducing the Model #805 minimum nonforfeiture interest rate to 15 bps, on Oct. 8. The Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee adopted the revisions to the model on Nov. 10.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response).

The revision is intended to provide companies relief from a minimum nonforfeiture interest rate floor that was considered unsupportable in the environment of historically low interest rates. The feedback received from commenters was that retaining with the 1% minimum nonforfeiture interest rate floor would likely result in the limited availability of indexed annuity products or possibly an exodus of companies from the indexed annuity market. The Task Force members, with the exception of Missouri, New York and Oklahoma, agreed that a significant reduction in the minimum nonforfeiture interest rate floor was warranted.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR INDIVIDUAL DEFERRED ANNUITIES (#805)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The Working Group also identified issues that would be more appropriately addressed by other existing NAIC groups with the specific subject-matter expertise.

During the 2013 Fall National Meeting, the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee gave the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force a charge to recommend a manner to specifically exempt CDAs from the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities (#805). The Executive (EX) Committee approved the request for model law development to Model #805 at the 2016 Summer National Meeting.

At the 2016 Fall National Meeting, the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee adopted amendments to Model #805 recommended by the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force to exempt CDAs from certain sections of Model #805, with which, due to their structure, they cannot comply. The revisions to Model #805 exempt CDAs from the sections of the Model #805 that prescribe computational methods and minimum nonforfeiture values for deferred annuities, but would allow the insurance commissioner to specify separate nonforfeiture standards, if needed, at a later time.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating.

Contingent Deferred Annuity (A) Working Group of the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force. The following states participated: Tomasz Serbinowski (UT), Chair; Perry Kupferman (CA); Bob Chester (CT); Nicole Boyd (KS); Felix Schirripa (NJ); Mike Boerner, Jan Graeber and Phil Reyna (TX); and Craig Chupp and Ern Johnson (VA).

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group.

The charge was given to the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force at the 2013 Fall National Meeting to recommend a manner to specifically exempt CDAs from Model 805. The Task Force appointed the Contingent Deferred Annuity (A) Working Group to complete the charge. The Executive (EX) Committee approved the request for model law development to Model #805 at the 2016 Summer National Meeting.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The Contingent Deferred Annuity (A) Working Group, chaired by Mr. Serbinowski, completed the charge to exclude CDAs from the scope of Model #805.

In addition to the Working Group members, the following interested state insurance regulators participated: Mike Yanacheak (IA); Rhonda Ahrens (NE); and Pete Weber (OH).

The following interested parties participated: American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI); Center for Economic Justice (CEJ); American Academy of Actuaries (Academy); and Lewis & Ellis Inc.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited).

The Working Group began working on the charge in open conference calls beginning in the spring of 2014. Draft recommendations were posted on the Working Group's web page, and comments were solicited. Draft revisions to Model #805 were adopted by the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee at the 2016 Fall National Meeting.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response).

The revisions sought to achieve two objectives: 1) exempt CDAs from the current nonforfeiture requirements; and 2) preserve state insurance commissioners' authority to prescribe CDA-specific nonforfeiture requirements in the future.

The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force received multiple comments to the effect that the revisions to Model #805 would likely result in a non-uniform treatment of CDAs across the country, with individual states establishing different nonforfeiture standards for CDAs. The Task Force noted that many NAIC model laws grant state insurance commissioners' rulemaking authority and that this has never been viewed as contrary to the NAIC's stated mission of encouraging uniformity.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2003

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR INDIVIDUAL DEFERRED ANNUITIES (#805)

1. What issues was the project intended to address?

At the Executive Committee and Plenary Meeting in San Antonio, Texas, on February 8, 2002, the issue of the appropriate interest rate to incorporate into Section 4 of the Model was discussed. The following excerpt from the minutes summarizes that discussion:

> Commissioner Koken, vice chair of the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee, stated that the A Committee has been reviewing the issue of the minimum nonforfeiture rate on annuities. It is currently 3%, which in the current economic climate means that companies may have to take some products off the market because they can't invest at that rate, or there will be real solvency concerns. The recommendation from the A Committee is to support the industry in their efforts to go to the legislatures and ask for a reduction in the nonforfeiture rate to 1.5% and to give a charge to the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force to develop a long-term solution to this issue. The group believes that ultimately an indexed rate is the best response so that as the economy changes it will not be necessary to go back to the legislatures.

The minutes of that meeting further show that the following motion was adopted: "Recommend that the states support a 1.5% nonforfeiture with a sunset of July 1, 2004 and a charge to develop an indexed rate." In a subsequent discussion of the Task Force, the project was defined to include the following general scope (as captured in the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force minutes from March 14-15, 2002):

> William Schreiner (ACLI) reported that the ACLI has a committee studying this matter, and that committee is looking for the Task Force's input on areas to study. He said "it is fair that you will want to look at more than just the interest rate." A lengthy, wide-ranging discussion ensued on how to proceed. Mr. Hartnedy summarized the discussion by saying that three potential areas of inquiry had been identified: 1) "You've got to carefully consider in the change of any minimum guarantees the surrender charge;" 2) "We're very interested in a dynamic or, if you will, index rate"; and 3) "We want pros and cons as to impact on people in different circumstances by doing this." Mr. Gorski suggested "maybe there is a need to think about disclosure at the same time." Mr. Schreiner added that "all the elements of the (nonforfeiture) 'formula' will be in play."

2. What states participated in drafting the model?

The following states are currently members of the Task Force: New Mexico (Chair), Arkansas (Vice-Chair), California, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah, and Vermont.

3. What general procedure was followed in drafting the model? What efforts were made to assure that all interested parties were provided an opportunity to comment during the drafting process?

The efforts of the Task Force were closely coordinated with all industry interested parties. In addition to open sessions at the quarterly meetings of the NAIC, seven conference calls were held over the last year to discuss the various submissions and drafts of the Model. Notice of those conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 200 regulators and interested parties, including representatives of the American Council of Life Insurers, the National Alliance of Life Companies, the National Fraternal Congress of America, and the American Academy of Actuaries (AAA).

4. What significant issues were raised during the drafting process, and how were those issues resolved?

Given this complexity of this topic and the myriad of opinions, it is impossible to put together a brief description which captures a) all of the issues raised and b) all of the detail underlying those issues. Any summary will of necessity be a broad overview and will omit numerous particulars of the project. However, I believe that the items below represent the major points of discussion:

A) Is there really a need to change the Model?

Many regulators expressed doubts regarding whether there was a need to change the Model. This excerpt from Frank Dino's (Florida Department of Financial Services) summary of the October 10, 2002, conference call of the Task Force summarized the basic nature of those concerns:

> Some of the previously expressed doubts regarding whether a problem actually exists in the current nonforfeiture law were repeated. It was noted that the current law allows initial expense loads of 35% and 10% for flexible premium and single premium products, respectively. Even ignoring annual expense charges, it would take fifteen years and four years, respectively, for the minimum values to match the original deposit, assuming the minimum 3% were credited each year. It was also noted almost all states interpret the existing law as imposing a cumulative standard, rather than requiring that a minimum interest credit of 3% be applied each year. This gives companies the ability to credit less than 3% some years (provided they can still meet the cumulative requirement).

Ultimately, a consensus emerged on the Task Force that changes to the Model should be made. The distinct expense loads for flexible premium and single premium products were eliminated, and replaced by a single standard of 12.5%. In its first draft Model submitted on August 22, 2002, the ACLI suggested 15%. However, subsequent discussions resulted in the compromise figure of halfway between the existing 10% standard for single premium annuities and the ACLI's proposed 15%.

B) What should be the basis of the index used in establishing the minimum nonforfeiture interest rate?

Early on in this project, it became clear that there is no economic or actuarial theory that makes any one index the obvious choice over another. The following suggestions were among the many received:

In correspondence received on May 24, 2002, the ACLI suggested the following:

> Proposal: five-year constant maturity treasuries (CMT) is proposed as the basis of required minimum interest rate credits.
> Rationale: the use of a CMT basis has the virtue of expected continuous availability, while the choice of a five-year basis lies between short and longer-term maturities.

The ACLI provided this commentary with the submission of their initial proposal for actual draft language on August 22, 2002: "The interest rate proposed is the Five-Year Constant Maturity Treasury rate (CMT) as of June 30 of the preceding calendar year minus two and one-half percent (2.5%), but not greater than four percent (4%) nor less than one percent (1%)."

In a submission dated November 13, 2002, the ACLI modified its proposal as follows: "Index Basis: 3 Year Constant Maturity Treasury (monthly) rate – minus 150 basis points, but not less than 1%."

In a submission dated January 22, 2003, the ACLI made the following recommendation: "Therefore, we urge that the index basis in the proposed model Individual Deferred Annuity Nonforfeiture Law be changed to the three-year CMT reduced by 125 bps."

In a submission labeled "Preliminary Draft" dated September 10, 2002, the AAA stated that "an index rate for the annuity non-forfeiture value can be based on either the Treasury Curve, The Swap Curve (or) somewhere on any myriad of credit curves." The submission includes a description of how LIBOR swap rates might be used:

> Under this approach we define the Non-Forfeiture Interest Rate (NIR) as equal to the Applicable Swap Rate less X. The Applicable Swap Rate is the monthly average swap rate for a swap whose term is equal to the term of the guarantee period for the premium/renewal (rounded up to the next whole year) during the month the premium is received or the renewal rate is set.

Many other comments were provided relative to the appropriate choice of an index, as well as a) what reductions to the index should be made to recognize company expenses and b) maximum and minimum limits on the interest rates.

In a reaching a decision, the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force concluded that the Five-Year CMT less 125 basis points provides a reasonable balance between 1) giving companies relief in times of low interest rates and 2) providing an appropriate minimum guarantee for the consumer. Also, a consensus seemed to emerge on the Task Force in agreement with the position expressed in the January 22, 2003, submission from the ACLI: "The primary goal of the law's revision is to provide a means to permit lower interest rate guarantees than the current law allows in low interest rate environments." Accordingly, a cap equal to the existing 3% interest rate was established. However, in order to provide some minimum level of guarantee to the consumer, a floor of 1% was also established. Finally, flexibility was provided to the companies by allowing for the redetermination of the minimum interest guarantees on a periodic basis.

C) Should a lower minimum nonforfeiture interest rate be allowed for equity-indexed annuities?

This matter was not raised in a substantive way by any of the interested parties until the Task Force meeting in December 2002. Subsequently, a report was received from the AAA (dated January 27, 2003) that recommended the following: "The Academy of Actuaries recommends that an offset for Equity Indexed Annuities be allowed. The Academy strongly believes there is a need for an offset as long as the product provides a meaningful equity participation guarantee."

The Task Force agreed with this recommendation, and inserted the following language into the Model:

> During the period or term that a contract provides substantive participation in an equity indexed benefit, it may increase the reduction described in Subsection B(2) above by up to an additional 100 basis points to reflect the value of the equity index benefit. The present value at the contract issue date, and at each redetermination date thereafter, of the additional reduction shall not exceed the market value of the benefit. The commissioner may require a demonstration that the present value of the reduction does not exceed the market value of the benefit. Lacking such a demonstration that is acceptable to the commissioner, the commissioner may disallow or limit the additional reduction.
> The commissioner may adopt rules to implement the provisions of Section 4C and to provide for further adjustments to the calculation of minimum nonforfeiture amounts for contracts that provide substantive participation in an equity index benefit and for other contracts that the commissioner determines adjustments are justified.

Several members of the Task Force expressed a desire that a model regulation be developed to assist the states in implementing this provision.

5. What are the implications of this project for accreditation and codification?

Since this project does not deal with solvency monitoring, there is no impact for accreditation and codification.

ANNUITY NONFORFEITURE MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated by the commissioner of insurance pursuant to Sections [insert applicable references to Section 12 of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities] of the [insert jurisdiction] Insurance Laws.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to adopt rules to implement the provisions of [insert applicable references to Section 4 of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities].

Section 3. Definitions

A. "Basis" carries two meanings.

(1) When used in the context of an initial or redetermination method, "basis" means the specified period over which an average is computed that produces the value of the five-year Constant Maturity Treasury (CMT) rate. The "specified period" could be as short as a single day. The same basis shall apply to all equity-indexed benefits and the non equity-indexed benefit, if any.

(a) The basis may also use a specified period that is determined by the level of change in the CMT rate, or any other date dependent methodology adopted by the NAIC and approved by the commissioner. A specifically excluded method is one that defines the nonforfeiture rate as the lowest rate in a specified time period. A method based upon changes in CMT levels must move up or down in an identical manner with changes in interest rates, subject to statutory minimums and maximums.

(b) If the basis uses a specified period determined by the level of change in the CMT rate:

(i) The nonforfeiture rate applicable at the time this subsection is first utilized for a contract form shall be determined by a method using a specified period or another approved date dependent methodology.

(ii) A symmetrical range shall be defined that will determine when the rate shall be updated. The maximum allowable range shall be plus or minus fifty (50) basis points.

(iii) At the beginning of each modal period (e.g., monthly, quarterly, etc), a potential nonforfeiture rate shall be calculated using the method in (i), without incorporating any caps or floors. The "modal period" is the period the company specifies during which the current nonforfeiture rate will remain fixed.

(iv) If the difference between the potential nonforfeiture rate and the current initial nonforfeiture rate is less than or equal to the range, the current nonforfeiture rate shall not be updated.

(v) If the difference between the potential nonforfeiture rate and the current nonforfeiture rate is more than the range, the current nonforfeiture rate shall be updated to be equal to the potential nonforfeiture rate adjusted for rounding and any caps or floors.

(vi) See the attached examples in Appendix A.

(2) When used in the context of equity-indexed benefits, "basis" means the point in time used for establishing the parameters incorporated into the calculation of the value of the equity-indexed options. These parameters include the risk free rate, dividend yield, index volatility, prior index values if the option is path dependent, and any other relevant parameters.

B. "Equity-indexed benefits" means a benefit in an annuity contract in which the value of the benefit is determined using an interest crediting rate based on the performance on an equity-based index and contract parameters. Excluded from this definition are variable benefits of separate account variable annuities and indexed guaranteed separate account contracts purchased by institutional buyers.

C. "Index term" means each period of time until the next indexed interest crediting date.

D. "Initial method" means the basis upon which the initial nonforfeiture rate is established and the period for which it applies. The period may last for the entire duration of the contract.

E. "Initial nonforfeiture rate" means the nonforfeiture rate applicable at contract issue.

F. "Minimum nonforfeiture amount" means the minimum value required under the [insert applicable references to Section 4B of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities] of the [insert jurisdiction] Insurance Laws. It reflects net considerations, the nonforfeiture rate, and other items as specified in [insert applicable references to Section 4A of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities] of the [insert jurisdiction] Insurance Laws.

G. "Nonforfeiture rate" means the interest rate used in determining the minimum nonforfeiture amount. This will be determined at issue (initial nonforfeiture rate) and, if applicable, each subsequent redetermination period (redetermination nonforfeiture rate).

H. "Redetermination method" means the redetermination date, basis and period for all future redetermination nonforfeiture rates.

I. "Redetermination nonforfeiture rate" means the nonforfeiture rate applicable at redetermination.

Section 4. Initial Method

A. The initial method shall be filed with the commissioner in accordance with jurisdictional filing and approval requirements.

B. Changes to the initial method are allowed once per calendar year. Any changes to the initial method shall be filed with the commissioner in accordance with jurisdictional filing and approval requirements. A change in initial method would be applicable only to new contracts (or new certificates) issued subsequent to the effective date of the change in method.

Drafting Note: States may consider adopting a deemer provision such that the change in initial method could be deemed approved after an appropriate waiting period, such as 30 or 60 days.

C. The initial method is not required to be disclosed in the contract form.

D. The initial nonforfeiture rate is not required to be disclosed in the contract form, unless redetermination is used.

E. The minimum nonforfeiture parameters (e.g., load, interest rate, expenses) need not be disclosed in the contract unless they are utilized in the calculation of the guaranteed minimum value of the contract as required under [insert applicable reference to section 3A(3) of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities].

Section 5. Redetermination Method

A. If redetermination is used, the method shall be disclosed in the contract form (or certificate).

B. Changes in the redetermination method for future issues (or certificates) are allowed at any time subject to jurisdictional filing and approval requirements.

Section 6. Nonforfeiture Rate and Minimum Nonforfeiture Amount

A. At any point in time, an annuity contract (or certificate) without an equity-indexed benefit will have one nonforfeiture rate and one nonforfeiture amount applicable to the entire contract that is determined in compliance with [insert applicable reference to Section 4B of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities].

B. For an annuity contract (or certificate) in which equity-indexed benefits are available the annuity contract (or certificate) may have more than one nonforfeiture rate applicable to the contract (or certificate) subject to the following:

(1) If the contract has a non equity-indexed benefit, the nonforfeiture interest rate applicable to the non equity-indexed benefit shall be determined in compliance with [insert applicable reference to Section 4B of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities].

(2) If an additional reduction is elected for equity-indexed benefits, reduced nonforfeiture interest rates may apply to each equity-indexed benefit for which the additional reduction is elected in compliance with [insert applicable reference to Section 4C of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities] and Section 7 of this regulation.

(3) The minimum nonforfeiture amount for the contract is determined by calculating a nonforfeiture amount, without any reduction for indebtedness to the company on the contract including interest due and accrued on the indebtedness, for each equity-indexed and non equity-indexed benefit using the nonforfeiture interest rates described in this subsection, summing the results, and then deducting any indebtedness to the company on the contract including interest due and accrued on the indebtedness.

(4) When contract value is transferred (see examples in Appendix B)

(a) From a benefit, the benefit's minimum nonforfeiture amount is reduced by the benefit's minimum nonforfeiture amount prior to the transfer multiplied by the proportion of the benefit's contract value that is transferred;

(b) To a benefit, the benefit's minimum nonforfeiture amount is increased by the sum of all reductions in minimum nonforfeiture amounts determined under Subparagraph (a) multiplied by the proportion of total contract value that is transferred to that benefit;

(c) For purposes of the calculations specified in Subparagraphs (a) and (b) above, the contract value must first be reduced by any fees associated with the transfer.

(5) In the case of a withdrawal from a benefit in which the amount of withdrawal exceeds the benefit's nonforfeiture amount, the insurer shall treat the excess withdrawal in a manner at least as favorable to the contractholder as deducting the excess withdrawal from the nonforfeiture amounts of other benefits in order from lowest to highest nonforfeiture interest rate.

(6) Any contract charge or premium taxes paid by the company must be allocated to a benefit's minimum nonforfeiture amount based on the percentage of that benefit's contract value to the total contract value.

Section 7. Equity-Indexed Benefits

A. If a company chooses to take the additional reduction for an equity-indexed benefit as provided under [insert applicable references to Section 4C of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities], the company shall prepare a demonstration showing compliance with the requirements in [insert applicable references to Section 4C of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities].

B. To demonstrate compliance, utilize the following steps:

(1) Calculate the annualized option cost for the equity-indexed benefit in the form of basis points for the entire Index Term as of the beginning of the Index Term.

(a) Use the equity-indexed benefit's guaranteed product features, such as the guaranteed participation rate, guaranteed caps, etc.

(b) For the option cost, use a basis representative of the point in time at the beginning of the current index term. The company cannot change this basis during the index term.

(c) Make no adjustments for persistency, death, utilization, etc.

(d) The method and parameters for the option cost shall be calibrated to capital markets based option pricing.

(2) If the annualized option cost for the equity-indexed benefit is twenty-five (25) basis points or more, then the equity-indexed benefit provides substantive participation under [insert applicable references to Section 4C of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities] and the company may take a reduction equal to the lesser of 100 basis points and the annual cost basis value.

(3) The company shall prepare an actuarial certification (see Appendix C), signed by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries that the reduction complies with requirements [insert reference] at the time that the contract form is filed and submit it according to the requirements of the jurisdiction.

Drafting Note: This information shall be filed with the commissioner if a jurisdiction requires the submission of an actuarial memorandum demonstrating compliance with the jurisdiction's version of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities.

(4) The company shall also annually prepare an actuarial certification (see Appendix D) [insert reference], signed by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries with regard to ongoing compliance and submit it in conjunction with the filing of the annual statement.

Drafting Note: The company should maintain demonstrations and work papers to be submitted if requested.

C. If the commissioner determines that the additional reduction of up to 100 basis points for equity-indexed benefits has been inappropriately taken, the commissioner may require the recalculation of all values for all affected policyholders without all or part of such additional reduction.

Section 8. Effective Date

The effective date of this regulation is [insert date].

Appendix A

Illustrations of indexing methods dependent upon changes in CMT levels

Example 1: Method—For each calendar year, the rate is set based on the monthly average from November of the preceding year. Each month, a potential rate will be calculated based upon the previous month's CMT average. If the potential rate differs from the actual rate by more than 25 bps, the actual rate will be updated. This continues until the end of the calendar year, when the rate is automatically reset based upon the monthly average from November again.

Date	5 Year CMT Monthly Average	Potential NF rate	Actual NF Rate	Comments
Nov. 2003	3.0%	N/a	N/a	Monthly rate for Jan. 2004—1.75% (3.0%—125 bps)
Dec. 2003	3.0%	N/a	N/a
Jan. 2004	3.1%	N/a	1.75%	Based on Nov. 2003
Feb. 2004	3.2%	1.85% (3.1%—125 bps)	1.75%	No change since difference between actual rate and potential rate is less than 25 bps
March 2004	3.3%	1.95%	1.75%	No change since difference is only 20 bps. Note that result of March CMT means April actual rate will change.
April 2004	3.3%	2.05%	2.05%	Potential rate (2.05%) differs from actual rate (1.75%) by more than 25 bps, so update actual rate.
May 2004	3.1%	2.05%	2.05%
June 2004	3.1%	1.85%	2.05%
July 2004	2.6%	1.85%	2.05%	5 year CMT dropped this month, so next month potential NF rate will drop. Since more than 25 bps change, actual NF rate changes.
Aug. 2004	2.6%	1.35%	1.35%
Sept. 2004	2.6%	1.35%	1.35%
Oct. 2004	2.6%	1.35%	1.35%
Nov. 2004	2.7%	1.35%	1.35%	Monthly rate for Jan. 2005—1.45% (2.7%—125 bps)
Dec. 2004	3.0%	1.45%	1.35%	Less than 25 bps change
Jan. 2005	2.8%	N/a	1.45%	Based on Nov. 2004
Feb. 2005	2.8%	1.55%	1.45%	Less than 25 bps change
March 2005	2.8%	1.55%	1.45%
April 2005	2.8%	1.55%	1.45%
May 2005	3.25%	1.55%	1.45%
June 2005	3.25%	2.0%	2.0%	Update rate since more than 25 bps change from potential rate to actual rate.
July 2005	3.25%	2.0%	2.0%

Example 2: relatively level interest rate environment. Method—This example starts with an initial NF rate based on a single point in time. Once this initial rate is determined, it is in effect until the potential rate differs from the actual rate by more than 25 bps. This example does not automatically set each calendar year from a set month. For this example, the initial rate is set for the contract form based off a one month average with a one month lag for a contract form that will launch in January 2004. March potential rate is based off of January CMT rates, April potential rate is determined from February CMT rates and so on. So for issues in January 2004, the rate is based on November 2003 monthly average. For all issues after January 2004, the actual rate will change only if it differs from the potential rate by more than 25 bps. These examples will look at what happens in relatively level interest rate environment—keeping in mind that the NF rate MUST be updated so all 5 year CMT rates upon which the nonforfeiture rate is based occur within 15 months from contract issue date.

Date	5 Year CMT Monthly Average	Potential NF rate	Actual NF Rate	Comments
Nov. 2003	3.0%	N/a	N/a	Month for base rate—"sets a starting peg in the ground"
Dec. 2003	3.1%	N/a	N/a	One month lag
Jan. 2004	3.1%	1.75%	1.75%	Initial rate for block
Feb. 2004	3.3%	1.85%	1.75%
March 2004	3.5%	1.85%	1.75%
April 2004	3.5%	2.05%	2.05%
May 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
June 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
July 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
Aug. 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
Sept. 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
Oct. 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
Nov. 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
Dec. 2004	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
Jan. 2005	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
Feb. 2005	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
March 2005	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
April 2005	3.5%	2.25%	2.05%
May 2005	3.5%	2.25%	2.25%	Since CMT rate that determined actual NF rate of 2.05% occurred more than 15 months ago, the actual rate MUST be updated. Given the method, this means this rate is based on March CMT rate (monthly average with a one month lag—see description in method for this example).
June 2005	3.5%	2.25%	2.25%
July 2005	3.5%	2.25%	2.25%

Example 3: Shows what to do when 1% floor comes into play. Method—This example starts with an initial NF rate based on a single point in time. The potential rate is determined based on the preceding month CMT average. If the potential rate differs from the actual rate by more than 25 bps, the actual rate is updated. This example shows how to handle statutory minimums (use the same logic for maximums).

Date	5 Year CMT Monthly Average	Potential NF rate	Actual NF Rate	Comments
Dec. 2003	2.4%	N/a	N/a	Starting month for the block—this sets the "peg in the ground"
Jan. 2004	2.3%	1.15%	1.15%	Initial rate for block
Feb. 2004	2.3%	1.05%	1.15%
March 2004	2.25%	1.05%	1.15%
April 2004	2.25%	1.0%	1.15%
June 2004	2.1%	0.85%	1.0%	The potential rate is not subject to statutory minimums and maximums. It must be unbounded in order to determine if a change of more than 25 bps has occurred. In this case, it has, so the actual rate is updated, factoring in statutory minimums and maximums.
July 2004	2.1%	0.85%	1.0%
Aug. 2004	2.1%	0.85%	1.0%

Example 4: real life 5 year CMT averages. Method—Monthly average 5 year CMT with a one month lag time. NF rate is held constant as long as the potential nonforfeiture rate is within a range of plus or minus 50 bps from the current nonforfeiture rate.

Aug. 2003	3.37	1.60	1.25

(1) = monthly average 5 year CMT from above named sources
(2) = monthly average minus 125 bps—"potential NF rate", then rounded
(3) = actual rate according to a value triggered method with range of plus or minus 50 bps

Note: the above examples are just that—examples. There are many more methods that could be used that may also be appropriate.

Appendix B

Transfer of minimum nonforfeiture amount for Section 6.

This example will show a simple demonstration of how the minimum nonforfeiture amount is to be transferred in an equity-indexed annuity under Section 6. Assume that the 5 year CMT is 3.75%. This results in a fixed annuity nonforfeiture rate of 2.5%. Further assume that the equity-indexed benefit receives the additional 100 bps reduction, so its nonforfeiture rate is 1.5%. This contract has a fixed interest option within an EIA. The policyholder may transfer money on any contract anniversary. Assuming there are transfers, the minimum nonforfeiture amount is path dependent. The minimum nonforfeiture amount will roll forward and get transferred back and forth at the benefit level, then added together to determine the minimum nonforfeiture amount for the contract. Note that there are slight rounding differences.

Year 1

Policyholder initially allocates 50% of premium each to fixed and equity-indexed benefits.

EIA benefit = 50% * (100,000 * 87.5%—$50) * 1.015 = 44,380.88
Fixed benefit = 50% * (100,000 * 87.5%—$50) * 1.025 = 44,818.13

The total minimum nonforfeiture amount is 44,380.88 + 44,818.13 = 89,199.00.

Year 2

At the end of year 1, assume that due to market performance, the contract value is now allocated 60% in the equity-indexed benefit and 40% in the fixed benefit. The policyholder decides to re-allocate his contract value so that it is again at 50% in the equity-indexed benefit and 50% in the fixed interest benefit. This means that $1/6^{th}$ (10% out of the 60%) of the equity-indexed contract value is transferred to the fixed interest contract value. Thus, $1/6^{th}$ of the equity-indexed nonforfeiture amount is transferred to the fixed nonforfeiture amount. The results follow:
EIA benefit = 44,380.88 — 7,396.81 = 36,984.06.
Fixed benefit = 44,818.13 + 7,396.81 = 52,214.94.
Note that the total minimum nonforfeiture amount remains level at 89,199.00.

Year 2 calculations are identical to year 1 with the adjusted starting values. Note that since contract value is again split 50% each, the contract charge is also allocated 50% to each benefit.

EIA benefit = (36,984.06—50% * $50)* 1.015 = 37,513.45
Fixed benefit = (52,214.94—50% * $50)* 1.025 = 53,494.68
Total = 91,008.13

With different starting allocations and re-allocations, all the calculations operate the same, but would be adjusted "accordingly."

Initial Actuarial Certification of Compliance for Equity Indexed Annuities with (identify state regulation that corresponds to the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation)

For use with Equity-Indexed Annuity contract forms at time of filing.

I, (state name and professional designation) am responsible for evaluating compliance with the (identify state law and regulation that corresponds to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities and the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation) for (name of insurance company). I have reviewed (identify contract form) and am familiar with the (identify state law and regulation that corresponds to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities and the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation) as they pertain to equity-indexed annuities. I have also reviewed the methodology that will be used in calculating and setting assumptions for the additional reduction in nonforfeiture rate for equity-indexed annuities. Based on my review, I certify that the methodology used for (identify contract form) meets the minimum requirements of the (identify state law and regulation that corresponds to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities and the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation).

Actuarial Certification of Compliance for Equity Indexed Annuities with (identify state regulation that corresponds to the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation)

For use in certifying compliance with the (identify state regulation that corresponds to the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation).

I, (state name and professional designation) am responsible for evaluating compliance with the (identify state law and regulation that corresponds to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities and the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation) for (name of insurance company). I am familiar with the (identify state law and regulation that corresponds to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities and the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation) as they pertain to equity-indexed annuities. I have reviewed the equity index features of (identify all contract forms covered by this certification) for ongoing compliance with the requirements of (identify state regulation that corresponds to the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation) that deal with the additional reduction relating to equity-indexed annuities. I have reviewed the assumptions used to support the additional reduction that is permitted to be used with equity-indexed annuities.

Based on my review, I certify that the additional reduction used to determine nonforfeiture values provided under the policy forms identified above met the requirements of (identify state regulation that corresponds to the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation) as it relates to equity-indexed annuities in force as of December 31, (previous calendar year).

ANNUITY NONFORFEITURE MODEL REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

ANNUITY NONFORFEITURE MODEL REGULATION

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2005

ANNUITY NONFORFEITURE MODEL REGULATION (#806)

1. Project Description

As described in the model, its purpose is to adopt rules to implement the provisions of Section 4 of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities. Revisions to Section 4 of the law were made in March 2003 which: (a) set the minimum nonforfeiture interest rate at a level which varies with the five-year constant maturity treasuries (CMT), subject to a 3% ceiling and a 1% floor; and (b) permits a lower minimum nonforfeiture interest rate for equity-indexed annuities (subject to the 3% ceiling and 1% floor).

2. Group Responsible for Drafting Model and States Participating

The 2005 members of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are: New Mexico (Chair), Minnesota (Vice-Chair), Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah, and West Virginia.

3. General Description of Drafting Process

The matters described in Project Description were discussed by the Task Force at each quarterly meeting from June 2003 to June 2005. In addition, the Task Force held at least one conference call on this topic during each quarter over that period. Two conference calls were held subsequent to the June 2005 quarterly meeting, including one on September 20, 2005, on which the Task Force adopted the model. All quarterly meetings and conference calls were open to industry personnel. Notice of each conference call was posted on NAIC's Web site and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties, including representatives of the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI).

4. Significant Issues Raised

Numerous contentious issues were debated during the more than two years of effort on this project. The following excerpt from the June 2003 Task Force minutes provides a sense of the wide range of issues addressed:

- Given that the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities refers to the "market values" of equity-indexed benefits and not their theoretical costs, some means will need to be agreed upon to convert formulaic or modeling results to market values. Consideration will need to be given as to how to incorporate persistency into the determination of the market value of an equity-indexed benefit.

- How will a company demonstrate the appropriateness of a reduction in the nonforfeiture interest rate when the participation rate in the equity index can vary from one year to the next?

- From the American Academy of Actuaries report relative to equity indexed concerns: "Any additional issues if a company uses the redetermination feature for the minimum nonforfeiture rate?"

- How much variable language should be allowed in policy filings, i.e., to what extent should the specific nonforfeiture rate to be applied to the policy be left blank?

- Does a specific number need to be developed for what constitutes "substantive participation in an equity indexed benefit?"

- Several Task Force members expressed support for the position that the period over which the minimum nonforfeiture interest rate is determined should not be affected by the actual level of the five-year CMT. For example, a company could not use the lowest five-year CMT rate over the prior fifteen-month period. Rather, it would have to specify a specific date or period during the prior fifteen months over which the five-year CMT will be determined, regardless of the actual level of the CMT.

- How much detail should be disclosed to the consumer and included in the contract regarding how the initial and redetermined minimum nonforfeiture interest rates are determined? How much detail should be in the memorandum supporting the policy filing?

While all of the above and many more issues were addressed during the drafting of the model, the following two questions proved especially difficult to resolve, i.e., the extent to which differing minimum nonforfeiture interest rates should apply to (1) considerations (i.e., premium payments) paid at different times, and (2) the equity and non-equity components of the contract, i.e., one rate per contract.

Question #1: Does the Law bar the use of minimum nonforfeiture interest rates that vary according to the timing of the receipt of considerations (the so-called "premium bucket" approach)?

This question was discussed over a period of a year and one-half, and the Task Force reversed its position on more than one occasion during that period. The Task Force eventually decided to reject the "premium bucket" approach. The following excerpt from the minutes of the Task Force's October 14, 2004, conference call summarizes the extended debate:

> Mr. Dino moved, and Mr. Summers seconded a motion "for premium buckets to be excluded from the Annuity Nonforfeiture Model Regulation." A lengthy discussion ensued, during which the previously stated arguments for and against premium buckets were repeated.
> Opposed to premium buckets:
> - The literal wording of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Individual Deferred Annuities does not permit premium buckets in the determination of minimum nonforfeiture values.
> - Premium buckets will add complexity in verifying that minimum nonforfeiture standards are being met.
> - Premium buckets will make it more difficult for consumers to understand what the minimum nonforfeiture values are.
> - To the extent precise rules are not developed regarding how partial withdrawals affect minimum nonforfeiture values, there will be no true "minimum nonforfeiture standard."
> In favor of premium buckets:
> The arguments in favor of premium buckets are summarized in the Aug. 17, 2004, letter from William Schreiner (ACLI) (Note: the bullet points shown below are extracted from Mr. Schreiner's memo, and were not explicitly listed in the minutes).
> - The "premium bucket" approach permits the exact alignment of investment credit promises with available investment opportunities – a plus for both the contract owner and the insurer.
> - It permits the avoidance of situations in which insurer interest guarantees exceed the interest available to be earned in the current marketplace – a solvency concern – due to the existence of guarantees established in a more favorable environment.
> - It permits the avoidance of situations in which insurer interest guarantees are below the interest available to be earned in the current marketplace – a contract owner equity concern – due to the existence of guarantees established in a less favorable environment.
> - The premium bucket approach has long been available in the marketplace. Failure to include it in the model regulation, which is intended to clarify the operation of the new law, would effectively bar its use in low interest rate environments. Logic demands that if the new nonforfeiture law can coexist with premium buckets in high interest rate environments (and it can), the new law should not be used as a tool to eliminate its availability in low interest rate environments.
> The motion passed: Voting "yes" (7): Alaska, California, Florida, Minnesota, New Mexico, Ohio, and Texas; Voting "no" (5): Arkansas, Kansas, New York, Pennsylvania, and Utah; Abstain (2): Connecticut, South Carolina.

Question #2: Does the Law bar the use of different minimum nonforfeiture interest rates for the equity and non-equity components of the contract, i.e., should there be one minimum nonforfeiture interest rate per contract?

This issue was one of the last to be resolved, and the Task Force reversed its position on more than one occasion. On its call on July 18, 2005, it agreed to permit more than one rate per contract when the contract incorporates equity-indexed benefits, and that was the position incorporated into the final document. The following excerpt from a prior discussion (the March 2005 Task Force minutes) summarizes the points raised during the ongoing debate:

> Some Task Force members questioned why there should be multiple nonforfeiture interest rates within a single contract. Mr. Dino said his preference "would be that we don't start separating and bifurcating components of a contract. Minimum values should be (for) the contract as a whole, and not looking at different benefit perspectives in the contract." Mr. Serbinowski disagreed "because if you have a contract that has both a fixed account and equity-indexed account, you have to deal with two rates." Mr. Bruning said, "Kansas reads the statute the same way Florida reads the statute; there's one rate per contract, and it either provides substantial equity participation or it doesn't." Mr. Dino moved, and Mr. Stone seconded a motion that Subsection 6B be modified as shown and Subsection 6C be eliminated: proposed Subsection 6B - At any point in time, each contract (or certificate) will have one nonforfeiture rate that is applicable to the entire contract. Mr. Summers stated he is opposed to the motion because difficulties will arise in determining if companies are inappropriately marketing equity-indexed annuities with fixed accounts in order to lower the minimum interest guarantee. Mr. Dino responded "if all he (i.e., the consumer) wanted was the fixed account, that's what he should have bought. And if the agent browbeat him into buying something he shouldn't have, give me the agent's name and phone number. I'll take care of that."

Adoption by the Task Force on its September 20, 2005, Conference Call

The Task Force adopted the model on a vote of five in favor, one opposed, and seven members abstaining. While there are undoubtedly multiple reasons for the unusually large number of abstentions, the primary reason appears to be uncertainty over the language in Subsection 6B. Among the matters addressed in that subsection is the determination of the minimum nonforfeiture benefit in the event of transfers and withdrawals for contracts with equity-indexed benefits. Comments were received from members of the industry that there are other methods of determination that are either simpler or equally as valid as that specified in Subsection 6B. Various options were discussed on the Sept. 20 call for providing more flexibility to companies, but no agreement could be reached regarding different language.

Implications of this Project for Accreditation and Codification

Since this project does not deal with solvency monitoring, there is no impact for accreditation and codification.

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR LIFE INSURANCE

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title

This Act shall be known as the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance.

Section 1a. Definitions

The term "operative date of the valuation manual" means the January 1 of the first calendar year that the valuation manual as defined in the [insert reference to the state's Standard Valuation Law incorporating the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' 2009 Amendments] is effective.

Section 2. Nonforfeiture Benefits

In the case of policies issued on and after the operative date of this Act as defined in Section 10, no policy of life insurance, except as stated in Section 9, shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this state unless it shall contain in substance the following provisions, or corresponding provisions which in the opinion of the commissioner are at least as favorable to the defaulting or surrendering policyholder as are the minimum requirements specified here and are essentially in compliance with Section 8 of this law:

A. That, in the event of default in any premium payment, the company will grant, upon proper request not later than sixty (60) days after the due date of the premium in default, a paid-up nonforfeiture benefit on a plan stipulated in the policy, effective as of the due date, of such amount as may be hereinafter specified. In lieu of the stipulated paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, the company may substitute, upon proper request not later than sixty (60) days after the due date of the premium in default, an actuarially equivalent alternative paid-up nonforfeiture benefit which provides a greater amount or longer period of death benefits or, if applicable, a greater amount or earlier payment of endowment benefits.

B. That, upon surrender of the policy within sixty (60) days after the due date of any premium payment in default after premiums have been paid for at least three (3) full years in the case of ordinary insurance or five (5) full years in the case of industrial insurance, the company will pay, in lieu of any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified.

C. That a specified paid-up nonforfeiture benefit shall become effective as specified in the policy unless the person entitled to make the election elects another available option not later than sixty (60) days after the due date of the premium in default.

D. That if the policy shall have become paid-up by completion of all premium payments or if it is continued under any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit which became effective on or after the third policy anniversary in the case of ordinary insurance or the fifth policy anniversary in the case of industrial insurance, the company will pay, upon surrender of the policy within thirty (30) days after any policy anniversary, a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified.

E. In the case of policies which cause, on a basis guaranteed in the policy, unscheduled changes in benefits or premiums, or which provide an option for changes in benefits or premiums other than a change to a new policy; a statement of the mortality table, interest rate and method used in calculating cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits available under the policy. In the case of all other policies, a statement of the mortality table and interest rate used in calculating the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits available under the policy, together with a table showing the cash surrender value, if any, and paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, if any, available under the policy on each policy anniversary either during the first twenty (20) policy years or during the term of the policy, whichever is shorter, such values and benefits to be calculated upon the assumption that there are no dividends or paid-up additions credited to the policy and that there is no indebtedness to the company on the policy.

F. A statement that the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits available under the policy are not less than the minimum values and benefits required by or pursuant to the insurance law of the state in which the policy is delivered; an explanation of the manner in which the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits are altered by the existence of any paid-up additions credited to the policy or any indebtedness to the company on the policy; if a detailed statement of the method of computation of the values and benefits shown in the policy is not stated therein, a statement that such method of computation has been filed with the insurance supervisory official of the state in which the policy is delivered; and a statement of the method to be used in calculating the cash surrender value and a paid-up nonforfeiture benefit available under the policy on any policy anniversary beyond the last anniversary for which values and benefits are consecutively shown in the policy.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable by reason of the plan of insurance may, to the extent inapplicable, be omitted from the policy.

The company shall reserve the right to defer the payment of any cash surrender value for a period of six (6) months after demand therefor with surrender of the policy.

Section 3. Computation of Cash Surrender Value

A. Any cash surrender value available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary, whether or not required by Section 2, shall be an amount not less than the excess, if any, of the present value, on the anniversary, of the future guaranteed benefits which would have been provided for by the policy, including any existing paid-up additions, if there had been no default, over the sum of:

(1) The then present value of the adjusted premiums as defined in Sections 5, 5a, 5b and 5c, corresponding to premiums which would have fallen due on and after the anniversary; and

(2) The amount of any indebtedness to the company on the policy.

B. Provided, however, that for any policy issued on or after the operative date of Section 5c, which provides supplemental life insurance or annuity benefits at the option of the insured and for an identifiable additional premium by rider or supplemental policy provision, the cash surrender value referred to in Subsection A of this section shall be an amount not less than the sum of the cash surrender value for an otherwise similar policy issued at the same age without the rider or supplemental policy provision and the cash surrender value as defined in Subsection A for a policy which provides only the benefits otherwise provided by such rider or supplemental policy provision.

C. Provided, further, that for any family policy issued on or after the operative date of Section 5c, which defines a primary insured and provides term insurance on the life of the spouse of the primary insured expiring before the spouse's age seventy-one (71), the cash surrender value referred to in Subsection A shall be an amount not less than the sum of the cash surrender value for an otherwise similar policy issued at the same age without term insurance on the life of the spouse and the cash surrender value as defined in Subsection A for a policy which provides only the benefits otherwise provided by term insurance on the life of the spouse.

D. Any cash surrender value available within thirty (30) days after any policy anniversary under any policy paid-up by completion of all premium payments or any policy continued under any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, whether or not required by Section 2, shall be an amount not less than the present value, on the anniversary, of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy, including any existing paid-up additions, decreased by any indebtedness to the company on the policy.

Section 4. Computation of Paid-Up Nonforfeiture Benefits

Any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary shall be such that its present value as of the anniversary shall be at least equal to the cash surrender value then provided for by the policy or, if none is provided for, that cash surrender value which would have been required by this Act in the absence of the condition that premiums shall have been paid for at least a specified period.

Section 5. Calculation of Adjusted Premiums

A. This section shall not apply to policies issued on or after the operative date of Section 5c. Except as provided in Subsection C of this section, the adjusted premiums for any policy shall be calculated on an annual basis and shall be such uniform percentage of the respective premiums specified in the policy for each policy year, excluding amounts stated in the policy as extra premiums to cover impairments or special hazards, that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such adjusted premiums shall be equal to the sum of:

(1) The then present value of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy;

(2) Two percent (2%) of the amount of insurance, if the insurance be uniform in amount, or of the equivalent uniform amount, as hereinafter defined, if the amount of insurance varies with duration of the policy;

(3) Forty percent (40%) of the adjusted premium for the first policy year;

(4) Twenty-five percent (25%) of either the adjusted premium for the first policy year or the adjusted premium for a whole life policy of the same uniform or equivalent uniform amount with uniform premiums for the whole of life issued at the same age for the same amount of insurance, whichever is less.

Provided, however, that in applying the percentages specified in (3) and (4) above, no adjusted premium shall be deemed to exceed four percent (4%) of the amount of insurance or level amount equivalent. The date of issue of a policy for the purpose of this section shall be the date as of which the rated age of the insured is determined.

B. In the case of a policy providing an amount of insurance varying with duration of the policy, the equivalent level amount for the purpose of this section shall be deemed to be the level amount of insurance provided by an otherwise similar policy, containing the same endowment benefit or benefits, if any, issued at the same age and for the same term, the amount of which does not vary with duration and the benefits under which have the same present value at the inception of the insurance as the benefits under the policy.

C. The adjusted premiums for any policy providing term insurance benefits by rider or supplemental policy provision shall be equal to:

(1) The adjusted premiums for an otherwise similar policy issued at the same age without such term insurance benefits, increased, during the period for which premiums for such term insurance benefits are payable, by

(2) The adjusted premiums for such term insurance, the foregoing Paragraphs (1) and (2) being calculated separately and as specified in Subsections A and B except that, for the purposes of Subsection A(2), A(3) and A(4), the amount of insurance or equivalent uniform amount of insurance used in the calculation of the adjusted premiums referred to in Subsection A(2) shall be equal to the excess of the corresponding amount determined for the entire policy over the amount used in the calculation of the adjusted premiums in Subsection C(1).

D. Except as otherwise provided in Sections 5a and 5b, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this Act shall for all policies of ordinary insurance be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table, provided that for any category of ordinary insurance issued on female risks, adjusted premiums and present values may be calculated according to any age not more than three (3) years younger than the actual age of the insured and such calculations for all policies of industrial insurance shall be made on the basis of the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table. All calculations shall be made on the basis of the rate of interest, not exceeding three and one-half percent (3 1/2%) per annum, specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits. Provided, however, that in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than one hundred and thirty percent (130%) of the rates of mortality according to the applicable table. Provided, further, that for insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

Section 5a. Calculation of Adjusted Premiums - Ordinary Policies

This section shall not apply to ordinary policies issued on or after the operative date of Section 5c. In the case of ordinary policies issued on or after the operative date of this section, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this Act shall be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table and the rate of interest specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits provided that such rate of interest shall not exceed three and one-half percent (3 1/2%) per annum except that a rate of interest not exceeding four percent (4%) per annum may be used for policies issued on or after [insert effective date of 1972 NAIC amendments to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] and prior to [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] and a rate of interest not exceeding five and one-half percent (5 1/2%) per annum may be used; for policies issued on or after [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance], except that for any single premium whole life or endowment insurance policy, a rate of interest not exceeding six and one-half percent (6 1/2%) per annum may be used; and provided that for any category of ordinary insurance issued on female risks, adjusted premiums and present values may be calculated according to an age not more than six (6) years younger than the actual age of the insured. Provided, however, that in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the Commissioners 1958 Extended Term Insurance Table. Provided, further, that for insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

After the effective date of this section, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1966. After the filing of such notice, upon the specified date (which shall be the operative date of this section for that company), this section shall become operative with respect to the ordinary policies thereafter issued by the company. If a company makes no election, the operative date of this section for the company shall be January 1, 1966.

Section 5b. Calculation of Adjusted Premiums - Industrial Policies

This section shall not apply to industrial policies issued on or after the operative date of Section 5c. In the case of industrial policies issued on or after the operative date of this section, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this Act shall be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1961 Standard Industrial Mortality Table and the rate of interest specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits provided that such rate of interest shall not exceed three and one-half percent (3 1/2%) per annum, except that a rate of interest not exceeding four percent (4%) per annum may be used for policies issued on or after [insert effective date of 1972 NAIC amendments to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] and prior to [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] and a rate of interest not exceeding five and one-half percent (5 1/2%) per annum may be used for policies issued on or after [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance], except that for any single premium whole life or endowment insurance policy a rate of interest not exceeding six and one-half percent (6 1/2%) per annum may be used. Provided, however, that in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the Commissioners 1961 Industrial Extended Term Insurance Table. Provided, further, that for insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculations of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

After the effective date of this section, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1968. After the filing of such notice, upon the specified date (which shall be the operative date of this section for that company), this section shall become operative with respect to the industrial policies thereafter issued by the company. If a company makes no election, the operative date of this section for the company shall be January 1, 1968.

Section 5c. Calculations of Adjusted Premiums By the Nonforfeiture Net Level Premium Method

A. This section shall apply to all policies issued on or after the operative date of this section. Except as provided in Subsection G, the adjusted premiums for any policy shall be calculated on an annual basis and shall be such uniform percentage of the respective premiums specified in the policy for each policy year, excluding amounts payable as extra premiums to cover impairments or special hazards and also excluding any uniform annual contract charge or policy fee specified in the policy in a statement of the method to be used in calculating the cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits, that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all adjusted premiums shall be equal to the sum of:

(1) The then present value of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy;

(2) One percent of either the amount of insurance, if the insurance be uniform in amount, or the average amount of insurance at the beginning of each of the first ten (10) policy years; and

(3) One hundred twenty-five percent (125%) of the nonforfeiture net level premium as hereinafter defined.

Provided, however, that in applying the percentage specified in (3) above no nonforfeiture net level premium shall be deemed to exceed four percent (4%) of either the amount of insurance, if the insurance be uniform in amount, or the average amount of insurance at the beginning of each of the first ten (10) policy years. The date of issue of a policy for the purpose of this section shall be the date as of which the rated age of the insured is determined.

B. The nonforfeiture net level premium shall be equal to the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of the guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy divided by the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of an annuity of one per annum payable on the date of issue of the policy and on each anniversary of the policy on which a premium falls due.

C. In the case of policies which cause, on a basis guaranteed in the policy, unscheduled changes in benefits or premiums; or which provide an option for changes in benefits or premiums, other than a change to a new policy; the adjusted premiums and present values shall initially be calculated on the assumption that future benefits and premiums do not change from those stipulated at the date of issue of the policy. At the time of any change in the benefits or premiums, the future adjusted premiums, nonforfeiture net level premiums and present values shall be recalculated on the assumption that future benefits and premiums do not change from those stipulated by the policy immediately after the change.

D. Except as otherwise provided in Subsection G, the recalculated future adjusted premiums for any policy shall be uniform percentage of the respective future premiums specified in the policy for each policy year, excluding amounts payable as extra premiums to cover impairments and special hazards, and also excluding any uniform annual contract charge or policy fee specified in the policy in a statement of the method to be used in calculating the cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits, that the present value, at the time of change to the newly defined benefits or premiums, of all such future adjusted premiums shall be equal to the excess of:

(1) The sum of

(a) The then present value of the then future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy, and

(b) The additional expense allowance, if any, over

(2) The then cash surrender value, if any, or present value of any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit under this policy.

E. The additional expense allowance, at the time of the change to the newly defined benefits or premiums, shall be the sum of:

(1) One percent of the excess, if positive, of the average amount of insurance at the beginning of each of the first ten (10) policy years subsequent to the change over the average amount of insurance prior to the change at the beginning of each of the first ten (10) policy years subsequent to the time of the most recent previous change, or, if there has been no previous change, the date of issue of the policy; and

(2) One hundred twenty-five percent (125%) of the increase, if positive, in the nonforfeiture net level premium.

F. The recalculated nonforfeiture net level premium shall be equal to the result obtained by dividing (1) by (2) where

(1) Equals the sum of

(a) The nonforfeiture net level premium applicable prior to the change times the present value of an annuity of one per annum payable on each anniversary of the policy on or subsequent to the date of the change on which a premium would have fallen due had the change not occurred, and

(b) The present value of the increase in future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy, and

(2) Equals the present value of an annuity of one per annum payable on each anniversary of the policy on or subsequent to the date of change on which a premium falls due.

G. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section to the contrary, in the case of a policy issued on a substandard basis which provides reduced graded amounts of insurance so that, in each policy year, the policy has the same tabular mortality cost as an otherwise similar policy issued on the standard basis which provides higher uniform amount of insurance, adjusted premiums and present values for the substandard policy may be calculated as if it were issued to provide higher uniform amounts of insurance on the standard basis.

H. All adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this Act shall for all policies of ordinary insurance be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table; or, at the election of the company for any one or more specified plans of life insurance, the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table with Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors; shall for all policies of industrial insurance be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1961 Standard Industrial Mortality Table; and shall for all policies issued in a particular calendar year be calculated on the basis of a rate of interest not exceeding the nonforfeiture interest rate as defined in this section, for policies issued in that calendar year. Provided, however, that:

(1) At the option of the company, calculations for all policies issued in a particular calendar year may be made on the basis of a rate of interest not exceeding the nonforfeiture interest rate, as defined in this section, for policies issued in the immediately preceding calendar year.

(2) Under any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, including any paid-up dividend additions, any cash surrender value available, whether or not required by Section 2, shall be calculated on the basis of the mortality table and rate of interest used in determining the amount of such paid-up nonforfeiture benefit and paid-up dividend additions, if any.

(3) A company may calculate the amount of any guaranteed paid-up nonforfeiture benefit including any paid-up additions under the policy on the basis of an interest rate no lower than that specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values.

(4) In calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the Commissioners 1980 Extended Term Insurance Table for policies of ordinary insurance and not more than the Commissioners 1961 Industrial Extended Term Insurance Table for policies of industrial insurance.

(5) For insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any adjusted premiums and present values may be based on appropriate modifications of the aforementioned tables.

(6) For policies issued prior to the operative date of the valuation manual, any Commissioners Standard ordinary mortality tables, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that are approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum nonforfeiture standard may be substituted for the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors or for the Commissioners 1980 Extended Term Insurance Table.

For policies issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual the valuation manual shall provide the Commissioners Standard mortality table for use in determining the minimum nonforfeiture standard that may be substituted for the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors or for the Commissioners 1980 Extended Term Insurance Table. If the commissioner approves by regulation any Commissioners Standard ordinary mortality table adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners for use in determining the minimum nonforfeiture standard for policies issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual then that minimum nonforfeiture standard supersedes the minimum nonforfeiture standard provided by the valuation manual.

(7) For policies issued prior to the operative date of the valuation manual, any Commissioners Standard industrial mortality tables, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that are approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum nonforfeiture standard may be substituted for the Commissioners 1961 Standard Industrial Mortality Table or the Commissioners 1961 Industrial Extended Term Insurance Table.

For policies issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual the valuation manual shall provide the Commissioners Standard mortality table for use in determining the minimum nonforfeiture standard that may be substituted for the Commissioners 1961 Standard Industrial Mortality Table or the Commissioners 1961 Industrial Extended Term Insurance Table. If the commissioner approves by regulation any Commissioners Standard industrial mortality table adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners for use in determining the minimum nonforfeiture standard for policies issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual then that minimum nonforfeiture standard supersedes the minimum nonforfeiture standard provided by the valuation manual.

I. The nonforfeiture interest rate is defined below:

(1) For policies issued prior to the operative date of the valuation manual, the nonforfeiture interest rate per annum for any policy issued in a particular calendar year shall be equal to one hundred and twenty-five percent (125%) of the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for such policy as defined in the Standard Valuation Law, rounded to the nearer one quarter of one percent (1/4 of 1%), provided, however, that the nonforfeiture interest rate shall not be less than four percent (4.00%).

Drafting Note: For flexible premium universal life insurance policices as defined in Section 3D of the Universal Life Insurance Model Regulation (#585), this is not intended to prevent an interest rate guarantee less than the nonforfeiture interest rate.

(2) For policies issued on and after the operative date of the valuation manual the nonforfeiture interest rate per annum for any policy issued in a particular calendar year shall be provided by the valuation manual.

J. Notwithstanding any other provision in this code to the contrary, any refiling of nonforfeiture values or their methods of computation for any previously approved policy form which involves only a change in the interest rate or mortality table used to compute nonforfeiture values shall not require refiling of any other provisions of that policy form.

K. After the effective date of this section, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provision of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1989, which shall be the operative date of this section for the company. If a company makes no election, the operative date of this section for the company shall be January 1, 1989.

Section 6. Nonforfeiture Benefits for Indeterminate Premium Plans

In the case of any plan of life insurance which provides for future premium determination, the amounts of which are to be determined by the insurance company based on estimates of future experience, or in the case of any plan of life insurance which is of such a nature that minimum values cannot be determined by the methods described in Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 5a, 5b or 5c, then:

A. The commissioner must be satisfied that the benefits provided under the plan are substantially as favorable to policyholders and insureds as the minimum benefits otherwise required by Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 5a, 5b or 5c;

B. The commissioner must be satisfied that the benefits and the pattern of premiums of that plan are not such as to mislead prospective policyholders or insureds;

C. The cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits provided by such plan must not be less than the minimum values and benefits required for the plan computed by a method consistent with the principles of this Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, as determined by regulations promulgated by the commissioner;

Drafting Note: If desired the following provision may be added as Subsection D.

D. Notwithstanding any other provision in the laws of this state, any policy, contract or certificate providing life insurance under any plan must be affirmatively approved by the commissioner before it can be marketed, issued, delivered or used in this state.

Drafting Note: If Subsection D is enacted in a state where prior filing and approval of life insurance policy forms has not been previously required by statute, this subsection would mandate such action for plans requiring approval under Section 6. If Subsection D is enacted in a state where approval is deemed under certain circumstances, the deemer provision would be overridden by the terms of this section. In some states specific reference must be made to any statutory provision which is overridden.

Section 7. Proration of Values; Net Value of Paid-Up Additions

Any cash surrender value and any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due at any time other than on the policy anniversary, shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of fractional premiums beyond the last preceding policy anniversary. All values referred to in Sections 3, 4, 5, 5a, 5b and 5c may be calculated upon the assumption that any death benefit is payable at the end of the policy year of death. The net value of any paid-up additions, other than paid-up term additions, shall not be less than the amounts used to provide such additions. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 3, additional benefits payable:

A. In the event of death or dismemberment by accident or accidental means;

B. In the event of total and permanent disability;

C. As reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits;

D. As term insurance benefits provided by a rider or supplemental policy provision to which, if issued as a separate policy, this Act would not apply;

E. As term insurance in the life on a child or on the lives of children provided in a policy on the life of a parent of the child, if such term insurance expires before the child's age is twenty-six, is uniform in amount after the child's age is one, and has not become paid-up by reason of the death of a parent of the child; and

F. As other policy benefits additional to life insurance and endowment benefits, and premiums for all such additional benefits,shall be disregarded in ascertaining cash surrender values and nonforfeiture benefits required by this Act, and no such additional benefits shall be required to be included in any paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

Section 8. Consistency of Progression of Cash Surrender Values with Increasing Policy Duration

This section, in addition to all other applicable sections of this law, shall apply to all policies issued on or after January 1, 19[ ] [insert the fourth calendar year commencing after the effective date of the amendatory Act of 19--]. Any cash surrender value available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary shall be in an amount which does not differ by more than two tenths of one percent (.2%) of either the amount of insurance, if the insurance be uniform in amount, or the average amount of insurance at the beginning of each of the first ten (10) policy years, from the sum of:

A. The greater of zero and the basic cash value hereinafter specified; and

B. The present value of any existing paid-up additions less the amount of any indebtedness to the company under the policy.

The basic cash value shall be equal to the present value, on such anniversary, of the future guaranteed benefits which would have been provided for by the policy, excluding any existing paid-up additions and before deduction of any indebtedness to the company, if there had been no default, less the then present value of the nonforfeiture factors, as defined in this Act, corresponding to premiums which would have fallen due on and after the anniversary. Provided, however, that the effects on the basic cash value of supplemental life insurance or annuity benefits or of family coverage, as described in Section 3 or 5, whichever is applicable, shall be the same as the effects specified in Section 3 or 5, whichever is applicable, on the cash surrender values defined in that section.

The nonforfeiture factor for each policy year shall be an amount equal to a percentage of the adjusted premium for the policy year, as defined in Section 5 or 5c, whichever is applicable. Except as is required by the next succeeding sentence of this section, the percentage:

A. Must be the same percentage for each policy year between the second policy anniversary and the later of:

(1) The fifth policy anniversary; and

(2) The first policy anniversary at which there is available under the policy a cash surrender value in an amount, before including any paid-up additions and before deducting any indebtedness, of at least two tenths of one percent (.2%) of either the amount of insurance, if the insurance be uniform in amount, or the average amount of insurance at the beginning of each of the first ten (10) policy years; and

B. Must be such that no percentage after the later of the two policy anniversaries specified in Subsection A may apply to fewer than five (5) consecutive policy years.

Provided, that no basic cash value may be less than the value which would be obtained if the adjusted premiums for the policy, as defined in Section 5c, were substituted for the nonforfeiture factors in the calculation of the basic cash value.

All adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this section shall for a particular policy be calculated on the same mortality and interest bases as are used in demonstrating the policy's compliance with the other sections of this law. The cash surrender values referred to in this section shall include any endowment benefits provided for by the policy.

Any cash surrender value available other than in the event of default in a premium payment due on a policy anniversary, and the amount of any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment shall be determined in manners consistent with the manners specified for determining the analogous minimum amounts in Sections 2, 3, 4, 5c and 7. The amounts of any cash surrender values and of any paid-up nonforfeiture benefits granted in connection with additional benefits such as those listed as Section 7A through 7F shall conform with the principles of this section.

Section 9. Exceptions

This Act shall not apply to any of the following:

A. Reinsurance;

B. Group insurance;

C. Pure endowment;

D. Annuity or reversionary annuity contract;

E. A term policy of uniform amount, which provides no guaranteed nonforfeiture or endowment benefits, or renewal thereof, of twenty (20) years of less expiring before age seventy-one (71), for which uniform premiums are payable during the entire term of the policy;

F. A term policy of decreasing amount, which provides no guaranteed nonforfeiture or endowment benefits, on which each adjusted premium, calculated as specified in Sections 5, 5a, 5b and 5c, is less than the adjusted premium so calculated, on a term policy of uniform amount, or renewal thereof, which provides no guaranteed nonforfeiture or endowment benefits, issued at the same age and for the same initial amount of insurance and for a term of twenty (20) years or less expiring before age seventy-one (71), for which uniform premiums are payable during the entire term of the policy;

G. A policy, which provides no guaranteed nonforfeiture or endowment benefits, for which no cash surrender value, if any, or present value of any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, at the beginning of any policy year, calculated as specified in Sections 3, 4, 5, 5a, 5b and 5c, exceeds two and one-half percent (2 1/2%) of the amount of insurance at the beginning of the same policy year; nor

H. Policy which shall be delivered outside this state through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the policy.

For purposes of determining the applicability of this Act, the age at expiry for a joint term life insurance policy shall be the age at expiry of the oldest life.

Section 10. Effective Date

After the effective date of this Act, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this Act after a specified date before January 1, 1948. After the filing of such notice, then upon the specified date (which shall be the operative date for the company), this Act shall become operative with respect to the policies thereafter issued by such company. If a company makes no such election, the operative date of this Act for the company shall be January 1, 1948.

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR LIFE INSURANCE

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2013

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR LIFE INSURANCE (#808)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The project modified the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance (#808) to reflect changes necessitated by the protracted low interest environment. The nonforfeiture interest rate per annum for any policy issued in a particular calendar year is equal to 125% of the calendar-year statutory valuation interest rate for such policy as defined in the Standard Valuation Law (#820). A floor has been added to the calculation of the nonforfeiture interest rate equal to 4.00%, which is the annual effective rate used to determine the net single premium for purposes of the cash value accumulation test under Section 7702(b) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). The purpose of the floor is to ensure that, in a low-interest rate environment, traditional life insurance can continue to be issued in compliance with both state minimum nonforfeiture requirements and the maximum cash value requirements in Section 7702 of the IRC of 1986 (as amended). Life insurance contract holders that fail to comply with the requirements of IRC Section 7702 are subject to significant adverse federal income tax treatment, including current taxation of the gain on the contract.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The 2013 members of the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force are: Texas (Chair), Ohio (Vice Chair), Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

From 2002 to 2005, the Task Force was given the charge to review the Standard Valuation Law (#820) to determine if changes were necessary. In 2006, the charge was to review the Standard Valuation Law, related model regulations, and actuarial guidelines to determine if changes were necessary, particularly any that are needed to facilitate the implementation of a principle-based approach. In 2007, the request for model law development of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance (#808) was approved. A subsequent request for model law development for the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance (#808) was approved in 2013.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc.). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

An amendment proposal, including draft language, was submitted to the Task Force by the interested parties. The Task Force reviewed the proposal and made minor modifications.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The Task Force discussed the proposal April 4, 2013, at the NAIC Summer National Meeting. The Task Force held public conference calls on this topic Sept. 10, 2013, and Oct. 10, 2013. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC website and emailed to approximately 375 interested parties. A draft of the document was released for comment Sept. 10, 2013; no comments were submitted to the Task Force relative to this project.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Because of the protracted low-interest rate environment, there has been concern that the nonforfeiture interest rate would drop below 4%, resulting in traditional life insurance no longer continuing to be issued in compliance with both state minimum nonforfeiture requirements and the maximum cash value requirements in IRC Section 7702. During the Oct. 10, 2013, public conference call, a motion was made to adopt the revisions to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law (#). The motion passed unanimously by voice vote.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

The Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance (#808) is not an accreditation standard.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2012

STANDARD NONFORFEITURE LAW FOR LIFE INSURANCE (#808)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The project modified the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance to reflect changes made in 2009 to the Standard Valuation Law to enable a principle-based valuation methodology. The Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance defines an interest rate and a mortality table to be used in the calculation of minimum nonforfeiture values. The nonforfeiture interest rate was defined with reference to an interest rate determined by a formula in the Standard Valuation Law, and the changes to the mortality table would be accomplished by regulation. Under principle-based reserving the interest rate formula will not be used, and mortality table changes will be made in the Valuation Manual. The modifications to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance specify that the interest rate and the mortality table will be defined in the Valuation Manual on and after the manual is operative.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The 2012 members of the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force are: Texas (chair), Ohio (Vice Chair), Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

From 2002 to 2005 the Task Force was given the charge to review the Standard Valuation Law to determine if changes were necessary. In 2006 the charge was to review the Standard Valuation Law, related model regulations, and actuarial guidelines to determine if changes are necessary, particularly any that are needed to facilitate the implementation of a principles-based approach. In 2007 the request for model law development of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance was approved.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

Several regulators developed drafts of the required modifications. A subgroup of the Task Force was formed to made changes and made a recommendation to the Task Force. The Task Force made several modifications.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The subgroup discussed the proposal at public conference calls on this topic on the following dates: May 3, 2011; June 1, 2011; June 28, 2011; July 6, 2011; August 2, 2011; September 8, 2011; October 15, 2011; and December 13, 2011. The Task Force held public conference calls on this topic January 30, 2007; February 9, 2009; January 12, 2011; May 26, 2011; June 28, 2011; and August 30, 2011. The Task Force also discussed the modifications at National Meeting in December 2008; March, 2011; and March, 2012. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties. Drafts of the document were released for comment January 30, 2007; December 5, 2008; March 24, 2011; June 1, 2011; and August 2, 2011. Several memos and letters were submitted to the Task Force relative to this project.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Because of the current low interest rate environment there has been concern that traditional life insurance could not continue to be issued in compliance with both state minimum nonforfeiture requirements and the maximum cash value requirements in Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 7702. If the nonforfeiture interest rate would drop below 4% a traditional life insurance contract would not be able, in most cases, to comply with both state minimum nonforfeiture requirements and the maximum cash value requirements in Section 7702. The Task Force decided not to put in a requirement that the nonforfeiture interest rate could not be less than 4%.

At the Spring National Meeting in March 2012, a motion was made to adopt the revisions to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law. The motion passed with Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Utah voting yes.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

The Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance is not an accreditation standard.

NAIC PROCEDURE FOR PERMITTING SAME MINIMUM NONFORFEITURE STANDARDS FOR MEN AND WOMEN INSURED UNDER 1980 CSO AND1980 CET MORTALITY TABLES

Table of Contents

Preamble

The U.S. Supreme Court in its decision in Arizona Governing Committee v. Norris makes it illegal for an employer to make contributions after August 1, 1983 to a defined contribution pension plan if the benefits derived from those contributions differ by sex. Although there is some uncertainty as to the breadth of the Supreme Court's decision, it would seem to require that after August 1, 1983 employer pension plans may need to be funded by life insurance products that have identical nonforfeiture values for men and women. Since the 1980 CSO and 1980 CET Mortality Tables contain mortality rates that vary by both age and sex, it is very difficult if not impossible for companies to determine actual nonforfeiture values that are identical for men and women and also satisfy a sex-differentiated minimum standard. For this reason, this regulation permits the same minimum nonforfeiture standard for men and women insureds under the 1980 CSO and 1980 CET Mortality Tables.

A few background comments may be helpful in understanding the intent of this regulation.

(1) No attempt was made to define which policies and situations are covered by the Norris decision and which are not. The breadth of the Norris decision is unclear and may ultimately have to be resolved by further court decisions or federal legislation.

(2) Insurers are given flexibility to use either:

(a) The existing tables with mortality rates that vary by age and sex; or

(b) Tables of mortality rates which are a blend of the male and female mortality rates.

(3) No change is made in minimum valuation standards, since these do not involve a contractual relationship between the insurer and its policyholder clients and the Supreme Court did not address state statutory valuation standards.

(4) Section 5 is included to make it clear that an insurer that issues the same kind of policy on a sex-distinct basis in some circumstances and on a sex-neutral basis in others shall not be deemed to be in violation of the state unfair discrimination laws.

(5) The effective date is August 1, 1983, the date the judgment in the Norris decision became effective.

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated by the commissioner of insurance pursuant to Section [insert reference to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] of the [insert state] Insurance Laws.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of the regulation is to permit individual life insurance policies to provide the same cash values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits to both men and women. No change in minimum valuation standards is implied by this regulation.

Section 3. Definition

A. As used in this regulation, "1980 CSO Table, with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factor" means that mortality table, consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee to Recommend New Mortality Tables for Valuation of Standard Individual Ordinary Life Insurance, incorporated in the 1980 National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) amendments to the model Standard Valuation Law and Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and referred to in those models as the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table, With or Without Ten-Year Mortality Factors.

B. As used in this regulation, "1980 CSO Table (M), With or Without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for male lives from the 1980 CSO Table, With or Without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors.

C. As used in this regulation, "1980 CSO Table (F), With or Without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for female lives from the 1980 CSO Table, With or Without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors.

D. As used in this regulation, "1980 CET Table" means that mortality table consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee to Recommend New Mortality Tables for Valuation of Standard Individual Ordinary Life Insurance, incorporated in the 1980 NAIC amendments to the model Standard Valuation Law and Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and referred to in those models as the Commissioners 1980 Extended Term Insurance Table.

E. As used in this regulation, "1980 CET Table (M)" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for male lives from the 1980 CET Table.

F. As used in this regulation, "1980 CET Table (F)" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for female lives from the 1980 CET Table.

G. As used in this regulation, "1980 CSO and 1980 CET Smoker and Nonsmoker Mortality Tables" mean the mortality tables with separate rates of mortality for smokers and nonsmokers derived from the 1980 CSO and 1980 CET Mortality Tables by the Society of Actuaries Task Force on Smoker/Nonsmoker Mortality and adopted by the NAIC in December 1983.

Section 4. Rule

A. For a policy of insurance on the life of either a male or female insured delivered or issued for delivery in this state after the operative date of Section [insert applicable reference corresponding to Section 5cK of the NAIC model Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] for that policy form, for use in determining minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits:

(1) A mortality table that is a blend of the 1980 CSO Table (M) and the 1980 CSO Table (F) With or Without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors may, at the option of the company, be substituted for the 1980 CSO Table, With or Without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors; and

(2) A mortality table that is of the same blend as used in Paragraph (1) but applied to form a blend of the 1980 CET Table (M) and the 1980 CET Table (F) may at the option of the company be substituted for the 1980 CET Table.

B. The following tables will be considered as the basis for acceptable tables:

(1) 100% Male 0% Female for tables to be designated as the "1980 CSO-A" and "1980 CET-A" tables.

(2) 80% Male 20% Female for tables to be designated as the "1980 CSO-B" and "1980 CET-B" tables.

(3) 60% Male 40% Female for tables to be designated as the "1980 CSO-C" and "1980 CET-C" tables.

(4) 50% Male 50% Female for tables to be designated as the "1980 CSO-D" and "1980 CET-D" tables.

(5) 40% Male 60% Female for tables to be designated as the "1980 CSO-E" and "1980 CET-E" tables.

(6) 20% Male 80% Female for tables to be designated as the "1980 CSO-F" and "1980 CET-F" tables.

(7) 0% Male 100% Female for tables to be designated as the "1980 CSO-G" and "1980 CET-G" tables.

Drafting Note: For blended tables, see 1984 Proceedings of the NAIC, Vol. I, pages 396 to 400.

C. Tables (1) and (7) are not to be used with respect to policies issued on or after January 1, 1985 except where the proportion of persons insured is anticipated to be ninety-percent (90%) or more of one sex or the other or except for certain policies converted from group insurance. Group conversions issued on or after January 1, 1986 must use mortality tables based on the blend of lives by sex expected for the policies if the group conversions are considered as extensions of the Norris decision. This consideration has not been clearly defined by court or legislative action in all jurisdictions.

Section 4A. Alternate Rule

A. In determining minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits for a policy of insurance on the life of either a male or female insured on a form of insurance with separate rates for smokers and nonsmokers delivered or issued for delivery in this state after the operative date of Section [insert applicable reference corresponding to Section 5cK of the NAIC model Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] for that policy form, in addition to the mortality tables that may be used according to Section 4, the following may, at the option of the company, be substituted for the 1980 CET Table:

(1) A mortality table that is a blend of the male and female rates of mortality according to the 1980 CSO Smoker Mortality Table, in the case of lives classified as smokers, or the 1980 CSO Nonsmoker Mortality Table, in the case of lives classified as nonsmokers, With or Without ten-year Select Mortality Factors, may at the option of the company be substituted for the 1980 CSO Table, With or Without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors; and

(2) A mortality table that is of the same blend as used in Paragraph (1) but applied to form a blend of the male and female rates of mortality according to the corresponding 1980 CET Smoker Mortality Table or 1980 CET Nonsmoker Mortality Table.

B. The following blended mortality tables will be considered acceptable:

SA: 100% Male 0% Female smoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-SA" and "1980 CET-SA" Tables.

SB: 80% Male 20% Female smoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-SB" and "1980 CET-SB" Tables.

SC: 60% Male 40% Female smoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-SC" and "1980 CET-SC" Tables.

SD: 50% Male 50% Female smoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-SD" and "1980 CET-SD" Tables.

SE: 40% Male 60% Female smoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-SE" and "1980 CET-SE" Tables.

SF: 20% Male 80% Female smoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-SF" and "1980 CET-SF" Tables.

SG: 0% Male 100% Female smoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-SG" and "1980 CET-SG" Tables.

NA: 100% Male 0% Female nonsmoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-NA" and "1980 CET-NA" Tables.

NB: 80% Male 20% Female nonsmoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-NB" and "1980 CET-NB" Tables.

NC: 60% Male 40% Female nonsmoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-NC" and "1980 CET-NC" Tables.

ND: 50% Male 50% Female nonsmoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-ND" and "1980 CET-ND" Tables.

NE: 40% Male 60% Female nonsmoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-NE" and "1980 CET-NE" Tables.

NF: 20% Male 80% Female nonsmoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-NF" and "1980 CET-NF" Tables.

NG: 0% Male 100% Female nonsmoker tables designated as "1980 CSO-NG" and "1980 CET-NG" Tables.

C. Tables SA, SG, NA and NG are not acceptable as blended tables unless the proportion of persons insured is anticipated to be ninety-percent (90%) or more of one sex or the other.

Section 5. Unfair Discrimination

It shall not be a violation of [insert applicable reference to unfair trade practices statute] for an insurer to issue the same kind of policy of life insurance on both a sex-distinct and sex-neutral basis.

Section 6. Separability

If any provision of this regulation or its application to any person or circumstance is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the regulation and the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected.

Section 7. Effective Date

The effective date of this regulation is August 1, 1983 to comply with the Norris decision.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

NAIC MODEL RULE (REGULATION) PERMITTING SMOKER/NONSMOKER MORTALITY TABLES FOR USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES AND NONFORFEITURE BENEFITS

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This rule is promulgated by the Commissioner of Insurance pursuant to Section [insert applicable reference to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] of the [insert state] Insurance Laws.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of the rule is to permit the use of mortality tables that reflect differences in mortality between smokers and nonsmokers in determining minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits for plans of insurance with separate premium rates for smokers and nonsmokers.

Section 3. Definitions

A. As used in this rule, "1980 CSO Table, with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factor" means that mortality table, consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee to Recommend New Mortality Tables for Valuation of Standard Individual Ordinary Life Insurance, incorporated in the 1980 NAIC Amendments to the Model Standard Valuation Law and Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and referred to in those models as the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table, with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors. The same select factors will be used for both smokers and nonsmokers tables.

B. As used in this rule, "1980 CET Table means that mortality table consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee to Recommend New Mortality Tables for Valuation of Standard Individual Ordinary Life Insurance, incorporated in the 1980 NAIC Amendments to the Model Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and referred to in those models as the Commissioners 1980 Extended Term Insurance Table.

C. As used in this rule, "1958 CSO Table" means that mortality table developed by the Society of Actuaries Special Committee on New Mortality Tables, incorporated in the NAIC Model Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and referred to in that model as the Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table.

D. As used in this rule, "1958 CET Table" means that mortality table developed by the Society of Actuaries Special Committee on New Mortality Tables, incorporated in the NAIC Model Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and referred to in that model as the Commissioners 1958 Extended Term Insurance Table.

E. As used in this rule, the phrase "smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables" refers to the mortality tables with separate rates of mortality for smokers and nonsmokers derived from the tables defined in A through D of this section which were developed by the Society of Actuaries Task Force on Smoker/Nonsmoker Mortality and the California Insurance Department staff and recommended by the NAIC Technical Staff Actuarial Group.

F. As used in this rule, the phrase "composite mortality tables" refers to the mortality tables defined in A through D of this section as they were originally published with rates of mortality that do not distinguish between smokers and nonsmokers.

Note: See 1984 Proceedings of the NAIC, Vol. I, pages 402-413 for tables.

Section 4. Alternate Tables

A. For any policy of insurance delivered or issued for delivery in this state after the operative date of Section [insert applicable reference corresponding to 5cK of the NAIC Model Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] for that policy form and before January 1, 1989, at the option of the company and subject to the conditions stated in Section 5 of this rule,

(1) The 1958 CSO Smoker and Nonsmoker Mortality Tables may be substituted for the 1980 CSO Table, with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors; and for use in determining minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

(2) The 1958 CET Smoker and Nonsmoker Mortality Tables may be substituted for the 1980 CET Table.

Provided that for any category of insurance issued on female lives with minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits determined using the 1958 CSO or 1958 CET Smoker and Nonsmoker Mortality Tables, such minimum values may be calculated according to an age not more than six (6) years younger than the actual age of the insured.

Provided further that the substitution of the 1958 CSO or 1958 CET Smoker and Nonsmoker Mortality Tables is available only if made for each policy of insurance on a policy form delivered or issued for delivery on or after the operative date for that policy form and before a date not later than January 1, 1989.

B. For any policy of insurance delivered or issued for delivery in this state after the operative date of Section [insert applicable reference corresponding to 5cK of the NAIC Model Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] for that policy form, at the option of the company and subject to the conditions stated in Section 5 of this rule,

(1) The 1980 CSO Smoker and Nonsmoker Mortality Tables, with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors, may be substituted for the 1980 CSO Table, with or without Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors; and for use in determining minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

(2) The 1980 CET Smoker and Nonsmoker Mortality Tables may be substituted for the 1980 CET Table.

Section 5. Conditions

For each plan of insurance with separate rates for smokers and nonsmokers an insurer may

A. Use composite mortality tables to determine minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits;

B. Use smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables to determine the valuation net premiums and additional minimum reserves, if any, required by Section [insert applicable reference corresponding to Section 7 of the NAIC Model Standard Valuation Law] and use composite mortality tables to determine the basic minimum reserves, minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits; or

C. Use smoker and nonsmoker mortality to determine minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

Section 6. Separability

If any provision of this rule or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the regulation and the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Section 7. Effective Date

The effective date of this rule is January 1, 1984.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

RECOGNITION OF THE 2001 CSO MORTALITY TABLE FOR USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES AND NONFORFEITURE BENEFITS MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated by the Commissioner of Insurance pursuant to Sections [insert applicable references to Section 4A(c) of the Standard Valuation Law and Section 5cH(6) of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] of the [insert state] Insurance Laws and Sections [insert applicable references to Sections 5A and 5B of the Valuation of Life Insurance Model Regulation] of the [insert state] Insurance Regulations.

Drafting Note: The reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation should be omitted by states that have not adopted that model.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to recognize, permit and prescribe the use of the 2001 Commissioners Standard Ordinary (CSO) Mortality Table in accordance with [insert applicable references to Section 4A(c) of the Standard Valuation Law and Section 5cH(6) of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance] of the [insert state] Insurance Laws and Sections [insert applicable references to Sections 5A and 5B of the Valuation of Life Insurance Model Regulation] of the [insert state] Insurance Regulations.

Section 3. Definitions

A. "2001 CSO Mortality Table" means that mortality table, consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the American Academy of Actuaries CSO Task Force from the Valuation Basic Mortality Table developed by the Society of Actuaries Individual Life Insurance Valuation Mortality Task Force, and adopted by the NAIC in December 2002. The 2001 CSO Mortality Table is included in the Proceedings of the NAIC (2nd Quarter 2002). Unless the context indicates otherwise, the "2001 CSO Mortality Table" includes both the ultimate form of that table and the select and ultimate form of that table and includes both the smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables and the composite mortality tables. It also includes both the age-nearest-birthday and age-last-birthday bases of the mortality tables.

B. "2001 CSO Mortality Table (F)" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for female lives from the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

C. "2001 CSO Mortality Table (M)" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for male lives from the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

D. "Composite mortality tables" means mortality tables with rates of mortality that do not distinguish between smokers and nonsmokers.

E. "Smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables" means mortality tables with separate rates of mortality for smokers and nonsmokers.

Section 4. 2001 CSO Mortality Table

A. At the election of the company for any one or more specified plans of insurance and subject to the conditions stated in this regulation, the 2001 CSO Mortality Table may be used as the minimum standard for policies issued on or after January 1, 200[_] [insert January 1 of the year next following or coincident with the effective date of this regulation] and before the date specified in Subsection B to which [insert applicable references to Section 4A(c) of the Standard Valuation Law, Section 5cH(6) of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and Sections 5A and 5B of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] are applicable. If the company elects to use the 2001 CSO Mortality Table, it shall do so for both valuation and nonforfeiture purposes.

B. Subject to the conditions stated in this regulation, the 2001 CSO Mortality Table shall be used in determining minimum standards for policies issued on and after January 1, 2009, to which [insert applicable references to Section 4A(c) of the Standard Valuation Law, Section 5cH(6) of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance, and Sections 5A and 5B of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] are applicable.

Drafting Note: States should note that there is no new Commissioners Extended Term (CET) Table being proposed to replace the 1980 CET Table. Therefore, the new minimum basis for the computation of values related to extended term benefits will be the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

Section 5. Conditions

A. For each plan of insurance with separate rates for smokers and nonsmokers an insurer may use:

(1) Composite mortality tables to determine minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits;

(2) Smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables to determine the valuation net premiums and additional minimum reserves, if any, required by Section [insert applicable reference corresponding to Section 8 of the NAIC Model Standard Valuation Law] and use composite mortality tables to determine the basic minimum reserves, minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits; or

(3) Smoker and nonsmoker mortality to determine minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

B. For plans of insurance without separate rates for smokers and nonsmokers the composite mortality tables shall be used.

C. For the purpose of determining minimum reserve liabilities and minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits, the 2001 CSO Mortality Table may, at the option of the company for each plan of insurance, be used in its ultimate or select and ultimate form, subject to the restrictions of Section 6 and [insert applicable reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] relative to use of the select and ultimate form.

D. When the 2001 CSO Mortality Table is the minimum reserve standard for any plan for a company, the actuarial opinion in the annual statement filed with the commissioner shall be based on an asset adequacy analysis as specified in Sections [insert applicable references to Section 5A of the Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Regulation] of the [insert state] Insurance Regulations. A commissioner may exempt a company from this requirement if it only does business in this state and in no other state.

Section 6. Applicability of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table to [insert applicable reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation]

A. The 2001 CSO Mortality Table may be used in applying [insert applicable reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] in the following manner, subject to the transition dates for use of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table in Section 4 of this regulation (unless otherwise noted, the references in this section are to the [insert applicable reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation]):

(1) Section 3A(2)(b): The net level reserve premium is based on the ultimate mortality rates in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

(2) Section 4B: All calculations are made using the 2001 CSO Mortality Rate, and, if elected, the optional minimum mortality standard for deficiency reserves stipulated in Section 6A(4) of this regulation. The value of "$q_{x+k+t-1}$" is the valuation mortality rate for deficiency reserves in policy year k+t, but using the unmodified select mortality rates if modified select mortality rates are used in the computation of deficiency reserves.

(3) Section 5A: The 2001 CSO Mortality Table is the minimum standard for basic reserves.

(4) Section 5B: The 2001 CSO Mortality Table is the minimum standard for deficiency reserves. If select mortality rates are used, they may be multiplied by X percent for durations in the first segment, subject to the conditions specified in Sections 5B(3)(a) to (i). In demonstrating compliance with those conditions, the demonstrations may not combine the results of tests that utilize the 1980 CSO Mortality Table with those tests that utilize the 2001 CSO Mortality Table, unless the combination is explicitly required by regulation or necessary to be in compliance with relevant Actuarial Standards of Practice.

(5) Section 6C: The valuation mortality table used in determining the tabular cost of insurance shall be the ultimate mortality rates in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

(6) Section 6E(4): The calculations specified in Section 6E shall use the ultimate mortality rates in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

(7) Section 6F(4): The calculations specified in Section 6F shall use the ultimate mortality rates in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

(8) Section 6G(2): The calculations specified in Section 6G shall use the ultimate mortality rates in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

(9) Section 7A(1)(b): The one-year valuation premium shall be calculated using the ultimate mortality rates in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

B. Nothing in this section shall be construed to expand the applicability of [insert applicable reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] to include life insurance policies exempted under Section 3A of [insert applicable reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] (#830).

Drafting Note: This section should be omitted by states that have not adopted the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation (#830).

Section 7. Gender-Blended Tables

A. For any ordinary life insurance policy delivered or issued for delivery in this state on and after January 1, 200[_] [insert same date as in Section 4A], that utilizes the same premium rates and charges for male and female lives or is issued in circumstances where applicable law does not permit distinctions on the basis of gender, a mortality table that is a blend of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table (M) and the 2001 CSO Mortality Table (F) may, at the option of the company for each plan of insurance, be substituted for the 2001 CSO Mortality Table for use in determining minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits. No change in minimum valuation standards is implied by this subsection of the regulation.

B. The company may choose from among the blended tables developed by the American Academy of Actuaries CSO Task Force and adopted by the NAIC in December 2002.

C. It shall not, in and of itself, be a violation of [insert applicable reference to unfair trade practices statute] for an insurer to issue the same kind of policy of life insurance on both a sex-distinct and sex-neutral basis.

Section 8. Separability

If any provision of this regulation or its application to any person or circumstance is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the regulation and the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected.

Section 9. Effective Date

The effective date of this regulation is [insert date].

PROJECT HISTORY – 2002

RECOGNITION OF THE 2001 CSO MORTALITY TABLE FOR USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES AND NONFORFEITURE BENEFITS MODEL REGULATION (#814)

1. What issues was the project intended to address?

Over the last four years, the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force has worked with the American Academy of Actuaries and the Society of Actuaries in the development of the 2001 Commissioners Standard Ordinary Mortality Table. The table will replace the 1980 CSO table as the minimum standard in the calculation of reserves and nonforfeiture values for life insurance policies. The purpose in developing the model is to provide states the regulatory language to implement the new table.

2. What states participated in drafting the model?

The following states are currently members of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force: New Mexico (Chair), Arkansas (Vice-Chair), California, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah, and Washington.

3. When was the charge given to the task force, and what was the nature of the charge?

The following charge was formally given to the task force in 1999: "Work with the Society of Actuaries in the development of new mortality, annuity, and accidental death benefit mortality tables." Work on a new mortality table was given top priority. Also, the American Academy of Actuaries was a very significant participant in the project.

4. What general procedure was followed in drafting the model? What efforts were made to assure that all interested parties were provided an opportunity to comment during the drafting process?

The efforts of the task force were closely coordinated with all industry interested parties, with respect to the development of both the table and the model. In addition to open sessions at the quarterly meetings of the NAIC, numerous conference calls were held over the last several years to discuss the various drafts of the documents. Notice of those conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 200 interested parties, including representatives of the American Council of Life Insurers, the National Alliance of Life Companies, and the National Fraternal Congress of America.

This excerpt from the final report of the American Academy of Actuaries' Commissioner Standard Ordinary Task Force provides additional information on the process by which the table was developed. During this process there were extensive communications between the Society and Academy committees and the task force. All facets of the table were thoroughly reviewed with the task force prior to its completion.

> The current statutory valuation standard, the 1980 CSO Table, is more than 20 years old. As is shown in this report, current mortality levels, represented by the 2001 Valuation Basic Table, are lower than the mortality levels underlying the 1980 CSO Table. The current valuation mortality standard produces reserves, excluding deficiency reserves, that overall are higher for the illustrated model office than those produced by the proposed 2001 CSO Table.
> At the request of the LHATF, both the SOA and the Academy have worked to develop a proposed mortality table intended to replace the 1980 CSO Table in the current statutory valuation structure. While the Academy's Life Practice Council believes that a move to a valuation system that provides more actuarial flexibility and responsibility to set reserves that reflect individual company characteristics is desirable, we recognize that a new table is appropriate.
> The SOA and the Academy divided this work into two pieces: the construction of a valuation basic experience table, and the development of an appropriately loaded valuation table. The first part of this work was completed by the SOA's Individual Life Insurance Valuation Mortality Research Task Force (SOA Task Force). This group developed the 2001 VBT, a graduated experience table suitable for use as the basis for a valuation table. The second part was done by the Academy Task Force, which, with guidance and direction from the LHATF, developed the loads and reviewed the resulting reserves described in this report.

These two groups have developed the proposed 2001 CSO Table—a table that is appropriate as a replacement for the 1980 CSO Table. This proposed 2001 CSO Table is shown in Appendix A. Separate nonsmoker, smoker, and composite nonsmoker/smoker tables were developed for males and females for a total of six tables. Each table has values for a 25-year select period and for ultimate ages.

The proposed 2001 CSO Table is intended to provide a minimum standard for the valuation of standard ordinary life insurance. However, this standard may not produce adequate reserves in all cases. In addition, since the table is intended only for valuation, the use of this table may not be appropriate for pricing or for other pricing related purposes.

5. What significant issues were raised during the drafting process, and how were those issues resolved?

The process by which the table was developed is reviewed in Item #4. The following are three key issues that were addressed in developing the model:

A) Should a higher mortality standard than the table be used for certain types of business?

The following types of business were not included in the experience studies used to develop the table: guaranteed issue, simplified issue, substandard, ETI, and reduced paid up. Concerns were expressed that the table might not be adequate to cover the mortality levels typically exhibited by these types of business. Some consideration was given to requiring the use of either the 1980 CSO Table or some multiple of the 2001 CSO Table in the valuation of these products. Ultimately, these approaches were not incorporated into the model, primarily due to a) differences among companies as to what is regarded as "guaranteed issue," "simplified issue," and "substandard," and b) uncertainties regarding the tax consequences. Instead, the following provision was included in the model to provide additional assurance of adequate reserves:

> When the 2001 CSO Mortality Table is the minimum reserve standard for any plan for a company, the actuarial opinion in the annual statement filed with the commissioner shall be based on an asset adequacy analysis as specified in Sections [insert applicable references to Section 5A of the Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Regulation] of the [insert state] Insurance Regulations. A commissioner may exempt a company from this requirement if it only does business in this state and in no other state.

B) Should different mortality standards be permitted in the calculation of basic and deficiency reserves?

As codified in The Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation ("XXX"), actuaries are currently permitted to use different mortality bases in the calculation of basic and deficiency reserves. Often, basic reserves are calculated using ultimate mortality, while deficiency reserves incorporate select mortality modified by "X-factors." Concerns were raised regarding the actuarial appropriateness of this practice, and some suggestions were made that the model prohibits this. In particular, this excerpt from the 1981 Transactions of the Society of Actuaries (Volume XXXIII) on the development of the 1980 CSO Table appears to support the use of a single mortality basis:

> It was originally indicated that the committee would develop only ultimate tables. However, because of the growing concern over deficiency reserve problems for certain plans of life insurance, Ten-Year Selection Factors have been developed and endorsed by the NAIC. These factors are for use in conjunction with 1980 CSO Tables as an alternative minimum standard for both valuation and deficiency reserves on a plan-by-plan basis. Companies would have the option of using 1980 CSO rates or applying selection factors to 1980 CSO rates. The basis chosen for a particular plan should be used to value both the basic life insurance reserve and the deficiency reserves.

In drafting the final version of the model, the task force decided to leave the approach codified in XXX unchanged. The view of the members is that it would be too disruptive of the long-standing actuarial practice to implement such a significant change. However, it should be noted that one component of achieving this consensus was the assurance that a provision requiring asset adequacy testing would be included in the model (that provision is shown in Item "A" above).

C) Should limitations be place on the use of gender-blended mortality tables for nonforfeiture purposes?

Use of gender-blended mortality tables in computing nonforfeiture values is currently authorized in the "NAIC Procedure for Permitting Same Nonforfeiture Standards for Men and Women Insured Under 1980 CSO and 1980 CET Mortality Tables." That model gives insurers a great deal of latitude in deciding when to use gender blended tables, as described in this excerpt from that model:

> (1) No attempt was made to define which policies and situations are covered by the Norris decision and which are not. The breadth of the Norris decision is unclear and may ultimately have to be resolved by further court decisions or federal legislation.
> (2) Insurers are given flexibility to use either:
> (a) The existing tables with mortality rates that vary by age and sex; or
> (b) Tables of mortality rates, which are a blend of the male and female mortality rates.

Some task force members raised concerns that this language is so broad that gender-blended tables can be used in situations that are clearly beyond the scope of the decision in Arizona Governing Committee v. Norris. In response to those concerns, the task force included language in the model that describes the general circumstances in which gender-blended tables may be used (underline added):

> For any ordinary life insurance policy delivered or issued for delivery in this state on and after January 1, 200[_] [insert same date as in Section 4A], that utilizes the same premium rates and charges for male and female lives or is issued in circumstances where applicable law does not permit distinctions on the basis of gender, a mortality table that is a blend of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table (M) and the 2001 CSO Mortality Table (F) may, at the option of the company for each plan of insurance, be substituted for the 2001 CSO Mortality Table for use in determining minimum cash surrender values and amounts of paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

6. What are the implications of this project for accreditation and codification?

The task force notes that the 2001 CSO Table represents a significant new mortality standard, which should be reviewed by the accreditation and codification committees.

MODEL REGULATION PERMITTING THE RECOGNITION OF PREFERRED MORTALITY TABLES FOR USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated by the Commissioner of Insurance pursuant to Sections [insert applicable references to Section 4A(c) of the Standard Valuation Law and Sections [insert applicable references to Sections 5A and 5B of the Valuation of Life Insurance Model Regulation] of the [insert state] Insurance Regulations.

Drafting Note: The reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation should be omitted by states that have not adopted that model.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to recognize, permit and prescribe the use of mortality tables that reflect differences in mortality between preferred and standard lives in determining minimum reserve liabilities in accordance with [insert applicable references to Section 4A(c) of the Standard Valuation Law and Sections [insert applicable references to Sections 5A and 5B of the Valuation of Life Insurance Model Regulation] of the [insert state] Insurance Regulations.

Section 3. Definitions

A. "2001 CSO Mortality Table" means that mortality table, consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the American Academy of Actuaries CSO Task Force from the Valuation Basic Mortality Table developed by the Society of Actuaries Individual Life Insurance Valuation Mortality Task Force, and adopted by the NAIC in December 2002. The 2001 CSO Mortality Table is included in the Proceedings of the NAIC (2nd Quarter 2002) and supplemented by the 2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Mortality Table defined below in Subsection B. Unless the context indicates otherwise, the "2001 CSO Mortality Table" includes both the ultimate form of that table and the select and ultimate form of that table and includes both the smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables and the composite mortality tables. It also includes both the age-nearest-birthday and age-last-birthday bases of the mortality tables. Mortality tables in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table include the following:

(1) "2001 CSO Mortality Table (F)" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for female lives from the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

(2) "2001 CSO Mortality Table (M)" means that mortality table consisting of the rates of mortality for male lives from the 2001 CSO Mortality Table.

(3) "Composite mortality tables" means mortality tables with rates of mortality that do not distinguish between smokers and nonsmokers.

(4) "Smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables" means mortality tables with separate rates of mortality for smokers and nonsmokers.

B. "2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Mortality Table" means mortality tables with separate rates of mortality for super preferred nonsmokers, preferred nonsmokers, residual standard nonsmokers, preferred smokers, and residual standard smoker splits of the 2001 CSO Nonsmoker and Smoker Tables, as adopted by the NAIC at the September, 2006 national meeting and published in the NAIC Proceedings {3rd Quarter 2006}. Unless the context indicates otherwise, the "2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Mortality Table" includes both the ultimate form of that table and the select and ultimate form of that table. It includes both the smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables. It includes both the male and female mortality tables and the gender composite mortality tables. It also includes both the age-nearest-birthday and age-last-birthday bases of the mortality table.

C. "Statistical agent" means an entity with proven systems for protecting the confidentiality of individual insured and insurer information; demonstrated resources for and history of ongoing electronic communications and data transfer ensuring data integrity with insurers, which are its members or subscribers; and a history of and means for aggregation of data and accurate promulgation of the experience modifications in a timely manner.

Section 4. 2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Table

At the election of the company, for each calendar year of issue, for any one or more specified plans of insurance and subject to satisfying the conditions stated in this regulation, the 2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Mortality Table may be substituted in place of the 2001 CSO Smoker or Nonsmoker Mortality Table as the minimum valuation standard for policies issued on or after January 1, 2007. For policies issued on or after [insert the effective date of adoption of the NAIC Model Regulation 814, Recognition of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table for Use in Determining Minimum Reserve Liabilities and Nonforfeiture Benefits], and prior to January 1, 2007, these tables may be substituted with the consent of the commissioner and subject to the conditions of Section 5. In determining such consent, the commissioner may rely on the consent of the commissioner of the company's state of domicile. No such election shall be made until the company demonstrates at least 20% of the business to be valued on this table is in one or more of the preferred classes. A table from the 2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Mortality Table used in place of a 2001 CSO Mortality Table, pursuant to the requirements of this rule, will be treated as part of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table only for purposes of reserve valuation pursuant to the requirements of the NAIC model regulation, "Recognition of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table For Use In Determining Minimum Reserve Liabilities And Nonforfeiture Benefits Model Regulation."

Section 5. Conditions

A. For each plan of insurance with separate rates for preferred and standard nonsmoker lives, an insurer may use the super preferred nonsmoker, preferred nonsmoker, and residual standard nonsmoker tables to substitute for the nonsmoker mortality table found in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table to determine minimum reserves. At the time of election and annually thereafter, except for business valued under the residual standard nonsmoker table, the appointed actuary shall certify that:

(1) The present value of death benefits over the next ten years after the valuation date, using the anticipated mortality experience without recognition of mortality improvement beyond the valuation date for each class, is less than the present value of death benefits using the valuation basic table corresponding to the valuation table being used for that class.

(2) The present value of death benefits over the future life of the contracts, using anticipated mortality experience without recognition of mortality improvement beyond the valuation date for each class, is less than the present value of death benefits using the valuation basic table corresponding to the valuation table being used for that class.

B. For each plan of insurance with separate rates for preferred and standard smoker lives, an insurer may use the preferred smoker and residual standard smoker tables to substitute for the smoker mortality table found in the 2001 CSO Mortality Table to determine minimum reserves. At the time of election and annually thereafter, for business valued under the preferred smoker table, the appointed actuary shall certify that:

(1) The present value of death benefits over the next ten years after the valuation date, using the anticipated mortality experience without recognition of mortality improvement beyond the valuation date for each class, is less than the present value of death benefits using the preferred smoker valuation basic table corresponding to the valuation table being used for that class.

(2) The present value of death benefits over the future life of the contracts, using anticipated mortality experience without recognition of mortality improvement beyond the valuation date for each class, is less than the present value of death benefits using the preferred smoker valuation basic table.

C. Unless exempted by the commissioner, every authorized insurer using the 2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Table shall annually file with the commissioner, with the NAIC, or with a statistical agent designated by the NAIC and acceptable to the commissioner, statistical reports showing mortality and such other information as the commissioner may deem necessary or expedient for the administration of the provisions of this regulation. The form of the reports shall be established by the commissioner or the commissioner may require the use of a form established by the NAIC or by a statistical agent designated by the NAIC and acceptable to the commissioner.

D. The use of the 2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Table for the valuation of policies issued prior to January 1, 2007 shall not be permitted in any statutory financial statement in which a company reports, with respect to any policy or portion of a policy coinsured, either of the following:

(1) In cases where the mode of payment of the reinsurance premium is less frequent than the mode of payment of the policy premium, a reserve credit that exceeds, by more than the amount specified in this paragraph as Y, the gross reserve calculated before reinsurance. Y is the amount of the gross reinsurance premium that (a) provides coverage for the period from the next policy premium due date to the earlier of the end of the policy year and the next reinsurance premium due date, and (b) would be refunded to the ceding entity upon the termination of the policy.

(2) In cases where the mode of payment of the reinsurance premium is more frequent than the mode of payment of the policy premium, a reserve credit that is less than the gross reserve, calculated before reinsurance, by an amount that is less than the amount specified in this paragraph as Z. Z is the amount of the gross reinsurance premium that the ceding entity would need to pay the assuming company to provide reinsurance coverage from the period of the next reinsurance premium due date to the next policy premium due date minus any liability established for the proportionate amount not remitted to the reinsurer.

For purposes of this condition, the reserve (i) for the mean reserve method shall be defined as the mean reserve minus the deferred premium asset, and (ii) for the mid-terminal reserve method shall include the unearned premium reserve. A company may estimate and adjust its accounting on an aggregate basis in order to meet the conditions to use the 2001 CSO Preferred Class Structure Table.

Section 6. Separability

If any provision of this regulation or its application to any person or circumstance is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the regulation and the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected.

Section 7. Effective Date

The effective date of this regulation is January 1, 2007.

MODEL REGULATION PERMITTING THE RECOGNITION OF PREFERRED MORTALITY TABLES FOR USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

MODEL REGULATION PERMITTING THE RECOGNITION OF PREFERRED MORTALITY TABLES FOR USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2009

MODEL REGULATION PERMITTING THE RECOGNITION OF PREFERRED MORTALITY TABLES FOR USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES (#815)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The project was to allow the 2001 CSO preferred mortality tables to be used with contracts based on the 2001 CSO and issued prior to January 1, 2007, with commissioner approval.

The proposed model regulation was expanded to include the use of 1980 CSO for determining minimum nonforfeiture benefits in addition to valuing reserves.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The 2009 members of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are: Kansas (chair), South Carolina (Vice Chair), Alaska, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Hawaii, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The initial charge was given to the Task Force in November 2008, by the Capital and Surplus Relief (EX) Working Group to consider the proposal from the American Council of Life Insurers. The proposal was rejected by the Executive Committee in January 2009. At the 2009 Commissioner Conference the Task Force was again charged with reviewing the proposal.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The initial drafts were provided by the American Council of Life Insurers. A subgroup of the Task Force made changes and made a recommendation to the Task Force. The Task Force made several modifications.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The subgroup discussed the proposal at public conference calls on this topic on the following dates: March 27, 2009; March 31, 2009; April 7, 2009; April 14, 2009; April 21, 2009; and April 28, 2009. The Task Force held a public conference call on this topic on May 4, 2009. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties. Drafts of the document were released for comment on December 23, 2008, and May 4, 2009. Several memos and letters were submitted to the Task Force relative to this project. Most urged not including the deferred premium asset in the model regulation. Due to the urgency of the situation addressed by the proposed model regulation and with encouragement from interested parties, the Task Force voted unanimously to adopt the model regulation with amendments on June 3, 2009, without an additional 30-day exposure period.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Issue #1 – Does the item provide relief without compromising regulatory objectives; the Task Force decided reserves for certain policies issued on a preferred basis may be overly conservative and that the reserves calculated under the 2001 CSO preferred mortality tables are adequate (assuming appropriate use of the tables) and therefore that this action may not compromise regulatory objectives.

Issue #2 – Accounting Treatment of the Reinsurance Deferred Premium Asset. Although the reserves for certain policies may be overly conservative, the Task Force decided some companies may already be addressing the overly conservative reserves through a questionable reinsurance accounting practice. For these companies, it would be ill-advised to allow them to further reduce reserves.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

Although the Task Force adopted the model regulation without an additional 30-day exposure period for the revised transition rules, the model regulation is exposed for comment while awaiting action from the "A" Committee with comments forwarded to the "A" Committee staff support. The proposed model regulation is expected to have 30 days of exposure before being presented to the NAIC Executive and Plenary.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2006

MODEL REGULATION PERMITTING THE RECOGNITION OF PREFERRED MORTALITY TABLES FOR THE USE IN DETERMINING MINIMUM RESERVE LIABILITIES (#815)

Project Description

The proposed model regulation is connected with amendments to Actuarial Guideline XXXVIII (AG 38). The proposed changes in AG 38 benefited companies that wrote certain types of whole life policies. The proposed model regulation was intended to maintain the balance between whole life and term life insurance.

AG 38 was adopted by the NAIC in 2002 to address questions that arose regarding the appropriate application of the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation (often referred to as "XXX"). Section 8B was a temporary interpretation applicable to certain universal life policies issued between July 1, 2005, and March 31, 2007. These policies contained guarantees that the coverage would remain in force as long as the accumulation of premiums paid satisfies the secondary guarantee requirement. The drafting note of this section states:

> The "sunset" on April 1, 2007, creates a sense of urgency that will drive all concerned to work towards the quick development of a "principles-based" valuation methodology or, as an interim step while continuing to work on such methodology, to adopt a more readily achievable solution that provides relief from overly conservative reserve levels such as a change to valuation mortality requirements.

Although the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force (LHATF) has continued to work towards the quick development of a "principles-based" valuation methodology, such a methodology could not be developed and effective prior to the sunset. There was a need for an interim solution. On November 11, 2005, the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI) submitted a letter to LHATF proposing an interim solution, which included amendments to AG 38 and a model regulation that would permit the use of preferred mortality tables based on a split of the 2001 Commissioners Standard Ordinary Mortality Table (2001 CSO). On December 1, 2005, the ACLI formally presented its proposal to LHATF at the National Meeting.

Group Responsible for Drafting Model and States Participating

The ACLI prepared and presented the draft of the revision to the Actuarial Guideline.

The 2006 members of the Task Force are: New Mexico (Chair), Kansas (Vice-Chair), Alaska, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Kentucky, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Texas, and Utah.

General Description of Drafting Process

The Task Force discussed the matter at public hearings during the National Meetings in December 2005, March 2006 and June 2006. In addition, the Task Force held public conference calls on this topic on the following dates: February 3, 2006; April 27, 2006; July 10, 2006; August 2, 2006; August 4, 2006; and August 29, 2006. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties, including representatives of the ACLI. Several dozen memos and letters were submitted to the Task Force relative to this project.

Significant Issues Raised

The following issues were raised relative to the proposed model regulation.

Question #1: Should the NAIC adoption a mortality table not produced by the Society of Actuaries?

Historically, the Society of Actuaries (SOA) has produced mortality tables and these tables were reviewed and modified by the American Academy of Actuaries (AAA), which provided public policy recommendations on the use of the tables. Industry had developed a split in the 1980 CSO Mortality table between smokers and non-smokers. This split was reviewed and adopted by the SOA and the AAA.

LHATF charged the SOA with reviewing the methodology used in developing the proposed split of the 2001 CSO. The SOA reviewed the method of construction of the split tables and reported that the method used was appropriate.

Question #2: Does the proposed model regulation provide sufficient guidance on the use of preferred and residual tables?

Some members and interested parties expressed concern that the proposed regulation allows the company's actuary to assign the table based on expected future experience without any guidance on how underwriting classes would be established. Some of the concerns included the use (possibly inadvertent) of proxies for race, economic status, or other inappropriate underwriting criteria. LHATF charged the AAA with reviewing the split for the appropriateness of its intended use as stated in the proposed model regulation. The AAA reviewed the split of the table for appropriateness for use as preferred and residual classes and determined that the tables could be appropriately used for these classes if proper guidance was provided on determining the appropriate table to use. The ACLI prepared a proposed actuarial guideline to provide guidance on the use of the preferred and residual tables. This actuarial guideline is being considered by LHATF, and a version of it is expected to be adopted by LHATF within a few months.

Question #3: Is it appropriate to adopt a new mortality table when the AAA is expected to present a new table within a year?

The AAA is expected to produce a new set of mortality tables in March 2007. The new tables are intended to be the starting tables for principles-based reserves. Industry expressed concerns that the effective date of principles-based reserves is unknown, and the use of a new table will present tax problems and require the filing of new policy forms.

Question #4: Should the adoption of the proposed amendments to AG 38 and the proposed model regulation be considered together or separately?

The ACLI had presented the two proposed documents together as a compromise between whole life and term life insurers, which would maintain balance. They stated that if only one of the documents were to be adopted, it would create an imbalance in the industry and requested that the two documents be considered as one packaged proposal. Some members wanted to vote on the two proposals separately. By a vote of 11 to 4, with 3 abstentions, LHATF decided to consider the two proposals as an integrated package.

Question #5: Should regulators monitor the experience from the use of the split of the 2001 CSO?

The proposed regulation is a movement towards principles-based reserves. It allows the company some discretion on which mortality table to use in establishing reserves. New York requested that a provision be added to the proposed model regulation, which would require companies to report their emerging experience to a statistical agent for regulatory review. The Task Force amended the model regulation to include this requirement.

Question #6: Are the minimum reserves established by the proposed model regulation sufficient?

The ACLI provided a number of examples compiled by a major consulting firm to help address the issue of sufficiency of reserves. The Task Force determined that with an actuarial guideline to provide direction on the appropriate use of the split of the 2001 CSO, the provisions of the model regulation addressing the use of overly optimistic assumptions, and an ability to monitor emerging experience, the reserves under the model regulation would be sufficient and could be monitored to verify future sufficiency.

Other Pertinent Information Relative to the Proposed Model Regulation Adopted on August 29, 2006

The Task Force's voted on August 29, 2006, to adopt the revisions to AG 38 by a vote of 12 "Yes," and 3 "No" with 4 members abstaining or not voting. The differing opinions among the Task Force members are described in the previous section.

Voting for the motion were Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Kentucky, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas and Utah.

Opposing the motion were California, Florida and Minnesota

Abstaining were Alaska, Kansas and South Carolina. New Mexico, in its position as chair, did not vote.

PRENEED LIFE INSURANCE MINIMUM STANDARDS FOR DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES AND NONFORFEITURE VALUES MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated by the commissioner of insurance pursuant to section [insert applicable reference to the Standard Valuation Law] of the [insert State] Insurance Statute.

Section 2. Scope

This rule applies to preneed insurance contracts, as defined in section 4 of this regulation, and to similar policies and certificates.

Drafting Note: The definition of preneed insurance is not well defined. The definition in this model regulation is based on policies used in the study that determined the 2001 CSO was inappropriate for determining reserves for policies used to fund funeral services and expenses. The commissioner shall have the authority to determine what constitutes similar policies and certificates.

Section 3. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to establish for preneed insurance products minimum mortality standards for reserves and nonforfeiture values, and to require the use of the 1980 Commissioners Standard Ordinary (CSO) Life Valuation Mortality Table for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation of reserves and the minimum standard nonforfeiture values for preneed insurance products.

Drafting Note: Research completed by the Deloitte University of Connecticut Actuarial Center and commissioned by the Society of Actuaries as a part of a study of preneed mortality determined that the 2001 CSO Mortality Table, currently recognized as the prevailing table for the purposes of calculating reserves and nonforfeiture values both on a statutory basis and on a tax basis, produced inadequate reserves for policies issued in support of a prearrangement agreement which provides goods and services at the time of an insured's death.

Section 4. Definitions

A. The term "2001 CSO Mortality Table" means that mortality table, consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the American Academy of Actuaries CSO Task Force from the Valuation Basic Mortality Table developed by the Society of Actuaries Individual Life Insurance Valuation Mortality Task Force, and adopted by the NAIC in December 2002. The 2001 CSO Mortality Table is included in the Proceedings of the NAIC (2nd Quarter 2002). Unless the context indicates otherwise, the "2001 CSO Mortality Table" includes both the ultimate form of that table and the select and ultimate form of that table and includes both the smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables and the composite mortality tables. It also includes both the age-nearest-birthday and age-last-birthday bases of the mortality tables.

B. The term "Ultimate 1980 CSO" means the Commissioners' 1980 Standard Ordinary Life Valuation Mortality Tables (1980 CSO) without ten-year (10-year) selection factors, incorporated into the 1980 amendments to the NAIC Standard Valuation Law approved in December 1983.

C. For the purposes of this regulation, preneed insurance is any life insurance policy or certificate that is issued in combination with, in support of, with an assignment to, or as a guarantee for a prearrangement agreement for goods and services to be provided at the time of and immediately following the death of the insured. Goods and services may include, but are not limited to embalming, cremation, body preparation, viewing or visitation, coffin or urn, memorial stone, and transportation of the deceased. The status of the policy or contract as preneed insurance is determined at the time of issue in accordance with the policy form filing.

Drafting Note: Many States already have a definition of preneed insurance, or preneed contract. Some might also be called prearrangement contract or prearrangement insurance; however, not all States have a definition for this type of insurance. We tried to specifically define what preneed insurance was for this legislation. It was not intended to redefine something already defined, only to clarify what insurance contracts and certificates would be subject to this regulation.

If a State already has a definition of preneed insurance and wants to incorporate that definition, then the State may insert the following as section 4C:

[C. The term "preneed insurance" shall include within its meaning life insurance as defined in [insert applicable reference to definition] of the [insert state] Insurance Statute.]

If existing definitions are not sufficiently precise to define preneed life insurance, below are some examples of definitions used by States that have already promulgated a definition for preneed insurance. States may incorporate some or all, in whole or in part, of the following definition(s) into this regulation:

[C. The term "preneed insurance" shall include within its meaning a life insurance policy, annuity contract, or other insurance contract issued by an insurance company which, whether by assignment or otherwise, has for a purpose, the funding of a preneed funeral contract or an insurance-funded funeral or burial agreement, the insured or annuitant being the person for whose service the funds were paid.] Used by North Carolina - Statute 90-210.60(4).

[C. The term "preneed insurance" shall include within its meaning any agreement or contract whether funded by trust deposits or life insurance policies or annuities, which has for a purpose the furnishing or performance of funeral services or the furnishing or delivery of any personal property, merchandise, or services of any nature in connection with the final disposition of a dead human body.] Used by Illinois - Statute 215 ILCS 45/1.

[C. The term "preneed insurance" shall include within its meaning any written contract, agreement, or mutual understanding, any series or combination of contracts, agreements, or mutual understandings, or any security or other instrument which is convertible into a contract, agreement, or mutual understanding whereby it is agreed that, upon the death of the preneed contract beneficiary, a final resting place, merchandise, or services shall be provided or performed in connection with the final disposition of the preneed contract beneficiary's body. Consideration for a preneed contract is funds or the assignment of life insurance benefits.] Used by Colorado - Statute 10-15-102(13)(a).

Section 5. Minimum Valuation Mortality Standards

For preneed insurance contracts, as defined in section 4C, and similar policies and contracts, the minimum mortality standard for determining reserve liabilities and nonforfeiture values for both male and female insureds shall be the Ultimate 1980 CSO.

Section 6. Minimum Valuation Interest Rate Standards

A. The interest rates used in determining the minimum standard for valuation of preneed insurance shall be the calendar year statutory valuation interest rates as defined in [insert applicable reference of the Standard Valuation Law].

B. The interest rates used in determining the minimum standard for nonforfeiture values for preneed insurance shall be the calendar year statutory nonforfeiture interest rates as defined in [insert applicable reference to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law].

Drafting Note: Section 6 may not be appropriate or necessary for some States because specific language in their versions of the Standard Valuation Law or the Standard Nonforfeiture Law or their specific statutes.

Section 7. Minimum Valuation Method Standards

A. The method used in determining the standard for the minimum valuation of reserves of preneed insurance shall be the method defined in [insert applicable reference of the Standard Valuation Law].

B. The method used in determining the standard for the minimum nonforfeiture values for preneed insurance shall be the method defined in [insert applicable reference to the Standard Nonforfeiture Law].

Drafting Note: Section 7 may not be appropriate or necessary for some States because specific language in their versions of the Standard Valuation Law or the Standard Nonforfeiture Law or their specific statutes.

Section 8. Transition Rules

A. For preneed insurance policies issued on or after the effective date of this regulation and before January 1, 2012, the 2001 CSO may be used as the minimum standard for reserves and minimum standard for nonforfeiture benefits for both male and female insureds.

B. If an insurer elects to use the 2001 CSO as a minimum standard for any policy issued on or after the effective date of this regulation and before January 1, 2012, the insurer shall provide, as a part of the actuarial opinion memorandum submitted in support of the company's asset adequacy testing, an annual written notification to the domiciliary commissioner. The notification shall include:

(1) A complete list of all preneed policy forms that use the 2001 CSO as a minimum standard;

(2) A certification signed by the appointed actuary stating that the reserve methodology employed by the company in determining reserves for the preneed policies issued after the effective date and using the 2001 CSO as a minimum standard, develops adequate reserves (For the purposes of this certification, the preneed insurance policies using the 2001 CSO as a minimum standard cannot be aggregated with any other policies.); and

(3) Supporting information regarding the adequacy of reserves for preneed insurance policies issued after the effective date of this regulation and using the 2001 CSO as a minimum standard for reserves.

C. Preneed insurance policies issued on or after January 1, 2012, must use the Ultimate 1980 CSO in the calculation of minimum nonforfeiture values and minimum reserves.

Drafting Note: Section 8 provides a transition period for policy forms that use the 2001 CSO mortality as the minimum standard for nonforfeiture and reserves. It also contains provisions for demonstrating appropriate reserves are established for the policies issued using the 2001 CSO tables during the transition period. The intent of this section is to not create a burden for those companies whose current products use the 2001 CSO tables. It provides those companies time to file policy forms with the 1980 CSO tables as the minimum standard and have them reviewed and approved by the State regulatory departments.

Section 9. Effective Date

This rule is applicable to preneed insurance policies and certificates and similar contracts and certificates, as specified in section 2, issued on or after January 1, 2009.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2008

PRENEED LIFE INSURANCE MINIMUM STANDARDS FOR DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES AND NONFORFEITURE VALUES MODEL REGULATION (#817)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

Research completed by the Deloitte University of Connecticut Actuarial Center and commissioned by the Society of Actuaries as a part of a study of preneed mortality determined that the 2001 CSO Mortality Table, currently recognized as the prevailing table for the purposes of calculating reserves and nonforfeiture values both on a statutory basis and on a tax basis, produced inadequate reserves for policies issued in support of a prearrangement agreement which provides goods and services at the time of an insured's death. The 1980 CSO Mortality Table was determined to produce adequate reserves for these policies and contracts.

Conversion to the 2001 CSO is mandatory on January 1, 2009, unless the regulation is adopted.

A few companies had already converted to the 2001 CSO and requested a transition period.

The proposed model regulation was expanded to include the use of 1980 CSO for determining minimum nonforfeiture benefits in addition to valuing reserves.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Michael Villa (Homesteaders Life) worked on the Society of Actuaries group studying the preneed issue and prepared the initial draft of the model regulation.

The 2008 members of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are: Kansas (chair), South Carolina (Vice Chair), Alaska, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas, Utah and Vermont.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Task Force had the following applicable charges during the time the model regulation was being considered:

2007 – Work on implementation of tables necessary for use in current valuation requirements
2007 – Study the feasibility of developing new valuation and nonforfeiture mortality tables for preneed life insurance.
2008 – Work on implementation of tables necessary for use in current valuation requirements.
2008 – Review and make recommendations on rules for appropriate reserve mortality tables for simplified issue and guaranteed issue forms of life insurance. Review and recommend, if appropriate, a revised structure for regulating these forms of life insurance to establish it as a class distinct from industrial and ordinary lines.

The implementation charge is a standing charge to the Task Force and the date of origination is unknown.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

Michael Villa (Homesteader's Life) presented the initial draft of the proposed model regulation following the Society of Actuaries report of the status of the preneed mortality study. The study revealed that mortality on the 2001 CSO is significantly understated in the first few years of preneed insurance. The Task Force obtained permission to work on mortality table issues from the Executive Committee, including the drafting of proposed model regulations at the Summer 2007 National Meeting. Several proposed amendments to the proposed model regulation were submitted and considered by the Task Force.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The Task Force discussed the matter at public hearings during the National Meetings in June and September 2007. In addition, the Task Force held public conference calls on this topic on the following dates: August 15, 2007; November 6, 2007; and February 7, 2008. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties. Drafts of the document were released for comment on June 1, 2007; August 15, 2007; and January 8, 2008. Several memos and letters were submitted to the Task Force relative to this project. Most urged rapid adoption and a transition period. Due to the urgency of the situation addressed by the proposed model regulation and with encouragement from interested parties, the Task Force voted unanimously to adopt the model regulation with amendments on February 7, 2008, without an additional 30-day exposure period. The substantive amendments to the draft released for comment on January 8, 2008, were related to the issue of a transition period. They were the result of a compromise agreed to by regulators and interested parties. Interested parties expressed support of the amendments only if an additional 30-day exposure period was not required. The subject of the transition period was identified on the January 8, 2008, document as the topic of upcoming discussion, so any party interested in commenting on the transition rules could have participated in the amendment consideration discussion.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Issue #1 – Definition of "preneed" insurance. Preneed insurance is not well-defined. The study included policies and contracts used to fund funeral services and expenses. The issue of including limited underwriting and guaranteed issue policies was discussed. The ACLI requested that the regulation be limited to policies and contract used to fund funeral services and expenses. The Task Force decided the definition of preneed insurance could be determined by the State and offered several options for this definition. Additionally, the regulation included "similar policies and contracts", which allows the commissioner to determine if limited underwriting and guaranteed issue policies are to use the 1980 CSO.

Issue #2 – Transition Period. Several companies had already converted to the 2001 CSO, as required by Model Regulation No. 814, which in Section 4B requires the 2001 CSO be used for all ordinary life insurance issued on or after January 1, 2009. Transition rules were established to allow companies to use the 2001 CSO until January 1, 2012, provided adequate reserves are established and a stand-alone asset adequacy study is provided to the commissioner to demonstrate the adequacy of reserves.

Issue #3 – Urgency. Due to the urgency of making this change, interested parties proposed changes that were substantive but indicated the need to adopt the model regulation quickly was more important than the changes proposed. Although the transition period was amended at the time the Task Force adopted the proposed model regulation, the Task Force voted unanimously to forward the model regulation without an additional 30-day exposure period. Interested parties voiced support of this and no objections to the action were expressed.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

Although the Task Force adopted the model regulation without an additional 30-day exposure period for the revised transition rules, the model regulation is exposed for comment while awaiting action from the "A" Committee with comments forwarded to the "A" Committee staff support. The proposed model regulation is expected to have 30 days of exposure before being presented to the NAIC Executive and Plenary.

DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES FOR CREDIT LIFE INSURANCE MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This rule is promulgated by the Commissioner of Insurance pursuant to Section [insert applicable reference to the Standard Valuation Law] of the [insert state] Insurance Statute.

Section 2. Scope

This rule applies to credit life insurance policies and certificates, and those similar policies and certificates where there is no identifiable charge made to the debtor.

Section 3. Purpose

The purpose of this rule is to:

A. Recognize the 2001 CSO Male Composite Ultimate Mortality Table for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation.

B. Specify the interest rate and method to be used in determining the minimum standard of valuation.

Section 4. Definitions

A. "2001 CSO Mortality Table" means that mortality table, consisting of separate rates of mortality for male and female lives, developed by the American Academy of Actuaries CSO Task Force from the Valuation Basic Mortality Table developed by the Society of Actuaries Individual Life Insurance Valuation Mortality Task Force, and adopted by the NAIC in December 2002. The 2001 CSO Mortality Table is included in the Proceedings of the NAIC (2nd Quarter 2002). Unless the context indicates otherwise, the "2001 CSO Mortality Table" includes both the ultimate form of that table and the select and ultimate form of that table and includes both the smoker and nonsmoker mortality tables and the composite mortality tables. It also includes both the age-nearest-birthday and age-last-birthday bases of the mortality tables.

B. "Composite mortality tables" means mortality tables with rates of mortality that do not distinguish between smokers and nonsmokers.

C. "Credit life insurance" means life insurance as defined in [insert applicable reference to definition] of the [insert state] Insurance Statute.

Drafting Note: If existing definitions are not sufficiently precise to define Credit Life Insurance, some or all of the following definition may be added to the regulation:

"Credit life insurance" means insurance on a debtor or debtors, pursuant to or in connection with a specific loan or other credit transaction, to provide for satisfaction of a debt, in whole or in part, upon the death of an insured debtor.

Credit life insurance does NOT include:

(a) Insurance written in connection with a credit transaction that is:

(i) Secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust; and

(ii) Made to finance the purchase of real property or the construction of a dwelling thereon, or to refinance a prior credit transaction made for such a purpose;

(b) Insurance sold as an isolated transaction on the part of the insurer and not related to an agreement or a plan for insuring debtors of the creditor.

(c) Insurance for which no identifiable charge is made to the debtor.

(d) Insurance on accounts receivable.

Section 5. 2001 CSO Male Composite Ultimate Mortality Table

A. The minimum standard for both male and female insureds shall be 2001 CSO Male Composite Ultimate Mortality Table.

B. Where the credit life insurance policy or certificate insures two lives, the minimum standard shall be twice the mortality in the 2001 CSO Male Composite Ultimate Mortality Table based on the age of the older insured.

Section 6. Minimum Standards

A. [Insert applicable reference to the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation] shall not apply to credit life insurance.

B. The interest rates used in determining the minimum standard for valuation shall be the calendar year statutory valuation interest rates as defined in [insert applicable reference to Section 4b of the Standard Valuation Law].

C. The method used in determining the minimum standard for valuation shall be the commissioners reserve valuation method as defined in [insert applicable reference to Section 5 of the Standard Valuation Law].

Drafting Note:

1) Section 6 may not be appropriate or necessary for some states because of specific language in their versions of the Standard Valuation Law, the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation, or their specific statutes on credit insurance.

2) States should be aware that there may be requirements elsewhere in statutory accounting to test reserves against the premium refund net liability.

3) In applying the commissioners reserve valuation method, consideration should be given to the period of time for which renewability of benefits are guaranteed under the contract. If benefits are guaranteed for less than one year, the method produces a reserve equal to the mortality cost from the valuation date to the premium "paid-to" date.

4) The Standard Valuation Law contains language permitting the use of "group methods and approximate averages for fractions of a year or otherwise." Such methods may be appropriate in those situations where individual certificate data is not readily available to the insurer. This is especially common in monthly payment programs, with frequent remittance of small premiums.

Section 7. Effective Date

This rule is applicable to credit life policies and certificates issued on or after January 1, 200[_] [insert January 1 of the year next following or coincident with the effective date of the state's version of the Recognition of the 2001 CSO Mortality Table for Use in Determining Minimum Reserve Liabilities and Nonforfeiture Benefits Model Regulation].

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2004

DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES FOR CREDIT LIFE INSURANCE MODEL REGULATION (#818)

1. Description of the project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The "Purpose" section of the model describes its objective:

Section 3. Purpose

The purpose of this rule is to:

A. Recognize the 2001 CSO Male Composite Ultimate Mortality Table for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation.

B. Specify the interest rate and method to be used in determining the minimum standard of valuation.

This model evolved from the work of the Credit Insurance Experience Committee of the Society of Actuaries. This excerpt from that committee's June 2002 report gives its recommendation:

> In May of 2001 the Credit Insurance Experience Committee was asked to respond to the National Association of Insurance Commissioner's request to the Society of Actuaries to develop a recommendation for a uniform national valuation standard for credit life insurance policy reserves.
> The enclosed report contains the recommendation along with supporting material.
> The Committee recommends that the 200X (i.e., 2001) CSO Male Composite Ultimate Table be used for the valuation of credit life policy reserves using the dynamic interest rate appropriate for the original term of insurance. For joint life coverage the Committee recommends that the reserve be set assuming 200X (i.e., 2001) CSO Male Composite Ultimate Table using twice the mortality for the age of the primary insured. Credit insurers do not normally maintain gender specific records, so certificates of both genders should be reserved on the male table.
> The recommended standard is set at a level such that 23 of the 27 companies contributing data to the study, or 85%, showed aggregate mortality less than or equal to the standard. Overall, this standard provides a 27% margin over the experience from 1998 and 1999.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Life and Health Actuarial Task Force developed this model. The 2004 members are: South Carolina (Chair), Alaska (Vice-Chair), Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The 2004 charge given to the Task Force was: "Discuss the feasibility of developing a valuation mortality table for credit life insurance. Consult with the Society of Actuaries, the American Academy of Actuaries, and other interested parties on this matter. Complete work on this matter by the Winter National Meeting." This charge represents a continuation of previous charges given to the Task Force.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

This model evolved from the work of the Credit Insurance Experience Committee of the Society of Actuaries. That committee presented its recommendations to the Task Force in a June 2002 report. Subsequently, the full Task Force worked with a representative of that committee and other interested parties in the development of the model.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The efforts of the Task Force were closely coordinated with all industry interested parties. In addition to open sessions at the quarterly meetings of the NAIC, numerous conference calls were held to discuss this matter. Notice of those conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 200 interested parties, including representatives of the American Council of Life Insurers and the Consumer Credit Insurance Association.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Given the complexity of this project, it is impossible for a brief summary to address all the issues that were raised. However, two main issues that were addressed are:

- The extent to which use of unearned premium reserves is consistent with the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Method (CRVM) as prescribed by the Standard Valuation Law.

- The appropriate application of CRVM to such plans as "level monthly" plans.

Relative to the first point, the task force agreed to include this Drafting Note in the model:

> The Standard Valuation Law contains language permitting the use of "group methods and approximate averages for fractions of a year or otherwise." Such methods may be appropriate in those situations where individual certificate data is not readily available to the insurer. This is especially common in monthly payment programs, with frequent remittance of small premiums.

The intent of the Drafting Note is to point out that, under the circumstances described, there may be multiple acceptable techniques for achieving compliance with CRVM. On the July 24, 2003, conference call of the Task Force, Michael Batte (NM) (chair of the Task Force at that time) made the following statement, which explicitly referenced unearned premiums:

> Mr. Batte stated, "my own personal opinion is the reason we use unearned premiums for these kinds of group life insurance contracts is because that exceeds what would be required on a mortality basis for the risk guaranteed." Mr. Batte summarized his comments by saying, for many of the types of group contracts under discussion, the unearned premium reserve "is a CRVM compliant reserve."

The decision was made to address this point through a Drafting Note rather than the formal text of the model. This excerpt from the Nov. 18, 2003, conference call of the Task Force documents the decision not to reference any reserve methodology other than CRVM (i.e., Section 5 of the SVL) within the formal text:

> Ms. Philips asked Mr. Carmello if Mr. Hause's suggestions addressed his concerns. Mr. Carmello stated that he was unclear as to the exact nature of Mr. Hause's proposal. Ms. Philips responded that Mr. Hause's proposal is to "strike the portion that talks about a different reserve method for outstanding balance or MOB (monthly outstanding balance) or anything, and just say that the minimum reserve standard shall be the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Method." Mr. Carmello said, "so that would require a mortality reserve, even for MOB?" Mr. Hause responded "yes." Mr. Carmello stated this would also "address the level premium issue, because under CRVM they would have to go through the motions there, even if it doesn't produce anything."

Relative to the second point pertaining to "monthly level" plans, the concerns of the industry were expressed in these excerpts from an August 20, 2003, letter from William F. Burfeind, Executive Vice President, Consumer Credit Insurance Association:

> Group term life insurance is renewable by group and rates are subject to change, generally once a year. For many group life insurance cases the amount of insurance is a fixed level amount and not tied to the employees' current salary. The rate charged is usually one rate for all ages and while the rate may be changed annually it is the practice of insurers to avoid rate changes. These same group term life risk characteristics are also applicable to most level monthly credit life products.

> Many of the monthly level credit life products have one rate for all ages. This is consistent with the prima facie rates in the states. While states allow actuarial equivalent rates our experience has been that some states will not approve age rated credit life products.
> The model valuation law requires in any contract year where the gross premium charged is less than the valuation net premium, the valuation premium is replaced by the gross premium in determining the present value of future premiums. This "premium deficiency reserve" will be onerous at high issue ages in the level monthly credit life products that have one all age rate. If CRVM reserves are required will this premium deficiency reserve requirement follow, even when rates are not guaranteed?

In response, the Task Force agreed to the inclusion of the following Drafting Note:

> In applying the commissioners reserve valuation method, consideration should be given to the period of time for which renewability of benefits are guaranteed under the contract. If benefits are guaranteed for less than one year, the method produces a reserve equal to the mortality cost from the valuation date to the premium "paid-to" date.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

This is a new model regulation. The NAIC has never before promulgated reserve standards that explicitly address credit life insurance.

The scope of Statement of Statutory Accounting Principles No. 59 is:

> This statement establishes statutory accounting principles for income recognition and policy reserves for all contracts classified as credit life and credit accident and health contracts defined in SSAP No. 50 – Classifications and Definitions of Insurance or Managed Care Contracts In Force.

Given that the model directly relates to the issues addressed by SSAP No. 59, the Statutory Accounting Principles (E) Working Group may wish to consider the extent to which the model should be incorporated into the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual.

STANDARD VALUATION LAW

Table of Contents

Section 1. Title and Definitions

A. This Act shall be known as the Standard Valuation Law.

B. For the purposes of this Act the following definitions shall apply on or after the operative date of the valuation manual:

(1) The term "accident and health insurance" means contracts that incorporate morbidity risk and provide protection against economic loss resulting from accident, sickness, or medical conditions and as may be specified in the valuation manual.

(2) The term "appointed actuary" means a qualified actuary who is appointed in accordance with the valuation manual to prepare the actuarial opinion required in Section 3B of this Act.

(3) The term "company" means an entity, which (a) has written, issued, or reinsured life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts, or deposit-type contracts in this State and has at least one such policy in force or on claim or (b) has written, issued, or reinsured life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts, or deposit-type contracts in any state and is required to hold a certificate of authority to write life insurance, accident and health insurance, or deposit-type contracts in this State.

(4) The term "deposit-type contract" means contracts that do not incorporate mortality or morbidity risks and as may be specified in the valuation manual.

(5) The term "life insurance" means contracts that incorporate mortality risk, including annuity and pure endowment contracts, and as may be specified in the valuation manual.

(6) The term "NAIC" means the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

(7) The term "policyholder behavior" means any action a policyholder, contract holder or any other person with the right to elect options, such as a certificate holder, may take under a policy or contract subject to this Act including, but not limited to, lapse, withdrawal, transfer, deposit, premium payment, loan, annuitization, or benefit elections prescribed by the policy or contract but excluding events of mortality or morbidity that result in benefits prescribed in their essential aspects by the terms of the policy or contract.

(8) The term "principle-based valuation" means a reserve valuation that uses one or more methods or one or more assumptions determined by the insurer and are required to comply with Section 12 of this Act as specified in the valuation manual.

(9) The term "qualified actuary" means an individual who is qualified to sign the applicable statement of actuarial opinion in accordance with the American Academy of Actuaries qualification standards for actuaries signing such statements and who meets the requirements specified in the valuation manual.

(10) The term "tail risk" means a risk that occurs either where the frequency of low probability events is higher than expected under a normal probability distribution or where there are observed events of very significant size or magnitude.

(11) The term "valuation manual" means the manual of valuation instructions adopted by the NAIC as specified in this Act or as subsequently amended.

Drafting Note: The term commissioner means the insurance supervisory official of a State or jurisdiction of the United States and therefore, the term commissioner should be replaced with the appropriate title in the adopting State or jurisdiction. In addition, the term State should be replaced with the appropriate term for the adopting jurisdiction.

Drafting Note: It is critical that each state retain the terms "accident and health", "deposit-type contract", and "life insurance" in this section because the terms are specifically defined for purposes of the standard valuation law and applicability of the valuation manual standards for such contracts issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual.

Section 2. Reserve Valuation

A. Policies and Contracts Issued Prior to the Operative Date of the Valuation Manual

(1) The commissioner shall annually value, or cause to be valued, the reserve liabilities (hereinafter called reserves) for all outstanding life insurance policies and annuity and pure endowment contracts of every life insurance company doing business in this State issued on or after [insert the original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State] and prior to the operative date of the valuation manual. In calculating reserves, the commissioner may use group methods and approximate averages for fractions of a year or otherwise. In lieu of the valuation of the reserves required of a foreign or alien company, the commissioner may accept a valuation made, or caused to be made, by the insurance supervisory official of any State or other jurisdiction when the valuation complies with the minimum standard provided in this Act.

(2) The provisions set forth in Sections 4, 4a, 4b, 5, 5a, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of this Act shall apply to all policies and contracts, as appropriate, subject to this Act issued on or after [insert the original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State] and prior to the operative date of the valuation manual and the provisions set forth in Sections 11 and 12 of this Act shall not apply to any such policies and contracts.

(3) The minimum standard for the valuation of policies and contracts issued prior to [insert the original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State] shall be that provided by the laws in effect immediately prior to that date.

Drafting Note: The Standard Valuation Law prior to the operative date of the valuation manual applies to deposit-type contracts. There is no intent to change the valuation standards for deposit-type contracts.

Drafting Note: The dates inserted should remain unchanged from those appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

B. Policies and Contracts Issued On or After the Operative Date of the Valuation Manual

(1) The commissioner shall annually value, or cause to be valued, the reserve liabilities (hereinafter called reserves) for all outstanding life insurance contracts, annuity and pure endowment contracts, accident and health contracts, and deposit-type contracts of every company issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual. In lieu of the valuation of the reserves required of a foreign or alien company, the commissioner may accept a valuation made, or caused to be made, by the insurance supervisory official of any State or other jurisdiction when the valuation complies with the minimum standard provided in this Act.

(2) The provisions set forth in Sections 11 and 12 of this Act shall apply to all policies and contracts issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual.

Section 3. Actuarial Opinion of Reserves

A. Actuarial Opinion Prior to the Operative Date of the Valuation Manual

(1) General

Every life insurance company doing business in this state shall annually submit the opinion of a qualified actuary as to whether the reserves and related actuarial items held in support of the policies and contracts specified by the commissioner by regulation are computed appropriately, are based on assumptions that satisfy contractual provisions, are consistent with prior reported amounts and comply with applicable laws of this state. The commissioner shall define by regulation the specifics of this opinion and add any other items deemed to be necessary to its scope.

(2) Actuarial Analysis of Reserves and Assets Supporting Reserves

(a) Every life insurance company , except as exempted by regulation , shall also annually include in the opinion required by Subsection (1) of this section, an opinion of the same qualified actuary as to whether the reserves and related actuarial items held in support of the policies and contracts specified by the commissioner by regulation, when considered in light of the assets held by the company with respect to the reserves and related actuarial items, including but not limited to the investment earnings on the assets and the considerations anticipated to be received and retained under the policies and contracts, make adequate provision for the company's obligations under the policies and contracts, including but not limited to the benefits under and expenses associated with the policies and contracts.

(b) The commissioner may provide by regulation for a transition period for establishing any higher reserves that the qualified actuary may deem necessary in order to render the opinion required by this section.

(3) Requirement for Opinion Under Section 3A(2)

Each opinion required by Subsection (2) shall be governed by the following provisions:

(a) A memorandum, in form and substance acceptable to the commissioner as specified by regulation, shall be prepared to support each actuarial opinion.

(b) If the insurance company fails to provide a supporting memorandum at the request of the commissioner within a period specified by regulation or the commissioner determines that the supporting memorandum provided by the insurance company fails to meet the standards prescribed by the regulations or is otherwise unacceptable to the commissioner, the commissioner may engage a qualified actuary at the expense of the company to review the opinion and the basis for the opinion and prepare the supporting memorandum required by the commissioner.

(4) Requirement for All Opinions Subject to Section 3A

Every opinion required by Section 3A shall be governed by the following provisions:

(a) The opinion shall be submitted with the annual statement reflecting the valuation of such reserve liabilities for each year ending on or after December 31, [ ].

Drafting Note: The date inserted should remain unchanged from the one appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

(b) The opinion shall apply to all business in force including individual and group health insurance plans, in form and substance acceptable to the commissioner as specified by regulation.

(c) The opinion shall be based on standards adopted from time to time by the Actuarial Standards Board and on such additional standards as the commissioner may by regulation prescribe.

(d) In the case of an opinion required to be submitted by a foreign or alien company, the commissioner may accept the opinion filed by that company with the insurance supervisory official of another state if the commissioner determines that the opinion reasonably meets the requirements applicable to a company domiciled in this state.

(e) For the purposes of this section, "qualified actuary" means a member in good standing of the American Academy of Actuaries who meets the requirements set forth in the regulation.

(f) Except in cases of fraud or willful misconduct, the qualified actuary shall not be liable for damages to any person (other than the insurance company and the commissioner) for any act, error, omission, decision or conduct with respect to the actuary's opinion.

(g) Disciplinary action by the commissioner against the company or the qualified actuary shall be defined in regulations by the commissioner.

(h) Except as provided in Paragraphs (l), (m) and (n), documents, materials or other information in the possession or control of the Department of Insurance that are a memorandum in support of the opinion, and any other material provided by the company to the commissioner in connection with the memorandum, shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be subject to [insert open records, freedom of information, sunshine or other appropriate phrase], shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action. However, the commissioner is authorized to use the documents, materials or other information in the furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as a part of the commissioner's official duties.

(i) Neither the commissioner nor any person who received documents, materials or other information while acting under the authority of the commissioner shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials or information subject to Paragraph (h).

(j) In order to assist in the performance of the commissioner's duties, the commissioner:

(i) May share documents, materials or other information, including the confidential and privileged documents, materials or information subject to Paragraph (h) with other state, federal and international regulatory agencies, with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and with state, federal and international law enforcement authorities, provided that the recipient agrees to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the document, material or other information;

(ii) May receive documents, materials or information, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials or information, from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and from regulatory and law enforcement officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions, and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any document, material or information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material or information; and

(iii) [Optional provision] May enter into agreements governing sharing and use of information consistent with Paragraphs (h) to (j).

Drafting Note: The language in paragraph (j)(i) assumes the recipient has the authority to protect the applicable confidentiality or privilege, but does not address the verification of that authority, which would presumably occur in the context of a broader information sharing agreement.

(k) No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the documents, materials or information shall occur as a result of disclosure to the comissioner under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in Paragraph (j).

(l) A memorandum in support of the opinion, and any other material provided by the company to the commissioner in connection with the memorandum, may be subject to subpoena for the purpose of defending an action seeking damages from the actuary submitting the memorandum by reason of an action required by this section or by regulations promulgated hereunder.

(m) The memorandum or other material may otherwise be released by the commissioner with the written consent of the company or to the American Academy of Actuaries upon request stating that the memorandum or other material is required for the purpose of professional disciplinary proceedings and setting forth procedures satisfactory to the commissioner for preserving the confidentiality of the memorandum or other material.

(n) Once any portion of the confidential memorandum is cited by the company in its marketing or is cited before a governmental agency other than a state insurance department or is released by the company to the news media, all portions of the confidential memorandum shall be no longer confidential.

B. Actuarial Opinion of Reserves after the Operative Date of the Valuation Manual

(1) General

Every company with outstanding life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts or deposit-type contracts in this State and subject to regulation by the commissioner shall annually submit the opinion of the appointed actuary as to whether the reserves and related actuarial items held in support of the policies and contracts are computed appropriately, are based on assumptions that satisfy contractual provisions, are consistent with prior reported amounts and comply with applicable laws of this State. The valuation manual will prescribe the specifics of this opinion including any items deemed to be necessary to its scope.

(2) Actuarial Analysis of Reserves and Assets Supporting Reserves

Every company with outstanding life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts or deposit-type contracts in this state and subject to regulation by the commissioner, except as exempted in the valuation manual, shall also annually include in the opinion required by Subsection (1) of this section, an opinion of the same appointed actuary as to whether the reserves and related actuarial items held in support of the policies and contracts specified in the valuation manual, when considered in light of the assets held by the company with respect to the reserves and related actuarial items, including but not limited to the investment earnings on the assets and the considerations anticipated to be received and retained under the policies and contracts, make adequate provision for the company's obligations under the policies and contracts, including but not limited to the benefits under and expenses associated with the policies and contracts.

(3) Requirements for Opinions Subject to Section 3B(2)

Each opinion required by Subsection 3B shall be governed by the following provisions:

(a) A memorandum, in form and substance as specified in the valuation manual, and acceptable to the commissioner, shall be prepared to support each actuarial opinion.

(b) If the insurance company fails to provide a supporting memorandum at the request of the commissioner within a period specified in the valuation manual or the commissioner determines that the supporting memorandum provided by the insurance company fails to meet the standards prescribed by the valuation manual or is otherwise unacceptable to the commissioner, the commissioner may engage a qualified actuary at the expense of the company to review the opinion and the basis for the opinion and prepare the supporting memorandum required by the commissioner.

(4) Requirement for All Opinions Subject to Section 3B

Every opinion shall be governed by the following provisions:

(a) The opinion shall be in form and substance as specified in the valuation manual and acceptable to the commissioner.

(b) The opinion shall be submitted with the annual statement reflecting the valuation of such reserve liabilities for each year ending on or after the operative date of the valuation manual.

(c) The opinion shall apply to all policies and contracts subject to Section 3B(2), plus other actuarial liabilities as may be specified in the valuation manual.

(d) The opinion shall be based on standards adopted from time to time by the Actuarial Standards Board or its successor, and on such additional standards as may be prescribed in the valuation manual.

(e) In the case of an opinion required to be submitted by a foreign or alien company, the commissioner may accept the opinion filed by that company with the insurance supervisory official of another State if the commissioner determines that the opinion reasonably meets the requirements applicable to a company domiciled in this State.

(f) Except in cases of fraud or willful misconduct, the appointed actuary shall not be liable for damages to any person (other than the insurance company and the commissioner) for any act, error, omission, decision or conduct with respect to the appointed actuary's opinion.

(g) Disciplinary action by the commissioner against the company or the appointed actuary shall be defined in regulations by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States may need to adopt regulations to address disciplinary action.

Section 4. Computation of Minimum Standard

Except as provided in Sections 4a, 4b and 10, the minimum standard for the valuation of policies and contracts issued prior to the effective date of this Act shall be that provided by the laws in effect immediately prior to that date. Except as otherwise provided in Sections 4a, 4b and 10, the minimum standard for the valuation of all policies and contracts issued on or after [insert original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State] shall be the commissioners reserve valuation methods defined in Sections 5, 5a, 8 and 10, three and one-half percent (3 1/2%) interest, or in the case of life insurance policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, issued on or after [insert effective date of 1972 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], four percent (4%) interest for policies issued prior to [insert effective date of 1976

NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], five and one-half percent (5 1/2%) interest for single premium life insurance policies and four and one-half percent (4 1/2%) interest for all other policies issued on and after [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], and the following tables:

A. For ordinary policies of life insurance issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in the policies: the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table for policies issued prior to the operative date of Section 5a of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance as amended, the Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table for policies issued on or after the operative date of Section 5a of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance as amended and prior to the operative date of Section 5c of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance as amended, provided that for any category of policies issued on female risks, all modified net premiums and present values referred to in this Act may be calculated according to an age not more than six (6) years younger than the actual age of the insured; and for policies issued on or after the operative date of Section 5c of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance as amended:

(1) The Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table;

(2) At the election of the company for any one or more specified plans of life insurance, the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table with Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors; or

(3) Any ordinary mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the NAIC, which is approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such policies;

B. For industrial life insurance policies issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in the policies: the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table for policies issued prior to the operative date of Section 5b of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance as amended, and for policies issued on or after the operative date of Section 5b, the Commissioners 1961 Standard Industrial Mortality Table or any industrial mortality table adopted after 1980 by the NAIC that is approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for the policies;

C. For individual annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in the policies: the 1937 Standard Annuity Mortality Table, or at the option of the company, the Annuity Mortality Table for 1949, Ultimate, or any modification of either of these tables approved by the commissioner;

D. For group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in the policies: the Group Annuity Mortality Table for 1951, a modification of the table approved by the commissioner, or at the option of the company, any of the tables or modifications of tables specified for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

E. For total and permanent disability benefits in or supplementary to ordinary policies or contracts: for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1966, the tables of Period 2 disablement rates and the 1930 to 1950 termination rates of the 1952 Disability Study of the Society of Actuaries, with due regard to the type of benefit or any tables of disablement rates and termination rates adopted after 1980 by the NAIC, that are approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for those policies; for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1961 and prior to January 1, 1966, either those tables or, at the option of the company, the Class (3) Disability Table (1926); and for policies issued prior to January 1, 1961, the Class (3) Disability Table (1926). Any such table shall, for active lives, be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies;

F. For accidental death benefits in or supplementary to policies issued on or after January 1, 1966: the 1959 Accidental Death Benefits Table or any accidental death benefits table adopted after 1980 by the NAIC that is approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for those policies, for policies issued on or after January 1, 1961 and prior to January 1, 1966, either that table or, at the option of the company, the Inter-Company Double Indemnity Mortality Table; and for policies issued prior to January 1, 1961, the Inter-Company Double Indemnity Mortality Table. Either table shall be combined with a mortality table for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies; and

G. For group life insurance, life insurance issued on the substandard basis and other special benefits: tables approved by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: The dates inserted should remain unchanged from those appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

Section 4a. Computation of Minimum Standard for Annuities

A. Except as provided in Section 4b, the minimum standard of valuation for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after the operative date of this Section 4a and for annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after the operative date under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall be the commissioners reserve valuation methods defined in Sections 5 and 5a and the following tables and interest rates:

(1) For individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued prior to [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in those contracts: the 1971 Individual Annuity Mortality Table, or any modification of this table approved by the commissioner, and six percent (6%) interest for single premium immediate annuity contracts and four percent (4%) interest for all other individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(2) For individual single premium immediate annuity contracts issued on or after [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in those contracts: the 1971 Individual Annuity Mortality Table or any individual annuity mortality table adopted after 1980 by the NAIC that is approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for these contracts, or any modification of these tables approved by the commissioner, and seven and one-half percent (7 1/2%) interest;

(3) For individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], other than single premium immediate annuity contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in those contracts: the 1971 Individual Annuity Mortality Table or any individual annuity mortality table adopted after 1980 by the NAIC, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for those contracts, or any modification of these tables approved by the commissioner, and five and one-half percent (5 1/2%) interest for single premium deferred annuity and pure endowment contracts and four and one-half percent (4 1/2%) interest for all other individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(4) For annuities and pure endowments purchased prior to [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law] under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under those contracts: the 1971 Group Annuity Mortality Table or any modification of this table approved by the commissioner, and six percent (6%) interest; and

(5) For annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after [insert effective date of 1976 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law] under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under those contracts: the 1971 Group Annuity Mortality Table, or any group annuity mortality table adopted after 1980 by the NAIC that is approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for annuities and pure endowments, or any modification of these tables approved by the commissioner, and seven and one-half percent (7 1/2%) interest;

B. After [insert effective date of 1972 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1979, which shall be the operative date of this section for that company. If a company makes no election, the operative date of this section for that company shall be January 1, 1979.

Drafting Note: The dates inserted should remain unchanged from those appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

Section 4b. Computation of Minimum Standard by Calendar Year of Issue

A. The interest rates used in determining the minimum standard for the valuation of the following shall be the calendar year statutory valuation interest rates as defined in this section:

(1) Life insurance policies issued in a particular calendar year, on or after the operative date of Section 5c of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance as amended;

(2) Individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued in a particular calendar year on or after January 1, 19[ ] [insert the calendar year next following the effective date of the 1980 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law];

(3) Annuities and pure endowments purchased in a particular calendar year on or after January 1, 19[ ] [insert the calendar year next following the effective date of the 1980 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law] under group annuity and pure endowment contracts; and

(4) The net increase, if any, in a particular calendar year after January 1, 19[ ] [insert the calendar year next following the effective date of the 1980 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law], in amounts held under guaranteed interest contracts.

Drafting Note: The dates inserted should remain unchanged from those appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

B. Calendar Year Statutory Valuation Interest Rates

(1) The calendar year statutory valuation interest rates, I, shall be determined as follows and the results rounded to the nearer one-quarter of one percent (1/4 of 1%):

(a) For life insurance:

$$I = .03 + W \cdot (R_1 - .03) + \frac{W}{2} \cdot (R_2 - .09)$$

(b) For single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and from guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options:

$$I = .03 + W \cdot (R - .03)$$

Where R_1 is the lesser of R and .09,
R_2 is the greater of R and .09,
R is the reference interest rate defined in this section,
W is the weighting factor defined in this section;

(c) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on an issue year basis, except as stated in Subparagraph (b) above, the formula for life insurance stated in Subparagraph (a) above shall apply to annuities and guaranteed interest contracts with guarantee durations in excess of ten (10) years and the formula for single premium immediate annuities stated in Subparagraph (b) above shall apply to annuities and guaranteed interest contracts with guarantee duration of ten (10) years or less;

(d) For other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the formula for single premium immediate annuities stated in Subparagraph (b) above shall apply.

(e) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a change in fund basis, the formula for single premium immediate annuities stated in Subparagraph (b) above shall apply.

(2) However, if the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for a life insurance policy issued in any calendar year determined without reference to this sentence differs from the corresponding actual rate for similar policies issued in the immediately preceding calendar year by less than one-half of one percent (1/2 of 1%), the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for the life insurance policies shall be equal to the corresponding actual rate for the immediately preceding calendar year. For purposes of applying the immediately preceding sentence, the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for life insurance policies issued in a calendar year shall be determined for 1980 (using the reference interest rate defined in 1979) and shall be determined for each subsequent calendar year regardless of when Section 5c of the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance as amended becomes operative.

C. Weighting Factors

(1) The weighting factors referred to in the formulas stated above are given in the following tables:

(a) Weighting Factors for Life Insurance:

Guarantee Duration (Years)	Weighting Factors
10 or less	.50
More than 10, but not more than 20	.45
More than 20	.35

For life insurance, the guarantee duration is the maximum number of years the life insurance can remain in force on a basis guaranteed in the policy or under options to convert to plans of life insurance with premium rates or nonforfeiture values or both which are guaranteed in the original policy;

(b) Weighting factor for single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options:

.80

(c) Weighting factors for other annuities and for guaranteed interest contracts, except as stated in Subparagraph (b) above, shall be as specified in items (i), (ii) and (iii) below, according to the rules and definitions in items (iv), (v) and (vi) below:

(i) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on an issue year basis:

Guarantee Duration (Years)	Weighting Factor for Plan Type A	B	C
5 or less:	.80	.60	.50
More than 5, but not more than 10:	.75	.60	.50
More than 10, but not more than 20:	.65	.50	.45
More than 20:	.45	.35	.35

(ii) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on a change in fund basis, the factors shown in item (i) above increased by:

Plan Type A	B	C
.15	.25	.05

(iii) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on an issue year basis (other than those with no cash settlement options) that do not guarantee interest on considerations received more than one year after issue or purchase and for annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on a change in fund basis that do not guarantee interest rates on considerations received more than twelve (12) months beyond the valuation date, the factors shown in item (i) or derived in item (ii) increased by:

Plan Type A	B	C
.05	.05	.05

(iv) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, the guarantee duration is the number of years for which the contract guarantees interest rates in excess of the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for life insurance policies with guarantee duration in excess of twenty (20) years. For other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the guaranteed duration is the number of years from the date of issue or date of purchase to the date annuity benefits are scheduled to commence.

(v) Plan type as used in the above tables is defined as follows:

Plan Type A: At any time policyholder may withdraw funds only (l) with an adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurance company, or (2) without an adjustment but installments over five years or more, or (3) as an immediate life annuity, or (4) no withdrawal permitted.

Plan Type B: Before expiration of the interest rate guarantee, policyholder may withdraw funds only (1) with an adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurance company, or (2) without an adjustment but in installments over five years or more, or (3) no withdrawal permitted. At the end of interest rate guarantee, funds may be withdrawn without an adjustment in a single sum or installments over less than five years.

Plan Type C: Policyholder may withdraw funds before expiration of interest rate guarantee in a single sum or installments over less than five years either (1) without adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurance company, or (2) subject only to a fixed surrender charge stipulated in the contract as a percentage of the fund.

(vi) A company may elect to value guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options and annuities with cash settlement options on either an issue year basis or on a change in fund basis. Guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options and other annuities with no cash settlement options must be valued on an issue year basis. As used in this section, an issue year basis of valuation refers to a valuation basis under which the interest rate used to determine the minimum valuation standard for the entire duration of the annuity or guaranteed interest contract is the calendar year valuation interest rate for the year of issue or year of purchase of the annuity or guaranteed interest contract, and the change in fund basis of valuation refers to a valuation basis under which the interest rate used to determine the minimum valuation standard applicable to each change in the fund held under the annuity or guaranteed interest contract is the calendar year valuation interest rate for the year of the change in the fund.

D. Reference Interest Rate

(1) The reference interest rate referred to in subsection B of this section shall be defined as follows:

(a) For life insurance, the lesser of the average over a period of thirty-six (36) months and the average over a period of twelve (12) months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year preceding the year of issue, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(b) For single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, the average over a period of twelve (12) months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or year of purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(c) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a year of issue basis, except as stated in Subparagraph (b) above, with guarantee duration in excess of ten (10) years, the lesser of the average over a period of thirty-six (36) months and the average over a period of twelve (12) months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(d) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a year of issue basis, except as stated in Subparagraph (b) above, with guarantee duration of ten (10) years or less, the average over a period of twelve (12) months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(e) For other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the average over a period of twelve (12) months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(f) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a change in fund basis, except as stated in Subparagraph (b) above, the average over a period of twelve (12) months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of the change in the fund, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

E. Alternative Method for Determining Reference Interest Rates. In the event that the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds is no longer published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc. or in the event that the NAIC determines that the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds as published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc. is no longer appropriate for the determination of the reference interest rate, then an alternative method for determination of the reference interest rate adopted by the NAIC and approved by regulation promulgated by the commissioner may be substituted.

Section 5. Reserve Valuation Method—Life Insurance and Endowment Benefits

A. Except as otherwise provided in Sections 5a, 8 and 10, reserves according to the commissioners reserve valuation method, for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by those policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor. The modified net premiums for a policy shall be the uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for the benefits such that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of the benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (1) over (2), as follows:

(1) A net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of the benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of the policy on which a premium falls due. However, the net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen-year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of the policy.

(2) A net one-year term premium for the benefits provided for in the first policy year.

B. For a life insurance policy issued on or after January 1, 19[ ] [insert the fourth calendar year commencing after the effective date of the 1980 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law] for which the contract premium in the first policy year exceeds that of the second year and for which no comparable additional benefit is provided in the first year for the excess and which provides an endowment benefit or a cash surrender value or a combination in an amount greater than the excess premium, the reserve according to the commissioners reserve valuation method as of any policy anniversary occurring on or before the assumed ending date defined herein as the first policy anniversary on which the sum of any endowment benefit and any cash surrender value then available is greater than the excess premium shall, except as otherwise provided in Section 8, be the greater of the reserve as of the policy anniversary calculated as described in the preceding paragraph and the reserve as of the policy anniversary calculated as described in that paragraph, but with (i) the value defined in subsection A of that paragraph being reduced by fifteen percent (15%) of the amount of such excess first year premium, (ii) all present values of benefits and premiums being determined without reference to premiums or benefits provided for by the policy after the assumed ending date, (iii) the policy being assumed to mature on that date as an endowment, and (iv) the cash surrender value provided on that date being considered as an endowment benefit. In making the above comparison the mortality and interest bases stated in Sections 4 and 4b shall be used.

Drafting Note: The date inserted should remain unchanged from the one appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

C. Reserves according to the commissioners reserve valuation method shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of the preceding paragraphs of this section for:

(1) Life insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums;

(2) Group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended;

(3) Disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts; and

(4) All other benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies and benefits provided by all other annuity and pure endowment contracts.

Section 5a. Reserve Valuation Method—Annuity and Pure Endowment Benefits

A. This section shall apply to all annuity and pure endowment contracts other than group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended.

B. Reserves according to the commissioners annuity reserve method for benefits under annuity or pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in the contracts, shall be the greatest of the respective excesses of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the future guaranteed benefits, including guaranteed nonforfeiture benefits, provided for by the contracts at the end of each respective contract year, over the present value, at the date of valuation, of any future valuation considerations derived from future gross considerations, required by the terms of the contract, that become payable prior to the end of the respective contract year. The future guaranteed benefits shall be determined by using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate, or rates, specified in the contracts for determining guaranteed benefits. The valuation considerations are the portions of the respective gross considerations applied under the terms of the contracts to determine nonforfeiture values.

Section 6. Minimum Reserves

A. In no event shall a company's aggregate reserves for all life insurance policies, excluding disability and accidental death benefits, issued on or after [insert original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State], be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the methods set forth in Sections 5, 5a, 8 and 9 and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating nonforfeiture benefits for the policies.

B. In no event shall the aggregate reserves for all policies, contracts and benefits be less than the aggregate reserves determined by the appointed actuary to be necessary to render the opinion required by Section 3.

Drafting Note: The date inserted should remain unchanged from the one appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

Section 7. Optional Reserve Calculation

A. Reserves for policies and contracts issued prior to [insert original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State] may be calculated, at the option of the company, according to any standards that produce greater aggregate reserves for all such policies and contracts than the minimum reserves required by the laws in effect immediately prior to that date.

B. Reserves for any category of policies, contracts or benefits established by the commissioner, issued on or after [insert original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State], may be calculated, at the option of the company, according to any standards that produce greater aggregate reserves for the category than those calculated according to the minimum standard provided herein, but the rate or rates of interest used for policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall not be greater than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided in the policies or contracts.

C. A company, which adopts at any time a standard of valuation producing greater aggregate reserves than those calculated according to the minimum standard provided under this Act, may adopt a lower standard of valuation with the approval of the commissioner, but not lower than the minimum provided herein; provided that, for the purposes of this section, the holding of additional reserves previously determined by the appointed actuary to be necessary to render the opinion required by Section 3 shall not be deemed to be the adoption of a higher standard of valuation.

Drafting Note: The dates inserted should remain unchanged from those appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

Section 8. Reserve Calculation—Valuation Net Premium Exceeding the Gross Premium Charged

If in any contract year the gross premium charged by a company on a policy or contract is less than the valuation net premium for the policy or contract calculated by the method used in calculating the reserve but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest, the minimum reserve required for the policy or contract shall be the greater of either the reserve calculated according to the mortality table, rate of interest, and method actually used for the policy or contract, or the reserve calculated by the method actually used for the policy or contract but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest and replacing the valuation net premium by the actual gross premium in each contract year for which the valuation net premium exceeds the actual gross premium. The minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest referred to in this section are those standards stated in Sections 4 and 4b.

For a life insurance policy issued on or after January 1, 19[ ] [insert the fourth calendar year commencing after the effective date of the 1980 NAIC amendments to the Standard Valuation Law] for which the gross premium in the first policy year exceeds that of the second year and for which no comparable additional benefit is provided in the first year for the excess and which provides an endowment benefit or a cash surrender value or a combination in an amount greater than the excess premium, the provisions of this section shall be applied as if the method actually used in calculating the reserve for the policy were the method described in Section 5, ignoring the second paragraph of Section 5. The minimum reserve at each policy anniversary of such a policy shall be the greater of the minimum reserve calculated in accordance with Section 5, including the second paragraph of that section, and the minimum reserve calculated in accordance with this section.

Drafting Note: The date inserted should remain unchanged from the one appearing in the State's existing Standard Valuation Law.

Section 9. Reserve Calculation—Indeterminate Premium Plans

In the case of a plan of life insurance that provides for future premium determination, the amounts of which are to be determined by the insurance company based on then estimates of future experience, or in the case of a plan of life insurance or annuity that is of such a nature that the minimum reserves cannot be determined by the methods described in Sections 5, 5a and 8, the reserves that are held under the plan shall:

A. Be appropriate in relation to the benefits and the pattern of premiums for that plan; and

B. Be computed by a method that is consistent with the principles of this Standard Valuation Law, as determined by regulations promulgated by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: If desired the following paragraph may be added.

"Notwithstanding any other provision in the laws of this State, a policy, contract or certificate providing life insurance under such a plan shall be affirmatively approved by the commissioner before it can be marketed, issued, delivered or used in this State."

If the previous paragraph is enacted in a State where prior filing and approval of life insurance policy forms has not been previously required by statute, this paragraph would mandate such action for plans requiring approval under Section 9. If the previous paragraph is enacted in a State where approval is deemed under certain circumstances, the deemed provision would be overridden by the terms of this section. In some States specific reference must be made to any statutory provision that is overridden.

Section 10. Minimum Standard for Accident and Health Insurance Contracts

For accident and health insurance contracts issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual, the standard prescribed in the valuation manual is the minimum standard of valuation required under Section 2B. For [disability, accident and sickness, accident and health] insurance contracts issued on or after [insert the original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in the State] and prior to the operative date of the valuation manual the minimum standard of valuation is the standard adopted by the commissioner by regulation.

Drafting Note: States should substitute their state specific terminology for accident and health contracts in place of the bracketed terms. However, it is critical that each state retain the terms "accident and health" in the title and first sentence of this section because the term is specifically defined for purposes of the standard valuation law and applicability of the valuation manual standards for such contracts issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual.

Section 11. Valuation Manual for Policies Issued On or After the Operative Date of the Valuation Manual

A. For policies issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual, the standard prescribed in the valuation manual is the minimum standard of valuation required under Section 2B, except as provided under Paragraphs E or G of this section.

B. The operative date of the valuation manual is January 1 of the first calendar year following the first July 1 as of which all of the following have occurred:

(1) The valuation manual has been adopted by the NAIC by an affirmative vote of at least forty-two (42) members, or three-fourths of the members voting, whichever is greater.

(2) The Standard Valuation Law, as amended by the NAIC in 2009, or legislation including substantially similar terms and provisions, has been enacted by States representing greater than 75% of the direct premiums written as reported in the following annual statements submitted for 2008: life, accident and health annual statements; health annual statements; or fraternal annual statements.

(3) The Standard Valuation Law, as amended by the NAIC in 2009, or legislation including substantially similar terms and provisions, has been enacted by at least forty-two (42) of the following fifty-five (55) jurisdictions: The fifty States of the United States, American Samoa, the American Virgin Islands, the District of Columbia, Guam, and Puerto Rico.

C. Unless a change in the valuation manual specifies a later effective date, changes to the valuation manual shall be effective on January 1 following the date when [all of the following have occurred]:

(1) The change to the valuation manual has been adopted by the NAIC by an affirmative vote representing:

(a) At least three-fourths (3/4) of the members of the NAIC voting, but not less than a majority of the total membership, and

(b) Members of the NAIC representing jurisdictions totaling greater than 75% of the direct premiums written as reported in the following annual statements most recently available prior to the vote in Subsection C(1)(a): life, accident and health annual statements, health annual statements, or fraternal annual statements.

Drafting Note: The following section is optional:

[(2) The valuation manual becomes effective pursuant to [an order of] [regulation adopted by] the commissioner.]

D. The valuation manual must specify all of the following:

(1) Minimum valuation standards for and definitions of the policies or contracts subject to Section 2B. Such minimum valuation standards shall be:

(a) The commissioners reserve valuation method for life insurance contracts, other than annuity contracts, subject to Section 2B;

(b) The commissioners annuity reserve valuation method for annuity contracts subject to Section 2B; and

(c) Minimum reserves for all other policies or contracts subject to Section 2B.

(2) Which policies or contracts or types of policies or contracts that are subject to the requirements of a principle-based valuation in Section 12A and the minimum valuation standards consistent with those requirements;

(3) For policies and contracts subject to a principle-based valuation under Section 12:

(a) Requirements for the format of reports to the commissioner under Section 12B(3) and which shall include information necessary to determine if the valuation is appropriate and in compliance with this Act;

(b) Assumptions shall be prescribed for risks over which the company does not have significant control or influence.

(c) Procedures for corporate governance and oversight of the actuarial function, and a process for appropriate waiver or modification of such procedures.

(4) For policies not subject to a principle-based valuation under Section 12 the minimum valuation standard shall either

(a) Be consistent with the minimum standard of valuation prior to the operative date of the valuation manual; or

(b) Develop reserves that quantify the benefits and guarantees, and the funding, associated with the contracts and their risks at a level of conservatism that reflects conditions that include unfavorable events that have a reasonable probability of occurring.

Drafting Note: The wording of 11D(4)(b) does not preclude, for policies with significant tail risk, reflecting in the reserve conditions appropriately adverse to quantify the tail risk.

(5) Other requirements, including, but not limited to, those relating to reserve methods, models for measuring risk, generation of economic scenarios, assumptions, margins, use of company experience, risk measurement, disclosure, certifications, reports, actuarial opinions and memorandums, transition rules and internal controls; and

(6) The data and form of the data required under Section 13, with whom the data must be submitted, and may specify other requirements including data analyses and reporting of analyses.

E. In the absence of a specific valuation requirement or if a specific valuation requirement in the valuation manual is not, in the opinion of the commissioner, in compliance with this Act, then the company shall, with respect to such requirements, comply with minimum valuation standards prescribed by the commissioner by regulation.

F. The commissioner may engage a qualified actuary, at the expense of the company, to perform an actuarial examination of the company and opine on the appropriateness of any reserve assumption or method used by the company, or to review and opine on a company's compliance with any requirement set forth in this Act. The commissioner may rely upon the opinion, regarding provisions contained within this Act, of a qualified actuary engaged by the commissioner of another State, district or territory of the United States. As used in this paragraph, term "engage" includes employment and contracting.

G. The commissioner may require a company to change any assumption or method that in the opinion of the commissioner is necessary in order to comply with the requirements of the valuation manual or this Act; and the company shall adjust the reserves as required by the commissioner. The commissioner may take other disciplinary action as permitted pursuant to [insert applicable law].

Drafting Note: This section is intended to conform to the State's administrative procedures, including notice and due process.

Drafting Note: Section 11 presumes that each State is permitted under their State laws to "adopt" the valuation manual in a manner similar to how the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual becomes effective in many States, without a separate regulatory process such as adoption by regulation. It is desirable that all States adopt the valuation manual requirements and that such adoption be achieved without a separate State regulatory process in order to achieve uniformity of reserve standards in all States. However, to the extent that a State may need to adopt the valuation manual through a formal State regulatory process, Sections 11B and/or 11C may be amended to reflect any State's need to adopt the valuation manual through regulation.

Section 12. Requirements of a Principle-Based Valuation

A. A company must establish reserves using a principle-based valuation that meets the following conditions for policies or contracts as specified in the valuation manual:

(1) Quantify the benefits and guarantees, and the funding, associated with the contracts and their risks at a level of conservatism that reflects conditions that include unfavorable events that have a reasonable probability of occurring during the lifetime of the contracts. For polices or contracts with significant tail risk, reflects conditions appropriately adverse to quantify the tail risk.

(2) Incorporate assumptions, risk analysis methods and financial models and management techniques that are consistent with, but not necessarily identical to, those utilized within the company's overall risk assessment process, while recognizing potential differences in financial reporting structures and any prescribed assumptions or methods.

(3) Incorporate assumptions that are derived in one of the following manners:

(a) The assumption is prescribed in the valuation manual.

(b) For assumptions that are not prescribed, the assumptions shall:

(i) Be established utilizing the company's available experience, to the extent it is relevant and statistically credible; or

(ii) To the extent that company data is not available, relevant, or statistically credible, be established utilizing other relevant, statistically credible experience.

(4) Provide margins for uncertainty including adverse deviation and estimation error, such that the greater the uncertainty the larger the margin and resulting reserve.

B. A company using a principle-based valuation for one or more policies or contracts subject to this section as specified in the valuation manual shall:

(1) Establish procedures for corporate governance and oversight of the actuarial valuation function consistent with those described in the valuation manual.

(2) Provide to the commissioner and the board of directors an annual certification of the effectiveness of the internal controls with respect to the principle-based valuation. Such controls shall be designed to assure that all material risks inherent in the liabilities and associated assets subject to such valuation are included in the valuation, and that valuations are made in accordance with the valuation manual. The certification shall be based on the controls in place as of the end of the preceding calendar year.

(3) Develop, and file with the commissioner upon request, a principle-based valuation report that complies with standards prescribed in the valuation manual.

C. A principle-based valuation may include a prescribed formulaic reserve component.

Section 13. Experience Reporting for Policies In Force On or After the Operative Date of the Valuation Manual

A company shall submit mortality, morbidity, policyholder behavior, or expense experience and other data as prescribed in the valuation manual.

Section 14. Confidentiality

A. For purposes of this Section 14, "Confidential Information" shall mean:

(1) A memorandum in support of an opinion submitted under Section 3 of this Act and any other documents, materials and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced or obtained by or disclosed to the commissioner or any other person in connection with such memorandum;

(2) All documents, materials and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced or obtained by or disclosed to the commissioner or any other person in the course of an examination made under Section 11F of this Act; provided, however, that if an examination report or other material prepared in connection with an examination made under the [insert reference to examination law] is not held as private and confidential information under the [insert reference to examination law], an examination report or other material prepared in connection with an examination made under Section 11F of this Act shall not be "Confidential Information" to the same extent as if such examination report or other material had been prepared under the [insert reference to examination law];

(3) Any reports, documents, materials and other information developed by a company in support of, or in connection with, an annual certification by the company under Section 12B(2) of this Act evaluating the effectiveness of the company's internal controls with respect to a principle-based valuation and any other documents, materials and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced or obtained by or disclosed to the commissioner or any other person in connection with such reports, documents, materials and other information;

(4) Any principle-based valuation report developed under Section 12B(3) of this Act and any other documents, materials and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced or obtained by or disclosed to the commissioner or any other person in connection with such report; and

(5) Any documents, materials, data and other information submitted by a company under Section 13 of this Act (collectively, "experience data") and any other documents, materials, data and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created or produced in connection with such experience data, in each case that include any potentially company-identifying or personally identifiable information, that is provided to or obtained by the commissioner (together with any "experience data", the "experience materials") and any other documents, materials, data and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced or obtained by or disclosed to the commissioner or any other person in connection with such experience materials.

B. Privilege for, and Confidentiality of, Confidential Information

(1) Except as provided in this Section 14, a company's Confidential Information is confidential by law and privileged, and shall not be subject to [insert open records, freedom of information, sunshine or other appropriate phrase], shall not be subject to subpoena and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action; provided, however, that the commissioner is authorized to use the Confidential Information in the furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought against the company as a part of the commissioner's official duties.

(2) Neither the commissioner nor any person who received Confidential Information while acting under the authority of the commissioner shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any Confidential Information.

(3) In order to assist in the performance of the commissioner's duties, the commissioner may share Confidential Information (a) with other state, federal and international regulatory agencies and with the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries and (b) in the case of Confidential Information specified in Sections 14A(1) and 14A(4) only, with the Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline or its successor upon request stating that the Confidential Information is required for the purpose of professional disciplinary proceedings and with state, federal and international law enforcement officials; in the case of (a) and (b), provided that such recipient agrees, and has the legal authority to agree, to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of such documents, materials, data and other information in the same manner and to the same extent as required for the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Subsection B(3) assumes the recipient has the authority to protect the applicable confidentiality or privilege, but does not address the verification of that authority, which would presumably occur in the context of a broader information sharing agreement.

(4) The commissioner may receive documents, materials, data and other information, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials, data or information, from the NAIC and its affiliates and subsidiaries, from regulatory or law enforcement officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions and from the Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline or its successor and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any document, material, data or other information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material or other information.

(5) The commissioner may enter into agreements governing sharing and use of information consistent with this Section 14B.

(6) No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the Confidential Information shall occur as a result of disclosure to the commissioner under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in Section 14B(3).

(7) A privilege established under the law of any state or jurisdiction that is substantially similar to the privilege established under this Section 14B shall be available and enforced in any proceeding in, and in any court of, this State.

(8) In this Section 14 "regulatory agency," "law enforcement agency" and the "NAIC" include, but are not limited to, their employees, agents, consultants and contractors.

C. Notwithstanding Section 14B, any Confidential Information specified in Sections 14A(1) and 14A(4):

(1) May be subject to subpoena for the purpose of defending an action seeking damages from the appointed actuary submitting the related memorandum in support of an opinion submitted under Section 3 of this Act or principle-based valuation report developed under Section 12B(3) of this Act by reason of an action required by this Act or by regulations promulgated hereunder;

(2) May otherwise be released by the commissioner with the written consent of the company; and

(3) Once any portion of a memorandum in support of an opinion submitted under Section 3 of this Act or a principle-based valuation report developed under Section 12B(3) of this Act is cited by the company in its marketing or is publicly volunteered to or before a governmental agency other than a state insurance department or is released by the company to the news media, all portions of such memorandum or report shall no longer be confidential.

Drafting Note: The following section is optional:

Section 15. Single State Exemption

A. The commissioner may exempt specific product forms or product lines of a domestic company that is licensed and doing business only in [Name of State] from the requirements of Section 11 provided:

(1) The commissioner has issued an exemption in writing to the company and has not subsequently revoked the exemption in writing; and

(2) The company computes reserves using assumptions and methods used prior to the operative date of the valuation manual in addition to any requirements established by the commissioner and promulgated by regulation.

B. For any company granted an exemption under this section, Sections 3, 4, 4a, 4b, 5, 5a, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 shall be applicable. With respect to any company applying this exemption, any reference to Section 11 found in Sections 3, 4, 4a, 4b, 5, 5a, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 shall not be applicable.]

Section [15 or16]. Effective Date

All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provision of this Act are hereby repealed as of [insert original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State]. This Act shall take effect [insert original effective date of the Standard Valuation Law in this State].

Drafting Note: A state that has adopted specific valuation standards, other than the SVL, will need to review those standards and make changes if needed in order for the valuation manual standards to apply (such as sunsetting the specific State standard on the operative date of the valuation manual or subsequent changes to the valuation manual).

STANDARD VALUATION LAW

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STANDARD VALUATION LAW

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2009

STANDARD VALUATION LAW (#820)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The project modifies the Standard Valuation Law to enable a principle-based valuation methodology. The major issues were to authorize the use of a valuation manual which will contain the minimum reserve and related requirements and to determine which items would be in the revised Standard Valuation Law and which items would be in the valuation manual. The modifications to the model consist of adding new sections to the existing model: a section regarding the valuation manual; a section to list the requirements of a principle-based valuation; a section to require companies to submit mortality, morbidity, policyholder behavior, or expense experience and other data as prescribed in the valuation manual; and a section regarding confidentiality. There is also an optional section to exempt specific product forms or product lines of a domestic company that is licensed and doing business only in one jurisdiction from the principle-based valuation requirements.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The 2009 members of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are: Kansas (chair), South Carolina (Vice Chair), Alaska, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Hawaii, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

From 2002 to 2005 the Task Force was given the charge to review the Standard Valuation Law to determine if changes are necessary. In 2006 the charge was to review the Standard Valuation Law, related model regulations, and actuarial guidelines to determine if changes are necessary, particularly any that are needed to facilitate the implementation of a principles-based approach. In 2007 the request for model law development was approved.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

Several regulators developed drafts of the required modifications. A subgroup of the Task Force was formed to made changes and made a recommendation to the Task Force. The Task Force made several modifications.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The subgroup discussed the proposal at public conference calls on this topic on the following dates: February 7, 2006; March 9, 2006; May 4, 2006; July 31, 2006; August 15, 2006; March 9, 2007; April 30, 2007; July 19, 2007; and August 23, 2007. The Task Force held public conference calls on this topic on October 22, 2007; November 1, 2007; February 5, 2008; February 20, 2008; February 27, 2008; April 23, 2008; April 29, 2008; May 5, 2008; May 8, 2008; July 18, 2008; August 5, 2008; August 19, 2008; August 21, 2008; November 7, 2008; November 13, 2008; February 9, 2008; April 8, 2009; April 27, 2009; and May 11, 2009. The Task Force also discussed the modifications at National Meeting in June, 2007; September, 2007; December, 2007; March, 2008; June, 2008; September, 2008; December, 2008; March, 2009; and June, 2009. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties. Drafts of the document were released for comment on October 20, 2006; January 25, 2007; February 13, 2007; July 19, 2007; September 29, 2007; November 30, 2007; January 7, 2008; March 29, 2008; May 31, 2008; September 22, 2008; November 13, 2008; December 5, 2008; April 27, 2009; and May 21, 2009. Several memos and letters were submitted to the Task Force relative to this project.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

Issue #1 – Scope of the law; The Task Force decided that principle-based reserves would be authorized on a prospective basis and the existing provisions of the Standard Valuation Law should not change for policies and contracts currently in-force. Because some of the definitions in Section 1 could change the valuation requirements for policies or contracts currently in-force, the definitions are applicable only after the operative date of the valuation manual. Section 2 and Section 3 were split so that the reserve requirements and the actuarial opinion requirements are defined in model regulations and actuarial guidelines prior to the operative date of the valuation manual, and in the valuation manual thereafter.

Issue #2 – Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum; The current requirements for the actuarial opinion and memorandum are in the Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Regulation. Several members of the Task Force wanted to continue the use of a regulation. The Task Force decided to include the actuarial opinion and memorandum requirements in the valuation manual to be effective after the operative date of the valuation manual.

Issue #3 – Peer Review; The American Academy of Actuaries recommended the use of a peer review actuary to review the principle-based reserve process. Several drafts of the law included a requirement that a peer review actuary be appointed. Because the peer review actuary would be appointed by the company and several states indicated they could rely only on an actuary engaged by the state, the Task Force decided to delete the provision.

Issue #4 – Adoption of the Valuation Manual; The Task Force discussed the requirements to adopt the valuation manual and ensuing revisions. Some members of the Task Force wanted a unanimous vote of the NAIC for adoption and revisions. The Task Force decided to require least three-fourths of the members of the NAIC and 75% of the total direct premium written to approve adoption and revisions.

At the Summer National Meeting in June 2009, a motion was made to adopt the revisions to the Standard Valuation Law. The motion passed with Alabama, Alaska, California, Connecticut, Florida, Minnesota, Nebraska, Ohio, South Carolina, and Texas voting yes. New York abstained and Arkansas was absent.

On July 28, 2009, the Principles-Based Reserve (EX) Working Group, the Solvency Modernization (EX) Task Force and the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee held a joint conference call to consider the revisions adopted by Task Force. During the call, the Principles-Based Reserve (EX) Working Group and the Solvency Modernization (EX) Task Force voted to adopt the revisions, but the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee deferred voting on the revisions until additional information could be obtained concerning how the revisions to the Standard Valuation Law would work with the yet to be completed Valuation Manual.

The Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee held a conference call on Sept. 9, 2009, to consider the revisions. A motion was made to adopt the revisions subject to two conditions: (1) the Valuation Manual be completed by the end of 2009; and (2) the Valuation Manual include safeguards for minimum prescribed formulaic reserves. The motion passed with Alabama, California, District of Columbia, Florida, Iowa, Louisiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota and Wisconsin voting yes. New York abstained.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

The Standard Valuation Law is an accreditation standard. The modifications need to be adopted in a substantially similar manner.

NAIC MODEL RULE (REGULATION) FOR RECOGNIZING A NEW ANNUITY MORTALITY TABLE FOR USE IN DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES FOR ANNUITIES

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This rule is promulgated by the Commissioner of Insurance pursuant to Section [insert applicable reference to the Standard Valuation Law] of the [insert state] Insurance Statute.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this rule is to recognize the following mortality tables for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for annuity and pure endowment contracts: the 1983 Table "a," the 1983 Group Annuity Mortality (1983 GAM) Table, the Annuity 2000 Mortality Table, the 2012 Individual Annuity Reserving (2012 IAR) Mortality Table, and the 1994 Group Annuity Reserving (1994 GAR) Table.

Section 3. Definitions

A. As used in this rule "1983 Table 'a'" means that mortality table developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee to Recommend a New Mortality Basis for Individual Annuity Valuation and adopted as a recognized mortality table for annuities in June 1982 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. [See 1982 Proceedings of the NAIC II, page 454.]

B. As used in this rule "1983 GAM Table" means that mortality table developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee on Annuities and adopted as a recognized mortality table for annuities in December 1983 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. [See 1984 Proceedings of the NAIC I, pages 414 to 415.]

C. As used in this rule "1994 GAR Table" means that mortality table developed by the Society of Actuaries Group Annuity Valuation Table Task Force and shown on pages 866-867 of Volume XLVII of the Transactions of the Society of Actuaries (1995).

D. As used in this rule "Annuity 2000 Mortality Table" means that mortality table developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee on Life Insurance Research and shown on page 240 of Volume XLVII of the Transactions of the Society of Actuaries (1995).

E. As used in this rule, "Period table" means a table of mortality rates applicable to a given calendar year (the Period).

F. As used in this rule, "Generational mortality table" means a mortality table containing a set of mortality rates that decrease for a given age from one year to the next based on a combination of a Period table and a projection scale containing rates of mortality improvement.

G. As used in this rule "2012 IAR Mortality Table" means that Generational mortality table developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee on Life Insurance Research and containing rates, q_x^{2012+n}, derived from a combination of the 2012 IAM Period Table and Projection Scale G2, using the methodology stated in Section 5.

H. As used in this rule, "2012 Individual Annuity Mortality Period Life (2012 IAM Period) Table" means the Period table containing loaded mortality rates for calendar year 2012. This table contains rates, q_x^{2012}, developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee on Life Insurance Research and is shown in Appendices 1-2.

I. As used in this rule, "Projection Scale G2 (Scale G2)" is a table of annual rates, $G2_x$, of mortality improvement by age for projecting future mortality rates beyond calendar year 2012. This table was developed by the Society of Actuaries Committee on Life Insurance Research and is shown in Appendices 3-4.

Section 4. Individual Annuity or Pure Endowment Contracts

A. Except as provided in Subsections B and C of this section, the 1983 Table "a" is recognized and approved as an individual annuity mortality table for valuation and, at the option of the company, may be used for purposes of determining the minimum standard of valuation for any individual annuity or pure endowment contract issued on or after [insert effective date of 1976 amendments to the Standard Valuation Law].

B. Except as provided in Subsection C of this section, either the 1983 Table "a" or the Annuity 2000 Mortality Table shall be used for determining the minimum standard of valuation for any individual annuity or pure endowment contract issued on or after [insert date on or after the effective date of original adoption of this regulation].

C. Except as provided in Subsection D of this section, the Annuity 2000 Mortality Table shall be used for determining the minimum standard of valuation for any individual annuity or pure endowment contract issued on or after [insert date on or after effective date of this amended regulation].

D. Except as provided in Subsection E of this section, the 2012 IAR Mortality Table shall be used for determining the minimum standard of valuation for any individual annuity or pure endowment contract issued on or after [insert date on or after effective date of this amended regulation].

E. The 1983 Table "a" without projection is to be used for determining the minimum standards of valuation for an individual annuity or pure endowment contract issued on or after [insert appropriate date on or after the effective date of this amended regulation], solely when the contract is based on life contingencies and is issued to fund periodic benefits arising from:

(1) Settlements of various forms of claims pertaining to court settlements or out of court settlements from tort actions;

(2) Settlements involving similar actions such as worker's compensation claims; or

(3) Settlements of long term disability claims where a temporary or life annuity has been used in lieu of continuing disability payments.

Section 5. Application of the 2012 IAR Mortality Table

In using the 2012 IAR Mortality Table, the mortality rate for a person age x in year (2012 + n) is calculated as follows:

$$q_x^{2012+n} = q_x^{2012}(1 - G2_x)^n$$

The resulting q_x^{2012+n} shall be rounded to three decimal places per 1,000, e.g., 0.741 deaths per 1,000. Also, the rounding shall occur according to the formula above, starting at the 2012 period table rate.

For example, for a male age 30, $q_x^{2012} = 0.741$.
$q_x^{2013} = 0.741 * (1 – 0.010) ^ 1 = 0.73359$, which is rounded to 0.734.
$q_x^{2014} = 0.741 * (1 – 0.010) ^ 2 = 0.7262541$, which is rounded to 0.726.
A method leading to incorrect rounding would be to calculate q_x^{2014} as $q_x^{2013} * (1 – 0.010)$, or 0.734 * 0.99 = 0.727. It is incorrect to use the already rounded q_x^{2013} to calculate q_x^{2014}.

Section 6. Group Annuity or Pure Endowment Contracts

A. Except as provided in Subsections B and C of this section, the 1983 GAM Table, the 1983 Table "a" and the 1994 GAR Table are recognized and approved as group annuity mortality tables for valuation and, at the option of the company, any one of these tables may be used for purposes of valuation for an annuity or pure endowment purchased on or after [insert effective date of 1976 amendments to the Standard Valuation Law] under a group annuity or pure endowment contract.

B. Except as provided in Subsection C of this section, either the 1983 GAM Table or the 1994 GAR Table shall be used for determining the minimum standard of valuation for any annuity or pure endowment purchased on or after [insert date on or after effective date of original adoption of this regulation] under a group annuity or pure endowment contract.

C. The 1994 GAR Table shall be used for determining the minimum standard of valuation for any annuity or pure endowment purchased on or after [insert appropriate date on or after effective date of this amended regulation] under a group annuity or pure endowment contract.

Section 7. Application of the 1994 GAR Table

In using the 1994 GAR Table, the mortality rate for a person age x in year (1994 + n) is calculated as follows:

$$q_x^{1994+n} = q_x^{1994}(1 - AA_x)^n$$

where the q_x^{1994} and AA_x are as specified in the 1994 GAR Table.

Section 8. Separability

If any provision of this rule or its application to any person or circumstances is for any reason held to be invalid, the remainder of the regulation and the application of its provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected.

Section 9. Effective Date

The effective date of this rule is [it is recommended that the amended regulation be effective 1/1/2014].

NAIC MODEL RULE (REGULATION) FOR RECOGNIZING A NEW ANNUITY MORTALITY TABLE FOR USE IN DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES FOR ANNUITIES

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

NAIC MODEL RULE (REGULATION) FOR RECOGNIZING A NEW ANNUITY MORTALITY TABLE FOR USE IN DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES FOR ANNUITIES

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2012

MODEL REGULATION FOR RECOGNIZING A NEW ANNUITY MORTALITY TABLE FOR USE IN DETERMINING RESERVE LIABILITIES FOR ANNUITIES (#821)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

In August 2011, the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force voted to send a model law development request to the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee to amend the Model Regulation for Recognizing a New Annuity Mortality Table for use in Determining Reserve Liabilities for Annuities (#821). The Executive (EX) Committee approved the request to work on this model regulation at the 2011 Fall National Meeting. This model specifies the annuity mortality table to be used for determining the minimum reserves for individual and group annuities. This regulation was last amended in 1996 to incorporate the Annuity 2000 Mortality Table for individual annuities. The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force has released for comment the 2012 Individual Annuity Mortality Table, which was developed by the Society of Actuaries and the American Academy of Actuaries. Proposed amendments to the model regulation were released for comment at the 2012 Spring National Meeting. The model regulation was adopted by the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force Oct. 23, 2012, and adopted by the Life Insurance and Annuity (A) Committee Nov. 13, 2012. The model regulation is on the agenda for consideration of adoption during the Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary joint meeting at the 2012 Fall National Meeting.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force was charged by the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee with development of the Valuation Manual. The 2012 members of the Task Force are: Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The Life and Health Actuarial Task Force (now the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force) was given the following 2011 Charge: Work with the American Academy of Actuaries and the Society of Actuaries to develop new mortality tables for the valuation of payout annuities, for preneed, simplified issue and guaranteed issue forms of life insurance and minimum nonforfeiture requirements for life insurance. Provide periodic status reports on this project. 2010 Summer National Meeting

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process and Due Process

- The 2011 Life Actuarial (A) Task Force (formerly the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force) Charge included the development of new mortality tables, including a payout annuity table.
- The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force adopted a model law development request to send to the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee to amend the Model Regulation for Recognizing a New Annuity Mortality Table for use in Determining Reserve Liabilities for Annuities (#821).
- The Executive (EX) Committee approved the request to work on this model law at the 2011 Fall National Meeting.
- The Life Actuarial (A) Task Force released for comment the 2012 Individual Annuity Mortality Table, which was developed by the Society of Actuaries and the American Academy of Actuaries. Proposed amendments to the model regulation were released for comment at the 2012 Spring National Meeting.
- The model regulation was adopted by the Life Actuarial (A) Task Force Oct. 23, 2012.
- The Life Insurance and Annuity (A) Committee adopted the model regulation Nov. 13, 2012.
- The model regulation is on the agenda for consideration of adoption during the Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary joint meeting at the 2012 Fall National Meeting.

5. A Discussion of the Significant Issues

This regulation was last amended in 1996 to incorporate the Annuity 2000 Mortality Table for individual annuities.

6. Any Other Important Information

ACTUARIAL OPINION AND MEMORANDUM REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to prescribe:

A. Requirements for statements of actuarial opinion that are to be submitted in accordance with [insert state equivalent to Section 3 of the Standard Valuation Law], and for memoranda in support thereof;

B. Rules applicable to the appointment of an appointed actuary; and

C. Guidance as to the meaning of "adequacy of reserves."

Section 2. Authority

This regulation is issued pursuant to the authority vested in the Commissioner of Insurance of the State of [insert state] under [insert citation, generally the state's standard valuation law]. This regulation will take effect for annual statements for the year 20[ ].

Section 3. Scope

This regulation shall apply to all life insurance companies and fraternal benefit societies doing business in this State and to all life insurance companies and fraternal benefit societies that are authorized to reinsure life insurance, annuities or accident and health insurance business in this State. This regulation shall be applied in a manner that allows the appointed actuary to utilize his or her professional judgment in performing the asset analysis and developing the actuarial opinion and supporting memoranda, consistent with relevant actuarial standards of practice. However, the commissioner shall have the authority to specify specific methods of actuarial analysis and actuarial assumptions when, in the commissioner's judgment, these specifications are necessary for an acceptable opinion to be rendered relative to the adequacy of reserves and related items.

This regulation shall be applicable to all annual statements filed with the office of the commissioner after the effective date of this regulation. A statement of opinion on the adequacy of the reserves and related actuarial items based on an asset adequacy analysis in accordance with Section 6 of this regulation, and a memorandum in support thereof in accordance with Section 7 of this regulation, shall be required each year.

Section 4. Definitions

A. "Actuarial Opinion" means the opinion of an appointed actuary regarding the adequacy of the reserves and related actuarial items based on an asset adequacy analysis in accordance with Section 6 of this regulation and with applicable Actuarial Standards of Practice.

B. "Actuarial Standards Board" means the board established by the American Academy of Actuaries to develop and promulgate standards of actuarial practice.

C. "Annual statement" means that statement required by Section [insert applicable section] of the Insurance Law to be filed by the company with the office of the commissioner annually.

D. "Appointed actuary" means an individual who is appointed or retained in accordance with the requirements set forth in Section 5C of this regulation to provide the actuarial opinion and supporting memorandum as required by [insert reference to state equivalent of Section 3 of the Standard Valuation Law].

E. "Asset adequacy analysis" means an analysis that meets the standards and other requirements referred to in Section 5D of this regulation.

F. "Commissioner" means the Insurance Commissioner of this State.

G. "Company" means a life insurance company, fraternal benefit society or reinsurer subject to the provisions of this regulation.

H. "Qualified actuary" means an individual who meets the requirements set forth in Section 5B of this regulation.

Section 5. General Requirements

A. Submission of Statement of Actuarial Opinion

(1) There is to be included on or attached to Page 1 of the annual statement for each year beginning with the year in which this regulation becomes effective the statement of an appointed actuary, entitled "Statement of Actuarial Opinion," setting forth an opinion relating to reserves and related actuarial items held in support of policies and contracts, in accordance with Section 6 of this regulation.

(2) Upon written request by the company, the commissioner may grant an extension of the date for submission of the statement of actuarial opinion.

B. Qualified Actuary. A "qualified actuary" is an individual who:

(1) Is a member in good standing of the American Academy of Actuaries;

(2) Is qualified to sign statements of actuarial opinion for life and health insurance company annual statements in accordance with the American Academy of Actuaries qualification standards for actuaries signing such statements;

(3) Is familiar with the valuation requirements applicable to life and health insurance companies;

(4) Has not been found by the commissioner (or if so found has subsequently been reinstated as a qualified actuary), following appropriate notice and hearing to have:

(a) Violated any provision of, or any obligation imposed by, the Insurance Law or other law in the course of his or her dealings as a qualified actuary;

(b) Been found guilty of fraudulent or dishonest practices;

(c) Demonstrated his or her incompetency, lack of cooperation, or untrustworthiness to act as a qualified actuary;

(d) Submitted to the commissioner during the past five (5) years, pursuant to this regulation, an actuarial opinion or memorandum that the commissioner rejected because it did not meet the provisions of this regulation including standards set by the Actuarial Standards Board; or

(e) Resigned or been removed as an actuary within the past five (5) years as a result of acts or omissions indicated in any adverse report on examination or as a result of failure to adhere to generally acceptable actuarial standards; and

(5) Has not failed to notify the commissioner of any action taken by any commissioner of any other state similar to that under Paragraph (4) above.

C. Appointed Actuary. An "appointed actuary" is a qualified actuary who is appointed or retained to prepare the Statement of Actuarial Opinion required by this regulation, either directly by or by the authority of the board of directors through an executive officer of the company other than the qualified actuary. The company shall give the commissioner timely written notice of the name, title (and, in the case of a consulting actuary, the name of the firm) and manner of appointment or retention of each person appointed or retained by the company as an appointed actuary and shall state in the notice that the person meets the requirements set forth in Subsection B. Once notice is furnished, no further notice is required with respect to this person, provided that the company shall give the commissioner timely written notice in the event the actuary ceases to be appointed or retained as an appointed actuary or to meet the requirements set forth in Subsection B. If any person appointed or retained as an appointed actuary replaces a previously appointed actuary, the notice shall so state and give the reasons for replacement.

D. Standards for Asset Adequacy Analysis. The asset adequacy analysis required by this regulation:

(1) Shall conform to the Standards of Practice as promulgated from time to time by the Actuarial Standards Board and on any additional standards under this regulation, which standards are to form the basis of the statement of actuarial opinion in accordance with this regulation; and

(2) Shall be based on methods of analysis as are deemed appropriate for such purposes by the Actuarial Standards Board.

E. Liabilities to be covered.

(1) Under authority of [insert state equivalent of Section 3 of the Standard Valuation Law], the statement of actuarial opinion shall apply to all in force business on the statement date, whether directly issued or assumed, regardless of when or where issued, e.g., reserves of Exhibits 8, 9 and 10, and claim liabilities in Exhibit 11, Part 1 and equivalent items in the separate account statement or statements.

(2) If the appointed actuary determines as the result of asset adequacy analysis that a reserve should be held in addition to the aggregate reserve held by the company and calculated in accordance with methods set forth in the Standard Valuation Law, the company shall establish the additional reserve.

(3) Additional reserves established under Paragraph (2) above and deemed not necessary in subsequent years may be released. Any amounts released shall be disclosed in the actuarial opinion for the applicable year. The release of such reserves would not be deemed an adoption of a lower standard of valuation.

Section 6. Statement of Actuarial Opinion Based On an Asset Adequacy Analysis

A. General Description. The statement of actuarial opinion submitted in accordance with this section shall consist of:

(1) A paragraph identifying the appointed actuary and his or her qualifications (see Subsection B(1));

(2) A scope paragraph identifying the subjects on which an opinion is to be expressed and describing the scope of the appointed actuary's work, including a tabulation delineating the reserves and related actuarial items that have been analyzed for asset adequacy and the method of analysis, (see Subsection B(2)) and identifying the reserves and related actuarial items covered by the opinion that have not been so analyzed;

(3) A reliance paragraph describing those areas, if any, where the appointed actuary has deferred to other experts in developing data, procedures or assumptions, (e.g., anticipated cash flows from currently owned assets, including variation in cash flows according to economic scenarios (see Subsection B(3)), supported by a statement of each such expert in the form prescribed by Subsection E; and

(4) An opinion paragraph expressing the appointed actuary's opinion with respect to the adequacy of the supporting assets to mature the liabilities (see Subsection B(6)).

(5) One or more additional paragraphs will be needed in individual company cases as follows:

(a) If the appointed actuary considers it necessary to state a qualification of his or her opinion;

(b) If the appointed actuary must disclose an inconsistency in the method of analysis or basis of asset allocation used at the prior opinion date with that used for this opinion;

(c) If the appointed actuary must disclose whether additional reserves as of the prior opinion date are released as of this opinion date, and the extent of the release;

(d) If the appointed actuary chooses to add a paragraph briefly describing the assumptions that form the basis for the actuarial opinion.

B. Recommended Language. The following paragraphs are to be included in the statement of actuarial opinion in accordance with this section. Language is that which in typical circumstances should be included in a statement of actuarial opinion. The language may be modified as needed to meet the circumstances of a particular case, but the appointed actuary should use language that clearly expresses his or her professional judgment. However, in any event the opinion shall retain all pertinent aspects of the language provided in this section.

(1) The opening paragraph should generally indicate the appointed actuary's relationship to the company and his or her qualifications to sign the opinion. For a company actuary, the opening paragraph of the actuarial opinion should include a statement such as:

"I, [name], am [title] of [insurance company name] and a member of the American Academy of Actuaries. I was appointed by, or by the authority of, the Board of Directors of said insurer to render this opinion as stated in the letter to the commissioner dated [insert date]. I meet the Academy qualification standards for rendering the opinion and am familiar with the valuation requirements applicable to life and health insurance companies."

For a consulting actuary, the opening paragraph should include a statement such as:

"I, [name], a member of the American Academy of Actuaries, am associated with the firm of [name of consulting firm]. I have been appointed by, or by the authority of, the Board of Directors of [name of company] to render this opinion as stated in the letter to the commissioner dated [insert date]. I meet the Academy qualification standards for rendering the opinion and am familiar with the valuation requirements applicable to life and health insurance companies."

(2) The scope paragraph should include a statement such as:

"I have examined the actuarial assumptions and actuarial methods used in determining reserves and related actuarial items listed below, as shown in the annual statement of the company, as prepared for filing with state regulatory officials, as of December 31, 20[ ]. Tabulated below are those reserves and related actuarial items which have been subjected to asset adequacy analysis.

Drafting Notes: (a) The additional actuarial reserves are the reserves established under Paragraph (2) of Section 5E; (b) The appointed actuary should indicate the method of analysis, determined in accordance with the standards for asset adequacy analysis referred to in Section 5D of this regulation, by means of symbols that should be defined in footnotes to the table; (c) Allocated amount of Asset Valuation Reserve (AVR).

(3) If the appointed actuary has relied on other experts to develop certain portions of the analysis, the reliance paragraph should include a statement such as:

"I have relied on [name], [title] for [e.g., "anticipated cash flows from currently owned assets, including variations in cash flows according to economic scenarios" or "certain critical aspects of the analysis performed in conjunction with forming my opinion"], as certified in the attached statement. I have reviewed the information relied upon for reasonableness."

A statement of reliance on other experts should be accompanied by a statement by each of the experts in the form prescribed by Section 6E.

(4) If the appointed actuary has examined the underlying asset and liability records, the reliance paragraph should include a statement such as:

"My examination included such review of the actuarial assumptions and actuarial methods and of the underlying basic asset and liability records and such tests of the actuarial calculations as I considered necessary. I also reconciled the underlying basic asset and liability records to [exhibits and schedules listed as applicable] of the company's current annual statement."

(5) If the appointed actuary has not examined the underlying records, but has relied upon data (e.g., listings and summaries of policies in force or asset records) prepared by the company, the reliance paragraph should include a statement such as:

"In forming my opinion on [specify types of reserves] I relied upon data prepared by [name and title of company officer certifying in force records or other data] as certified in the attached statements. I evaluated that data for reasonableness and consistency. I also reconciled that data to [exhibits and schedules to be listed as applicable] of the company's current annual statement. In other respects, my examination included review of the actuarial assumptions and actuarial methods used and tests of the calculations I considered necessary."

The section shall be accompanied by a statement by each person relied upon in the form prescribed by Subsection E.

(6) The opinion paragraph should include a statement such as:

"In my opinion the reserves and related actuarial values concerning the statement items identified above:

(a) Are computed in accordance with presently accepted actuarial standards consistently applied and are fairly stated, in accordance with sound actuarial principles;

(b) Are based on actuarial assumptions that produce reserves at least as great as those called for in any contract provision as to reserve basis and method, and are in accordance with all other contract provisions;

(c) Meet the requirements of the Insurance Law and regulation of the state of [state of domicile]; and are at least as great as the minimum aggregate amounts required by the state in which this statement is filed;

(d) Are computed on the basis of assumptions consistent with those used in computing the corresponding items in the annual statement of the preceding year-end (with any exceptions noted below); and

(e) Include provision for all actuarial reserves and related statement items which ought to be established.

The reserves and related items, when considered in light of the assets held by the company with respect to such reserves and related actuarial items including, but not limited to, the investment earnings on the assets, and the considerations anticipated to be received and retained under the policies and contracts, make adequate provision, according to presently accepted actuarial standards of practice, for the anticipated cash flows required by the contractual obligations and related expenses of the company. (At the discretion of the commissioner, this language may be omitted for an opinion filed on behalf of a company doing business only in this state and in no other state.)

The actuarial methods, considerations and analyses used in forming my opinion conform to the appropriate Standards of Practice as promulgated by the Actuarial Standards Board, which standards form the basis of this statement of opinion.

This opinion is updated annually as required by statute. To the best of my knowledge, there have been no material changes from the applicable date of the annual statement to the date of the rendering of this opinion which should be considered in reviewing this opinion; or

The following material changes which occurred between the date of the statement for which this opinion is applicable and the date of this opinion should be considered in reviewing this opinion: (Describe the change or changes.)

Drafting Note: Choose one of the above two paragraphs, whichever is applicable.

The impact of unanticipated events subsequent to the date of this opinion is beyond the scope of this opinion. The analysis of asset adequacy portion of this opinion should be viewed recognizing that the company's future experience may not follow all the assumptions used in the analysis.

C. Assumptions for New Issues

The adoption for new issues or new claims or other new liabilities of an actuarial assumption that differs from a corresponding assumption used for prior new issues or new claims or other new liabilities is not a change in actuarial assumptions within the meaning of this Section 6.

D. Adverse Opinions

If the appointed actuary is unable to form an opinion, then he or she shall refuse to issue a statement of actuarial opinion. If the appointed actuary's opinion is adverse or qualified, then he or she shall issue an adverse or qualified actuarial opinion explicitly stating the reasons for the opinion. This statement should follow the scope paragraph and precede the opinion paragraph.

E. Reliance on Information Furnished by Other Persons

If the appointed actuary relies on the certification of others on matters concerning the accuracy or completeness of any data underlying the actuarial opinion, or the appropriateness of any other information used by the appointed actuary in forming the actuarial opinion, the actuarial opinion should so indicate the persons the actuary is relying upon and a precise identification of the items subject to reliance. In addition, the persons on whom the appointed actuary relies shall provide a certification that precisely identifies the items on which the person is providing information and a statement as to the accuracy, completeness or reasonableness, as applicable, of the items. This certification shall include the signature, title, company, address and telephone number of the person rendering the certification, as well as the date on which it is signed.

F. Alternate Option

(1) The Standard Valuation Law gives the commissioner broad authority to accept the valuation of a foreign insurer when that valuation meets the requirements applicable to a company domiciled in this state in the aggregate. As an alternative to the requirements of Subsection B(6)(c), the commissioner may make one or more of the following additional approaches available to the opining actuary:

(a) A statement that the reserves "meet the requirements of the insurance laws and regulations of the State of [state of domicile] and the formal written standards and conditions of this state for filing an opinion based on the law of the state of domicile." If the commissioner chooses to allow this alternative, a formal written list of standards and conditions shall be made available. If a company chooses to use this alternative, the standards and conditions in effect on July 1 of a calendar year shall apply to statements for that calendar year, and they shall remain in effect until they are revised or revoked. If no list is available, this alternative is not available.

(b) A statement that the reserves "meet the requirements of the insurance laws and regulations of the State of [state of domicile] and I have verified that the company's request to file an opinion based on the law of the state of domicile has been approved and that any conditions required by the commissioner for approval of that request have been met." If the commissioner chooses to allow this alternative, a formal written statement of such allowance shall be issued no later than March 31 of the year it is first effective. It shall remain valid until rescinded or modified by the commissioner. The rescission or modifications shall be issued no later than March 31 of the year they are first effective. Subsequent to that statement being issued, if a company chooses to use this alternative, the company shall file a request to do so, along with justification for its use, no later than April 30 of the year of the opinion to be filed. The request shall be deemed approved on October 1 of that year if the commissioner has not denied the request by that date.

(c) A statement that the reserves "meet the requirements of the insurance laws and regulations of the State of [state of domicile] and I have submitted the required comparison as specified by this state."

(i) If the commissioner chooses to allow this alternative, a formal written list of products (to be added to the table in Item (ii) below) for which the required comparison shall be provided will be published. If a company chooses to use this alternative, the list in effect on July 1 of a calendar year shall apply to statements for that calendar year, and it shall remain in effect until it is revised or revoked. If no list is available, this alternative is not available.

(ii) If a company desires to use this alternative, the appointed actuary shall provide a comparison of the gross nationwide reserves held to the gross nationwide reserves that would be held under NAIC codification standards. Gross nationwide reserves are the total reserves calculated for the total company in force business directly sold and assumed, indifferent to the state in which the risk resides, without reduction for reinsurance ceded. The information provided shall be at least:

(1) Product Type	(2) Death Benefit or Account Value	(3) Reserves Held	(4) Codification Reserves	(5) Codification Standard

(iii) The information listed shall include all products identified by either the state of filing or any other states subscribing to this alternative.

(iv) If there is no codification standard for the type of product or risk in force or if the codification standard does not directly address the type of product or risk in force, the appointed actuary shall provide detailed disclosure of the specific method and assumptions used in determining the reserves held.

(v) The comparison provided by the company is to be kept confidential to the same extent and under the same conditions as the actuarial memorandum.

(2) Notwithstanding the above, the commissioner may reject an opinion based on the laws and regulations of the state of domicile and require an opinion based on the laws of this state. If a company is unable to provide the opinion within sixty (60) days of the request or such other period of time determined by the commissioner after consultation with the company, the commissioner may contract an independent actuary at the company's expense to prepare and file the opinion.

Section 7. Description of Actuarial Memorandum Including an Asset Adequacy Analysis and Regulatory Asset Adequacy Issues Summary

A. General

(1) In accordance with [insert state equivalent of Section 3 of the Standard Valuation Law], the appointed actuary shall prepare a memorandum to the company describing the analysis done in support of his or her opinion regarding the reserves. The memorandum shall be made available for examination by the commissioner upon his or her request but shall be returned to the company after such examination and shall not be considered a record of the insurance department or subject to automatic filing with the commissioner.

(2) In preparing the memorandum, the appointed actuary may rely on, and include as a part of his or her own memorandum, memoranda prepared and signed by other actuaries who are qualified within the meaning of Section 5B of this regulation, with respect to the areas covered in such memoranda, and so state in their memoranda.

(3) If the commissioner requests a memorandum and no such memorandum exists or if the commissioner finds that the analysis described in the memorandum fails to meet the standards of the Actuarial Standards Board or the standards and requirements of this regulation, the commissioner may designate a qualified actuary to review the opinion and prepare such supporting memorandum as is required for review. The reasonable and necessary expense of the independent review shall be paid by the company but shall be directed and controlled by the commissioner.

(4) The reviewing actuary shall have the same status as an examiner for purposes of obtaining data from the company and the work papers and documentation of the reviewing actuary shall be retained by the commissioner; provided, however, that any information provided by the company to the reviewing actuary and included in the work papers shall be considered as material provided by the company to the commissioner and shall be kept confidential to the same extent as is prescribed by law with respect to other material provided by the company to the commissioner pursuant to the statute governing this regulation. The reviewing actuary shall not be an employee of a consulting firm involved with the preparation of any prior memorandum or opinion for the insurer pursuant to this regulation for any one of the current year or the preceding three (3) years.

(5) In accordance with [insert reference to state equivalent to Section 3 of the Standard Valuation Law], the appointed actuary shall prepare a regulatory asset adequacy issues summary, the contents of which are specified in Subsection C. The regulatory asset adequacy issues summary will be submitted no later than March 15 of the year following the year for which a statement of actuarial opinion based on asset adequacy is required. The regulatory asset adequacy issues summary is to be kept confidential to the same extent and under the same conditions as the actuarial memorandum.

B. Details of the Memorandum Section Documenting Asset Adequacy Analysis

When an actuarial opinion is provided, the memorandum shall demonstrate that the analysis has been done in accordance with the standards for asset adequacy referred to in Section 5D of this regulation and any additional standards under this regulation. It shall specify:

(1) For reserves:

(a) Product descriptions including market description, underwriting and other aspects of a risk profile and the specific risks the appointed actuary deems significant;

(b) Source of liability in force;

(c) Reserve method and basis;

(d) Investment reserves;

(e) Reinsurance arrangements;

(f) Identification of any explicit or implied guarantees made by the general account in support of benefits provided through a separate account or under a separate account policy or contract and the methods used by the appointed actuary to provide for the guarantees in the asset adequacy analysis;

(g) Documentation of assumptions to test reserves for the following:

(i) Lapse rates (both base and excess);

(ii) Interest crediting rate strategy;

(iii) Mortality;

(iv) Policyholder dividend strategy;

(v) Competitor or market interest rate;

(vi) Annuitization rates;

(vii) Commissions and expenses; and

(viii) Morbidity.

The documentation of the assumptions shall be such that an actuary reviewing the actuarial memorandum could form a conclusion as to the reasonableness of the assumptions.

(2) For assets:

(a) Portfolio descriptions, including a risk profile disclosing the quality, distribution and types of assets;

(b) Investment and disinvestment assumptions;

(c) Source of asset data;

(d) Asset valuation bases; and

(e) Documentation of assumptions made for:

(i) Default costs;

(ii) Bond call function;

(iii) Mortgage prepayment function;

(iv) Determining market value for assets sold due to disinvestment strategy; and

(v) Determining yield on assets acquired through the investment strategy.

The documentation of the assumptions shall be such that an actuary reviewing the actuarial memorandum could form a conclusion as to the reasonableness of the assumptions.

(3) For the analysis basis:

(a) Methodology;

(b) Rationale for inclusion or exclusion of different blocks of business and how pertinent risks were analyzed;

(c) Rationale for degree of rigor in analyzing different blocks of business (include in the rationale the level of "materiality" that was used in determining how rigorously to analyze different blocks of business);

(d) Criteria for determining asset adequacy (include in the criteria the precise basis for determining if assets are adequate to cover reserves under "moderately adverse conditions" or other conditions as specified in relevant actuarial standards of practice); and

(e) Whether the impact of federal income taxes was considered and the method of treating reinsurance in the asset adequacy analysis;

(4) Summary of material changes in methods, procedures, or assumptions from prior year's asset adequacy analysis;

(5) Summary of results; and

(6) Conclusions

C. Details of the Regulatory Asset Adequacy Issues Summary

(1) The regulatory asset adequacy issues summary shall include:

(a) Descriptions of the scenarios tested (including whether those scenarios are stochastic or deterministic) and the sensitivity testing done relative to those scenarios. If negative ending surplus results under certain tests in the aggregate, the actuary should describe those tests and the amount of additional reserve as of the valuation date which, if held, would eliminate the negative aggregate surplus values. Ending surplus values shall be determined by either extending the projection period until the in force and associated assets and liabilities at the end of the projection period are immaterial or by adjusting the surplus amount at the end of the projection period by an amount that appropriately estimates the value that can reasonably be expected to arise from the assets and liabilities remaining in force.

(b) The extent to which the appointed actuary uses assumptions in the asset adequacy analysis that are materially different than the assumptions used in the previous asset adequacy analysis;

(c) The amount of reserves and the identity of the product lines that had been subjected to asset adequacy analysis in the prior opinion but were not subject to analysis for the current opinion;

(d) Comments on any interim results that may be of significant concern to the appointed actuary. For example, the impact of the insufficiency of assets to support the payment of benefits and expenses and the establishment of statutory reserves during one or more interim periods;

(e) The methods used by the actuary to recognize the impact of reinsurance on the company's cash flows, including both assets and liabilities, under each of the scenarios tested; and

(f) Whether the actuary has been satisfied that all options whether explicit or embedded, in any asset or liability (including but not limited to those affecting cash flows embedded in fixed income securities) and equity-like features in any investments have been appropriately considered in the asset adequacy analysis.

(2) The regulatory asset adequacy issues summary shall contain the name of the company for which the regulatory asset adequacy issues summary is being supplied and shall be signed and dated by the appointed actuary rendering the actuarial opinion.

D. Conformity to Standards of Practice. The memorandum shall include a statement:

"Actuarial methods, considerations and analysis used in the preparation of this memorandum conform to the appropriate Standards of Practice as promulgated by the Actuarial Standards Board, which standards form the basis for this memorandum."

E. Use of Assets Supporting the Interest Maintenance Reserve and the Asset Valuation Reserve

An appropriate allocation of assets in the amount of the interest maintenance reserve (IMR), whether positive or negative, shall be used in any asset adequacy analysis. Analysis of risks regarding asset default may include an appropriate allocation of assets supporting the asset valuation reserve (AVR); these AVR assets may not be applied for any other risks with respect to reserve adequacy. Analysis of these and other risks may include assets supporting other mandatory or voluntary reserves available to the extent not used for risk analysis and reserve support.

The amount of the assets used for the AVR shall be disclosed in the table of reserves and liabilities of the opinion and in the memorandum. The method used for selecting particular assets or allocated portions of assets shall be disclosed in the memorandum.

Drafting Note: It has been suggested by some that, if the required interest rate scenarious are removed, they should be restored in five years if the commissioner is not satisfied with the scenarios upon which the asset adequacy opinion is based.

F. Documentation. The appointed actuary shall retain on file, for at least seven (7) years, sufficient documentation so that it will be possible to determine the procedures followed, the analyses performed, the bases for assumptions and the results obtained.

ACTUARIAL OPINION AND MEMORANDUM REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: *This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2009

ACTUARIAL OPINION AND MEMORANDUM REGULATION (#822)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The project was to remove the restrictions on the mortality adjustment factors (X factors) in the deficiency reserve calculation required by the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation. Therefore, the Task Force, as part of the Regulatory Asset Adequacy Issues Summaries required of life insured companies each year, required the appointed actuary to make a statement as to the impact of the insufficiency of assets to support the payment of benefits and expenses and the establishment of statutory reserves during one or more interim periods. The definition of the Regulatory Asset Adequacy Issues Summary as defined in the Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Regulation was modified to reflect this requirement.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The 2009 members of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are: Kansas (chair), South Carolina (Vice Chair), Alaska, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Hawaii, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The initial charge was given to the Task Force in November 2008, by the Capital and Surplus Relief (EX) Working Group to consider the November 11, 2008, proposal from the American Council of Life Insurers. The proposal was rejected by the Executive Committee in January 2009. At the 2009 Commissioners Conference the Task Force was again charged with reviewing the proposal.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The initial drafts were provided by the American Council of Life Insurers. A subgroup of the Task Force made changes and made a recommendation to the Task Force. The Task Force made several modifications.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The subgroup discussed the proposal at public conference calls on this topic on the following dates: March 27, 2009; March 31, 2009; April 7, 2009; April 14, 2009; April 21, 2009; and April 28, 2009. The Task Force held a public conference call on this topic on May 4, 2009. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties. Drafts of the document were released for comment on December 23, 2008 and May 4, 2009. The Task Force voted to adopt the model regulation on June 3, 2009, without an additional 30-day exposure period. The vote was eleven in favor (Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Carolina, and Texas), two abstaining (Florida and New York) and one not voting (Ohio).

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

This model regulation is an accreditation standard.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2001

ACTUARIAL OPINION AND MEMORANDUM REGULATION (#822)

1. What issues was the project intended to address?

This project addressed four primary questions: 1) Should small companies be exempt from performing an asset adequacy analysis; 2) What flexibility should be provided commissioners in accepting actuarial opinions based on foreign states' laws; and 3) Should additional information be required to be included in the actuarial memorandum; and 4) Should a confidential summary of the assumptions and results of the asset adequacy analysis be prepared and submitted to the commissioners?

2. What states participated in drafting the model?

The following states are currently members of the Task Force: New Mexico (Chair), California (Vice-Chair), Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, and Utah

3. When was the charge given to the task force, and what was the nature of the charge?

The AOMR was adopted by the NAIC in 1991. A limited number of revisions to the model were made in the eighteen months subsequent to its adoption. Since that time, discussions have been ongoing relative to numerous aspects of the model. The primary aspects which have been addressed are identified in Item #1.

4. What general procedure was followed in drafting the model? What efforts were made to assure that all interested parties were provided an opportunity to comment during the drafting process?

The efforts of the Task Force were closely coordinated with all industry interested parties. In addition to open sessions at the quarterly meetings of the NAIC, numerous conference calls were held over the last several years to discuss the various drafts of the revised model. Notice of those conference calls were posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 150 interested parties, including representatives of the American Council of Life Insurers, the National Alliance of Life Companies, and the National Fraternal Congress of America. Additionally, representatives of the American Academy of Actuaries and the Actuarial Standards Board provided significant input on this matter.

5. What significant issues were raised during the drafting process, and how were those issues resolved?

a) Should small companies be exempt from performing an asset adequacy analysis?

All life insurers are required to file an actuarial opinion with their annual financial statement. In 1991, the NAIC adopted the AOMR which, in essence, established a two-tier system for these opinions. Companies whose admitted assets exceed $500 million are required to conduct sufficient tests such that they can certify that their assets "make adequate provision" for their liabilities, i.e., their actuaries must perform an asset adequacy analysis. Under certain conditions, companies whose admitted assets fall below $500 million are exempt from this requirement and need only certify that their reserves have been computed in accordance with the formulas specified in the law. (The larger companies must also meet this additional requirement.)

The two-tier system was adopted due to concerns over the expense that asset adequacy analyses would impose on smaller companies. The following excerpt is from the June 3, 1989, Report of the Special Advisory Committee on the Standard Valuation Law: "At the committee's Dec. 1, 1988, meeting, Kenneth Andre, president of Guarantee Reserve Life and then chairman-elect of the National Association of Life Companies, discussed the thrust of the committee's work from a small and medium company perspective. Mr. Andre urged the committee to keep in mind that analyses of the kind being discussed by the committee can represent a major challenge and expense impact for small and medium companies. He said that this should not, however, be interpreted to suggest that such companies would not generally support the goals of this approach to valuation."

The concern stated above continues to be expressed by industry representatives. This excerpt from a April 5, 2000, memo written by Scott Cipinko, Executive Director of the National Alliance of Life Companies ("NALC"), is representative of the fears which have been communicated to the Task Force:

The NALC remains opposed to additional testing for two reasons:

1) The cost of the testing is not justified by the "Benefit," which is as yet unknown--what benefit will be received for the additional cost? and
2) What is the harm to be avoided by the additional testing?

Industry representatives also point out that the current version of the AOMR contains the following language: "the Commissioner may require any company otherwise exempt pursuant to this regulation to submit a statement of actuarial opinion and to prepare a memorandum in support thereof in accordance with Sections 8 and 9 of this regulation if, in the opinion of the Commissioner, an asset adequacy analysis is necessary with respect to the company." They argue that this gives the commissioners all the authority they need to require asset adequacy testing for smaller companies without totally eliminating the exemptions.

Those comments notwithstanding, the Task Force is recommending removal of the exemptions, thereby requiring all companies to demonstrate the adequacy of their reserves. The Task Force is in agreement with the position expressed by the State Variations in Valuation Laws Task Force of the American Academy of Actuaries in its May 10, 1996, report. On page 4, the following recommendation is made:

AOM Model Regulation: Delete Sections 6 and 7 completely. The rationale is:

- Uniform Actuarial Opinions are important, both in terms of policyholder protection and the integrity of the statutory accounting system;
- There is no precedence in GAAP, Risk Based Capital requirements, etc. for different standards based on size;
- Formula reserves alone may not be sufficient;
- Foreign states are more likely to accept a domiciliary state's AOM if the reserves are tested for adequacy.

The Task Force does recognize that the issue of expenses is a legitimate concern. During this project, the Task Force has received the assistance of the Actuarial Standards Board, which has developed revised standards of actuarial practice relative to this matter. The revised standards are currently being exposed and will be finalized later this year. They provide for the actuary to perform necessary testing based on the degree of risk inherent in the contracts sold. This ranges from very little (in some cases only intermittent testing is necessary) to cash flow modeling. This availability of a range of methods will allow each company to choose the one (or combination) which best fits its circumstances, thereby minimizing the expense each will incur in fulfilling this requirement.

b) What flexibility should be provided commissioners in accepting actuarial opinions based on foreign states' laws?

Section 3A of the Standard Valuation Law requires the filing of an actuarial opinion stating that "reserves and related actuarial items…comply with applicable laws of this state. The commissioner shall define by regulation the specifics of this opinion and add any other items deemed to be necessary to its scope." In implementing that provision, the current AOMR requires all companies to file an actuarial opinion that the reserves 1) meet the requirements of the law of the state of domicile and 2) are at least as great, in the aggregate, as required by the state in which the filing is made. Many industry representatives strongly object to the second provision. They argue that it is an unreasonable burden for them to monitor compliance of their reserves relative to the laws of every state in which they do business. They want this second provision eliminated, so that they only have to certify that they meet the requirements of their state of domicile.

On the other side, many regulators are strongly opposed to eliminating the "state of filing" provision. They argue that that this would amount to a usurpation of their right to impose the solvency standards they believe are best for companies (both domestic and foreign) that do business in their state. They also argue that, if this rule were to be implemented, companies domiciled in states with relatively weaker reserving laws would have an unfair advantage over other companies. (In response to that argument, critics of the current requirement maintain that the accreditation process assures that each state has appropriate reserving requirements.)

In an effort to reach a compromise, the Task Force is proposing amendments to the AOMR. The general standard will be maintained that reserves are subject to the laws of the state where the statement is filed, i.e., a State A domestic operating in State B will remain subject to State B's laws relative to reserves. However, State B would then have three options that may be used in lieu of simply requiring the "state of filing" opinion. In essence, the options permit a "state of domicile" opinion, but they require that certain financial standards be met or that financial information be provided so that State B can make an informed decision as to whether the domestic state's reserve laws, as applied to this specific State A domestic, reasonably meet State B's standards. If the State B is satisfied, then the "state of domicile" opinion would be deemed to meet its reserve requirements. If State B is not satisfied, or if the State A domestic simply decides to go ahead an submit a "state of filing" opinion, then it would submit an actuarial opinion that certifies, in the aggregate, its reserves comply with State B's standards.

The American Council of Life Insurers is strongly opposed to these amendments as written. Following is an excerpt from a November 9, 2000 memo on behalf of the ACLI's Actuarial Committee: "The ACLI's Actuarial Committee has carefully reviewed the proposed AOMR revision, with particular attention to the proposals for an alternate option with respect to state of domicile opinions in Section 6F(1), and, while the Committee recognizes and appreciates the effort that went into attempting to solve the vexing problem of different requirements among the states, it concluded that the proposal should be withdrawn." Essentially, their position is the proposed changes are cumbersome and would accomplish little towards simplifying the process.

Most of the Task Force takes a contrary view. They believe that if a significant number of states adopt these amendments, it will accomplish two things: 1) Provide relief for the companies from keeping abreast of reserve requirements in the adopting states, and 2) Preserve the principle of a state's right to adopt the laws it feels are best suited to its circumstances.

c) Should additional information be required to be included in the Actuarial Memorandum?

The AOMR requires that "in accordance with Section 3 of the Standard Valuation Law, the appointed actuary shall prepare a memorandum to the company describing the analysis done in support of his or her opinion regarding the reserves under a Section 8 opinion." Since the implementation of the AOMR, new products have emerged and new insights have been gained regarding the key aspects which ought to be documented in the memorandum. The proposed revisions to the AOMR include updated requirements for documentation of the various assumptions, economic scenarios, and product features incorporated into the asset adequacy analysis.

d) Should a confidential summary of the assumptions and results of the asset adequacy analysis be prepared and submitted to the commissioners?

Depending upon a particular company's circumstances, the actuarial memorandum may be a voluminous and complex document. The proposed revisions to the AOMR include a requirement that a "Regulatory Asset Adequacy Issues Summary" be prepared which summarizes the major assumptions and economic scenarios embedded in the actuarial memorandum. It is hoped that inclusion of this confidential summary will increase the efficiency with which the actuarial opinion and memorandum are reviewed.

6. What are the implications of this project for accreditation and codification?

The accreditation standards require that "the NAIC's Standard Valuation Law and Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Regulation or substantially similar provisions shall be in place." Appendix A-822 of the Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual includes substantial portions of the AOMR.

VALUATION OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES MODEL REGULATION

(Including the Introduction and Use of New Select Mortality Factors)

Table of Contents

Section 1. Purpose

A. The purpose of this regulation is to provide:

(1) Tables of select mortality factors and rules for their use;

(2) Rules concerning a minimum standard for the valuation of plans with nonlevel premiums or benefits; and

(3) Rules concerning a minimum standard for the valuation of plans with secondary guarantees.

B. The method for calculating basic reserves defined in this regulation will constitute the Commissioners' Reserve Valuation Method for policies to which this regulation is applicable.

Section 2. Authority

This regulation is issued under the authority of Section [insert applicable section] of the Insurance Laws of [insert state].

Section 3. Applicability

This regulation shall apply to all life insurance policies, with or without nonforfeiture values, issued on or after the effective date of this regulation, subject to the following exceptions and conditions.

A. Exceptions

(1) This regulation shall not apply to any individual life insurance policy issued on or after the effective date of this regulation if the policy is issued in accordance with and as a result of the exercise of a reentry provision contained in the original life insurance policy of the same or greater face amount, issued before the effective date of this regulation, that guarantees the premium rates of the new policy. This regulation also shall not apply to subsequent policies issued as a result of the exercise of such a provision, or a derivation of the provision, in the new policy.

(2) This regulation shall not apply to any universal life policy that meets all the following requirements:

(a) Secondary guarantee period, if any, is five (5) years or less;

(b) Specified premium for the secondary guarantee period is not less than the net level reserve premium for the secondary guarantee period based on the CSO valuation tables as defined in Section 4F and the applicable valuation interest rate; and

(c) The initial surrender charge is not less than 100 percent of the first year annualized specified premium for the secondary guarantee period.

Drafting Note: Policies with a secondary guarantee are described in Section 7.

(3) This regulation shall not apply to any variable life insurance policy that provides for life insurance, the amount or duration of which varies according to the investment experience of any separate account or accounts.

(4) This regulation shall not apply to any variable universal life insurance policy that provides for life insurance, the amount or duration of which varies according to the investment experience of any separate account or accounts.

(5) This regulation shall not apply to a group life insurance certificate unless the certificate provides for a stated or implied schedule of maximum gross premiums required in order to continue coverage in force for a period in excess of one year.

B. Conditions

(1) Calculation of the minimum valuation standard for policies with guaranteed nonlevel gross premiums or guaranteed nonlevel benefits (other than universal life policies), or both, shall be in accordance with the provisions of Section 6.

(2) Calculation of the minimum valuation standard for flexible premium and fixed premium universal life insurance policies, that contain provisions resulting in the ability of a policyholder to keep a policy in force over a secondary guarantee period shall be in accordance with the provisions of Section 7.

Section 4. Definitions

For purposes of this regulation:

A. "Basic reserves" means reserves calculated in accordance with Section [cite section of state law comparable to Section 5 of the NAIC Standard Valuation Law].

B. "Contract segmentation method" means the method of dividing the period from issue to mandatory expiration of a policy into successive segments, with the length of each segment being defined as the period from the end of the prior segment (from policy inception, for the first segment) to the end of the latest policy year as determined below. All calculations are made using the 1980 CSO valuation tables, as defined in Subsection F of this section, (or any other valuation mortality table adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) after the effective date of this regulation and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner for this purpose), and, if elected, the optional minimum mortality standard for deficiency reserves stipulated in Section 5B of this regulation.

The length of a particular contract segment shall be set equal to the minimum of the value t for which G_t is greater than R_t (if G_t never exceeds R_t the segment length is deemed to be the number of years from the beginning of the segment to the mandatory expiration date of the policy), where G_t and R_t are defined as follows:

$$G_t = \frac{GP_{x+k+t}}{GP_{x+k+t-1}}$$

where:

x = original issue age;

k = the number of years from the date of issue to the beginning of the segment;

t = 1, 2, ...; t is reset to 1 at the beginning of each segment;

$GP_{x+k+t-1}$ = Guaranteed gross premium per thousand of face amount for year t of the segment, ignoring policy fees only if level for the premium paying period of the policy.

$R_t = \frac{q_{x+k+t}}{q_{x+k+t-1}}$, However, R_t may be increased or decreased by one percent in any policy year, at the company's option, but R_t shall not be less than one;

where:

x, k and t are as defined above, and

$q_{x+k+t-1}$ = valuation mortality rate for deficiency reserves in policy year k+t but using the mortality of Section 5B(2) if Section 5B(3) is elected for deficiency reserves.

However, if GP_{x+k+t} is greater than 0 and $GP_{x+k+t-1}$ is equal to 0, G_t shall be deemed to be 1000. If GP_{x+k+t} and $GP_{x+k+t-1}$ are both equal to 0, G_t shall be deemed to be 0.

Drafting Note: The purpose of the one percent tolerance in the R factor is to prevent irrational segment lengths due to such things as premium rounding. For example, consider a plan in which gross premiums are designed at some point to be a ratio times the underlying ultimate mortality rates, where the ratio varies by issue age. The resulting segments may be greater than one year, because the guaranteed gross premiums are not expressed in fractional cents. The tolerance factor allows the creation of one year segments for a plan in which premiums parallel the underlying valuation mortality table.

C. "Deficiency reserves" means the excess, if greater than zero, of

(1) Minimum reserves calculated in accordance with Section [cite section of the state law comparable to Section 8 of the NAIC Standard Valuation Law] over

(2) Basic reserves.

D. "Guaranteed gross premiums" means the premiums under a policy of life insurance that are guaranteed and determined at issue.

E. "Maximum valuation interest rates" means the interest rates defined in Section [cite section of state law comparable to Section 4b of the NAIC Standard Valuation Law] (Computation of Minimum Standard by Calendar Year of Issue) that are to be used in determining the minimum standard for the valuation of life insurance policies.

F. "1980 CSO valuation tables" means the Commissioners' 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table (1980 CSO Table) without ten-year selection factors, incorporated into the 1980 amendments to the NAIC Standard Valuation Law, and variations of the 1980 CSO Table approved by the NAIC, such as the smoker and nonsmoker versions approved in December 1983.

Drafting Note: This regulation defines the 1980 CSO Tables without the existing ten -year select mortality factors to assure that, if select mortality factors are elected, only one set of factors may be applied to the base valuation mortality table.

G. "Scheduled gross premium" means the smallest illustrated gross premium at issue for other than universal life insurance policies. For universal life insurance policies, scheduled gross premium means the smallest specified premium described in Section 7A(3), if any, or else the minimum premium described in Section 7A(4).

H. (1) "Segmented reserves" means reserves, calculated using segments produced by the contract segmentation method, equal to the present value of all future guaranteed benefits less the present value of all future net premiums to the mandatory expiration of a policy, where the net premiums within each segment are a uniform percentage of the respective guaranteed gross premiums within the segment. The uniform percentage for each segment is such that, at the beginning of the segment, the present value of the net premiums within the segment equals:

(a) The present value of the death benefits within the segment, plus

(b) The present value of any unusual guaranteed cash value (see Section 6D) occurring at the end of the segment, less

(c) Any unusual guaranteed cash value occurring at the start of the segment, plus

(d) For the first segment only, the excess of the Item (i) over Item (ii), as follows:

(i) A net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of the benefits provided for in the first segment after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per year payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary within the first segment on which a premium falls due. However, the net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen-year premium whole life plan of insurance of the same renewal year equivalent level amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of the policy.

(ii) A net one year term premium for the benefits provided for in the first policy year.

(2) The length of each segment is determined by the "contract segmentation method," as defined in this section.

(3) The interest rates used in the present value calculations for any policy may not exceed the maximum valuation interest rate, determined with a guarantee duration equal to the sum of the lengths of all segments of the policy.

(4) For both basic reserves and deficiency reserves computed by the segmented method, present values shall include future benefits and net premiums in the current segment and in all subsequent segments.

Drafting Note: The segmentation requirement should not be limited to plans with no cash surrender values; otherwise companies could avoid segmentation entirely by designing policies with minimal (positive) cash values. Segmentation for plans with cash surrender values should be based solely upon gross premium levels. Basing segmentation upon the level of cash surrender values introduces complications because of the inter-relationship between minimum cash surrender values and gross premium patterns. The requirements of this regulation relating to reserves for plans with unusual cash values and to reserves if cash values exceed calculated reserves serve to link required reserves and cash surrender values. The calculation of segmented reserves shall not be linked to the occurrence of a positive unitary terminal reserve at the end of a segment. The requirement of this regulation to hold the greater of the segmented reserve or the unitary reserve eliminates the need for any linkage.

I. "Tabular cost of insurance" means the net single premium at the beginning of a policy year for one-year term insurance in the amount of the guaranteed death benefit in that policy year.

J. "Ten-year select factors" means the select factors adopted with the 1980 amendments to the NAIC Standard Valuation Law.

K. (1) "Unitary reserves" means the present value of all future guaranteed benefits less the present value of all future modified net premiums, where:

(a) Guaranteed benefits and modified net premiums are considered to the mandatory expiration of the policy; and

(b) Modified net premiums are a uniform percentage of the respective guaranteed gross premiums, where the uniform percentage is such that, at issue, the present value of the net premiums equals the present value of all death benefits and pure endowments, plus the excess of Item (i) over Item (ii), as follows:

(i) A net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of the benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per year payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of the policy on which a premium falls due. However, the net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen-year premium whole life plan of insurance of the same renewal year equivalent level amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of the policy.

(ii) A net one year term premium for the benefits provided for in the first policy year.

(2) The interest rates used in the present value calculations for any policy may not exceed the maximum valuation interest rate, determined with a guarantee duration equal to the length from issue to the mandatory expiration of the policy.

Drafting Note: The purpose of this subsection is to define as specifically as possible what has become commonly called the unitary method. The NAIC Standard Valuation Law does not define the term "unitary" for policies with nonlevel premiums or benefits; its requirement for reserves "computed by a method that is consistent with the principles of the NAIC Standard Valuation Law" has not been uniformly interpreted.

L. "Universal life insurance policy" means any individual life insurance policy under the provisions of which separately identified interest credits (other than in connection with dividend accumulations, premium deposit funds, or other supplementary accounts) and mortality or expense charges are made to the policy.

Section 5. General Calculation Requirements for Basic Reserves and Premium Deficiency Reserves

A. At the election of the company for any one or more specified plans of life insurance, the minimum mortality standard for basic reserves may be calculated using the 1980 CSO valuation tables with select mortality factors (or any other valuation mortality table adopted by the NAIC after the effective date of this regulation and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner for this purpose). If select mortality factors are elected, they may be:

(1) The ten-year select mortality factors incorporated into the 1980 amendments to the NAIC Standard Valuation Law;

(2) The select mortality factors in the Appendix; or

Drafting Note: The select mortality factors for duration 1 through 15 in the Appendix of this regulation reflect the Society of Actuaries' data for the years 1983 through 1986, split by sex and smoking status, with fifteen years of mortality improvement, based on Society of Actuaries' Projection Scale A applied. A 50% margin was added. The factors were then graded to the 1980 CSO Tables over the next five durations. A 50% margin was deemed appropriate to provide a reasonable margin, with little likelihood that actual experience for significant blocks of business would exceed it.

(3) Any other table of select mortality factors adopted by the NAIC after the effective date of this regulation and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner for the purpose of calculating basic reserves.

B. Deficiency reserves, if any, are calculated for each policy as the excess, if greater than zero, of the quantity A over the basic reserve. The quantity A is obtained by recalculating the basic reserve for the policy using guaranteed gross premiums instead of net premiums when the guaranteed gross premiums are less than the corresponding net premiums. At the election of the company for any one or more specified plans of insurance, the quantity A and the corresponding net premiums used in the determination of quantity A may be based upon the 1980 CSO valuation tables with select mortality factors (or any other valuation mortality table adopted by the NAIC after the effective date of this regulation and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner). If select mortality factors are elected, they may be:

(1) The ten-year select mortality factors incorporated into the 1980 amendments to the NAIC Standard Valuation Law;

(2) The select mortality factors in the Appendix of this regulation;

Drafting Note: The select mortality factors in the Appendix of this regulation do not reflect the underwriting risk classes that have evolved since the period of the underlying experience. In light of this consideration and the recent recognition of the regulatory value of actuarial opinions, this regulation allows actuarial judgment to be used for deficiency reserves.

(3) For durations in the first segment, X percent of the select mortality factors in the Appendix , subject to the following:

(a) X may vary by policy year, policy form, underwriting classification, issue age, or any other policy factor expected to affect mortality experience;

(b) X is such that, when using the valuation interest rate used for basic reserves, Item (i) is greater than or equal to Item (ii);

(i) The actuarial present value of future death benefits, calculated using the mortality rates resulting from the application of X;

(ii) The actuarial present value of future death benefits calculated using anticipated mortality experience without recognition of mortality improvement beyond the valuation date;

(c) X is such that the mortality rates resulting from the application of X are at least as great as the anticipated mortality experience, without recognition of mortality improvement beyond the valuation date, in each of the first five (5) years after the valuation date;

(d) The appointed actuary shall increase X at any valuation date where it is necessary to continue to meet all the requirements of Subsection B(3);

(e) The appointed actuary may decrease X at any valuation date as long as X continues to meet all the requirements of Subsection B(3); and

(f) The appointed actuary shall specifically take into account the adverse effect on expected mortality and lapsation of any anticipated or actual increase in gross premiums.

(g) If X is less than 100 percent at any duration for any policy, the following requirements shall be met:

(i) The appointed actuary shall annually prepare an actuarial opinion and memorandum for the company in conformance with the requirements of Section [insert applicable section for asset adequacy opinion requirement of the Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Regulation];

(ii) The appointed actuary shall disclose, in the Regulatory Asset Adequacy Issues Summary, the impact of the insufficiency of assets to support the payment of benefits and expenses and the establishment of statutory reserves during one or more interim periods; and

(iii) The appointed actuary shall annually opine for all policies subject to this regulation as to whether the mortality rates resulting from the application of X meet the requirements of Subsection B(3). This opinion shall be supported by an actuarial report, subject to appropriate Actuarial Standards of Practice promulgated by the Actuarial Standards Board of the American Academy of Actuaries. The X factors shall reflect anticipated future mortality, without recognition of mortality improvement beyond the valuation date, taking into account relevant emerging experience.

(4) Any other table of select mortality factors adopted by the NAIC after the effective date of this regulation and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner for the purpose of calculating deficiency reserves.

C. This subsection applies to both basic reserves and deficiency reserves. Any set of select mortality factors may be used only for the first segment. However, if the first segment is less than ten (10) years, the appropriate ten-year select mortality factors incorporated into the 1980 amendments to the NAIC Standard Valuation Law may be used thereafter through the tenth policy year from the date of issue.

Drafting Note: This regulation does not allow the use of select mortality factors beyond the first segment. The rationale is that the result of a premium increase that is sufficient to require a new segment will be increased lapsation, leading to mortality deterioration after the increase. Also, for policies that have reentry provisions, select mortality factors shall not be used in segments beginning after reentry unless a new policy is actually issued. However, this regulation allows the use of the ten-year select mortality factors incorporated into the 1980 amendments of the NAIC Standard Valuation Law beyond the first segment (but in no case beyond the tenth policy year) in recognition that the mortality deterioration is unlikely to occur to a significant degree within the first ten (10) years.

D. In determining basic reserves or deficiency reserves, guaranteed gross premiums without policy fees may be used where the calculation involves the guaranteed gross premium but only if the policy fee is a level dollar amount after the first policy year. In determining deficiency reserves, policy fees may be included in guaranteed gross premiums, even if not included in the actual calculation of basic reserves.

E. Reserves for policies that have changes to guaranteed gross premiums, guaranteed benefits, guaranteed charges, or guaranteed credits that are unilaterally made by the insurer after issue and that are effective for more than one year after the date of the change shall be the greatest of the following: (1) reserves calculated ignoring the guarantee, (2) reserves assuming the guarantee was made at issue, and (3) reserves assuming that the policy was issued on the date of the guarantee.

F. The commissioner may require that the company document the extent of the adequacy of reserves for specified blocks, including but not limited to policies issued prior to the effective date of this regulation. This documentation may include a demonstration of the extent to which aggregation with other non-specified blocks of business is relied upon in the formation of the appointed actuary opinion pursuant to and consistent with the requirements of Section [insert applicable section of asset adequacy opinion requirement of the Actuarial Opinion and Memorandum Regulation].

Section 6. Calculation of Minimum Valuation Standard for Policies with Guaranteed Nonlevel Gross Premiums or Guaranteed Nonlevel Benefits (Other than Universal Life Policies)

A. Basic Reserves

Basic reserves shall be calculated as the greater of the segmented reserves and the unitary reserves. Both the segmented reserves and the unitary reserves for any policy shall use the same valuation mortality table and selection factors. At the option of the insurer, in calculating segmented reserves and net premiums, either of the adjustments described in Paragraph (1) or (2) below may be made:

(1) Treat the unitary reserve, if greater than zero, applicable at the end of each segment as a pure endowment and subtract the unitary reserve, if greater than zero, applicable at the beginning of each segment from the present value of guaranteed life insurance and endowment benefits for each segment.

(2) Treat the guaranteed cash surrender value, if greater than zero, applicable at the end of each segment as a pure endowment; and subtract the guaranteed cash surrender value, if greater than zero, applicable at the beginning of each segment from the present value of guaranteed life insurance and endowment benefits for each segment.

B. Deficiency Reserves

(1) The deficiency reserve at any duration shall be calculated:

(a) On a unitary basis if the corresponding basic reserve determined by Subsection A is unitary;

(b) On a segmented basis if the corresponding basic reserve determined by Subsection A is segmented; or

(c) On the segmented basis if the corresponding basic reserve determined by Subsection A is equal to both the segmented reserve and the unitary reserve.

(2) This subsection shall apply to any policy for which the guaranteed gross premium at any duration is less than the corresponding modified net premium calculated by the method used in determining the basic reserves, but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality (specified in Section 5B) and rate of interest.

(3) Deficiency reserves, if any, shall be calculated for each policy as the excess if greater than zero, for the current and all remaining periods, of the quantity A over the basic reserve, where A is obtained as indicated in Section 5B.

(4) For deficiency reserves determined on a segmented basis, the quantity A is determined using segment lengths equal to those determined for segmented basic reserves.

C. Minimum Value

Basic reserves may not be less than the tabular cost of insurance for the balance of the policy year, if mean reserves are used. Basic reserves may not be less than the tabular cost of insurance for the balance of the current modal period or to the paid-to-date, if later, but not beyond the next policy anniversary, if mid-terminal reserves are used. The tabular cost of insurance shall use the same valuation mortality table and interest rates as that used for the calculation of the segmented reserves. However, if select mortality factors are used, they shall be the ten-year select factors incorporated into the 1980 amendments of the NAIC Standard Valuation Law. In no case may total reserves (including basic reserves, deficiency reserves and any reserves held for supplemental benefits that would expire upon contract termination) be less than the amount that the policyowner would receive (including the cash surrender value of the supplemental benefits, if any, referred to above), exclusive of any deduction for policy loans, upon termination of the policy.

D. Unusual Pattern of Guaranteed Cash Surrender Values

Drafting Note: This requirement is independent of both the segmentation process and the unitary process. After the greater of the segmented or the unitary reserve has been determined, then this subsection imposes an additional floor on the ultimate reserve. The purpose of this subsection is to assure adequate funding of significant increases in guaranteed cash surrender values.

(1) For any policy with an unusual pattern of guaranteed cash surrender values, the reserves actually held prior to the first unusual guaranteed cash surrender value shall not be less than the reserves calculated by treating the first unusual guaranteed cash surrender value as a pure endowment and treating the policy as an n year policy providing term insurance plus a pure endowment equal to the unusual cash surrender value, where n is the number of years from the date of issue to the date the unusual cash surrender value is scheduled.

(2) The reserves actually held subsequent to any unusual guaranteed cash surrender value shall not be less than the reserves calculated by treating the policy as an n year policy providing term insurance plus a pure endowment equal to the next unusual guaranteed cash surrender value, and treating any unusual guaranteed cash surrender value at the end of the prior segment as a net single premium, where

(a) n is the number of years from the date of the last unusual guaranteed cash surrender value prior to the valuation date to the earlier of:

(i) The date of the next unusual guaranteed cash surrender value, if any, that is scheduled after the valuation date; or

(ii) The mandatory expiration date of the policy; and

(b) The net premium for a given year during the n year period is equal to the product of the net to gross ratio and the respective gross premium; and

(c) The net to gross ratio is equal to Item (i) divided by Item (ii) as follows:

(i) The present value, at the beginning of the n year period, of death benefits payable during the n year period plus the present value, at the beginning of the n year period, of the next unusual guaranteed cash surrender value, if any, minus the amount of the last unusual guaranteed cash surrender value, if any, scheduled at the beginning of the n year period.

(ii) The present value, at the beginning of the n year period, of the scheduled gross premiums payable during the n year period.

(3) For purposes of this subsection, a policy is considered to have an unusual pattern of guaranteed cash surrender values if any future guaranteed cash surrender value exceeds the prior year's guaranteed cash surrender value by more than the sum of:

(a) One hundred ten percent (110%) of the scheduled gross premium for that year;

(b) One hundred ten percent (110%) of one year's accrued interest on the sum of the prior year's guaranteed cash surrender value and the scheduled gross premium using the nonforfeiture interest rate used for calculating policy guaranteed cash surrender values; and

(c) Five percent (5%) of the first policy year surrender charge, if any.

E. Optional Exemption for Yearly Renewable Term Reinsurance. At the option of the company, the following approach for reserves on YRT reinsurance may be used:

Drafting Note: Traditional reserves for yearly renewable term (YRT) reinsurance, the calculations of which this section describes, are already adequate and sufficient. However, without this option in the regulation, YRT reinsurance would be subject to the more complex segmentation calculations.

(1) Calculate the valuation net premium for each future policy year as the tabular cost of insurance for that future year.

(2) Basic reserves shall never be less than the tabular cost of insurance for the appropriate period, as defined in Subsection C.

(3) Deficiency reserves.

(a) For each policy year, calculate the excess, if greater than zero, of the valuation net premium over the respective maximum guaranteed gross premium.

(b) Deficiency reserves shall never be less than the sum of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the excesses determined in accordance with Subparagraph (a) above.

(4) For purposes of this subsection, the calculations use the maximum valuation interest rate and the 1980 CSO mortality tables with or without ten-year select mortality factors, or any other table adopted after the effective date of this regulation by the NAIC and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner for this purpose.

(5) A reinsurance agreement shall be considered YRT reinsurance for purposes of this subsection if only the mortality risk is reinsured.

(6) If the assuming company chooses this optional exemption, the ceding company's reinsurance reserve credit shall be limited to the amount of reserve held by the assuming company for the affected policies.

F. Optional Exemption for Attained-Age-Based Yearly Renewable Term Life Insurance Policies. At the option of the company, the following approach for reserves for attained-age-based YRT life insurance policies may be used:

Drafting Note: Traditional reserves for attained-age-based YRT policies, the calculations of which this subsection describes, are already adequate and sufficient. However, without this option in the regulation, these policies would be subject to the more complex segmentation calculations.

(1) Calculate the valuation net premium for each future policy year as the tabular cost of insurance for that future year.

(2) Basic reserves shall never be less than the tabular cost of insurance for the appropriate period, as defined in Subsection 6C.

(3) Deficiency reserves.

(a) For each policy year, calculate the excess, if greater than zero, of the valuation net premium over the respective maximum guaranteed gross premium.

(b) Deficiency reserves shall never be less than the sum of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the excesses determined in accordance with Subparagraph (a) above.

(4) For purposes of this subsection, the calculations use the maximum valuation interest rate and the 1980 CSO valuation tables with or without ten-year select mortality factors, or any other table adopted after the effective date of this regulation by the NAIC and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner for this purpose.

(5) A policy shall be considered an attained-age-based YRT life insurance policy for purposes of this subsection if:

(a) The premium rates (on both the initial current premium scale and the guaranteed maximum premium scale) are based upon the attained age of the insured such that the rate for any given policy at a given attained age of the insured is independent of the year the policy was issued; and

(b) The premium rates (on both the initial current premium scale and the guaranteed maximum premium scale) are the same as the premium rates for policies covering all insureds of the same sex, risk class, plan of insurance and attained age.

(6) For policies that become attained-age-based YRT policies after an initial period of coverage, the approach of this subsection may be used after the initial period if:

(a) The initial period is constant for all insureds of the same sex, risk class and plan of insurance; or

(b) The initial period runs to a common attained age for all insureds of the same sex, risk class and plan of insurance; and

(c) After the initial period of coverage, the policy meets the conditions of Paragraph (5) above.

(7) If this election is made, this approach shall be applied in determining reserves for all attained-age-based YRT life insurance policies issued on or after the effective date of this regulation.

G. Exemption from Unitary Reserves for Certain n-Year Renewable Term Life Insurance Polices. Unitary basic reserves and unitary deficiency reserves need not be calculated for a policy if the following conditions are met:

Drafting Note: Without this exemption, companies issuing certain n-year renewable term policies could be forced to hold reserves higher than n-year term reserves, even though in many cases gross premiums are well above valuation mortality rates.

(1) The policy consists of a series of n-year periods, including the first period and all renewal periods, where n is the same for each period, except that for the final renewal period, n may be truncated or extended to reach the expiry age, provided that this final renewal period is less than 10 years and less than twice the size of the earlier n-year periods, and for each period, the premium rates on both the initial current premium scale and the guaranteed maximum premium scale are level;

(2) The guaranteed gross premiums in all n-year periods are not less than the corresponding net premiums based upon the 1980 CSO Table with or without the ten-year select mortality factors; and

(3) There are no cash surrender values in any policy year.

H. Exemption from Unitary Reserves for Certain Juvenile Policies

Unitary basic reserves and unitary deficiency reserves need not be calculated for a policy if the following conditions are met, based upon the initial current premium scale at issue:

(1) At issue, the insured is age twenty-four (24) or younger;

(2) Until the insured reaches the end of the juvenile period, which shall occur at or before age twenty-five (25), the gross premiums and death benefits are level, and there are no cash surrender values; and

(3) After the end of the juvenile period, gross premiums are level for the remainder of the premium paying period, and death benefits are level for the remainder of the life of the policy.

Drafting Note: The jumping juvenile policy described has traditionally been valued in two segments. This exemption will allow that practice to continue without requiring the calculation of reserves on a unitary basis. However, within each segment, both basic and deficiency reserves shall comply with the segmented reserve requirements.

Section 7. Calculation of Minimum Valuation Standard for Flexible Premium and Fixed Premium Universal Life Insurance Policies That Contain Provisions Resulting in the Ability of a Policyowner to Keep a Policy in Force Over a Secondary Guarantee Period

A. General

(1) Policies with a secondary guarantee include:

(a) A policy with a guarantee that the policy will remain in force at the original schedule of benefits, subject only to the payment of specified premiums;

(b) A policy in which the minimum premium at any duration is less than the corresponding one year valuation premium, calculated using the maximum valuation interest rate and the 1980 CSO valuation tables with or without ten-year select mortality factors, or any other table adopted after the effective date of this regulation by the NAIC and promulgated by regulation by the commissioner for this purpose; or

(c) A policy with any combination of Subparagraph (a) and (b).

Drafting Note: Universal life and variable universal life policies with secondary guarantees that meet the requirements of Section 3A(2) are not subject to this regulation.

(2) A secondary guarantee period is the period for which the policy is guaranteed to remain in force subject only to a secondary guarantee. When a policy contains more than one secondary guarantee, the minimum reserve shall be the greatest of the respective minimum reserves at that valuation date of each unexpired secondary guarantee, ignoring all other secondary guarantees. Secondary guarantees that are unilaterally changed by the insurer after issue shall be considered to have been made at issue. Reserves described in Subsections B and C below shall be recalculated from issue to reflect these changes.

(3) Specified premiums mean the premiums specified in the policy, the payment of which guarantees that the policy will remain in force at the original schedule of benefits, but which otherwise would be insufficient to keep the policy in force in the absence of the guarantee if maximum mortality and expense charges and minimum interest credits were made and any applicable surrender charges were assessed.

(4) For purposes of this section, the minimum premium for any policy year is the premium that, when paid into a policy with a zero account value at the beginning of the policy year, produces a zero account value at the end of the policy year. The minimum premium calculation shall use the policy cost factors (including mortality charges, loads and expense charges) and the interest crediting rate, which are all guaranteed at issue.

(5) The one-year valuation premium means the net one-year premium based upon the original schedule of benefits for a given policy year. The one-year valuation premiums for all policy years are calculated at issue. The select mortality factors defined in Section 5B(2), (3), and (4) may not be used to calculate the one-year valuation premiums.

(6) The one-year valuation premium should reflect the frequency of fund processing, as well as the distribution of deaths assumption employed in the calculation of the monthly mortality charges to the fund.

B. Basic Reserves for the Secondary Guarantees

Basic reserves for the secondary guarantees shall be the segmented reserves for the secondary guarantee period. In calculating the segments and the segmented reserves, the gross premiums shall be set equal to the specified premiums, if any, or otherwise to the minimum premiums, that keep the policy in force and the segments will be determined according to the contract segmentation method as defined in Section 4B.

C. Deficiency Reserves for the Secondary Guarantees

Deficiency reserves, if any, for the secondary guarantees shall be calculated for the secondary guarantee period in the same manner as described in Section 6B with gross premiums set equal to the specified premiums, if any, or otherwise to the minimum premiums that keep the policy in force.

D. Minimum Reserves

The minimum reserves during the secondary guarantee period are the greater of:

(1) The basic reserves for the secondary guarantee plus the deficiency reserve, if any, for the secondary guarantees; or

(2) The minimum reserves required by other rules or regulations governing universal life plans.

Section 8. Effective Date

This regulation shall become effective January 1, 2000.

Appendix

SELECT MORTALITY FACTORS

This appendix contains tables of select mortality factors that are the bases to which the respective percentage of Section 5A(2), 5B(2) and 5B(3) are applied.

The six tables of select mortality factors contained herein include: (1) male aggregate, (2) male nonsmoker, (3) male smoker, (4) female aggregate, (5) female nonsmoker, and (6) female smoker.

These tables apply to both age last birthday and age nearest birthday mortality tables.

For sex-blended mortality tables, compute select mortality factors in the same proportion as the underlying mortality. For example, for the 1980 CSO-B Table, the calculated select mortality factors are eighty percent (80%) of the appropriate male table in this Appendix, plus twenty percent (20%) of the appropriate female table in this Appendix.

VALUATION OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES MODEL REGULATION

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

VALUATION OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES MODEL REGULATION

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2009

VALUATION OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES MODEL REGULATION (#830)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The project was to remove the restrictions on the mortality adjustment factors (X factors) in the deficiency reserve calculation required by the Valuation of Life Insurance Policies Model Regulation. The deficiency reserve calculation allows companies to adjust the valuation mortality to mortality that approximates the expected mortality by use of the X factors. The arbitrary restrictions in the model regulation prevent the use of mortality with the amount and slope similar to the expected mortality. The model regulation requires the appointed actuary shall annually opine for all policies subject to this regulation as to whether the mortality rates resulting from the application of the X factors meet the requirements for deficiency reserves. This opinion has to be supported by an actuarial report, subject to appropriate Actuarial Standards of Practice promulgated by the Actuarial Standards Board of the American Academy of Actuaries.

The reduction in deficiency reserve requirements that would result from the changes to the limitations on the use of X factors could result in reserves not being sufficient to provide for the payment of benefits and expenses and the establishment of statutory reserves during interim periods prior to the end of the projection period used in the asset adequacy analysis. Therefore, the Task Force, as part of the Regulatory Asset Adequacy Issues Summaries required of life insured companies each year, required the appointed actuary to make a statement as to the impact of the insufficiency of assets to support the payment of benefits and expenses and the establishment of statutory reserves during one or more interim periods.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The 2009 members of the Life and Health Actuarial Task Force are: Kansas (chair), South Carolina (Vice Chair), Alaska, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Hawaii, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Utah.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The initial charge was given to the Task Force in November 2008, by the Capital and Surplus Relief (EX) Working Group to consider the November 11, 2008, proposal from the American Council of Life Insurers. The proposal was rejected by the Executive Committee in January 2009. At the 2009 Commissioners Conference the Task Force was again charged with reviewing the proposal.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The initial drafts were provided by the American Council of Life Insurers. A subgroup of the Task Force made changes and made a recommendation to the Task Force. The Task Force made several modifications.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The subgroup discussed the proposal at public conference calls on this topic on the following dates: March 27, 2009; March 31, 2009; April 7, 2009; April 14, 2009; April 21, 2009; and April 28, 2009. The Task Force held a public conference call on this topic on May 4, 2009, and June 3, 2009. Notice of each of these conference calls was posted on the NAIC's home page on the Internet and e-mailed to approximately 300 interested parties. Drafts of the document were released for comment on December 23, 2008, and May 4, 2009. The Task Force voted to adopt the modifications to the model regulation on June 3, 2009. The vote was eleven in favor (Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Carolina, and Texas), two abstaining (Florida and New York) and one not voting (Ohio).

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

This model regulation is not an accreditation standard.

Table of Contents

Section 1. Purpose of Act

A. The purpose of this act is to subject to the jurisdiction of the Insurance Commissioner of this state and to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state, insurers not authorized to transact business in this state that place in or send into this state any false advertising designed to induce residents of this state to purchase insurance from insurers not authorized to transact business in this state. The legislature declares it is in the interest of the citizens of this state who purchase insurance from insurers that solicit insurance business in this state in the manner set forth in the preceding sentence that these insurers be subject to the provisions of this Act. In furtherance of this state interest, the legislature herein provides a method of substituted service of process upon these insurers and declares that in so doing, it exercises its power to protect its residents and also exercises powers and privileges available to the state by virtue of Public Law 15, 79th Congress of the United States, Chapter 20, 1st Session, S. 340, which declares that the business of insurance and every person engaged therein shall be subject to the laws of the several states. The authority provided herein to be in addition to any existing powers of this state.

B. The provisions of this Act shall be liberally construed.

Section 2. Definitions

When used in this Act:

A. "Commissioner" shall mean the Commissioner of Insurance of this state.

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term commissioner appears.

B. "Unfair Trade Practices Act" shall mean [insert applicable cite] Laws of 19 [insert year], approved [insert month], 19[insert year].

C. "Resident" shall include a person, partnership or corporation, domestic, alien or foreign.

Section 3. Notice to Domiciliary Supervisory Official

No unauthorized foreign or alien insurer of the kind described in Section 1 shall make, issue, circulate or cause to be made, issued or circulated, to residents of this state any estimate, illustration, circular, pamphlet or letter, or cause to be made in any newspaper, magazine or other publication or over any radio or television station, any announcement or statement to this state's residents misrepresenting its financial condition or the terms of any contracts issued or to be issued or the benefits or advantages promised thereby, or the dividends or share of the surplus to be received thereon in violation of the Unfair Trade Practices Act, and whenever the commissioner shall have reason to believe that an insurer is engaging in such unlawful advertising, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to give notice of that fact by registered mail to the insurer and to the insurance supervisory official of the domiciliary state of the insurer. For the purpose of this section, the domiciliary state of an alien insurer shall be deemed to be the state of entry or the state of the principal office in the United States.

Section 4. Action by Commissioner

If, after thirty (30) days following the giving of the notice mentioned in Section 3, the insurer has failed to cease making, issuing or circulating the false misrepresentations or causing the same to be made, issued or circulated in this state, and if the commissioner has reason to believe that a proceeding in respect to these matters would be to the interest of the public, and that the insurer is issuing or delivering contracts of insurance to residents of this state or collecting premiums on contracts or doing any of the acts enumerated in Section 5, the commissioner shall take action against the insurer under the Unfair Trade Practices Act.

Section 5. Service Upon Unauthorized Insurer

A. Any of the following acts in this state, effected by mail or otherwise, by an unauthorized foreign or alien insurer is equivalent to and shall constitute an appointment by the insurer of the commissioner of insurance and his or her successor or successors in office, to be its true and lawful attorney, upon whom may be served all statements of charges, notices and lawful process in any proceeding instituted in respect to the misrepresentations set forth in Section 3 under the provisions of the Unfair Trade Practices Act, or in any action, suit or proceeding for the recovery of any penalty provided in the Unfair Trade Practices Act, and any such act shall be signification of its agreement that the service of statement of charges, notices or process is of the same legal force and validity as personal service of the statement of charges, notices or process in this state, upon the insurer:

(1) The issuance or delivery of contracts of insurance to residents of this state;

(2) The solicitation of applications for contracts;

(3) The collection of premiums, membership fees, assessments or other considerations for contracts; or

(4) Any other transaction of insurance business,

B. Service of a statement of charges and notices under the Unfair Trade Practices Act shall be made by a deputy or employee of the Department of Insurance delivering to and leaving with the commissioner or some person in apparent charge of the commissioner's office, two (2) copies thereof. Service of process issued by any court in any action, suit or proceeding to collect any penalty under the Unfair Trade Practices Act provided, shall be made by delivering and leaving with the commissioner, or some person in apparent charge of the commissioner's office, two copies thereof. The commissioner shall forthwith cause to be mailed by registered mail one of the copies of the statement of charges, notices or process to the defendant at its last known principal place of business, and shall keep a record of all statements of charges, notices and process so served. The service of statement of charges, notices or process shall be sufficient, provided they have been so mailed and the defendant's receipt or receipt issued by the post office with which the letter is registered, showing the name of the sender of the letter and the name and address of the person to whom the letter is addressed, and the affidavit of the person mailing the letter showing a compliance are filed with the commissioner in the case of a statement of charges or notices, or with the clerk of the court in which an action is pending in the case of any process, on or before the date the defendant is required to appear or within such further time as may be allowed.

C. Service of statement of charges, notices and process in a proceeding, action or suit shall in addition to the manner provided in Subsection B of this section be valid if served upon any person within this state who on behalf of such insurer is soliciting insurance, making, issuing or delivering any contract or insurance, or collecting or receiving in this state any premium for insurance and a copy of the statement of charges, notices or process is sent within ten (10) days thereafter by registered mail by or on behalf of the commissioner to the defendant at the last known principal place of business of the defendant, and the defendant's receipt, or the receipt issued by the post office with which the letter is registered, showing the name of the sender of the letter, the name and address of the person to whom the letter is addressed, and the affidavit of the person mailing the letter showing compliance, are filed with the commissioner in the case of a statement of charges or notices, or with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending in the case of a statement of charges or notices, or with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending in the case of any process, on or before the date the defendant is required to appear or within such further time as the court may allow.

D. No cease or desist order or judgment by [default or a judgment pro confesso] [select appropriate language] under this section shall be entered until the expiration of thirty (30) days from the date of the filing of the affidavit of compliance.

E. Service of process and notice under the provisions of this Act shall be in addition to all other methods of service provided by law, and nothing in this Act shall limit or prohibit the right to serve a statement of charges, notices or process upon an insurer in any other manner now or hereafter permitted by law.

Section 6. Constitutionality

If any provision of this Act or its application to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the invalidity shall not affect other provisions or application of the Act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

UNAUTHORIZED INSURERS PROCESS ACT

Table of Contents

Introduction

An Act relating to insurers not authorized to transact business in this state; providing for actions in this state against and for the service of process upon these insurers; prescribing how a defense may be made by these insurers; and providing for the allowance of attorneys' fees in actions against these insurers.

Section 1. Purpose of Act

The purpose of this Act is to subject certain insurers to the jurisdiction of courts of this state in suits by or on behalf of insureds or beneficiaries under insurance contracts.

The legislature declares that it is a subject of concern that many residents of this state hold policies of insurance issued or delivered in this state by insurers while not authorized to do business in this state, thus presenting to these residents the often insuperable obstacle of resorting to distant forums for the purpose of asserting legal rights under these policies. In furtherance of the state interest, the legislature herein provides a method of substituted service of process upon the insurers and declares that in so doing it exercises its power to protect its residents and to define, for the purpose of this statute, what constitutes doing business in this state, and also exercises powers and privileges available to the state by virtue of United States Code tit. 15 § 1011, which declares that the business of insurance and every person engaged therein shall be subject to the laws of the several states.

Section 2. Service of Process Upon Unauthorized Insurer

A. Any of the following acts in this state, effected by mail or otherwise, by an unauthorized foreign or alien insurer is equivalent to and shall constitute an appointment by the insurer of the Commissioner of Insurance and the commissioner's successor or successors in office, to be its true and lawful attorney, upon whom may be served all lawful process in any action, suit or proceeding instituted by or on behalf of an insured or beneficiary arising out of a contract of insurance, and any act shall be signification of its agreement that the service of process is of the same legal force and validity as personal service of process in this state upon the insurer.

(1) The issuance or delivery of insurance contracts to residents of this state or to corporations authorized to do business in the state;

(2) The solicitation of applications for insurance contracts;

(3) The collection of premiums, membership fees, assessments or other considerations for insurance contracts; or

(4) Any other transaction of insurance business.

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

B. Service of process shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the commissioner or some person in apparent charge of the office two (2) copies thereof and the payment of the fees prescribed by law. The commissioner shall forthwith mail by registered mail one of the copies of the process to the defendant at its last known principal place of business, and shall keep a record of all process so served upon the commissioner. The service of process is sufficient, provided notice of such service and a copy of the process are sent within ten (10) days thereafter by registered mail by the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney to the defendant at its last known principal place of business, and the defendant's receipt, or receipt issued by the post office with which the letter is registered, showing the name of the sender of the letter and the name and address of the person to whom the letter is addressed, and the affidavit of the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney showing compliance are filed with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending on or before the date the defendant is required to appear, or within a further time the court may allow.

C. Service of process in an action, suit or proceeding shall, in addition to the manner provided in Subsection B of this section, be valid if served upon a person within this state who, in this state on behalf of the insurer, is:

(1) Soliciting insurance; or

(2) Making, issuing or delivering any contract of insurance; or

(3) Collecting or receiving any premium, membership fee, assessment or other consideration for insurance; and a copy of the process is sent within ten (10) days thereafter by registered mail by the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney to the defendant at the last known principal place of business of the defendant, and the defendant's receipt, or the receipt issued by the post office with which the letter is registered, showing the name of the sender of the letter and the name and address of the person to whom the letter is addressed, and the affidavit of the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney showing a compliance herewith are filed with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending on or before the date the defendant is required to appear, or within a further time the court may allow.

D. A plaintiff or complainant shall not be entitled to a [insert appropriate state procedure, either judgment by default, or a judgment with leave to prove damages, or a judgment pro confesso] under this section until the expiration of thirty (30) days from the date of the filing of the affidavit of compliance.

E. Nothing in this section contained shall limit or abridge the right to serve any process, notice or demand upon any insurer in any other manner now or hereafter permitted by law.

Section 3. Defense of Action By Unauthorized Insurer

A. Before any unauthorized foreign or alien insurer shall file or cause to be filed any pleading in any action, suit or proceeding instituted against it, the unauthorized insurer shall deposit with the clerk of the court in which the action, suit or proceeding is pending, cash or securities or file with the clerk a bond with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the court, in an amount to be fixed by the court sufficient to secure the payment of any final judgment which may be rendered in the action; or procure a certificate of authority to transact the business of insurance in this state.

B. The court in any action, suit or proceeding in which service is made in the manner provided in Section 2B or 2C may, in its discretion, order such postponement as may be necessary to afford the defendant reasonable opportunity to comply with the provisions of Subsection A of this section and to defend the action.

C. Nothing in Subsection A of this section is to be construed to prevent an unauthorized foreign or alien insurer from filing a motion to quash a writ or to set aside service thereof made in the manner provided in Section 2B or 2C on the ground either that:

(1) The unauthorized insurer has not done any of the acts enumerated in Section 2A; or

(2) The person on whom service was made pursuant to Section 2C was not doing any of the acts therein enumerated.

Section 4. Attorney Fees

In an action against an unauthorized foreign or alien insurer upon a contract of insurance issued or delivered in this state to a resident thereof or to a corporation authorized to do business therein, if the insurer has failed for thirty (30) days after demand prior to the commencement of the action to make payment in accordance with the terms of the contract, and it appears to the court that the refusal was vexatious and without reasonable cause, the court may allow to the plaintiff a reasonable attorney fee and include the fee in any judgment that may be rendered in the action. The fee shall not exceed twelve and one-half percent (12-1/2%) of the amount that the court or jury finds the plaintiff is entitled to recover against the insurer, but in no event shall the fee be less than $25. Failure of an insurer to defend an action shall be deemed prima facie evidence that its failure to make payment was vexatious and without reasonable cause.

Section 5. Constitutionality

If any provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the Act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable.

Section 6. Short Title

NONADMITTED INSURANCE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Short Title

This Act shall be known and may be cited as "The Nonadmitted Insurance Act."

Section 2. Purpose—Necessity for Regulation

This Act shall be liberally construed and applied to promote its underlying purposes which include:

A. Protecting persons seeking insurance in this state;

B. Permitting surplus lines insurance to be placed with reputable and financially sound nonadmitted insurers and exported from this state pursuant to this Act;

C. Establishing a system of regulation which will permit orderly access to surplus lines insurance in this state and encourage admitted insurers to provide new and innovative types of insurance available to consumers in this state;

D. Providing a system through which persons may purchase insurance other than surplus lines insurance, from nonadmitted insurers pursuant to this Act;

E. Protecting revenues of this state; and

F. Providing a system pursuant to this Act which subjects nonadmitted insurance activities in this state to the jurisdiction of the insurance commissioner and state and federal courts in suits by or on behalf of the state.

Section 3. Definitions

As used in this Act:

A. "Admitted insurer" means an insurer licensed to engage in the business of insurance in this state.

B. ''Affiliate'' means, with respect to an insured, any entity that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the insured.

C. ''Affiliated group'' means any group of entities that are all affiliated.

D. "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of [insert name of state], or the commissioner's deputies or staff, or the commissioner, director or superintendent of insurance in any other state.

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

E. "Control" means with respect to an insured:

(1) A person, either directly or indirectly, or acting through one or more other persons, owns, controls, or has the power to vote 25 percent or more of any class of voting securities of the other entity; or

(2) The entity controls in any manner the election of a majority of the directors or trustees of the other entity.

F. [OPTIONAL: "Domestic surplus lines insurer" means a surplus lines insurer domiciled in this state, that may write insurance in this state on a surplus lines basis.]

G. "Eligible surplus lines insurer" means a nonadmitted insurer with which a surplus lines licensee may place surplus lines insurance pursuant to Section 5 of this Act.

H. "Exempt commercial purchaser" means any person purchasing commercial insurance that, at the time of placement, meets the following requirements:

(1) Has paid aggregate nationwide commercial property and casualty insurance premiums in excess of $100,000 in the immediately preceding 12 months; and

(2) (a) Meets at least one of the following criteria:

(i) Possesses a net worth in excess of $20,000,000;

(ii) Generates annual revenues in excess of $50,000,000;

(iii) Employs more than 500 full-time or full-time equivalent employees per individual insured or is a member of an affiliated group employing more than 1,000 employees in the aggregate;

(iv) Is a not-for-profit organization or public entity generating annual budgeted expenditures of at least $30,000,000; or

(v) Is a municipality with a population in excess of 50,000 persons.

(b) Effective on July 21, 2010, every five years on January 1, the amounts in Subsections (i), (ii), and (iv) of Section 3H(2)(a) shall be adjusted to reflect the percentage change for such five-year period in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor.

Drafting Note: The definition of "exempt commercial purchaser" follows the language of the federal Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act (NRRA). Some states have chosen not to adopt the inflation adjustment. The NRRA uses the term "municipality," which some states may find limiting. States may choose to use terminology consistent with state law to expand this provision to include counties and other public entities.

I. "Export" means to place surplus lines insurance with a nonadmitted insurer.

J. "Home state" with respect to an insured, means:

(1) The state in which an insured maintains its principal place of business or, in the case of a natural person, the person's principal place of residence;

(2) If 100 percent of the insured risk is located out of the state referred to in Section 3J(1), the state to which the greatest percentage of the insured's taxable premium for that insurance contract is allocated; or

(3) If the insured is an affiliated group with more than one member listed as a named insured on a single nonadmitted insurance contract, the home state is the home state of the member of the affiliated group that has the largest percentage of premium attributed to it under the insurance contract.

Drafting Note: The NRRA definition of "home state" includes Subsections (1), (2), and (3) of Section 3J. The NRRA definition does not expressly cover unaffiliated groups. States have taken different approaches to the taxation of unaffiliated group policies. Some states tax based on the "home state" of the group policyholder. Other states tax based on the "home state" of the group member or certificate holder under the unaffiliated group policy. Some states assess tax on the "home state" of the person that pays the premium. Not all states have an express provision to address unaffiliated group policies.

K. "Nonadmitted insurance" means any insurance written on properties, risks or exposures, located or to be performed in this state, by an insurer not licensed to engage in the business of insurance in this state [or a domestic surplus lines insurer].

L. "Nonadmitted insurer" means an insurer not licensed to engage in the business of insurance in this does not include a risk retention group pursuant to the federal Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986.

M. "Person" means any natural person or business entity, including, but not limited to, individuals, partnerships, associations, trusts or corporations.

N. "Premium" means any payment made as consideration for an insurance contract.

O. "Principal place of business" means:

(1) The state where a person maintains its headquarters and where the person's high-level officers direct, control, and coordinate business activities; or

(2) If the person's high-level officers direct, control, and coordinate the business activities in more than one state, or if the person's principal place of business is located outside any state, then it is the state to which the greatest percentage of the person's taxable premium for that insurance contract is allocated.

P. "Principal residence" means:

(1) The state where the person resides for the greatest number of days during a calendar year; or

(2) If the person's principal residence is located outside any state, the state to which the greatest percentage of the person's taxable premium for that insurance contract is allocated.

Q. "Surplus lines insurance" means any insurance permitted to be placed through a surplus lines licensee with an eligible surplus lines insurer, pursuant to Section 5 of this Act.

R. "Surplus lines insurer" means a nonadmitted [or domestic surplus lines] insurer that is eligible to accept the placement of surplus lines insurance pursuant to Section 5 of this Act.

S. "Surplus lines licensee" means any person licensed under Section 5 of this Act to place surplus lines insurance in this state with an eligible surplus lines insurer.

T. "Taxable premium" means any premium less return premium that is not otherwise exempt from tax pursuant to this Act. [OPTIONAL: Premium on property risk or exposure that is properly allocated to federal or international waters or is under the jurisdiction of a foreign government is not taxable in this state.]

U. "Transaction of insurance"

(1) For purposes of this Act, any of the following acts in this state effected by mail or otherwise by a nonadmitted insurer or by any person acting with the actual or apparent authority of the insurer, on behalf of the insurer, is deemed to constitute the transaction of an insurance business in or from this state:

(a) The making of or proposing to make, as an insurer, an insurance contract;

(b) The making of or proposing to make, as guarantor or surety, any contract of guaranty or suretyship as a vocation and not merely incidental to any other legitimate business or activity of the guarantor or surety;

(c) The taking or receiving of an application for insurance;

(d) The receiving or collection of any premium, commission, membership fees, assessments, dues or other consideration for insurance or any part thereof;

(e) The issuance or delivery in this state of contracts of insurance to residents of this state or to persons authorized to do business in this state;

(f) The solicitation, negotiation, procurement or effectuation of insurance or renewals thereof;

(g) The dissemination of information as to coverage or rates, or forwarding of applications, or delivery of policies or contracts, or inspection of risks, the fixing of rates or investigation or adjustment of claims or losses or the transaction of matters subsequent to effectuation of the contract and arising out of it, or any other manner of representing or assisting a person or insurer in the transaction of risks with respect to properties, risks or exposures located or to be performed in this state;

(h) The transaction of any kind of insurance business specifically recognized as transacting an insurance business within the meaning of the statutes relating to insurance;

(i) The offering of insurance or the transacting of insurance business; or

(j) Offering an agreement or contract which purports to alter, amend or void coverage of an insurance contract.

(2) The provisions of this subsection shall not operate to prohibit employees, officers, directors or partners of a commercial insured from acting in the capacity of an insurance manager or buyer in placing insurance on behalf of the employer, provided that the person's compensation is not based on buying insurance.

(3) The venue of an act committed by mail is the location where the matter transmitted by mail is delivered or issued for delivery or takes effect.

Drafting Note: States may need to alter this subsection to reflect their decision as to whether they intend to permit citizens to directly purchase coverage within the state from a nonadmitted insurer, or if self-procurement of coverage will be permitted only when it occurs outside the state. States electing to allow direct procurement will need to insert an appropriate exemption in Section 4A of this Act. Additionally, states should consider whether the preceding definition of "transaction of insurance" is consistent with other statutory definitions of this phrase in the state. Finally, states may want to consider whether group insurance purchases or the maintenance of insurance books and records in this state should fall within the scope of the definition of "transaction of insurance."

V. "Wet marine and transportation insurance" means:

(1) Insurance upon vessels, crafts, hulls and other interests in them or with relation to them;

(2) Insurance of marine builder's risks, marine war risks and contracts of marine protection and indemnity insurance;

(3) Insurance of freight and disbursements pertaining to a subject of insurance within the scope of this subsection; and

(4) Insurance of personal property and interests therein, in the course of exportation from or importation into any country, or in the course of transportation coastwise or on inland waters, including transportation by land, water or air from point of origin to final destination, in connection with any and all risks or perils of navigation, transit or transportation, and while being prepared for and while awaiting shipment, and during any incidental delays, transshipment, or reshipment; provided, however, that insurance of personal property and interests therein shall not be considered wet marine and transportation insurance if the property has:

(a) Been transported solely by land; or

(b) Reached its final destination as specified in the bill of lading or other shipping document; or

(c) The insured no longer has an insurable interest in the property.

Drafting Note: In addition to the definitions provided in this section, individual states may wish to consider adopting definitions for "agent," "broker" or "producer" in a manner consistent with its other laws. Additionally, states may want to cross-reference the definition of "insurance" as it appears elsewhere in the state insurance code. The definition of insurance should reach illegal unauthorized activities.

Section 4. Placement of Insurance Business

A. An insurer shall not engage in the transaction of insurance unless authorized by a license in force pursuant to the laws of this state or exempted by this Act or the insurance laws of this state.

B. A person shall not directly or indirectly engage in a transaction of insurance with or on behalf of a nonadmitted insurer in this state.

C. A person who represents or aids a nonadmitted insurer in violation of this section shall be subject to the penalties set forth in Section 7 of this Act. No insurance contract entered into in violation of this section shall preclude the insured from enforcing his rights under the contract in accordance with the terms and provisions of the contract of insurance and the laws of this state, to the same degree those rights would have been enforceable had the contract been lawfully procured.

D. If the nonadmitted insurer fails to pay a claim or loss within the provisions of the insurance contract and the laws of this state, a person who assisted or in any manner aided directly or indirectly in the procurement of the insurance contract, shall be liable to the insured for the full amount under the provisions of the insurance contract.

E. Section 4B or 4D shall not apply to a person in regard to an insured who independently procures insurance as provided under Section 6. This section shall not apply to a person, properly licensed as an agent or broker in this state who, for a fee and pursuant to a written agreement, is engaged solely to offer to the insured advice, counsel or opinion, or service with respect to the benefits, advantages or disadvantages promised under any proposed or in-force policy of insurance if the person does not, directly or indirectly, participate in the solicitation, negotiation or procurement of insurance on behalf of the insured.

Drafting Note: If a state collects tax on unlicensed transactions which violate this Act, it may consider imposing liability for payment of those taxes on persons who violate this Act by assisting in the procurement of nonadmitted insurance.

Drafting Note: Some states permit other licensed professionals to engage in these activities as provided in their insurance statutes or other state statutes. Those states may want to amend Section 4E to include those professionals, to the extent they act within the scope of their licenses.

F. This section shall not apply to a person acting in material compliance with the insurance laws of this state in the placement of the types of insurance identified in Paragraphs (1), (2), (3) and (4) below:

(1) Surplus lines insurance as provided in Section 5. For the purposes of this subsection, a licensee shall be deemed to be in material compliance with the insurance laws of this state, unless the licensee committed a violation of Section 5 that proximately caused loss to the insured;

(2) Transactions for which a certificate of authority to do business is not required of an insurer under the insurance laws of this state;

(3) Reinsurance provided that, unless the commissioner waives the requirements of this subsection:

(a) The assuming insurer is authorized to engage in the business of insurance or reinsurance in its domiciliary jurisdiction and is authorized to write the type of reinsurance in its domiciliary jurisdiction; and

(b) The assuming insurer satisfies all legal requirements for such reinsurance in the state of domicile of the ceding insurer;

(4) The property and operation of railroads or aircraft engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, wet marine and transportation insurance;

(5) Transactions subsequent to issuance of a policy not covering properties, risks or exposures located, or to be performed in this state at the time of issuance, and lawfully solicited, written or delivered outside this state.

Drafting Note: States may also wish to consider exempting from Section 4A of this Act self-procured insurance or industrial insurance purchased by a sophisticated buyer who does not necessarily require the same regulatory protections as an average insurance buyer. Additionally, some states allow other insurance transactions with nonadmitted insurers. Examples include certain aviation and railroad risks. Other states may want to narrow the scope of the exemptions above or reserve the right to approve exemptions on a case-by-case basis.

Section 5. Surplus Lines Insurance

A. Surplus lines insurance may be placed by a surplus lines licensee if:

(1) Each insurer is eligible to write surplus lines insurance; and

(2) Each insurer is authorized to write the type of insurance in its domiciliary jurisdiction; and

(3) Other than for exempt commercial purchasers, the full amount or type of insurance cannot be obtained from insurers who are admitted to engage in the business of insurance in this state. The full amount or type of insurance may be procured from eligible surplus lines insurers, provided that a diligent search is made among the insurers who are admitted to transact and are actually writing the particular type of insurance in this state if any are writing it; and

(4) All other requirements of this Act are met.

Drafting Note: The diligent search requirement of Section 5A(3) must be satisfied in accordance with the statutes and regulations of the governing state. Diligent search statutes and regulations vary from state to state in terms of the number of declinations required and the person designated to conduct the search. Several states permit surplus lines placement without a diligent search for or without regard to the availability of admitted coverage. States may want to consider changing diligent search requirements in light of electronic transactions. Section 5A(3) does not prohibit a regulatory system in which a surplus lines licensee may place with an eligible nonadmitted insurer any coverage listed on a current "Export List" maintained by the commissioner. The export list would identify types of insurance for which no admitted market exists. The commissioner may waive the diligent search requirement for any such type of insurance.

Drafting Note: Utilizing the "full amount" standard in Section 5A(3) of this Act may have certain market implications. An alternative to this approach would be to require that whatever part of the coverage is attainable through the admitted market be placed in the admitted market and only the excess part of the coverage may be exported.

B. Subject to Section 5A(3) of this Act, a surplus lines licensee may place any coverage with an eligible surplus lines insurer, unless specifically prohibited by the laws of this state.

[Alternative Subsection B]

[B. Subject to Section 5A(3) of this Act, a surplus lines licensee may place only the following types of coverage with an eligible surplus lines insurer: (list acceptable coverage).]

Drafting Note: The two statutory alternatives described in Section 5B represent different regulatory approaches to defining those coverages which may be placed in the nonadmitted market and they would impact the admitted market in different manners.

C. A surplus lines licensee shall not place surplus lines insurance, unless, at the time of placement, the surplus lines licensee has determined that the insurer:

Drafting Note: Current numbering is retained in this Model to remain consistent with the reference within the NRRA.

2. Is eligible to write surplus lines insurance under one of the following subsections:

a. For a nonadmitted insurer domiciled in another United States jurisdiction, the insurer shall have both of the following:

(i) The authority to write the type of insurance in its domiciliary jurisdiction; and

(ii) Capital and surplus or its equivalent under the laws of its domiciliary jurisdiction that equals the greater of:

(I) (A) The minimum capital and surplus requirements under the law of this state; or

(B) $15,000,000;

(II) The requirements of Subparagraph (a)(ii)(I) may be satisfied by an insurer possessing less than the minimum capital and surplus upon an affirmative finding of acceptability by the commissioner. The finding shall be based upon such factors as quality of management, capital and surplus of any parent company, company underwriting profit and investment income trends, market availability and company record and reputation within the industry. In no event shall the commissioner make an affirmative finding of acceptability when the nonadmitted insurer's capital and surplus is less than $4,500,000; or

b. For a nonadmitted insurer domiciled outside the United States, the insurer shall be listed on the Quarterly Listing of Alien Insurers maintained by the International Insurers Department of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC); [or]

c. [For an insurer domiciled in this state, the insurer is a domestic surplus lines insurer.]

D. The placement of surplus lines insurance shall be subject to the statutory and regulatory requirements solely of the insured's home state.

Drafting Note: Section 522(d) of the federal Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act provides a workers' compensation exception to home state authority; specifically, that this section may not be construed to preempt any State law, rule, or regulation that restricts the placement of workers' compensation insurance or excess insurance for self-funded workers' compensation plans with a nonadmitted insurer. In addition, Section 527(9) of the NRRA provides that the term ''nonadmitted insurance'' means any property and casualty insurance permitted to be placed directly or through a surplus lines broker with a nonadmitted insurer eligible to accept such insurance and is not applicable to accident and health insurance. States may consider whether to add language making these exceptions explicit when codifying Section 5D into state law.

E. Insurance procured under this section shall be valid and enforceable as to all parties.

F. If at any time the commissioner has reason to believe that a surplus lines insurer is no longer eligible under Section 5C, the commissioner may, after notice and an opportunity for a hearing, declare it ineligible. The commissioner shall promptly publish notice of all such declarations in a timely manner reasonably calculated to reach to each surplus lines licensee or surplus lines advisory organization, for distribution to all surplus lines licensees.

Drafting Note: Individual states should consider whether such declarations of ineligibility are appropriate in view of the state's other due process and administrative procedure requirements. Eligibility criteria are independent of other considerations such as compliance with other laws, for example, 18 USC 1033, relating to felons participating in the insurance business.

G. Surplus Lines Tax

(1) In addition to the full amount of gross premium charged by the insurer for the insurance, every person licensed pursuant to Section 5I of this Act shall collect and pay to the commissioner a sum equal to [insert number] percent of the gross premium charged, less any return premium, for surplus lines insurance provided by the licensee pursuant to the license. Where the insurance covers properties, risks or exposures located or to be performed both in and out of this state, the sum payable shall be paid entirely to the home state of the insured. The tax on any portion of the premium unearned at termination of insurance having been credited by the state to the licensee shall be returned to the policyholder directly by the surplus lines licensee or through the producing broker, if any. The surplus lines licensee is prohibited from rebating, for any reason, any part of the tax.

(2) At the time of filing the [insert monthly, quarterly, annual] report as set forth in Subsection S of this section, each surplus lines licensee shall pay the premium tax due for the policies written during the period covered by the report.

H. Collection of Tax

If the tax owed by a surplus lines licensee under this section has been collected and is not paid within the time prescribed, the same shall be recoverable in a suit brought by the commissioner against the surplus lines licensee and the surety on the bond filed under Subsection I of this section. The commissioner may charge interest at the rate of [insert number] percent per year for the unpaid tax.

I. Surplus Lines Licenses

(1) A person shall not procure a contract of surplus lines insurance with a surplus lines insurer unless the person possesses a current surplus lines insurance producer license issued by the commissioner.

(2) The commissioner may issue a resident surplus lines license to a qualified holder of underlying property and casualty licenses, but only when the producer has:

(a) Remitted the $[insert amount] annual fee to the commissioner;

(b) Submitted a completed license application on a form supplied by the commissioner;

(c) In the case of a resident agent, filed with the commissioner, and continues to maintain during the term of the license, in force and unimpaired, a bond or errors and omissions (E&O) policy in favor of this state in the penal sum of $[insert amount] aggregate liability, with corporate sureties approved by the commissioner. The bond or E&O policy shall be conditioned that the Surplus Lines Licensee will conduct business in accordance with the provisions of this Act and will promptly remit the taxes as provided by law. No bond or E&O policy shall be terminated unless at least thirty (30) days prior written notice is given to the licensee and commissioner;

Drafting Note: Under Public Law No. 106-102 (the "Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act"), it is believed that a requirement for a nonresident agent to file a bond may contravene the reciprocity provisions. The requirement for a resident agent to file a bond would not, seemingly, contravene these provisions, and there may be methodologies whereby such resident bonds could become reciprocal between states. Some states have expressed concern that their bonding requirements constitute important consumer protections, and that elimination of these simply to comply with Gramm-Leach-Bliley may result in unintended consequences, and a lack of control over possibly unscrupulous nonresident agents.

(d) If a resident, established and continues to maintain an office in this state.

(3) A nonresident person shall receive a nonresident surplus lines license if:

(a) The person is currently licensed as a surplus lines licensee and in good standing in his or her home state;

(b) The person has submitted the proper request for licensure and has paid the fees required by [insert appropriate reference to state law or regulation];

(c) The person has submitted or transmitted to the insurance commissioner the application for licensure that the person submitted to his or her home state, or in lieu of the same, a completed Uniform Application; and

(d) The person's home state awards nonresident surplus lines licenses to residents of this state on the same basis.

Drafting Note: In accordance with Public Law No. 106-102 (the "Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act") states should not require any additional attachments to the Uniform Application or impose any other conditions on applicants that exceed the information requested within the Uniform Application.

(4) The insurance commissioner may verify the person's licensing status through the Producer Database maintained by the NAIC, its affiliates or subsidiaries.

(5) A nonresident surplus lines licensee who moves from one state to another state or a resident surplus lines licensee who moves from this state to another state shall file a change of address and provide certification from the new resident state within thirty (30) days of the change of legal residence. No fee or license application is required.

(6) The insurance commissioner shall waive any requirements for a nonresident surplus lines license applicant with a valid license from his or her home state, except the requirements imposed by this subsection, if the applicant's home state awards nonresident surplus lines licenses to residents of this state on the same basis.

(7) Each surplus lines license shall expire on [insert date] of each year, and an application for renewal shall be filed before [insert date] of each year upon payment of the annual fee and compliance with other provisions of this section. A surplus lines licensee who fails to apply for renewal of the license before [insert date] shall pay a penalty of $[insert amount] and be subject to penalties provided by law before the license will be renewed.

Drafting Note: States may wish to reference their specific licensing statutes in this section.

Drafting Note: Some states allow surplus lines licensees to hold binding authorities on behalf of surplus lines insurers. States which allow such binding authorities might want to establish minimum standards for the related agreements. In addition, states might want to consider requiring surplus lines licensees with such binding authorities to submit the related agreements to state regulators for review and approval.

J. Suspension, Revocation or Nonrenewal of Surplus Lines Licensee's License

The commissioner may suspend, revoke or refuse to renew the license of a surplus lines licensee after notice and an opportunity for a hearing as provided under the applicable provision of this state's laws for:

(1) Violation of any provision of this Act; or

(2) For any cause for which an insurance license could be denied, revoked, suspended or renewal refused under Sections [insert applicable citation].

K. Actions Against Eligible Surplus Lines Insurers Transacting Surplus Lines Business

(1) An eligible surplus lines insurer may be sued upon a cause of action arising in this state under a surplus lines insurance contract made by it or evidence of insurance issued or delivered by the surplus lines licensee. A policy issued by the eligible surplus lines insurer shall contain a provision stating the substance of this section and designating the person to whom the commissioner shall mail process.

(2) The remedies provided in this section are in addition to any other methods provided by law for service of process upon insurers.

L. Duty to File Evidence of Insurance and Affidavits

Within [insert number] days after the placing of any surplus lines insurance, each producing broker shall execute and each surplus lines licensee shall execute where appropriate, and file a written report regarding the insurance which shall be kept confidential by the commissioner, including the following:

(1) The name and address of the insured;

(2) The identity of the insurer or insurers;

(3) A description of the subject and location of the risk;

(4) The amount of premium charged for the insurance;

(5) Such other pertinent information as the commissioner may reasonably require; and

(6) An affidavit on a standardized form promulgated by the commissioner as to the diligent efforts to place the coverage with admitted insurers and the results of that effort or the insured is an exempt commercial purchaser. The affidavit shall be open to public inspection. The affidavit shall affirm that the insured was expressly advised in writing prior to placement of the insurance that:

(a) The surplus lines insurer with whom the insurance was to be placed is not licensed in this state and is not subject to its supervision; and

(b) In the event of the insolvency of the surplus lines insurer, losses will not be paid by the state insurance guaranty fund.

Drafting Note: Surplus lines licensees will frequently communicate with the insured through a producing broker rather than communicate with the insured directly. In preparing affidavit forms, states may wish to recognize that, as a result of communications passing through the producing broker, the surplus lines licensee may not be in a position to affirm, based upon personal knowledge, that the insured received from the producing broker the written information required by this subsection.

M. Surplus Lines Advisory Organizations

(1) There is hereby created a nonprofit association to be known as the [insert name]. All surplus lines licensees shall be deemed to be members of the association. The association shall perform its functions under the plan of operation established pursuant to Paragraph (3) of this subsection and must exercise its powers through a board of directors established under Paragraph (2) of this subsection. The association shall be supervised by the commissioner. The association shall be authorized and have the duty to:

Drafting Note: The preceding paragraph provides that all surplus lines licensees are deemed to be members of the association. Some states, however, may choose not to establish a surplus lines advisory organization; in those states Subsection M would not be necessary.

(a) Receive, record, and subject to Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, stamp all surplus lines insurance documents which surplus lines brokers are required to file with the association pursuant to the plan of operation;

Drafting Note: Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph authorizes the association to receive, record and stamp all surplus lines documents which must be submitted to the association pursuant to the plan of operation. Documents to be submitted to the association for stamping are likely to vary by state.

(b) Refuse to stamp submitted insurance documents, if the association determines that a nonadmitted insurer does not meet minimum state financial standards of eligibility, or the commissioner orders the association not to stamp insurance documents pursuant to Paragraph (9) of this subsection. The association shall notify the commissioner and provide an explanation for any refusal to stamp submitted insurance documents other than a refusal based upon the order of the commissioner;

(c) Prepare and deliver annually to each licensee and to the commissioner a report regarding surplus lines business. The report shall include a delineation of the classes of business procured during the preceding calendar year, in the form the board of directors prescribes;

(d) Encourage compliance by its members with the surplus lines law of this state and the rules and regulations of the commissioner relative to surplus lines insurance;

(e) Communicate with organizations of agents, brokers and admitted insurers with respect to the proper use of the surplus lines market;

(f) Employ and retain persons as necessary to carry out the duties of the association;

(g) Borrow money as necessary to affect the purposes of the association;

(h) Enter contracts as necessary to affect the purposes of the association; and

(i) Provide such other services to its members as are incidental or related to the purposes of the association.

(2) The association shall function through a board of directors elected by the association members, and officers who shall be elected by the board of directors.

(a) The board of directors of the association shall consist of not less than five (5) nor more than nine (9) persons serving terms as established in the plan of operation. The plan of operation shall provide for the election of a board of directors by the members of the association from its membership. The plan of operation shall fix the manner of voting and may weigh each member's vote to reflect the annual surplus lines insurance premium written by the member.

(b) The board of directors shall elect officers as provided for in the plan of operation.

(3) The association shall establish a plan of operation. The plan of operation shall provide for the formation, operation and governance of the association. The plan and any amendments shall be effective upon approval by the commissioner, which shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed. All association members shall comply with the plan of operation or any amendments to it. Failure to comply with the plan of operation or any amendments shall constitute a violation of the insurance law and the commissioner may issue an order requiring discontinuance of the violation.

(4) The association shall file with the commissioner:

(a) A copy of its plan of operation and any amendments to it;

(b) A current list of its members revised at least annually;

(c) The name and address of a resident of this state upon whom notices or orders of the commissioner or processes issued at the direction of the commissioner may be served; and

(d) An agreement that the commissioner may examine the association in accordance with the provisions of Paragraph (5) of this subsection.

(5) The commissioner shall, at least once in [insert number] years, make or cause to be made an examination of the association. The reasonable cost of an examination shall be paid by the association upon presentation to it by the commissioner of a detailed account of each cost. The officers, managers, agents, and employees of the association may be examined at any time, under oath, and shall exhibit all books, records, accounts, documents or agreements governing its method of operation. The commissioner shall furnish a copy of the examination report to the association and shall notify the association that it may request a hearing within thirty (30) days on the report or on any facts or recommendations contained in it. If the commissioner finds the association to be in violation of this section, the commissioner may issue an order requiring the discontinuance of the violation. A director may be removed from the association's board of directors by the commissioner for cause, stated in writing, after an opportunity has been given to the director to be heard.

(6) There shall be no liability on the part of and no causes of action of any nature shall arise against the association, its directors, officers, agents or employees for any action taken or omitted by them in the performance of their powers and duties under this section, absent gross negligence or willful misconduct.

(7) Within [insert number] days after a surplus lines policy is procured, a licensee shall submit to the association for recording and stamping all documents which surplus lines brokers are required to file with the association. Every insurance document submitted to the association pursuant to this subsection shall set forth:

(a) The name and address of the insured;

(b) The gross premium charged;

(c) The name of the nonadmitted insurer; and

(d) The class of insurance procured.

Drafting Note: The appropriate time limits for submitting documents required for stamping will vary by state.

(8) It shall be unlawful for an insurance agent, broker or surplus lines broker to deliver in this state any insurance document which surplus lines brokers are required to file with the association unless the insurance document is stamped by the association or is exempt from such requirements. However, a licensee's failure to comply with the requirements of this subsection shall not affect the validity of the coverage.

(9) The services performed by the association shall be funded by a stamping fee assessed for each premium-bearing document submitted to the association. The stamping fee shall be established by the board of directors of the association from time to time. The stamping fee shall be paid by the insured.

(10) The commissioner may declare a nonadmitted insurer ineligible and order the association not to stamp insurance documents issued by the nonadmitted insurer and issue any other appropriate order.

N. Evidence of the Insurance and Subsequent Changes to the Insurance

(1) Upon placing surplus lines insurance, the surplus lines licensee shall promptly deliver to the insured or the producing broker the policy, or if the policy is not then available, a certificate as described in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, cover note, binder or other evidence of insurance. The certificate described in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, cover note, binder or other evidence of insurance shall be executed by the surplus lines licensee and shall show the description and location of the subject of the insurance, coverages including any material limitations other than those in standard forms, a general description of the coverages of the insurance, the premium and rate charged and taxes to be collected from the insured, and the name and address of the insured and surplus lines insurer or insurers and proportion of the entire risk assumed by each, and the name of the surplus lines licensee and the licensee's license number.

(2) A surplus lines licensee shall not issue or deliver any evidence of insurance or purport to insure or represent that insurance will be or has been written by any surplus lines insurer or a nonadmitted insurer unless the licensee has authority from the insurer to cause the risk to be insured or has received information from the insurer in the regular course of business that the insurance has been granted.

(3) If, after delivery of any evidence of insurance, there is any change in the identity of the insurers, or the proportion of the risk assumed by any insurer, or any other material change in coverage as stated in the surplus lines licensee's original evidence of insurance, or in any other material as to the insurance coverage so evidenced, the surplus lines licensee shall promptly issue and deliver to the insured or the original producing broker an appropriate substitute for, or endorsement of the original document, accurately showing the current status of the coverage and the insurers responsible for the coverage.

(4) As soon as reasonably possible after the placement of the insurance, the surplus lines licensee shall deliver a copy of the policy or, if not available, a certificate of insurance to the insured or producing broker to replace any evidence of insurance previously issued. Each certificate or policy of insurance shall contain or have attached a complete record of all policy insuring agreements, conditions, exclusions, clauses, endorsements or any other material facts that would regularly be included in the policy.

(5) The surplus lines licensee shall give the following consumer notice to every person, applying for insurance with a nonadmitted insurer. The notice shall be printed in 16-point type on a separate document affixed to the application. The applicant shall sign and date a copy of the notice to acknowledge receiving it. The surplus lines licensee shall maintain the signed notice in its file for a period of five (5) years from expiration of the policy. The surplus lines licensee shall tender a copy of the signed notice to the insured at the time of delivery of each policy the licensee transacts with a nonadmitted insurer. The copy shall be a separate document affixed to the policy.

"Notice: A nonadmitted or surplus lines insurer is issuing the insurance policy that you have applied to purchase. These insurers do not participate in insurance guaranty funds. The guaranty funds will not pay your claims or protect your assets if the insurer becomes insolvent and is unable to make payments as promised. For additional information about the above matters and about the insurer, you should ask questions of your insurance agent, broker or surplus lines broker. You may also contact your insurance department consumer help line."

Drafting Note: This notice is intended to inform personal lines customers and smaller commercial risks of the nature of the coverage they are purchasing. A state may wish to add language to this statute providing that this notice need not be given to commercial risks meeting defined criteria for size and insurance expertise.

O. Licensee's Duty to Notify Insured

(1) No contract of insurance placed by a surplus lines licensee under this Act shall be binding upon the insured and no premium charged shall be due and payable until the surplus lines licensee or the producing broker has notified the insured in writing, in a form acceptable to the commissioner, a copy of which shall be maintained by the licensee or the producing broker with the records of the contract and available for possible examination, that:

(a) The insurer [other than a domestic surplus lines insurer] with which the licensee places the insurance is not licensed by this state and is not subject to its supervision; and

(b) In the event of the insolvency of the surplus lines insurer, losses will not be paid by the state insurance guaranty fund.

(2) Nothing herein contained shall nullify any agreement by any insurer to provide insurance.

Drafting Note: To ensure the meaningfulness of the notice required by this subsection, the commissioner might want to establish criteria related to readability, font, and size of the notice.

P. Effect of Payment to Surplus Lines Licensee

A payment of premium to a surplus lines licensee acting for a person other than itself in procuring, continuing or renewing any policy of insurance procured under this section shall be deemed to be payment to the insurer, whatever conditions or stipulations may be inserted in the policy or contract notwithstanding.

Q. Surplus Lines Licensees May Accept Business from Other Producers

A surplus lines licensee may originate surplus lines insurance or accept such insurance from any other producing broker duly licensed as to the kinds of insurance involved, and the surplus lines licensee may compensate the producing broker for the business.

R. Records of Surplus Lines Licensee

(1) Each surplus lines licensee shall keep a full and true record of each surplus lines insurance contract placed by or through the licensee, including a copy of the policy, certificate, cover note or other evidence of insurance showing each of the following items applicable:

(a) Amount of the insurance, risks and perils insured;

(b) Brief description of the property insured and its location;

(c) Gross premium charged;

(d) Any return premium paid;

(e) Rate of premium charged upon the several items of property;

(f) Effective date and terms of the contract;

(g) Name and address of the insured;

(h) Name and address of the insurer;

(i) Amount of tax and other sums to be collected from the insured; and

(j) Identity of the producing broker, any confirming correspondence from the insurer or its representative, and the application.

(2) The record of each contract shall be kept open at all reasonable times to examination by the commissioner without notice for a period not less than five (5) years following termination of the contract. In lieu of maintaining offices in this state, each nonresident surplus lines licensee shall make available to the commissioner any and all records that the commissioner deems necessary for examination.

Drafting Note: States may wish to extend the five-year period prescribed for open access to insurance records because of the long-term nature of this business.

S. Reports—Summary of Exported Business

On or before the end of the month following each [insert month, quarter, year], each surplus lines licensee shall file with the commissioner, on forms prescribed by the commissioner, a verified report in duplicate of all surplus lines insurance transacted during the preceding period, showing:

(1) Aggregate gross premium written;

(2) Aggregate return premium;

(3) Amount of aggregate tax remitted to this state; and

(4) Amount of aggregate tax due or remitted to each other state for which an allocation is made pursuant to Subsection G of this section.

Drafting Note: States desiring to have taxes remitted annually may call for more frequent detailed listing of business.

T. [OPTIONAL: Domestic Surplus Lines Insurers

(1) The commissioner may designate a domestic insurer as a domestic surplus lines insurer upon its application, which shall include, as a minimum, an authorizing resolution of the board of directors and evidence to the commissioner's satisfaction that the insurer has capital and surplus of not less than fifteen million dollars.

(2) A domestic surplus lines insurer:

(a) Shall be limited in its authority in this state to providing surplus lines insurance.

(b) May be authorized to write any type of property and casualty [or accident and health] insurance in this state that may be placed with a surplus lines insurer pursuant to this Subpart.

(c) Be subject to the legal and regulatory requirements applicable to domestic insurers, except for the following:

(i) Premium taxes, fees, and assessments applicable to admitted insurance;

(ii) Regulation of rates and forms;

(iii) Assessment or coverage by insurance guaranty funds.]

Section 6. Insurance Independently Procured—Duty to Report and Pay Tax

A. Each insured whose home state is this state, who procures or continues or renews insurance with a nonadmitted insurer, other than insurance procured through a surplus lines licensee, shall, within [insert number] days after the date the insurance was so procured, continued or renewed, file a written report with the commissioner, upon forms prescribed by the commissioner, showing the name and address of the insured or insureds, name and address of the insurer, the subject of the insurance, a general description of the coverage, the amount of premium currently charged, and additional pertinent information reasonably requested by the commissioner.

Drafting Note: Subsection A may need to be revised in those states exempting from taxation insurance procured by nonprofit educational institutions and their employers, from nonprofit educational insurers.

B. Premium charged for the insurance, less any return premium, is subject to a tax at the rate of [insert number] percent. At the time of filing the report required in Subsection A of this section, the insured whose home state is this state shall pay the tax on all taxable premium to the commissioner, who shall transmit the same for distribution as provided in this Act.

Drafting Note: Existing state laws and procedures may require that the tax report be forwarded to another state agency, such as the Department of the Treasury, rather than to the commissioner. In addition, some states may require the tax to be paid on a periodic basis (e.g., annually) rather than at the time of the filing required by Subsection A. Subsections A and B may need to be revised in these states.

C. Delinquent taxes hereunder shall bear interest at the rate of [insert number] percent per year.

D. This section does not abrogate or modify and shall not be construed or deemed to abrogate or modify any other provision of this Act.

Section 7. Penalties

A. A person who in this state represents or aids a nonadmitted insurer in violation of this Act may be found guilty of a criminal act and subject to a fine not in excess of $[insert amount].

Drafting Note: Some states might want to specify "misdemeanor" or "felony" rather than "criminal act" in Section 7A.

B. In addition to any other penalty provided herein or otherwise provided by law, including any suspension, revocation or refusal to renew a license, any person, firm, association or corporation violating any provision of this Act shall be liable to a civil penalty not exceeding $[insert amount] for the first offense, and not exceeding $[insert amount] for each succeeding offense.

C. The above penalties are not exclusive remedies. Penalties may also be assessed under [insert citation to trade practices and fraud statute] of the insurance code of this state.

Section 8. Violations

Whenever there is evidence satisfactory to the commissioner that a person is violating or about to violate the provisions of this Act, the commissioner may cause a complaint to be filed in the [insert appropriate court] Court for restitution and to enjoin and restrain the person from continuing the violation or engaging in or doing any act in furtherance thereof. The court shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and shall have the power to make and enter an order of judgment awarding such preliminary or final injunctive relief and restitution as in its judgment is proper.

Section 9. Service of Process

A. Any act of transacting insurance by an unauthorized person or a nonadmitted insurer is equivalent to and shall constitute an irrevocable appointment by the unauthorized person or insurer, binding upon it, its executor or administrator, or successor in interest of the [insert title of appropriate state official] or his or her successor in office, to be the true and lawful attorney of the unauthorized person or insurer upon whom may be served all lawful process in any action, suit or proceeding in any court by the commissioner or by the state and upon whom may be served any notice, order, pleading or process in any proceeding before the commissioner and which arises out of transacting insurance in this state by the unauthorized person or insurer. Any act of transacting insurance in this state by a nonadmitted insurer shall signify its acceptance of its agreement that any lawful process in such court action, suit or proceeding and any notice, order, pleading or process in such administrative proceeding before the commissioner so served shall be of the same legal force and validity as personal service of process in this state upon the unauthorized person or insurer.

B. Service of process in the action shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the [insert title of appropriate state official], or some person in apparent charge of the office, two (2) copies thereof and by payment to the [insert title of appropriate state official] of the fee prescribed by law. Service upon the [insert title of appropriate state official] as attorney shall be service upon the principal.

Drafting Note: Existing state laws and procedures may require that service of process be made upon either the commissioner or another state official.

C. The [insert title of appropriate state official] shall forward by certified mail one of the copies of the process or notice, order, pleading or process in proceedings before the commissioner to the defendant in the court proceeding or to whom the notice, order, pleading or process in the administrative proceeding is addressed or directed at its last known principal place of business and shall keep a record of all process so served on the commissioner which shall show the day and hour of service. Service is sufficient, provided:

(1) Notice of service and a copy of the court process or the notice, order, pleading or process in the administrative proceeding are sent within ten (10) days by certified mail by the plaintiff or the plaintiff's attorney in the court proceeding or by the commissioner in the administrative proceeding to the defendant in the court proceeding or to whom the notice, order, pleading or process in the administrative proceeding is addressed or directed at the last known principal place of business of the defendant in the court or administrative proceeding; and

(2) The defendant's receipt or receipts issued by the post office with which the letter is registered, showing the name of the sender of the letter and the name and address of the person or insurer to whom the letter is addressed, and an affidavit of the plaintiff or the plaintiff's attorney in a court proceeding or of the commissioner in an administrative proceeding, showing compliance are filed with the clerk of the court in which the action, suit or proceeding is pending or with the commissioner in administrative proceedings, on or before the date the defendant in the court or administrative proceeding is required to appear or respond, or within such further time as the court or commissioner may allow.

D. A plaintiff shall not be entitled to a judgment or a determination by default in any court or administrative proceeding in which court process or notice, order, pleading or process in proceedings before the commissioner is served under this section until the expiration of forty-five (45) days from the date of filing of the affidavit of compliance.

E. Nothing in this section shall limit or affect the right to serve any process, notice, order or demand upon any person or insurer in any other manner now or hereafter permitted by law.

F. Each nonadmitted insurer assuming insurance in this state, or relative to property, risks or exposures located or to be performed in this state, shall be deemed to have subjected itself to this Act.

G. Notwithstanding conditions or stipulations in the policy or contract, a nonadmitted insurer may be sued upon any cause of action arising in this state, or relative to property, risks or exposures located or to be performed in this state, under any insurance contract made by it.

H. Except with regard to exempt commercial purchasers, independently procured insurance, [aviation], and wet marine and transportation insurance, conditions or stipulations in the policy or contract notwithstanding, a nonadmitted insurer subject to arbitration or other alternative dispute resolution mechanism shall conduct the arbitration or other alternative dispute resolution mechanism in the home state of the insured.

Drafting Note: Provisions of a state's constitution, statutes, regulations, and public policy may necessitate amendment of the prior Section 9H. States should consider adoption or modification of Section 9H in light of their own laws on arbitration or other alternative dispute resolution in insurance and commercial transactions. States should cross-reference their state insurance code to verify the inclusion of "Aviation" within this provision.

I. A policy or contract issued by the nonadmitted insurer or one which is otherwise valid and contains a condition or provision not in compliance with the requirements of this Act is not thereby rendered invalid but shall be construed and applied in accordance with the conditions and provisions which would have applied had the policy or contract been issued or delivered in full compliance with this Act.

Section 10. Legal or Administrative Procedures

A. Before any nonadmitted insurer files or causes to be filed any pleading in any court action, suit or proceeding or in any notice, order, pleading or process in an administrative proceeding before the commissioner instituted against the person or insurer, by services made as provided in this Act, the insurer shall either:

(1) Deposit with the clerk of the court in which the action, suit or proceeding is pending, or with the commissioner of Insurance in administrative proceedings before the commissioner, cash or securities, or file with the clerk or commissioner a bond with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the clerk or commissioner in an amount to be fixed by the court or commissioner sufficient to secure the payment of any final judgment which may be rendered in the action or administrative proceeding; or

(2) Procure a certificate of authority to transact the business of insurance in this state. In considering the application of an insurer for a certificate of authority, for the purposes of this paragraph the commissioner need not assert the provisions of [insert sections of insurance laws relating to retaliation] against the insurer with respect to its application if the commissioner determines that the company would otherwise comply with the requirements for a certificate of authority.

B. The commissioner of insurance, in any administrative proceeding in which service is made as provided in this Act, may in the commissioner's discretion, order such postponement as may be necessary to afford the defendant reasonable opportunity to comply with the provisions of Subsection A of this section and to defend the action.

C. Nothing in Subsection A of this section shall be construed to prevent a nonadmitted insurer from filing a motion to quash a writ or to set aside service thereof made in the manner provided in this Act, on the ground that the nonadmitted insurer has not done any of the acts enumerated in the pleadings.

D. Nothing in Subsection A of this section shall apply to placements of insurance which were lawful in the home state of the insured and which were not unlawful placements under the laws of this state. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, nothing in Subsection A shall apply to a placement made pursuant to Section 5 of this Act.

Section 11. Enforcement

A. The commissioner shall have the authority to proceed in the courts of this state or any other United States jurisdiction to enforce an order or decision in any court proceeding or in any administrative proceeding before the commissioner of insurance.

B. It shall be the policy of this state that the insurance commissioner shall cooperate with regulatory officials in other United States jurisdictions to the greatest degree reasonably practicable in enforcing lawfully issued orders of such other officials subject to public policy and the insurance laws of the state. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the commissioner may enforce an order lawfully issued by other officials provided the order does not violate the laws or public policy of this state.

Section 12. Suits by Nonadmitted Insurers

A nonadmitted insurer may not commence or maintain an action at law or in equity, including arbitration or any other dispute resolution mechanism, in this state to enforce any right arising out of any insurance transaction except with respect to:

A. Claims under policies lawfully placed pursuant to the law of the home state of the insured;

B. Liquidation of assets and liabilities of the insurer (other than collection of new premium), resulting from its former authorized operations in this state;

C. Transactions subsequent to issuance of a policy not covering domestic risks at the time of issuance, and lawfully procured under the laws of the jurisdiction where the transaction took place;

D. Surplus lines insurance placed by a licensee under authority of Section 5 of this Act;

E. Reinsurance placed under the authority of [insert citations of state's reinsurance intermediary act and other reinsurance laws];

F. The continuation and servicing of life insurance, health insurance policies or annuity contracts remaining in force as to residents of this state where the formerly authorized insurer has withdrawn from the state and is not transacting new insurance in the state;

G. Servicing of policies written by an admitted insurer in a state to which the insured has moved but in which the company does not have a certificate of authority until the term expires;

H. Claims under policies covering wet marine and transportation insurance;

I. Placements of insurance which were lawful in the jurisdiction in which the transaction took place and which were not unlawful placements under the laws of this state.

Drafting Note: Provisions of a state's constitution, statutes, regulations, and public policy may necessitate amendment of the opening paragraph of this section.

Section 13. Severability

If any provisions of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstance, shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those as to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected thereby.

Section 14. Effective Date

This Act shall take effect [insert appropriate date].

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2023

NONADMITTED INSURANCE MODEL ACT (#870)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The 2023 revisions to the NAIC Nonadmitted Insurance Model Act (#870) are intended to conform Model #870 to the federal Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act of 2010 (NRRA), which was part of the federal Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act). The current Model #870 was adopted in 1994 to combine three NAIC models that date as far back as 1969: 1) the Unauthorized Insurers Model Act; 2) the Model Surplus Lines Law; and 3) the Model Nonadmitted Insurance Act. Since the adoption of Model #870 on Sept. 18, 1994, the NAIC has amended it on the following dates: 1) Dec. 16, 1996; 2) March 18, 1998; 3) Dec. 6, 1999; and 4) Sept. 10, 2002. The 2002 modifications resulted from the passage of the federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA) by the U.S. Congress (Congress). Currently, 31 states have adopted Model #870.

The most recent activity regarding Model #870 is related to the NRRA. Model #870 was not modified as a result of the implementation of the NRRA. On Oct. 11, 2011, the Nonadmitted Insurance Reform Sample Bulletin (Bulletin), which was distributed to the state insurance departments, was adopted by the Executive (EX) Committee and Plenary. The Bulletin outlined federally mandated regulatory changes that affect the placement of nonadmitted insurance. Specifically, the Bulletin addressed the scope of the NRRA, the application of "Home State" for the purposes of jurisdictional authority and paying premium tax, licensure requirements for brokers, diligent search requirements, and eligibility requirements for nonadmitted insurers.

During the implementation of the NRRA, the Surplus Lines (C) Task Force and NAIC staff were working on state tax allocation proposals. The leading proposals were the Surplus Lines Insurance Multistate Compliance Compact (SLIMPACT), which pre-dated the NRRA, and the Nonadmitted Insurance Multistate Agreement (NIMA), which was developed by the Task Force in response to the NRRA. The SLIMPACT failed to obtain the 10 states needed to become operative. The NIMA clearinghouse operated for only a few years before the NIMA was dissolved in 2016. With the focus on achieving a system of tax allocation before the NRRA deadline in July 2012, the decision was made to draft the Bulletin rather than amend Model #870.

During the 2020 Summer National Meeting of the Task Force, the chair directed staff to develop a drafting group to produce a summary document that outlined significant updates needed to modernize Model #870 and present a recommendation to the Task Force at a future national meeting. The drafting group consisted of Tom Travis (LA), Jeff Baughman (WA), Eli Snowbarger (OK), Andy Daleo (NAIC), and Dan Schelp (NAIC). The drafting group met Sept. 30 and Oct. 27, 2020. As a result of those meetings, the drafting group outlined numerous proposed revisions to Model #870.

During the 2020 Fall National Meeting, the Task Force adopted the Request for NAIC Model Law Development. During the 2021 Spring National Meeting, the Executive (EX) Committee approved the Request for NAIC Model Law Development.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Surplus Lines (C) Task Force and the drafting group consisting of Louisiana, Chair; Colorado; Illinois; Texas; and Washington.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The charges of the Surplus Lines (C) Task Force state, "Develop or amend relevant NAIC model laws, regulations, and/or guidelines." Also, as described in charge #1, the Request for NAIC Model Law Development was approved by the Executive (EX) Committee during the 2021 Spring National Meeting.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

During the 2021 Summer National Meeting, the Surplus Lines (C) Task Force formally developed the Model #870 Drafting Group that consisted of Travis, chair; Rolf Kaumann (CO); Marcy Savage (IL); Jamie Walker (TX); and Jeff Baughman (WA). The Drafting Group began its work on Model #870 on Aug. 19, 2021. During that call the Drafting Group discussed the overall approach to updating the model, initial comments received, and a timeline.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods; public hearings; or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers, and legislators was solicited)

The Drafting Group met Aug. 19, 2021, for a regulator-only planning session. Following the initial meeting, the Drafting Group met in open session Sept. 28, Oct. 20, Nov. 4, and Dec. 1, 2021. During these sessions, interested state insurance regulators and parties submitted comment letters to the Drafting Group. The Drafting Group held regulator-only discussion and planning calls on Jan. 10, March 15, and May 3, 2022. During a Surplus Lines (C) Task Force call on May 23, 2022, Model #870 was exposed for a 60-day public comment period. Comments were received from the American Property Casualty Insurance Association (APCIA), CRC Group: Wholesale and Specialty Insurance; Lloyd's of London; McDermott Will & Emery; the National Risk Retention Association (NRRA); Surplus Line Association of Illinois (SLAI); the Council of Insurance Agents & Brokers (CIAB); and the Wholesale & Specialty Insurance Association (WSIA). The Drafting Group held a regulator-only discussion and planning call on Aug. 3, 2022 and the Task Force held a call on Oct. 17 to discuss the comments received and on Oct. 27, 2022 it exposed Model #870 for a 30-day public comment period. Comments were received from the Maine Bureau of Insurance; the APCIA; Lloyd's of London; and the WSIA. During the Fall National Meeting, the Task Force heard a summary of the comments received. The Drafting Group held a regulator-only discussion and planning call on Jan. 18, 2023 to discuss comments received and on Jan. 23 exposed a new draft of Model #870 for a 14-day public comment period. Comments were received from the California Department of Insurance; the APCIA; the CIAB; Lloyd's of London; McDermott Will & Emery; and the WSIA. On Feb. 10 the drafting group held a regulatory-only discussion and planning call and integrated edits into Model #870.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (e.g., items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

The most significant issue raised was related to the methodology of determining the "Home State" for unaffiliated groups as outlined within Section 2 of the model. Following comments from various interested parties and discussion among Drafting Group members, an agreed-upon revision resulted in clarification via a drafting note.

7. List the Key Provisions of the Model (e.g., sections considered most essential to state adoption)

Section 5C(2)(b) – Non-U.S. Insurers

- For a Nonadmitted Insurer domiciled outside the U.S., the insurer shall be listed on the Quarterly Listing of Alien Insurers maintained by the International Insurers Department (IID) of the NAIC.

Section 5G – Surplus Lines Tax

- In addition to the full amount of gross Premium charged by the insurer for the insurance, every Person licensed pursuant to Section 5J of this Act shall collect and pay to the commissioner a sum equal to [insert number] percent of the gross Premium charged, less any return Premium, for Surplus Lines Insurance provided by the licensee pursuant to the license. Where the insurance covers properties, risks or exposures located or to be performed both in and out of this state, the sum payable shall be paid entirely to the Home State of the insured. The tax on any portion of the Premium unearned at the termination of insurance having been credited by the state to the licensee shall be returned to the policyholder directly by the Surplus Lines Licensee or through the producing broker, if any. The Surplus Lines Licensee is prohibited from rebating, for any reason, any part of the tax.

Section 5T – Domestic Surplus Lines Insurer

- The commissioner may designate a domestic insurer as a domestic Surplus Lines Insurer upon its application, which shall include, as a minimum, an authorizing resolution of the board of directors and evidence to the commissioner's satisfaction that the insurer has capital and surplus of not less than $15 million. (Although this was added to the model as optional, it remains an important part of the model.).

8. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

There were no discussions held regarding making Model #870 an accreditation standard.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2002

NONADMITTED INSURANCE MODEL ACT (#870)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

To update the provisions of the Nonadmitted Insurance Model Act to bring it into compliance with Gramm-Leach-Bliley

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model:

Nonadmitted Model Act Revision Working Group

States Participating:

New York, Chair
Alaska
California
Georgia
Illinois
Washington

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The Surplus Lines Task Force was charged in 2001 and 2002 to "Review the Nonadmitted Insurance Model Act provisions relating to out of state placements and make modifications as necessary to reflect the provisions of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act."

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The revisions were drafted by the working group.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

Proposed revisions were extensively exposed both at National meetings and prior to one conference call. Long exposure periods were used to ensure that comment could be received.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the drafting process and the group's response.

Some states believe that removing the surplus lines bonding requirement for non-resident surplus lines agents – which seemingly is necessary under Gramm-Leach-Bliley – would reduce policyholder protections and increase the risk of fraud. The working group reported these concerns to its Task Force. The Task Force has subsequently created a new working group to examine multi-state surplus lines bonds which might be allowed under the Act and thereby may ameliorate the problem.

UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES ACT

Table of Contents

Prefatory Note: By adopting amendments to this model act in June 1990, the NAIC separated provisions dealing with unfair claims settlement into a newly adopted Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Model Act, to make clearer distinction between general unfair trade practices and more specific unfair claim settlement issues and to focus on market conduct practices and market conduct regulation. By doing so, the NAIC is not recommending that states repeal existing acts, but states may modify them for the purpose of capturing the substantive changes. However, for those states wishing to completely rewrite their comprehensive approach to unfair claims practices, this separation of unfair claims from unfair trade practices is recommended.

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to regulate trade practices in the business of insurance in accordance with the intent of Congress as expressed in the Act of Congress of March 9, 1945 (Public Law 15, 79th Congress) and the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (Public Law 106-102, 106th Congress), by defining, or providing for the determination of, all such practices in this state that constitute unfair methods of competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices and by prohibiting the trade practices so defined or determined. Nothing herein shall be construed to create or imply a private cause of action for a violation of this Act.

Section 2. Definitions

When used in this Act:

A. "Affiliate" means any company that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with another company.

B. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance of this state.

Drafting Note: Insert the appropriate term for the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

C. "Customer" means an individual who purchases, applies to purchase, or is solicited to purchase insurance products primarily for personal, family or household purposes.

D. "Depository institution" means a bank or savings association. The term depository institution does not include an insurance company.

E. "Health Insurance Lead Generator" means any person that utilizes a lead-generating device to:

(1) Publicize the availability of what is, or what purports to be, a health insurance product or service that the person is not licensed to sell directly to a customer.

(2) Identifies a customer who may want to learn more about a health insurance product; or

(3) Sells or transmits customer information to insurers or producers for follow-up contact and sales activity.

F. "Lead-generating device" means any communication directed to the public that, regardless of form, content, or stated purpose, is intended to result in the compilation or qualification of a list containing names and other personal information to be used to solicit residents of this State for the purchase of what is or what purports to be a health insurance product or service.

G. "Insured" means the party named on a policy or certificate as the individual with legal rights to the benefits provided by such policy.

H. "Insurer" means any person, reciprocal exchange, interinsurer, Lloyd's insurer, fraternal benefit society, and any other legal entity engaged in the business of insurance, including producers, adjusters and third-party administrators. Insurer shall also mean medical service plans, hospital service plans, health maintenance organizations, prepaid limited health care service plans, dental, optometric and other similar health service plans as defined in Sections [insert applicable section]. For purposes of this Act, these foregoing entities shall be deemed to be engaged in the business of insurance.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to consider the advisability of defining "insurance" for purposes of this Act if its present insurance code is not satisfactory in this regard. In some cases, a cross reference will be sufficient.

I. "Person" means a natural or artificial entity, including but not limited to, individuals, partnerships, associations, trusts, or corporations. For purposes of this act, "person" includes a health insurance lead generator operating as any such natural or artificial entity.

J. "Policy" or "certificate" means a contract of insurance, indemnity, medical, health or hospital service, suretyship, or annuity issued, proposed for issuance, or intended for issuance by any insurer.

K. "Producer" means a person required to be licensed under the laws of this state to sell, solicit, or negotiate insurance.

L. "Recording" means recording of sales and verification of calls, including virtual technology calls, in their entirety, used in the marketing of insurance.

Section 3. Unfair Trade Practices Prohibited

It is an unfair trade practice for any insurer, health insurance lead generator, or person engaged in the business of insurance to commit any practice defined in Section 4 of this Act if:

A. It is committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of this Act or of any rules promulgated hereunder; or

B. It has been committed with such frequency to indicate a general business practice to engage in that type of conduct.

Section 4. Unfair Trade Practices Defined

Any of the following practices, if committed in violation of Section 3, are hereby defined as unfair trade practices in the business of insurance:

A. Misrepresentations and False Advertising of Insurance Policies. Making, issuing, circulating, or causing to be made, issued, or circulated, any estimate, illustration, circular or statement, sales presentation, omission or comparison that:

(1) Misrepresents the benefits, advantages, conditions, or terms of any policy; or

(2) Misrepresents the dividends or share of the surplus to be received on any policy; or

(3) Makes a false or misleading statement as to the dividends or share of surplus previously paid on any policy; or

(4) Is misleading or is a misrepresentation as to the financial condition of any insurer, or as to the legal reserve system upon which any life insurer operates; or

(5) Uses any name or title of any policy or class of policies misrepresenting the true nature thereof; or

(6) Is a misrepresentation, including any intentional misquote of premium rate, for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce the purchase, lapse, forfeiture, exchange, conversion or surrender of any policy; or

(7) Is a misrepresentation for the purpose of effecting a pledge or assignment of or effecting a loan against any policy; or

(8) Misrepresents any policy as being shares of stock.

B. False Information and Advertising Generally. Making, publishing, disseminating, circulating or placing before the public, or causing, directly or indirectly to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, or placed before the public, in a newspaper, magazine, electronic mail, internet advertisement or posting, or other publication, or in the form of a notice, circular, pamphlet, letter, electronic posting of any kind or poster, or over any radio or television station, or via the internet or other electronic means, or in any other way, an advertisement, announcement or statement containing any assertion, representation or statement with respect to the business of insurance or with respect to any insurer in the conduct of its insurance business, which is untrue, deceptive or misleading.

C. Failure to Maintain Marketing and Performance Records. Failure of a health insurance lead generator to maintain its books, records, documents and other business records in such an order that data regarding complaints and marketing are accessible and retrievable for examination by the insurance commissioner. Data for at least the current calendar year and the two (2) preceding years shall be maintained. Failure to do so shall constitute a violation of (insert state statute).

D. Defamation. Making, publishing, disseminating, or circulating, directly or indirectly, or aiding, abetting or encouraging the making, publishing, disseminating or circulating of any oral or written statement or any pamphlet, circular, article or literature which is false, or maliciously critical of or derogatory to the financial condition of any insurer, and which is calculated to injure such insurer.

E. Boycott, Coercion and Intimidation. Entering into any agreement to commit, or by any concerted action committing any act of boycott, coercion or intimidation resulting in or tending to result in unreasonable restraint of, or monopoly in, the business of insurance.

F. False Statements and Entries.

(1) Knowingly filing with any supervisory or other public official, or knowingly making, publishing, disseminating, circulating or delivering to any person, or placing before the public, or knowingly causing directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, delivered to any person, or placed before the public, any false material statement of fact as to the financial condition of an insurer.

(2) Knowingly making any false entry of a material fact in any book, report or statement of any insurer or knowingly omitting to make a true entry of any material fact pertaining to the business of such insurer in any book, report or statement of such insurer, or knowingly making any false material statement to any insurance department official.

G. Stock Operations and Advisory Board Contracts. Issuing or delivering or permitting agents, officers or employees to issue or deliver, agency company stock or other capital stock, or benefit certificates or shares in any common law corporation, or securities or any special or advisory board contracts or other contracts of any kind promising returns and profits as an inducement to purchase insurance.

H. Unfair Discrimination.

(1) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class and equal expectation of life in the rates charged for any life insurance policy or annuity or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any other of the terms and conditions of such policy.

(2) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class and of essentially the same hazard in the amount of premium, policy fees or rates charged for any accident or health insurance policy or in the benefits payable thereunder, or in any of the terms or conditions of such policy, or in any other manner.

Drafting Note: In the event that unfair discrimination in connection with accident and health coverage is treated in other statutes, this paragraph should be omitted.

(3) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals or risks of the same class and of essentially the same hazard by refusing to insure, refusing to renew, canceling or limiting the amount of insurance coverage on a property or casualty risk solely because of the geographic location of the risk, unless such action is the result of the application of sound underwriting and actuarial principles related to actual or reasonably anticipated loss experience.

(4) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals or risks of the same class and of essentially the same hazards by refusing to insure, refusing to renew, canceling or limiting the amount of insurance coverage on the residential property risk, or the personal property contained therein, solely because of the age of the residential property.

(5) Refusing to insure, refusing to continue to insure, or limiting the amount of coverage available to an individual because of the sex, marital status, race, religion or national origin of the individual; however, nothing in this subsection shall prohibit an insurer from taking marital status into account for the purpose of defining persons eligible for dependent benefits. Nothing in this section shall prohibit or limit the operation of fraternal benefit societies.

(6) To terminate, or to modify coverage or to refuse to issue or refuse to renew any property or casualty policy solely because the applicant or insured or any employee of either is mentally or physically impaired; provided that this subsection shall not apply to accident and health insurance sold by a casualty insurer and, provided further, that this subsection shall not be interpreted to modify any other provision of law relating to the termination, modification, issuance or renewal of any insurance policy or contract.

(7) Refusing to insure solely because another insurer has refused to write a policy, or has cancelled or has refused to renew an existing policy in which that person was the named insured. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the termination of an excess insurance policy on account of the failure of the insured to maintain any required underlying insurance.

(8) Violation of the state's rescission laws at [insert reference to appropriate code section].

Drafting Note: A state may wish to include this section if it has existing state laws covering rescission and to insert a reference to a particular code section.

I. Rebates.

(1) Except as otherwise expressly provided by law, knowingly permitting or offering to make or making any life insurance policy or annuity, or accident and health insurance or other insurance, or agreement as to such contract other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon, or paying or allowing, or giving or offering to pay, allow, or give, directly or indirectly, as inducement to such policy, any rebate of premiums payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefits thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever not specified in the policy; or giving, or selling, or purchasing or offering to give, sell, or purchase as inducement to such policy or annuity or in connection therewith, any stocks, bonds or other securities of any company or other corporation, association or partnership, or any dividends or profits accrued thereon, or anything of value whatsoever not specified in the policy.

(2) Nothing in Subsection G, or Paragraph (1) of Subsection H shall be construed as including within the definition of discrimination or rebates any of the following practices:

(a) In the case of life insurance policies or annuities, paying bonuses to policyholders or otherwise abating their premiums in whole or in part out of surplus accumulated from nonparticipating insurance, provided that any such bonuses or abatement of premiums shall be fair and equitable to policyholders and for the best interests of the company and its policyholders;

(b) In the case of life insurance policies issued on the industrial debit plan, making allowance to policyholders who have continuously for a specified period made premium payments directly to an office of the insurer in an amount that fairly represents the saving in collection expenses;

(c) Readjusting the rate of premium for a group insurance policy based on the loss or expense thereunder, at the end of the first or any subsequent policy year of insurance thereunder, which may be made retroactive only for such policy year; or

(d) Engaging in an arrangement that would not violate Section 106 of the Bank Holding Company Act Amendments of 1972 (12 U.S.C. 1972), as interpreted by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, or Section 5(q) of the Home Owners' Loan Act, 12 U.S.C. 1464(q).

(e) The offer or provision by insurers or producers, by or through employees, affiliates or third-party representatives, of value-added products or services at no or reduced cost when such products or services are not specified in the policy of insurance if the product or service:

(i) Relates to the insurance coverage; and

(ii) Is primarily designed to satisfy one or more of the following:

(I) Provide loss mitigation or loss control;

(II) Reduce claim costs or claim settlement costs;

(III) Provide education about liability risks or risk of loss to persons or property;

(IV) Monitor or assess risk, identify sources of risk, or develop strategies for eliminating or reducing risk;

(V) Enhance health;

(VI) Enhance financial wellness through items such as education or financial planning services;

(VII) Provide post-loss services;

(VIII) Incent behavioral changes to improve the health or reduce the risk of death or disability of a customer (defined for purposes of this subsection as policyholder, potential policyholder, certificate holder, potential certificate holder, insured, potential insured or applicant); or

(IX) Assist in the administration of the employee or retiree benefit insurance coverage.

(iii) The cost to the insurer or producer offering the product or service to any given customer must be reasonable in comparison to that customer's premiums or insurance coverage for the policy class.

(iv) If the insurer or producer is providing the product or service offered, the insurer or producer must ensure that the customer is provided with contact information to assist the customer with questions regarding the product or service.

(v) The commissioner may adopt regulations when implementing the permitted practices set forth in this statute to ensure consumer protection. Such regulations, consistent with applicable law, may address, among other issues, consumer data protections and privacy, consumer disclosure and unfair discrimination.

(vi) The availability of the value-added product or service must be based on documented objective criteria and offered in a manner that is not unfairly discriminatory. The documented criteria must be maintained by the insurer or producer and produced upon request by the Department.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider alternative language based on their filing requirements.

(vii) If an insurer or producer does not have sufficient evidence but has a good-faith belief that the product or service meets the criteria in H(2)(e)(ii), the insurer or producer may provide the product or service in a manner that is not unfairly discriminatory as part of a pilot or testing program for no more than one year. An insurer or producer must notify the Department of such a pilot or testing program offered to consumers in this state prior to launching and may proceed with the program unless the Department objects within twenty-one days of notice.

Drafting Note: This Section is not intended to limit or curtail existing value-added services in the marketplace. It is intended to promote innovation in connection with the offering of value-added services while maintaining strong consumer protections.

(f) An insurer or a producer may:

(i) Offer or give non-cash gifts, items, or services, including meals to or charitable donations on behalf of a customer, in connection with the marketing, sale, purchase, or retention of contracts of insurance, as long as the cost does not exceed an amount determined to be reasonable by the commissioner per policy year per term. The offer must be made in a manner that is not unfairly discriminatory. The customer may not be required to purchase, continue to purchase or renew a policy in exchange for the gift, item or service.

(ii) Offer or give non-cash gifts, items, or services including meals to or charitable donations on behalf of a customer, to commercial or institutional customers in connection with the marketing, sale, purchase, or retention of contracts of insurance, as long as the cost is reasonable in comparison to the premium or proposed premium and the cost of the gift or service is not included in any amounts charged to another person or entity. The offer must be made in a manner that is not unfairly discriminatory. The customer may not be required to purchase, continue to purchase or renew a policy in exchange for the gift, item or service.

(iii) Conduct raffles or drawings to the extent permitted by state law, as long as there is no financial cost to entrants to participate, the drawing or raffle does not obligate participants to purchase insurance, the prizes are not valued in excess of a reasonable amount determined by the commissioner and the drawing or raffle is open to the public. The raffle or drawing must be offered in a manner that is not unfairly discriminatory. The customer may not be required to purchase, continue to purchase or renew a policy in exchange for the gift, item or service.

Drafting Note: If a state wishes to limit (f) to a stated monetary limit the committee would suggest that, at the time of the drafting of this model, the lesser of 5% of the current or projected policyholder premium or $250 would be an appropriate limit, however specific prohibitions may exist related to transactions governed by the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 and the laws and regulations governing the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation Risk Management Agency. States may want to consider a limit for commercial or institutional customers.

(3) An insurer, producer or representative of either may not offer or provide insurance as an inducement to the purchase of another policy or otherwise use the words "free", "no cost" or words of similar import, in an advertisement.

Drafting Note: Section 104 (d)(2)(B)(viii) of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act provides that any state restrictions on anti-tying may not prevent a depository institution or affiliate from engaging in any activity that would not violate Section 106 of the Bank Holding Company Act Amendments of 1970, as interpreted by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has stated that nothing in its interpretation on combined-balance discount arrangements is intended to override any other applicable state and federal law. FRB SR 95-32 (SUP). Section 5(q) of the Home Owners' Loan Act is the analogous provision to Section 106 for thrift institutions. The Office of Thrift Supervision has a regulation 12 C.F.R. 563.36 that allows combined-balance discounts if certain requirements are met.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to examine its rating laws to ensure that it contains sufficient provisions against rebating. If a state does not, this section may be expanded to cover all lines of insurance.

J. Prohibited Group Enrollments. No insurer shall offer more than one group policy of insurance through any person unless such person is licensed, at a minimum, as a limited insurance representative. However, this prohibition shall not apply to employer/employee relationships, nor to any such enrollments.

K. Failure to Maintain Marketing and Performance Records. Failure to maintain its books, records, documents and other business records, including any recordings, when applicable, in such an order that data regarding complaints, claims, rating, underwriting and marketing are accessible and retrievable for examination by the insurance commissioner. Data for at least the current calendar year and the two (2) preceding years (or insert state requirement) shall be maintained.

L. Failure to Maintain Complaint Handling Procedures. Failure of any insurer to maintain a complete record of all the complaints it received since the date of its last examination under Section [insert applicable section]. This record shall indicate the total number of complaints, their classification by line of insurance, the nature of each complaint, the disposition of each complaint, and the time it took to process each complaint. For purposes of this subsection, "complaint" shall mean any written communication primarily expressing a grievance.

M. Misrepresentation in Insurance Applications. Making false or fraudulent statements or representations on or relative to an application for a policy, for the purpose of obtaining a fee, commission, money or other benefit from any provider or individual person.

N. Unfair Financial Planning Practices. An insurance producer:

(1) Holding himself or herself out, directly or indirectly, to the public as a "financial planner," "investment adviser," "consultant," "financial counselor," or any other specialist engaged in the business of giving financial planning or advice relating to investments, insurance, real estate, tax matters or trust and estate matters when such person is in fact engaged only in the sale of policies. This provision does not preclude persons who hold some form of formal recognized financial planning or consultant certification or designation from using this certification or designation when they are only selling insurance. This does not permit persons to charge an additional fee for services that are customarily associated with the solicitation, negotiation or servicing of policies.

(2) (a) Engaging in the business of financial planning without disclosing to the client prior to the execution of the agreement provided for in Paragraph 3, or solicitation of the sale of a product or service that

(i) He or she is also an insurance salesperson, and

(ii) That a commission for the sale of an insurance product will be received in addition to a fee for financial planning, if such is the case.

(b) The disclosure requirement under this subsection may be met by including it in any disclosure required by federal or state securities law.

(3) (a) Charging fees other than commissions for financial planning by insurance producer, unless such fees are based upon a written agreement, signed by the party to be charged in advance of the performance of the services under the agreement. A copy of the agreement must be provided to the party to be charged at the time the agreement is signed by the party.

(i) The services for which the fee is to be charged must be specifically stated in the agreement.

(ii) The amount of the fee to be charged or how it will be determined or calculated must be specifically stated in the agreement.

(iii) The agreement must state that the client is under no obligation to purchase any insurance product through the insurance producer or consultant.

Drafting Note: This subsection is intended to apply only to persons engaged in personal financial planning.

(b) The insurance producer shall retain a copy of the agreement for not less than three (3) years after completion of services, and a copy shall be available to the commissioner upon request.

O. Failure to file or to certify information regarding the endorsement or sale of long-term care insurance. Failure of any insurer to:

(1) File with the insurance department the following material:

(a) The policy and certificate;

(b) A corresponding outline of coverage; and

(c) All advertisements requested by the insurance department; or

(2) Certify annually that the association has complied with the responsibilities for disclosure, advertising, compensation arrangements, or other information required by the commissioner, as set forth by regulation.

P. Failure to Provide Claims History

(1) Loss Information—Property and Casualty. Failure of a company issuing property and casualty insurance to provide the following loss information for the three (3) previous policy years to the first named insured within thirty (30) days of receipt of the first named insured's written request:

(a) On all claims, date and description of occurrence, and total amount of payments; and

(b) For any occurrence not included in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the date and description of occurrence.

(2) Should the first named insured be requested by a prospective insurer to provide detailed loss information in addition to that required under Paragraph (1), the first named insured may mail or deliver a written request to the insurer for the additional information. No prospective insurer shall request more detailed loss information than reasonably required to underwrite the same line or class of insurance. The insurer shall provide information under this subparagraph to the first named insured as soon as possible, but in no event later than twenty (20) days of receipt of the written request. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no insurer shall be required to provide loss reserve information, and no prospective insurer may refuse to insure an applicant solely because the prospective insurer is unable to obtain loss reserve information.

(3) The commissioner may promulgate regulations to exclude the providing of the loss information as outlined in Paragraph (1) for any line or class of insurance where it can be shown that the information is not needed for that line or class of insurance, or where the provision of loss information otherwise is required by law.

Drafting Note: Loss information on workers' compensation is an example in some states of loss information otherwise required by law.

(4) Information provided under Paragraph (2) shall not be subject to discovery by any party other than the insured, the insurer and the prospective insurer.

Drafting Note: This provision may not be required in states that have a privacy act that governs consumer access to this information. Those states considering applying this requirement to life, accident and health lines of insurance should first review their state privacy act related to issues of confidentiality of individual insured information.

Q. Violating any one of Sections [insert applicable sections].

Drafting Note: Insert section numbers of any other sections of the state's insurance laws deemed desirable or necessary to include as an unfair trade practice, such as cancellation and nonrenewal laws.

Section 5. Favored Agent or Insurer; Coercion of Debtors

A. No person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution may require as a condition precedent to the lending of money or extension of credit, or any renewal thereof, that the person to whom such money or credit is extended or whose obligation a creditor is to acquire or finance, negotiate any policy or renewal thereof through a particular insurer or group of insurers or agent or broker or group of agents or brokers. Further, no person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, may reject an insurance policy solely because the policy has been issued or underwritten by a person who is not associated with the depository institution or affiliate when insurance is required in connection with a loan or extension of credit.

B. No person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, who lends money or extends credit may:

(1) As a condition for extending credit or offering any product or service that is equivalent to an extension of credit, require that a customer obtain insurance from a depository institution or an affiliate of a depository institution, or a particular insurer or producer. However, this provision does not prohibit a person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, from informing a customer or prospective customer that insurance is required in order to obtain a loan or credit, or that loan or credit approval is contingent upon the procurement by the customer of acceptable insurance, or that insurance is available from the person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution;

(2) Unreasonably reject a policy furnished by the customer or borrower for the protection of the property securing the credit or lien. A rejection shall not be deemed unreasonable if it is based on reasonable standards, uniformly applied, relating to the extent of coverage required and the financial soundness and the services of an insurer. Such standards shall not discriminate against any particular type of insurer, nor shall such standards call for rejection of a policy because it contains coverage in addition to that required in the credit transaction;

(3) Require that any customer, borrower, mortgagor, purchaser, insurer, broker or agent pay a separate charge, in connection with the handling of any policy required as security for a loan on real estate or pay a separate charge to substitute the policy of one insurer for that of another. This paragraph does not include the interest that may be charged on premium loans or premium advancements in accordance with the terms of the loan or credit document. Further, this paragraph does not apply to charges that would be required when the person or depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution is the licensed producer providing the insurance;

(4) Require any procedures or conditions of duly licensed producers or insurers not customarily required of those producers or insurers affiliated or in any way connected with the person who lends money or extends credit;

(4) Use an advertisement or other insurance promotional material that would cause a reasonable person to mistakenly believe that the federal government or the state is responsible for the insurance sales activity of, or stands behind the credit of, the person, depository institution or its affiliate;

(6) Use an advertisement or other insurance promotional material that would cause a reasonable person to mistakenly believe that the federal government or the state guarantees any returns on insurance products or is a source of payment on any insurance obligation of or sold by the person, depository institution or its affiliate;

(7) Act as a producer unless properly licensed in accordance with [insert appropriate statutory provisions for producer licensing];

(8) Pay or receive any commission, brokerage fee or other compensation as a producer, unless the person holds a valid producer's license for the applicable class of insurance. However, an unlicensed person may make a referral to a licensed producer provided that the person does not discuss specific insurance policy terms and conditions. The unlicensed person may be compensated for the referral; however, in the case of a referral of a customer, the unlicensed person may be compensated only if the compensation is a fixed dollar amount for each referral that does not depend on whether the customer purchases the insurance product from the licensed producer. Furthermore, any person who accepts deposits from the public in an area where such transactions are routinely conducted in the depository institution may receive for each customer referral no more than a one-time, nominal fee of a fixed dollar amount for each referral that does not depend on whether the referral results in a transaction;

Drafting Note: The last sentence of this paragraph further limits the referral for customers of personal, family and household insurance products as a result of Section 305 of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act and the subsequent adoption of regulations by the federal banking regulators at 12 C.F.R. 14.50, 208.85, 343.50 and 536.50. By including this language, the paragraph will be consistent with the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act and the federal regulations while maintaining the integrity of Section 104(d)(2)(B)(iv) and (v) of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act.

(9) Solicit or sell insurance, other than credit insurance or flood insurance, unless the solicitation or sale is completed through documents separate from any credit transactions;

(10) Include the expense of insurance premiums, other than credit insurance premiums or flood insurance premiums, in the primary credit transaction without the express written consent of the customer;

(11) Solicit or sell insurance unless its insurance sales activities are, to the extent practicable, physically separated from areas where retail deposits are routinely accepted by depository institutions; or

(12) Solicit or sell insurance unless it maintains separate and distinct books and records relating to the insurance transactions, including all files relating to and reflecting consumer complaints.

Drafting Note: The Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act contains two "safe harbors" that relate to information sharing. Section 104(d)(2)(B)(vi) describes the circumstances surrounding the release of a customer's insurance information. Section 104(d)(2)(B)(vii) describes the circumstances surrounding the use of a customer's health information obtained from the insurance records of the customer. If a state has adopted the NAIC's Privacy of Consumer Financial and Health Information Model Regulation, no further action is needed. If not, language implementing the two safe harbors should be considered. It should be noted, however, that during the drafting process, there were concerns expressed about the application of the preemption provisions of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) in circumstances involving the sharing of information with affiliates. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to modify, limit or supersede the operation of the FCRA (15 U.S.C. 1681 et seq.). In addition, no inference shall be drawn on the basis of the provisions of this Act regarding whether information is transaction or experience information under Section 603 of FCRA.

C. Every person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution that lends money or extends credit and who solicits insurance primarily for personal, family or household purposes shall disclose to the customer in writing that the insurance related to the credit extension may be purchased from an insurer or producer of the customer's choice, subject only to the lender's right to reject a given insurer or agent as provided in Subsection B(2). Further, the disclosure shall inform the customer that the customer's choice of insurer or producer will not affect the credit decision or credit terms in any way, except that the depository institution may impose reasonable requirements concerning the creditworthiness of the insurer and the scope of coverage chosen as provided in Subsection B(2).

D. (1) A depository institution that solicits, sells, advertises, or offers insurance, and any person who solicits, sells, advertises or offers insurance on behalf of a depository institution or on the premises of a depository institution shall disclose to the customer in writing, where practicable and in a clear and conspicuous manner, prior to a sale, that the insurance:

(a) Is not a deposit;

(b) Is not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other federal government agency;

(c) Is not guaranteed by the depository institution, its affiliate (if applicable) or any person that is soliciting, selling, advertising or offering insurance (if applicable); and

(d) Where appropriate, involves investment risk, including the possible loss of value.

(2) For purposes of these requirements, an affiliate of a depository institution is subject to these requirements only to the extent that it sells, solicits, advertises, or offers insurance products or annuities at an office of a depository institution or on behalf of a depository institution. These requirements apply only when an individual purchases, applies to purchase, or is solicited to purchase insurance products or annuities primarily for personal, family or household purposes and only to the extent that the disclosure would be accurate.

Drafting Note: The requirements of this provision are meant to apply only when the consumer may have a reasonable belief that the product is a deposit; that it is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; that it is guaranteed by the person or depository institution; and that, where appropriate, it involves investment risk, including the possible loss of value. This provision is not intended to require every entity or person in a financial holding company to provide the disclosure as a result of having both solicitation of insurance and extending of credit or lending of money occurring within an entity in the financial holding company group.

(3) A depository institution that solicits, sells, advertises, or offers insurance, and any person who solicits, sells, advertises or offers insurance on behalf of a depository institution or on the premises of a depository institution shall obtain written acknowledgement of the receipt of the disclosure from the customer at the time the customer receives the disclosure or at the time of the initial purchase of the insurance policy. If the solicitation is conducted by telephone, the person or depository institution shall obtain an oral acknowledgement of receipt of the disclosure, maintain sufficient documentation to show that the acknowledgment was given by the customer, and make reasonable efforts to obtain a written acknowledgment from the customer. If a customer affirmatively consents to receiving the disclosures electronically and if the disclosures are provided in a format that the customer may retain or obtain later, the person or depository institution may provide the disclosure and obtain acknowledgement of the receipt of the disclosure from the customer using electronic media.

(4) For the purposes of Paragraph (1), a person is selling, soliciting, advertising or offering insurance on behalf of a depository institution, whether at an office of the depository institution or another location, if at least one of the following applies:

(a) The person represents to the customer that the sale, solicitation, advertisement or offer of the insurance is by or on behalf of the depository institution;

(b) The depository institution refers a customer to the person who sells insurance, and the depository institution has a contractual arrangement to receive commissions or fees derived from the sale of insurance resulting from the referral; or

(c) Documents evidencing the sale, solicitation, advertisement or offer of insurance identify or refer to the depository institution.

E. The commissioner shall have the power to examine and investigate those insurance activities of any person, depository institution, affiliate of a depository institution or insurer that the commissioner believes may be in violation of this section. The person, depository institution, affiliate of a depository institution or insurer shall make its insurance books and records available to the commissioner and the commissioner's staff for inspection upon reasonable notice. An affected person may submit to the commissioner a complaint or material pertinent to the enforcement of this section.

F. Nothing herein shall prevent a person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, who lends money or extends credit from placing insurance on real or personal property in the event the mortgagor, borrower or purchaser has failed to provide required insurance in accordance with the terms of the loan or credit document.

G. Nothing contained in this section shall apply to credit related insurance.

Drafting Note: The consumer protection rules promulgated by the banking regulatory agencies pursuant to Section 305 of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act apply to retail sales practices, solicitations, advertising or offers of any insurance product or annuity. If a state has adopted the NAIC's Consumer Credit Insurance Model Act and Consumer Credit Insurance Model Regulation, no further action is needed. If not, the state should consider eliminating Subsection G.

Section 6. Power of Commissioner

The commissioner shall have power to examine and investigate the affairs of every person or insurer or health insurance lead generator in this state in order to determine whether such person, insurer, or health insurance lead generator has been or is engaged in any unfair trade practice prohibited by this Act. However, in the case of depository institutions, the commissioner shall have the power to examine and investigate the insurance activities of depository institutions, in order to determine whether the depository institution has been or is engaged in any unfair trade practice prohibited by this Act. The commissioner shall notify the appropriate federal banking agency of the commissioner's intent to examine or investigate a depository institution and advise the appropriate federal banking agency of the suspected violations of state law prior to commencing the examination or investigation.

Section 7. Hearings, Witnesses, Appearances, Production of Books, and Service of Process

A. Whenever the commissioner shall have reason to believe that any insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution has been engaged or is engaging in this state in any unfair trade practice whether or not defined in this Act, and that a proceeding by the commissioner in respect thereto would be in the interest of the public, the commissioner shall issue and serve upon such insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution, a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of a hearing thereon to be held at a time and place fixed in the notice, which shall not be less than [insert number] days after the date of the service thereof. With respect to a depository institution, the commissioner's authority to call a hearing is limited to the depository institution's insurance underwriting, sales, solicitation and cross marketing activities. The commissioner shall provide a copy of the notice of hearing to the appropriate federal banking agency when a depository institution is involved.

B. At the time and place fixed for the hearing, the insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution shall have an opportunity to be heard and to show cause why an order should not be made by the commissioner requiring the insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution to cease and desist from the acts, methods or practices so complained of. Upon good cause shown, the commissioner shall permit any person to intervene, appear and be heard at the hearing by counsel or in person.

C. Nothing contained in this Act shall require the observance at the hearing of formal rules of pleading or evidence.

D. The commissioner, at the hearing, may administer oaths, examine and cross examine witnesses, receive oral and documentary evidence, and shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, and require the production of books, papers, records, correspondence or other documents the commissioner deems relevant to the inquiry, provided, however, that in the case of depository institutions, the commissioner shall have the power to require the production of books, papers, records, correspondence or other documents that the commissioner deems relevant to the inquiry only on the insurance activities of the depository institution. The commissioner may, and upon the request of any party, shall cause to be made a stenographic record of all the evidence and all the proceedings at the hearing. If no stenographic record is made and if a judicial review is sought, the commissioner shall prepare a statement of the evidence and proceeding for use on review. In case of a refusal of any person to comply with any subpoena or to testify with respect to any matter concerning which he may be lawfully interrogated, the [insert title] Court of [insert county] County or the county where the person resides, on application of the commissioner, may issue an order requiring such person to comply with the subpoena and to testify; and any failure to obey any order of the court may be punished by the court as contempt.

E. Statements of charges, notices, orders and other processes of the commissioner under this Act may be served by anyone duly authorized by the commissioner, either in the manner provided by law for service of process in civil actions, or by registering and mailing a copy thereof to the person affected by the statement, notice, order or other process at the person's residence or principal office or place of business. The verified return by the person so serving the statement, notice, order, or other process, setting forth the manner of service, shall be proof of the same, and the return postcard receipt for the statement, notice, order or other process, registered and mailed as specified, shall be proof of the service of the same.

Section 8. Cease and Desist and Penalty Orders

A. If, after a hearing, the commissioner finds that an insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution has engaged in an unfair trade practice, the commissioner shall reduce the findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution charged with the violation, a copy of the findings in an order requiring the insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice and the commissioner may, at the commissioner's discretion order:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than $1,000 for each violation, but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $100,000, unless the violation was committed flagrantly in a conscious disregard of this Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than $25,000 for each violation not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $250,000; and/or

(2) Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license if the insurer knew or reasonably should have known that it was in violation of this Act.

B. In the case of a depository institution, the commissioner shall, if practicable, notify the appropriate federal regulator before imposing a monetary penalty on a depository institution or suspending or revoking the depository institution's insurer's license, and provide to the federal regulator a copy of the findings.

Section 9. Judicial Review of Orders

A. An insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution subject to an order of the commissioner under Section 8 or Section 11 may obtain a review of the order by filing in the [insert title] Court of [insert county] County, within [insert number] days from the date of the service of the order, a written petition praying that the order of the commissioner be set aside. A copy of the petition shall be served upon the commissioner, and thereupon the commissioner shall certify and file in the court a transcript of the entire record in the proceeding, including all the evidence taken and the report and order of the commissioner. Upon filing of the petition and transcript, the court shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and of the question determined therein, shall determine whether the filing of the petition shall operate as a stay of the order of the commissioner, and shall have power to make and enter upon the pleadings, evidence and proceedings set forth in the transcript a decree modifying, affirming or reversing the order of the commissioner, in whole or in part. The findings of the commissioner as to the facts, if supported by [insert type] evidence, shall be conclusive.

Drafting Note: Insert appropriate language to accommodate to local procedure the effect given the commissioner's determination.

B. To the extent that the order of the commissioner is affirmed, the court shall thereupon issue its own order commanding obedience to the terms of the order of the commissioner. If either party shall apply to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence, and shall show to the satisfaction of the court that the additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the proceeding before the commissioner, the court may order additional evidence to be taken before the commissioner and to be adduced upon the hearing in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the court may deem proper. The commissioner may modify the findings of fact, or make new findings by reason of the additional evidence so taken, and shall file the modified or new findings that are supported by [insert type] evidence with a recommendation if any, for the modification or setting aside of the original order, with the return of the additional evidence.

Drafting Note: Insert appropriate language to accommodate to local procedure the effect given the commissioner's determination. In a state where final judgment, order or decree would not be subject to review by an appellate court provision therefor should be inserted here.

C. An order issued by the commissioner under Section 8 shall become final:

(1) Upon the expiration of the time allowed for filing a petition for review if no such petition has been duly filed within such time; except that the commissioner may thereafter modify or set aside the order to the extent provided in Section 9B; or

(2) Upon the final decision of the court if the court directs that the order of the commissioner be affirmed or the petition for review dismissed.

D. No order of the commissioner under this Act or order of a court to enforce the same shall in any way relieve or absolve any person affected by such order from any liability under any other laws of this state.

Section 10. Judicial Review by Intervenor

If after any hearing under Section 7 or Section 11, the report of the commissioner does not charge a violation of this Act, then any intervenor in the proceedings may within [insert number] days after the service of the report, cause a petition [notice of appeal] [petition for writ of certiorari] to be filed in the [insert title] Court of [insert county] County for a review of the report. Upon review, the court shall have authority to issue appropriate orders and decrees in connection therewith, including, if the court finds that it is to the interest of the public, orders enjoining and restraining the continuance of any method of competition, act or practice which it finds, notwithstanding the report of the commissioner, constitutes a violation of this Act, and containing penalties pursuant to Section 8.

Drafting Note: The type of procedure should conform to state procedure. See also note to Section 9 concerning review by appellate courts.

Section 11. Penalty for Violation of Cease and Desist Orders

Any insurer, health insurance lead generator, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution that violates a cease and desist order of the commissioner and while such order is in effect, may after notice and hearing and upon order of the commissioner, be subject at the discretion of the commissioner to:

A. A monetary penalty of not more than $25,000 for each and every act or violation not to exceed an aggregate of $250,000 pursuant to any such hearing; and/or

B. Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license.

Section 12. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable rules, regulations and orders as are necessary or proper to carry out and effectuate the provisions of this Act. Such regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with Section [insert applicable section].

Drafting Note: Insert section number providing for review of administrative orders.

Section 13. Provisions of Act Additional to Existing Law

The powers vested in the commissioner by this Act shall be additional to any other powers to enforce any penalties, fines or forfeitures authorized by law with respect to the methods, acts and practices hereby declared to be unfair or deceptive.

Section 14. Immunity from Prosecution

If any person shall ask to be excused from attending and testifying or from producing any books, papers, records, correspondence or other documents at any hearing on the ground that the testimony or evidence required may tend to incriminate or subject the person to a penalty or forfeiture, and shall notwithstanding be directed to give testimony or produce evidence, the person shall nonetheless comply with the direction, but shall not thereafter be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which the person may testify or produce evidence thereto, and no testimony so given or evidence produced shall be received against the person upon any criminal action, investigation or proceeding; provided, however, that no person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution or punishment for any perjury committed while so testifying and the testimony or evidence so given or produced shall be admissible against the person upon any criminal action, investigation or proceeding concerning such perjury, nor shall the person be exempt from the refusal, revocation or suspension of any license, permission or authority conferred, or to be conferred, pursuant to the Insurance Law of this state. Any such person may execute, acknowledge and file in the office of the commissioner a statement expressly waiving immunity or privilege in respect to any transaction, matter or thing specified in the statement and thereupon the testimony of the person or evidence in relation to the transaction, matter or thing may be received or produced before any judge or justice, court, tribunal, grand jury or otherwise, and if so received or produced the person shall not be entitled to any immunity or privilege on account of any testimony the person may give or evidence produced.

Section 15. Separability Provision

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstances, shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to person or circumstances other than those as to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected thereby.

UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES ACT

Table of Contents

Prefatory Note: By adopting amendments to this model act in June 1990, the NAIC separated provisions dealing with unfair claims settlement into a newly adopted Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Model Act, to make clearer distinction between general unfair trade practices and more specific unfair claim settlement issues and to focus on market conduct practices and market conduct regulation. By doing so, the NAIC is not recommending that states repeal existing acts, but states may modify them for the purpose of capturing the substantive changes. However, for those states wishing to completely rewrite their comprehensive approach to unfair claims practices, this separation of unfair claims from unfair trade practices is recommended.

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to regulate trade practices in the business of insurance in accordance with the intent of Congress as expressed in the Act of Congress of March 9, 1945 (Public Law 15, 79th Congress) and the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (Public Law 106-102, 106th Congress), by defining, or providing for the determination of, all such practices in this state that constitute unfair methods of competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices and by prohibiting the trade practices so defined or determined. Nothing herein shall be construed to create or imply a private cause of action for a violation of this Act.

Section 2. Definitions

When used in this Act:

A. "Affiliate" means any company that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with another company.

B. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance of this state.

Drafting Note: Insert the appropriate term for the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

C. "Customer" means an individual who purchases, applies to purchase, or is solicited to purchase insurance products primarily for personal, family or household purposes.

D. "Depository institution" means a bank or savings association. The term depository institution does not include an insurance company.

E. "Insured" means the party named on a policy or certificate as the individual with legal rights to the benefits provided by such policy.

F. "Insurer" means any person, reciprocal exchange, interinsurer, Lloyd's insurer, fraternal benefit society, and any other legal entity engaged in the business of insurance, including producers, adjusters and third-party administrators. Insurer shall also mean medical service plans, hospital service plans, health maintenance organizations, prepaid limited health care service plans, dental, optometric and other similar health service plans as defined in Sections [insert applicable section]. For purposes of this Act, these foregoing entities shall be deemed to be engaged in the business of insurance.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to consider the advisability of defining "insurance" for purposes of this Act if its present insurance code is not satisfactory in this regard. In some cases a cross reference will be sufficient.

G. "Person" means a natural or artificial entity, including but not limited to, individuals, partnerships, associations, trusts or corporations.

H. "Policy" or "certificate" means a contract of insurance, indemnity, medical, health or hospital service, suretyship, or annuity issued, proposed for issuance, or intended for issuance by any insurer.

I. "Producer" means a person required to be licensed under the laws of this state to sell, solicit, or negotiate insurance.

Section 3. Unfair Trade Practices Prohibited

It is an unfair trade practice for any insurer to commit any practice defined in Section 4 of this Act if:

A. It is committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of this Act or of any rules promulgated hereunder; or

B. It has been committed with such frequency to indicate a general business practice to engage in that type of conduct.

Section 4. Unfair Trade Practices Defined

Any of the following practices, if committed in violation of Section 3, are hereby defined as unfair trade practices in the business of insurance:

A. Misrepresentations and False Advertising of Insurance Policies. Making, issuing, circulating, or causing to be made, issued or circulated, any estimate, illustration, circular or statement, sales presentation, omission or comparison that:

(1) Misrepresents the benefits, advantages, conditions or terms of any policy; or

(2) Misrepresents the dividends or share of the surplus to be received on any policy; or

(3) Makes a false or misleading statement as to the dividends or share of surplus previously paid on any policy; or

(4) Is misleading or is a misrepresentation as to the financial condition of any insurer, or as to the legal reserve system upon which any life insurer operates; or

(5) Uses any name or title of any policy or class of policies misrepresenting the true nature thereof; or

(6) Is a misrepresentation, including any intentional misquote of premium rate, for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce the purchase, lapse, forfeiture, exchange, conversion or surrender of any policy; or

(7) Is a misrepresentation for the purpose of effecting a pledge or assignment of or effecting a loan against any policy; or

(8) Misrepresents any policy as being shares of stock.

B. False Information and Advertising Generally. Making, publishing, disseminating, circulating or placing before the public, or causing, directly or indirectly to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, or placed before the public, in a newspaper, magazine or other publication, or in the form of a notice, circular, pamphlet, letter or poster, or over any radio or television station, or in any other way, an advertisement, announcement or statement containing any assertion, representation or statement with respect to the business of insurance or with respect to any insurer in the conduct of its insurance business, which is untrue, deceptive or misleading.

C. Defamation. Making, publishing, disseminating, or circulating, directly or indirectly, or aiding, abetting or encouraging the making, publishing, disseminating or circulating of any oral or written statement or any pamphlet, circular, article or literature which is false, or maliciously critical of or derogatory to the financial condition of any insurer, and which is calculated to injure such insurer.

D. Boycott, Coercion and Intimidation. Entering into any agreement to commit, or by any concerted action committing any act of boycott, coercion or intimidation resulting in or tending to result in unreasonable restraint of, or monopoly in, the business of insurance.

E. False Statements and Entries.

(1) Knowingly filing with any supervisory or other public official, or knowingly making, publishing, disseminating, circulating or delivering to any person, or placing before the public, or knowingly causing directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, delivered to any person, or placed before the public, any false material statement of fact as to the financial condition of an insurer.

(2) Knowingly making any false entry of a material fact in any book, report or statement of any insurer or knowingly omitting to make a true entry of any material fact pertaining to the business of such insurer in any book, report or statement of such insurer, or knowingly making any false material statement to any insurance department official.

F. Stock Operations and Advisory Board Contracts. Issuing or delivering or permitting agents, officers or employees to issue or deliver, agency company stock or other capital stock, or benefit certificates or shares in any common law corporation, or securities or any special or advisory board contracts or other contracts of any kind promising returns and profits as an inducement to purchase insurance.

G. Unfair Discrimination.

(1) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class and equal expectation of life in the rates charged for any life insurance policy or annuity or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any other of the terms and conditions of such policy.

(2) (a) Refusing life insurance to, refusing to continue life insurance of, or limiting the amount, extent, or kind of life insurance coverage available to an individual based on the individual's past lawful travel experiences.

(b) Refusing life insurance to, refusing to continue life insurance of, limiting the amount, extent, or kind of life insurance coverage available to an individual, or determining the premium of life insurance based on the individual's future lawful travel plans unless:

(i) (I) The risk of loss for individuals who travel to a specified destination at a specified time is reasonably anticipated to be greater than if the individuals did not travel to that destination at that time; and

(II) The risk classification is based on sound actuarial principles and actual or reasonably anticipated experience.

(ii) An action shall be deemed to meet the requirements of subparagraph (i) of this paragraph if it is taken because either one of the following is true with respect to the travel destination:

(I) The Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention of the Department of Health and Human Services has issued a highest level alert or warning, including a recommendation against non-essential travel, due to a serious health-related condition; or

(II) There is an ongoing armed conflict involving the military of a sovereign nation foreign to the country of conflict.

(c) (i) The commissioner may adopt regulations necessary to implement the provisions of this paragraph and may provide for limited exceptions that are based upon national or international emergency conditions that affect the public health, safety, and welfare and that are consistent with public policy.

(ii) An insurer shall make any pertinent underwriting guidelines and supporting analyses available to the commissioner on request.

(3) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class and of essentially the same hazard in the amount of premium, policy fees or rates charged for any accident or health insurance policy or in the benefits payable thereunder, or in any of the terms or conditions of such policy, or in any other manner.

Drafting Note: In the event that unfair discrimination in connection with accident and health coverage is treated in other statutes, this paragraph should be omitted.

(4) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals or risks of the same class and of essentially the same hazard by refusing to insure, refusing to renew, canceling or limiting the amount of insurance coverage on a property or casualty risk solely because of the geographic location of the risk, unless such action is the result of the application of sound underwriting and actuarial principles related to actual or reasonably anticipated loss experience.

(5) Making or permitting any unfair discrimination between individuals or risks of the same class and of essentially the same hazards by refusing to insure, refusing to renew, canceling or limiting the amount of insurance coverage on the residential property risk, or the personal property contained therein, solely because of the age of the residential property.

(6) Refusing to insure, refusing to continue to insure, or limiting the amount of coverage available to an individual because of the sex, marital status, race, religion or national origin of the individual; however, nothing in this subsection shall prohibit an insurer from taking marital status into account for the purpose of defining persons eligible for dependent benefits. Nothing in this section shall prohibit or limit the operation of fraternal benefit societies.

(7) To terminate, or to modify coverage or to refuse to issue or refuse to renew any property or casualty policy solely because the applicant or insured or any employee of either is mentally or physically impaired; provided that this subsection shall not apply to accident and health insurance sold by a casualty insurer and, provided further, that this subsection shall not be interpreted to modify any other provision of law relating to the termination, modification, issuance or renewal of any insurance policy or contract.

(8) Refusing to insure solely because another insurer has refused to write a policy, or has cancelled or has refused to renew an existing policy in which that person was the named insured. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the termination of an excess insurance policy on account of the failure of the insured to maintain any required underlying insurance.

(9) Violation of the state's rescission laws at [insert reference to appropriate code section].

Drafting Note: A state may wish to include this section if it has existing state laws covering rescission and to insert a reference to a particular code section.

H. Rebates.

(1) Except as otherwise expressly provided by law, knowingly permitting or offering to make or making any life insurance policy or annuity, or accident and health insurance or other insurance, or agreement as to such contract other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon, or paying or allowing, or giving or offering to pay, allow, or give, directly or indirectly, as inducement to such policy, any rebate of premiums payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefits thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever not specified in the policy; or giving, or selling, or purchasing or offering to give, sell, or purchase as inducement to such policy or annuity or in connection therewith, any stocks, bonds or other securities of any insurance company or other corporation, association or partnership, or any dividends or profits accrued thereon, or anything of value whatsoever not specified in the policy.

(2) Nothing in Subsection G, or Paragraph (1) of Subsection H shall be construed as including within the definition of discrimination or rebates any of the following practices:

(a) In the case of life insurance policies or annuities, paying bonuses to policyholders or otherwise abating their premiums in whole or in part out of surplus accumulated from nonparticipating insurance, provided that any such bonuses or abatement of premiums shall be fair and equitable to policyholders and for the best interests of the company and its policyholders;

(b) In the case of life insurance policies issued on the industrial debit plan, making allowance to policyholders who have continuously for a specified period made premium payments directly to an office of the insurer in an amount that fairly represents the saving in collection expenses;

(c) Readjusting the rate of premium for a group insurance policy based on the loss or expense thereunder, at the end of the first or any subsequent policy year of insurance thereunder, which may be made retroactive only for such policy year; or

(d) Engaging in an arrangement that would not violate Section 106 of the Bank Holding Company Act Amendments of 1972 (12 U.S.C. 1972), as interpreted by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, or Section 5(q) of the Home Owners' Loan Act, 12 U.S.C. 1464(q).

Drafting Note: Section 104 (d)(2)(B)(viii) of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act provides that any state restrictions on anti-tying may not prevent a depository institution or affiliate from engaging in any activity that would not violate Section 106 of the Bank Holding Company Act Amendments of 1970, as interpreted by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has stated that nothing in its interpretation on combined-balance discount arrangements is intended to override any other applicable state and federal law. FRB SR 95-32 (SUP). Section 5(q) of the Home Owners' Loan Act is the analogous provision to Section 106 for thrift institutions. The Office of Thrift Supervision has a regulation 12 C.F.R. 563.36 that allows combined-balance discounts if certain requirements are met.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to examine its rating laws to assure that they contain sufficient provision against rebating. If they do not, this section might be expanded to cover all lines of insurance.

I. Prohibited Group Enrollments. No insurer shall offer more than one group policy of insurance through any person unless such person is licensed, at a minimum, as a limited insurance representative. However, this prohibition shall not apply to employer/employee relationships, nor to any such enrollments.

J. Failure to Maintain Marketing and Performance Records. Failure of an insurer to maintain its books, records, documents and other business records in such an order that data regarding complaints, claims, rating, underwriting and marketing are accessible and retrievable for examination by the insurance commissioner. Data for at least the current calendar year and the two (2) preceding years shall be maintained.

K. Failure to Maintain Complaint Handling Procedures. Failure of any insurer to maintain a complete record of all the complaints it received since the date of its last examination under Section [insert applicable section]. This record shall indicate the total number of complaints, their classification by line of insurance, the nature of each complaint, the disposition of each complaint, and the time it took to process each complaint. For purposes of this subsection, "complaint" shall mean any written communication primarily expressing a grievance.

L. Misrepresentation in Insurance Applications. Making false or fraudulent statements or representations on or relative to an application for a policy, for the purpose of obtaining a fee, commission, money or other benefit from any provider or individual person.

M. Unfair Financial Planning Practices. An insurance producer:

(1) Holding himself or herself out, directly or indirectly, to the public as a "financial planner," "investment adviser," "consultant," "financial counselor," or any other specialist engaged in the business of giving financial planning or advice relating to investments, insurance, real estate, tax matters or trust and estate matters when such person is in fact engaged only in the sale of policies. This provision does not preclude persons who hold some form of formal recognized financial planning or consultant certification or designation from using this certification or designation when they are only selling insurance. This does not permit persons to charge an additional fee for services that are customarily associated with the solicitation, negotiation or servicing of policies.

(2) (a) Engaging in the business of financial planning without disclosing to the client prior to the execution of the agreement provided for in Paragraph 3, or solicitation of the sale of a product or service that

(i) He or she is also an insurance salesperson, and

(ii) That a commission for the sale of an insurance product will be received in addition to a fee for financial planning, if such is the case.

(b) The disclosure requirement under this subsection may be met by including it in any disclosure required by federal or state securities law.

(3) (a) Charging fees other than commissions for financial planning by insurance producer, unless such fees are based upon a written agreement, signed by the party to be charged in advance of the performance of the services under the agreement. A copy of the agreement must be provided to the party to be charged at the time the agreement is signed by the party.

(i) The services for which the fee is to be charged must be specifically stated in the agreement.

(ii) The amount of the fee to be charged or how it will be determined or calculated must be specifically stated in the agreement.

(iii) The agreement must state that the client is under no obligation to purchase any insurance product through the insurance producer or consultant.

Drafting Note: This subsection is intended to apply only to persons engaged in personal financial planning.

(b) The insurance producer shall retain a copy of the agreement for not less than three (3) years after completion of services, and a copy shall be available to the commissioner upon request.

N. Failure to file or to certify information regarding the endorsement or sale of long-term care insurance. Failure of any insurer to:

(1) File with the insurance department the following material:

(a) The policy and certificate;

(b) A corresponding outline of coverage; and

(c) All advertisements requested by the insurance department; or

(2) Certify annually that the association has complied with the responsibilities for disclosure, advertising, compensation arrangements, or other information required by the commissioner, as set forth by regulation.

O. Failure to Provide Claims History

(1) Loss Information—Property and Casualty. Failure of a company issuing property and casualty insurance to provide the following loss information for the three (3) previous policy years to the first named insured within thirty (30) days of receipt of the first named insured's written request:

(a) On all claims, date and description of occurrence, and total amount of payments; and

(b) For any occurrence not included in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, the date and description of occurrence.

(2) Should the first named insured be requested by a prospective insurer to provide detailed loss information in addition to that required under Paragraph (1), the first named insured may mail or deliver a written request to the insurer for the additional information. No prospective insurer shall request more detailed loss information than reasonably required to underwrite the same line or class of insurance. The insurer shall provide information under this subparagraph to the first named insured as soon as possible, but in no event later than twenty (20) days of receipt of the written request. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no insurer shall be required to provide loss reserve information, and no prospective insurer may refuse to insure an applicant solely because the prospective insurer is unable to obtain loss reserve information.

(3) The commissioner may promulgate regulations to exclude the providing of the loss information as outlined in Paragraph (1) for any line or class of insurance where it can be shown that the information is not needed for that line or class of insurance, or where the provision of loss information otherwise is required by law.

Drafting Note: Loss information on workers' compensation is an example in some states of loss information otherwise required by law.

(4) Information provided under Paragraph (2) shall not be subject to discovery by any party other than the insured, the insurer and the prospective insurer.

Drafting Note: This provision may not be required in states that have a privacy act that governs consumer access to this information. Those states considering applying this requirement to life, accident and health lines of insurance should first review their state privacy act related to issues of confidentiality of individual insured information.

P. Violating any one of Sections [insert applicable sections].

Drafting Note: Insert section numbers of any other sections of the state's insurance laws deemed desirable or necessary to include as an unfair trade practice, such as cancellation and nonrenewal laws.

Section 5. Favored Agent or Insurer; Coercion of Debtors

A. No person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution may require as a condition precedent to the lending of money or extension of credit, or any renewal thereof, that the person to whom such money or credit is extended or whose obligation a creditor is to acquire or finance, negotiate any policy or renewal thereof through a particular insurer or group of insurers or agent or broker or group of agents or brokers. Further, no person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, may reject an insurance policy solely because the policy has been issued or underwritten by a person who is not associated with the depository institution or affiliate when insurance is required in connection with a loan or extension of credit.

B. No person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, who lends money or extends credit may:

(1) As a condition for extending credit or offering any product or service that is equivalent to an extension of credit, require that a customer obtain insurance from a depository institution or an affiliate of a depository institution, or a particular insurer or producer. However, this provision does not prohibit a person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, from informing a customer or prospective customer that insurance is required in order to obtain a loan or credit, or that loan or credit approval is contingent upon the procurement by the customer of acceptable insurance, or that insurance is available from the person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution;

(2) Unreasonably reject a policy furnished by the customer or borrower for the protection of the property securing the credit or lien. A rejection shall not be deemed unreasonable if it is based on reasonable standards, uniformly applied, relating to the extent of coverage required and the financial soundness and the services of an insurer. Such standards shall not discriminate against any particular type of insurer, nor shall such standards call for rejection of a policy because it contains coverage in addition to that required in the credit transaction;

(3) Require that any customer, borrower, mortgagor, purchaser, insurer, broker or agent pay a separate charge, in connection with the handling of any policy required as security for a loan on real estate, or pay a separate charge to substitute the policy of one insurer for that of another. This paragraph does not include the interest that may be charged on premium loans or premium advancements in accordance with the terms of the loan or credit document. Further, this paragraph does not apply to charges that would be required when the person or depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution is the licensed producer providing the insurance;

(4) Require any procedures or conditions of duly licensed producers or insurers not customarily required of those producers or insurers affiliated or in any way connected with the person who lends money or extends credit;

(5) Use an advertisement or other insurance promotional material that would cause a reasonable person to mistakenly believe that the federal government or the state is responsible for the insurance sales activity of, or stands behind the credit of, the person, depository institution or its affiliate;

(6) Use an advertisement or other insurance promotional material that would cause a reasonable person to mistakenly believe that the federal government or the state guarantees any returns on insurance products or is a source of payment on any insurance obligation of or sold by the person, depository institution or its affiliate;

(7) Act as a producer unless properly licensed in accordance with [insert appropriate statutory provisions for producer licensing];

(8) Pay or receive any commission, brokerage fee or other compensation as a producer, unless the person holds a valid producer's license for the applicable class of insurance. However, an unlicensed person may make a referral to a licensed producer provided that the person does not discuss specific insurance policy terms and conditions. The unlicensed person may be compensated for the referral, however, in the case of a referral of a customer, the unlicensed person may be compensated only if the compensation is a fixed dollar amount for each referral that does not depend on whether the customer purchases the insurance product from the licensed producer. Furthermore, any person who accepts deposits from the public in an area where such transactions are routinely conducted in the depository institution may receive for each customer referral no more than a one-time, nominal fee of a fixed dollar amount for each referral that does not depend on whether the referral results in a transaction;

Drafting Note: The last sentence of this paragraph further limits the referral for customers of personal, family and household insurance products as a result of Section 305 of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act and the subsequent adoption of regulations by the federal banking regulators at 12 C.F.R. 14.50, 208.85, 343.50 and 536.50. By including this language the paragraph will be consistent with the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act and the federal regulations while maintaining the integrity of Section 104(d)(2)(B)(iv) and (v) of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act.

(9) Solicit or sell insurance, other than credit insurance or flood insurance, unless the solicitation or sale is completed through documents separate from any credit transactions;

(10) Include the expense of insurance premiums, other than credit insurance premiums or flood insurance premiums, in the primary credit transaction without the express written consent of the customer;

(11) Solicit or sell insurance unless its insurance sales activities are, to the extent practicable, physically separated from areas where retail deposits are routinely accepted by depository institutions; or

(12) Solicit or sell insurance unless it maintains separate and distinct books and records relating to the insurance transactions, including all files relating to and reflecting consumer complaints.

Drafting Note: The Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act contains two "safe harbors" that relate to information sharing. Section 104(d)(2)(B)(vi) describes the circumstances surrounding the release of a customer's insurance information. Section 104(d)(2)(B)(vii) describes the circumstances surrounding the use of a customer's health information obtained from the insurance records of the customer. If a state has adopted the NAIC's Privacy of Consumer Financial and Health Information Model Regulation, no further action is needed. If not, language implementing the two safe harbors should be considered. It should be noted, however, that during the drafting process, there were concerns expressed about the application of the preemption provisions of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) in circumstances involving the sharing of information with affiliates. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to modify, limit or supersede the operation of the FCRA (15 U.S.C. 1681 et seq.). In addition, no inference shall be drawn on the basis of the provisions of this Act regarding whether information is transaction or experience information under Section 603 of FCRA.

C. Every person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution that lends money or extends credit and who solicits insurance primarily for personal, family or household purposes shall disclose to the customer in writing that the insurance related to the credit extension may be purchased from an insurer or producer of the customer's choice, subject only to the lender's right to reject a given insurer or agent as provided in Subsection B(2). Further, the disclosure shall inform the customer that the customer's choice of insurer or producer will not affect the credit decision or credit terms in any way, except that the depository institution may impose reasonable requirements concerning the creditworthiness of the insurer and the scope of coverage chosen as provided in Subsection B(2).

D. (1) A depository institution that solicits, sells, advertises or offers insurance, and any person who solicits, sells, advertises or offers insurance on behalf of a depository institution or on the premises of a depository institution shall disclose to the customer in writing, where practicable and in a clear and conspicuous manner, prior to a sale, that the insurance:

(a) Is not a deposit;

(b) Is not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other federal government agency;

(c) Is not guaranteed by the depository institution, its affiliate (if applicable) or any person that is soliciting, selling, advertising or offering insurance (if applicable); and

(d) Where appropriate, involves investment risk, including the possible loss of value.

(2) For purposes of these requirements, an affiliate of a depository institution is subject to these requirements only to the extent that it sells, solicits, advertises, or offers insurance products or annuities at an office of a depository institution or on behalf of a depository institution. These requirements apply only when an individual purchases, applies to purchase, or is solicited to purchase insurance products or annuities primarily for personal, family or household purposes and only to the extent that the disclosure would be accurate.

Drafting Note: The requirements of this provision are meant to apply only when the consumer may have a reasonable belief that the product is a deposit; that it is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; that it is guaranteed by the person or depository institution; and that, where appropriate, it involves investment risk, including the possible loss of value. This provision is not intended to require every entity or person in a financial holding company to provide the disclosure as a result of having both solicitation of insurance and extending of credit or lending of money occurring within an entity in the financial holding company group.

(3) A depository institution that solicits, sells, advertises or offers insurance, and any person who solicits, sells, advertises or offers insurance on behalf of a depository institution or on the premises of a depository institution shall obtain written acknowledgement of the receipt of the disclosure from the customer at the time the customer receives the disclosure or at the time of the initial purchase of the insurance policy. If the solicitation is conducted by telephone, the person or depository institution shall obtain an oral acknowledgement of receipt of the disclosure, maintain sufficient documentation to show that the acknowledgment was given by the customer, and make reasonable efforts to obtain a written acknowledgment from the customer. If a customer affirmatively consents to receiving the disclosures electronically and if the disclosures are provided in a format that the customer may retain or obtain later, the person or depository institution, may provide the disclosure and obtain acknowledgement of the receipt of the disclosure from the customer using electronic media.

(4) For the purposes of Paragraph (1), a person is selling, soliciting, advertising or offering insurance on behalf of a depository institution, whether at an office of the depository institution or another location, if at least one of the following applies:

(a) The person represents to the customer that the sale, solicitation, advertisement or offer of the insurance is by or on behalf of the depository institution;

(b) The depository institution refers a customer to the person who sells insurance and the depository institution has a contractual arrangement to receive commissions or fees derived from the sale of insurance resulting from the referral; or

(c) Documents evidencing the sale, solicitation, advertisement or offer of insurance identify or refer to the depository institution.

E. The commissioner shall have the power to examine and investigate those insurance activities of any person, depository institution, affiliate of a depository institution or insurer that the commissioner believes may be in violation of this section. The person, depository institution, affiliate of a depository institution or insurer shall make its insurance books and records available to the commissioner and the commissioner's staff for inspection upon reasonable notice. An affected person may submit to the commissioner a complaint or material pertinent to the enforcement of this section.

F. Nothing herein shall prevent a person or depository institution, or affiliate of a depository institution, who lends money or extends credit from placing insurance on real or personal property in the event the mortgagor, borrower or purchaser has failed to provide required insurance in accordance with the terms of the loan or credit document.

G. Nothing contained in this section shall apply to credit related insurance.

Drafting Note: The consumer protection rules promulgated by the banking regulatory agencies pursuant to Section 305 of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act apply to retail sales practices, solicitations, advertising or offers of any insurance product or annuity. If a state has adopted the NAIC's Consumer Credit Insurance Model Act and Consumer Credit Insurance Model Regulation, no further action is needed. If not, the state should consider eliminating Subsection G.

Section 6. Power of Commissioner

The commissioner shall have power to examine and investigate the affairs of every person or insurer in this state in order to determine whether such person or insurer has been or is engaged in any unfair trade practice prohibited by this Act. However, in the case of depository institutions, the commissioner shall have the power to examine and investigate the insurance activities of depository institutions, in order to determine whether the depository institution has been or is engaged in any unfair trade practice prohibited by this Act. The commissioner shall notify the appropriate federal banking agency of the commissioner's intent to examine or investigate a depository institution and advise the appropriate federal banking agency of the suspected violations of state law prior to commencing the examination or investigation.

Section 7. Hearings, Witnesses, Appearances, Production of Books, and Service of Process

A. Whenever the commissioner shall have reason to believe that any insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution has been engaged or is engaging in this state in any unfair trade practice whether or not defined in this Act, and that a proceeding by the commissioner in respect thereto would be in the interest of the public, the commissioner shall issue and serve upon such insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution, a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of a hearing thereon to be held at a time and place fixed in the notice, which shall not be less than [insert number] days after the date of the service thereof. With respect to a depository institution, the commissioner's authority to call a hearing is limited to the depository institution's insurance underwriting, sales, solicitation and cross marketing activities. The commissioner shall provide a copy of the notice of hearing to the appropriate federal banking agency when a depository institution is involved.

B. At the time and place fixed for the hearing, the insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution shall have an opportunity to be heard and to show cause why an order should not be made by the commissioner requiring the insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution to cease and desist from the acts, methods or practices so complained of. Upon good cause shown, the commissioner shall permit any person to intervene, appear and be heard at the hearing by counsel or in person.

C. Nothing contained in this Act shall require the observance at the hearing of formal rules of pleading or evidence.

D. The commissioner, at the hearing, may administer oaths, examine and cross examine witnesses, receive oral and documentary evidence, and shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, and require the production of books, papers, records, correspondence or other documents the commissioner deems relevant to the inquiry, provided, however, that in the case of depository institutions, the commissioner shall have the power to require the production of books, papers, records, correspondence or other documents that the commissioner deems relevant to the inquiry only on the insurance activities of the depository institution. The commissioner, may, and upon the request of any party, shall cause to be made a stenographic record of all the evidence and all the proceedings at the hearing. If no stenographic record is made and if a judicial review is sought, the commissioner shall prepare a statement of the evidence and proceeding for use on review. In case of a refusal of any person to comply with any subpoena or to testify with respect to any matter concerning which he may be lawfully interrogated, the [insert title] Court of [insert county] County or the county where the person resides, on application of the commissioner, may issue an order requiring such person to comply with the subpoena and to testify; and any failure to obey any order of the court may be punished by the court as contempt.

E. Statements of charges, notices, orders and other processes of the commissioner under this Act may be served by anyone duly authorized by the commissioner, either in the manner provided by law for service of process in civil actions, or by registering and mailing a copy thereof to the person affected by the statement, notice, order or other process at the person's residence or principal office or place of business. The verified return by the person so serving the statement, notice, order, or other process, setting forth the manner of service, shall be proof of the same, and the return postcard receipt for the statement, notice, order or other process, registered and mailed as specified, shall be proof of the service of the same.

Section 8. Cease and Desist and Penalty Orders

A. If, after a hearing, the commissioner finds that an insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution has engaged in an unfair trade practice, the commissioner shall reduce the findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution charged with the violation, a copy of the findings in an order requiring the insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice and the commissioner may, at the commissioner's discretion order:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than $1,000 for each violation, but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $100,000, unless the violation was committed flagrantly in a conscious disregard of this Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than $25,000 for each violation not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $250,000; and/or

(2) Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license if the insurer knew or reasonably should have known that it was in violation of this Act.

B. In the case of a depository institution, the commissioner shall, if practicable, notify the appropriate federal regulator before imposing a monetary penalty on a depository institution or suspending or revoking the depository institution's insurer's license, and provide to the federal regulator a copy of the findings.

Section 9. Judicial Review of Orders

A. An insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution subject to an order of the commissioner under Section 8 or Section 11 may obtain a review of the order by filing in the [insert title] Court of [insert county] County, within [insert number] days from the date of the service of the order, a written petition praying that the order of the commissioner be set aside. A copy of the petition shall be served upon the commissioner, and thereupon the commissioner shall certify and file in the court a transcript of the entire record in the proceeding, including all the evidence taken and the report and order of the commissioner. Upon filing of the petition and transcript, the court shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and of the question determined therein, shall determine whether the filing of the petition shall operate as a stay of the order of the commissioner, and shall have power to make and enter upon the pleadings, evidence and proceedings set forth in the transcript a decree modifying, affirming or reversing the order of the commissioner, in whole or in part. The findings of the commissioner as to the facts, if supported by [insert type] evidence, shall be conclusive.

Drafting Note: Insert appropriate language to accommodate to local procedure the effect given the commissioner's determination.

B. To the extent that the order of the commissioner is affirmed, the court shall thereupon issue its own order commanding obedience to the terms of the order of the commissioner. If either party shall apply to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence, and shall show to the satisfaction of the court that the additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the proceeding before the commissioner, the court may order additional evidence to be taken before the commissioner and to be adduced upon the hearing in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the court may deem proper. The commissioner may modify the findings of fact, or make new findings by reason of the additional evidence so taken, and shall file the modified or new findings that are supported by [insert type] evidence with a recommendation if any, for the modification or setting aside of the original order, with the return of the additional evidence.

Drafting Note: Insert appropriate language to accommodate to local procedure the effect given the commissioner's determination. In a state where final judgment, order or decree would not be subject to review by an appellate court provision therefor should be inserted here.

C. An order issued by the commissioner under Section 8 shall become final:

(1) Upon the expiration of the time allowed for filing a petition for review if no such petition has been duly filed within such time; except that the commissioner may thereafter modify or set aside the order to the extent provided in Section 9B; or

(2) Upon the final decision of the court if the court directs that the order of the commissioner be affirmed or the petition for review dismissed.

D. No order of the commissioner under this Act or order of a court to enforce the same shall in any way relieve or absolve any person affected by such order from any liability under any other laws of this state.

Section 10. Judicial Review by Intervenor

If after any hearing under Section 7 or Section 11, the report of the commissioner does not charge a violation of this Act, then any intervenor in the proceedings may within [insert number] days after the service of the report, cause a petition [notice of appeal] [petition for writ of certiorari] to be filed in the [insert title] Court of [insert county] County for a review of the report. Upon review, the court shall have authority to issue appropriate orders and decrees in connection therewith, including, if the court finds that it is to the interest of the public, orders enjoining and restraining the continuance of any method of competition, act or practice which it finds, notwithstanding the report of the commissioner, constitutes a violation of this Act, and containing penalties pursuant to Section 8.

Drafting Note: The type of procedure should conform to state procedure. See also note to Section 9 concerning review by appellate courts.

Section 11. Penalty for Violation of Cease and Desist Orders

Any insurer, person, depository institution or affiliate of a depository institution that violates a cease and desist order of the commissioner and while such order is in effect, may after notice and hearing and upon order of the commissioner, be subject at the discretion of the commissioner to:

A. A monetary penalty of not more than $25,000 for each and every act or violation not to exceed an aggregate of $250,000 pursuant to any such hearing; and/or

B. Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license.

Section 12. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable rules, regulations and orders as are necessary or proper to carry out and effectuate the provisions of this Act. Such regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with Section [insert applicable section].

Drafting Note: Insert section number providing for review of administrative orders.

Section 13. Provisions of Act Additional to Existing Law

The powers vested in the commissioner by this Act shall be additional to any other powers to enforce any penalties, fines or forfeitures authorized by law with respect to the methods, acts and practices hereby declared to be unfair or deceptive.

Section 14. Immunity From Prosecution

If any person shall ask to be excused from attending and testifying or from producing any books, papers, records, correspondence or other documents at any hearing on the ground that the testimony or evidence required may tend to incriminate or subject the person to a penalty or forfeiture, and shall notwithstanding be directed to give testimony or produce evidence, the person shall nonetheless comply with the direction, but shall not thereafter be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which the person may testify or produce evidence thereto, and no testimony so given or evidence produced shall be received against the person upon any criminal action, investigation or proceeding; provided, however, that no person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution or punishment for any perjury committed while so testifying and the testimony or evidence so given or produced shall be admissible against the person upon any criminal action, investigation or proceeding concerning such perjury, nor shall the person be exempt from the refusal, revocation or suspension of any license, permission or authority conferred, or to be conferred, pursuant to the Insurance Law of this state. Any such person may execute, acknowledge and file in the office of the commissioner a statement expressly waiving immunity or privilege in respect to any transaction, matter or thing specified in the statement and thereupon the testimony of the person or evidence in relation to the transaction, matter or thing may be received or produced before any judge or justice, court, tribunal, grand jury or otherwise, and if so received or produced the person shall not be entitled to any immunity or privilege on account of any testimony the person may give or evidence produced.

Section 15. Separability Provision

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstances, shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to person or circumstances other than those as to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected thereby.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2024

AMENDMENTS TO THE UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES MODEL ACT (#880)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

In July 2021, the Market Regulation and Consumer Affairs (D) Committee adopted a new charge and appointed the Improper Marketing of Health Insurance (D) Working Group under the Antifraud (D) Task Force. The Working Group was assigned two charges:

A. Coordinate with regulators, both on a state and federal level, to provide assistance and guidance on monitoring the improper marketing of health plans and coordinate appropriate enforcement actions, as needed, with other NAIC committees, task forces, and working groups.

B. Review existing NAIC models and guidelines that address the use of lead generators for sales of health insurance products and identify models and guidelines that need to be updated or developed to address current marketplace activities.

As a result of the Working Group's discussions in 2021 regarding current marketplace practices and enforcement actions concerning the improper marketing of health plans, the Working Group adopted amendments to the Unfair Trade Practices Act (#880):

- Section 2: Definitions. This section was amended to include a definition of health insurance lead generator and lead-generating device.

- Section 3: Unfair Practices Prohibited. This section was amended to specify it is unfair trade practice for any insurer, health insurance lead generator, or person engaged in the business of insurance to commit any practices defined in Section 4 of Model #880.

- Section 4: Unfair Trade Practices Defined. Subsection 4.B (false information and advertising) was amended to encompass the use of email, internet advertisement, or electronic posting of any kind via the internet or other electronic means.

2. Name of group responsible for drafting the model and states participating.

The Improper Marketing of Health Insurance (D) Working Group of the Antifraud (D) Task Force was responsible for drafting the revisions.

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group.

The project was authorized in 2021 by the following charge: Review existing NAIC models and guidelines that address the use of lead generators for sales of health insurance products and identify models and guidelines that need to be updated or developed to address current marketplace activities.

The Executive (EX) Committee unanimously adopted the Request for NAIC Model Law Development for revising Model #880 at the 2023 Spring National Meeting.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

In the fall of 2021, the Improper Marketing of Health Insurance (D) Working Group began its work to address its charge to review existing models and guidelines that need to be updated or developed to address the use of lead generators for the sale of health insurance products. The first draft of amendments to Model #880 was distributed to interested regulators and interested parties for review and comment in August 2022. The second draft of amendments to Model #880 was distributed in November 2022.

During the 2023 Spring National Meeting, the Working Group reviewed the second draft and the comments received. Following the Spring National Meeting, a small group of subject matter experts (SMEs) completed the drafting of amendments, and the Working Group circulated a third draft of the model in July 2023.

All drafts were posted on the NAIC website. Written regulator comments were received from Hawaii, Maine, Missouri, Ohio, and Rhode Island. Written industry comments were received from the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI), the American Health Insurance Policies (AHIP), The Health Benefits Institute, and the National Association of Health Underwriters (NAHU). NAIC consumer representatives also submitted a joint comment letter.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers, and legislators was solicited).

The first draft of the proposed amendments was exposed on Aug. 31, 2022, for a 30-day public comment period that ended Sept. 30, 2022. The Working Group met on Nov. 3, 2022, to adopt the model law development request and review the comments received. The second draft was exposed on Nov. 8, 2022, for a public comment period that ended Nov. 18, 2022. The comment period was then extended until March 10, 2023. The Working Group met on March 23, 2023, during the Spring National Meeting to discuss the comments received. The Working Group continued to meet through virtual meetings to discuss comments received, and a third draft was exposed on June 29, 2023, for a public comment period that ended July 21, 2023.

The Improper Marketing of Health Insurance (D) Working Group adopted revisions to Model #880 on Aug. 14, 2023, during the Summer National Meeting. The Antifraud (D) Task Force made technical edits to the model and adopted revisions to the model on Dec. 2, 2023, during the Fall National Meeting. The Market Regulation and Consumer Affairs (D) Committee adopted revisions to the model on Dec. 3, 2023, during the Fall National Meeting.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response).

The Improper Marketing of Health Insurance (D) Working Group decided that Model #880 should be the first model for review and amendment to provide greater regulatory oversight for entities that are improperly marketing health insurance. The Working Group believed amending Model #880 would provide states with a quicker legislative option than amending other NAIC models, and amending Model #880 would not preclude future discussions of possible amendments to other NAIC models.

The Working Group discussed the review of the following models for possible amendment in addition to Model #880: Producer Licensing Model Act (#218), Advertisements of Accident and Sickness Insurance Model Regulation (#40), and NAIC Model Rules Governing Advertisements of Medicare Supplement Insurance with Interpretive Guidelines (#660).

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

Addressing the improper marketing in health insurance is a strategic priority for the NAIC. This strategy includes modifying NAIC model laws to grant regulatory power over health insurance lead generators.

The amendments do not impact any accreditation standards.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2021

UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES ACT (#880)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

The NAIC's Innovation and Technology (EX) Task Force began discussing rebating issues in 2018 during the NAIC Summer National Meeting in Boston, MA, particularly because of the increased interest in offering value-added products and services such as risk mitigation devices and related services that are not necessarily addressed within the applicable insurance policy language. After finding that state interpretation and application of anti-rebating laws varies and after reviewing the history of the NAIC's Unfair Trade Practices Act (#880) along with the history and the intent of the anti-rebating portion, it became clear that applying the anti-rebating laws to the innovation of new insurance products and services could be challenging. The Task Force received presentations and testimony from many stakeholders, including state insurance regulators, producers, consumers, insurance companies and the startup community regarding a wide array of opinions and concerns. They also offered various suggestions for improving uniform application of anti-rebating statutes in the states. Based on this research and hearing from stakeholders, the Task Force members determined it would be appropriate to review Model #880, specifically Section 4(H)(2).

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

The Innovation and Technology (EX) Task Force was responsible for the drafting of the revisions to Model #880. The process began with the formation of a drafting group. The group was led by Superintendent Elizabeth Kelleher Dwyer (RI). Seven other states participated in the drafting process: Alaska, Alabama, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, Ohio and Washington. Also participating were six industry representatives, including one startup; one state legislator (Rep. Matt Lehman (IN), the president of National Council of Insurance Legislators—NCOIL); and a consumer representative.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

The mission of the Innovation and Technology (EX) Task Force is to: 1) provide a forum for state insurance regulator education and discussion of innovation and technology in the insurance sector: 2) monitor technology developments that affect the state insurance regulatory framework; and 3) develop regulatory guidance, as appropriate. This work was done under the specific charge:

The Innovation and Technology (EX) Task Force will:
Develop regulatory guidance, model laws or model law revisions, and white papers or make other recommendations to the Executive (EX) Committee, as appropriate.

At its meeting during the 2019 Summer National Meeting, the Task Force voted to move forward with the Request for NAIC Model Law Development to open Model #880 to amend or add to the language in Section 4(H)(2). The request was adopted by the Task Force in October 2019 and subsequently by the NAIC Executive (EX) Committee in December during the 2019 Fall National meeting.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The drafting group met twice at the beginning of 2020, in January and February, and then stopped meeting for a period of time because of the COVID-19 pandemic. However, it regrouped to meet two more times in May and June. Given the Task Force had already received considerable input from stakeholders regarding this topic, the drafting group was able to move forward expeditiously and disbanded prior to the 2020 Summer National Meeting.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

The first draft published out of the drafting group was posted for comment on June 23. Twenty-one comment letters were submitted, and Superintendent Dwyer reviewed the changes made based on those comments during the Task Force's meeting on Aug. 7. A new draft was posted and exposed for comment on Aug. 10. Seventeen comments were reviewed, and a new draft was posted on Oct. 30. During the Task Force's meeting on Nov. 4, Superintendent Dwyer again reviewed each substantive comment, noting whether it was accepted or rejected in the latest draft. Comments regarding the Oct. 30 draft were again requested and accepted. Seven comments were reviewed, and interested parties were given an opportunity to present their points orally. Additionally, Task Force members and interested parties had the opportunity to ask questions or pose challenges to those points during a meeting on Nov. 30. Five presentations were made. Following the meeting on Nov. 30, another draft was posted on Dec. 2. During its meeting on Dec. 4 and with 44 members of the Task Force in attendance, the revised language was adopted, with Nevada dissenting and California, Hawaii, Idaho and New Jersey abstaining.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

While the genesis for drafting this revised language was primarily the need to clarify intentions related to the acceptability of the offering of things of value in the best interests of the consumer and to mitigate risk associated with what is being underwritten, value-added products and services, Section H(2)(e), the group also took on drafting clarifying language related to producer and insurer marketing including non-cash gifts meals, charitable donations on behalf of a customer, raffles and drawings, Section H(2)(f).

Since the term "value-added" is relatively new, there was considerable discussion regarding its use. Ultimately, the drafters and most of the state insurance regulators and interested parties agreed it was the appropriate term and needed no further defining.

There was considerable debate and discussion regarding the list in Section H(2)(e)(ii). The term "primarily designed" was discussed very thoroughly as the early use of the term "primarily intended" gave some state insurance regulators concern given the difficulty in determining "intent." There seemed to be consensus that "designed" was a much better term to use in this case. The list itself was heavily debated both in terms of it being comprehensive and there not being a "catch-all," as well as in terms of the value-added product or service needing to satisfy at least one of the listed criteria.

The cost discussed in Section H(2)(e)(iii) was also heavily debated. In the end, in addition to other language in that section, it was determined to be appropriate to include a drafting note that notes states may consider alternative language depending on their filing requirements. There was great care given to there being deference or to acknowledging some states may already have statute or regulation language that addresses or sets out permitted practices.

There was also a lot of discussion regarding Section H(2)(e)(vii). The debate was primarily around differences of opinion regarding whether offering the value-added product or service would need to be preapproved by the Department of Insurance (DOI). The concern on the part of industry was slowing down the ability to move forward with a pilot or testing something new, which led, ultimately, to the decision to require notification to the DOI, with a 21-day time period for the DOI to object.

In Section H(2)(f), great care was given to the specific terms used in this section. Given the history with this issue specific to the dollar amount, a drafting note was included to offer a suggested monetary amount but ultimately left to the state. In addition, this section addresses commercial or institutional customers as there was a great deal of discussion around excluding commercial lines from this section altogether, considering the notion that a transaction between sophisticated purchasers and sellers does not require this type of oversight.

Lastly, Section H(3) is intended to make clear that original rebating language intended to prevent abuses related to inducement to purchase or renew is still in effect, and this new language should not be construed to change that.

7. List the key provisions of the model (sections considered most essential to state adoption)

Section H(2)(e), Section H(2)(f) and Section H(3)

8. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard)

No other items are identified at this time.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2008

UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES ACT (#880)
(Travel Underwriting Revisions)

1. Description of the project, issues addressed, etc.

The revisions address the issue of underwriting in life insurance based on past lawful travel experiences and future lawful travel plans. The revisions prohibit an insurer from refusing life insurance to, refusing to continue life insurance of, or limiting the amount, extent or kind of life insurance available to an individual based on past lawful travel experiences. The revisions also prohibit an insurer from taking the same action based on future lawful travel plans unless such an action is based on sound actuarial principles and actual or reasonably anticipated experience related to a specific destination or the action is taken because, with respect to the specific travel destination, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has issued certain alerts or there is an ongoing armed conflict involving the military of a sovereign nation foreign to the country of conflict.

2. Name of group responsible for draft the model and states participating:

Travel to Foreign Countries (A) Working Group and the Life Insurance and Annuities (A) Committee

States Participating during the drafting process:

Alabama
California
Connecticut
District of Columbia
Florida
Iowa
Minnesota
Missouri
Nebraska
New Mexico
New York
North Dakota
Ohio
Pennsylvania
Texas
Utah
Wisconsin

3. Project authorized by what charge and date first given to the group:

The following charge was given in 2006:

Analyze issues related to underwriting practices and/or policy exclusions in life insurance policies relating to lawful travel to foreign countries and draft guidelines for interpretation of the Unfair Trade Practices Act or model legislation to address the issues, as necessary.

4. A general description of the drafting process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated.

The revisions, and comments received on them, were reviewed and discussed by the Working Group. The Working Group adopted a draft of proposed revisions in December 2006, which was then forwarded to the Committee for its consideration. The Committee decided to reopen the draft for additional comments. The Committee reviewed and discussed all comments received. All drafts were distributed to over 100 interested parties and posted on the NAIC Web site. Interested parties that commented on the drafts included industry groups such as the American Council of Life Insurance (ACLI) and MetLife; the American Academy of Actuaries (AAA); and consumer groups, such as the Center for Economic Justice (CEJ) and Anti-Defamation League.

5. A general description of the due process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited.

Each draft of the proposed revisions to the model was circulated to interested parties and posted on the NAIC website. Interested parties were given the opportunity to submit comments. The Working Group and Committee reviewed and considered all comments received. Please see below.

6. A discussion of the significant issues (items of some controversy) raised during the due process and the group's response.

The main issue that arose during the drafting process concerned the approach to be used to address the issue and in what manner, if at all, insurers could underwrite life insurance policies based on past or future lawful travel. Among the more controversial provisions in the different approaches debated, was a proposed revision that would have required insurers to file with the commissioner a complete description of any underwriting guidelines based on an individual's future lawful travel plans and the supporting actuarial analysis. Another approach offered that also was controversial concerned what exceptions should be included in the revisions that would allow an insurer to underwrite based on future lawful travel to a specific travel destination if certain specified conditions exist at that travel destination or certain alerts have been issued concerning that specific travel destination. Another approach offered suggested that the revisions were not necessary, but if revisions were made that such revisions apply to future lawful travel plans only. The Committee extensively debated these approaches and others offered. The final revisions represent a compromise reached between all of the impacted stakeholders.

7. Any other important information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

None.

MODEL REGULATION FOR COMPLAINT RECORDS TO BE MAINTAINED PURSUANT TO THE NAIC UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES ACT

Table of Contents

Preface

This regulation is designed to implement provisions of the Unfair Trade Practices Act regarding complaint recordkeeping. A proper record of complaints serves a dual purpose. It assists the Insurance Department in overseeing the performance of its licensees. In addition, it can serve as a valuable management tool. It permits management to quickly determine how well the company is doing in its dealings with its policyholders and the public. It can identify those areas where improvement is necessary and management can direct its attention accordingly. The recordkeeping procedures specified in the regulation are minimum requirements. Insurers are urged, however, to supplement these procedures and to provide for periodic review of the records in order to maximize the value of its complaint records as a management tool.

While "complaint" is defined both in the Act and in this regulation, it will be necessary on occasion to distinguish an inquiry or other communication from a "complaint." Not every contact by a policyholder or claimant questioning some action by the insurer will constitute a "complaint." Differentiating an "inquiry" from a "complaint" will in many cases involve judgment, which we expect to be applied reasonably. The essential question is: has the writer expressed a grievance? One person who calls your attention to a typographical error in the spelling of his name on a policy may merely be passing on information. Another may be expressing a grievance. The distinction lies in the language used in the letter and in a reasonable interpretation of that language.

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated pursuant to the authority granted by Section [insert applicable section] of the Unfair Trade Practices Act.

Section 2. Purpose

Section [insert applicable section] of the Unfair Trade Practices Act makes it an unfair trade practice for a person subject to the Act to fail to maintain a record of complaints as specified in such section. The purpose of this regulation is to prescribe the minimum information required to be maintained in such a record of complaints in order to comply with the statute and to set forth a format for such record which may be used by any person subject to this regulation.

Section 3. Content of Complaint Record

Attachment A of this Regulation sets forth the minimum information required to be contained in a person's complaint record in order for it to comply with the statute. Refinements and additions to the information specified therein may, of course, be maintained in such complain record. Attachment B of this regulation contains an explanation of the various headings, codes and other notations contained in Attachment A. The codes are used in order to simplify both the identification of the action underlying the complaint and the keeping of the records.

Section 4. Format of Complaint Record

Attachment A is the suggested format for the complaint record required to be maintained by the statute and this regulation. Refinements, deviations from or additions to this suggested format are permitted so long as the minimum information contemplated by such format can be obtained for Insurance Department review within a reasonable time following a request therefore by an authorized representative of the Department.

Section 5. Maintenance of the Record

The complaint record shall be kept on a calendar year basis and the number of complaints by line of insurance, function, reasons, disposition, and state of origin shall be complied not less frequently than annually.

The complaint record required by this regulation shall be maintained on and after the date sixty (60) days after the effective date of this regulation.

Section 6. Definitions

As used herein:

A. "Person" shall have the meaning set forth in Section [insert applicable section] of the Unfair Trade Practices Act;

B. "Complaint" shall mean a written communication primarily expressing a grievance;

C. "Insurance department complaint" shall mean a written communication regarding a complaint transmitted by the Insurance Department.

Section 7. Effective Date

This regulation is effective on [insert date].

Explanation

Column

A. Company Identification Number. As noted, this refers to the identification number of the complaint and shall also include the license number or other means of identifying any licensee of the Insurance Department (such as agent, staff adjuster or independent adjuster) that may have been involved in the complaint.

B. Function Code. Complaints are to be classified by function(s) of the company involved. Separate classifications are to be maintained for underwriting, marketing and sales, claims, policyholder service and miscellaneous.

Reason Code. Complaints are also to be classified by the nature of the complaint. The following is the classification required for each function specified above.

1. Underwriting

   a. Company underwriting

   b. Individual's application underwriting (this refers to any complaint where misrepresentations or declarations in an application for insurance resulted in company action involved in the complaint)

   c. Cancellation

   d. Recision

   e. Nonrenewal

   f. Premiums and rating

   g. Delays

   h. Refusal to insure

   i. Miscellaneous (not covered by above)

2. Marketing and Sales

   a. General advertising

   b. Mass marketing advertising - (advertising which is essentially directed to reach more people than in a one to one relationship)

   c. Agent handling

   d. Replacement

   e. Dividend illustration

   f. Delays

   g. Alleged misleading statement or misrepresentation

h. Miscellaneous (not covered by above)

3. Claims

a. Claims procedure

b. Delays

c. Unsatisfactory settlements

d. Natural disaster adjusting (hurricane or flood situations or other situations which produce a large number of claims)

e. Unsatisfactory settlement offers

f. Denial of claim

g. Miscellaneous (not covered by above)

4. Policyholder service

a. Failure to respond

b. Delays

c. Miscellaneous (not covered by above)

5. Miscellaneous

C. Line Type. Complaints are to be classified according to the line of insurance involved, as follows:

1. Automobile

2. Fire

3. Homeowners--Farmowners

4. Crop

5. Inland Marine

6. Individual Life

7. Group Life

8. Annuities

9. Individual Health -- Accident & Sickness

10. Group Health -- Accident & Sickness

11. Workmen's Compensation

12. Liability Insurance other than Automobile

13. Mobile Homeowners

14. Miscellaneous (not covered by above)

D. Company Disposition After Receipt. The complaint record shall note the disposition of the complaint.

The following examples illustrate the type of information called for, but are not intended to be required language or to exhaust the possibilities:

1. Corrective action was taken.

2. No action was deemed necessary.

3. Satisfactory explanation was given to the complainant.

The complaint record need not note the specific action taken with respect to the complaint, so long as the action was appropriate to the circumstances. If the company wishes, it may use a code for entries in this column.

E. Date Received. This refers to the date the complaint was received.

F. Date Closed. This refers to the date on which the complaint was disposed of whether by one action or a series of actions as may be present in connection with some complaints.

G. Insurance Department Complaint. Complaints are to be classified so as to indicate if the origin of the complaint was from an Insurance Department.

H. State of Origin. The complaint record should note the state from which the complaint originated. Ordinarily this will be the state of residence of the complainant.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

MODEL REGULATION ON UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION IN LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE ON THE BASIS OF PHYSICAL OR MENTAL IMPAIRMENT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated pursuant to the authority granted by [cite law enacting Section 12 of the NAIC Model Unfair Trade Practices Act].

Drafting Note: The Model Regulation On Unfair Discrimination In Life and Health Insurance On The Basis Of Physical Or Mental Impairment is designed to implement Section 4G of the Model Unfair Trade Practices Act. This section prohibits "any unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class and equal expectation of life in ... any contract of life insurance or of life annuity" and "any unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class and essentially same hazard in ... any policy or contract of health insurance ..."

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to identify specific acts or practices in life and health insurance which are prohibited by Section 4G(1) and (2) of the Unfair Trade Practices Act cited in Section 1 of this regulation.

Drafting Note: The need for a model regulation has arisen because of questions as to whether life and health insurers are, in all cases, making fair determinations of which individuals are "of the same class and equal expectation of life" (or "essentially the same hazard"). The main purpose of the model regulation is to make clear that life and health insurers cannot classify individuals arbitrarily without a rational basis for each decision.

Section 3. Unfairly Discriminatory Acts or Practices

The following are hereby identified as acts or practices in life and health insurance which constitute unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class: refusing to insure, or refusing to continue to insure, or limiting the amount, extent or kind of coverage available to an individual, or charging a different rate for the same coverage solely because of a physical or mental impairment, except where the refusal, limitation or rate differential is based on sound actuarial principles or is related to actual or reasonably anticipated experience.

Drafting Note: This model regulation sets forth standards which require that life and health insurers be objective and fair in placing individuals with physical or mental impairments in various risk classifications.

The model regulation does not restrict a life or health insurer's choice of the number and size of rating classes which it will use. Many life and health insurer's have a number of extra premium classes. Some life and health insurers, however, have relatively simple underwriting procedures and only two risk classes: accept and reject. In group insurance elaborate underwriting procedures and a multiplicity of rating classes are not available because this is not consistent with the overall aim of group insurance of providing insurance to many people at low administrative cost. Similar simplicity is desirable in some other marketing situations (e.g., individual policy pension plans and direct mail business).

The regulation is not intended to mandate the inclusion of particular coverages, such as benefits for normal pregnancy, or of levels of benefits such as for mental illness, in a company's policies or contracts. In virtually every state, mandates of any coverages or benefits are the subject of separate legislation. The model unfair trade practices act has never been interpreted to provide the basis for such mandates but rather to assure that such coverage and benefits as are offered by insurers are provided on a basis which is not unfairly discriminatory among individuals of the same class.

To make life and health insurance available to as many individuals as possible, the regulation does not restrict the use of riders ("waivers") which exclude from coverage risks related to impairments which existed prior to the date on which the individual's coverage became effective. Also, it does not restrict the use of preexisting condition limitations in health insurance contracts.

MODEL REGULATION ON UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF BLINDNESS OR PARTIAL BLINDNESS

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is promulgated pursuant to the authority granted by Section 12 of the Unfair Trade Practices Act.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to identify specific acts or practices that are prohibited by Section 4G of the Unfair Trade Practices Act.

Section 3. Unfairly Discriminatory Acts or Practices

The following are hereby identified as acts or practices that constitute unfair discrimination between individuals of the same class: refusing to insure, or refusing to continue to insure, or limiting the amount, extent or kind of coverage available to an individual, or charging an individual a different rate for the same coverage solely because of blindness or partial blindness.

Drafting Note: With respect to all other conditions, including the underlying cause of the blindness or partial blindness, persons who are blind or partially blind shall be subject to the same standards of sound actuarial principles or actual or reasonably anticipated experience as are sighted persons.

Refusal to insure includes denial by an insurer of disability insurance coverage on the grounds that the policy defines "disability" as being presumed in the event that the insured loses his or her eyesight.

However, an insurer may exclude from coverage disabilities consisting solely of blindness or partial blindness when the condition existed at the time the policy was issued.

Drafting Note: States which have not adopted Section 4G or Section 12 of the NAIC Model Unfair Trade Practices Act may not be able to adopt the proposed regulation. The NAIC Task Force on Unfair Discrimination Against The Blind has developed the following statutory language designed to accomplish the same result as the proposed regulation, but which is not an official NAIC model act:

"Section 1. Unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices in the business of life or accident or health insurance or annuities include: refusing to insure, or refusing to continue to insure, or limiting the amount, extent or kind of coverage available to an individual, or charging an individual a different rate for the same coverage solely because of blindness or partial blindness.

Section 2. This law shall apply to life or accident or health insurance policies or insurance contracts or annuities delivered or issued for delivery in this state by an insurer ninety (90) days after the effective date of this law."

UNAUTHORIZED TRANSACTION OF INSURANCE CRIMINAL MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Section 1. Application

This Act relates to criminal penalties for the unlawful transaction of insurance or health coverage.

Section 2. Definitions

A. "Authorized insurer" defined. Includes a person that is authorized to transact insurance in this State by a valid certificate of Authority issued by the commissioner of insurance [insert appropriate title if different]. An "unauthorized" insurer is one not so authorized.

B. "Certificate of authority" defined. Means a license issued by the commissioner of insurance [insert appropriate title if different], authorizing the holder to act as an insurer. [Or, insert reference to existing definition if appropriate].

C. "Controlling person" defined. Includes a person who has control of a person as defined by Section 1C of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) Insurance Holding Company System Regulatory Act.

D. "Person" defined. Except as otherwise expressly provided in a particular statute or required by the context, "person" includes a natural person, an individual, corporation, limited liability company, partnership, association, joint stock company, trust, unincorporated organization or any form of business or social organization and any other nongovernmental legal entity or combination thereof.

E. "Represent or aid" defined. The term "represent or aid" has the meaning provided in [insert reference to state's applicable insurance code definition].

F. "Transaction of insurance" defined. The term "transaction of insurance" has the meaning provided by Section 3P of the NAIC Nonadmitted Insurance Model Act.

Drafting Note: Cross-reference definitions to your State's existing insurance code definitions.

Section 3. Certificate of Authority Required

A. A person shall not engage in a transaction of insurance in this State unless the person is an authorized insurer or unless the transaction of insurance is exempt under [insert reference to applicable exemptions, such as surplus lines law or the Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986].

B. A person shall not act as an officer, director or controlling person for a person who is engaged in a violation of Paragraph A.

C. A person shall not directly or indirectly represent or aid an unauthorized insurer to transact insurance in this state. [Insert reference to applicable exemption in state and/or federal law, such as surplus lines or the Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986; and line and individual procurement exemption laws that permit the placement of policies of unlicensed insurers].

Drafting Note: Nothing in this model shall be construed to apply to insurance transactions made in compliance with the provisions of the Surplus Line Law of this state or the Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986.

Section 4. Penalty for Unauthorized Transaction of Insurance; Penalty for Assisting an Unauthorized Insurer

In addition to any other penalties provided in the insurance code:

A. Any person who knowingly engaged in or reasonably should have known he or she was engaged in the unauthorized transaction of insurance as set forth in Subsection A of Section 3 of this Act commits a felony of the [insert reference to state's applicable degree of felony] degree and shall be punished as provided in [insert State's applicable reference to sentencing terms].

B. Any person who knowingly acted as or reasonably should have known he or she was acting as an officer, director or controlling person as set forth in Subsection B of Section 3 of this Act commits a felony of the [insert reference to State's applicable degree of felony] degree and shall be punished as provided in [insert state's applicable reference to sentencing terms].

C. Any person who knowingly represented or aided or reasonably should have known he or she was representing or aiding an unauthorized insurer as set forth in Subsection C of Section 3 of this Act commits a felony of the [insert reference to state's applicable degree of felony] degree and shall be punished as provided in [insert state's applicable reference to sentencing terms.

Drafting Note: The intent for the penalties in Section 4 is that the degree of the felony (or sentencing) be increased from Subsection C, to Subsection B, to Subsection A, such that Subsection A imposes the most severe penalty of the three subsections.

Section 5. Penalty for Subsequent Violations

In addition to any other penalties provided in the Insurance Code:

Any person who has been convicted pursuant to Section 4 of this Act and commits a subsequent violation pursuant to Section 4 of this Act commits a felony of the [insert reference to State's applicable degree of felony] degree and shall be punished as provided in [insert State's applicable reference to sentencing terms].

Section 6. Liability for Payment of Claims

In addition to the penalties provided in Sections 4 and 5 of this Act and in addition to any other penalties provided in the Insurance Code:

Any person who violates this Act shall be personally liable, with any other person liable therefore for the payment of any claims arising under any purported coverages or contracts used in violation of this Act.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

PROJECT HISTORY - 2006

UNAUTHORIZED TRANSACTION OF INSURANCE CRIMINAL MODEL ACT (#890)

1. Description of the Project, Issues Addressed, etc.

This act relates to criminal penalties for the unlawful transaction of insurance or health coverage.

2. Name of Group Responsible for Drafting the Model and States Participating

This model was developed by the MEWA Subgroup of the Producer, Company, Unauthorized Entities and Unlawful Activity Working Group of the Antifraud (D) Task Force and first presented at the March 14, 2004, NAIC National Meeting in New York.

3. Project Authorized by What Charge and Date First Given to the Group

Develop a program to enhance recognition, investigation and prosecution of current unauthorized entities' fraud in the marketplace and current regulatory and law enforcement responses; identify or develop recommendations for coordination and cooperation between state insurance department and law enforcement authorities on unauthorized issues.

Develop methods to enhance the investigation and prosecution of financial services fraud.

Establish guidelines on the investigative and prosecutorial resources necessary to investigate insider insurance industry fraud.

4. A General Description of the Drafting Process (e.g., drafted by a subgroup, interested parties, the full group, etc). Include any parties outside the members that participated

The drafting process was open to comments and participation by all interested parties. Representatives from the producer, life, health and consumer areas participated in the process and discussion. Comments were received on each draft of the model and considered by the working grouping in open session.

5. A General Description of the Due Process (e.g., exposure periods, public hearings, or any other means by which widespread input from industry, consumers and legislators was solicited)

Copies of each draft were posted on the NAIC website and ample time provided for comments on each draft. Beginning with the March 2004 NAIC National Meeting the MEWA Subgroup presented the first draft to the working group. A new draft was introduced at the 2005 NAIC Summer National Meeting and further discussion and comments were received from all parties. A new draft was introduced in of April 2006 and open for comment. After the 2006 NAIC Summer National Meeting a new draft was introduced in July of 2006 and open for comment. On August 31, 2006, a final draft was introduced at the 2006 NAIC Fall National Meeting. After the working group and Antifraud (D) Task Force adopted the model, a hearing was held at the (D) committee.

6. A Discussion of the Significant Issues (items of some controversy raised during the due process and the group's response)

1) The definition of "Certificate of authority" was changed to a "license issued by the Commissioner of Insurance, authorizing to act as an insurer."

2) The definition of "Represent or aid" was added to the model to have the meaning provided from a state's applicable Insurance Code definition.

3) State Department of Insurance shall preempt local regulation of insurance. Interested parties wanted to make sure that the preemption was for local and not federal regulation and that jurisdiction was defined.

4) The non-admitted or surplus lines insurers wanted explicit language in the context of the model to give specific recognition for surplus lines transaction or exemption from sanctions. The working group decided to address the issue with a drafting note.

5) Industry wanted a "knowingly" standard in Section 4 and the working group agreed on "knowingly acted as or reasonably should have known".

6) Industry urged the working group to create a new section to provide producers a "safe harbor" from prosecution if they receive verification from the state department of insurance that an entity was authorized. The working group expressed concern about producers claiming they contacted the state department of insurance without a way to verify or refute these claims. The working group wanted to maintain the responsibility for producers to conduct their own due diligence on the companies and products they wish to sell. The working group felt that inadvertent acts would not equate to knowingly or intentional acts. Because of this, the working group decided a producer could argue in a court about the steps they took to determine if a company or product was valid and why they should not have known about a company or product being unauthorized.

7. Any Other Important Information (e.g., amending an accreditation standard).

Congress and the General Accounting Office (GAO) have expressed interest in unauthorized activity by licensed and unlicensed producers taking advantage of unsuspecting consumers. Many states have enacted legislation criminalizing the sale and marketing of unauthorized products.

AFTER MARKET PARTS MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is adopted pursuant to Section [insert reference to the state Unfair Trade Practices Act].

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of the proposed regulation is to set forth standards for the prompt, fair and equitable settlements applicable to automobile insurance with regard to the use of after market parts. It is intended to regulate the use of after market parts in automobile damage repairs which insurers pay for on their insured's vehicle. The regulation requires disclosure when any use is proposed of a non-original manufacturer part. It also requires that all after market parts, as defined in the regulation, be identified and be of the same quality as the original part.

Section 3. Definitions

A. "Insurer" includes a person authorized to represent the insurer with respect to a claim who is acting within the scope of the person's authority.

B. "Non-original manufacturer" means a manufacturer other than the original manufacturer of the part.

C. "After market part" for purposes of this regulation, means sheet metal or plastic parts that generally constitute the exterior of a motor vehicle, including inner and outer panels.

Section 4. Identification

An after market part that is subject to this regulation and manufactured after the effective date of this regulation shall carry sufficient permanent identification to identify its manufacturer. The identification shall be accessible to the extent possible after installation.

Section 5. Like Kind and Quality

An insurer shall not require the use of after market parts in the repair of an automobile unless the after market part is at least equal in kind and quality to the original part in terms of fit, quality and performance. Insurers specifying the use of after market parts shall consider the cost of any modifications that may become necessary when making the repair.

Section 6. Disclosure

The insurer must disclose to the claimant in writing, either on the estimate or on a separate document attached to the estimate, the following information in no smaller print than 10 point type:

> THIS ESTIMATE HAS BEEN PREPARED BASED ON THE USE OF AUTOMOBILE PARTS NOT MADE BY THE ORIGINAL MANUFACTURER. PARTS USED IN THE REPAIR OF YOUR VEHICLE BY OTHER THAN THE ORIGINAL MANUFACTURER ARE REQUIRED TO BE AT LEAST EQUAL IN KIND AND QUALITY IN TERMS OF FIT, QUALITY AND PERFORMANCE TO THE ORIGINAL MANUFACTURER PARTS THEY ARE REPLACING.

All after market parts installed on the vehicle shall be clearly identified on the estimate of the repair.

Section 7. Enforcement

A violation of this regulation shall be enforced through the state's Unfair Trade Practices Act by the penalties provided for in that Act.

Note: A state may wish to consider incorporating the text of this regulation directly into its existing unfair trade practices act.

Section 8. Severability

If any section or portion of a section of this regulation, or its applicability to any person or circumstance is held invalid by a court, the remainder of this regulation, or the applicability of the provision to a person shall not be affected thereby.

Section 9. Effective Date

This regulation shall become effective on [insert date].

Note: It is recommended that states allow appropriate lead time to comply with this regulation. No regulation should take effect prior to January 1, 1988 at which time it is expected that most parts manufacturers will have had sufficient notice and time to mark their parts for identification.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION AGAINST SUBJECTS OF ABUSE IN HEALTH BENEFIT PLANS MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Introductory Note: In addition to this model act, the NAIC drafted the following model acts regarding the unfair discrimination against subjects of abuse: The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Property and Casualty Insurance Model Act, The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Life Insurance Model Act, and The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Disability Income Insurance Model Act.

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to prohibit unfair discrimination by health carriers and insurance professionals on the basis of abuse status. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to create or imply a private cause of action for a violation of this Act.

Drafting Note: Consideration was given to including a private cause of action for a violation of this Act. It was concluded that a private cause of action is not inconsistent with the model and that a state legislature could find that a private cause of action is appropriate for that state.

Section 2. Scope

This Act applies to all health carriers and insurance professionals involved in issuing or renewing in this state a policy or certificate of health insurance.

Section 3. Definitions

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to ensure that the definition of "abuse" for the purposes of this Act does not conflict with the terminology descriptive of abusive behavior in state civil or criminal statutes in such a way as to lead to unintended meanings.

A. "Abuse" means the occurrence of one or more of the following acts by a current or former family member, household member, intimate partner or caretaker:

(1) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly or recklessly causing another person bodily injury, physical harm, severe emotional distress, psychological trauma, rape, sexual assault or involuntary sexual intercourse;

(2) Knowingly engaging in a course of conduct or repeatedly committing acts toward another person, including following the person or minor child without proper authority, under circumstances that place the person or minor child in reasonable fear of bodily injury or physical harm;

(3) Subjecting another person to false imprisonment; or

(4) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly causing damage to property so as to intimidate or attempt to control the behavior of another person.

Drafting Note: States should include appropriate corrective or clarifying language if their ordinary Statutory meaning of "person" can be construed as implying legal capacity, since many subjects of abuse are minors and other subjects of abuse may be incapacitated.

B. "Abuse-related medical condition" means a medical condition sustained by a subject of abuse which arises in whole or part out of an act or pattern of abuse.

C. "Abuse status" means the fact or perception that a person is, has been, or may be a subject of abuse, irrespective of whether the person has sustained abuse-related medical conditions.

D. "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of this state.

Drafting Note: Where the word "commissioner" appears in this Act, the appropriate designation for the chief insurance supervisory official of the state should be substituted.

E. "Confidential abuse information" means information about acts of abuse or abuse status of a subject of abuse, a person's medical condition that the carrier knows or has reason to know is abuse-related, the address and telephone number (home and work) of a subject of abuse or the status of an applicant or insured as a family member, employer or associate of, or a person in a relationship with, a subject of abuse.

F. "Health benefit plan" or "plan" means a policy, contract, certificate or agreement offered by a carrier or insurance professional to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan includes accident only, credit health, dental, vision, Medicare supplement or long-term care insurance, coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance, short-term and catastrophic health insurance policies, and a policy that pays on a cost-incurred basis. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation or similar insurance.

Drafting Note: States should examine their statutes and insurance products to determine if additional exemptions, such as for blanket disability, are required depending upon how those products are classified under state insurance statutes.

G. "Health carrier" means an entity subject to the insurance laws and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the commissioner, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits or health services.

Drafting Note: The intent of this subsection is to encompass all state-regulated entities in the business of providing health benefits, however those entities are defined and characterized under the laws of a particular state. Appropriate state-specific terminology should be used.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to consider the advisability of defining "insurance" or "health insurance" for purposes of this Act if the state's present insurance code is not satisfactory in this regard. In some cases a cross reference will be sufficient.

H. "Insurance professional" means an agent, broker, adjuster or third party administrator as defined in the insurance laws of this state.

Drafting Note: Many states license other categories of insurance professionals such as agencies, consultants and producers. Each state should review this definition for consistency with the terminology used in its licensing law.

Drafting Note: Unfairly discriminatory underwriting or claims handling practices of a company writing life insurance may be committed by insurance professionals when they refuse to process an application or a claim in violation of this act. There is no intent, however, to hold insurance professionals liable for the acts of health carriers over which they have no control.

I. "Insured" means a party named on a health benefit plans as the person with legal rights to the benefits provided by the health benefit plan. For group plans, "insured" includes a person who is a beneficiary covered by a group health benefit plan.

J. "Subject of abuse" means a person against whom an act of abuse has been directed; who has current or prior injuries, illnesses or disorders that resulted from abuse; or who seeks, may have sought, or had reason to seek medical or psychological treatment for abuse; or protection, court-ordered protection or shelter from abuse.

Section 4. Unfairly Discriminatory Acts Relating to Health Benefit Plans

Drafting Note: Because of the nature and consequences of the prohibited acts, this model provides that a single instance of prohibited conduct is a violation rather than defining a violation as a general business practice of prohibited conduct. States that choose to incorporate this model into their version of the Unfair Trade Practices Act (or other statute) under which those states define a violation as a general business practice should consider whether that approach provides sufficient protection to subjects of abuse.

A. It is unfairly discriminatory to:

(1) Deny, refuse to issue, renew or reissue, cancel or otherwise terminate a health benefit plan, or restrict or exclude health benefit plan coverage or add a premium differential to any health benefit plan on the basis of the applicant's or insured's abuse status; or

(2) Exclude or limit coverage for losses or deny a claim incurred by an insured on the basis of the insured's abuse status;

B. When the health carrier or insurance professional has information in its possession that clearly indicates that the insured or applicant is a subject of abuse, the disclosure or transfer of the confidential abuse information, as defined in this Act, by a person employed by or contracting with a health carrier or insurance professional for any purpose or to any person is unfairly discriminatory, except:

(1) To the subject of abuse or an individual specifically designated in writing by the subject of abuse;

(2) To a health care provider for the direct provision of health care services;

(3) To a licensed physician identified and designated by the subject of abuse;

(4) When ordered by the commissioner or a court of competent jurisdiction or otherwise required by law; or

(5) When necessary for a valid business purpose to transfer information that includes confidential abuse information that cannot reasonably be segregated without undue hardship. Confidential abuse information may be disclosed only if the recipient has executed a written agreement to be bound by the prohibitions of this Act in all respects and to be subject to the enforcement of this Act by the courts of this state for the benefit of the applicant or the insured, and only to the following persons:

(a) A reinsurer that seeks to indemnify or indemnifies all or any part of a policy covering a subject of abuse and that cannot underwrite or satisfy its obligations under the reinsurance agreement without that disclosure;

(b) A party to a proposed or consummated sale, transfer, merger or consolidation of all or part of the business of the health carrier or insurance professional;

(c) Medical or claims personnel contracting with the health carrier or insurance professional, only where necessary to process an application or perform the health carrier's or insurance professional's duties under the policy or to protect the safety or privacy of a subject of abuse (also includes parent or affiliate companies of the health carrier or insurance professional that have service agreements with the health carrier or insurance professional); or

(d) With respect to address and telephone number, to entities with whom the health carrier or insurance professional transacts business when the business cannot be transacted without the address and telephone number;

(6) To an attorney who needs the information to represent the health carrier or insurance professional effectively, provided the health carrier or insurance professional notifies the attorney of its obligations under this Act and requests that the attorney exercise due diligence to protect the confidential abuse information consistent with the attorney's obligation to represent the health carrier or insurance professional;

(7) To the policyowner or assignee, in the course of delivery of the policy, if the policy contains information about abuse status; or

(8) To any other entities deemed appropriate by the commissioner.

C. It is unfairly discriminatory to request information relating to acts of abuse or an applicant's or insured's abuse status, or make use of that information, however obtained, except for the limited purposes of complying with legal obligations or verifying a person's claim to be a subject of abuse.

D. It is unfairly discriminatory to terminate group coverage for a subject of abuse because coverage was originally issued in the name of the abuser and the abuser has divorced, separated from, or lost custody of the subject of abuse, or the abuser's coverage has terminated voluntarily or involuntarily. Nothing in this subsection prohibits the health carrier or insurance professional from requiring the subject of abuse to pay the full premium for coverage under the health plan or from requiring as a condition of coverage that the subject of abuse reside or work within its service area, if the requirements are applied to all insureds of the health carrier or insurance professional. The health carrier or insurance professional may terminate group coverage after the continuation coverage required by this subsection has been in force for eighteen (18) months, if it offers conversion to an equivalent individual plan. The continuation coverage required by this section shall be satisfied by coverage required under P.L. 99-272, the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) of 1985, provided to a subject of abuse and is not intended to be in addition to coverage provided under COBRA.

E. Subsection B does not preclude a subject of abuse from obtaining his or her insurance records.

F. Subsection D does not prohibit a health carrier or insurance professional from asking about a medical condition or from using medical information to underwrite or to carry out its duties under the policy, even if the medical information is related to a medical condition that the insurer or insurance professional knows or has reason to know is abuse-related, to the extent otherwise permitted under this Act and other applicable law.

Section 5. Justification of Adverse Insurance Decisions

A health carrier or insurance professional that takes an action that adversely affects an applicant or insured on the basis of a medical condition that the health carrier or insurance professional knows or has reason to know is abuse-related shall explain the reason for its action to the applicant or insured in writing and shall be able to demonstrate that its action, and any applicable plan provision:

A. Does not have the purpose or effect of treating abuse status as a medical condition or underwriting criterion;

B. Is not based upon any actual or perceived correlation between a medical condition and abuse;

C. Is otherwise permissible by law and applies in the same manner and to the same extent to all applicants and insureds with a similar medical condition without regard to whether the condition or claim is abuse-related; and

D. Except for claim actions, is based on a determination, made in conformance with sound actuarial principles and supported by reasonable statistical evidence, that there is a correlation between the medical condition and a material increase in insurance risk.

Drafting Note: It is not the intent of this Act to permit any medical underwriting not otherwise permitted by law. Subjects of abuse may currently be subject to this type of underwriting. States may wish to consider whether it is appropriate to adopt the restrictions contained within the NAIC's Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Model Act (Prospective Reinsurance With or Without an Opt-Out) or the NAIC's Small Employer and Individual Health Insurance Availability Model Act or Individual Health Insurance Portability Model Act to restrict underwriting in this market for the benefit of subjects of abuse and consumers generally.

Section 6. Insurance Protocols for Subjects of Abuse

Health carriers shall develop and adhere to written policies specifying procedures to be followed by employees and by insurance professionals they contract with, for the purpose of protecting the safety and privacy of a subject of abuse and shall otherwise implement the provisions of this Act when taking an application, investigating a claim, pursuing subrogation or taking any other action relating to a policy or claim involving a subject of abuse. Insurers shall distribute their written policies to employees and insurance professionals.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider requiring health carriers to develop procedures in consultation with domestic violence advocacy groups.

Section 7. Enforcement

The commissioner shall conduct a reasonable investigation based on a written and signed [add any means by which the commissioner receives complaints] complaint received by the commissioner and issue a prompt determination as to whether a violation of this Act may have occurred. If the commissioner finds from the investigation that a violation of this Act may have occurred, the commissioner shall promptly begin an adjudicatory proceeding. The commissioner may address a violation through means appropriate to the nature and extent of the violation, which may include suspension or revocation of certificates of authority or licenses, imposition of civil penalties, issuance of cease and desist orders, injunctive relief, a requirement for restitution, referral to prosecutorial authorities or any combination of these. The powers and duties set forth in this section are in addition to all other authority of the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States may wish to delete this section if the substance of it already exists in state law.

Section 8. Effective Date

This Act is effective [insert date], and applies to all actions taken on or after the effective date, except where otherwise explicitly stated. Nothing in this Act shall require a health carrier or insurance professional to conduct a comprehensive search of its contract files existing on the effective date solely to determine which applicants or insureds are subjects of abuse.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION AGAINST SUBJECTS OF ABUSE IN HEALTH BENEFIT PLANS MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate summaries to assist readers in locating useful information. Readers should consult state law for further details and for the most current information.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION AGAINST SUBJECTS OF ABUSE IN LIFE INSURANCE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Introductory Note: In addition to this model act, the NAIC drafted the following model acts regarding the unfair discrimination against subjects of abuse: The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Property and Casualty Insurance Model Act, The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Disability Income Insurance Model Act, and The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Health Insurance Model Act.

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to prohibit unfair discrimination by life insurers or insurance professionals on the basis of abuse status. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to create or imply a private cause of action for a violation of this Act.

Drafting Note: Consideration was given to including a private cause of action for a violation of this Act. It was concluded that a private cause of action is not inconsistent with the model and that a state legislature could find that a private cause of action is appropriate for that state.

Section 2. Scope

This Act applies to all life insurers and insurance professionals involved in issuing or renewing in this state a policy or certificate of life insurance.

Section 3. Definitions

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to ensure that the definition of "abuse" for the purposes of this Act does not conflict with the terminology descriptive of abusive behavior in state civil or criminal statutes in such a way as to lead to unintended meanings.

A. "Abuse" means the occurrence of one or more of the following acts by a current or former family member, household member, intimate partner, or caretaker:

(1) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly or recklessly causing another person bodily injury, physical harm, severe emotional distress, psychological trauma, rape, sexual assault or involuntary sexual intercourse;

(2) Knowingly engaging in a course of conduct or repeatedly committing acts toward another person including following the person without proper authority, under circumstances that place the person in reasonable fear of bodily injury or physical harm;

(3) Subjecting another person to false imprisonment; or

(4) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly causing damage to property so as to intimidate or attempt to control the behavior of another person.

Drafting Note: States should include appropriate corrective or clarifying language if their ordinary statutory meaning of "person" can be construed as implying legal capacity, since many subjects of abuse are minors and other subjects of abuse may be incapacitated.

B. "Abuse-related medical condition" means a medical condition sustained by a subject of abuse which arises in whole or part out of an act or pattern of abuse.

C. "Abuse status" means the fact or perception that a person is, has been, or may be a subject of abuse, irrespective of whether the person has sustained abuse-related medical conditions.

D. "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of this state.

Drafting Note: Where the word "commissioner" appears in this Act, the appropriate designation for the chief insurance supervisory official of the state should be substituted.

E. "Confidential abuse information" means information about acts of abuse or abuse status of a subject of abuse, the address and telephone number (home and work) of a subject of abuse, or the status of an applicant or insured as a family member, employer or associate of, or a person in a relationship with, a subject of abuse.

F. "Insurance professional" means an agent, broker, adjuster or third party administrator as defined in the insurance laws of this state.

Drafting Note: Many states license other categories of insurance professionals such as agencies, consultants and producers. Each state should review this definition for consistency with the terminology used in its licensing law.

Drafting Note: Unfairly discriminatory underwriting or claims handling practices of a company writing life insurance may be committed by insurance professionals when they refuse to process an application or a claim in violation of this act. There is no intent, however, to hold insurance professionals liable for the acts of insurers over which they have no control.

G. "Insured" means the person whose life is covered under an insurance policy.

H. "Insurer" means a person or other legal entity engaged in the business of life insurance in this state.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider whether residual market mechanisms should be included in the definition of insurer.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to consider the advisability of defining "insurance" or "life insurance" for purposes of this Act if the state's present insurance code is not satisfactory in this regard. In some cases a cross reference will be sufficient.

I. "Policy" or "certificate" means a contract of insurance or annuity, including endorsements, riders or binders issued, proposed for issuance, or intended for issuance by an insurer or insurance professional.

J. "Subject of abuse" means a person against whom an act of abuse has been directed; who has current or prior injuries, illnesses or disorders that resulted from abuse; or who seeks, may have sought, or had reason to seek medical or psychological treatment for abuse; or protection, court-ordered protection or shelter from abuse.

Section 4. Unfairly Discriminatory Acts Relating to Life Insurance

Drafting Note: Because of the nature and consequences of the prohibited acts, this model provides that a single instance of prohibited conduct is a violation rather than defining a violation as a general business practice of prohibited conduct. States that choose to incorporate this model into their version of the Unfair Trade Practices Act (or other statute) under which those states define a violation as a general business practice should consider whether that approach provides sufficient protection to subjects of abuse.

A. It is unfairly discriminatory to:

(1) deny, refuse to issue, renew or reissue, cancel or otherwise terminate, restrict or exclude insurance coverage on or add a premium differential to a policy for an applicant or insured on the basis of the applicant's or insured's abuse status; or

(2) exclude, limit or deny benefits on a life insurance policy on the basis of an insured's abuse status except as otherwise permitted or required by the laws of this state relating to acts of abuse committed by a life insurance beneficiary.

B. When the insurer or insurance professional has information in its possession that clearly indicates that the insured or applicant is a subject of abuse, the disclosure or transfer of confidential abuse information, as defined in this Act, by a person employed by or contracting with an insurer or insurance professional for any purpose or to any person is unfairly discriminatory, except:

(1) To the subject of abuse or an individual specifically designated in writing by the subject of abuse;

(2) To a health care provider for the direct provision of health care services;

(3) To a licensed physician identified and designated by the subject of abuse;

(4) When ordered by the commissioner or a court of competent jurisdiction or otherwise required by law;

(5) When necessary for a valid business purpose to transfer information that includes confidential abuse information that cannot reasonably be segregated without undue hardship. Confidential abuse information may be disclosed only if the recipient has executed a written agreement to be bound by the prohibitions of this Act in all respects and to be subject to the enforcement of this Act by the courts of this state for the benefit of the applicant or the insured, and only to the following persons:

(a) A reinsurer that seeks to indemnify or indemnifies all or any part of a policy covering a subject of abuse and that cannot underwrite or satisfy its obligations under the reinsurance agreement without that disclosure;

(b) A party to a proposed or consummated sale, transfer, merger or consolidation of all or part of the business of the insurer or insurance professional;

(c) Medical or claims personnel contracting with the insurer or insurance professional, only where necessary to process an application or perform the insurer's or insurance professional's duties under the policy or to protect the safety or privacy of a subject of abuse (also includes parent or affiliate companies of the insurer or insurance professional that have service agreements with the insurer or insurance professional); or

(d) With respect to address and telephone number, to entities with whom the insurer or insurance professional transacts business when the business cannot be transacted without the address and telephone number;

(6) To an attorney who needs the information to represent the insurer or insurance professional effectively, provided the insurer or insurance professional notifies the attorney of its obligations under this Act and requests that the attorney exercise due diligence to protect the confidential abuse information consistent with the attorney's obligation to represent the insurer or insurance professional;

(7) To the policyowner or assignee, in the course of delivery of the policy, if the policy contains information about abuse status; or

(8) To any other entities deemed appropriate by the commissioner.

D. It is unfairly discriminatory to request information about acts of abuse or abuse status, or make use of that information, however obtained.

E. Subsection B does not preclude a subject of abuse from obtaining his or her insurance records.

F. Subsection A does not prohibit a life insurer or insurance professional from declining to issue a life insurance policy if the applicant or prospective owner of the policy is or would be designated as a beneficiary of the policy, and if:

(1) The applicant or prospective owner of the policy lacks an insurable interest in the insured;

(2) The applicant or prospective owner of the policy is known, on the basis of medical, police or court records, to have committed an act of abuse against the proposed insured; or

(3) The insured or prospective insured is a subject of abuse, and that person, or a person who has assumed the care of that person if a minor or incapacitated, has objected to the issuance of the policy on the ground that the policy would be issued to or for the direct or indirect benefit of the abuser.

G. Subsection D does not prohibit a life insurer or insurance professional from asking about a medical condition or from using medical information to underwrite or to carry out its duties under the policy, even if the medical information is related to a medical condition that the insurer or insurance professional knows or has reason to know is abuse-related, to the extent otherwise permitted under this Act and other applicable law.

H. A life insurer or insurance professional shall not be held civilly or criminally liable for the death of or injury to an insured resulting from any action taken in a good faith effort to comply with the requirements of this Act. However, this subsection does not prevent an action to investigate or enforce a violation of this Act or to assert any other claims authorized by law.

Section 5. Justification of Adverse Insurance Decisions

An insurer or insurance professional that takes an action that adversely affects an applicant or insured on the basis of a medical condition that the insurer or insurance professional knows or has reason to know is abuse-related shall explain the reason for its action to the applicant or insured in writing and shall be able to demonstrate that its action, and any applicable policy provision:

A. Does not have the purpose or effect of treating abuse status as a medical condition or underwriting criterion;

B. Is not based upon any actual or perceived correlation between a medical condition and abuse;

C. Is otherwise permissible by law and applies in the same manner and to the same extent to all applicants and insureds with a similar medical condition without regard to whether the condition or claim is abuse-related; and

D. Except for claims actions, is based on a determination, made in conformance with sound actuarial principles and otherwise supported by actual or reasonably anticipated experience, that there is a correlation between the medical condition and a material increase in insurance risk.

Section 6. Insurance Protocols for Subjects of Abuse

Insurers shall develop and adhere to written policies specifying procedures to be followed by employees and by insurance professionals they contract with ,for the purpose of protecting the safety and privacy of a subject of abuse and shall otherwise implement the provisions of this Act when taking an application, investigating a claim, pursuing subrogation or taking any other action relating to a policy or claim involving a subject of abuse. Insurers shall distribute their written policies to employees and insurance professionals.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider requiring insurers to develop procedures in consultation with domestic violence advocacy groups.

Drafting Note: States are advised that these policies and procedures should be subject to review as part of a market conduct examination or otherwise at the request of the commissioner.

Section 7. Enforcement

The commissioner shall conduct a reasonable investigation based on a written and signed [add any means by which the commissioner receives complaints] complaint received by the commissioner and issue a prompt determination as to whether a violation of this Act may have occurred. If the commissioner finds from the investigation that a violation of this Act may have occurred, the commissioner shall promptly begin an adjudicatory proceeding. The commissioner may address a violation through means appropriate to the nature and extent of the violation, which may include suspension or revocation of certificates of authority or licenses, imposition of civil penalties, issuance of cease and desist orders, injunctive relief, a requirement for restitution, referral to prosecutorial authorities or any combination of these. The powers and duties set forth in this section are in addition to all other authority of the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States may wish to delete this section if the substance of it already exists in state law.

Section 8. Effective Date

This Act is effective [insert date], and applies to all actions taken on or after the effective date, except where otherwise explicitly stated. Nothing in this Act shall require the insurer or insurance professional to conduct a comprehensive search of its contract files existing on the effective date solely to determine which applicants or insureds are subjects of abuse.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION AGAINST SUBJECTS OF ABUSE IN LIFE INSURANCE MODEL ACT

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

If you have questions or believe information related to a state should be updated, please contact Jennifer Neuerburg at jneuerburg@naic.org.

Disclaimer: *This chart does not constitute a formal legal opinion by the NAIC staff on the provisions of state law and should not be relied upon as such. Nor does this state page reflect a determination as to whether a state meets any applicable accreditation standards. UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION AGAINST SUBJECTS OF ABUSE IN DISABILITY INCOME INSURANCE MODEL ACT

Introductory Note: In addition to this model act, the NAIC drafted the following model acts regarding the unfair discrimination against subjects of abuse: The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Property and Casualty Insurance Model Act, The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Life Insurance Model Act, and The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Health Insurance Model Act.

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to prohibit unfair discrimination by disability income insurers and insurance professionals on the basis of abuse status. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to create or imply a private cause of action for a violation of this Act.

Drafting Note: Consideration was given to including a private cause of action for a violation of this Act. It was concluded that a private cause of action is not inconsistent with the model and that a state legislature could find that a private cause of action is appropriate for that state.

Section 2. Scope

This Act applies to all disability income insurers and insurance professionals involved in issuing or renewing in this state a policy or certificate of disability income insurance.

Section 3. Definitions

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to ensure that the definition of "abuse" for the purposes of this Act does not conflict with the terminology descriptive of abusive behavior in state civil or criminal statutes in such a way as to lead to unintended meanings.

A. "Abuse" means the occurrence of one or more of the following acts by a current or former family member, household member, intimate partner, or caretaker:

(1) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly or recklessly causing another person bodily injury, physical harm, severe emotional distress, psychological trauma, rape, sexual assault or involuntary sexual intercourse;

(2) Knowingly engaging in a course of conduct or repeatedly committing acts toward another person including following the person without proper authority, under circumstances that place the person in reasonable fear of bodily injury or physical harm;

(3) Subjecting another person to false imprisonment; or

(4) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly causing damage to property so as to intimidate or attempt to control the behavior of another person.

Drafting Note: States should include appropriate corrective or clarifying language if their ordinary statutory meaning of "person" can be construed as implying legal capacity, since many subjects of abuse are minors and other subjects of abuse may be incapacitated.

B. "Abuse-related medical condition" means a medical condition sustained by a subject of abuse which arises in whole or part out of an act or pattern of abuse.

C. "Abuse status" means the fact or perception that a person is, has been, or may be a subject of abuse, irrespective of whether the person has sustained abuse-related medical conditions.

D. "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of this state.

Drafting Note: Where the word "commissioner" appears in this Act, the appropriate designation for the chief insurance supervisory official of the state should be substituted.

E. "Confidential abuse information" means information about acts of abuse or abuse status of a subject of abuse, the address and telephone number (home and work) of a subject of abuse, or the status of an applicant or insured as a family member, employer or associate of, or a person, in a relationship with, a subject of abuse.

F. "Insurance professional" means an agent, broker, adjuster or third party administrator as defined in the insurance laws of this state.

Drafting Note: Many states license other categories of insurance professionals such as agencies, consultants and producers. Each state should review this definition for consistency with the terminology used in its licensing law.

Drafting Note: Unfairly discriminatory underwriting or claims handling practices of a company writing disability income insurance may be committed by insurance professionals when they refuse to process an application or a claim in violation of this act. There is no intent, however, to hold insurance professionals liable for the acts of insurers over which they have no control.

G. "Insured" means a party named on a disability income policy or certificate as the person with legal rights to the benefits provided by the policy or certificate. For group insurance, "insured" includes a person who is a beneficiary covered by a group policy or certificate.

H. "Insurer" means a person or other legal entity engaged in the business of disability income insurance in this state.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider whether residual market mechanisms should be included in the definition of insurer.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to consider the advisability of defining "insurance" or "disability income insurance" for purposes of this Act if the state's present insurance code is not satisfactory in this regard. In some cases a cross reference will be sufficient.

I. "Policy" or "certificate" means a contract of insurance or indemnity, including endorsements, riders or binders issued, proposed for issuance, or intended for issuance by an insurer or insurance professional.

J. "Subject of abuse" means a person against whom an act of abuse has been directed; who has current or prior injuries, illnesses or disorders that resulted from abuse; or who seeks, may have sought, or had reason to seek medical or psychological treatment for abuse; or protection, court-ordered protection or shelter from abuse.

Section 4. Unfairly Discriminatory Acts Relating to Disability Income Insurance

Drafting Note: Because of the nature and consequences of the prohibited acts, this model provides that a single instance of prohibited conduct is a violation rather than defining a violation as a general business practice of prohibited conduct. States that choose to incorporate this model into their version of the Unfair Trade Practices Act (or other statute) under which those states define a violation as a general business practice should consider whether that approach provides sufficient protection to subjects of abuse.

A. It is unfairly discriminatory to:

(1) Deny, refuse to issue or renew, cancel or otherwise terminate, restrict or exclude insurance coverage on or add a premium differential to any disability income insurance policy on the basis of the applicant's or insured's abuse status; or

(2) Exclude or limit coverage for losses or denying a claim under a disability income insurance policy on the basis of an insured's abuse status.

B. When the insurer or insurance professional has information in its possession that clearly indicates that the insured or applicant is a subject of abuse, the disclosure or transfer of confidential abuse information, as defined in this Act, for any purpose or to any person is unfairly discriminatory, except:

(1) To the subject of abuse or an individual specifically designated in writing by the subject of abuse;

(2) To a health care provider for the direct provision of health care services;

(3) To a licensed physician identified and designated by the subject of abuse;

(4) When ordered by the commissioner or a court of competent jurisdiction or otherwise required by law;

(5) When necessary for a valid business purpose to transfer information that includes confidential abuse information that cannot reasonably be segregated without undue hardship, confidential abuse information may be disclosed only if the recipient has executed a written agreement to be bound by the prohibitions of this Act in all respects and to be subject to the enforcement of this Act by the courts of this state for the benefit of the applicant or insured, and only to the following persons:

(a) A reinsurer that seeks to indemnify or indemnifies all or any part of a policy covering a subject of abuse and that cannot underwrite or satisfy its obligations under the reinsurance agreement without that disclosure;

(b) A party to a proposed or consummated sale, transfer, merger or consolidation of all or part of the business of the insurer or insurance professional;

(c) Medical or claims personnel contracting with the insurer, only where necessary to process an application or perform the insurer's or insurance professional's duties under the policy or to protect the safety or privacy of a subject of abuse (also includes parent or affiliate companies of the insurer that have service agreements with the insurer or insurance professional); or

(d) With respect to address and telephone number, to entities with whom the insurer or insurance professional transacts business when the business cannot be transacted without the address and telephone number;

(6) To an attorney who needs the information to represent the insurer or insurance professional effectively, provided the insurer or insurance professional notifies the attorney of its obligations under this Act and requests that the attorney exercise due diligence to protect the confidential abuse information consistent with the attorney's obligation to represent the insurer or insurance professional;

(7) To the policyowner or assignee, in the course of delivery of the policy, if the policy contains information about the abuse status; or

(8) To any other entities deemed appropriate by the commissioner.

C. It is unfairly discriminatory to request information about acts of abuse or abuse status, or make use of that information, however obtained.

D. Subsection B does not preclude a subject of abuse from obtaining his or her insurance records.

E. Subsection D does not prohibit a disability income insurer or insurance professional from asking about a medical condition or from using medical information to underwrite or to carry out its duties under the policy, even if the medical information is related to a medical condition that the insurer knows or has reason to know is abuse-related, to the extent otherwise permitted under this Act and other applicable law.

F. A disability income insurer or insurance professional shall not be held civilly or criminally liable for the death of or injury to an insured resulting from an action taken in a good faith effort to comply with the requirements of this Act. However, this subsection does not prevent an action to investigate or enforce a violation of this Act or to assert any other claims authorized by law.

Section 5. Justification of Adverse Insurance Decisions

An insurer or insurance professional that takes an action that adversely affects an applicant or insured on the basis of a medical condition that the insurer or insurance professional knows or has reason to know is abuse-related shall explain the reason for its action to the applicant or insured in writing and shall be able to demonstrate that its action, and any applicable policy provision:

A. Does not have the purpose or effect of treating abuse status as a medical condition or underwriting criterion;

B. Is not based upon any actual or perceived correlation between a medical condition and abuse;

C. Is otherwise permissible by law and applies in the same manner and to the same extent to all applicants and insureds with a similar medical condition or disability without regard to whether the condition is abuse-related; and

D. Except for claims actions, is based on a determination, made in conformance with sound actuarial principles and otherwise supported by actual or reasonably anticipated experience, that there is a correlation between the medical condition and a material increase in insurance risk.

Section 6. Insurance Protocols for Subjects of Abuse

Insurers shall develop and adhere to written policies specifying procedures to be followed by employees and by insurance professionals they contract with ,for the purpose of protecting the safety and privacy of a subject of abuse and shall otherwise implement the provisions of this Act when taking an application, investigating a claim, pursuing subrogation or taking any other action relating to a policy or claim involving a subject of abuse. Insurers shall distribute their written policies to employees and insurance professionals.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider requiring insurers to develop procedures in consultation with domestic violence advocacy groups.

Drafting Note: States are advised that these policies and procedures should be subject to review as part of a market conduct examination or otherwise at the request of the commissioner.

Section 7. Enforcement

The commissioner shall conduct a reasonable investigation based on a written and signed [add any means by which the commissioner receives complaints] complaint received by the commissioner and issue a prompt determination as to whether a violation of this Act may have occurred. If the commissioner finds from the investigation that a violation of this Act may have occurred, the commissioner shall promptly begin an adjudicatory proceeding. The commissioner may address a violation through means appropriate to the nature and extent of the violation, which may include suspension or revocation of certificates of authority or licenses, imposition of civil penalties, issuance of cease and desist orders, injunctive relief, a requirement for restitution, referral to prosecutorial authorities or any combination of these. The powers and duties set forth in this section are in addition to all other authority of the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States may wish to delete this section if the substance of it already exists in state law.

Section 8. Effective Date

This Act is effective [insert date], and applies to all actions taken on or after the effective date, except where otherwise explicitly stated. Nothing in this Act shall require an insurer to conduct a comprehensive search of its contract files existing on the effective date solely to determine which applicants or insureds are subjects of abuse.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION AGAINST SUBJECTS OF ABUSE IN PROPERTY AND CASUALTY INSURANCE MODEL ACT

Table of Contents

Introductory Note: In addition to this model act, the NAIC drafted the following model acts regarding the unfair discrimination against subjects of abuse: The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Life Insurance Model Act, The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Disability Income Insurance Model Act, and The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Health Insurance Model Act.

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to prohibit unfair discrimination by property and casualty insurers and insurance professionals on the basis of abuse status. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to create or imply a private cause of action for a violation of this Act.

Drafting Note: Consideration was given to including a private cause of action for a violation of this Act. It was concluded that a private cause of action is not inconsistent with the model and that a state legislature could find that a private cause of action is appropriate for that state.

Section 2. Scope

This Act applies to all property and casualty insurers and insurance professionals involved in issuing or renewing in this state a policy of property and casualty insurance.

Section 3. Definitions

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to ensure that the definition of "abuse" for the purposes of this Act does not conflict with the terminology descriptive of abusive behavior in state civil or criminal statutes in such a way as to lead to unintended meanings.

A. "Abuse" means the occurrence of one or more of the following acts by a current or former family member, household member, intimate partner or caretaker:

(1) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly or recklessly causing another person bodily injury, physical harm, severe emotional distress, psychological trauma, rape, sexual assault or involuntary sexual intercourse;

(2) Knowingly engaging in a course of conduct or repeatedly committing acts toward another person including following the person without proper authority, under circumstances that place the person in reasonable fear of bodily injury or physical harm;

(3) Subjecting another person to false imprisonment; or

(4) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly causing damage to property so as to intimidate or attempt to control the behavior of another person.

Drafting Note: States should include appropriate corrective or clarifying language if their ordinary statutory meaning of "person" can be construed as implying legal capacity, since many subjects of abuse are minors and other subjects of abuse may be incapacitated.

B. "Abuse-related claim" means a claim under a property and casualty policy for a loss resulting from an act of abuse.

C. "Abuse status" means the fact or perception that a natural person is, has been, or may be a subject of abuse, irrespective of whether the natural person has incurred abuse-related claims.

D. "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner of this state.

Drafting Note: Where the word "commissioner" appears in this Act, the appropriate designation for the chief insurance supervisory official of the state should be substituted.

E. "Confidential abuse information" means information about acts of abuse or abuse status of a subject of abuse, the address and telephone number (home and work) of a subject of abuse or the status of an applicant or insured as a family member, employer or associate of, or a person in a relationship with, a subject of abuse.

F. "Insurance professional" means an agent, broker, adjuster or third party administrator as defined in the insurance laws of this state.

Drafting Note: Many states license other categories of insurance professionals such as agencies, consultants and producers. Each state should review this definition for consistency with the terminology used in its licensing law.

Drafting Note: Unfairly discriminatory underwriting or claims handling practices of a company writing property and casualty insurance may be committed by insurance professionals when they refuse to process an application or a claim in violation of this act. There is no intent, however, to hold insurance professionals liable for the acts of insurers over which they have no control.

G. "Insured" means the party named on a policy or certificate as the individual with legal rights to the benefits provided by such policy.

H. "Insurer" means a person or other entity engaged in the business of property and casualty insurance in this state.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider whether residual market mechanisms should be included in the definition of insurer.

Drafting Note: Each state may wish to consider the advisability of defining "insurance" or "property and casualty insurance" for purposes of this Act if the state's present insurance code is not satisfactory in this regard. In some cases a cross reference will be sufficient.

I. "Policy" means a contract of insurance, including endorsements, riders or binders issued, proposed for issuance, or intended for issuance by an insurer or insurance professional.

J. "Subject of abuse" means a natural person against whom an act of abuse has been directed; who has current or prior injuries, illnesses or disorders that resulted from abuse; or who seeks, may have sought or had reason to seek medical or psychological treatment for abuse; or protection, court-ordered protection or shelter from abuse.

Section 4. Unfairly Discriminatory Acts Relating to Property and Casualty Insurance

Drafting Note: Because of the nature and consequences of the prohibited acts, this model provides that a single instance of prohibited conduct is a violation rather than defining a violation as a general business practice of prohibited conduct. States that choose to incorporate this model into their version of the Unfair Trade Practices Act (or other statute) under which those states define a violation as a general business practice should consider whether that approach provides sufficient protection to subjects of abuse.

A. It is unfairly discriminatory to deny, refuse to issue, renew or reissue; to cancel or otherwise terminate; restrict or exclude coverage on or to add a premium differential to a property and casualty insurance policy on the basis of the applicant's or insured's abuse status.

B. (1) It is unfairly discriminatory to:

(a) Exclude or limit payment for a covered loss or deny a covered claim incurred as a result of abuse by a person other than a co-insured; or

(b) Fail to pay losses arising out of abuse to an innocent first party claimant to the extent of such claimants' legal interest in the covered property if the loss is caused by the intentional act of an insured, or using other exclusions or limitations on coverage which the commissioner has determined unreasonably restrict the ability of subjects of abuse to be indemnified for such losses.

(2) This section shall not require payment in excess of the loss or policy limits.

(3) Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit an insurer or insurance professional from applying reasonable standards of proof to claims under this section.

Drafting Note: Abuse-related claims are an indication of abuse status. States may choose to consider the use of abuse related claims history as an underwriting criterion prohibited as underwriting on the basis of abuse status.

Drafting Note: Insurers may include policy provisions providing that any payment required by this subsection may be recovered by the insurer from an insured if that abuse-related claim arose out of that insured's act of abuse.

Drafting Note: State law may differ regarding the payments to innocent first party claimants. When adopting this model, a state may want to consider this provision with regard to existing law.

C. When the insurer or insurance professional has information in its possession that clearly indicates that the insured, applicant or claimant is a subject of abuse, it is unfairly discriminatory, by a person employed by or contracting with an insurer, to disclose or transfer confidential abuse information, as defined in this Act, for any purpose or to any person, except:

(1) To the subject of abuse or an individual specifically designated in writing by the subject of abuse;

(2) When ordered by the commissioner or a court of competent jurisdiction or otherwise required by law;

(3) When necessary for a valid business purpose to transfer information that includes confidential abuse information that cannot reasonably be segregated without undue hardship, confidential abuse information may be disclosed only if the recipient has executed a written agreement to be bound by the prohibitions of this Act in all respects and to be subject to the enforcement of this Act by the courts of this state for the benefit of the applicant or the insured, and only to the following persons:

(a) A reinsurer that seeks to indemnify or indemnifies all or any part of a policy covering a subject of abuse and that cannot underwrite or satisfy its obligations under the reinsurance agreement without that disclosure;

(b) A party to a proposed or consummated sale, transfer, merger or consolidation of all or part of the business of the insurer or insurance professional;

(c) Medical or claims personnel contracting with the insurer or insurance professional, only where necessary to process an application or perform the insurer's or insurance professional's duties under the policy or to protect the safety or privacy of a subject of abuse (also includes parent or affiliate companies of the insurer or insurance professional that have service agreements with the insurer or insurance professional); or

(d) With respect to address and telephone number, to entities with whom the insurer transacts business when the business cannot be transacted without the address and telephone number;

(4) To an attorney who needs the information to represent the insurer or insurance professional effectively, provided the insurer or insurance professional notifies the attorney of its obligations under this Act and requests that the attorney exercise due diligence to protect the confidential abuse information consistent with the attorney's obligation to represent the insurer or insurance professional; or

(5) To any other entities deemed appropriate by the commissioner.

D. It is unfairly discriminatory to request information relating to acts of abuse or an applicant's or insured's abuse status, or to make use of that information, however obtained, except for the limited purposes of complying with legal obligations or verifying a person's claim to be a subject of abuse.

E. Subsection C does not preclude a subject of abuse from obtaining his or her insurance records.

F. Subsection D does not prohibit a property and casualty insurer from asking an applicant or insured about a property and casualty claim, even if the claim is abuse-related, or from using information thereby obtained in evaluating and carrying out its rights and duties under the policy, to the extent otherwise permitted under this Act and other applicable law.

Section 5. Justification of Adverse Insurance Decisions

An insurer or insurance professional that takes an action not prohibited by Section 4 that adversely affects an applicant or insured on the basis of claim or other underwriting information that the insurer or insurance professional knows or has reason to know is abuse-related shall explain the reason for its action to the applicant or insured in writing and shall be able to demonstrate that its action, and any applicable policy provision:

A. Does not have the purpose of treating abuse status as an underwriting criterion; and

B. Is otherwise permissible by law and applies in the same manner and to the same extent to all applicants and insureds with a similar claim or claims history without regard to whether the claims are abuse-related.

Section 6. Insurance Protocols for Subjects of Abuse

Insurers shall develop and adhere to written policies specifying procedures to be followed by employees and by insurance professionals they contract with, for the purpose of protecting the safety and privacy of a subject of abuse and shall otherwise implement the provisions of this Act when taking an application, investigating a claim, pursuing subrogation or taking any other action relating to a policy or claim involving a subject of abuse. Insurers shall distribute their written policies to employees and insurance professionals.

Drafting Note: States may wish to consider requiring insurers to develop procedures in consultation with domestic violence advocacy groups.

Drafting Note: States are advised that these policies and procedures should be subject to review as part of a market conduct examination or otherwise at the request of the commissioner.

Section 7. Enforcement

The commissioner shall conduct a reasonable investigation based on a written and signed [add any means by which the commissioner receives complaints] complaint received by the commissioner and issue a prompt determination as to whether a violation of this Act may have occurred. If the commissioner finds from the investigation that a violation of this Act may have occurred, the commissioner shall promptly begin an adjudicatory proceeding. The commissioner may address a violation through means appropriate to the nature and extent of the violation, which may include suspension or revocation of certificates of authority or licenses, imposition of civil penalties, issuance of cease and desist orders, injunctive relief, a requirement for restitution, referral to prosecutorial authorities or any combination of these. The powers and duties set forth in this section are in addition to all other authority of the commissioner.

Drafting Note: States may wish to delete this section if the substance of it already exists in state law.

Section 8. Effective Date

This Act is effective [insert date], and applies to all actions taken on or after the effective date, except where otherwise explicitly stated. Nothing in this Act shall require an insurer or insurance professional to conduct a comprehensive search of its contract files existing on the effective date solely to determine which applicants or insureds are subjects of abuse.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

Who do I speak to if I have questions?

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

UNFAIR CLAIMS SETTLEMENT PRACTICES ACT

Table of Contents

Prefatory Note: By adopting this model act in June 1990, the NAIC separated issues regarding unfair claims settlement practices into a free-standing act apart from the NAIC Model Unfair Trade Practices Act. This change focuses more attention on unfair claims as a function of market conduct surveillance separate and apart from general unfair trade practices. By doing so, the NAIC is not recommending that states repeal their existing acts, but states may modify them for the purpose of capturing the substantive changes. However, for those states wishing to completely rewrite their comprehensive approach to unfair claims practices, this separation of unfair claims from unfair trade practices is recommended.

Section 1. Purpose

The purpose of this Act is to set forth standards for the investigation and disposition of claims arising under policies or certificates of insurance issued to residents of [insert state]. It is not intended to cover claims involving workers' compensation, fidelity, suretyship or boiler and machinery insurance. Nothing herein shall be construed to create or imply a private cause of action for violation of this Act.

Drafting Note: A jurisdiction choosing to provide for a private cause of action should consider a different statutory scheme. This Act is inherently inconsistent with a private cause of action. This is merely a clarification of original intent and not indicative of any change of position. The NAIC has promulgated the Unfair Property/Casualty Claims Settlement Practices and the Unfair Life, Accident and Health Claims Settlement Practices Model Regulations pursuant to this Act.

Section 2. Definitions

When used in this Act:

A. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Insurance of this state;

Drafting Note: Insert the title of the chief insurance regulatory official wherever the term "commissioner" appears.

B. "Insured" means the party named on a policy or certificate as the individual with legal rights to the benefits provided by the policy;

C. "Insurer" means a person, reciprocal exchange, interinsurer, Lloyd's insurer, fraternal benefit society, and any other legal entity engaged in the business of insurance, including agents, brokers, adjusters and third party administrators. Insurer shall also mean medical service plans, hospital service plans, health maintenance organizations, prepaid limited health care service plans, dental, optometric and other similar health service plans as defined in Section [insert applicable section]. For purposes of this Act, these foregoing entities shall be deemed to be engaged in the business of insurance;

D. "Person" means a natural or artificial entity, including, but not limited to, individuals, partnerships, associations, trusts or corporations;

E. "Policy" or "certificate" means a contract of insurance, indemnity, medical, health or hospital service, or annuity issued. "Policy" or "certificate" for purposes of this Act, shall not mean contracts of workers' compensation, fidelity, suretyship or boiler and machinery insurance.

Drafting Note: The term "policy" is intended to cover the product issued by medical, health or hospital service plans and should be changed to conform to the laws of each state.

The Federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) preempts certain entities and some activities of those entities from the application of state laws. The purpose of these definitions is to include within this Act and regulations issued pursuant to it, all entities and activities to the extent not preempted by ERISA.

Section 3. Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Prohibited

It is an improper claims practice for a domestic, foreign or alien insurer transacting business in this state to commit an act defined in Section 4 of this Act if:

A. It is committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of this Act or any rules promulgated hereunder; or

B. It has been committed with such frequency to indicate a general business practice to engage in that type of conduct.

Section 4. Unfair Claims Practices Defined

Any of the following acts by an insurer, if committed in violation of Section 3, constitutes an unfair claims practice:

A. Knowingly misrepresenting to claimants and insureds relevant facts or policy provisions relating to coverages at issue;

B. Failing to acknowledge with reasonable promptness pertinent communications with respect to claims arising under its policies;

C. Failing to adopt and implement reasonable standards for the prompt investigation and settlement of claims arising under its policies;

D. Not attempting in good faith to effectuate prompt, fair and equitable settlement of claims submitted in which liability has become reasonably clear;

E. Compelling insureds or beneficiaries to institute suits to recover amounts due under its policies by offering substantially less than the amounts ultimately recovered in suits brought by them;

F. Refusing to pay claims without conducting a reasonable investigation;

G. Failing to affirm or deny coverage of claims within a reasonable time after having completed its investigation related to such claim or claims;

H. Attempting to settle or settling claims for less than the amount that a reasonable person would believe the insured or beneficiary was entitled by reference to written or printed advertising material accompanying or made part of an application;

I. Attempting to settle or settling claims on the basis of an application that was materially altered without notice to, or knowledge or consent of, the insured;

J. Making claims payments to an insured or beneficiary without indicating the coverage under which each payment is being made;

K. Unreasonably delaying the investigation or payment of claims by requiring both a formal proof of loss form and subsequent verification that would result in duplication of information and verification appearing in the formal proof of loss form;

L. Failing in the case of claims denials or offers of compromise settlement to promptly provide a reasonable and accurate explanation of the basis for such actions;

M. Failing to provide forms necessary to present claims within fifteen (15) calendar days of a request with reasonable explanations regarding their use;

N. Failing to adopt and implement reasonable standards to assure that the repairs of a repairer owned by or required to be used by the insurer are performed in a workmanlike manner.

Section 5. Statement of Charges

Whenever the commissioner has reasonable cause to believe that an insurer doing business in this state is engaging in any unfair claims practice and that a proceeding in respect thereto would be in the public interest, the commissioner shall issue and serve upon the insurer a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of hearing, which shall set a hearing date not less than thirty (30) days from the date of the notice.

Drafting Note: If a formal hearing procedure exists, states may wish to incorporate the timeframes from that existing procedure.

Section 6. Cease and Desist and Penalty Orders

If, after hearing, the commissioner finds an insurer has engaged in an unfair claims practice, the commissioner shall reduce the findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the insurer charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the insurer to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice and the commissioner may, at the commissioner's discretion, order:

A. Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than $1,000 for each violation but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $100,000, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of this Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than $25,000 for each violation, but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of $250,000 pursuant to hearing; and/or

B. Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license if the insurer knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of this Act.

Section 7. Penalty for Violation of Cease and Desist Orders

An insurer that violates a cease and desist order of the commissioner and, while the order is in effect, may, after notice and hearing and upon order of the commissioner, be subject, at the discretion of the commissioner, to:

A. A monetary penalty of not more than $25,000 for each and every act or violation not to exceed an aggregate of $250,000 pursuant to hearing; and/or

B. Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license.

Section 8. Regulations

The commissioner may, after notice and hearing, promulgate reasonable rules, regulations and orders as are necessary or proper to carry out and effectuate the provisions of this Act. The regulations shall be subject to review in accordance with Section [insert applicable section].

Drafting Note: Insert section number providing for review of administrative orders.

Section 9. Severability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of the provision to any person or circumstances, shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act, and the application of the provision to persons or circumstances other than those as to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected thereby.

What are the state pages?

This chart is intended to provide readers with additional information to more easily access state statutes, regulations, bulletins or administrative rulings related to the NAIC model. Such guidance provides readers with a starting point from which they may review how each state has addressed the model and the topic being covered. The NAIC Legal Division has reviewed each state's activity in this area and has determined whether the citation most appropriately fits in the Model Adoption column, Previous Version column, or Related Activity column based on the definitions listed in the key below. The NAIC's interpretation may or may not be shared by the individual states or by interested readers.

How do you use them?

States and territories are listed alphabetically in the chart. Locate the state or territory you are interested in, and depending on which column the citation falls under, you will know whether the NAIC Legal Division has deemed a state's law to be adoption of a model or not. To perform further research, use the citations to locate state laws.

STATE PAGE KEY:

MODEL ADOPTION: States that have citations identified in this column adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner. This requires states to adopt the model in its entirety but does allow for variations in style and format. States that have adopted portions of the current NAIC model will be included in this column with an explanatory note.

PREVIOUS VERSION: States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have enacted an older version of the model but have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model.

RELATED ACTIVITY: Examples of Related Activity include but are not limited to statutes or regulations addressing the same subject matter, or other administrative guidance such as bulletins and notices. States that have citations identified in this column (and nothing listed in the Model Adoption column) have not adopted the most recent version of the NAIC model in a substantially similar manner.

NO CURRENT ACTIVITY: No state activity on the topic as of the date of the most recent update. This includes states that have repealed legislation as well as states that have never adopted legislation.

UNFAIR PROPERTY/CASUALTY CLAIMS SETTLEMENT PRACTICES MODEL REGULATION

Table of Contents

Section 1. Authority

This regulation is adopted under the authority of the Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Act.

Section 2. Purpose

The purpose of this regulation is to set forth minimum standards for the investigation and disposition of property and casualty claims arising under contracts or certificates issued to residents of the State. It is not intended to cover claims involving workers' compensation, fidelity, suretyship or boiler and machinery insurance. The various provisions of this regulation are intended to define procedures and practices which constitute unfair claims practices. Nothing herein shall be construed to create nor imply a private cause of action for violation of this regulation. This is merely a clarification of original intent and does not indicate any change of position.

Drafting Note: Any jurisdiction which may choose to provide for a private cause of action should consider a different statutory scheme. This regulation is inherently inconsistent with a private cause of action. This is merely a clarification of original intent and not indicative of any change of position. The NAIC has separately promulgated an Unfair Life, Accident and Health Claims Settlement Practices Model Regulation.

Section 3. Definitions

All definitions contained in the Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Act (or Unfair Trade Practices Model Act) are hereby incorporated by reference. As otherwise used in this regulation:

A. "Agent" means any individual, corporation, association, partnership or other legal entity authorized to represent an insurer with respect to a claim;

B. "Claim file" means any retrievable electronic file, paper file or combination of both;

C. "Claimant" means either a first party claimant, a third party claimant, or both and includes the claimant's designated legal representative and includes a member of the claimant's immediate family designated by the claimant;

D. "Days" means calendar days;

E. "Documentation" includes, but is not limited to, all pertinent communications, transactions, notes, work papers, claim forms, bills and explanation of benefits forms relative to the claim;

F. "First party claimant" means an individual, corporation, association, partnership or other legal entity asserting a right to payment under an insurance policy or insurance contract arising out of the occurrence of the contingency or loss covered by the policy or contract;

G. "Investigation" means all activities of an insurer directly or indirectly related to the determination of liabilities under coverages afforded by an insurance policy or insurance contract;

H. "Limited insurance representative" means an individual, partnership or corporation who is authorized by the Commissioner to solicit or negotiate policies for a particular line of insurance which the Commissioner may by regulation deem essential for the transaction of business in this State and which does not require the professional competency demanded for an insurance agent's or insurance broker's license.

I. "Notification of claim" means any notification, whether in writing or other means acceptable under the terms of an insurance policy to an insurer or its agent, by a claimant, which reasonably apprises the insurer of the facts pertinent to a claim;

J. "Third party claimant" means any person asserting a claim against any person under a policy or certificate of an insurer; and

K. "Written communications" includes all correspondence, regardless of source or type that is materially related to the handling of the claim.

Section 4. File and Record Documentation

Each insurer's claim files for policies or certificates are subject to examination by the Commissioner of Insurance or by the Commissioner's duly appointed designees. To aid in such examination:

A. The insurer shall maintain claim data that is accessible and retrievable for examination. An insurer shall be able to provide the claim number, line of coverage, date of loss and date of payment of the claim, date of denial or date closed without payment. This data must be available for all open and closed files for the current year and the two preceding years.

B. Detailed documentation shall be contained in each claim file in order to permit reconstruction of the insurer's activities relative to each claim.

C. Each relevant document within the claim file shall be noted as to date received, date processed or date mailed.

D. For those insurers that do not maintain hard copy files, claim files must be accessible from Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) or micrographics and be capable of duplication to hard copy.

Drafting Note: States are encouraged to recognize the efficiencies of electronic or other type "paperless" file systems and are encouraged to accommodate all reasonable application of such systems.

Section 5. Misrepresentation of Policy Provisions

A. No insurer shall fail to fully disclose to first party claimants all pertinent benefits, coverages or other provisions of a policy or contract under which a claim is presented.

B. No agent shall conceal from first party claimants benefits, coverages or other provisions of any insurance policy or insurance contract when such benefits, coverages or other provisions are pertinent to a claim.

C. A claim shall not be denied on the basis of failure to exhibit property unless there is documentation of breach of the policy provisions in the claim file.

D. No insurer shall deny a claim based upon the failure of a first party claimant to give written notice of loss within a specified time limit unless the written notice is a written policy condition, or claimant's failure to give written notice after being requested to do so is so unreasonable as to constitute a breach of the claimant's duty to cooperate with the insurer.

E. No insurer shall indicate to a first party claimant on a payment draft, check or in any accompanying letter that said payment is "final" or "a release" of any claim unless the policy limit has been paid or there has been a compromise settlement agreed to by the first party claimant and the insurer as to coverage and amount payable under the contract.

F. No insurer shall issue checks or drafts in partial settlement of a loss or claim under a specific coverage that contains language purporting to release the insurer or its insured from total liability.

Section 6. Failure to Acknowledge Pertinent Communications

A. Every insurer, upon receiving notification of a claim shall, within fifteen (15) days, acknowledge the receipt of such notice unless payment is made within that period of time. If an acknowledgement is made by means other than writing, an appropriate notation of the acknowledgement shall be made in the claim file of the insurer and dated. Notification given to an agent of an insurer shall be notification to the insurer.

B. Every insurer, upon receipt of any inquiry from the insurance department respecting a claim shall, within twenty-one (21) days of receipt of such inquiry, furnish the department with an adequate response to the inquiry in duplicate.

C. An appropriate reply shall be made within fifteen (15) days on all other pertinent communications from a claimant which reasonably suggest that a response is expected.

D. Every insurer, upon receiving notification of claim, shall promptly provide necessary claim forms, instructions and reasonable assistance so that first party claimants can comply with the policy conditions and the insurer's reasonable requirements. Compliance with this paragraph within fifteen (15) days of notification of a claim shall constitute compliance with Subsection A of this section.

Section 7. Standards for Prompt, Fair and Equitable Settlements Applicable to All Insurers

A. Within twenty-one (21) days after receipt by the insurer of properly executed proofs of loss, the first party claimant shall be advised of the acceptance or denial of the claim by the insurer. No insurer shall deny a claim on the grounds of a specific policy provision, condition or exclusion unless reference to such provision, condition, or exclusion is included in the denial. The denial must be given to the claimant in writing and the claim file of the insurer shall contain documentation of the denial as required by Section 4.

Where there is a reasonable basis supported by specific information available for review by the insurance regulatory authority that the first party claimant has fraudulently caused or contributed to the loss, the insurer is relieved from the requirements of this subsection; provided, however, that the claimant shall be advised of the acceptance or denial of the claim within a reasonable time for full investigation after receipt by the insurer of a properly executed proof of loss.

B. If the insurer needs more time to determine whether a first party claim should be accepted or denied, it shall so notify the first party claimant within twenty-one (21) days after receipt of the proofs of loss, giving the reasons more time is needed. If the investigation remains incomplete, the insurer shall, forty-five (45) days from the initial notification and every forty-five (45) days thereafter, send to the claimant a letter setting forth the reasons additional time is needed for investigation.

Where there is a reasonable basis supported by specific information available for review by the insurance regulatory authority for suspecting that the first party claimant has fraudulently caused or contributed to the loss, the insurer is relieved from the requirements of this subsection; provided, however, that the claimant shall be advised of the acceptance or denial of the claim by the insurer within a reasonable time for full investigation after receipt by the insurer of a properly executed proof of loss.

C. Insurers shall not fail to settle first party claims on the basis that responsibility for payment should be assumed by others except as may otherwise be provided by policy provisions.

D. No insurer shall continue negotiations for settlement of a claim directly with a claimant who is not legally represented, if the claimant's rights may be affected by a statute of limitations, unless the insurer has given the claimant written notice of such limitation. Notice shall be given to first party claimants at least thirty (30) days and to third party claimants at least sixty (60) days before the date on which such time limit may expire.

E. No insurer shall make statements indicating that the rights of a third party claimant may be impaired if a form or release is not completed within a given period of time unless the statement is given for the purpose of notifying the third party claimant of the provision of a statute of limitations.

F. The insurer shall affirm or deny liability on claims within a reasonable time and shall tender payment within thirty (30) days of affirmation of liability, if the amount of the claim is determined and not in dispute. In claims where multiple coverages are involved, payments which are not in dispute and where the payee is known should be tendered within thirty (30) days if such payment would terminate the insurer's known liability under that individual coverage.

G. No insurer shall request or require any insured to submit to a polygraph examination unless authorized under the applicable insurance contracts and state law.

H. If, after an insurer rejects a claim, the claimant objects to such rejection, the insurer shall notify the claimant in writing that he or she may have the matter reviewed by the [insert state] Department of Insurance, [insert department address and telephone number].

Section 8. Standards for Prompt, Fair and Equitable Settlements Applicable to Automobile Insurance

A. When the insurance policy provides for the adjustment and settlement of first party automobile total losses on the basis of actual cash value or replacement with another of like kind and quality, one of the following methods shall apply:

(1) The insurer may elect to offer a replacement automobile that is at least comparable in that it will be by the same manufacturer, same or newer year, similar body style, similar options and mileage as the insured vehicle and in as good or better overall condition and available for inspection at a licensed dealer within a reasonable distance of the insured's residence. The insurer shall pay all applicable taxes, license fees and other fees incident to transfer of evidence of ownership of the automobile paid, at no cost other than any deductible provided in the policy. The offer and any rejection thereof must be documented in the claim file.
